CHALLENGE TO MACHINE

Denounces Brewery-Owned Saloon and Supports Progressive Measures.

William E. Lee of Long Prairie Another Entry in the Race.

Lieutenant Governor Sam Y. Gordon of Browns Valley today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor, hurling a bomb into the Republican ranks in Minnesota, for his announcement strikes at every prop by which the present administration and the organization controlling it are supported.

The question of corporation domination is squarely raised and flaunted as a challenge, in the statement which Mr. Gordon gave out this morning at Minneapolis. He denounced the part played by the breweries and other interests in the party and in the state government and pledges himself, if elected to destroy their power.

The prohibition of brewery ownership of saloons, the state-wide primary, presidential primary, the initiative, the referendum and the recall, fair reapportionment, reorganization of state departments, ratification of the federal income tax, regulation of railroad

SAYS ITALY MUST WAR WITH AUSTRIA

Baron Fuchs Makes Statements That Cause Sensation.

Vienna, Austria, Jan. 15.—Considerable sensation has been caused in political circles here by some recent speeches delivered by Baron Fuchs, the Clerical leader, who declared that Italy is arming against Austria, and when the war in Tripoli is over the king of Italy must either fight Austria or go into exile.

Baron Fuchs also insisted that the intimate relations which have so long existed between Austria and Germany are becoming weaker as the result of Austria's failure to support her ally during the Moroccan crisis. He likewise complained that Austria's relations with the Russian empire had not been well handled.

Demanded an Explanation.

Baron Fuchs is said to have demanded an explanation from the Austrian foreign minister, Count Alois Lexa von Aehrenthal, of the difficulties between Austria and Germany, of which he said he possessed accurate knowledge; but the foreign minister maintained absolute silence on the subject. Baron Fuchs therefore considered that he was perfectly justified in expressing publicly his dissatisfaction with Count von Aehrenthal's foreign policy.

LIABILITY LAW VALID

United States Supreme Court Upholds Statute of 1908.

Says State Courts May Enforce the Act of Congress.

Washington, Jan. 15. — The constitutionality of the employers' liability law passed by congress in 1908 was today upheld by the supreme court of the United States in all cases before it.

The court also decided that state courts may enforce that act.

This was the second and finally successful attempt of congress to change the old common law rule that an employe of a common carrier could not procure damages from the carrier for injuries received in his employment when the injuries resulted from the negligence of a fellow servant.

The first law, that enacted in 1906, was declared unconstitutional in 1908, because it embraced within its terms a regulation of intrastate as well as interstate commerce.

The opinion was announced by Justice Vandevanter.

HEARING IS NEAR ITS END

Lorimer Investigation Practically Closed and Verdict Is Uncertain.

Flaw That Gives Friendly Senators Chance to Save Him.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Lorimer investigation is practically at an end. All testimony of importance has been taken, including that of the accused senator, which is important or not according as you wish to look at it. Senator Lorimer testified that neither by money nor with any other valuable thing did he buy one vote for the senatorship. He could hardly have testified otherwise. The mere announcement that he would take the stand in his own defense was enough to show the line of his testimony. One could hardly expect that, after fighting his accusers through the sessions of two committees, at prodigious expense to the government and no small cost to himself, the Illinois senator would at the last moment seek the stand in order to declare himself guilty. His evidence has but one quality of value to the defense. It has prolonged the hearing and postponed the evil day when all the facts thus gath-

CARELESSNESS IS CHIEF FIRE CAUSE

Sixty Per Cent of Outbreaks Are Preventable, Says Wisconsin Man.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 15.—Sixty per cent of the total number of fires may be said to be due to carelessness. This conclusion is reached from perusal of a report made by L. B. Webster, secretary of the Wisconsin legislative committee for the investigation of fire insurance conditions on fire losses of 1910 in forty-four American cities whose annual reports he has studied. The approximate annual loss in these cities, he says, is $46,000,000, or about one-sixth of the total annual fire loss of the United States and Canada.

"Great as this loss is," says Mr. Webster, "it would not seem so deplorable if the greater part of it were not preventable. It is safe to say that 60 per cent of the total number of fires in these cities as well as in the United States in general are due to carelessness. Thus 10.2 per cent are caused by the careless burning of rubbish; 6.3 per cent by careless handling of matches; 10.86 per cent from defective chimneys and furnaces; cigars, cigarettes, and pipes are no small contributors to this enormous loss, being 3.97 per cent of the total. Defective furnaces, stoves and stove pipes also are among the contributory causes.

"Incendiarism, about which more has been said and written than any other cause of fires, contributes but 1.55 per cent of the total. It may be said, however, that a considerable number of causes were reported as 'supposed incendiary' which have been added to the total of unknown causes."

HEAVY SNOW BREAKS COLD IN NEW YORK.

New York, Jan. 15.—A fairly heavy snow storm early today broke the cold wave, which came from the West and has now passed out to sea. The storm was the coldest experienced in years. Many lives were lost and train schedules both in the East and West were interrupted. There were many wrecks at sea and incoming liners arrived encrusted with ice. Milder weather is promised by the weather bureau.

Paris, Jan. 15.—The readiness of such prominent men as Leon Bourgeois, Aristide Briand, Theophile Delcasse and Alexandre Millerand to accept minor places in the cabinet formed by Senator Raymond Poincare has created a profund impression in France. The fact of their acceptance of portfolios generally is regarded as a striking evidence of the solidarity, self-sacrifice and patriotism of Frenchmen at a time of national need.

The press of all shades of opinion today comment on the strength of the new ministry. Even the monarchistic Gaulois admits it is the greatest cab-

T. H. SHEVLIN DIES IN WEST

Reputed One of Wealthiest Men in the Northwest.

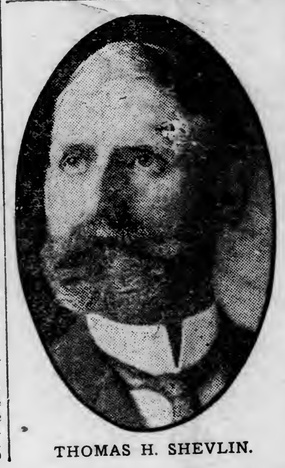

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.) — Word was received in St. Paul today of the sudden death in Pasadena, Cal., last night, of Thomas Shevlin, the Minneapolis multi-millionaire lumber magnate.

The cause of his death is supposed to have been uremic poisoning. Mr. Shevlin was head of the Shevlin-Carpenter Lumber company and its allied corporations and was reputed one of the wealthiest men in the Northwest.

Of Irish Descent.

Thomas Henry Shevlin was born Jan. 3, at Albany, N. Y. His father, John Shevlin, was engaged in the mercantile pursuits in that city. His mother's maiden name was Matilda Leonard. Both his parents were of Irish descent. Thomas H. attended the public schools of his native town until he was 15 years of age, at which time he entered the employ of John McGraw & Co., a lumber firm of that city. He began here the education that made him an authority on the manufacture and sale of lumber and

"Bob" Dunbar Coming; Many Other Notables of Game Here.

With fifty-six rinks entered for play in the nineteenth annual bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association, the big 'spiel that is now under way promises to eclipse all others of the past, and to create a new record both in play and in the amount of enthusiasm shown.

Not all of the rinks are in as yet. The lateness of the train from Winnipeg somewhat interfered with the plans of the officials of the 'spiel. Because of the lateness of the Winnipeg filer some of the later draws had to be changed. But with the full contingent from "the Peg" in, and practically all of the other late entries ready for play late this afternoon, the first day of the big 'spiel will see everything going smoothly and play progressing rapidly.

The number of rinks here breaks all existing records for attendance at one of the Northwestern bonspiels. The largest number heretofore was fifty-five. There are fifty-six rinks here at the present time and the chances are that there will be somewhat over

CLAIM UNCLE SAM FORGOT ONE WORD

"Unreasonable" Left Out of Charge of Restraint By Bath Tub Trust.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 15.—That the government in its indictment of alleged members of the bathtub trust did not term the alleged restraints of trade "unreasonable," is the principal contention in proceedings set for hearing today in the United States district court.

A special plea was entered in behalf of the Colwell Lead company of New York, one of the defendants, that the indictment should be quashed because the alleged restraints of trade were not termed unreasonable as defined by the recent decision of the United States supreme court in the Standard Oil case.

The trial, to which today's hearing is preliminary, is set for Jan. 30.

LOST HEIRESS IN NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 15.—Violet Buehler, the missing Chicago heiress, was arrested at the corner of First avenue and Seventieth street this morning and taken to the police station. She had been working in the neighborhood, the police say, taking care of a sick woman. Miss Buehler admitted her identity and told the police that she came to New York about a month ago with the idea of seeing the world. She declared that no man had anything to do with her leaving home.

She said that after her money began to get low she decided to get a position, and answered a newspaper advertisement for a nurse.

Doing Housework.

She was employed by Mrs. Anna Brett in East Seventieth street. For more than three weeks Miss Buehler, who is said to be heiress to an estate of several thousand dollars, has been acting as a nurse for the mother of Mrs. Brett, as well as doing light housework.

FRANK KELLOGG AN AMBASSADOR?

St. Paul Man May Be Sent to European Court.

Washington, Jan. 15. — Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul soon may be invited by President Taft to represent the United States as ambassador at one of the courts of Europe. Information to the effect that the president would be glad to have Mr. Kellogg enter the American diplomatic service leaked out here yesterday. The news came direct from the president through the medium of a Minnesota member, who called at the White House early in the week to urge the nomination of Mr. Kellogg to be an associate justice of the United States supreme court.

Mr. Taft himself took the initative in suggesting that Mr. Kellogg enter upon a diplomatic career as an ambassador in one of the first posts of Europe. He gave the Minnesota member in question to understand that if the friends of Mr. Kellogg saw fit to bring up the matter in a formal way, the outcome would be a proffer of an European embassy to the St. Paul lawyer.

HARMON BEGINS HIS BADGER CAMPAIGN.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 15. — Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio is scheduled to make two addresses in Milwaukee today, the first as guest of the City club at a luncheon and the principal effort tonight when he will talk under the auspices of the Jefferson club.

Governor Harmon's visit to Wisconsin is looked upon as the formal launching in this state of his campaign for the support of delegates to the National Democratic convention at Baltimore to nominate a presidential candidate.

SUMMONED TO WHITE HOUSE

Postmaster General's Proposal for Government Ownership Starts Things.

Surprises President Taft and Members of Congress.

Scheme Meets With Wide Approval—Break With Taft Rumored.

Washington, Jan. 15.—After Postmaster General Hitchcock had been in conference with President Taft for more than an hour today, an authoritative statement was made at the White House that there had been no friction between the president and the postmaster general over the latter's proposed recommendation that the government acquire and operate all telegraph lines as an adjunct of the postal system.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Postmaster General Hitchcock, who last night gave out a statement saying he would recommend to congress government ownership and operation of all telegraph lines, was summoned to the White House by President Taft shortly after 11 o'clock this morning.

The pronouncement in favor of government ownership and operation of the telegraph lines, as an adjunct of the postoffice department, stirred official Washington today as few administrative acts have in recent years.

The postmaster general's statement was news to the White House, and is said to have caused the greatest surprise there. This was evident when efforts were made late last night to recall the announcement. This effort, however, did not come from Mr. Hitchcock. He was out of the city when the statement was released and did not return until last evening. Then he went immediately to his apartments and would not be disturbed.

May Try to Stop Him.

Senators and representatives generally did not learn of the proposed recommendation until they read the papers this morning. When they reached the capitol all were discussing the matter and many divergent views were expressed.

Most generally discussed of all the reports early today was one to the effect that pressure might be brought to bear upon Mr. Hitchcock not to make the recommendation. So far the matter has not progressed beyond a declaration by the postmaster general

Big Textile Mills at Lawrence Scene of Disturbances.

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 15.—Disorders before the gates of the great textile mills of Lawrence became so frequent and menacing this morning that two companies of militia were called from the armory to assist the police in controlling the turbulent foreign operatives.

The uproar at the mill gates was so great that seven of the big plants were shut down. Several shots into the air were fired by the police and some arrests were made.

During the raids on the mills a dozen or more operatives were injured, but none seriously.

CLEANED.. ALONG THE POLICE RUN

Taking a "nip" too many proved a costly experience for Charles R. Johnson, Saturday.

As a result he is ahead the experience, a cheap summer suit and a different movement for his watch. Also, he is out just $38 in hard-earned cash, according to his own count.

Johnson didn't pretend that he had never taken a drink before, but he did claim that it was the first time that his indulgence in the flowing bowl had cost him more than the coin he pushed across the mahogany. He doesn't know whether he was robbed or not, but he does know that he was at least "played for a sucker."

Johnson told th police that he went into the place run by Froeke Labovitz on the Bowery Saturday. Except that he is shy his money, that is about all that he is sure about. Labovitz claims that Johnson bought $35 or $40 worth of stuff and made out a list of Johnson's purchases. Johnson claims that Labovitz took his money away from him and then changed the movement of his watch and gave him a bundle of clothes in exchange.

Johnson has the clothes and another movement for his watch. But he declares that even a drunken man would hardly pay $38 for the outfit. He asserts that it's no good to him and that it wouldn't be much good to anybody else.

Since several fire horses had the ends of their ears frozen off a number of years ago, the department is taking no chances of a repetition. Whenever the city has a spell of cold weather the ears of the horses are protected with neat-fitting "earlets." That's the reason you have seen the animals wearing the rather strange appearing outfits the last few weeks. There are not put there for ornaments.

Genevieve Roberts, a striking blonde who confesses to having seen twenty winters, declared at the police station this morning that her married sister's unfounded jealousy was responsible for her arrest shortly after 12 o'clock last night.

Miss Genevieve said that she came over from Superior Saturday evening to visit her sister and her brother-in-law at their rooms on lower Lake avenue. The sister was not at home, so she spent the time visiting with her husband and several boarders who live with them. She claims that when the sister came home the same night she immediately flew into a rage and called the police, claiming that she (Genevieve) was trying to steal her husband away from her. This Genevieve strenuously denies, asserting that only the most sisterly of motives prompted her visit.

Patrolman Smollet and Link answered the call and placed Genevieve under arrest on a charge, based on the fact that Genevieve's residence across the bay comes under a classification recognized under the criminal statutes. She pleaded guilty in police court this morning and was fined $15 and costs, with the alternative of fifteen days in the county jail.

Incidentally, it might be mentioned that Genevieve Roberts is not Genevieve's true name.

Herman Sverde and Axel Olson did not take good advice when they were given suspended sentences in police court Saturday. They stayed in town and didn't go to work. They were picked up by the police Saturday night and hooked on charges of vagrancy. They pleaded guilty when brought up with the grist this morning and were each handed ten days in the county jail, being unable to pay fines of $10 and costs, each.

Emil Ekstrom indulged so freely of the stuff that is supposed to cheer when he was in town yesterday that he couldn't make his way to the poor-farm, where he is employed. He was picked up near the end of the line by a street car conudctor, who saw him lying in a snowbank. He was brought into the police station and booked for drunkenness. When arraigned in police court he received a suspended sentence. The court felt that he had been sufficiently punished for his indiscrettion as he carried one hand in a bandage, the member having frozen while laying outdoors. It was dressed by Dr. I. J. Murray, police surgeon.

Ben Moe was arrested Saturday afternoon for stealing a vest from a second-hand store on the Bowery. He was arraigned in police court on a charge of being drunk. Following the report of the police he got $40 and costs or thirty days in the county jail.

Peter Bergeman, a former Superior saloonkeeper, was arested Saturday night by Detectives Schulte and Irvine as a fugitive from justice. He is wanted across the bay for complicity in a recent saloon robbery for which two young Duluth men were arrested. It appears that Bergeman had formerly owned the saloon which was robbed and had furnished the other two with the combination of the safe, which had not been changed. When arrested they were just starting for Duluth to give Bergeman his share of the $400 which they had extracted from the safe. The couple had been seen hanging about the place, exciting the suspicion of the officer on the beat, who caused their arrest shortly after the place had been entered. Bergeman was turned over to the Superior authorities.

The recent revocation of the license of the elevator operator for failing to close the gates at the time William Rogers met his death, seems to have had a most salutary effect. The officials state that the provisions of the ordinance are being much more closely followed than formerly.

Harry Nechett, 18 years old, was arrested by Detectives Schulte and Irvine this morning as he stepped from a ranse train. He is wanted at Virginia for the alleged theft of a watch and a suit of clothes.

NEIGHBORS IN QUARREL

Joe Aronson Alleges William J. Hunt Flashed a Revolver.

Hunt Charges Aronson With Attempting to Assault Him.

Joe Aronson claims that William J. Hunt held up his brother, Former Deputy Sheriff Al Aronson, and himself, Saturday evening at the point of a revolver in front of their homes on Third street near Fourth avenue east.

While he and his brother were being covered with the gun he claims that Mrs. Hunt ran for a policeman, who refused to make an arrest when he appeared on the scene.

Later Joe Aronson was arrested by the same policeman, Patrolman Hood, and booked on a charge of disorderly conduct. Aronson pleaded not guilty in police court this morning, and when he is tried this afternoon it is believed that what appears to be a complicated mix-up will be straightened out.

The principals tell different stories of the affair. The Aronsons assert people from the Hunt residence, which is next to theirs, have been peeping in their windows. This claim is ridiculed by Hunt, who alleges that for some time past Aronson has been threatening to assault him.

Hunt, who is a chauffeur, states that as he was leaving his home to to answer a telephone call directing him to take out his employer's automobile, he saw Aronson approaching with an armful of groceries. He declares that when Aronson caught sight of him he dropped his packages and began to strip off his coat, to attack him, he believed. It was then that he ran back into the house, where he secured the gun and kept Aronson at bay while his wife went for the police. When the brother appeared it is alleged that Hunt also covered him with the revolver.

When Mrs. Hunt returned with Patrolman Hood he declined to make any arrest. It is claimed, because he had not seen Aronson violate any ordinance or statute. Later it seems that he must have been given orders by some one at headquarters, for he returned and arrested Joe Aronson for disorderly conduct.

JURY IS CONSIDERING SALOON KEEPER'S CASE.

The case against Ole Olson, saloonkeeper at 102 St. Croix avenue, indicted by the grand jury for selling liquor on Sunday, went to the jury in Judge Dancer's court this afternoon. The case was tried this morning.

Dennis Shevlin, the star witness against Olson, it developed at the trial, had been a "stool pigeon" for the police. They gave him a dollar, it is claimed, and instructed him to try to get a drink at Olson's place a week ago Sunday. Shevlin claims that he succeeded.

On Saturday night, Jan. 6, Shevlin came to the police with the story that he had been robbed outside of Olson's place. He also claimed that Olson's bartender had told him that it was possible to get into the saloon by giving three raps at the back door.

The police tried out the scheme and it worked. Shevlin went in and bought the drink, it is alleged, and Officer John Roberg followed and saw men drinking in the place.

Shevlin accuses two of Olson's bartenders, Lawrenee Anderson and Peter Christianson of robbing him. They are under arrest and have been indicted by the grand jury. Their case will come up at this term of court before Judge Dancer.

CALL CONFERENCE ON GOOD ROADS

Meeting Will Be Held at the Commercial Club Jan. 23.

A good roads conference, which, it is expected will formulate suggestions to the county commissioners as to the expenditure of the $500,000 road fund in St. Louis county this year, will be held at the Commercial club Jan. 23.

Committees representing the Commercial clubs of Duluth, Virginia, Eveleth, Hibbing and Biwabik are at the head of the movement and they are anxious that all citizens interested in good roads attend.

The recommendations made by the November grand jury as to road work will also be discussed. All suggestions made will be put in concrete form and presented to the county commissioners. Those responsible for the meeting believe that the taxpayers of the county should express themselves in favor of a more businesslike system of road work and they believe that the commissioners will welcome an expression from a representative gathering.

TAKES OUT ITS BOOTH

Duluth Telephone Company Refuses to Connect With Courthouse Switchboard.

Time has been called on another round in the fight between the Duluth Telephone company and the county commissioners.

The telephone company refusing to comply with the demands of the county, has removed its long-distance booth from the courthouse.

This action followed the report of the grand jury last week, which recommended that the telephone company either connect with the courthouse switch board or "get out" entirely.

The company chose the latter and Saturday removed the booth. This leaves the courthouse without any telephone connection with the Bell system.

Local officials of the telephone company explain that it is a policy of the Bell concern never to connect with any switch board, not its own.

The switch board now in use at the courthouse is connected with the Zenith Telephone company, the local independent company. It was installed by the Stromberg-Carlson company.

The Duluth Telephone company wired the courthouse building at the time it was built under the supposition at the time that it would be permitted to install a switch board and instruments. The company was never allowed to do this and as a result refused to deviate from its established policy by connecting with a "foreign" switch board.

"Our company has established rules which we are not permitted to break," said a local representative of the company today. "As regards to switch boards, it has always been our policy to operate over our own switch boards and instruments."

The removal of the booth from the courthouse will inconvenience some of the county officials, who use the Bell lines between Duluth and the ranges. The court offices on the range are wired and given telephone connections by the Bell line and hereafter, or until some other arrangement is reached, it will be necessary for the county officials to go outside of the building to get the desired service.

MAN'S BODY IN CASE OF BUCKLED STEEL.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 15.—Welded tightly in a case of steel formed by a buckled piece of the vessel's wrecked hull, the body of John Deyell, the seaman killed in the collision between the Strathabyn and Virginian Friday was found by the longshoremen engaged in discharging the cargo today. It had been supposed that he was knocked overboard and drowned when the vessels collided.

The officials of the firm were high in their praises of the efficiency of the corps.

The same pipe caused trouble in the store last week, but the loss was not nearly as heavy. Some one had evidently forgotten to shut off one of the valves while the pipe was being thawed out. After the ice had been removed the hose let loose a large stream of water on one of the lower floors.

FURNITURE STORE FLOODED

Heavy Loss Is Caused By Break in Water Pipe.

The head of the large standpipe in the big store of Bayha & Co. at Second avenue west and First street blew out o nthe sixth floor about 7 o'clock this morning, causing a heavy water loss.

The floor was quickly floded and the water ran over the floors below, damaging large amounts of furniture and draperies. It was stated at the offices of the company this morning that no estimate of the loss had been formed, but that it would be considerable.

An alarm was sent in to the salvage corps, which quickly responded. Through the fast and efficient work of the men the loss was prevented from being much heavier. They covered hundreds of dollars worth of goods 'n a surprisingly short time.

"GET PIECE OF LAND AND LIVE ON IT" STILL THE POPULAR ADVICE

Back to Land Idea Seems to Have Firm Foothold.

Majority of Entrants in Herald Contest Favor Farming Life.

Some new suggestions for the man who wants to know how to invest his first thousand dollars came in with the morning's mail to the contest editor.

The tendency to advise the inexperienced investor to "get a piece of land and live on it," remains strong and is by far the most popular suggestion offered.

A Michigamme, Mich. man writes that if one would go into the mail order business on a small scale and gradually work up that in time our hero might become a man whom Andrew Carnegie and John D. might be glad to shake hands with.

Another contributor suggests that the man with his first thousand go into a mining community and start a small store, handling miners' supplies. Others advise the investor to go into the cattle raising business and to "commence farming."

Among today's contributions are the following:

J. P. Hoffman, 11 Mesaba block—Young man in your town today you'll see two classes of men. One, poor, old and perhaps broken in health, wondering what he'll do for clothes to cover his body, what he'll do for food, even the bare necessities of life. The other is the big man of affairs of your community—wealthy, happy, independent—the man you look up to as the successful man. There isn't so much difference between these two men. Just this: One man took advantage of the opportunities before him, the other man, the poor old fellow you can't help but feel sorry for—well, he always waited for someone to act for him first. This is your opportunity. Are you to act for yourself now, or are you going to let someone get ahead of you again? Think it over.

Your success in life, if you are a working man, depends largely on how you save and invest the few pennies that you throw away so carelessly, if you are an employer, how you invest your dividends, your surplus money. Trace back the real big fortunes of this or any other country and you'll find they started from real estate. The wealth of this country today is real estate. Land—good farms are the foundation, the real "backbone' of today's business. And the farmer is the king among men. If you are tired of working on the dead level "get-nowhere" of city life. If you are held down by the man "higher up," or if you have surplus money of $1,000 to invest—a community where practical farming has demonstrated the worth of the soil. Save a few cents a day, make your first step towards independence—a home for your family—a sound investment.

Commence farming. Let the markets of the near towns teach you what to sow and reap.

D. A. Duggan, Cedar Lake, Minn.—I think your man with the $1,000 ought to get on the first train out of Duluth. Come out to Crosby, Ironton, Manganese or several other new towns that are building up very fast. Take two or three days and look them over carefully. Decide which of them it going to be a Hibbing or Virginia. There is going to be another Mesaba range in Crow Wing county and that $1,000 carefully invested in lots picked up in the different new towns will in two or three years, double. Then when you have found out which town is going to be the leader, buy a corner and put up a good big business block, such as are bringing good rent in Hibbing and Virginia. You will make no mistake in investing in town lots on this range if you buy from the first owners and use good judgment in picking out good ones. You may have to wait two or three years, but you will win in the end and have twenty times as much for your $1,000 as you would if you put it in a bank at interest. There is no more question about there being great bodies of iron ore on this range, and it is all going to be taken out. That is bound to make some of those towns grow and the man who gets in on the start will keep his reward. Your man with his $1,000 can hold his position, watch and manage his investment, sell and buy when any of his investments show a good profit and in four or five years have a nice big property.

C. Hentson, Michigamme, Mich.—If I had $1,000 I would go into the mail order business. This is practically a new business and its possibilities are unlimited. It requires but little capital to start it, provided one has health and a fair education.

Many who started in this business with little or no capital are millionaires today. One of them is Richard Sears, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., who began with very little capital and who is now at the head of one of the largest and best known mail order houses in the world.

The first and last thing to do in this business is to advertise. It is not necessary for a person to resign his position until his business has become so firmly established and enlarged that it would be advisable to devote his entire time to the business.

If he has the perseverance and bulldog tenacity so necessary to succeed in business, as well as every other walk of life, nine chances out of ten he will succeed. In ten or fifteen years J. D. Rockefeller, J. P. Morgan and Andrew Carnegie will be glad to shake hands with him.

Wilber Obles, Nashwauk, Minn.—My advice to your correspondent who has saved $1,000 is, to locate in a small and new mining town, either on the iron range, Canada or some of the Western mining states. Buy a lot in a business location for $300, then erect a small and temporary shack with about $200, just large enough to hold a small stock of miners' supplies, such as clothing and a small line of staple groceries, also room enough for your family in the same building. With the remaining $500 purchase a small stock of goods, just enough to get along with is making sales. You can buy at least a $900 stock with the $500. As you sell the goods you can pay the balance you owe within sixty days and during this time, you can keep adding to your stock. In about six years you will have a much larger line of goods for the trade and also a good rating with the wholesale houses. At this time, you can also build an addition to your store building and also add to its appearance. And now as you are well known in your locality and your next advancement is to run for a village office, either that of village recorder or village treasurer that will net you a neat sum at the end of the first term of office, run for either office until defeated. Then quit the political game. Most all mining towns, as have been illustrated on the iron ranges are always good in business lines in their early stages and mostly all are normal, in regard to business conditions at any time.

Jennie Norquist, 116 Winnipeg avenue, Duluth—I would buy an acre of land, close to the street car tracks, say for $350. I would erect a $1,000 bungalow and would then be in debt $350 on the proposition, and still hold my job. I would move onto it and thereby saving at least $20 a month rent which would soon clear my mortgage on my place, and it is reasonable to suppose that in five years' time my property would double in value, besides saving my rent and reducing the cost of my living half. I should be worth at least from $3,500 to $4,000 in five years.

I see no need to go to Canada, Lakotas or Florida to invest my little $1,000, as it would take my $1,000 to locate myself and having nothing to start with. Duluth is good enough for me.

M. C. Culver, 814 East First street.—If this man would retain his position, and use his $1,000 cash to buy a twenty-five foot lot in a good locality, putting on it a flat building, he could give his family a good home with no rent to pay but some to receive.

The size and number of flats would have to depend on the amount he could pay each month on the loan he would have to get to put up the building, the lot to be the security.

These flats are salable and by selling to advantage and building again, he might find himself in good shape, financially, in ten years.

In the meantime he has not the worries of business on his hands, has a salary to depend on each month, no rent, and the assurance that his property is increasing in value. The rent from his tenants would pay the greater part of the amount to be paid each month on the loan.

Louis Nelson, 419 Nineteenth avenue east.—In answer to this young man's question of his $1,000, I suggest he advertise in the Duluth Herald for the biggest compound interest and at 6 per cent it will about double in ten years and in twenty years he will have about $4,000 without working a day for it.

Wm. J. Schoen, Remer, Minn.—My advice to the man with the $1,000 is, to buy a small tract of land, say five or ten acres near a small town or a railroad and near good markets and start in poultry raising and truck gardening.

In doing this he will be rearing his children in the open air, reducing the cost of living and at the same time, with thrift and proper management, will make more money than by working for someone or investing the amount in a small business. He will want to own a cow and a horse or two, and probably fifty chickens of a good breed will be plenty for a start. Then with a good sized incubator and brooder of a reliable make and a thorough study of chicken raising he will have all that is required.

If you can save $1,000 in ten years on a salary and in a city, you can certainly more than double your money in this way with the price of eggs and chickens going up every year and demand growing greater than the supply. I consider it an investment that cannot fail.

A. Binley, Akeley, Minn., Box 164.—Mr. Man with the thousand bones, you are something unsual. Advice on investments is about the last thing most people ever seek, until they have lost their money.

Remember the grass looks greener farther away. Go where you will, Northern Minnesota has as good opportunities for the man with small capital as any locality in America.

It is very hard, indeed, to give advice to one whose capabilities you are unfamiliar with.

If you think you would like business, choose the line best suited to you and remember there are "tricks in all trades." Learn the particular business first before you engage in it for yourself.

If agriculturally inclined there is lots of very good land in Northern Minnesota that can be bought cheaply, preferably Hubbard county land.

If you want to hold your position and make your money work too, buy a first mortgage on farm land or Duluth real estate. It will pay 6 to 7 per cent and is absolutely safe.

Beware of those who would sell you a share in a hole in the ground out West, or a nice piece of land in Florida, that is only covered with water, or a farm in Western Canada, where spring and fall are too close together—the wrong way.

Mrs. Franklin Charles, Box 214, Virginia, Minn.: First—Quit your present occupation, if it has not any future. Such positions are for young boys and old men. You have worked long enough for experience and a mere living. If a man is ever going to make money his best time is between 35 and 50 years of age. If disposed to work at a salaried position, select one which has a future. For instance, reliable railroads, insurance and mining companies after a certain number of successive, faithful years of service reward you by a check just as regularly as though you were working twenty-six days per month. You can take life easy and not worry about getting out and hustling at 55 or 65 years old.

Second—Invest one-tenth of money in old line insurance policy, ordinary life plan, with twenty-year settlement. It's your duty. You can work and sleep with a better conscience. While giving your family the necessary and best protection in the event of your death, yet at the same time you are making the wisest and best investment of any of your money. "A good life insurance policy is a poor man's future."

Third—Keep $100 for emergency fund. Unexpected accidents or sickness necessitate extra money. (Rainy and cloudy days come to all.)

Fourth—Buy three lots at Crosby, Minn., by paying one-third of cost and balance in three years. Build a home for your family (no matter how small) on a lot and a half and keep the other for investment. Improve the house and lots as you go along. Raise all your vegetables. The first thing you know house and lots will be paid for and you will be worth $4,000 or more in a short time. I made $500 there on one lot within six months. Crosby is the coming town.

H. Larson, Pine River, Minn.—My advice to the gentleman is to invest his money in a farm in Northern Minnesota where land is cheap. Especially here in Cass county land can be bought for from $5 to $10 per acre for wild land and from $12 to $25 for improved farms.

I would buy about eighty acres and go to dairying. I would keep about fifteen good milch cows, which one man could easily take care of, and make a good independent living. He could also keep a few hogs to feed the skimmed milk to. And some chickens for his wife to take care of just simply to kill time with. My advice is, by all means buy a farm.

Henry Twelth, Cloquet, Minn., R. F. D. No. 1.—How shall I expend my first $1,000?

If I was the man of 35 and had $1,000 to invest I would buy a shed and stock it up with feed, hay, grain, etc.; put up a feed store in a little place, for example, like Midway and get the farmers' trade so they wouldn't have to go ten miles to get feed.

A merchant in Georgia has this sign over his door: "Automobiles and funerals on the installment plan. When in need of either, or both, call on me."

"I'VE GOT THE FIRST $1,000; WHAT SHALL I DO WITH IT?"

For the second of its series of contests The Herald has an interesting problem which comes to it in the form of a letter that explains itself:

To the Editor of The Herald:

We have often been told—at least we used to be—by rich men that the hardest work on the road to wealth is to get the first $1,000.

I've got that sum now—saved it out of my salary during ten years. Who will tell me how to go the rest of the way? How shall I invest it? Shall I go into business, and what kind, and how?

I am 35 years old, with a wife and two small children, and have a fair position with a living salary, but that's about all. Probably I could, if nothing happened, save another $1,000 in another ten years, but with the cost of living going up faster than salaries—and I can't expect mine to go much higher than it is—it is going to be harder. If I am ever going to start out for myself and gain independence or wealth, now is the time for me to begin, while I am strong and healthy and young.

What shall I do with myself and my $1,000—and my family?

Here's a real problem, a vital one that will interest everybody; and The Herald hopes to see a large and interesting variety of answers. It hopes, too, that men who have traveled the road that lies before this young inquirer will take part in the discussion. The prizes will, of course, be no temptation to them; but this is a subject of wide interest, and they should be glad to contribute their wisdom and experience to its solution.

Write out your answer, limit it to 300 words, put your name and address at the top of the sheet, write on one side of the paper only, and send it to the Contest Editor of The Herald before Feb. 1.

For the best answer to this young man's problem The Herald will give a prize of $10.

TVEITMOE INDIGNANT

Annual Report to Union Denies Guilt in Dynamiting Case.

Calls McNamara Trial "Blow Aimed at Union Labor."

Fresno, Cal., Jan. 15.—A. Tveitmoe, secretary-treasurer of the state building trades council, declared his innocence of complicity in a national dynamite conspiracy, in his annual report, read before the eleventh annual convention of the council here today.

Tveitmoe, with Antone Johannsen, organizer of the State Building Trades, and J. E. Munsey, secretary of the Salt Lake City local of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, was indicted by a federal grand jury in Los Angeles Dec. 30 for conspiracy to transport dynamite unlawfully.

No Plea of Guilty.

"There will be no plea of guilty," he said in his report, "because the men accused are not guilty, and they refuse to serve as stepping stones either for district Attorney Fredericks, who has his eye on the governor's chair, or for Oscar Lawler's judgeship, or for Mr. Hearst's presidency."

The McNamara case was reviewed at length, a large portion of the comment being confined to an article on the Los Angeles situation by Charles Edward Russell, in which it was declared that "the McNamaras thought they were fighting the battle of their class." While not defending the McNamaras, Tveitmoe denounced the prosecuting officials who conducted the McNamara case and characterized the proceedings as "a blow aimed at union labor."

Murder Worst Crime.

"Union men and women," the report continues, "believe that murder is the most horrible of all crimes, and that the taking of human life, whether committed by individuals, society, state or nation, in an ordinary brawl, an industrial struggle or a so-called civilized war, is murder.

"If labor should invoke as a law 'an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth,' the world would have a deluge of human blood, without a saving ark or a Mount Arrarat, but with numberless Caesar columns to mark the final landings."

Crow Wing to Fight Consumption.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The county commissioners have appropriated $150 for tuberculosis work and it is the intention to have the visiting nurse, Miss Edith Bohlke devote some time to rural work. The ladies' organization, the Brainerd Musical club, has been instrumental in establishing the visiting nurse institution, raising money for the support of this project by giving benefit concerts and by the sale of Red Cross stamps.

TRIPLE TRUST PROBE PLANNED

Money, Shipping and Harvester Combines May Be Investigated.

Washington, Jan. 15.—The house committee on rules began consideration today of proposed investigations into the so-called money, shipping and harvester trusts. The committee probably will suggest the appointment of a special committee to conduct a joint investigation of the trio of industrial concerns.

Mr. Humphrey said all passenger rates between this country and Europe were fixed on the basis of German money, compelling American travelers in Europe to pay 4 per cent more than foreigners for passage.

$500,000 WORTH OF FISH IN ICE

Thirty American Fishing Vessels Caught Off Newfoundland Coast.

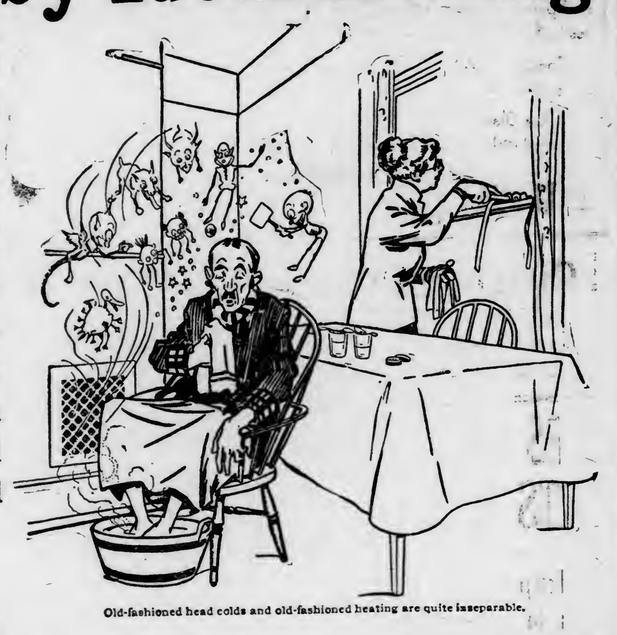

Washington, Jan. 15.—Thirty American fishing vessels with cargoes of frozen herring, valued at $500,000, are imprisoned in the ice floes off the coast of New Foundland and threatened with destruction. In response to an appeal from Collector of Customs Jordan of Gloucester, Mass., Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Bailey today ordered the revenue cutters Androscoggin and Gresham to their assistance.

NO REVIEW IN CASE OF THE DANBURY HATTERS.

Washington, Jan. 15.—The supreme court today declined to review the action of the United States circuit court of appeals at New York, which ordered a new trial in the famous Danbury hatters' case. The trial court held members of the United Hatters of North America liable for $230,000 damages under the Sherman anti-trust law for an alleged boycott of two Danbury, Conn., hat manufacturers.

Lessen colds by Ideal heating

A common "cold in the head" costs $44.34. This is the report of Boston's Health Committee, which has investigated over 55,000 cases to learn the average cost in lack of wages, doctor's bills, economic loss to the community, etc.,—total cost $2,468,000.00. Boston's homes are on the average better built than in other communities, yet they all need and are vastly improved hygienically by an outfit of

AMERICAN RADIATORS & IDEAL BOILERS

Wherever homes have plenty of heat—enough to keep the whole house well ventilated and comfortable, too—where instead of being taxed to keep off the cold the body is being continually stored with reserve heat—energy—where the air is not only always purely, cleanly fresh, but neither robbed of its oxygen or poisoned by ash-dust and coal-gases—in short, where houses are outfitted with our ideal heating—here colds, rheumatism, pneumonia and consumption are practically unknown. Prove it to yourself by looking at the official health maps of your city, which will show you how free from these diseases are those districts where most houses are warmed and ventilated by AMERICAN Radiators and IDEAL Boilers.

The Indian huddled over his camp fire is one of the worst victims of pneumonia, consumption and other winter diseases. So, too, the farmers (according to more Government Statistics) with their old-fashioned heating, breathing bad air in order not to let the heat out, show a far bigger death rate from the ravages of these winter maladies. Why do you longer run the health risk, the danger, the annoyances and the expense of old-fashioned heating?

A No. 1-19-S IDEAL Boiler and 184 ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $110, were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent Fitter. This did not include costs of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which are extra and vary according to climatic and other conditions.

Our ideal heating outfits are used and endorsed by the great hotels, sanitariums and hospitals of Aix-les-Bains, Nice, Mentone, The Riviera, Carlsbad, Marienbad, of Florida, Southern California, etc. These facts should point the right heating way to you!

IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators change any house into a home.

Your two colds per year ($88.68) would go a long way toward paying the first cost of one of our IDEAL-AMERICAN outfits. They are now put in without disarranging your building or disturbing occupants, and can be easily cared for by a man or a child. No ash-dirt, coal-gases, smoke, or soot in living rooms. Need no repairs. Will outlast the building. Their coal economies soon pay the difference in first cost over old-fashioned methods.

CITY'S BUDGET FOR YEAR 1911 EXCEEDED THE $2,000,000 MARK

The total disbursements of all departments of the city for all purposes during the year 1911 were $2,132,388.68, according to the annual report of City Treasurer Fred J. Voss. The total cash receipts of the treasurer were $2,513,472.29, and at the beginning of 1912 his books showed a balance of $381,083.61.

The statement contains some interesting figures, which, while not showing the detail of the work, give an idea of the amount of work which has been done during the past year.

The total receipts of the city for water and gas were $532,567.63. In addition to this the department sold $200,000 of bonds. The total expenditures were $658,797.33, which includes all the new work done as well as maintenance and operating expenses. The assessments for street improvements and sewers amounted to $217,370.45; those for street sprinkling were $21,505.71; and those for sidewalks were $77,228.69, the last being considered unusually large.

The tax receipts for 1910 and prior years were $695,187.39; the mortgage tax netted $11,396.02; liquor licenses brought in $186,000; from other licenses the city received $11,792.42, while municipal court fines and fees were $22,596.77. The interest on daily balances made $3,266.17 for the city while penalty and interest on assessments collected by the county were $1,487.18. The wheelage tax brought the city $14,581.96.

During the year the city spent $110,000 from the sinking fund to retire bonds. The expenditures of the public works fund were $134,137.38; those from the park fund were $80,250.74; those of the permanent improvement fund were $62,729.56; those of the permanent improvement revolving fund were $218,347; those of the general fund were $153,229.57; those of the street maintenance and repair fund were $32,221.40 and those of the storm sewer and street intersection fund were $26,621.81.

LONG SUFFERING ENDS IN DEATH

Marion Harkness Dies After Illness of More Than a Year.

Death yesterday morning ended the suffering of Marion Frances Harkness, the 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Harkness of 401 East Sixth street. She passed away at 5:30 o'clock after an illness of more than a year, during which she has undergone untold agony. A year ago last December the doctors discovered that she had Bright's disease. Since that time she has been confined to her bed, patiently bearing up under almost ceaseless pain. The funeral services will take place tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock at the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart. Second avenue east and Fourth street. Interment will be at Calvary cemetery.

SUPERIOR

SECRET SERVICE MEN INVESTIGATE BRIDGE.

Three members of the United States secret service were in Superior during the past week investigating the facts surrounding the dynamiting of the bridge of the new P. & R. dock on Connors Point two years ago. This fact gained circulation Saturday afternoon and was confirmed by government officials in the city. The investigation has to do principally with some phases of the testimony of Ortie McManigal, the self-confessed dynamiter.

Will Offer Compromise.

That a definite proposition to the railroads for a compromise of the street ends case will be agreed upon by the special council committee at a meeting to be held tomorrow afternoon was said this morning to be probable. It is known that some of the committeemen favor such action, and at an informal meeting held Saturday evening the proposal was indorsed. The committee will report to the council tomorrow evening at its regular weekly meeting.

Rumor of New Hotel.

Rumors that a hotel building is being planned for the corner of Broadway and Ogden avenue have been received in a new form, and it is now said that there is every likelihood of the project becoming a realization in the near future. It is understood that plans have already been made for an eight-story hotel building on the corner.

Farmers' School at Madison.

Douglas county farmers will be liberally represented at the school for farmers, which opens at Madison Jan. 30 and continues through Feb. 9. Section programs for the various classes every day have been announced and a special dairy course is among the features of the school.

City to Watch Ice.

The city will keep close watch on the harvesting of ice this year in order to be sure that none of the product is secured in the bay or other territory from which harvesting is forbidden. Walter Egan has been named ice inspector for this purpose and has been given full police power to make any arrests.

Socialists Oppose Plan.

A mass meeting to be addressed by local speakers, in which the adoption of the commission form of government will be opposed, will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Finnish hall under the auspices of the Socialist party.

DAYLIGHT ROBBER PLACED ON TRIAL

Harry Carr Charged With Daring Attempt to Get Valuables.

Carr, the police say, tried to put through one of the boldest daylight holdup jobs known in the history of the local authorities.

On Jan. 2, this year, a grand jury indictment charges, Carr attempted to hold up at the point of a loaded revolver, Edward Ranck, assistant secretary of the Duluth Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Ranck was walking along West First street, in front of the postoffice when accosted by Carr. Carr thurst a gun in his face and demanded his valuables. Mr. Ranck refused and Carr's nerve failed him and he attempted to make a getaway. The police caught him at Fifth avenue west and Superior street.

A SHINING CORNISH METAL.

Scientific American: There is a legend among the peasants of Cornwall in England that at night there may be observed a faintly shining mineral among the rocks brought from the mines. That this is not pure fancy has been proved by Prof. Strutt. A specimen of the mineral autunite, which is also found in Wales, was sent to him from Portugal because of its luminosity. He finds that it closely resembles artificially prepared salts of uranium, and that its luminosity is due to spontaneous radioactivity. The light it sheds is stronger than that of nitrate of uranium. Upon parting with its water of crystallization the mineral loses its luminous property.

WITNESS ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF PERJURY

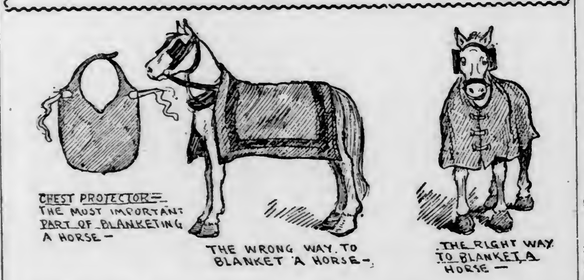

A sensational turn was given to the case of Adelmar E. Snyder against John F. McCarthy, which is on trial again in the district court, when George H. Gallup was arrested this afternoon on a charge of perjury.

The complaint was sworn to by Mr. Snyder. He states in the complaint that on Jan. 12 Mr. Gallup swore that he had in his possession and showed to Mr. Snyder a list of Colorado lands. Mr. Snyder claims that Gallup never had such a list of lands, and never furnished such a list to him.

Mr. Gallup asked for an examination, which was set for Wednesday at 2 p. m., and he was released on $500 cash bail.

The case of Snyder vs. McCarthy involves a sum of approximately $33,000, which the plaintiff claims as commission on a land deal.

PROPER WAY TO BLANKET A HORSE IN COLD WEATHER

Scores of people in Duluth apparently do not know how to blanket a horse properly, and the animals pay the penalty, the suffering being especially noticeable during the cold weather such as that of the last few weeks.

These people apparently think that they have done enough when they throw the blanket or robe over the horse's back. The only excuse that can be advanced is ignorance.

If the blanket is to protect the horse it should be pinned closely together in the front. The chest of a horse is much more susceptible to the cold than any other part of his anatomy. The simple but important reason is that his heart is right back of the chest. If the cold is allowed to strike him there, he is bound to suffer.

A warm chest protector will do more for a horse's comfort in cold weather than half a dozen blankets stacked on top of his back or hips. This prevents the cold air from cutting into the tenderest part of his body. During such a cold spell as the present, every horse should have a chest protector. It is not expensive and can be easily attached. If he is not provided with one, every driver should take care that the front of the blanket is pulled closely together and pinned securely. The ends of the blanket ought to overly at least a couple of inches. Otherwise the chief benefit of the blanket is lost.

It is seldom that the experienced driver leaves the chest of a horse unprotected during the winter; it isgenerally the green man who doesn't know any better.

CARELESS ABOUT APENDICITIS IN DULUTH

Many Duluth people have stomach or bowel trouble which is likely to turn into appendicitis. If you have constipation, sour stomach, or gas on the stomach, try simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as compounded in Adler-i-ka, the new German appendicitis remedy. Druggists state that A SINGLE DOSE of this simple remedy relieves bowel or stomach trouble almost INSTANTLY. W. A. Abbett, druggist.

URGES AN OCTAL SYSTEM.

If Otto Rumford of Chicago, mathematician, philosopher and reformer, succeeds in getting some congressman to introduce a certain bill he has recently drafted, and if the bill passes, there will be a topsyturvy revolution not only in the bureau of weights and standards, but in all the arithmetics in the country, says the New York Sun.

For this man from the West would have Uncle Sam discard his present system of weights and measures, throw his yard stick and foot rules, pint cups and bushel baskets, pounds and hundredweights out of the window and adopt his new system.

"Oh, you wish us to adopt the decimal system, like France with her metric system," said the congressman to him. The congressman was wrong, for the reformer from Lake Michigan would tumble the decimal system out of the window also. What he wants first, according to the draft of his proposed bill, is to discard the numeral ten as the basic number in all enumeration and substitute the number eight. This is what he says:

"The civilized world has adopted ten as the basic number for enumeration, because, say the wise men, delving into first causes, primitive man learned to count on his ten fingers. This primitive system has been elaborated into our present system of ten as a basic number. Thus in arithmetic we give a value to a figure ten times as great for each place it moves to the left. Ten being used from time immemorial, say the learned ones, and our ten fingers being the foundation for that, it must be the natural basic number.

"But here is where these sciolists make a mistake. Nature may have meant our fingers to furnish the basic number, and I think it did; but nature never furnished ten fingers, only eight. Thumbs are not fingers."

The father of this new system which Uncle Sam is urged to adopt considers, however, this nature part of the matter entirely beside the real question and points to the intrinsic value of eight over ten as a basic number.

"A basic number should be one that is capable of the simplest subdivision, which is into halves, continued indefinitely until the single unit is reached," argues Rumford, not without logic. "Now if you subdivide ten into half you get five; cutting that in two, you get two and a half, that is, two units and half a unit, which is inconvenient, inexact and unscientific. But divide eight in half and you get four; further dividing, you get two, and this is capable of a still further division, which gives you the single unit. It can thus be plainly seen that with eight as a basic number, all simple and natural subdivisions, that is, into halves, quarters and eights, could be made without the inconvenience of fractional numbers such as two and a half."

"After this 'octal' system, or system of eight, is adopted," he says, "I want the government then to adopt a system like the French metric system, only differing in having eight instead of ten as the basis. Thus we can have eight units make a pint, eight pints make a quart, eight quarts a gallon and so on, instead of the heterogeneous and unscientific method we have today."

BASEBALL FOR FRANCE.

New York American: "I am going to introduce baseball into France," said Emile Dubonnet, the balloonist, who sailed for his home yesterday.

He came over to participate in the international balloon race.

"The French are an excitable people and baseball will appeal to them," he declared. "I believe it will be more popular even than it is here.

"Ballooning is the sport of France, but it can hardly be considered a real sport in the popular sense. They need something like baseball and I am going to introduce it to the nation."

PRISONERS ARRAIGNED

Indian Fined $100 for Introducing Liquor on Reservation.

One of Alleged Counterfeiters Enters Plea of Guilty.

Muhd-way-aush, the Chippewa Indian, charged with having introduced liquor on the Leech Lake Indian reservation and against whom an indictment was returned by the federal grand jury last week, was arraigned before Judge Page Morris Saturday. The Indian was fined $100 and sentenced to sixty days in the county jail at Walker, Minn.

Charley Quan and Lowe You, indicted by the grand jury on a charge of having smoking opium in their possession, were arraigned and entered pleas of not guilty.

Noah Waelchli, accused of impersonating an officer of the United States army, entered a plea of not guilty.

James Papadiches, charged with having obtained by fraud a letter from the McGregor postoffice, containing money, pleaded guilty. Sentence was deferred.

Edward Paul and Sam Polinski, alleged counterfeiters, were arraigned. Paul pleaded guilty and Polinski entered a plea of not guilty. Paul has not been sentenced as yet.

DULUTH WOMAN WILL RECEIVE LEGACY.

Mrs. O. E. Petterson of 618 East Fifth street, wife of a broker with offices in the First National Bank building, is said to have a substantial legacy coming from the estate of a wealthy uncle who died recently in South Africa. The amount of the legacy is unknown. She says that her uncle went to Africa about sixty years ago and amassed a fortune. When he died a short time ago the British authorities advertised for his heirs. She has forwarded some proofs of her relationship and is now waiting for certified records from Sweden. She has a brother, G. A. Larson, who is employed at the White Swan drug store, and other relatives in Kansas and in Cleveland.

"AWAKENING OF CHINA"

Returned Missionary Gives Interesting Talk on the Orient.

Rev. J. H. Giffin, formerly of Superior, who returned recently from Eastern China, where he conducted missionary work, gave an interesting talk yesterday morning on the awakening of China at the regular services of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street. Mr. Giffin spent the past seven years among the Chinese and is fully acquainted with their manners and ways of living.

"China is truly awakening," said Mr. Giffin in the course of his address, "and she is coming out of the sleep of centuries while the eyes of the world are upon her. The rulers of the greater countries are interested in the outcome of the present strife that is being waged, and those in authority in missionary circles are intensely interested, believing that when peace is secured there will be a greater opportunity for the spread of the gospel."

The speaker then gave a brief review of the present revolution, showing how it has spread from one end of China to the other, so that today the whole nation is in revolt against the Manchus.

"What as to the outlook? Can China rule herself if a republican form of government is adopted? Her whole history seems to be a reply in the negative. Two months ago, in reply to similar questions, replied that she could not, but the more I study the question and the Chinese, and especially their way in handling moral and social evils, I am forced to the conclusion that we need not fear for China whatever form of government she adopts. She, by treaty with England, was given ten years in which to cease the cultivation of the opium plant. In the space of five years she has almost accomplished this, and English editorial writers and merchantmen are loud in their protests because the Chinese refuse to buy Indian opium. China has undertaken reforms against foot binding and now high officials have undertaken to stop the smoking of cigarettes in the army and navy. China accomplishes what she sets out to accomplish.

"The religious outlook is as bright as the political," concluded the speaker. "There are now 4,600 missionaries in China, but this number must be doubled in the next three or four years for there will now be more people open to the gospel than have ever ben at any one time."

"THE CURSE OF AN ANSWERED PRAYER."

Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, preached on "The Curse of An Answered Prayer" at the regular services last evening. Mr. McGaughey told of the Israelites who, when wandering through the wilderness in their flight from Egypt, rebelled against the manner in which God provided for them and asked for flesh.

"They complained to Moses and told him of the good things they had while in Egypt," said the speaker, "and claimed they were now compelled to eat bread that rained from the heavens. So God gave them flesh, but with it he sent a plague that killed thousands of the people. The burial ground at Syria, which the people of that country point to today, is the grave of thousands who rebelled.

"The saddest of all things in the world is not poverty but plenty. It is the greatest danger in the country today and the deepest grave in which one can bury his manhood is the grave of indulgence. The church that has plenty is not compelled to struggle and will eventually go into decay."

Rosary Society.

Mrs. R. Hoch and Mrs. A. Farrington entertained the ladies of the Rosary society of St. Clement's Catholic church Saturday afternoon at the Foresters' hall, Twenty-first avenue west and Third street. The afternoon was spent in music and games and a luncheon was served to the following: Mesdames Harvey Robinson, A. Hegland, John Nolan, Matthew Ahern, F. R. O'Donnell, M. P. Farley, James Crowley, J. H. Evans, Catherine Kremer, John McNamara, George Lang, Leon Schiltz, H. W. Cahill, Edward Kiley, C. B. Nunan, J. J. Schiltz, Theodore Simon, A. F. Gratto, George Walters, Charles E. Sheridan, J. Harrle, M. E. Chisholm, J. R. Wade, Thomas Michaud, William Devaney, and the Misses Lurline Farley, Gladys O'Donnell, Rose McMahon, Harry Wade, Marion England, Grace McNamara, Helen Broderick and Janet Haley.

Republican Meeting.

The regular weekly meeting of the West End Republican club will be held at Sloan's hall this evening. Among the speakers for the evening are: Clement de Roche, candidate for alderman in the Seventh ward and Chris Anderson, candidate for alderman in the Sixth ward. It is probable that the Duluth Edison company will have one of its representatives present at the meeting to give the company's side of the municipal lighting question. A general campaign for the Sixth and Seventh wards will be planned at the meeting.

Franson-Martin.

Miss Anna Franson and T. C. Martin were married yesterday afternoon at the home of the groom's brother, 524 East Fifth street. Rev. W. E. Farnam of St. Peter's Episcopal church, conducted the ceremony, following which a wedding supper was served to the immediate relatives of the couple. They will make their home in the West end following a short wedding trip in the southern part of the state.

Talks on China.

Mauritz Hanson, a divinity student from Rock Island, Ill., preached yesterday morning on "Missions In China," at the regular services of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street. Mr. Hanson is planning to take up missionary work in the Orient as soon as he graduates from Augustana college. He left last evening for St. Paul, from where he will leave in a few days to resume his studies at the theological school.

Army Officer Leaves.

Adjutant Whalen of the Swedish Salvation Army, 1631 West Superior street, will leave the local branch in a few weeks for another field. Miss Whalen has been transferred from Duluth after being connected with the corps in this city for the past four years. A reception will be given in her honor at the army hall next Thursday evening, when her successor will be announced.

Will Install Officers.

The Engineers' Auxiliary, No. 299, will hold a special installation ceremony at the Columbia hall Friday evening. The following officers elected at the last meeting will be installed: Mrs. G. Craig, president; Mrs. J. H. Evans, vice president; Mrs J. M. McLish, secretary; Mrs. F. G. Watson, treasurer; Mrs. Alfred Dahl, insurance secretary; Mrs. T. H. Klen, chaplain; Mrs. James Ridel, guide; Mrs. John Shields, sentinel; Mrs. J. E. Goodman, musician.

Pastor Is Ill.

Rev. George E. Silloway, pastor of the Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, left for Minneapolis Saturday, where he will rest for two weeks at the order of his physician. He is accompanied by Mrs. Silloway. Rev. Silloway was taken ill several weeks ago.

Presented With Purse.

Miss Olga Sundholm, 329 Restormel street, who has been ill at her home for the past three months, was pleasantly surprised at her home last evening by a number of her West end friends. The visitors presented Miss Sundholm with a purse of $37.75 to help herself and father, who had been ill for several weeks before Miss Lundholm was taken sick.

West End Briefs.

The Rebecca guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church will be entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Adolph Olson, 321 North Twenty-third avenue west.

The revival meetings of the First Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will be continued this week and Rev. Edwin Stromberg, pastor of the church, will be assisted by Rev. John E. Stone of Virginia.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Swedish M. E. church will be entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ida Broman, 1429 West Superior street.

Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Johnson of Twenty-fourth avenue west left yesterday for a short visit with friends in the Twin Cities.

The Bethany Junior society of the Swedish Bethany Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, will hold a business meeting in the church parlors this evening.

Miss Emma Haroldson left yesterday for a two weeks' visit with relatives in the Twin Cities.

The deacons of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church will meet tomorrow evening at the home of the pastor, Rev. C. G. Olson, 2305 West Third street.

Miss Stina Sjodine of Aitkin, Minn., is a guest this week at the home of Mrs. John Osquist, 1812 West Second street.

The Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Clement's Catholic church will entertain at a second monthly social Friday evening at the Foresters' hall, Twenty-first avenue west and Third street.

The revival meetings of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street, will be held every evening this week, beginning tomorrow. Rev. Mr Erickson will be assisted by Rev. E Hanson of Ashland, Wis.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church will be entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. Iverson, 2225 Tenth street.

The Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church will meet in the church parlors this evening.

STOCK COMPANY IN "THE WOLF"

"Raffles" Will Be Bill for Remainder of Engagement.

Owing to the illness of William Donovan, one of the actors of the Gus A. Forbes company, "Raffles" was not presented at the Lyceum theater yesterday afternoon and evening as billed As a substitute the company presented "The Wolf," one of the best melodramas ever presented in Duluth. It was announced, however, that "Raffles" would be played, according to the schedule, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings and on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. Mr. Donovan is down on the program to take the part of Colby, a butler and it is expected that he will be sufficiently recovered by Tuesday afternoon to handle his role. In any event, it is promised that the schedule will be carried out, as Frank Patton of the Wyoming company has come from Chicago in response to a telegram to assist in the production of "Raffles" and if Mr. Donovan is not able to handle his role, it will be taken by Mr. Patton. Mr. Patton is on the program to handle the part of Merton, the assistant detective. As soon as it is known whether Mr. Donovan will be able to play, the cast can be definitely arranged.

"The Wolf" greatly pleased the audiences of both the afternoon and the evening. It is a three-act play, picturing wild pioneer life in Northwest Canada.

Mr. Forbes took the part of the hero of the play, Jules, a young Frenchman, who makes a successful fight for the girl he loves in spite of the opposition of her father, and the desperate rivalry of another suitor, who he kills in self defense in the last act. Mr. Forbes showed himself quite an adept at imitating the French dialect, accent and general manner.

Miss Corinne Cantwell appeared as Hilda McTavish, the heroine, whose ill-treatment at the hands of her father, repulsion of the suit of Jules' rival and final elopement with Jules, constitute the main thread of the plot. Miss Cantwell displays much art in her representation of the meek, innocent girl, who is finally goaded by ill-treatment to throw off her father's authority and take matters into her own hands.

Horace V. Nobles gave a highly realistic presentation of the villian, "The Wolf," one Macdonald, who seeks to crown a long record of crime, by murdering Jules and forcing the heroine to marry him.

MELODRAMA AT THE ORPHEUM

Thrilling Play By Paul Armstrong Headlines the New Bill.

Not excelled in the faithfulness of the picture it paints, by even his two famous plays, "The Deep Purple" and "Alias Jimmy Valentine," Paul Armstrong's "Romance of the Underworld," which headlines the Orpheum bill this week, is the biggest and best sketch the local theater has yet presented. It is more than a sketch. It is almost a play in itself, there being twenty-three speaking parts in it.

It runs fifty minutes, and there are three scenes, two of them being most elaborate ones.

"A Romance of the Underworld" is stark and unashamed melodrama. Paul Armstrong reveals his high-handed methods in this vaudeville thriller, because his puppets must jump so rapidly. The play is a clever succession of types faithfully visualized and faithfully acted. A flashing bit is that of the shoplifter, so sympathetically played by Dorothy Abbott, that her brief appearance remains stamped on the memory. The mains stamped on the memory. The young crook "Slippery" Jake, is also done with understanding and discretion by Frank Dixon. The idea of the young lover falsely sentenced, whose sweetheart hires a fresh young lawyer to take the case, is true to life and there is remarkable vitality in the courtroom scene. Every bit of business is life-like and the sentencing of the dope fiend, the young crook, the shoplifter, the belligerent Irishman, build up a fine sense of realism.

This scene of the Orpheum headliner is one of the most unusual ever staged in vaudeville. A real courtroom is shown and adequately shown. The Tombs is also a finely staged picture and the cast, which numbers over a score, is a finely balanced one.

The rest of the bill is not neglected. Ward Baker, the violinist, has a finished act. He is a good musician and has the faculty of reaching a vaudeville audience with his music.

John World and Mindel Kingston present about twenty minutes of clever nonsense and foolishness. They are versatile people, and they won many a laugh by their nondescript act last evening.

Richardson's posing dogs are a novelty in the trained animal line, showing a series of attractive poses.

Mollie and Nellie King, two clever and attractive young girls, have a pleasing little act, which they call "some musical comedy in a vaudeville way." It consists of songs, dances and imitations.

Ernie and Mildred Potts are bag-punchers, and good ones. Ernie, who by the way is a brother of the pugilist, Jimmy Potts, does the bag-punching, while his partner sings and dances. The act is pleasing, and is attractively staged.

Among the moving pictures this week is one film showing a baseball game between the New York Giants and the Havana team of Havana, Cuba. The bill as a whole is an exceptional one. In fact, the headline act is a show in itself.

TWO FEATURES AT EMPRESS

"La Petite Revue" and "Books" Headline Strong Bill.

Beginning with one of the best juggling acts presented at the Empress this year and ending with the headline novelty, "La Petite Revue," which easily lived up to its advance notices, the three Empress audiences yesterday enjoyed one of the best variety bills of the year.

Not lacking in exceptional attractions, the Empress this week is featuring two headliners in the "La Petite Revue," and the college sketch, "Books," both of which are very well received. The idea of the Revue is not an original one, but so modernized and expensively arranged that it is a novel act by itself. The act has six figures with a special setting of a miniature stage for each number. The act opens with imitations of prominent stage celebrities, the members then giving an act from Sullivan's famous light opera, "H. M. S. Pinafore," and closing with a cat-calling number in which all the members of the company represent felines, who are fighting on a house roof.

"Books" as presented by the Will Howard-Will Powell company gives the audience a real touch of varsity life. The decorations in the students' room consisting of penants, flags and posters from burlesque shows are typical of the college chap, and aid materially in giving the color to the sketch. The other members of the cast play their parts exceptionally well.

Living up to their reputation of presenting European acts on the circuit, Sullivan & Considine this week sent Mozetto, the famous English juggler, to Duluth. Mozetto's feats cover a multitude of tricks, from catching coins to marvelous balancing stunts. His performance is rapid and he is well assisted by a comical assistant.

Sheridan and Sloane present a singing and dancing act which they have labelled "A Tag Day Episode." Both have exceptionally good voices and are also very able dancers. They have a good list of new jokes that have never been heard before in Duluth, which is saying much for any act. Labelled as "America's Juvenile Dancer and Jester," Carl Randall, dressed in an Eaton school costume, goes through a series of songs and dances that are short of marvelous for such a young man. He is a good clog dancer and manages to receive several curtain calls after an artistic grotesque dance, with which he closes his act. The motion pictures are, as usual, interesting and entertaining.

The same bill will be presented every afternoon and evening during the week.

QUININE DOESN'T CURE BAD COLDS

Tells How to Break a Severe Cold and Grippe in a Few Hours.

You will distinctly feel your cold breaking and all the Grippe symptoms leaving after taking the very first dose.

It is a positive fact that Pape's Cold Compound, taken every two hours, until three consecutive doses are taken, will end the Grippe and break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs.

It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Take this harmless compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

News and Views of Minnesota Politics

THE campaign is on and from now until next November the people of Minnesota will have no political rest.

There have been rumblings previously, but the campaign was really launched this morning when Sam Y. Gordon made public the bomb-like announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor.

Sam's announcement is more like a broadside than a bomb, perhaps, but it will cause some scattering, whichever comparison may be used. He raises the cry of corporation domination in the Republican party, announces that he will stump the state and call the people to aid him in destroying the machine, and promises one of the warmest little campaigns Minnesota has ever seen.

Minnesota will be well represented at the Democratic get-together conference and banquet at Fargo Wednesday and Thursday of this week. National Committeeman Fred B. Lynch of St. Paul is on the banquet program and many prominent Democrats from this state will be in attendance.

Fargo is making preparations for a great gathering and if predictions are carried out the meeting will assume national importance. William J. Bryan and Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio have assured the committee they will attend. Judge Martin J. Wade of Iowa, who was prominently mentioned at the national committee meeting last week as a vice president possibility, will be one of the speakers. Charles C. Heffner of Seattle, Woodrow Wilson's Western manager, will represent his chief at the meeting. Champ Clark's presidential aspirations will be advanced by a South Dakota delegation.

Judge Wade will speak on "The Past and the Future." Thomas J. Walsh of Helena has chosen the subject, "The Admonition of the West." Fred R. Whiteside of Kalispel, Mont., will speak on "Looking Both Ways."

Wednesday will be given over to conferences, and in the evening at the Orpheum theater, a big meeting will be held at which Governor Harmon, Senator Pettigrew of South Dakota and others will speak. The state central committee will hold a meeting Thursday, and in the evening, the big banquet will be held, at which Mr. Bryan, Governor Harmon, Judge Wade, Governor Norris of Montana, Former Senator Pettigrew, Fred B. Lyneh of St. Paul, Mr. Heffner and others will speak.

On Jan. 15, 1910, Joel P. Heatwole, then editing the Northfield News, published a leading editorial under the caption, "Should Not Permit It." He opposed the nomination of Adolph O. Eberhart as the Republican candidate for governor. Last week, the Northfield News, now in other hands, that Mr. Heatwole has passed from earth, republished the editorial. It is in characteristic Heatwole style and sets forth clearly and at length the objections of the veteran editor to Eberhart as a Republican leader.

In introducing the editorials of its former editor, the News says:

In its issue of Jan. 15, 1910, exactly two years ago, The News, then under the editorial management of Joel P. Heatwole, published a leading editorial under the heading "Should Not Permit It." Under somewhat similar conditions and with a nominating convention looming up a few months distant, the editorial will bear repetition. It rings true today as it did then. Governor Eberhart in his two years in office has done absolutely nothing to disprove any of the counts therein lodged against him. The one big fact that was emphasized by the recent Simpson episode was the absolute domination of Governor Eberhart by the brewery and other interests represented by Ed Smith, and it is significant that no denial of these facts has ever been uttered by the governor. The nearest approach to such a denial made by him when these identical charges appeared in The News of two years ago was, "Oh, tush!"—a denial which is typical of the evasive policy pursued by the present governor and his advisers.

Floyd L. Bell, who writes political gossip from St. Paul for a string of country papers, quotes a significant remark made by P. M. Ringdahl. Bell writes:

Peter Ringdahl made a remark the other day in connection with this talk of himself as the Democratic candidate for governor. Ringdahl said: "With the normal Republican majority which is now obtainable in Minnesota it would be the height of folly for a Democrat to aspire to the governor's office with much idea of promoting his own interests. Of course, however, a situation might arise in this day of independent thought and voting which would result in an overthrow of present conditions and render the election of such a candidate not only possible but highly probable." You may place your own construction from that upon Mr. Ringdahl's attitude toward the Democratic nomination.

Silvanus, who writes "Sayings of Silvanus" in Sam Y. Gordon's Browns Valley Tribune, is peeved because the newspapers of the state have attributed his column to Sam Y. He leads his column in the last issue with the following wail:

Sam Y. Gordon is being credited by some of the exchanges for "perpetrating" this column and he is as mad about it as the man responsible for it. "Sayings by Silvanus" are not "sayings by Samuel" by any means, neither is Silvanus a nom de plume, but is the real first name, without any "y," of a full grown man who weighs over 200 pounds, and who happens to be a brother of Sam Y., for which fact neither one is in any manner to blame.

Silvanus is a brother of Sam. Nobody would guess that an S. would stand for Silvanus, any more quickly than they can guess what the Y. with which Sam Gordon parts his name, signifies. If Silvanus wants to do the state of Minnesota a real service he should tip off the key to the Gordon code of family names so that the puzzle of that exasperating Y may be solved.

Senator James R. Boyle of Eveleth was in Duluth Saturday, having come down from International Falls. Senator Boyle had no announcement to make as to his candidacy for congress. He is apparently looking over the field with a view to getting into the race if he determines from an inspection of the field that the people are ready for a change.

W. E. Lee of Long Prairie also announced his candidacy for governor today. Mr. Lee is a determined foe of the railroads, is regarded as an extreme Progressive and if he gains strength it will be at the expense of Gordon rather than Eberhart. A three-cornered fight is that should make history is in prospect.

MICHIGAN WOMAN FOUND GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER.

Bay City, Mich., Jan. 15.—Mrs. Vina Behrmann, charged with murdering her husband, Henry Behrmann, last August, was convicted of manslaughter. The jury deliberated twenty-two hours. The shooting that caused the death is said to have been the result of a quarrel between the man and his wife over the former's affection for another woman. Mrs. Behrmann's attorneys asked for a ten days' stay of sentence.

PRISONERS ON ICE-BOUND BOAT FEAST ON ICE CREAM.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—The passenger steamer Indiana, which was ice bound several miles out of Chicago harbor for three days, was liberated this afternoon, and after a stiff fight against ice floes reached port last night. Nine passengers and fifty members of the crew were nearly worn out by the protracted struggle. It required six hours to traverse the few miles to harbor.

The Indiana was amply provided with provisions and meals were served both day and night to passengers and crew. The boat's larder contained a large supply of ice cream and despite their cold situation, this dish was popular with those imprisoned on board.

HUNTINGTON WILSON TO SUCCEED BACON?

Washington, Jan. 15.—Huntington Wilson, assistant secretary of state, is to succeed Robert Bacon as ambassador to France, according to persistent rumors in diplomatic circles here. Thomas C. Dawson, resident diplomatic officer of the state department, whose name was mentioned prominently in connection with the post of ambassador to Brazil, to which Edward V. Morgan was named, will be made assistant secretary of state, the same rumors say.

Mr. Wilson has been assistant secretary of state since the beginning of the present administration. Previous to becoming assistant secretary he had for several years been third assistant, and before that served for nearly ten years in the American embassy in Tokio as secretary and charge d'affaires.

ENGINE FREEZES TO RAILS IN TENNESSEE.

Bristol, Tenn., Jan. 15.—The Norfolk & Western railroad's fast Washington-Chattanooga train froze to the tracks when it stopped at Lynchburg, Va., Sunday. Dripping water from the pipes hardened quickly in the zero weather, and the wheels were locked so securely in the ice that three engines bumping the train from the rear were required to move it. The train arrived here seven hours late.

Miner Falls Thirty Feet.

Ishpeming, Mich., Jan. 15.—Leonardo Agriesta, a miner in the Sunrise shaft of the Mary Charlotte mine, fell through a raise and sustained serious injuries. He dropped thirty feet and lit on rough material, his back and sides being injured.

COLD WAVE IS PASSING

End of Severe Weather in Sight, Says the Forecaster.

The end of the cold spell is in sight, but it is putting up a game struggle for its life.

The mercury refuses to rise with a jump. It will slowly creep up in the tube during the next day or two. Early this morning the mercury registered 22 deg. below zero, and as there was a thirty-six mile gale blowing during the night, it could not exactly be called balmy weather. The temperature will moderate during the day, according to the weather man, and will be milder tomorrow. The mercury will probably get above the zero mark tomorrow, and then continue to go higher. From all points in the Northwest higher temperatures are reported, and there is every chance of a real break in the cold spell.

All records for continued low temperature were broken by the recent snap. For twelve continuous days the mercury never got above the zero mark, and the mean temperature for the first twelve days of the year was 20 below zero, which outclasses anything Duluth ever experienced.

ered shall be submitted to the whole senate as judges.

The Case Forgotten.

Beyond a doubt, the policy of the Lorimer forces in fighting for delay has been a wise one. When the committee closed its sessions in Chicago last November it was a safe guess that its report would be hostile to the accused senator. The press predicted such a finding. The public demanded it. Since then much water has run under the political wheel. In Washington, at least, the Lorimer case has been forgotten. The committee has been sitting in a room with practically no auditors. The newspapers have dismissed the subject in a paragraph. Where men gather in political converse, they discuss whether Roosevelt will run again, or whether Bryan can forgive the letter writing exploits of Woodrow Wilson. But they don't talk of Lorimer, and the newspapers, passing on to other topics, have left public sentiment unvoiced as to this one.

Proof Incontrovertible.

Public sentiment was expected to figure largely in the committee's decision. Votes for Lorimer in the past have been paid for dearly by the senators casting them. On this subject Senators Bailey, Paynter and Cullom can speak feelingly. But if the public has lost interest in the matter, if a member of the committee can vote for Lorimer without apprehension of difficulty with his constituents, the Illinois man will be saved. Three members of the committee—Senators Kern, Lea and Kenyon—give every indication of a purpose to recommend his expulsion. One vote added to theirs would tie the committee. It is almost incredible that such a vote should not be forthcoming after the evidence adduced in Chicago. The proof of bribery is incontrovertible. The case of Hinshaw alone is enough, for in that a state senator confessed to having been paid money for his vote in a Chicago saloon, having taken it to a bank and there deposited it. The telegram calling him to the saloon was produced. His presence there on the day mentioned was shown. His course to the bank was traced, and finally the deposit slips showing the deposit of the precise sum of money mentioned were produced. And against all this array of corroborative evidence the Lorimer attorneys can only set up the theory that the man who confessed to taking the bribe perjured himself.

Lorimer's Weak Point.

The weak point in the anti-Lorimer attack is the failure to show the actual participation of the senator in the bribery so abundantly proved. He was the chief—indeed the only beneficiary, but that he personally furnished the corruption fund or supervised its distribution is not demonstrated. That flaw will give senators who are friendly to the Lorimer cause, or mer representa a chance to save him, though, unless public sentiment has materially changed, they will put themselves in jeopardy by so doing. There is much bitterness on the part of men friendly to Lorimer over the demands he is making on the loyalty of his friends. They hold, and with some reason, that to save his own seat he is willing to put half a dozen other ones in jeopardy.

Carnegie On the Stand.

It is getting so the wise chairman of an investigating committee handles his witnesses as an impressario does his stars. After a series of dull performance a real standing-room only witness is brought on and seats in the committee room go to a premium. Chairman Stanley of the Steel trust committee had his harvest time last week with Andrew Carnegie as the star.

Mr. Carnegie on the witness stand is an interesting study. Small, frail, shaggy, with white hair and beard he assumes an air of frankness and good humor which wins the friendliness of his auditors. It may be noted, in passing, that every one of the representatives of "big business" before this committee has assumed an air of geniality as though the situation if not wholly a joke was at least not disagreeable. Mr. Carnegie exulting over the way in which he bested John D. Rockefeller in the deal for the Lake Superior iron fields, or pleading with the committee for time in which to relate anecdotes of the oil king on the golf links, acts like a jolly companion joking in a club. Gates and Gary were much the same. Some of the committee think the tendency of these eminent lords of capital and industry to be communicative about non-essentials is intended to divert the inquisitors from inquiring too closely into material things. It is not too much to say, however, that the witness who gets away with any fact that Stanley, Beall, McGillicuddy or Littleton is after is quite entitled to his prize.

WOULD ALTER GOVERNMENT

inet ever formed since the foundation of the third republic.

Would Change Government.

The circumstances of the fall of the cabinet of M. Caillaux have thrown into discussion the whole question of the parliamentary form of government. It is pointed out that Frenchmen both at home and abroad realize that the greatest defect of modern France is to be found in conflicts of the parties, and in the lack of unity concerning problems affecting the progress of the nation.

The general feeling prevails that what France needs is a government of stability, and that continuity of policy is rendered difficult by frequent changes in the ministries and the absence of centralized responsibility.

The lessons of the past have induced Frenchmen to grant little power to the president of the republic, but wonder is now expressed whether this system has worked out practically. France's government does not argue for increased power being given to the president of the republic in the interest of stability and continuity.

Best of Nation in Cabinet.

A distinguished parliamentarian gave his opinion on the new cabinet today as follows:

"I regard this cabinet, which contains the best of the men of the French nation, as the test of parliamentarism. If a cabinet composed of such men is to be overthrown on some petty issue it will be time for all Frenchmen to consider seriously some change in the form of government. Foreigners who are not familiar with France or with our form of government some times hastily conclude that our frequent ministerial collapses indicate the weakness of our belief in a republic. Of course this is entirely nonsensical. What it may mean, however, is that the time has arrived when we must seek some new form of governing the republic."

New Feature Important.

A new feature of the present ministry is that Aristide Briand, the minister of justice, is named vice president of the cabinet, which means that he will represent the government in parliament and elsewhere in the absence of Premier Poincare. M. Briand said:

"I am glad to have the quiet portfolio of minister of justice. It will leave me free to battle for the cabinet in parliament."

M. Bourgeois said:

"Give me any modest berth. I want to help out the present situation with all my force."

GORDON ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY; LEE ALSO ENTERS THE CONTEST

rates and service and readjustment of railroad and other taxes are advocated by the lieutenant governor.

In addition to his formal statement, Mr. Gordon gave out an interview in which he said he would carry his fight direct to the people. He will arrange a speaking tour that will cover the entire state. He will speak in every county, and, if possible, in every community, before the nominating convention, calling upon the people to respond to the appeal he makes in his formal announcement.

Announcement of Candidacy.

Mr. Gordon's statement follows:

"To the people of Minnesota: Because it is time to raise squarely in this state the issue between a government responsive to the will and need of the people and a government responsive chiefly to the will and greed of a system of special interests of which the brewery power in politics is the keynote, I have determined to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

"I therefore announce my candidacy to the people of Minnesota, in whom I put my trust and before whom I shall rest my case, and in doing so I pledge myself that if elected I shall advocate and work earnestly and uncompromisingly to bring about the following changes, all of which I believe to be essential to a government that shall be truly of the people, by the people and for the people:

"First—The absolute prohibition of brewery ownership of saloons, the chief cause of the grossest evils of the liquor traffic and the chief source of a brewery domination in politics which is at once the most subtle, the most crude, the most sinister and the most mischievous force in the public life of this commonwealth.

"Second—The adoption of the statewide primary and the presidential primary, to the end that bosses, backed and financed though they may be by the money of arrogant selfish interests, shall be forced to surrender their misused power to the people, to whom it belongs and from whom it has been taken. These changes should be accompanied by the further safeguard of a rigid and efficient corrupt practices act.

"Third—The adoption of the initiative, the referendum and the recall, to the end that the people shall have the closest possible control of governmental operations. There is a wide division of opinion as to the wisdom of applying the recall principle to judges, and as this is in the experimental stage I do not believe that it should become an issue in this state until it has been tried by the states that have adopted it.

Honest Reapportionment.

"Fourth—A fair, honest and equitable legislative reapportionment that shall do strict justice to all and that shall remove the gross injustice of the present legislative apportionment, and so end for all time a sectional feeling from which nothing but harm can come.

"Fifth—The reorganization of state departments for economy and efficiency, including the assembling under one efficient department of all branches relating to the proper care and development of the state's resources of land, timber, iron ore, etc., and the settlement of idle areas; together with a rigid curtailment of the expenses of the state government, legislative and executive.

"Seventh—Strict regulation of railroad rates and service that shall put this state on an equality with neighboring states and that shall put every part of the state on the same basis of fairness, with special favors neither to individuals nor to communities.

"Eighth—The thorough readjustment of railroad and other taxes to the end that each individual and each industry shall pay according to its ability to pay and not according to its ability through cunning or the prostitution of political power, to shoulder part of its share of the tax burden off upon others.

"I intend this statement as a challenge and as an appeal; as a challenge of the right of an organization of brewery and other interests to dominate public affairs and to dictate party policies, and as an appeal to the people of Minnesota to end for all time an intolerable domination that smothers popular government in this state.

"SAMUEL Y. GORDON.

Lee Also a Candidate.

Long Prairie, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—William E. Lee has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor. The Long Prairie Leader, in its next issue, will contain the announcement and a statement of his platform. It has been understood for some time past that Mr. Lee was contemplating this step. He has been anxious to secure the indorsement of the Progressive Republican league, before making his announcement, but so far the league has failed to indorse any candidate.

was. The first news that the girl had been found came from Chicago, and a detective was sent to locate the girl. Miss Buehler said she was willing to go back to Chicago, and the police in that city were wired for instructions.

Later the girl made a longer statement to the police. She said she had told her foster mother she was going to visit an aunt, Mrs. P. Davidson, in Wisconsin, but instead had boarded a train for this city. Her idea in coming here was to earn her own living and see life.

Met Jack Clune.

Miss Buehler said that she was unaccompanied when she left Chicago, but immediately afterwards commenced to tell about a friend, who, she said, was Jack Clune, a restaurant man, whom she had known in Chicago, and whom she met in this city soon after her arrival.

Miss Buehler said Jack was a fine fellow and she hoped to marry him some day, when they had saved up money enough.

"Jack left Chicago some time ago," she said, "and then he came on to New York. I wrote Jack when I got here and I can tell you he was surprised to hear from me. Tell him they've got me and that will be another surprise for him. I'm sorry for him, and I suppose they will send me back home."

The girl scribbled a letter just before leaving the Brett home and left it on the bureau of her room. This note, written in lead pencil, was given out as follows:

"Jack: Don't give up 'Hun.' I must go. Will write soon as possible. I am so nervous. By-by."

Sent Four Crosses.

There were four crosses at the bottom of the sheet of paper. A note signed "V." ran:

"Stick to me, Jack and everything will be O. K."

The Bretts said Miss Buehler's conduct while she was with them was exemplary.

After a talk with Miss Buehler, Police Inspector Hughes said he was satisfied the girl had left her Chicago home of her own accord. According to him, Miss Buehler said she had just grown tired of her home, and having about $60, had come to New York. She said she had written to women friends in Chicago telling where she was.

The girl said she was just as anxious to get back home now as she had been to leave.

Will Welcome Her Home.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—What steps will be taken toward returning Miss Buehler to Chicago have not yet been decided. The police hold no warrant for her. A conference will be held by Mrs. Buehler, foster-mother of the girl, and the police today. As soon as it was learned that the girl had been found, several detectives called on Mrs. Buehler, but she was unable to see them.

"I hope to hear directly from Violet some time today," said Mrs. Buehler later. "It is my wish that she return without protest. I will welcome her home."

Later Mrs. Buehler said that she was willing that Violet should stay in New York if she so wished.

Anything to Suit Her.

"I will do anything to satisfy her. I want to know that she is safe and well cared for. I will bring Violet back to Chicago if she wants to come here," said Mrs. Buehler. "I am overjoyed to think that my little girl has been found."

Mrs. Buehler declared that she knew of no man named J. C. Clewne, but that a William Clowen registered at her hotel in June, 1910.

"I cannot say whether Clowen was a waiter," said Mrs. Buehler. "He was not living at the hotel at the time Violet disappeared, and so far as I know they were not acquainted."

Mrs. Buehler said that she would start to New York tomorrow to see Violet and declared that she would surrender the girl to her real mother or take whatever other course was for the best good of Violet.

The police explained today that they received a clew that Violet was in New York, but that delay in guaranteeing payment of the reward offered caused their informant to keep the exact information from them.

ACQUIT INDIAN OF KILLING BROTHER

Crow Wing County Jury Grants David Delonia His Freedom.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The jury after being out three hours and a half acquitted David Delonia of murdering his brother, Mike Delonia.

The evidence tended to show that the brothers had a quarrel over a woman and when David protected her, Mike interfered and a fatal fight resulted. Mike charged David with a hat spear and the latter fired two shots at Mike to scare him. The second shot struck Mike in the stomach and killed him.

David claimed he was advised to take away the body and half crazed with excitement, whisky and remorse he placed the body on a hand sled and dragged it in the moonlight to an old well on the Delonea sawmill site and threw the body head first into the hole where it was discovered several days later by a lumberman.

The Delonias are Chippewa Indians and the jury probably also took into consideration the fact that Mike was a man of ungovernable temper and that he had shot a man in Cass county and had served a term in the penitentiary.

CLOQUET JOTTINGS.

Lumberjack, Little Known, Is Victim of Pneumonia.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Henderson, who was brought to the Cloquet hospital several days ago with pneumonia, died Saturday afternoon. Henderson seems to be a stranger in this locality.

The kitchen range in the home of O. J. Frylund blew up, supposedly from the water pipes which enter the stove freezing during the night and steam forming between the stove and the place where the pipe was frozen. The stove was completely shattered. No one was in the room.

The debating team of the Cloquet high school gave their final debate of the series on the subject, "Resolved That Dairying is the Best Industry for Carlton County," Saturday night in the auditorium of the Lincoln high school. The team includes Roy Atkinson and Louis Dickie, affirmative, and Malachi Harney and Harry McWithy, negative. The affirmatives won the final skirmish. There was quite a large crowd of citizens present, and the high school orchestra rendered some very good selections. Misses Alma Johnson and Odiel Loisel rendered a piano duet.

PEOPLE'S MEETING AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The people's meeting at the First Presbyterial church last evening was one in fact as well as in name. The number of outsiders present was very gratifying to those in charge.

Rev. Robert Yost preached on "Monte Carlo." The place was taken as typical of the habit of which it is the fashionable center. The beauty of the place, its grandeur and attitude of quiet, were all shown. In contrast to the inviting appearance of the place, the speaker held up the other side, the tragic results of the losses, the reputed nightly suicides.

The prevalence of this habit among all classes of people, from the crap game in the alley to the fashionable bridge party, was held up as one of the most appalling problems.

The speaker further emphasized the fact that this fever has no reaction and no recurrent periods of remorse, when repentance may step in and effect a revolution. "It is a thing that constantly grips harder, killing self-respect, satisfaction with the home life, and all good things," he said.

Dr. Yost closed with an earnest exhortation to all his hearers to fight this evil as a great danger should be fought.

Miss Gunderson rendered a violin solo for the offertory, and played the accompaniments, together with Miss Nordby. A pleasing duet was sung by Miss Gladys Reynolds and Miss Glenn Bartholomew. Mr. Batchelor sang "Hold Thou My Hand."

Those in charge of caring for the babies during the morning service say that there was little demand for their services, but that the innovation will be continued until a wider knowledge of the facilities may give a proper test of the desire for such a convenience.

The Young Men's Bible class members are attending the new meetings in large numbers and are constantly working to perfect the service.

SOCIETY TO PROMOTE EFFICIENCY PLANNED.

New York, Jan. 15.—Executive heads of 2,000 corporations capitalized at $1,000,000 or more each, have been invited to meet in New York early in February to organize the Society for Promoting Efficiency. It is expected that upwards of 1,000 will attend. The society is to be national.

Lidgerwood Market Robbed.

Lidgerwood, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Clever work was done by a burglar who entered the Jahoda & Ercink meat market and stole $100 from the safe, effecting the theft by working his way into the shop through the rear door, and departing leaving everything in such condition that the robbery was not discovered for several hours.

ONLY TWENTY-TWO KILLED.

Railroads Had Few Fatalities in North Dakota Last Year.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 15—The railroad commission has just completed reports of all the accidents incurred during the year of 1911 and resulting from the movement of trains, locomotives or cars in North Dakota.

The record shows that of the 3,304,716 passengers carried in the state last year only 3 were killed, and these were killed through derailment of trains. Forty-six passengers were injured, 14 through careless switching, 10 by jumping off trains and 5 from other causes. Of 11,920 railroad employes 19 were killed and 205 were injured. Seven of the employes killed were trainmen, 8 were trackmen, 3 station men, and 1 other employe.

PETER PASTORET DIES.

Old Resident of Fargo, Former Duluthian, Called.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 15.—Peter Pastoret, who came to Fargo in the spring of the year of 1879 from Duluth, Minn., died Friday. He was born in Luxembory, Germany.

He is survived by a widow and three daughters, Mrs. Thomas Nanson, Mrs. H. C. Corrigan and Rose Pastoret, and two sons, Thomas and Alfred.

Lamp Explodes; Four Dead.

Boston, Jan. 15.—Two women and two children lost their lives last night when a lamp exploded in their attic bedroom in a three and a half story tenement block on Leverett street in the west end, setting fire to the block.

HALEY GIVES HIS VERSION

Man Accused of Graft Denies the Charge Against Him.

Says "Straw Man" Had Wrong Name on the Payroll.

"I am the man referred to by Mr. Patterson," said P. R. Haley this morning in speaking of the charges made by R. E. Patterson Saturday evening before the Fifth Ward Republican club that there were "straw men" kept on the payroll of the city water and light department.

"Mr. Patterson's charges are groundless, and the explanation of them is very simple. There was a man named Anderson working for the water and light department last May. He quit, and I employed another man to take his place. The name of the new man was Ackerman, but in giving it to me I understood him to say Anderson. He worked for four days in the blacksmith shop, and building a barn at Sixteenth avenue west and First street. He went down to get his pay, amounting to $8, and reported that he couldn't get it. Then he wrote out his name, and I found it was Ackerman instead of Anderson. I went to the city hall and explained the matter to Fred Voss, the city treasurer. He gave me the money, and I turned it over to Ackerman. I have the receipt for it in my pocket and can show it to anyone who wants to see it. I never cashed a check in a saloon in my life."

Mr. Patterson's charges created a sensation at the meeting Saturday night. He asserted that the foreman, whose name he did not disclose, had kept a man on the payroll eighteen days in June, after the man had quit work, and that the foreman then obtained the check and cashed it in a saloon.

Mr. Patterson said he and others had looked into the case and had learned the facts. They made an affidavit, setting forth the facts as they knew them, and it was presented to the last grand jury, he said. He said the case was not the only one of crookedness in the water and light department and asserted that he knew of at least one other instance.

Mr. Patterson also attacked City Attorney Bert Fesler, asserting that his influence is in control in the offices of the mayor, board of public works, city engineer and building inspector.

No indictment covering the case was returned by the grand jury which completed its sessions last week.

Members of the water and light board say that rumors of the matter to which Mr. Patterson referred Saturday night had come to their ears previously, but they could find no justification for the charge. Mr. Haley explained the matter to them just as he did publicly today.

CALL TROOPS TO END RIOTS

when a mob stormed several of the mills and injured employes and property, is due to a general reduction in wages, necessitated, the manufacturers say, by a cut in the working time from fifty-six to fifty-four hours a week by a new state law governing establishments where women and minors are employed.

The mills closed are the Wood, Ayer and Washington, controlled by the American Woollen company, and employing 15,000 persons; the cotton mills of the Arlington, Everett Pemberton corporation, and the mills of the Lawrence Duck company, employing 5,000 more.

May Close All Mills.

Other Woollen and ootton mills, the employes of which aggregate 9,500 are running on a small scale.

It was believed that practically every mill in Lawrence would be forced to close.

The trouble this morning began with an attempt by the strikers to rush the doors at the Wood worsted mills, and the Prospect woollen mills. The attempts at both places were repulsed by the police, who used their clubs freely and made several arrests.

HITCHCOCK CALLED ON CARPET FOR HIS TELEGRAPH PLANS

that he would make such a recommendation to congress, with a statement by him giving reasons for the proposed acquisition of the telegraph lines.

The postmaster general was late in reaching his office this morning, although there were many urgent calls for him.

There was no disposition at the capitol today to avoid serious consideration of the proposed plan.

In the house, Representative Moon of Tennessee, chairman of the postoffice committee, announced that the matter would be given earnest attention.

Moon Promises Consideration.

"The question of government ownership of public utilities is a great one that needs long and careful consideration," said Mr. Moon. "If Postmaster General Hitchcock's plans are embodied in a bill to be introduced in congress and the bill comes to this committee, it certainly will be given thorough investigation. Such a proposal never has been before congress that I know of. As to the merits of the proposal, I could have nothing to say until I have read a bill incorporating the details of the proposed scheme."

Senator Bourne of Oregon, chairman of the senate committee on postoffices, was much interested in the project, but reserved comment until after he had had time to read the details of the postmaster general's plans.

Cullom Favors Plan.

Senator Cullom of Illinois, head of the foreign relations committee aligned himself with the plan.

"On the theory that the telegraph is a part of the mails," he said, "it seems to me it would not be out of place for the government to own the telegraph lines."

Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan said:

"I have steadfastly opposed the government ownership of public utilities for many years for the reason that I have felt these enterprises would be more serviceable if initiated and carried through by private capital. The prestige enjoyed by American citizens is due to their unhampered individual initiative and this I would preserve but as a natural appurtenace to the postal service, I have felt the telegraph could be more appropriately operated by the government than any other branch of individual business."

See Break With Taft.

There was a disposition among some senators today to credit the report that Mr. Hitchcock's action might mean a break between him and President Taft and an alignment of Mr. Hitchcock with those who are urging the candidacy of Col. Roosevelt for the Republican naminatior. This, however, was but one of half a hundred theories discussed about the capital.

Has Considered It For Months.

For a year or more Mr. Hitchcock has had this recommendation under consideration. After a thorough study of the operation of government-controlled telegraph lines and postal telegraph systems of foreign countries, he has decided to urge the matter upon congress.

"Should the recommendation be adopted," says Mr. Hitchcock, in a statement of his intention, "I am convinced it would result in important economies and in very materially lower telegraph rates than now are enacted. In approximately fifty countries of the world,—notably in Great Britain, France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Spain, Russia and Japan—government controlled telegraphs now are in successful and profitable operation. In many of the countries they are operated in connection with the postal service.

Would Extend Facilities.

"In this country postoffices are maintained in numerous places not reached by the telegraph systems, and the proposed consolidation, therefore, would afford a favorable opportunity for the wide extension of telegraphic facilities. In many small towns where the telegraph companies have offices, the telegraph and mail business could be handled readily by the same employes. It is evident that the separate maintenance of the two services under present conditions imposes an unnecessary expense.

"The first telegraph in the United States was operated from 1844 to 1847 by the government, under authority from congress and from many viewpoints it is desirable that government control should be resumed. A method for the acquisition of telegraph lines is prescribed in section 5267 of the revised statutes, which provides that for postal, military or other purposes, the government may purchase telegraph lines operated in the United States at an appraised value.

"My own view is that every reason for the transmission of mail under government control can be urged with equal force for the transmission of communications by telegraph."

Not Include Telephones.

It is not Mr. Hitchcock's purpose to recommend the acquisition of telephone lines, except, possibly in instances where they are operated as telegraph lines and are an integral part of the definite telegraph systems.

The latest census figures available indicate that about 100,000 people are connected with the telegraph companies of the United States. The appraised value of the systems proposed to be acquired would be purely conjectural, but it is said it would approximate $250,000,000.

BIGGEST BONSPIEL IN HISTORY OF CITY FORMALLY OPENED

sixty rinks registered before this evening.

One of the keen disappointments of the 'spiel is the fact that Sam Hastings of Minneapolis will not be here. The famous Minneapolis curler was to have played third on Labatt's rink, and this aggregation was counted upon to be one of the strong contenders of the 'spiel. Illness and several hard luck incidents at the last moment prevented the Hastings-Labatt combination from entering.

Walter Poehler, who was to have played lead on the crack Minneapolis combination rink, is here and is getting up a rink to represent the Mill City. His rink will be the only Minneapolis rink curling.

Play this morning for the most part was confined to Duluth, West Duluth and Superior rinks. The surprise of the morning was the defeat of Tom McDermott's giant rink by Johnny Oldham. The Duluth skip curled a beautiful game and his rink was right on the job all the time.

Oldham got away to a two-point lead in the first head. McDermott tied him up on the second head, Oldham going back into the lead in the third head and keeping it until the end. While some of the fireside critics do not think McDermoott has as strong a rink here as he brought up last year, his aggregation is considered one of the strong rinks of the spiel and the victory speaks well of Oldham's bunch.

Li'l Artie Michaud got a drubbing at the hands of Helmbaugh of Superior in the first draw games, the Superior skip putting it over 15 to 3. McCall defaulted to Richardson of Duluth and Sullivan was beaten out by Dr. Catterson in one of the best games of the morning draw.

Russell surprised the early morning onlookers by winning from Ralph Bradley by the score of 11 to 10. This game was one of the best of the first draw and proved a source of elation to the bunch on hand from Superior.

With the ice in ideal condition and the weather perfect for curling, the opening day of the spiel is auspicious to say the least.

Following are the results of the games played in the 9 o'clock draw:

all that pertains to it. In 1879 he severed his business relations with that firm and went to Chicago. Here he was employed by T. W. Harvey, a prominent Chicago lumberman, to look after his interests in Muskegon, Mich. In 1882 he was appointed treasurer and general manager of the Stephen C. Hall Lumber company of Muskegon. It was at this time Mr. Shevlin began to look beyond the timber supply of Michigan for his sources upon which to draw in later activities.

Moved to Minneapolis.

He began making timber investments for his company in the white pine woods of Minnesota and in 1884 organized a branch company in Minneapolis for the manufacture of lumber. This was known as the North Star Lumber company. Mr. Shevlin removed to Minneapolis in 1886 and assisted in organizing the Hall & Ducey Lumber company, the firm being composed of Mr. Shevlin, P. A. Ducey and S. C. Hall. In 1887 Mr. Ducey sold his interests in the company to the other partners, the firm now being known as the Hall & Shevlin Lumber company. This company built the Minneapolis mill now owned by the Shevlin-Carpenter company. Mr. Hall died in 1889. In 1892 Elbert L. Carpenter, a member of the firm of Carpenter Bros., bought an interest in the business, forming with the varied lumber interests in which Mr. Shevlin was identified the Shevlin-Carpenter company, with Mr. Shevlin as its president. This company has continued to this time with a thriving and steadily growing business.

But Mr. Shevlin did not confine his energies to this one firm. In 1895 he formed a partnership with J. Neils of Sauk Rapids, Minn., this firm being known as the J. Neils Lumber company which has mills at Sauk Rapids and Cass Lake.

Other Large Companies.

Impressed with the advantage of manufacturing near the stump as well as near the consuming territory, Mr. Shevlin in company with Frank P. Hixon of La Crosse, Wis., in 1896 bought a large amount of timber on the Red Lake Indian reservation, tributary to Clearwater river, and organized the St. Hilaire Lumber company, which built a sawmill with a capacity of 40,000,000 feet a year. A year later the members of the St. Hilaire Lumber company bought the sawmill and logs of the Red River Lumber company at Crookston, Minn. and all its timber holding tributary thereto, and organized the Crookston Lumber company with Mr. Shevlin as its president. Later these two companies were consolidated and built a large mill at Bemidji, with an annual capacity of 70,000,000 feet. Logging railroads to the extent of thirty-seven miles were built to transport timber to this mill. Later, Mr. Shevlin purchased a large interest in the Winn Parish Lumber company, which owns close to a billion feet of virgin pine in Louisiana and is engaged in the manufacture of this timber at Fyburn, La. Like investigation of the Pacific coast territory led to the purchase by Mr. Shevlin personally of large holdings in British Columbia.

In the fall of 1903 Mr. Shevlin and his associates organized the Shevlin-Clarke company, limited, in Ontario and purchased a number of timber berths from the Canadian government, aggregating 300,000,000 feet of pine stumpage. In the same year the Rainy River Lumber company, limited, was organized by Mr. Shevlin, with E. L. Carpenter of the firm of Shevlin-Carpenter company, and E. W. Backus and W. F. Brooks, of the firm of Backus-Brooks company as principal stockholders. This company purchased a large amount of timber from the Canadian government and in the winter of 1903-1901 erected at Rainy River, Ontario, one of the most complete sawmill plants in the world with a capacity of 70,000,000 feet per annum.

Prominent Republican.

Besides the vast business enterprises with which he kept in close touch, Mr. Shevlin always took a keen interest in public affairs. He was an active Republican and was the Minnesota member of the Republican national committee for four years. He was a member of the Union League clubs of New York and Chicago, the Minneapolis club, the Minnesota club, the Manitoba club, and various minor clubs throughout the country. He was a large stockholder and director in the Security Bank of Minnesota and was interested in many other important business enterprises.

Mr. Shevlin was married Feb. 8, 1882, to Alice A. Hall, who died in 1910. There are three children: Thomas Leonard, Mrs. G. C. Beckwith and Mrs. D. B. Tenney.

SCHUMANN-HEINK TO SEEK DIVORCE

Singer Says Choice Is Between Children and Her Husband.

Singac, N. J., Jan. 15.—William Rapp, husband of Mme. Schumann-Heink, the singer, was not at home today, and no verification or denial of the report that the latter was about to sue for divorce was forthcoming at the country estate which the couple have made their home for the last six years.

Mme. Schumann-Heink, who is in St. Louis, was quoted last night as saying she had separated from her husband and would soon sue for divorce. She was further quoted as saying it had come to a question of choosing between him and her eight children by former marriages. Information as to Mr. Rapp's whereabouts was refused at the house.

EXPERT TO STUDY STATE EFFICIENCY

Wisconsin Will Put Man to Work Among Employes Feb. 1.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 15.—The state board of public affairs today announced the appointment of G. C. Sprague of Milwaukee as an expert on personal efficiency among employes of the state of Wisconsin. He will make a study of such matters, as necessary numbers of clerical employes, salaries, efficiency records, etc. He will begin work Feb. 1. He is now supervisor of apprenticeship training courses and general assistant in efficiency work for a large manufacturing plant in Milwaukee.

In its larger phases this work is expected to result in a general reorganization and betterment of the civil service and employment methods of the state. Of first importance is securing the best available men. A half pay or pension system, so that employes beyond the ages of the best efficiency have something definite to look forward to, and at the same time are not left a burden upon the departments, would be an essential point in a complete efficiency system.

CHINESE WILL HAVE $1,000,000 EXHIBIT.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 15.—A syndicate to handle a $1,000,000 Chinese concession for the Panama-Pacific exposition was formed today by local Chinese. Tong King Chong, secretary of the Chinese National Association of America, Tong Bong, one of the wealthiest of the local Chinatown merchants, and Ng Poon Chew, editor of a revolutionary daily paper, are behind the project. Incorporation papers will be taken out within the week, and active work on a Chinese village will be begun as soon as a site can be obtained.

THEATER SAFE IN SIOUX CITY BLOWN.

Sioux City, Ia., Jan. 15.—The safe in the Orpheum theater was blown open early today and $1,200 secured. The robbers hauled the small safe from the box office across the main floor of the house to the cellar where it was blown open. Then they escaped.

Why Are Water Rates in Superior Higher Than in Duluth?

BECAUSE, IN DULUTH, THE BURDEN IS SHIFTED FROM THE WATER USER TO THE TAXPAYER, AS THE FOLLOWING FIGURES SHOW:

For the year ending June 30, 1910, the water revenue from private consumers in Superior amounted to	$69,555.00
If no tax were paid to the city of Superior on the water plant (as is the case in Duluth) this sum could be reduced by the amount of said tax, which is	7,797.00
Leaving a balance of	$61,758.00
In Duluth a tax is levied for reduction of water rates and turned over to the water department, amounting to	18,453.00
If this were done in Superior, the sum to be collected from private users could be reduced to	$43,305.00
The city of Duluth pays for water used for sprinkling, flushing, in schools and public buildings (for which the city of Superior pays nothing) the sum of	9,300.00
If this were done in Superior, the sum to be collected from private users could be reduced to	$34,005.00
The city of Duluth pays $50 per year per hydrant, against $40 in Superior—If the Duluth rate were paid here, private rates could be still further reduced by	7,000.00
Leaving to be collected from private users	$27,005.00

WHICH IS 39 PER CENT OF THE PRESENT SUM.

If the Superior plant were put on the Duluth basis, the taxpayers in Superior would be called upon to pay $42,550.00 in addition to what they pay now.

This is one reason why Superior's tax rate is 2.93 against 3.63 in Duluth, AND EVEN THEN THE PER CAPITA PRIVATE WATER REVENUE IN DULUTH IS $2.67 PER YEAR AGAINST $1.72 IN SUPERIOR.

The minimum meter bill in Superior is 75c and in Duluth 50c per month, but the Superior minimum could be reduced to 30c if the city paid the additional charges now being paid by the city of Duluth and, on top of all this, IN DULUTH THE CONSUMER HAS TO BUY AND MAINTAIN HIS OWN WATER METER.

The maximum rate for water in Duluth is 17½ cents per 100 cubic feet and in Superior 27½c; but, if the Superior prices were reduced on the above basis the maximum would be 11¾ cents, or TWO-THIRDS of the present rate in Duluth.

We can prove that every one of the above statements is absolutely true and will gladly do so to anyone interested.

WELCOME, CURLERS.

Duluth is glad again to entertain the curlers of the Northwest for the annual bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association. It hopes they will have a most pleasant and most successful week of it, and that they will enjoy being here as much as Duluth enjoys having them.

Curling is a fine, clean sport, and curlers are fine, clean sportsmen. We know of no game that attracts a class of citizens so redblooded and wholesome and that keeps itself so clean.

Here's wishing the curlers good ice, good weather, good sport, good cheer and a good time generally.

"POOR MINNESOTA."

This is the heading an Iowa newspaper puts over a clipping from a Minnesota newspaper calling upon the Republican party of this state to nominate a candidate for governor who shall be a credit to the party and the state.

Is Minnesota entitled to this pitying adjective "poor?' Minnesota is rich. It is rich in resources, rich in manhood and womanhood, rich in citizenship.

But Minnesota IS poor—poor because, being rich, its state administration exhibits not the slightest capacity to make its riches useful to its people.

Minnesota owns millions of acres of land which it wishes to sell—which it wishes, above that, to have settled and tilled. Yet it does not even know itself the character of this land, the nature of its soil, the purposes to which various sections are best fitted. It has no adequate machinery for caring for its resources, no effective system of advertising and selling its lands, no proper facilities for inviting and directing the settlement it needs so much.

Minnesota IS poor, because last year it was subjected to the humiliation of becoming the only Northwestern state whose people the railroads dared condemn to the antiquated 3-cent rate for passenger travel, and because when this was done no protest was made by its state government. Not only that, but the effort to protest that others made was frowned upon by the state government, which sought to belittle and discredit it.

Minnesota IS poor, because while the governors of other states were rallying to her cause in the interests of the right of the states to regulate their own domestic commerce the governor of this state was conspicuously absent, and when he heard of it he reproached the temerity of these governors in thus daring to challenge railroad arrogance, so assuring the railroads of perfect safety in this state so long as the present administration endures.

Minnesota IS poor, because though its railroad property is taxed but half as much as the property of its farmers and merchants and bankers and laborers, an effort to induce the governor to call an extra session to increase the railroad tax rate failed, whereby the state lost $2,000,000 in taxes which must be made up by the plain citizens of the state.

Minnesota IS poor, because her state government as organized is a thing of shreds and patches which has not been changed materially in half a century, which overlaps here and fails to reach vital needs there, and which is inefficient and extravagant and wasteful; and because no intelligent proposal for its reorganization comes from its responsible head.

Minnesota IS poor because waste and extravagance and inefficiency have produced this year THE HIGHEST STATE TAX RATE IN FORTY YEARS, which is also due in part to the fact that the ordinary taxpayer, who pays this rate, is being forced to pay in addition to his own share of the expenses of running the state a large part of the share that should be borne by the railroads.

Minnesota IS poor because though equal representation in legislative bodies is a cardinal principal of free government, a citizen who lives in the northern part of the state has about one-sixth the voting power in the legislature of a citizen of the southern part of the state; and because this infamous injustice persists in spite of the fact that both parties were pledged to destroy it, that the governor promised to call an extra session to redress it if the regular session failed, and that every consideration of justice demands its removal.

Minnesota should be rich, because she has the resources and the manhood and womanhood and the citizenship to make her rich. But Minnesota can be called "poor Minnesota" by a neighbor state because of a state administration which fails utterly to rise to the dignity of its position and to meet the needs of the commonwealth.

A COMMISSION PLAN ESSENTIAL.

The commission plan is at a standstill in Duluth until the supreme court decides whether or not it is possible to work under the new-idea city government without an amendment to the Constitution. If the supreme court holds that it is not, then the plan will remain at a standstill until the Constitution is amended.

Public discussion of the plan and the forming of a positive and aggressive public sentiment in favor of it, however, need not remain at a standstill, and should not. The time consumed in waiting for legal obstructions to straighten themselves out should be made useful by the friends of the commission plan, who should overlook no opportunity to spread knowledge regarding it, to the end that when the time is ripe for action as many voters as possible shall be lined up behind it.

There is one detail, which may appear a minor one, which it is to be hoped the charter commission will not neglect to include in the charter it will propose to the people.

This is a provision that will relieve candidates for membership in the governing commission of the necessity of becoming candidates on their own initiative.

As a rule, the kind of men Duluth ought to have as members of its commission are just the kind of men who are utterly unused to seeking preferment at the hands of the voters, and who therefore would shrink from becoming candidates if they had to get out and seek the office.

Therefore provision should be made, as it is made in many commission plan charters, for nominations by petition.

Most of the men Duluth ought to have on its commission would not under any circumstances deliberately get out and go after a commissionership, though many of them might be induced to become candidates if petitions in their behalf were circulated and liberally signed.

Under the Des Moines charter each candidate is required to file not only a certificate of candidacy but a petition signed by at least twenty-five voters. This meets the need satisfactorily, though it may be deemed better by the Duluth charter commission to add to this provision another to the effect that if a petition is filed, signed by a certain percentage of the voters, asking that the name of a citizen be placed on the ballot, that his name shall go on without his filing any certificate of candidacy. This would relieve such candidates altogether of any appearance of seeking the office, and would make the office seek the man.

It is true that such a petition might be filed in behalf of a man who would utterly refuse to run; but even if his name went on the ballot a formal announcement from him that he would not accept if he were elected would remove any difficulty this situation might present.

So far as possible, the office should be made to seek the man instead of the man the office; and this is particularly true of offices under the commission form of government.

THE BIGGEST LAND DEALER.

H. J. Maxfield, the new immigration commissioner recently appointed by Governor Eberhart, says that hereafter inquiries about Minnesota land which come in response to state advertising will be turned over to land dealers, who will thus be given a chance to get in touch with homeseekers.

That's probably a pretty good plan, only Commissioner Maxfield must not forget that the biggest land dealer in the state, the one with most land to sell and the one whose interests he should first consider, is the state itself.

THE COMMISSION PLAN IN OPERATION—23.

Cherryvale, Kan., a small city, went under the commission plan May 1, 1911. At that time the city's floating debt was $49,000, city warrants were selling at a discount of 5 per cent, and the city was running behind $5,000 a year. Three months of commission rule brought about these new conditions: the city's paper was at par, it was meeting all expenses without borrowing, and it had a nice balance in its general fund. Naturally, the people of Cherryvale are well satisfied with the new plan.

Isn't a plan which works out so uniformly well worth your consideration for Duluth's use, Mr. Citizen?

SCHOOL THE YEAR AROUND.

The Springfield Republican says that the Minnesota idea is to have school the year around—twelve months in the year, eight hours a day and six days a week.

How did that idea get abroad? It's barbarous; and it will do Minnesota no good to have it credited—or discredited—with such a notion.

That greater use should be made of the school plant is beyond question. That it is a waste of money and opportunity to have the school plant idle a large part of each day, a large part of each week and a large part of each year is not to be denied.

But it would be wicked folly to condemn childhood, in the years when if it ever is to have a playtime it must be getting it, to a round of work as continuous as that of the day laborer.

Says the Republican: "Some of the Western states are attacking school problems with vigor, and the only danger is that needed reforms may be overdone. For instance, the Minnesota idea now is to have school twelve months in the year, eight hours a day and six days a week. The argument is clear. Why let the school plant stand idle? Why dawdle over an education? Let us have efficiency. Is the school too unpractical, too remote from reality? Then let us model it on real life, where a working day of eight hours or more is the rule, and Saturday is not a holiday. Eminently rational, only these strenuous reformers are forgetting the wise old saw, 'All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy.' It is no answer to say that multitudes of children are voluntarily leaving school to go to work, and that the shop or the store gives them little time for play. That is their misfortune, whether they incur it voluntarily or not. Those who have never had time to play often become admirable men and women, but there is something lacking in their lives—something that can rarely be made up later. Play is as much a part of education as the study of books, and a generous place must be left for it."

We hadn't heard that this "Minnesota idea" was a Minnesota idea. Certainly it would be a clear case of overdoing reform. Rather no school at all than a system which condemns childhood to a ceaseless round of toil, and human life to a rigid rule of work without play or vacation from the cradle to the grave.

As education becomes more practical, as the antiquated policy of running schools to turn out doctors, lawyers and preachers gives way to an enlightened policy of turning out pupils fitted to take up useful and productive occupations and to be good farmers, mechanics and housewives, the school year will lengthen. There will be more interest in school work because it will take hold of real life, and pupils will be able to stand longer school terms. But never, we hope, will it come about that any child shall be condemned to go to school every day except Sunday during the whole of the year, or to work laborer's hours on school days.

The fact that the school plant is used only partially and that there is need of more practicality in school systems furnishes no reason why childhood should be prepared for maturity by a plan of ceaseless toil that would crush its joy in life and deprive it of the advantages of a playtime that will never come if it does not come during school years.

Do curlers really spend most of their time saying "Hoot mon!" and "Soop 'er up"? During the bonspiel would be a good time to find out.

"This severe winter weather is a fine thing," said Mr. Optimist today, "because it means that in order to keep the average right there will have to be a fine summer."

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though those need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

WHY NOT CARRY ITS OWN INSURANCE?

To the Editor of The Herald:

It is somewhat amusing to the "man up a tree" to note the "competitive" controversy engendered among the insurance agents, regarding the question of school insurance, in view of the fact that before quoting insurance rates they first refer to the "board," not the school board. It might be suggested as a solution to this problem that the school board carry its own insurance. Let them get the fire board underwriters' rates, which at present amount to in the neighborhood of $10,000 per annum for the city of Duluth, place same in a separate "insurance" fund at interest. If the school board will have their secretary juggle with these figures for about half an hour they will be surprised to see what can be done under such a plan. It is claimed that large corporations operating a number of units have adopted this plan to good advantage. When farmers through mutual insurance can carry risks at 18 cents as against $1.35 per $100, surely it would pay the city of Duluth, acting through its school board, to investigate this plan, and no one would be hurt. Certainly not the taxpayer. Respectfully,

MAN UP A TREE.

Duluth, Jan. 13.

My Castle in Spain.

There's a castle in Spain very charming to see,
Though built without money or toil;
Of this handsome estate I am owner in fee,
And paramount lord of the soil;
And oft as I may I'm accustomed to go
And live like a king in my Spanish Chateau.

There's a dame most deliciously rounded and ripe,
Whose wishes are never absurd;
Who doesn't object to my smoking a pipe
Nor insist on the ultimate word.
In short, she's the pink of perfection, you know,
And she lives like a queen in my Spanish Chateau.

I've a family, too; the delightfulest girls,
And a bevy of beautiful boys;
All quite the reverse of those juvenile churls,
Whose pleasure is mischief and noise.
No modern Cornelia might venture to show
Such jewels as those in my Spanish Chateau.

I have servants who seek their contentment in mine,
And always mind what they're at;
Who never embezzle the sugar and wine,
And slander the innocent cat;
Neither saucy nor careless, nor stupidly slow,
Are the servants who wait on my Spanish Chateau.

I've pleasant companions, most affable folk,
And each with the heart of a brother;
Keen wits who enjoy an antagonist's joke
And beauties who are fond of each other.
Such people, indeed, as you never may know
Unless you should come to my Spanish Chateau.

I have friends whose commission for wearing the name
In kindness unfailing is shown;
Who pay to another the duty they claim,
And deem his successes their own;
Who joy in his gladness and weep at his woe;
You'll find them (where else?) in my Spanish Chateau.

"O si sic semper!"I oftentimes say,
Though 'tis idle, I know, to complain,
To think that again I must force me away
From my beautiful castle in Spain!
—John Godfrey Saxe.

Part of the Cure.

Cincinnati Times-Star: Dr. Shirley Sprague's practice is almost entirely with the rich and fashionable residents of New York. The other night he was called to night court as a witness. One of his patients had been arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, occasioned by a jag he had carried with him so long that it had molted. "Jes' want you to tesht'fy zat I'm good feller, doc," said the souse.

"You are," said Dr. Sprague, crisply, "when you are sober." Then he addressed himself to the magistrate. "This man," said he, "has dissipated a fortune and destroyed the confidence of his friends by his constant indulgence in alcohol. I am glad that he has been placed under arrest."

The magistrate wanted to know what had best be done in the matter.

"If it were left to me," said Dr. Sprague, "I would send him to Blackwell's Island for thirty days. He'll come out sober."

The jag straightened up. "Here, doc, ole man," said he, "you oughtn' do zhis. You promised me—ic—zat if I stuck to your treatment—ic—I'd be cured of 'bominable w'isky habit."

"That is perfectly true," said Dr. Sprague. "I am still confident of effecting a cure in your case. Blackwell's Island is a part of my treatment."

Life's Presidential Candidates.

Life: We beg leave to present the name of George F. Baer for the presidency in 1912. The presidential chair being one of the most important repositories we have in this country, no man is too important to occupy it. Mr. Baer is the man. He would bring to this high office more influence of an omnipresent, omniscient and omnipotent character than any man that we still have among us. He would see to it that all the by-laws of the corporations embodied suitable forms of prayer for every predatory operation.

It is conceded that graft and high prices and stock jobbing and frenzied financiering in America need nothing so much as divine sanction. This Mr. Baer alone can give, and he can do it conscientiously and without laughing. Vox Baeri, vox Dei.

Plenty of Danger.

London Telegraph: An Englishman was recently invited by a New Yorker to accompany him on a hunting trip on Long Island.

"Large or small game?" laconically asked the Briton, who had hunted in every quarter of the globe.

"You do not expect me to find lions and tigers on Long Island, do you?" queried the New Yorker.

"Hardly," responded the other, with a laugh; "but I like a spice of danger in my hunting."

"If that's the case," answered the American, with a grin, "I'm your man, all right. The last time I went out I shot my brother-in-law in the leg!"

To the Pessimist.

Come, turn about, you wizen lout,
And quit your sad complainin';
The sunshine's bright, this globe's all right,
Though now it be a-rainin'.

It is not right to make all night
Doleful with vain repinin',
Since, anyway, half time is day
And the sun always a-shinin'.

At fearful cost much time you've lost
A-grumblin' and a-grumblin';
If you don't mind ere long you'll find
Your house a-tumblin', tumblin'.

And in the crash you'll go to smash
A-blinkin' and a-thinkin'
That as a rule the biggest fool
Sees everything a-sinkin'.
—Richmond Virginian.

OUR NEXT GOVERNOR.

Ridiculous Comparison.

Chisholm Tribune Herald: The News Tribune and the Hibbing Tribune should not overlook Abraham Lincoln and George Washington in working up their farce comedy entitled, "How the present governor compares with great men of the past." And lest they would make themselves real ridiculous, they might spare the feelings of the local people who were fortunate enough to enjoy the personal acquaintance of John A. Johnson by omitting his name from the list.

His Destiny.

Wahkon Enterprise: Adolph O. Eberhart, traveling governor of Minneapolis, is said to consider himself a man of destiny. He surely is—destined —to become — ex-governor — before many more moons.

Premature Obituary.

Aurora News: Newspapers favoring Eberhart have gleefully published political obituaries for Sam Y. Gordon. Sam is not nearly so dead as these publications would have you believe, for he is backed by men and women of principle and has great individual influence.

Ringdal as Candidate.

Madison Western Guard: P. M. Ringdal, who has been a member of the board of control for several years past, is being groomed as a Democratic nominee for governor. The Democrats might do much worse. Mr. Ringdal is a good, clean man, and if nominated would make a strong run.

Not Afraid of the Cars.

Walker Pilot: The country press is not taking kindly to the tactics of the present administration and the Twin City dailies to discredit Sam Gordon and put him out of the running as a probable gubernatorial candidate. Notwithstanding the grilling Sam got at the hands of his enemies, a big majority of the rural voters are still with him. Mr. Gordon showed conclusively that he wasn't afraid of the cars, and that's what the people like in a man, probably because of the fact that it is so rare nowadays.

Why Overlook the Cause?

Northfield News: Higher taxes, a bankrupt treasury, heavy appropriations this year and next, is what stares the taxpayers of Minnesota in the face, according to the Anoka Union, and still its editor does not find occasion to place any of the responsibility at the governor's door. "There's a reason!" we suppose, and curiosity is rife as to what it may be.

The Lone Star.

Hutchinson Leader: It is reported that Congressman Davis has discovered one—count 'em—one—staunch supporter of Governor Eberhart in the Third district in the person of the redoubtable Joe Ring of Shakopee. In view of Ring's well-known affiliations Mr. Davis' discovery is significant, but not surprising.

Ringdal Past Master.

Virginia Enterprise: P. M. Ringdal, chairman of the state board of control, is the latest to be mentioned as a possibility on the Democratic ticket for governor. And P. M. will show that he is a "Past Master" in the political game if he should be favored with his party's call.

The Roosevelt Tide.

Collier's: A certain brand of high-brow, allied with a familiar type of low-brow, led the forces which defeated Stimson in 1910, and then lustily proclaimed their victory as the end of Roosevelt. It is seldom, however, that a popular American leader loses power by doing right. The high-brows and the low-brows saw Dix and Murphy and Barnes go through the antics of their species, to the disgust of the observant and silent voter, who every year has to be more reckoned with. The Observant and Silent Voter quietly noticed that the overthrow of Roosevelt had meant Barnes running one party and Murphy the other, to the benefit of nobody except those who dwell in the neighborhood of the trough and have a prescriptive right to keep their feet therein. The colonel acted as a good American citizen, and no punishment in the long run could come to him for force, wisdom, and virtue. If a campaign for the presidency should begin tomorrow, and he were the Republican nominee, there is not a Democrat in the country who could give him a run for his money—except Woodrow Wilson. "That," as one observant politician said—"that would be a hoss race."

As experienced observers look over the situation, the only equally close thing to that is talked about is one between Governor Wilson and Mr. Justice Hughes, who, however, is likely to refuse to be a possibility.

Trust In God and Do the Right.

Courage, brother, do not stumble,
Though thy path be dark as night;
There's a star to guide the humble—
"Trust in God and do the right."
Though the road be long and dreary,
And the goal be out of sight,
Foot it bravely, strong or weary;
"Trust in God and do the right."

Perish policy and cunning,
Perish all that fears the light;
Whether losing, whether winning,
"Trust in God and do the right."
Fly all forms of guilty passion,
Fiends can look like angels bright;
Heed no custom, school nor fashion;
"Trust in God and do the right."

Some will hate thee, some will love thee,
Some will flatter, some will slight;
Cease from man, and look above thee;
"Trust in God and do the right."
Simple rule and surest guiding,
Inward peace and shining light,
Star upon our path abiding—
"Trust in God and do the right."
—Norman MacLeod.

A New One On Venus.

Lippincott's: Mary, an older sister, had spent the morning shopping in town. Among her purchases was a square of dark red velvet which she intended to use as a background for a beautiful little statue of Venus de Milo, which had recently been presented to her.

Just as she had temporarily fastened the velvet on the wall back of the Venus, her small brother Bobby, aged five, walked into her room.

"Well, Bobby," said Mary, "how do you like my Venus de Milo? Would you leave the velvet there?"

Bobby looked thoughtful for a moment or so and then replied. "No, Mary, I wouldn't. I'd take it down and w'ap it awound her!"

Life Is Each-Otherness.

St. Nicholas: Nothing is of real value in the world except people. Never hurt a person by a wrong thought, or by word, or by act. Never hurt each other. Then go on a big discovering expedition and find each other. Never say, "That person has nothing in him," for that only means that you haven't found it yet. Then, last of all, never think you are the only person. You are just a part of "each other." You are not somebody and the rest of us everybody else. We are each other. Life is each-otherness, not everybody-elseness.

The Difference.

Detroit Free Press: Man never goes shopping until he knows what he wants to buy; a woman never knows what she wants to buy until she goes shopping.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1892.

•••Cardinal Manning died in London yesterday. He was born in 1808 and was appointed rector of Lavington in the Episcopal church in 1834. He joined the Catholic church in 1851 and entered the priesthood. In 1865 he succeeded Cardinal Wiseman as archbishop of Westminster and was created a cardinal in 1875.

•••Paul Sorenson, brother of Alderman Sorenson, died very suddenly on Jan. 13. He was an old resident of Duluth, having moved here in 1870.

•••Miss Lora B. Curtis and Charles J. Dewey were married on Jan. 12 at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. D. B. Brown, in West Duluth, Rev. E. J. Brownson officiating.

•••The Pink carnival given by the Cliff Dwellers was a success. The guests were greeted at the door by Col. Fred Eaton, who was dressed in pink from head to foot. The committees in charge of the affair were: Reception, W. C. Dunning and William Ferguson; floor, E. F. Blowers and C. E. Starkey; arrangements, A. Hauslaib and D. E. Case; invitation, C. E. Le Richeux and Dr. A. E. Walker.

•••The Democratic city convention was held this afternoon, Harry Truelson being chairman and George Spangler secretary. C. P. Magginis presented the name of Charles d'Autremont for mayor, and the nomination was seconded by Simon Clark. Z. H. Austin nominated Maj. M. R. Baldwin. The ballot resulted: Baldwin, 12; d'Autremont, 25; Truelson, 5; Simon Clark, 1. Maj. Baldwin withdrew his name and Mr. d'Autremont's nomination was made unanimous. The name of Charles O. Baldwin was not presented for municipal judge, as it was found he was ineligible because he lives in Lakeside. A ballot resulted in 13 votes for F. H. Cutting and 28 for R. S. Powell, and the latter was declared the nominee. E. L. Winje was nominated by acclamation for special judge. The following candidates for aldermen were named: First ward, Matt Carroll; Second, Morris Thomas; Third, Alex Wilson; Fourth, M. R. Baldwin; Sixth, C. F. Hopkins.

•••Vice President Kimball, elected at the recent meeting of the North Star Construction company, who now lives in Michigan, intends removing to Duluth with his family at once. His removal will be followed by the change of the general offices of the Duluth & Winnipeg road from Baltimore to Duluth.

•••Register Monroe Nichols of the land office has decided eighteen of the swamp land cases that have been pending over a year. He decides in favor of the settlers and against the Duluth & Iron Range road and state, holding that the land was not swamp and that the field notes of the government survey were false.

GOV. WILSON'S EDUCATION.

New York Globe: Within the last three weeks, with respect to the Wilson presidential candidacy, three things have happened.

First, the publication which was the original Wilson proposer and whose editor has been a conspicuous Wilson cheerleader suddenly became silent. The accepted explanation has been that the publication and editor, somehow, have been "called off" by somebody.

Second, the publication, by a newspaper that sustained to Wall Street much the relation that the court calendar does to the court of St. James', of the fact that a year or so ago Governor Wilson had applied to the Carnegie trustees for a pension. The question naturally arose as to why and by whom the information had been belatedly given out. Scrutinizing the list of Carnegie trustees the public discovered, well up to the top, the names of men prominent in Wall Street.

Third, and perhaps last, is published a letter from Governor Wilson to Adrian H. Joline, who has a Wall Street address. In this letter, an informal note written five years ago, Governor Wilson expressed the wish that something be done "at once dignified and effective to knock Mr. Bryan once for all into a cocked hat." Mr. Bryan has recently been wandering in foreign parts. The publication of the letter was nicely timed. It greeted Mr. Bryan on his return. It came out on the eve of the meeting of the Democratic national committee.

From time to time there have been denials of the charge that Wall Street is interested in preventing the nomination of Governor Wilson. The explosion of successive anti-Wilson bombs has spattered the denials. It does not take the cuteness of a Burns to form a theory as to the identity of the clock-planters.

And why has Wall Street set out to beat Wilson? Is it because he has recently shown progressive tendencies? Or is it believed that Governor Wilson is a fraud and a demagogue that it is the duty of patriotic citizenship to expose? Or, finally, is the effort born of the hope that if Wilson, the leading candidate, can be killed off, some one more acceptable to Wall Street can be secured in the confusion?

Wall Street usually shows itself most maladroit when it tries to play the political game. It is apparently now blind to the fact that the anti-Wilson campaign is being handled in a way calculated to do Governor Wilson the least harm. We may expect to hear the shout that helped Cleveland so much, "We love him for the enemies he has made." The Joline letter is, of course, calculated to incense Mr. Bryan and his friends, but they are constrained to forgive as the full effect that the latter was published in the hope that they would become violently angry. To another class the additional evidence of the flexibility of Governor Wilson's views is disturbing. Yet doubts are allayed when raised. If men who have means of knowing assert Wilson's progressiveness is merely a pre-election pose, believe that, if elected, he would be "safe and sane" according to the Wall Street formula, there would hardly be such force to beat him.

The probabilities, of course, are against the nomination of Governor Wilson. The two-thirds rule prevails in Democratic national conventions. But such chances as he has have been hindered rather than helped by the revelations of the last three. In a most striking way he has been certificated to the progressive wing of his party as a progressive.

As to Queer Names.

The man from Punxsutawney and the man from Kokomo
Discussed the Chinese troubles, and the first said, "Don't you know,
I think these Chinese names are queer enough to stop a clock."
"That's right," replied another man from fair Caucomgomoc.

That's what my brother says—he lives down there in Hackensack."
And still another stranger said the man's comment was true;

Another man took up the strain. "Now, down Skowhegan way
And up at Ypsilanti we speak it every day.
The names are all uncivilized and heathen in their ring.
That's what I told my uncle yesterday in Ishpeming."

"Hohokus is my native town," another stranger said;
"And I think all these Chinese names the worst I ever read."
"Quite true," agreed a quiet man; "they're certainly uncanny.
That's what my neighbors all assert in Tell Holt, Indianny."
—Josh Wink in Baltimore American.

Fooling the Shopper.

Nellie Crooks, in Harper's Weekly: Knit goods have never, to my knowledge, been investigated and the manufacturer's guaranty has always been taken at its face value. When I began to test knit goods I accepted the assertions of manufacturers as proofs of the quality. These assurances given on labels by manufacturers are "all wool," "three-quarters wool," "half wool," and "one-quarter wool." It would have been better if, at times, in the garments tested, the guaranties that read "three-quarters wool" had been reversed so as to read "three-quarters cotton." The result of this mixture of cotton and wool was shown in some tests made on underwear for women. One was of a woolen undervest warranted "three-quarters wool," but only containing 10 per cent instead of 75 per cent of wool. Another warranted to contain 90 per cent of wool was found to have but 20 per cent—that is, 72 per cent of the wool guaranteed was lacking. Another garment of the same kind proved, instead of the 50 per cent claimed, to have only 17 per cent of wool, while a woman's union undersuit contained but 16 per cent instead of 90 per cent of wool—that is, it was 85 per cent short of the guaranty. In this garment there was a form of adulteration that is very clever and cannot easily be detected by the purchaser. One wool thread is knit with two cotton threads, but one of the cotton threads is very soft and thick, giving the garment the feeling of softness and body which is taken by the inexperienced for the feeling of wool. Very much the same conditions are found in underwear for boys as in that for women. That other kinds of knit goods are sold under the same false pretenses is proved by a "lady's sweater," price $10, and sold as "all wool," of which the wool formed only 28 per cent, the remaining 72 per cent being cotton. The difficulty in judging knit wear is that each piece is a finished article, and the manner in which it is knitted makes detection almost impossible without unraveling, and therefore destroying, the fabric. It will be seen from what has been given that the opportunity for the adulteration of knit goods is practically unlimited.

A Sad Event.

Lippincott's: The irrepressible "Tody" Hamilton, who is held to know as much about circuses as any human being could, tells of the misfortunes of an Ohio man who was attempting to pilot a "one-tent show" through the middle west.

This owner lost a number of valuable animals, by accident and otherwise; so that it was with considerable sympathy that one of his keepers undertook the task of "breaking gently to the old man" the news of further disaster. The keeper accomplished this with much tact, as follows:

"Mr. Morgan, you remember that laffin' hyena in cage No. 8?"

"Remember that laughing hyena?" repeated the owner. "What the deuce are you driving at?"

Icy.

Catholic Standard and Times: "Yes," said Miss Backby, "Emerson appeals to us women of Boston; although he has passed beyond, we always keep him in our hearts, you know."

"You don't say?" replied Miss Knox of Chicago. "I wonder how it feels to be kept in cold storage like that."

WOMAN'S REALM.

"The drama keeps step with the progress of life and the ages and it follows the evolution of life and the progress of the times in its every form," said M. Benedict Papot this morning in a talk on the drama before the members of Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour's class in dramatic structure. This was the last meeting of the class and M. Papot's talk brought the course, which has proven more interesting and delightful than was ticipated, to an interesting close.

"The main thing in a play is atmosphere," "and in order to understand or appreciate a play you must get into the atmosphere of it, and in this the audience has a big part in any play. A European audience is vastly different from an American audience; the atmosphere is different, and in bringing any European play over here it has to be Americanized and in the process it usually loses its atmosphere. This is the cause of the failure of so many of the foreign plays in this country.

"The theme of the drama is not new; it is simply its treatment which is new now and the dramatist must catch the spirit of the fleeting moment, the spirit of the times, in order to make his play successful. A play of fifty years ago, a model of that time, is not appreciated now because the audience has changed; its viewpoint is different and the atmosphere is not the same as the atmosphere of of audience of fifty years ago.

"In any lecture or talk there has to be a common plane between the speaker and the listener and if this is true for any lecture or speech how much more true it is that there must be a common plane between the audience and the players on the stage. Then there are many speakers, there are other sources of interest, the action and the stage setting and the speakers are not talking to the audience but to each other on the stage. It is a great art to listen to a play intelligently, even greater than to read a play and get everything out of it that is there.

"A play is simply a mirror of the times in which it is written. Nations have their moods, their movements and actions just as a human being and the great art of a drama is to catch this mood and express it on the stage.

"People who go to a play and can get into the atmosphere cannot help but be influenced by it and it is only through the theaters that you can effect big civic reforms.

"A drama league in any city, by organizing an audience which will be interested in good plays and which will patronize good plays, can do a great deal for the uplift of the city. You can do more to help everyone in the city by supporting good plays than you can in any other way. You cannot go out and reform people, but by assuring a patronage for good plays, good plays will come and the atmosphere will be uplifting for everyone who goes."

M. Papot then spoke of the play 'The Adventurer," by Alfred Capus, the noted French dramatist, which will be presented at the Lyceum theater next Monday evening, Jan. 22, by members of Mrs. Seymour's class. M. Papot will take the leading role and will direct the production.

"The Adventurer" was produced in France just after "Chantecleer" last year and made the greatest success of the season. It was played by the noted actor Guitry who played the part of Chantecleer. Guitry is the greatest French actor since the time of Coquilin.

M. Papot, whose ability is well known in Duluth through his former work here in a little play given at the Endion M. E. church, will play the part taken by Guitry and the remainder of the cast has been filled with well known Duluth people.

The parts will be taken as follows:

MAY HAVE TO LIVE ON $10,000 A YEAR

MRS. E. R. THOMAS.

Mrs. E. R. Thomas may have to cultivate the simple life if the creditors of her husband are successful in cutting down his income. Mrs. Thomas was Miss Linda Lee and she was considered, for years, one of the beauties of New York society. In recent years she has lived abroad with her husband. Mr. Thomas's father left him an income of $160,000 a year in trust. Now the men who have claims against him on account of bad business ventures, are trying to have the court give them all but $10,000 a year of this income until his debts are paid.

ALDA CONCERT.

Mme. Frances Alda, the famous lyric soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, will make her first appearance in Duluth this evening at the Lyceum theater when she will give a grand song recital with Signor Alberto Randegger as accompanist.

During the past week she has been acacalimed in St. Paul and Minneapolis one of the greatest artists of the operatic world. In her appearances in both cities she was recalled again and again and was forced to respond with repeated encores. She sang with the symphony orchestra both times and in each instance the concert was considered about the best of the season.

Because of the large subscription list for this event a large and representative audience is assured but the management still has some very good seats which may be secured by calling early this evening. The sale of gallery seats will begin at 7:30 sharp and the elevator will be running for the accommodation of ladies holding gallery tickets.

The concert will begin promptly at 8:15 and subscribers are asked to be in their seats in good time. Late comers will not be shown their seats until after the first group of songs.

L. P. CLUB.

Literary Society Will Meet.

The Lester Park Literary society will meet tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. H. G. Inman, 29 Fifty-seventh avenue east. The following program will be given:

Child Labor—"Conditions in Minnesota and Elsewhere," Mrs. H. D. Foster. "Laws in Minnesota and Elsewhere," Mrs. R. C. Dreyer.

Public Amusements—"Importance of Parks and Playgrounds," Mrs. D. H. Williams. "Theaters: Is the True Drama Losing Ground Before Vaudeville, the Musical Comedy and Motion Picture Shows?" Mrs. R. P. Boynton. "The Public Dance Hall," Mrs. Charles Roberts.

Roll call will be responded to by some item concerning the proposed amendments to the city charter.

Garfield Circle.

Garfield circle, No. 4, Ladies of the G. A. R. will hold their first regular meeting under the newly installed officers tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 at Memorial hall. The new officers are: Mrs. Mary Cooley, president; Mrs. Eleanor Pike, secretary; Mrs. Mary Smith, treasurer; Mrs. Mary Beamer, senior vice; Mrs. Susan Irvine, junior vice; Mrs. Elizabeth Fish, chaplain; Mrs. Louisa Johnson, conductor, and Mrs. Catherine Sutherland.

GOUNOD PROGRAM AT FREE CONCERT

With the coming of the first moderate Sunday this year the regular attendants of the free Sunday concerts turned out in force, filling every seat. As usual the program opened with selections on the organ. Then Lillian Shannon, a comparatively recent acquisition to Duluth musical circles, made her first appearance at the Sunday concerts and sang, "The Jewel Song" from Faust in a most pleasing and acceptable manner.

She has a soprano voice, with good volume and rich timbre and sings as if she liked to do so; proving herself equal to the climaxes and perfectly at home in the delicate runs and possessing an artistic conception of the composers' meaning. As an encore she gave Mrs. Beach's ever popular song: "The Year's at Spring."

The second song on the program, "O, Divine Redeemer" was in decided contrast to the first and the singer entered into the religious spirit of the selection, receiving a call for another piece which was of the same character, "There's a Green Hill Far Away," a beautiful piece delicately handled. The accompaniments were played very sympathetically by Miss Frances Berg.

As this was a Gounod program throughout, all the organ selections were from that composer and the processional march, "The Fete de Jupiter," headed the list followed by selections from the opera of "Sapho." The next group of organ pieces included "Selections from Faust," which brought out many of the exquisite melodies of that celebrated opera. Following this came the serenade, "Sing, Smile and Slumber," with a dainty flute obligato which added to the pleasing effect of this beautiful and melodious composition and then Listz's transcription of what is known as the "Faust" Valse, giving an opportunity to show the possibilities of the organ in playing obligatoes while the man melody is being cared for by other stops. The program wound up with the celebrated "Marche Cortege" from the opera "The Queen of Sheba" well handled by the organ, its full harmonies being in striking contrast to the lighter portions. Mr. Custance gave a very interesting account of the Composer Gounod and his works and all seemed to appreciate the concert in its entirity.

The program for next Sunday has not yet been made up, but will take up the music of some one composer and give examples of the varied moods and methods which swayed him.

MACARONI EATERS ALWAYS HEALTHY
Some of the healthiest men and women in Duluth are great eaters of "Minnesota" macaroni and spaghetti. Many people who never cared for these foods before are delighted with the rich, nut-like flavor of "Minnesota" macaroni and spaghetti and it is surprising how much better a family will feel by eating more of these foods and less meat.
Good macaroni and spaghetti are the best and most nourishing foods known. They are fine for children—making their bodies strong and healthy. But if you want that rich, nut-like flavor be sure and get the delicious "Minnesota" brand macaroni or spaghetti—made from the finest Northern Durum wheat, with all the nourishing Gluten left in. It is easily digested and never gets soggy All good Duluth grocers sell it.

"VOTES FOR WOMEN" NOTES

Advocates of woman's suffrage may well point to 1911 as the banner year in the history of the movement. Two important states granted complete franchise rights to women, and the use they immediately made of it gave an impetus in other states too great to be estimated. The coming year promises even more in achievement. The past year has shown world-wide activity toward granting full political rights to women, and the year 1912 will doubtless see their enfranchisement in more than one foreign country.

Reports from South Africa are to the effect that Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the International Woman Suffrage alliance, who is making a tour of the world, has aroused intense interest in the suffrage movement there, and meetings are being held everywhere in her honor, presided over by prominent public officials.

Dr. Augusta Stowe-Gullen, honorary president of the Canadian Woman Suffrage association, was the first woman to receive a medical degree in the Dominion of Canada. She was also the first woman to serve on the school board of the city of Toronto, and was recently elected to serve on the senate of Toronto university.

Mrs. Ella Wilson, mayor of Hunnewell, Kan., after long and bitter opposition on the part of the members of the city council, is now in control of municipal affairs, the councilmen having been ousted by order of the governor and attorney general of the state.

Mrs. Gideon Frazer of Tacoma, Wash., has the distinction of serving on a jury with her husband. Mr. Frazer was the first juror and Mrs. Frazer the sixth.

It is said that for the first time in the history of Michigan, a woman, Miss Mary F. Hadrich, will act as private secretary to the governor. She will take the place of Maj. Travis, who is to be made a member of the state board of pardons.

Miss Mona Wilson, the first woman insurance commissioner appointed for England by the government, is a daughter of Canon Wilson, of Worcester, formerly archdeacon of Manchester and head master of Clifton. Miss Wilson has been engaged in administering the trade board act with regard to the chain-making and box-making trades; she has served as a member of the home office departmental committee on industrial accidents, and has devoted her whole life to the problems of women's employment. Canon and Mrs. Wilson are towers of strength to the suffrage movement in England.

THE EVENING STORY

AN INCIDENT IN WYOMING

By Thomas P. Barker.

It was in Wyoming in the early 'sixties when Judge Lynch ruled supreme, with a sheriff's posse as executioners; when justice was short and sharp, and the natives had a jocular habit of hanging a man first and trying him afterwards.

The hated Buck Robson, gamester and desperado, ran the local gaming house in Lanceton. He lived, with his wife, on valuables which he had won from opponents who had lost all their money, and had nothing but their jewelry and personal belongings to stake.

One bitter night in mid-winter Mrs. Robson waited anxiously for her husband's return. She had slipped on the ice the previous day and was lying in bed with a sprained ankle. A sound of shouting in the distance grew nearer; she roused herself in alarm, crawled painfully to the window, and looked out. Her face blanched and a cry of horror escaped her, for a gang of men passed on horseback, and her husband was sitting in the midst of them, bound and gagged.

What had happened? She stood there for a moment in a wild tumult of fear, then the pain at her ankle overcame her, and she sank on the floor in a swoon. An hour, two hours passed; then those who had followed the sheriff's posse in the morbid curiosity returned, and she was aroused by a woman's voice calling to her derisively from without.

"They've got your fancy husband at last!" she yelled vindictively. "Shot a man he has, and they're taking him to Bridgeworth to the sheriff—the undersheriff here wouldn't deal with the case. But the sheriff at Bridgeworth will do it, and they'll hang him first thing in the morning, sure pop!"

Mrs. Robson groaned aloud in her anguish, but did not show herself, and the crowd passed on disappointed. Half an hour later there was a tap outside, the door was opened cautiously, and a man entered. He was mean and furtive looking; she forced a scream back from her lips with difficulty.

"What do you want?" she breathed.

"I've come to make a confession," he answered, looking at her with cunning eyes. "They've taken your husband away to Bridgeworth, and they'll hang him in the morning.

"What has that to do with you? Why do you taunt a helpless woman?" she wailed.

"It's conscience," he answered laconically. "As a matter of fact, I shot the man really!" She stared at him wildly, incredulously.

"It's gospel truth," he affirmed eagerly. "I got away just in time, and they found him by the dead body. But I don't want any man to hang for me—it gives me the cold shivers to think of it. He'd haunt me, sure! I'll give you a signed confession if you like, so that you can save your husband. That'll give me several hours to clear, and they'll never catch me."

In a frenzy of haste she pushed pen and ink towards him, and within twenty minutes, by exertions little short of supernatural, she had dressed herself and was on horseback bound for Bridgeworth with the signed confession in the bodice of her dress.

It was 3 o'clock in the morning as she started; there were forty miles of rough, snow covered road in front of her, and she must arrive at Bridgeworth by 8 o'clock at latest to ensure saving her husband. The pain in her ankle was agonizing, excruciating, and the cold was bitter, but still she pressed her horse onward and ever onward; biting her lips until the blood came, calling up all her reserves of strength to bear her trial without flinching. If only she might be in time. She lay forward on her horse's neck, twining her hands in his mane, and rode on, her whole frame racked with anguish. The longing to stop, to lie down by the roadside and die if need be, was almost irresistable, but her husband's life hung on her speed, and her spirit rose at the thought, unconquered and indomitable.

At 8 o'clock on the following morning Buck Robson was led under the branches of a convenient tree and duly hanged. Half an hour later, as the sheriff was smoking his after breakfast pipe outside the door, a foundered horse in the last stage of exhaustion limped along the road. On its back was a woman, wild eyed and almost delirious, who sprang to the ground and addressed him in a gasping whisper.

"I'm Buck Robson's wife," she croaked. "Am I in time? God—am I in time?"

He picked her up in his strong arms and carried her indoors. The truth was broken to her as tenderly and gently as possible. She gave a half shriek, half moan, then her senses left her completely, and the sheriff left the house abruptly, his lips quivering. For days she lay delirious, only from her parched lips came an incessant murmur, "Bridgeworth by 8! Bridgeworth by 8!"

"Can't understand it nohow,' said the Bridgeworth sheriff. "She'd got some sort of written confession with her—don't know the man's name. But the thing's too absurd—why, a dozen men actually saw Buck draw his shooter and plug the man. And he admitted to me himself that he done it. Some kind of practical joke, I suppose. Wish I could lay my hands on the man who did it."

And the under sheriff at Lanceton, like his chief at Bridgeworth, was also exceedingly anxious to lay his hands on the man. He wanted him on a charge of breaking into Mrs. Robson's home in her absence and stealing everything of value in it.

CONGRESSMAN'S WIFE HIS "RIGHT HAND MAN"

MRS. M. W. LITTLETON.

Mrs. Martin W. Littleton, who was Peggy O'Brien before she married the congressman, always takes an active part in her husband's political campaigns. She stumped for his election for congress and recently she substituted for him by making an address on Staten island. She is fully posted on all the important matters before congress and is quite capable of addressing political gatherings.

The Household

A Cottage Hint.

In a small house where the openings are small, and the rooms are thrown together, it is advisale to use the same color throughout. This gives a feeling of space which could not be obtained otherwise.

Whether your house be large or small, take care that the colors in the adjoining rooms harmonize one with another. Different shades of the same color are used throughout a house with good effect. For instance, a brown sitting room would look well from a dull, yellow hall. Green can be used successfully.

The Useful Barrel.

Old casks and barrels can be converted into the most useful articles of furniture for a shore cottage. To make a comfortable chair, saw a cask in half, halfway down, and then remove the piece of right angles. Saw the lid in two and make a seat of it. The upright portion is the back of the chair. Cover it all over with canvas first, and afterwards with cretonne, placing a flounce round the lower part and a soft cushion on the seat. A small barrel with a large square board fixed on top will make a useful dressing table or washstand. Two casks supporting a board does for a sideboard, and four with a larger board serves as a table.

Jelly Roll Recipe

Only Two Eggs Required

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

This Jelly Roll is fast becoming very popular on account of the way it keeps fresh. With proper handling it should keep fresh a whole week, providing it isn't eaten up in the meantime, for it is every bit as good as it looks. 33

K C Jelly Roll

One cup sifted flour; scant half teaspoonful salt; 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; grated rind of 1 lemon; 2 eggs beaten light; 1 cup sugar; ½ cup hot milk; glass of jelly; powdered sugar.

Beat the sugar into the eggs; add the lemon rind, then the flour, sifted three times with the salt and baking powder; and, lastly, the milk. Bake in a buttered dripping pan; turn out on a damp cloth, trim off the crisp edges; spread with jelly and turn over and over into a roll while still warm. Dredge the top with powdered sugar.

Hot milk used in the jelly roll enables it to be rolled without danger of cracking. Have the milk scalding hot, also be careful to have the eggs and sugar beaten together until very light and creamy. Bake in a moderate oven.

K C Jelly Roll is illustrated on page thirty-two of the new and handsomely illustrated 64-page K C Cook's Book, which may be secured free by sending the certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the JAQUES MFG. CO., Chicago, Ill.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

LIQUOR BAN HAS EFFECT

North Dakota Clubs Are Heeding Warning of Attorney General.

Two Clubs in State Capital Said to Have Gone Suddenly "Dry."

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Clubs which have been placed under the ban by prohibition workers of North Dakota have taken heed of the warning that there would be arrests in the event that the practice of maintaining liquor for the use of members was not abandoned. At the present time there are only a very few of the clubs which maintain bars, and the enforcement league officials declare that they are making an effort to secure evidence against them which will result in arrests.

Are Under Special Law.

The clubs or lodges, the attorney general has ruled, which maintain liquor bars come under the provisions of a special law passed by the last legislative assembly and under the authority of that opinion, the State Enforcement league has undertaken to bring about the closing of all such places.

In Bismarck there was a very hasty removal of liquor from one or two club halls.

POURS GASOLINE ON BURNING STUMP

Explosion Results and Farmer Near Cumberland, Wis., Is Nearly Cremated.

Cumberland, Wis., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Patsy Ricci, son of Pio Ricci, an Italian farmer, residing three miles south of here, had a sensational escape from cremation Saturday afternoon, while burning stumps on his father's farm. Owing to the snow the fire was not progressing as rapidly as desired so young Ricci poured gasoline from a five gallon can onto the smoldering flames. The can of gasoline exploded, throwing oil and fire all over young Ricci and igniting his clothes. With rare presence of mind young Ricci dived into a huge snowbank and extinguished the fire, but not until his clothing had all been consumed and his face, hands and legs were badly scorched.

FROZEN TO DEATH NEAR IRON BELT

Ironwood Man Loses His Life in Northern Wisconsin.

Ironwood, Mich., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of Charles Limbeck, frozen stiff, was found west of Iron Belt Friday on the road to Upson, Wis. He left Ironwood Thursday night with a horse and cutter for Upson. The horse was found Friday morning at Iron Belt, Wis., seven miles west of here. Searching parties were sent out and Limbeck's frozen body was found by an old lumber pile near the road, between Iron Belt and Upson. The remains were brought to a local undertaker's where they are kept while inquiries are being made about friends. Limbeck was of Swedish nationality, 62 years of age, and single. Up to this time no friends of the deceased can be located.

GET GOVERNMENT LAND.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because she has just enough Indian blood flowing in her veins, Mrs. O. E. Keller of this city will secure 960 acres of government land for her family on reservations in either Florida, Oregon or Arizona. Mrs. Keller is a descendant of the Nez Perce Indians, and by the government ruling she and each member of her family is entitled to land allotments, and it is to claim such allotment that she and her husband have gone to Oregon, expecting later to go to Florida.

Dr. and Mrs. Keller have four children, and all share the benefits. Mrs Keller is a graduate of the Carlisle Indian school, and is a very talented woman.

LAWYER DEFIES COURT.

Tells Judge at Crookston to "Fine Away."

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the trial here Saturday of Fred Dale of Boone, Ia., for the murder of Ole Kjormoe, at East Grand Forks, Kid Taylor's story of how Kjormoe had been escorted to the rear door of Pederkin's restaurant by the proprietor and there attacked by Joe Carroll, Fred Dale and Frank Hawkes, Dale striking Kjormoe over the head with a beer bottle, was corroborated by Powell, who worked in the restaurant.

Dale's aged parents are attending the trial. A sensation was caused when W. E. Rowe shouted: "Shut your mouth" to County Attorney Bagen, who interrupted Rowe, claiming that Rowe was trying to intimidate Taylor, a witness for the state, by shouting at him. Judge Wales and Mr. Rowe had words and the judge said: "I do not want to fine you, Mr. Rowe," at which Rowe informed the court to "fine away" as he had plenty of money to pay a fine if it was imposed. The state will rest some time today.

CRIPPLED FATHER RESCUES CHILDREN

Near Tragedy at Kenmare, N. D., When Farm Home Is Destroyed.

Kenmare, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Awakened by flames which had attained such proportions that their lives were endangered, Mr. and Mrs. James Westergard, Sr., residing near Kenmare, escaped from their burning home after they had sustained very serious burns. Driven into the cold, the temperature being 25 deg. below zero, with only scanty clothing, the couple suffered severely from exposure before they were able to find a place of refuge in their barn.

Their three children were rescued after hard work on the part of the father, who is himself crippled, having only one arm.

GOPHER TEACHERS LEAD ALL OTHERS

Minnesota Furnishes North Dakota More Pedagogues Than Any State.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minnesota furnishes more teachers for North Dakota than any other state, even exceeding the number that is supplied by this state to itself, according to the report of the state superintendent of public instruction.

Out of a total of 295 new teachers granted certificates in six months, 93 were from Minneapolis, North Dakota supplying 71. The Moorhead normal school had the largest number of graduates among that number, 26. St. Cloud supplied 17, Winona 14 and Mankato 21.

Iowa supplied 32, Wisconsin 25, Indiana 16, South Dakota and Michigan 11 each of the new teachers during the six month period.

MISSING HEIRESS FOUND

Starving in California and Her Needs Attended To.

Appleton, Wis., Jan. 15.—"If you loved my father you will send me some money to keep me and my three children from starving to death."

It was the concluding sentence in a letter received yesterday by Louis Jacquot from Mrs. Isla Currence of Black Hawk, Colo., formerly a resident of this county. The letter furnished the missing link between Mrs. Currence and an estate valued at more than $100,000 to which she is the sole heir. The estate was left by Mrs. Currence's father, who died several years ago in Texas.

Mr. Jacquot immediately sent her a sum of money and advised her of the estate that awaits her in Texas. Steps at once will be taken to transfer the estate to Mrs. Currence, who, it has been learned, is the only one of Mr. Wood's children still alive.

IRONWOOD NOTES.

Ironwood, Mich., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following members of the local Knights of Columbus left Saturday for Hancock to attend an important meeting held at that place yesterday: T. F. Killeen, John M. Bush, Will Moore and J. W. Mullen.

On account of the extremely cold weather the ski tournament of the Ironwood club scheduled for yesterday was postponed one week.

John Tier, who was operated upon last week at Rochester, Minn., for appendicitis, is doing nicely. His early recovery is looked for.

BEAVER DAM LUMBER CONCERN QUITS BUSINESS

Cumberland, Wis., Jan. 15.—The estate of the late Col. C. W. Griggs of St. Paul and ex-Senator A. G. Foster of Tacoma, sold their majority interests in the Beaver Dam Lumber company to F. W. Miller and the Miller estate of this city and the following officers were elected: President, F. W. Miller, vice president, A. H. Miller; vice president, A. H. Miller; secretary, F. L. Olcott. The company has closed all its mills here and is preparing to wind up its business in this section.

LAKE SUPERIOR PRESS ASSOCIATION MEETING.

Menominee, Mich., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A meeting of the Lake Superior Press association will be held at Marquette on Tuesday, Feb. 6. The editors will meet with the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau. A feature of the program will be an address by Hon. W. T. Hartman of Chicago, president of the Ben Franklin club.

MILWAUKEE'S COLUMBIAN TRAIN WRECKED AT WINONA

Winona, Minn., Jan. 15.—For the third time within a few weeks, the Columbian, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul's crack train was wrecked Sunday, when the parlor and sleeping cars were hurled from the track here at a switch. None was hurt seriously, the passengers only receiving bruises as the cars remained upright.

The two cars which were derailed have been eight days in coming from the coast, and the train was twenty-four hours late here.

SEEKS DAMAGES FROM NORTH DAKOTA COUNTY.

Westhope, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—As a result of the death of his son and inuries to himself when a traction engine which he was driving across a county bridge near here broke through, Duncan Benton has filed a statement with Bottineau county asking for $3,075 damages. That the bridge was of defective construction and that the county is responsible for that condition, is the contention of Mr. Beaton. The county will not allow the claim and a suit will be commenced in the district court.

South Shore Brakeman Hurt.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 15.—Caught beneath a freight car while he was making some repairs to a broken pipe, Sam Sisson of Marquette, well known brakeman on the South Shore system, was run over by a car at Nestoria, one of his legs being so badly mangled that the victim was brought to St. Luke's hospital where the injured leg was amputated above the ankle.

Brakeman Badly Frozen.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 15.—Harry C. Hulbert, a Northern Pacific brakeman, and son of Edward W. Hulbert, this city, was found outside Valley City, severely frozen. He had got off the train to turn a switch, when he fell and was stunned. He managed to make his way to a tower house some miles away and was brought here last night and taken on to the company hospital at Brainerd. He is reported in a serious condition.

May Face Federal Charge.

Minnewaukan, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Halligan, now serving a sentence in the Benson county jail for violating the prohibition law, may face a federal charge of supplying liquor to Indians. The county outhorities contend that Halligan has been responsible for drunkenness among Indians in this city recently.

Fenton, Mich. Fire.

Fenton, Mich., Jan. 15.—Fire early Sunday damaged the plant of the new Aetna Cement company to the extent of $100,000. Two hundred men are thrown out of employment.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Menominee—The Prescott Manufacturing company has just completed a flywheel 16 feet in diameter, weighing 34,000 pounds. This wheel has a face 42 inches wide and is 18 feet high. It will be shipped in two pieces to the sawmill at Summers, Mont., of which Wesley Wells, formerly of Menominee, is superintendent.

Calumet—Miss Mary Somoro of Power Creek, aged 19, died last week from a hemorrhage. The deceased had been visiting with friends in Minnesota when seized with a hemorrhage. She lived just long enough to see her parents after being brought home.

Hancock—Miss Andrienne Erickson, aged 22, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nils Erickson, died Friday at her home in West Hancock of diphtheria. The funeral was held in the afternoon.

Laurium—Martin Grozitich and Steve Zomar were arraigned before Justice David Armit of Laurium, charged with larceny. They entered pleas of guilty to the charge of simple larceny and were sentenced to serve ninety days in the Houghton jail without the option of a fine.

Hancock—Adolph F. Isler, for many years connected with newspaper work in the Copper country, has gone to Ann Arbor to take special treatment for several weeks at the university hospital. Mr. Isler has not been enjoying the best of health for some time and will undergo an operation.

Negaunee—The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, Oliver Iron Mining company and the Breitung-Kaufman companies have paid the taxes assessed by the state commission last fall, but have done so under protest. The protests were filed in order to protect their rights in court in case the companies should later decide to contest the payment of their taxes.

Hancock—A. E. Sharpe of the Soo, grand outer guard of the Michigan Knights of Pythias, the only grand lodge officer in the Upper Peninsula, will be received as the guest of the Hancock Pythians on the evening of Feb. 2, when he will come to the city as a representative of the high lodge. Hancock knights are making provision for his entertainment.

Ishpeming—Harry Abbott, a miner employed at the Lake Superior Hard Ore mine in Ishpeming, suffered painful injuries last week when a chunk of ore fell down the shaft and struck him on the arm, breaking the member. The fracture was reduced at the Ishpeming hospital and the injured man returned to his home. The estate was left by Mrs. Currence's father, who died several years ago in Texas.

Marquette — The Elks have completed plans for a building site on Washington street by purchasing from the Lhuillier estate a three-foot strip adjoining the property recently purchased from the Frel state. This gives the lodge a frontage of 41½ feet on Washington street. The lodge is now all ready to build a $20,000 home.

Houghton — Adjt.-Gen. J. N. Cox of this city, with headquarters at Lansing, has sent in his resignation to Governor Osborn to take effect May 1. His successor has not been named.

Ontonagon — The Ontonagon County Teachers institute will be held here at the high school Thursday and Friday, Jan. 18 and 19.

Crystal Falls — William H. Jobe has resigned his position with Pickands, Mather & Co., to take a position as general manager of the newly organized Iron River Steel company. Mr. Jobe has been with the Pickands, Mather people since the resumption of operations at the Hemlock mine immediately following the panic of 1893.

Houghton — A. W. Leet, for the past two years and a half district manager in the Copper country for the Michigan State Telephone company, will leave Houghton Jan. 25 to take up new duties as commercial agent for the company at Detroit.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Black River Falls — The dead body of John Two Crow,, a Winnebago Indian, was found Friday about a mile west of the city. He was lying on his back, frozen stiff. He was a soldier of the Civil war and was about 70 years of age. Whether heart disease or liquor is responsible for his death is not known.

Waukesha—Clad only in their nightclothes, eight people last night were forced to face a temperature of 20 deg. below zero when fire, caused by an overheated boiler, destroyed the hotel of August Elchestedt at Brookfield, fourteen miles west of Milwaukee. The hotel, saloon and surrounding sheds were razed.

Green Bay — Earl Provencher, a Green Bay boy who has been working at Dallas, Tex., is a vicitim of the epidemic there of cerebral spinal meningitis.

Rhinelander — The plans for the new high school building have been let to T. Caastra of Chicago. The building will be of brick with 16,868 feet of floor space. A vacuum cleaning system will be installed. Work will begin in the spring.

Appleton — Henry Kress, county judge of Outagamie county, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination to congress in the Ninth district, the announcement following a meeting of Progressive Republican club members at Green Bay.

Ashland — In an explosion at Nash the home of Ole Anderson was wrecked and the family narrowly escaped serious injury. The accident occurred about half an hour after Mr. Anderson had lighted the fire and was caused by the water pipes in the heater freezing up and not allowing free circulation of the water to the hot water tank.

Bayfield—The Wachsmuth Lumber company has purchased all the timber holdings of the Red Cliff Lumber company which they owned in Bayfield and Ashland counties, which will give the home mill men an additional few years more to their immense business in logging work.

Washburn—Charles E. Bell died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Robert Zeamer, at Keewatin, Ont., recently, and was buried in the cemetery at Kenora, about three miles from Keewatin. He was 86 years of age. Mr. Bell came to Washburn with his family about twenty-five years ago and for a long time conducted a grocery store in the Bell building near the Masonic hall.

Waukesha—Mrs. Mary Brew of Wauwatosa, who was attacked in her home by a stranger who she allowed to enter when he was freezing, could not identify John Roberts, held in the county insane asylum, supposed to be her assailant, who is said to have confessed the attack.

Ashland—The February class of 1912 will have their graduating exercises during the week beginning Jan. 28. There are six girls and four boys in this class. The baccalauerate sermon will be delivered at the Presbyterian church on Jan. 28, the class play will be held at the high school on Thursday, Feb. 1, and the commencement exercises on Friday Feb. 2 at the same place.

Milwaukee—August Schultz, aged 60 years, fell from his bed in the county hospital Saturday and broke his neck. Schultz was taken to the hospital on Jan. 6 and treated for frozen hands and acute alcoholism. He was delirious, and the accident happened while an attendant was absent.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

St. Cloud—Whether Sam Valley, a prominent Minden farmer, has deserted his wife, who is at present living on the farm, or whether he has met with foul play, is a subject holding the attention of the residents of that neighborhood. Mr. Valley held a successful sale on his farm the first part of November, secured a large sum of money and disappeared.

Roseau—Benjamin Kranklin, who purchased the Lindberg farm and the Erick Sjoberg forty on the east side, arrived with a carload of stock and household goods and is now occupying the premises, having moved into the residence on the Erick Sjoberg land.

Little Falls—Friday was the coldest day that has been experienced in Little Falls this winter or for several winters. The mercury at 6 a. m. was 47 below zero.

Red Lake Falls—The annual meeting of the Riverside club was held last week. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, A. L. Brunelle; vice president, Andrew Rubertus; secretary, Vern Healy; treasurer, Joseph Salley; board of directors, Joseph Salley, Andrew Rubertus, Frank E. Hunt, P. B. Gaass, J. C. Wilkinson.

Walker—The farmers of Walker and surrounding country will get together at the courthouse Saturday, Jan. 20 to organize. At a meeting of the Walker Commercial club it was decided to form some kind of an organization for the purpose of encouraging farming in this vicinity by supplying a market for the abundant crops that the land will yield.

Bemidji—E. E. McDonald, one of the pioneer attorneys of Bemidji, has formed a partnership with M. D. Clark, formerly of St. Paul, who is now in the city. The new firm name will be McDonald & Clark.

St. Cloud—Closing a long illness, during which he suffered from liver trouble, J. D. Walz died Thursday at the hospital, where he has been a patient for a week. The deceased was a resident of Mayhew Lake, Benton county, and a pioneer of that section.

Pine City—The other morning August Klicker placed a pail of hot coals in his stable and then closed the door, thinking that it would warm things up to some extent. Upon returning later he found his valuable cow, a heifer, and about thirty chickens stretched out dead. The loss was nearly $150.

Mankato—The state pardon board will hold a meeting on Monday, Jan. 29. Among those who seek a pardon is James Swallow, sentenced from Blue Earth county Nov. 12, 1904, to the state prison for twelve years and six months. Robbery in the first degree. Swallow is the man who bound and gagged an old lady living in Medo and robbed her home of $1.50 in money and a watch.

Barnum—R. W. Coates who went to Dubuque, Iowa to defend a lawsuit brought against him at that place by a party he sold some land who tried to compel him to pay some taxes that have accrued against the property since leaving Mr. Coates' hands, won his case quite handily. Mr. Coates has returned and says he is still out about $300 in the way of traveling expenses, lawyers' fees, etc.

Fergus Falls—The Chippewa club has elected these officers: President, N. E. Nelson; vice president, John Lauritzen; secretary, R. E. Lincoln; treasurer, Fred Leffler; directors, J. T. Johnson, H. M. Wheelock, D. L. Brown

Braham—The stockholders of the First National Bank of Braham have held their annual meeting. The old officers were re-elected as follows: President, H. R. Elliott; vice president, Fred Soderberg; cashier, P. J. Engberg; assistant cashier, Jennie M. Cedergren. The bank is in excellent financial condition.

Mora—John O. Hanson passed away recently at his home in Comfort. He was 74 years, three months and twenty days old, and born in Smaland, Sweden. Mr. Hanson has been a resident of Comfort about ten years, having moved here from Goodhue county.

Fergus Falls—Observer Kissinger's government thermometer registered 33 deg. below zero Thursday morning, making a new local record for the winter. The previous low record was 31 deg. below. The lowest record last year was 28 deg. below.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Fargo, N. D.—The case of the state against Armour & Co., meat packers, has been included in district court and the action was taken under advisement by Judge Pollock, who, it is expected, will announce his decision within a few days.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Mrs. M. J. Ferguson, aged 75 years, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. G. Ferguson, here, of general debility. The deceased was formerly a resident of Park River but has been living in this city for some few years with her daughter. Two brothers and a number of other relatives live in the vicinity of Park River.

Fargo, N. D.—President Howard Elliott of the Northern Pacific railroad, who will be one of the red letter attractions at the Tri-State Grain Growers' convention and who will be in the city next Wednesday, Jan. 17, will be the recipient of many attentions while in Fargo.

Devils Lake, N. D.—C. J. Lord, president of the First National bank at Cando, accompanied by his wife and son, Vine, left Thursday afternoon on No. 4 for San Francisco, this making their first relay of a trip around the world. They will be gone for six months.

Grand Forks, N. D.—There has been a slight change made in the university debating teams which will meet South Dakota and Manitoba this year. The team that will debate South Dakota is composed of Lester Smith, Samuel Halpern and Theo Torgeson.

Aberdeen, S. D.—Aberdeen ministers are going to make an effort to root out the divorce evil in this city, by refusing to marry couples where either person has been previously divorced except for scriptural reasons. This action was taken by the ministerial association following the reading of a paper by Rev. J. W. Hyslop of the Episcopal church in which he discussed "The Divorce Evil" in a very able manner.

Enderlin, N. D.—Their sleigh struck by a rapidly moving freight train, P. M. Skeffington and his son, Leo, escaped with minor injuries despite the fact that they were thrown several yards into the railroad ditch by the force of the collision.

Minot, N. D.—The Union National bank has elected these officers: President, E. S. Person; vice president, John Ehr; cashier, J. S. Flatland; first assistant cashier, Charles Zehringer; second assistant cashier, V. R. Tompkins; directors, Messrs. Person, Flatland, Ehr, J. J. Kann, P. B. Anderson, Andrew Balerud and Arthur Le Sueur. The bank declared a dividend of 10 per cent, added 10 per cent to the surplus.

Valley City, N. D.—Mrs. David Sansburn was severely burned about the body when a can of oil with which the hired girl was lighting a fire in the kitchen stove, exploded. She succeeded in extinguishing the blaze by wrapping some blankets about her body.

SKEPTICS SAID "IMPOSSIBLE"

Did Not Believe That Vaccination Would Prevent Smallpox, Nor Anti-Toxin Diphtheria.

Neal Cure for Drink Habit Scientific Discovery of Age.

The statement that by the Neal Treatment the liquor habit can be cured is doubted by many. It is unnatural and unreasonable, so skeptics say. That's what they said when Stephenson announced his invention of the locomotive. People did not at first believe that vaccination would prevent small-pox. They were incredulous when they were told that a serum had been discovered that would cure diphtheria. But these things have been demonstrated to be true. Why should it not also be true that a remedy has been discovered for alcoholic poisoning? It is no more a miracle that the Neal Cure should restore a natural appetite than that anti-toxin should conquer what was considered a deadly disease. Anti-toxin does not take months to do its work. Its effects are produced in about three days—the time in which the Neal treatment cures liquor habit.

No person addicted to drink who wants to be his own master again should hesitate about taking the Neal Cure. It is so soon effected. He runs no risk. If the cure does not cure he is no worse off. If it does cure, which the Neal Institute company assures, that is what he wants, and is willing to pay for.

The Neal Treatment is not merely a sobering up process, but a perfectly safe and thorough cure that frees the system of every trace of alcoholic poison and takes away all craving and desire for drink. It makes no difference how confirmed the drinker, or how long he has been drinking, or how much he is drinking; neither does it matter how many other treatments have failed, the Neal Treatment will effect a perfect cure in just three days to the entire satisfaction of the patient or the full fee paid will be returned at the end of third day. With the Neal treatment there are no hypodermic injections, no powerful or poisonous drugs and no bad after-effects. It is safe, harmless, positive. There are no failures.

Guests enjoy the comforts of hot or club. Names are never divulg Special accommodations, assuring utmost comfort and privacy, are fered to ladies.

If you have a relative, or one is near and dear to you, a frien acquaintance who is drinking, him to go to the Neal Institute ner Belknap and West Seventh Superior, Wis.

LIMIT USE OF CHLORIDE

Where Conditions Are Right It Is Found Economical.

The board of public works will not abandon the use of chloride on the streets of Duluth, but it will not be spread as extensively as it was last year.

The experiment last season proved the chloride to be effective under the right conditions, but that it was useless where the streets were not in shape for it, particularly in the West end. In the latter district the chloride was used on streets where the dust was two or three inches thick, and it was impossible for the preparation to keep it down.

But on roads with a hard foundation, where the dust was not generally over half an inch deep, the chloride was found to be an excellent dust-layer. It formed a crust over the surface which effectually kept the dust down. The preparation had to be spread two or three times during the summer and met with much approval in the localities where the conditions were right for its use.

The board profited from its experiences of the last summer. Where the chloride was not a success it was not the fault of the chloride, but was due to the fact that altogether too much was expected of it. In those places, most of which were in the West end, water will be used for sprinkling next year. The chloride, however, was found to be less costly than the water, it being estimated that it can be spread for about half as much as it costs to sprinkle with water.

Last summer the city was about equally divided between chloride and water sprinkling districts. This year, as a result of last year's experience, the water sprinkling districts will outnumber the chloride districts considerably.

PARCELS POST ON RURAL ROUTES

Establishment Is Recommended By Hitchcock's Fourth Assistant.

Washington, Jan. 15.—The establishment of parcels post delivery along rural mail routes should not be delayed any longer, in the opinion of P. V. De Graw, fourth assistant postmaster general, as expressed in his annual report submitted to Postmaster General Hitchcock.

"Every consideration of practicability, business expediency and good administration," he says, "favors the plan as being a probable source of large revenue and great public accommodation."

Mr. De Graw based his commendation for a parcels post on the ground that the expenditure for rural service is increasing much more rapidly than the receipts; and the parcels post, he says, would provide much additional revenue. During the last year, the rural mail receipts were $7,570,000 while the expenditures were $42,790,000 while it is not expected that there will be any appreciable increase in receipts. This loss will become greater each year, he says, unless parcels post is established to help.

There are at present more than 1,000,000 miles of rural mail routes and the average mileage per day for each carrier is 24.19 miles. During the past year 577 routes were added, making the present total 41,656.

More than 13,000,000 letters and parcels were received at the dead letter office during the year, the daily receipts averaging 44,500 pices, an increase over the previous year of 8 per cent.

RED WING BOY IS SERIOUSLY FROZEN

Rides Seventy-Five Miles on Pilot With Mercury 38 Below Zero.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—With the thermometer registering 38 deg. below zero, Carl Faulkenberg, a 17-year-old fugitive from the Minnesota state industrial school at Red Wing, Minn., rode seventy-five miles on the pilot of a locomotive and was nearly frozen to death. F. A. Whittier, superintendent of the school, found Falkenberg in a Chicago hospital Sunday. Faulkenberg's hands, feet and face were frozen and he is in a serious condition from exposure.

The youth escaped from Red Wing Thursday last. He was pursued closely by officers. He eluded his pursuers and climbed on the pilot of a passenger locomotive. The train made no stops between Red Wing and La Crosse, Wis. At La Crosse Faulkenberg was discovered by the engineer of the train. Both of the youth's hands were frozen to the woodwork of the pilot. When liberated he was taken into one of the coaches and brought to Chicago. Passengers who were affected by the youth's plight took up a large collection for him.

CRITICIZES MINING LAWS.

Governor Clark of Alaska Makes His Annual Report.

Washington, Jan. 15.—There are serious defects in the general mining laws of the United States as applied to Alaska, and these defects are becoming more apparent, is the opinion of Governor Clark, expressed in his annual report to Secretary of the Interior Fisher.

The existence of provisions which tend to retard development and to encourage mere speculation has often been complained of by intelligent and progressive mining men in the United States, he says. "In Alaska," he adds, "there is still more ground for complaint, for the owners of mining claims in many cases reside elsewhere and have no intention of operating their claims. The motive to develop as a condition of ownership is entirely wanting in Alaska."

Litigation Too Frequent.

One of the worst discouragements to mining development under present conditions, he asserts, "is the frequent and long-drawn-out litigation in the courts over the mining claims and water rights which the present system induces."

Commenting on the fact that there was no increase in population in Alaska during the last year, the governor declares that "any considerable increase in the population of the territory must await a more liberal governmental policy as a whole, including a revision of the present land laws and the enactment of new ones, and furthermore, in some measure a more considerate attitude on the part of the press and the people in the states toward the development of Alaska by highly capitalized interests."

MILLIONAIRES' DEBT TO SOCIETY

"The Cost of Life" Subject of Address at the Y. M. C. A.

"The Cost of Life" was the subject of an address delivered by Rev. H. F. Burns of the Congregational church of Superior at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon.

Rev. Mr. Burns declared that human life is a trust in which the whole of mankind holds an interest and that what assets men possess have been realized only at the cost of generations of sacrifice and labor and character building.

In touching upon industrial organization, he did not accuse the captains of industry, who have accumulated great wealth, of being corrupt, but he did emphasize that in the use of their money that they owed a duty to their fellow men.

No man, the pastor contended, who has accumulated a great fortune, can rightfully claim that he alone is deserving of the credit for acquiring it. The fallacy of such an assumption, Rev. Mr. Burns pointed out, is made apparent when it is remembered that the conditions under which he was allowed to make money are the process of centuries of struggle and strife to secure more advantages for humanity.

PRACTICE FRAUD WITH IMPUNITY

Dennett Says New Laws Are Needed Regarding Land Settlement.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Owing to the non-existence of any common law of crime which the federal courts can administer, says Fred Dehnett, commissioner of the general land office in his annual report to Secretary of the Interior Fisher, "many forms of false swearing seem to be not punishable by proceedings in those courts, and I recommend that this defect in the law be repaired. Attempted prosecutions for false oaths in relation to the character of the land office when entry is sought concerning the legal qualification of the would-be entryman, have failed of success because it was held that these oaths were not specifically required by statute."

Frauds by Locators.

Commissioner Dennett says that the attention of his office often has been called to the hardships resulting from the practice of unscrupulous professional locators, who exhibit to would-be settlers lands which afterwards proved to be not public lands or lands of different description from that furnished. He recommends a law which would make such offenses punishable by fines up to $300 or by imprisonment up to a year or by both.

The commissioner declares there is pressing necessity for examination looking to the proper development of the coal fields of the West.

BOY SNATCHES WOMAN'S PURSE

The handbag of Miss Emma Swanson of the East end was snatched from her hand by a boy while she was walking along Superior street between Seventeenth and Eighteenth avenue east, about 8 o'clock Saturday evening. The thief is said to be between 16 and 18 years old. He was accompanied by another boy of his own age. Miss Swanson gave chase when the youthful purse-snatcher took to his heels, but she was unable to catch him. The other boy stood still when the purse was grabbed and watched the chase. The matter was reported to the police, who investigated the case yesterday but made no arrests.

FORESTERS WILL INSTALL OFFICERS.

One of the important events of the year in fraternal circles will take place on Tuesday evening, Jan. 16, at Foresters' hall, when a joint installation of the officers-elect of Courts Eastern Star, No. 56, North Star, No. 49, Phoenix, No. 44, and Central, No. 61, of the United Order of Foresters will occur, after which the members and their friends will be entertained at a banquet and dance. The installing officer for the occasion will be John McMurchy, chief high ranger of the Superior jurisdiction.

All of the courts in Duluth have just brought to a close one of the most successful years in the history of the order, both as to increase in membership and condition of their finances, and the committee in charge is sparing no pains or expense to make the event one to be remembered by the members and their friends.

As Quickly as Water Dissolves Sugar

About the Time It Takes for a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet to Work on the Food and Bring Relief.

TRIAL PACKAGE SENT FREE.

There is no long wait between the time you take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet and the feeling of relief it will bring to an overloaded stomach. It gets busy in a jiffy and quickly sets things to rights in that tired and disordered stomach. It goes right at the work of digesting the food it finds lodged there and in no time at all has things on the move—the gases cease forming, the breath is sweetened, the coating on the tongue disappears and you are no longer conscious that you even have a stomach.

That is one of the chief recommendations for Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets—that they don't take forever to accomplish the purpose for which you need them. It is just as if you put an extra stomach or two to work when yours needed help. You can't continually overload your stomach and expect it to always smile. It is going to get rebellious and sulky after awhile and refuse to go on being driven to do double work. You must rest it occasionally—not by starving and thereby weakening yourself physically—but by using a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet to do the work of digesting your food.

These tablets contain all the active elements of the natural stomach juices and will alone and unaided digest food just the same as the gastric juices. And nothing could be more harmless than these tablets. They do not effect the system in any way—do not cure any ailment except as they digest food. Use them freely.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists everywhere. Price, 50 cents per box. A trial package will be sent if you will write F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bdg., Marshall, Mich.

COLD WEATHER A BOON TO LOGGERS

The cold weather of the past week has been a boon to the logging business in the Northern Minnesota woods. The loggers have now completed their logging roads.

The Missabe yards at Mitchell are receiving about forty cars of mining timber a day consigned to the Oliver Mining company. There are more logging contractors and more camps on the Mesaba range this year than ever before.

Between 400,000 and 600,000 feet of logs are being cut daily in the vicinity of Sturgeon Lake by the Swan River Logging company for the Weyerhaeuser interests. The company employs about 500 men and maintains six camps, which are well organized. The prospects for a record breaking cut are good.

H. W. Rilhonen and P. W. Pertrunen of Hibbing have started the construction of a sawmill plant south of Hibbing in the vicinity of Little Swan. The new mill will have a capacity of about 15,000 feet daily.

The Scott-Graff Lumber company is now shipping about fifteen cars a day from Ridge and expects to increase that number in a short time.

T. N. Okerstrom has started logging operations in the vicinity of Port Wing. Logs will be hauled there and sawed during the coming summer.

E. S. Stewart, secretary and manager of the Hibbing Lumber company for the past six months, has resigned and has been succeeded by R. W. Strang of this city.

WARMER WEATHER PREDICTED FOR WEEK

Washington, Jan. 15. — "Relief from the intense cold which has prevailed in all sections of the country during the last few days is promised during the coming week. The general pressure distribution as shown by the weather map of the northern hemisphere during the last several days," says a bulletin issued by the weather bureau, "is such as to indicate a general reaction to normal temperature conditions over the eastern half of the country by the middle of the week and the temperature above the seasonable average in western districts throughout the week.

"The week will be one of generally fair weather east of the Rocky mountains, except that a short period of rains in Southern and snows in Northern states will attend a disturbance which will appear in the Northwest Tuesday, across the Middle West Wednesday or Thursday and the Eastern states about Friday. Precipitation will be above normal in the North Pacific states."

LOSES $1,500 IN BILLS AND CHECKS

Thomas A. Scarlett, 125 West First street, dropped his bank deposit consisting of $246 in bills, and checks amounting to about $1,500, while on his way to the American Exchange National bank Saturday afternoon. He is confident that no one stole the money and checks. He walked along First street to Second avenue west, whence he went to Superior street and the bank. When he reached the door he reached for his deposit and discovered that it was gone. He was unable to locate it by retracing his steps and reported the matter to the police. If the deposit was not found by an honest person he will lose the cash, while the payment of the checks can be stopped.

SIX KILLED IN WRECK.

Pennsylvania Express Train Hits Wagon at Crossing.

Philadelphia, Jan. 15.—Six persons, five women and a man, were killed when an express train on the New York division of the Pennsylvania railroad crashed into a light station wagon at the Linden avenue grade crossing in Torresdale, a suburb. The dead:

CHARLES DAVIDSON, aged 50 years.
NELLIE O'CONNOR, aged 19 years.
BRIDGET MALLOY, aged 42 years.
AGNES GARRITY, aged 22 years.
ROSE GALLAGHER, aged 16 years.
MARY RODDY, aged 20 years.

The dead women were all employed as servants in fashionable homes in Torresdale, and were being conveyed by Davidson, the driver, to church when the accident occurred.

BODIES FOUND IN EQUITABLE RUINS.

New York, Jan. 15.—The body of William Campion, the aged watchman, who lost his life in the Equitable Life building fire of last Tuesday, was found Sunday frozen in a kneeling posture behind a great steel gate leading to the street from the vaults of the Mercantile Trust company. A heavy steel beam from the roof of the vault pinned down the man's back. Evidence of his frantic efforts to escape the falling ruins behind him, was furnished by an arm extended through the bars of the gate as if imploring help. The knees, too, protruded through the openings. The body was encased in ice, with the feet firmly frozen in a block of ice.

The body of Battalion Chief William A. Walsh, who lost his life in the fire, was found late Saturday on the fourth floor of the ruined structure.

TRIPLE CRIME ENACTED BY HUSBAND NEAR ADRIAN.

Adrian, Mich., Jan. 15.—Archie Camp, aged 35 years, of Lenawae Junction, near here, shot and killed his wife Julia, aged 34, Sunday, perhaps fatally wounded his mother-in-law, Mrs. Phil Calkins, and then sent a bullet through his own brain. He is expected to die. The Camps had been separated since last April, when the wife began divorce proceedings. Pending a settlement of the case, Camp had been permitted to see his 5-year-old daughter once each week.

SOCIALIST CANDIDATE IS SHORT FILING FEE.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 15.—Hubert A. Wallraff, who recently announced his intention of filing for the nomination for mayor of St. Paul on the Socialist ticket, expecting to be the thirteenth candidate in the field, is going to wait a while before he does so. Mr. Wallraff says he has spent all of his money for postage and now lacks the filing fee.

IRON AND STEEL REVIEW

New York, Jan. 15.—Among the prominent features of the state trade last week were the conference of the Pennsylvania railroad officials with the steel mills regarding rail specifications, the extraordinary December statement of the United States Steel corporation and the keen competition among fabricating shops and structural mills for new business.

The railroads ordered 60,000 tons of rails, the principal contract being 36,000 tons for the Northern Pacific. Some heavy contracts are likely to be released this week, including 150,000 tons for the Pennsylvania, 175,000 tons for the New York Central, 60,000 tons for the St. Paul, 45,000 tons for the Erie, 20,000 tons for the Lackawanna, and a supplementary order for the Southern railway. The car contracts included 3,200 more cars for the Pennsylvania, 750 for the Elgin, Beloit & Eastern and 500 for the Hocking Valley. Bridge orders were light, the only one worthy of note being of 20,000 tons for the Norfolk & Western, but 20,000 additional for railway bridges and shops are on the point of being placed. The principal contracts for fabricated steel were placed in the West, where 9,000 tons alone are required for copper smelters to be constructed. The most important building contract was for the Marine bank building at Buffalo, requiring 4,000 tons of steel, awarded to the Lackawanna Steel company. The largest local contract was for a loft building to be erected near Madison Square requiring 1,800 tons of steel, which will be Bethlehem sections. C. T. Wills has the general contract.

The subsidiaries companies of the Steel corporation reported enormous contracts for finished products booked in December, the aggregate being 2,163,000 tons, while the December output of finished products was about 936,000 tons.

The volume of business in pig iron was comparatively light throughout the week, total orders in all districts were less than 75,000 tons, about one-third of which was for steel-making iron. In the Eastern district contracts were placed for only about 25,000 tons.

Huron, S. D. Block Burns.

S.S.S. NATURE'S CURE FOR BLOOD POISON

S. S. S. is known as Nature's Cure for Contagious Blood Poison because it is prepared entirely from the blood purifying and healing extracts of roots, herbs and barks taken directly from the natural forests of the land. It does not contain the least particle of strong mineral ingredients, and is so prepared as to aid in the upbuilding of every portion of the system, while driving Contagious Blood Poison from the blood. No unpleasant effects ever follow the use of S. S. S., such as stomach troubles, dyspepsia, mercurial rheumatism, etc., as is so often the case where other medicines are used. S. S. S. goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and gently but surely, drives out every trace of the disease, cleanses and purifies the circulation, and by its fine vegetable tonic effects, assists the system to rapidly overcome the ravages of the disease, and regain its natural healthful condition. S. S. S. does not cover up or hide the symptoms for awhile, to break out later, but so thoroughly does it remove the cause that no signs of the trouble ever return. S. S. S., Nature's cure, is the surest and safest remedy for Contagious Blood Poison. Home Treatment Book with valuable suggestions and information, and any medical advice free to all who write.

State Fire Marshal Summoned to Hibbing to Look Into Fire.

Healy's Total Loss Cut to $35,000 With $24,500 Insurance.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A revised estimate of the loss sustained by Representative Healy last Saturday when the splendid Healy theater building was destroyed by fire is about $35,000. The insurance on the building is $22,500 and there was $2,500 on the contents, stage equipment, seats, etc.

Want Fire Investigated.

An urgent appeal has been sent to State Fire Marshal Keller to come here and probe the fire and he is expected on any train.

As the theater had not been used for some time and fresh tracks were found leading to and from the stage entrance the belief of Fire Chief McIlhargey that the place was set on fire will not down. John Healy stated that so far as he knew no one had been in the building since the first of the week when it was inspected by Mr. Allerdt, who closed a deal for the lease. There had been no fire in the building since New Year's night when Pilakoff, the Duluth wrestler, appeared there as the feature of a special vaudeville show, featuring a wrestling match between Pilakoff and Martin Johnson, the Duluth fireman.

Construction work on the Healy theater was begun in 1909. It was opened Feb. 17, 1910, with Texas Gluneh in the "Gay Musician." It was without a question the finest playhouse on the Mesaba range and cost to build and equip in the neighborhood of $50,000. By theatrical people it was regarded as one of the neatest small houses in the Northwest. It had stage capacity for playing the best attractions on the road, was handsomely finished inside and was modern in every detail of construction.

Tuesday of last week the house was leased to a syndicate headed by W. F. Allerdt of Chicago, who were to open it as a first-class vaudeville house about Feb. 1, to be operated in connection with the new Lyric theater in Virginia.

ARE CELEBRATING AUSTRIAN HOLIDAY

Services in Keeping With New Year's Celebration at Chisholm.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Austrians celebrated New Year's day Sunday in a style in common with the custom in their fatherland. High mass was celebrated at the Austrian church before daylight by Father Itajacoduvich and in the afternoon Solemn mass was celebrated, in which all first communionists took part. The cornet band maintained by the Austrian societies was out in full uniform and paraded the streets and assisted at the church services.

After the services at the church in the afternoon they congregated in small parties with their neighbors for their New Year's dinner, prepared with many precious liquors from the old country, special fruit breads and other viands befitting their custom.

In the evening they met in nearby boarding houses and made merry by dancing, feasting and participated in fantastic steps known to the peasantry of the mountain dwellers in their fatherland. The celebration usually lasts three days, and a week before whole lamb and veal is hung up in the smoke house to be prepared for their New Year's feast. Members of the Austrian colony from Hibbing, Virginia and other cities joined with the church in this city in celebration of the event.

CONCERT AT COLERAINE.

Given By Kipp Quartet Proves Quite Enjoyable Affair.

Coleraine, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.) — The Kipp string quartette, assisted by local musicians, gave an entertaining concert at the village auditorium Sunday afternoon. There were sacred instrumental solos, duets, and quartets and vocal solos. A large number of the citizens of Coleraine and Bovey enjoyed the program and expressed a desire to have these sacred concerts repeated. The quartet has just completed an engagemen of free concerts in the different schools of this district and a series of popular musicales in the school auditorium. This concert company is under the direction of F. W. Kipp, who is assisted by his three talented daughters. They are trying to encourage a desire for good music in the schools of Minnesota. Mr. Kipp is a strong advocate of the state providing for a number of musical companies which will encourage by their example a taste for the better class of music. He would do away with the prevalent rag-time jingles and canned graphophone selections.

CELEBRATOR IS NEARLY FROZEN

Chisholm Man Observing New Year's Blowout Exposes Self Scantily Clad.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dan Dinovich was taken in charge by the police at the Penobscot location Sunday while wandering about in the snow with no shoes on and very little clothing and nearly frozen. He explained that he was celebrating New Year's day and that he was on his way home to get some clothing, together with shoes, as at a merry gathering of his countrymen they had divested him of his wearing apparel. The officers took him home and soon he rejoined the gathering clad in gay garments.

Miss Budd Blough a sister of Clyde Blough, a local merchant, went to Hibbing the latter part of last week for a visit with her sister, Miss Ruth Blough.

Dr. A. B. Kirk, master; O. H. Higbee, past grand master, and C. E. French, senior warden, are the delegates selected by the local blue lodge of Masons, to attend the Masonic session at St. Paul this week.

P. Karon, who has conducted a general mercantile store at Buhl for several years, has decided to remove to this city and has made arrangements to occupy a store building on Lake street to be vacated shortly. Mr. Karon was formerly a resident of this city before entering the mercantile business and has made several visits here during the summer looking for an opening.

Captain Hodge of the Shenango and wife have left for Mr. Hodge's old home in Cornwall, Eng. Mr. Hodge has been away from his native land twenty-five years, the greater part of the time having been spent in mining in America. He has been on the Mesaba range for several years and with the Shenango Furnace company about five years.

MINISTER TALKS OF PROPHET ELIJAH

Rev. Stanley Oadams Tells Hibbing Congregation About Prophet of Mt. Carmel.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 15. — (Special to The Herald.) — Rev. T. Stanley began a series of special addresses yesterday at the First Methodist church on "The Phophets of Humanity," and spoke on "Elijah, the Prophet of Mount Carmel," saying in part:

"It is a matter of record that 'there was none like King Ahab who did sell himself to work wickedness.' In that age of degeneracy Elijah, the prophet of righteousness appears. He comes upon us without a cradle and he leaves us without a coffin. This most rugged and romanite figure in human story, appears less a man than a mountain. Like his own Mount Carmel as it gleams in strong and vivid lights that cleave the gloom and the darkness when nature frowns in the fury and fierceness of Mediterranean storms she is mysterious, superhuman, transcendent.

Secret of Youth Locked Up.

The sublime old mountains of Gilead locked up the secret of his youth, and all between was a mystery of power until Sinai saw the shining apotheosis of his life and in the affluence of fiery splendors he was translated from earth to heaven. From one great deep to another great deep, his life is made impressive and radiant with the truth of which is the champion. He is grand because he is the vehicle of the divine purpose. He is forceful because he utters the will and word of Jehovah, with whom his life is hid. Like the hurricane he came and went. Stronger than the dromedary of the desert and swifter than the Bedouin of the hills, he would dash across the plain ahead of the wild driving chariot of King Ahab, while the great rains gathered in the blackening sky and the great winds blew fearful organ blast to the wilder music of his wondrous soul.

Like Day of Judgment.

The advent of Elijah, the flying doom, upon any scene of human wrong was like a day of judgment already come. The descent of a Norse god from Valhalla was no more disturbing. Elijah had no smooth words to temperize with sin nor palliation for wrong in high places or lower ones But when a pentinent people in their humiliation acknowledged their sin, he hac the work of mercy and healing The one tremendous episode which sets this Colossus and his work before all the ages in one great fierce splash of light is on Mount Carmel where the unrelenting purpose of righteousness in the prophet converged to its grand vindication. The test of fire resulted in the enthronement of national righteousness.

GETS THIRTY DAYS FOR GIVING LIQUOR TO INDIAN.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 15.—Harry Munson of Deer River was given a hearing before Judge Bailey on a charge of selling liquor to Indians. He was given a thirty-day jail sentence. As he has been in jail since Dec. 11, it is in reality a sixty-day sentence.

BAD FIRE AT TWO HARBORS

Clifton Hotel Destroyed and Adjoining Main Street Property Menaced.

Invalid Woman Reported in One of Rooms May Have Lost Life.

DOMESTIC LOSES LIFE.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—At 1 p. m. the fire was rapidly consuming a building in the rear of the Clifton hotel and the firemen hope to have the fire checked there although they are considerably hampered because of lack of pressure. The Clifton hotel is a mass of ruins. One life was lost, Amy Anderson, a domestic being trapped in an upper room. She was about 19. A man living in an upper story had a close call. The delay in turning in the alarm and the long time that was lost getting water on the fire caused much adverse comment.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire this morning about destroyed the Clifton hotel on Main street. The firemen were unable to save the building, as they were not notified until the fire had a good start, and they devoted their energies to saving adjoining buildings. It is reported an invalid woman perished in the hotel but at 1 p. m. this had not been confirmed. The loss is about $7,000, supposed to be covered by insurance.

The building is owned by J. H. Delaney, Second avenue, and had been leased to A. Soderstrom who took possession two weeks ago. The fire is supposed to have originated from a defective heating apparatus. It is reported that there was a sick woman in room 20 who has not yet been found, although room was searched. A peculiar circumstances is that there have been three fires within the last three weeks and in every case alarm was not turned in to the city until about an hour after the start.

Home Near City Destroyed.

Fire completely destroyed the home of S. H. Woolen, one-half mile north of the city, Saturday evening. The fire must have started about 8 o'clock, but the alarm was not turned in until 9 o'clock by one of the D. & I. R. locomotives. The building was then all in flames. Nothing could be done toward saving the property, there being no hydrants within reaching distance. The cause of the fire as given is an overheated stove. There was no one home at the time.

SKI JUMPER OF SUPERIOR HURT

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Owing to the strong northwest wind which interfered seriously with the ski jumpers, it was necessary Sunday afternoon to postpone the tournament until this afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock. In spite of the bad wind and the cold the tournment was started and eighteen participants attempted jumps. So strong was the wind that it was impossible to make any distance worth while.

Barney Riley was blown against the scaffold and narrowly escaped injury, and Ole Bordby of Superior, who entered as a member of the Ironwood, Mich., Club, was blown from the scaffold and sustained painful injury. He will be unable to compete this afternoon, but is not seriously injured. About 3,000 people turned out to enjoy the tournament.

President C. M. Mason of Superior of the National association, Vice President Nick A. Nelson of Stillwater, and Treasurer H. H. Borgen of Duluth were present.

ITASCA'S POTATO YIELD ABOUT 100,000 BUSHELS.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 15.—Supt. A. J. McGuire of the Northeast Experiment farm estimates that the potato yield in Itasca county the past year was about 100,000 bushels. He states this total was raised on 500 acres, which means an average of 200 bushels per acre.

OSBORN MAY ENTER RACE.

Reported Virginia Alderman Will Run for Mayor.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—With a week remaining in which candidates for municipal office may file for the election to be held Feb. 6, the situation is still unsettled as to the mayoralty. While M. A. Murphy filed several days ago and H. P. Johnson announced his intention of filing within a few days, there is a good deal of political figuring being done with regard to the mayoralty. It is probable that A. C. Osborn, who has served in the capacity of alderman for about six years and is the present president of the council, will become a candidate for mayor. Mr. Osborn has several times expressed a desire to retire from public office and refuses to become a candidate for his present position as alderman-at-large, but has not refused to run for mayor, though he has not said that he would make the run for that office. This gives his friends encouragement and he is being urged to become a candidate. It is believed that he will consent to run for mayor. If he enters the race there will be a three-cornered fight, unless M. A. Murphy or H. O. Johnson withdraws and neither has expressed a willingness to thus sacrifice himself, though it is believed that both men decided to run with the assumption that Mr. Osborn would not enter the race.

FIGHT AURORA FIRE, MERCURY 24 BELOW

Firemen Successfully Battle With Flames on Sunday Evening.

Aurora, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local fire department was called out last night for the first time in three months, to extinguish a blaze at the residence of Victor Haakala.

The fire was caused by an overheated stove and was discovered by one of the little children who slept upstairs being awakened by smoke and discovered the flames breaking through the wall near the chimney.

The building was two stories and was sealed inside. The flames had made considerable headway between the sealing and the siding and were extinguished only after a hard fight and much chopping. The thermometer stood at 24 deg. below zero, but the members of the fire department turned out promptly and worked hard until the flames were entirely extinguished. The alarm was turned in at 1 a. m.

CHEAPER LIGHTS GIVEN PATRONS

Virginia Electric Power Co. Makes Voluntary Reduction.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A reduction of 12 per cent to small consumers of electric light has been made effective at once by the Virginia Electric Power & Water company, in accordance with the established policy of the company to give the patrons a share of the increased earnings. Last year a reduction nearly as large was made effective in February and in 1910 there was another substantial reduction made.

The new net rate a kilowatt is 10.5 cents when the consumption ranges from one to twenty kilowatts a month, compared with a net rate of 12.1 cents a kilowatt last year. The new rate for a consumption each month of from twenty to fifty kilowatts is 9.9 cents, compared with 11.2 cents last year. The net rate for from fifty to 100 kilowatts consumption each month is 9.4, compared with 10.4 cents last year, from 100 to 150 kilowatts the new rate is 9 cents, compared with 9.9 cents formerly. The new rate for from 150 to 200 kilowatts is 8.5 cents, compared with 9.4 cents last year, for from 200 to 250 kilowatts the new rate is 8.1 cents, compared with 9 cents heretofore. Corresponding reductions are made for bigger consumption throughout the list, all users of over 2,000 kilowatts a month receiving a rate of 5.4 cents, compared with a limit of 5.4 cents a kilowatt for a consumption of over 2,500 kilowatts last year, users of over 2,000 kilowatts and up to 2,500 kilowatts getting a reduction of fourth of a cent a kilowatt.

The reduction in rates is being very favorably commented upon.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FORECAST TILL 7 P. M. TUESDAY

For Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges: Light snow tonight or Tuesday; not so cold with temperature varying from 5 deg. below to about 15 deg. below zero tonight and rising to zero or slightly above during Tuesday; moderate winds, mostly southerly.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

Observations taken at 8 a. m., seventy-fifth meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level.

Isobars, or continuous lines, pass through points of equal air pressure.

Isotherms, or dotted lines, pass through points of equal temperature; they will be drawn only for zero, freezing, 90°, and 100°.

Symbols to denote state of weather: clear; partly cloudy; cloudy. Rain, snow, report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. First figure, temperature; second, 24-hour rainfall, if 0.01 inch or more; third, wind velocity of 10 miles per hour or more.

WIND SCALE.

	Miles Per Hour.
Calm	0 to 5
Light	5 to 15
Moderate	15 to 25
Brisk	25 to 35
High	35 to 50
Gale	50 to 65
Hurricane	65 and above

H. W. RICHARDSON, Local Forecaster.

SNOW

The weather man runs true to form. The moderation in temperature did not continue into Sunday and zero was the highest mark reached by the mercury yesterday. Low temperature with a high wind made the cold more severe than during the prolonged cold snap and the "not so cold" included in the prediction for tonight and tomorrow is a welcome note.

The sun rose this morning at 7:50 and it will set at 4:46 this evening, giving eight hours and fifty-six minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The disturbance centered off the New York coast caused light rain or snow in Atlantic and Northwestern states and the Lake region during the last twenty-four to thirty-six hours. The high pressure overlying the Red river and Middle Missouri valleys has brought about a return to low temperature over the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas, but the depression that has developed over Alberta is causing warmer weather from Montana northward. This rise in temperature will reach the Head of the Lakes early Tuesday."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Wisconsin—Fair tonight, probably followed by snow flurries Tuesday; rising temperatures Tuesday and in extreme west portion tonight.

Shippers' forecast: Protect thirty-six hour shipments of perishables temperatures varying from about zero to 10 deg. below in the Dakotas, and zero to about 15 deg. below in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

COMMERCIAL CLUB TO USE CITY HALL

Expected Hibbing Organization Will Find Home in Public Building.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the Commercial club, which is growing rapidly in importance, are hoping that the plans afoot for housing the club in the village hall will be realized. To that end a large delegation will attend the meeting of the village council Tuesday night in company with the committee selected to wait on the council and perfect arrangements to that end. The club has purchased its furniture and only needs a place to set it up.

WILL BUY SHADE TREES.

Virginia Park Board to Set Out Many Trees.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The park board will soon let the contract for furnishing 3,000 or 4,000 shade trees. About 3,000 trees will be planted in the new South side park, which has an area of about seventeen acres, while several hundred will be planted in Olcott park and the remainder on various streets of the city.

ANOTHER VIRGINIA ADDITION ON MARKET.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Canadian Northern addition, twenty acres adjoining the Virginia & Rainy Lake Lumber company property, will be placed upon the market today in half acre blocks. This is the second addition to be platted and opened for settlement near the city within a few months. Most of the lots in West Virginia have been disposed of and there will be considerable of a building boom there in the spring.

PASADENA HOTEL RAZED BY FLAMES

At 1 a. m. the entire main structure of the hotel had been destroyed and the flames finished their work on the big north wing, newly opened this season. No lives were lost. The loss, including baggage of the guests, is placed at $250,000.

Practically every room in the hotel was occupied, and when the fire started bellboys and elevator men, under the direction of Manager Wilson, rushed from door to door, aided by the operator at the telephone switchboard, who sat at her desk calling room after room until every guest in the hotel was aroused.

JOHN BULL LAYS DREADNOUGHT KEEL

New Vessel Will Be Thirty-Second Monster in British Navy.

Portsmouth, Eng., Jan. 15.—The keelplate of Great Britain's twenty-eighth ship of the dreadnought class was laid today in Portsmouth dockyard. The new vessel is the first to be begun of the five armored ships provided for in the British naval program of 1911-12. She will be completed in the course of the year 1914. When she has been added to the navy Great Britain will possess thirty-two dreadnoughts or super-dreadnoughts, half of which will be armed with 13.5-inch guns.

The vessel laid down today has not been named. She will be the largest battleship hitherto constructed in England, displacing between 25,000 and 26,000 tons. Although the dreadnought cruisers of the Lion class are much longer, the new vessel will be slightly heavier, besides throwing heavier shells than her immediate predecessors.

A FINE NEW SPORT EVENT--- PAYING THE COAL BILL

Efforts Being Made to Prevent Pilakoff Wrestling Here Again---Fireman Flynn Has No Chance With Johnson---Minny League Gloomy--- Pedersen and Mahmout.

(BY BRUCE.)

NEWSPAPERS are generally open to those who wish to contribute and the public is generally fair in insisting that both sides to any controversy be given a hearing. Pilakoff, the wrestler, formerly of this city, stated through the press that the reason for his quitting was illness and that he was ready to wrestle Ordemann after two months time in which to train. In this clumsy manner the offense that Pilakoff gave the public, he apparently believes, can be smoothed over. If the promoters of wrestling ever allowed Pilakoff to wrestle in a contest that they had anything to do with, they would be condoning the actions of quitters and would be accomplishing untold harm to the game. The management of the Auditorium sides with the promoters of the Ordemann-Pilakoff match in that it has stated that Pilakoff will never be allowed to wrestle another match there.

Both Pilakoff and his manager informed the promoters that he was in fine condition for his match with Ordemann. They were led to believe that he was in great condition. Now after he deliberately walked to the center of the mat and lay down on his shoulders, thus giving a fall to Ordemann and showing his utter disregard for the fact that the public had paid good money to see him wrestle, and also forgetting that it was the public that had given him all of his money, he comes out and clumsily attempts to defend a low trick done to the public and the promoters.

It is only fair that the public know that the promoters have no sympathy with this attempt at explanation. The management of the Auditorium has stated that Pilakoff will never wrestle there again; the promoters of the recent match will do everything in their power to prevent Pilakoff ever wrestling in this city again. In doing this they can at least show the Duluth public that they deeply regret the treatment it received and are adopting measures that will prevent a repetition.

One of the best ways to make some athletes realize what a good standing with the public means, is to force them to seek other pastures, where mayhap the coin comes slowly and on palsied limbs. When Pilakoff realizes that in Duluth he was in a pretty good place, in one of the very best wrestling towns in the country, he will be somewhat sorry for the exhibition he gave at the Auditorium. Let the public once understand that the Finnish wrestler is through here and that the promoters take not an iota of faith in the plea of sickness—well, there may be some chance to continue clean wrestling in Duluth.

AN exchange says that the Japanese have the Marathon craze. From reading the account of the trouble between the Japs and the Russians, that was fought out at Port Arthur, Oyster Bay and Wall Street; one would imagine that the Russians would make good at the game of long distance running.

SOME people say that Fireman James Flynn will not fight Al Palzer. The belief is thoroughly in keeping with the whole idea of the matching of Johnson and the fireman. Palzer, green and inexperienced, is one of those tough individuals who has an excellent chance of putting the blankets on the Italian from Pueblo. Flynn and Jack Curley know that Flynn hasn't a chance in the world with Johnson. The darkey would have to be hopeless and helpless before a crude fighter of Flynn's caliber would have a chance in the world with him. Flynn is so ordinary that some followers of the game are of the opinion that Palzer can beat him. Flynn or Curley don't want to take a chance with the loser's end of the Nevada bout in sight.

IT WAS the same way in the case of the Jeffries-Johnson fight. William Brady, the New York theatrical man and former manager of both Corbett and Jeffries, was hep to the condition the boiler maker was in. He was one of the wise fishes who savied that the hulk of the former champion was rendered a dissipation-eaten shell. Brady offered to match Al Kaufmann against Jeffries and to bet real money that the Kaufmann would be returned the winner. Nix for Jeffries—his handlers told him to forget that grizzly bear stuff and keep his mind on vaudeville.

The world has not forgotten what Johnson did to Jeffries. While not wishing to hold our hand up to teacher in too conspicious a manner, we might remark in passing that The Herald sport department ridiculed the contest and predicted an easy victory for the colored man.

Johnson will have just as easy a time with Flynn. He has beaten the rough-house Italian before. Johnson let Flynn remain in the ring until the fireman called the smoke a bad name, for Flynn has simply terrible manners. He is rude. Then Jack lulled him to dreamland in a most artistic manner.

There are a lot of wise sporting men who would bet, could they be assured that Johnson would fight his hardest from the tap of the gong, that the darkey could put the Flynn-flam out in the first round. That is just how much of a championship encounter it looks to some who follow fighting with any degree of judgment.

If the Jeffries-Johnson fight hurt the fighting game, then stop and think; gentle reader, just how much the fight scheduled between Johnson and Flynn is going to hurt the business of boxing. Every sporting editor in every part of the country ought to knock the affair for if it comes off it is going to be an awful joke.

EARNESTLY, little brother, we ask you whether or no you have given up the baseball ghost. The little brother in the present case is or are just as you wish, the scribes in the southern part of the state. They have come forth on the balconies of the news bungalows and cried out with despair that the Minny league is a thing of the hallowed past.

Lee Bierce has forsaken Winona for Grand Forks—and lo and behold the remnant of the league is searching in the bullrushes of Eau Claire, La Crosse and mayhap Red Wing for a Moses to lead them out of the wilderness of their present entanglement. Each bright and shining day bringeth forth some new angle to this baseball problem.

IT IS generally admitted that Stan Zbyszko is one of the greatest wrestlers in the world today. The great Pole has learned a wonderful amount of catch-as-catch-can science since he wrestled Gotch. With the fans over the country coming to the belief that Zbyszko is really one of the mat masters of the world, there is also the belief that Jess Pedersen and Yusstf Mahmout are the only other foreigners who can compare with Zbyszko.

Big Jess Pedersen has made a great record the present season. He defeated Corderelel, the gigantic Turk, in six minutes and he has shown that he is one of the few great wrestlers that Europe has sent to this country. To back his American record it must also be remembered that Pedersen has thrown Zbyszko in the Old country.

Because of the general belief that Pedersen is the goods, it is to be hoped that the three foreigners may wrestle it out the present season.

BROWN WILL GET BACK IN GAME

Hibbing Boy Promised Match With Winner of Windsor Bout.

Pal Brown of Hibbing, champion lightweight boxer of the Northwest, who finished a week's engagement last night the Happy Hour theater, left this morning for Virginia and other towns on the Mesaba range, in which he will fill theatrical engagements until his next fight, which will take place next week. Brown is in shape to go into the ring today, his stage boxing keeping him in prime condition.

Brown has been matched to fight the winner of the bout between Jack White of Chicago, and Mickey Sheridan of Detroit, which is to be held at Windsor, Ont., next Thursday night. The fight, twelve rounds, is to be held next week. The match was made for Pal by his new manager, Nell Moynahan, a real estate and insurance man of Hibbing, who was formerly a baseball player.

Today Brown authorized the sporting editor of The Herald to issue a challenge in his behalf to meet any man in the world at 128 to 133 pounds, ringside, with a side bet of $5,000. Brown can fight now at 130 pounds, four pounds more than a year ago. In another year 133 pounds ought to be his best weight.

Brown was 20 years old last month. In twenty-three months of fighting he has had forty-five battles. He won twenty-nine of these with knockouts. He won eight additional fights and figured in eight draws. He has never been beaten. Most of the draws were during the early part of his ring work.

FRANK ERNE IS TO FIGHT AGAIN

Former Champion Is Planning a Return to the Ring.

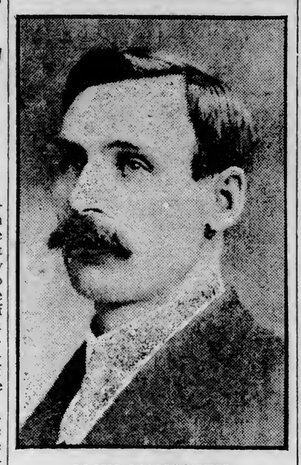

New York, Jan. 15.—It developed the other night that the rumor which has been in circulation in local boxing circles for some time, to the effect that Frank Erne, the former world's lightweight champion, would return to the ring, is correct and that Erne proposes to appear very shortly in actual combat again with the big gloves.

For some months, following his last return from Europe, Erne has been located in New Jersey, near Philadelphia, where associated with a bevy of high class fastic celebrities he has been undergoing the stiffest sort of preparation in order to fit himself for the battle. Outdoor and gymnasium work have apparently done wonders for the former champion, and those who have seen his recent work declare that not only has he lost none of his cunning, but, that with additional weight, he has gained a much more powerful punch and has displayed a marked ability to go the route.

In Erne's palmy days in the ring long-distance bouts were the rule and the shorter affairs, six and ten rounds, now in vogue, give the conqueror of Lavigne and Gans his best opportunity to shine. Erne now scales in boxing from between 140 and 150 pounds, which is quite a reduction from his weight when the last arrived from Paris and is abundant proof of the hard work which he has undergone in training.

Erne declares his age is 35, about that of Jack Johnson, and says that he has every right to return to the ring, inasmuch as many of the stars of his time have come back with distinction in these days of shortstop bouts.

STUDENTS WILL HOLD MEETINGS

Minnesota Univerity Demands Being Framed for Presentation to Big Eight.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 15.—For the purpose of preparing the University of Minnesota's demands to be presented to the Big Eight conference which will meet in Chicago, Jan. 26, numerous meetings are scheduled to be held here this week. The idea expressed at the various sessions upon the summer baseball question and other topics to come up at the meeting probably will be placed in the form of resolutions and will be put before the conference by Minnesota's representative, Prof. James F. Paige.

The first meeting, which will be held next Tuesday night, is called by the executive committee of the general alumni association, and addresses will be made by a number of the prominent alumni.

MACKMEN TO HIT TRAIL VERY EARLY.

Philadelphia, Jan. 15.—Connie Mack, manager of the World's Champions, announced today the itinerary of his two baseball teams through the South this spring. The first batch of players known as the "second team" and made up of new men and old pitchers, will leave for San Antonio about Feb. 9.

The "first team" will leave later and will include old players and new pitchers. After the preliminary work out in San Antonio, the teams will play games in the following cities:

First team—March 16 and 17, Austin; 23, Galveston; 24, Houston; 25 and 26, New Orleans; 27, Montgomery; 28, Spartanburg; 29, Baltimore; 31, Newark, N. J.; April 7, Jersey City; 14, Baltimore.

Second team—March 23, 30 and 31, Houston; 24, Galveston; April 1, 2 and 3, New Orleans; 4 and 5, Mobile; 6 and 7, Montgomery; 8, Charlotte; 9, Baltimore; 10, Trenton, N. J.

Send Athletes Abroad.

New York, Jan. 15.—At a meting of the intercollegiate athletic association it was advocated by Christopher T. Kirby of Columbia, that a large delegation of college athletes be sent to the Olympic games in Stockholm next summer. The proposition was received with approval, but the only definite action taken at the meeting was that concerning the shot-put record of Russell Beatty of Columbia. His mark of 49 feet 7¾ inches, made on Columbia field last Nov. 8, was officially admitted as an intercollegiate record.

JOHNSON KNOCKED DOWN IN BURLESQUE BATTLE

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Jack Johnson, supposedly invincible champion heavyweight of the world, took the nine count twice yesterday in a battle staged in the ring of O'Connell's gymnasium. A white hope named Hirsch, who heretofore has not had much notice in the public prints, turned the trick to the amusement of the crowd which packed the State street home of the boxers.

Johnson apparently was all but out each time, arising only with the greatest effort and with a look of pain on his face which showed what he was suffering from the punches doled out by the new wonder. A left to the jaw sent him down the first time and a right to the same spot upset him in the following round.

Johnson a Faker?

However, if James J Corbett could have seen the bout he would have been able to prove Johnson a faker, and an artistic one at that. For the hope was "Special Delivery" Hirsch, the 120-pounder who promises to become a featherweight star. Johnson and he put on three rounds of vaudeville, that any wise theatrical manager would pay a high price to get. Johnson's antics were comical. He performed like a big colored fellow who was taking a beating in a battle royal and was looking for a chance to jump out of the ring.

The gym rang with laughter as Johnson carried out the comedy, dropping to the floor with an appearance of untold suffering and staggering to his feet each time the crowd, which acted as referee, counted "nine." He gave a perfect imitation of a boxer in distress and was ably assisted by Hirsch, who is rapidly becoming a first class clown under Johnson's tutelage.

Sore at New York.

Johnson was aroused yesterday when he learned of the statement issued in New York by Commissioner O'Neil, chairman of the state athletic commission, to the effect that the champion would not be allowed to box in the Empire state as long as O'Neil is chairman. Johnson said he would make the boxing commission explain its attitude when he goes East.

"I guess that's discrimination for you," said Jack. "I'll bet if the commission entertained any idea that I would be beaten if I met any one in New York it would not have made such a statement. As an American citizen, why have I not the same right to box in New York as any one else? They allow fighters to work there who are not even Americans, but who come over here for a little easy money and then take it back with them. Why don't they stop Joe Jeannotte from boxing there? They have allowed Sam Langford to show there. Then why should I not be allowed the same privilege?"

TWENTY GREATEST HITS RECORDED IN BASEBALL

Larry Lajoie, Cleveland, July 1, batted for Jack Graney and hit Jesse Baker, White Sox pitcher, for two bases, shooting three men across.

Sam Crawford's home run against Boston in 1909 that cinched the pennant for Detroit.

Fred Clarke tied the first game of the world's series between Pittsburg and Detroit in 1909 with a home run.

Frank Baker's two home runs against Mathewson and Marquard came pretty close to settling the world's series.

• • •

Otis Crandall, when he doubled in the ninth inning of the fifth world's series game and pushed two runs across, sewed up the game. The Giants won in the tenth.

Joe Jackson made the longest home run ever seen at the Cleveland grounds It blew over the right field wall.

George Moriarty, for whom Delehanty was passed by Harry Krause, came up at Shibe park and cracked the ball to the scoreboard for three sacks.

Charlie Hickman made wee Willie Sudhoff cry when he lammed one over the fence with a man on and the score 3 to 2 against Hickman's team. This was for Cleveland against St. Louis.

• • •

Big Bill Lange bumped one over the center field fence at Cincinnati, the ball breaking a pane of glass in a saloon and also breaking up a pinochle game in progress.

Heine Zimmerman made two home runs in one day over the left fence in Cincinnati, the only time a ball has been knocked over any of the present fences.

Buck Ewing hit one over the right field fence in the old Cleveland ground that is one of the longest hits ever recorded there.

Sam Crawford in a game at Detroit against the White Sox pickled a triple for three runs that would have been good for a homer.

Jim Delehanty in the same game hit a homer with two men on and a triple with the bases full.

George Stovall, playing for Cleveland, faced his brother Jesse, who was on duty for Detroit. George whacked a triple that saved his job, but bundled his brother to the minors.

Ed McKean, playing for Cleveland against Boston, hit a home run in the ninth inning with two on. He came up again with two again on and did the same stunt.

George Robe, substitute third sacker of the Chicago White Sox, hammered out a triple in the final game of the Cub's series and won the world's championship in 1906.

Joe Tinker, with a triple won the famous "Merkle" game that was played off. Joe's hit came off Christy Mathewson.

CATHOLIC CLUB QUINT DEFEATED

In the best and most exciting basket ball game that has been played in Duluth in many a long day, the fast Ascensions of Minneapolis, one of the best basket ball teams in the state, defeated the Catholic Athletic team by the score of 31 to 30. It required an extra five minutes to decide the contest, the score being a tie at the end of the regular time. A basket from foul gave the game to the visitors. The contest was played Saturday evening in the C. A. C. gymnasium.

The score was 15 to 11 in favor of the C. A. C. boys at the end of the first half. Then the second half saw the evening up of the contest upon the part of the Minneapolis quint. A foul was called on Aubin and this decided the contest.

Susans threw eight baskets for the C. A. C. Conley threw three and Clark also threw three and a basket from foul. Aubin threw one.

Barry shot six baskets for the visitors, F. J. Barry, four field baskets and three from fouls. Riley threw one basket and Collins two.

Following is the lineup:

Susans	f	F. A. Barry
Conley	f	F. J. Barry
C. Clark	c	Beck
Curry	g	Riley
Tobin	g	Collins

Substitute—Donahue (Ascensions).

LINCOLNS AND ZENITHS PLAY TIE HOCKEY GAME.

The Lincolns and the Zenith Juniors played a fast but scrappy hockey game Sunday at the Lincoln park rink, in which the score resulted in a tie, each team claiming a goal. The two teams will line up next Sunday again.

This was the Lincoln's first hockey game and also some of the players first real hockey contest.

The lineup:

Lincolns.		Zenith Jrs.

OFFICERS MAKE MANY ARRESTS

Fifty Men Were Enjoying Cock Fight in Newark Building Basement.

Newark, Ohio, Jan. 15.—Forty-nine persons were arested in a basement where a cocking main was in progress. About forty birds were getting down to the preliminaries when the officers arrived. Only one patrol wagon was available and when a dozen prisoners had been loaded into it, the others were marched overland a distance of two miles in near zero weather to jail. The institution being already filled with prisoners, police court was convened immediately and all the defendants confessed and were fined $17.50 each.

POLISH WRESTLER HERE.

Karol Weinierski Seeks Private Match With Fred Pilakoff.

Karol Weinierski, a burly Polish heavyweight wrestler is in the city looking for a match. He wants to meet Pilakoff and was rather disappointed when informed of the "in bad" state of the Lion. The Pole declared that he would like to arrange a meeting in private with the Finn, stating that he would deposit a substantial side bet. Weinierski claims that he has wrestled Zbyszko in his native land and some of the good men in this country. He was born in Krakow and speaks the English language imperfectly. The Pole says that if he can defeat Pilakoff in private he has been promised a meeting with Ordemann.

IMPROVEMENTS WIN FROM MAROON HOCKEY TEAM.

The Improvement Hockey club, but reecntly organized, yesterday defeated the Maroons by the score of 2 to 0. The game was played at the Fortieth avenue west grounds and was one of the best contests played this season between the smaller teams of the city. The defense work of the Improvement team was great and several times scores were prevented by some clever blocking. Al Lundquist scored the first goal in the first half and Wicklund scored the final goal in the second period.

The lineup:

DULUTH WINS THE TROPHY

Deciding Match Goes to Duluthians By 45 to 41 Score.

The Manley-McLennan curling trophy will be the property of the Duluth Curling club for the next year. Saturday night the local rinks defeated the Superior curlers in the final game for possession of the trophy, winning by the close score of 45 to 41. Duluth came out with the largest score, despite the fact that Superior won twenty-eight of the forty-eight ends.

A large crowd viewed the final struggle for the 1912 series. The result was so uncertain that the crowd was kept in a state of doubt right up to the last moment.

Bradley defeated D. C. Gates, and J. S. Gates in turn defeated Jacobi of Duluth. A. K. Smith of Superior lost to Ron McLeod, and H. I. Russell of Superior lost out after a hard-fought contest with Billy Dinham. All of the four games were closely fought.

Following is the result:

Ski Record Broken.

Arcadia, Wis., Jan. 15.—Lars Haugen of Chippewa Falls, by jumping 126 feet in the long jump at the ski tournament here yesterday, broke the record on the local hill. Emar Lund of Chippewa Falls made a running jump of 126 feet and Dollan Hammersfed of the same place made 112 feet. Ten professionals and two amateurs participated in the tournament.

WILL SAFEGUARD SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Inspectors representing the state labor bureau will within the next ten days examine the machinery that is in use in manual training schools in Duluth, the Twin Cities, Winona, Mankato and various other Minnesota cities, with a view to ascertaining whether proper safeguards are employed. The results of the examination will be tabulated, and a conference of superintendents and teachers of manual training schools of all parts of the state will be called, to be held some time in February. While the state labor bureau has no authority over the public schools, it is expected that those in charge of the manual training work in the schools will be influenced by what the inspectors report and recommend.

Walter M. Evered, one of the Duluth school directors, remarked today that the machines in use in manual training in the schools of this city are all properly safeguarded. Mr. Evered is president of the National iron works, and is himself a practical machinist.

MISSOURI DEMOCRATS MEET AT JOPLIN FEB. 20.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 15.—The Democratic state convention will be held at Joplin, Feb. 20. Delegates for the national convention will be selected.

The time of holding the convention is considered a victory by the adherents of Speaker Champ Clark. The admirers of former Governor Joseph W. Folk claimed a victory when the committee decided to hold the convention in Joplin. Both Clark and Folk are contending for the Missouri endorsement as presidential candidates.

OWSLEY HEIRS WILL APPEAL.

W. E. Boeing of Seattle and Mrs. Caroline D. Poole of Detroit, heirs of the famous Owsley estate, will appeal from the findings of Judge Gilpin of the local probate court and the action will be carried to the supreme court.

This has been intimated by P. V. Giroux of Seattle, who is in the city looking after the interest of the heirs, other than Dr. Owsley.

When the widow of the late Wilhelm Boeing remarried Dr. Owsley, she was in possession of a vast fortune. When she died, it was found that her will left the second husband $35,000 and a yearly allowance of $10,000. He contested the will and Judge Gilpin of the county probate court upheld him in his contentions that he was entitled to a third interest in the fortune.

Some Sidelights on the Biggest and Best Bonspiel Ever Held in Duluth

GRAND OLD MAN OF GAME

J. H. Wells of Portage Has Been Curling for Forty Years.

Historic Contest With W. F. Payne of Winnipeg Fought Over Again.

J. H. Wells of Portage, Wis., is the most interesting figure at the Northwestern bonspiel which began this morning at the rink of the Duluth Curling club.

For more than forty years Mr. Wells has been an ardent devotee of the game. During the forty years he has made a name as a curler for himself in all the cities of the Northern part of the country where curling is recognized as one of the foremost of the winter sports.

There was an interesting moment this morning when Mr. Wells and W. F. Payne of Winnipeg met, for twenty-three years ago this winter the men met in the international event at Winnipeg, the American winning by one point made on his last shot.

They remembered one another, although they have never met since the game in '89. The old game was gone over from beginning to end. Mr. Payne was but a young player at that time, although he had already won distinction for himself as one of the best of the Canadian curlers. He played third for one of the most famous skips of the time.

The Wells rink had won fame at Toronto, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, and in fact at all places where curling was popular.

The men were the center attraction at Winnipeg as they were the only Americans present. But one game was lost by the rink during the entire 'spiel.

In telling of the game this morning Mr. Payne said: "It was the greatest contest of the time. The rink was lined with spectators and the interest was intense. We played eighteen heads in those days. On the eighteenth head we were laying one and it was well guarded. Wells had the last shot. The ice was sticky, being covered in places with water. Many were the comments such as "he can't do it," "you bet he can," as he walked down the rink for his final shot. It took the veteran ten minutes to figure out which turn to take, how much ice to use, the amount of speed necessary, and when he finally did turn the stone loose. it ended by reposing nicely against the button stone and "lay shot."

The International.

The International event was some event those days. It was the real event of the bonspiel. The Canadian rink was picked from the cream of the Canadian curlers. A council met and chose the men who were to defend their country against Wells and his Americans.

The old rink had traveled all over the United States playing clubs in every part of the country. They met with great success and had a name nation wide. They were in demand at all 'spiels. People were anxious to see the famous rink that had won a whole trunk full of medals.

Mr. Wells is a hotel keeper at Portage and he still has the International trophy he won in 1889 at Winnipeg. He wears on his watch chain a medal given him at the time.

The rink actually did win a trunkful of medals. They were divided years ago between the members. But one member of the rink is dead.

Just because this game was played ever so long ago and Mr. Wells had such a wide reputation even before the game, does not mean that he is a worn out curler today.

Far from being that he is skipping a rink from Portage that is liable to be heard from before the present 'spiel is over.

John A. Raus, J. C. Leisch and H. J. Slowy are the other members of the rink. They are all seasoned curlers. They were drawn for their first game this afternoon in the Duluth Curling club event.

100 MEN DRIFT TO DEATH ON ICE FLOE.

Astrakhan, Russia, Jan. 15.—By the breaking away of an ice floe 109 fishermen have been driven out to sea in the neighborhood of the village of Ganjusceiau. It is believed that they have all been drowned in the Caspian sea.

Bottineau Sells Drainage Bonds.

Bottineau, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bottineau county has disposed of $100,000 drainage bonds, the proceeds to be used in carrying on extensive drainage work in the basin of the Mouse river.

Two North Dakota counties are bearing the expense of the drainage work, which contemplated the restoration to cultivation of many thousands of acres of bottom lands in Bottineau and McHenry counties.

SOME BITS OF HEATHER

"Smithie" is here.

He is in Duluth for the annual 'spiel with the Winnipeg "Thistles." He says he's in good form and he hopes to take home some jewelry.

Mr. Smith is playing second for George Neil, who was in Duluth for the bonspiel two years ago and made a fine record. Mr. Campbell is another member of the rink. He is in the furnace business and he left Winnipeg in charge of the weather man.

Ed. Rochon of Winnipeg, another prominent Scot, is here to cut a caper in local curling circles. Ed has the reputation of always being in at the finish. He is an old Fort William man and besides curling he likes race horses. He is owner of "The Broncho," the famous horse which has, in the vulgar terms of the street, "copped the coin" on many an occasion.

W. G. White, who dispenses men's furnishings to Winnipeg remittance men as a sideline to curling, is playing lead for Rochon and J. E. Evan is playing second. Frank Cassidy, the skip of the famous "Cassidy Kids," is playing third. This rink looks good for a package of trophies.

Rochon moved from Winnipeg to Vancouver about a year ago but he couldn't stand it to be away from the old associations and he came back for the winter and curling. This rink is one of the Thistle club representatives.

Two Granite club rinks are here from Winnipeg. The skips of both rinks are sons of famous curlers. Charles Kelley, son of Thomas Kelley, one of the most prominent of the Canadian curlers of his day, is on a quiet quest for jewelry and C. C. Chisholm, a son of James Chisholm, well known in Canadian curling, is here for the same purpose. James Chisholm was a pioneer resident of Superior and started curling in that city years ago. He was one of the charter members of the old Superior rink.

Eight politicians are here from Phillips, Wis., and they are negotiating for a trophy or two. Edward Hewitt is sheriff, B. C. Alm is register of deeds and W. R. Parkinson is county attorney. What? The other curlers say they ought to rule that bunch out.

W. K. Parkinson will be assisted in his attempt to lift a trophy or two by Joe Kolar, just an ordinary "cit," B. C. Alm, and G. B. Reedal, mostly a curler but now and then a banker. Mr. Reedal skipped his own rink last winter and made a fine record.

Sheriff Hewitt will lead for A. E. Krauth, a curler by right of choice and in between, August Maderisch and Carl Scheel will try to lay a few. Krauth measures ribbon in his own store when he isn't at the Phillips Curling club and Scheel makes and smokes cigars for his own pleasure and satisfaction.

The lunch counter got going good this morning and many a cold and hungry but enthusiatic Scot praised the steaming coffee that the white tops served over the counter. There is pie and "sinkers," and sandwiches, and lots of other things that go naturally with curling.

The souvenir pins this year are beauties. The design is fashioned after an idea by President F. W. Hargreaves and he is receiving many complimentary remarks on the result They are without doubt the most pleasing of any used in some years. Spread over white enamel is a spray of thistle. In the center is a cluster of brooms and a curling stone with the initials of the Northwestern bonspiel in gold. On blue toward the bottom is printed "Bonspiel, Duluth, 1912."

L. J. Tucker and his braves from Pardeeville, Wis., are back on the job this year clad in the now famous gray flannel mackinaws.

With Mr. Tucker is George Heath (retired farmer and capitalist), Frank Baillies, a pitcher on the Winona baseball team, who keeps his arm in trim during the winter by curling, and J. H. Donley, who is said to be better at almost anything else than curling. This last statement was made by Mr. Dooley himself. Local curlers are not taking his word for it, however.

Last year Mr. Tucker and the members of his curling clan, ran Bob Dunbar a close second at the Duluth 'spiel. The outfit from Pardeeville won sixteen out of nineteen games played. They won the Western Curling club event and the International. They played off in the finals of three events. They won fifteen straight games. Some record, eh?

Besides being a good curler Mr. Tucker is fond of posing for his picture. It needed only two other burly Scots and one small newspaper reporter to have him protesting, biting and kicking, in front of the camera. With all this, Tucker is prominent enough but we can't stop until we say that he is president of the Wisconsin Curling association and—a good one, at that.

J. T. Haig of the Strathcona club of Winnipeg, succeeded in getting his players safely to Duluth this morning.

Grey who manufactures sash and doors during spare time, is playing third on this aggregation. W. McClung, whose distinction lies in the fact that he is the husband of a famous Canadian authoress, shoots second and A. E. Moore, who states that there is nothing interesting about him, usually starts the game.

This is Mr. Haig's regular "at home" rink. They all had curling born in them and they expect to do as well in Duluth as they do in Winnipeg.

Haig and Don Morrison are in the finals of the Mathews' event at "Peg" and it has been suggested that they reserve an ice and fight it out here for the benefit of the Duluth men.

Don Morrison, a former Duluth Man, besides bringing his rink to Duluth, brought Mrs. Morrison. It is stated at the rink that Mrs. Morrison insisted on coming. Mr. Morrison got all the other Canadians "in wrong" by bringing Mrs. Morrison, it is stated. A lot of Winnipeg wives are asking their mournful faced husbands "why." It is a dangerous precedent, to say the least.

Anyway, Morrison is "in our midst" and he expects to make a cleaning. S. H. Mitchell plays second for him and W. F. Payne who edits news on the Winnipeg Free Press when he has nothing else to do, is third man. Mr. Payne is here mostly for legitimate curling purposes but will send his paper some data on the 'spiel from time to time if he happens to think of it.

James McDiarmid, who enjoys the distinction (on the square) of being the champion curler of the world, is here to curl for fun and trophies. Mr. McDiarmid made the trip to Scotland a year ago and made a great record. He cleaned all the Scots on the other side who cared to take a chance and then a bunch of curlers in Switzerland thought they could get his goat. Mr. McDairmid has Don Morrison, Jr., a and by defeating them won the championship of the world. A match game between him and Bob Dunbar might prove interesting if it could be pulled off at the present 'spiel.

McDalmid has Don Morrison, Jr., a son of Don Morrison of Winnipeg, leading. G. Dingle is second and J. A. Martin, third. Mr. Martin is secretary of the Strathcona club.

Col. O'Grady, skip of the famous O'Grady Assiniboines, was detained at the last minute and was unable to come to Duluth. The rink is here, however, and will be skipped by Dr. V. Williams. There are two O'Gradys on the rink, both sons of Col. O'Grady. This is said to be the "classiest" rink at the 'spiel.

The Civic club of Winnipeg is also represented. This club is composed of the employes of the city. The city furnishes them their building. The rink is skipped by Byde Hallock, who has a record of a 17 to 0 defeat over one of the Granite club skips.

Oh, look who's here! Oh, you Daily Democrat! Ye Editor Hal Rockwood of Portage, Wis., who knows something about juggling scissors and paste pots, an original little act in two parts, is leading P. McDermott, Frank G. Klenert and Ed Bloomfield up and down the ice.

For twenty years Hal and Bloomfield have curled together. Bloomfield has always played third. He is said to know about as much about the game as Rockwood, but it pleases Rockwood to think that he is running the game.

Frank Klenert, an early day settler at Tower, Minn., but who now admits that he lives at Portage, plays second. P. McDermott is a merchant at Portage and seems to be glad of it.

Jimmie Myron will have a rival for vocal honors at the present 'spiel for William Kelm, a Portage skip; with a voice as rare as a day in June, is in Duluth for more than curling. Mr. Kelm is city attorney at Portage and he is said to be there on the after-dinner speech stuff. The whole Portage outfit will be sore if Kelm is not called on at the banquet Wednesday evening. Mr. Kelm says he will speak if invited.

H. B. Rogers, who plays second, was formerly the captain of the Wisconsin football team, captain of the basket ball team and captain of the baseball nine. A rather unique college record, eh what? He also took a little trip to Japan with his college nine and cleaned the Japs in several games.

J. A. Thomas of Cambria is playing third. Charles J. Kutzke, a hardware merchant of Cambria, is lead.

Down at Portage they are planning their annual bonspiel which begins on Feb. 5 and lasts until Feb. 10. It is the annual bonspiel of the Wisconsin Curling association. The Duluth and all other clubs are invited to send rinks.

The Portage club enjoys the distinction of being the second oldest curling club in the entire country. The club was organized in 1850, just two years after the first club was started at Milwaukee by Alexander Mitchell, the Milwaukee capitalist and banker, who it is claimed, did more to interest Americans in curling than any other individual.

JEFFREY FUND GROWS SLOWLY

An additional subscription of $1 for J. A. Jeffrey has been received by The Herald. That, added to $10 subscribed by N. J. Upham, is the nucleus of a fund which will be used to relieve the suffering of the unfortunate man.

Misfortune has dogged Mr. Jeffrey's footsteps. He was badly injured while fighting a fire at the ore docks and will always be a hopeless cripple. For some months he sold newspapers at the corner of Fifth avenue west and Superior street, but last week he slipped and fell, breaking one of his legs. He is thus cut off from all means of earning his own livelihood, at least for a long while.

In addition, Mrs. Jeffrey has tuberculosis and the family is in want. The Herald will receive and credit subscriptions to the fund. The cause is a worthy one and it is expected a substantial sum will be raised.

FLOCK TO FARGO FOR BIG MEETS

Poultry Show, Opening Event of Tri-State Gathering, Being Held.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—With hundreds of farmers already here and more coming on every train, the Tri-State Grain Growers' annual convention, which opens tomorrow, gives promise of the greatest attendance in the history of these meetings.

The poultry show opened today with a splendid exhibit. Besides this show and the grain growers' convention proper, there will be a big corn show, a home products show, a horticultural society meeting, a livestock association meeting, a farm managers' association meeting and special woman's day attractions for Thursday. These meetings are the greatest winter meetings held in the state. Tomorrow's program will be featured by addresses on good roads and other important topics of interest to agriculturists.

President Elliott of the Northern Pacific will deliver an address on Wednesday evening.

OBITUARY

Sister Eugenia Garver, widely known as a Catholic educator, is dead at St. Vincent's school in San Francisco, Cal.

Dr. Albion Barnard, oldest physician in Minneapolis, is dead. Dr. Barnard was a pioneer resident of Minnesota, having lived in Minneapolis and elsewhere in the state since 1854. He was 89 years old. He was a member of the Fort Ridgley relief expedition in 1862, going as a surgeon. After the war he was appointed physician to the Leech Lake Indians and held that position ten years. One son, Dr. M. Barnard of Evanston, Ill., survives.

Ryak Kooreman, a portrait painter who was for years the director of the Royal academy at Leyden, Netherlands, died in poverty, in penury, after an illness of several years at Berkeley, Cal.

NO ESCAPE IN KANSAS.

Kansas City Journal: A Kansas merchant who had just paid a fine because his vegetable display box was not six inches higher than the sidewalk, ventured the assertion that a man can't go from morning till night without breaking some Kansas law, no matter how careful he is. A hotel man thought he could and a wager was made, and the next day was set for the test.

"I'll win that bet, all right," said the hotel man, "I'll stay in bed all day tomorrow."

And he did, until just before dark when an inspector came along and arrested him for not having a nine-foot sheet on his bed.

THE COSTLIEST KITCHEN.

Tit Bits: Who keeps the costliest kitchen in the world? Not as one might imagine, the American millionaire, but the Shah of Persia. The utensils, fittings and furnishings of the Shah are said to be worth £530,000. Every saucepan is gilded inside, and the dishes appearing on his table are of solid gold, as well as the spoons, knives and forks, the handles of which are besides ornamented with precious stones. Moreover, the chef, in preparing dishes for the Shah's table, must use none but silver spoons and forks, and any dish on which he puts cold viands to keep them must be also of silver gilded inside. The Spanish royal kitchen is also an expensive establishment. The saucepans in which the food for the royal table is prepared are said to be worth £12,000, while the value of the cooking utensils used for the royal children is put at £8,000, every saucepan being inlaid with gold, on the ground of this being necessary for the children's health.

TRAINS CHARGED BY BUFFALOES.

Outing: In pioneer days the railroads crossing the plains were often delayed for many hours by buffaloes. Sometimes they caused more serious trouble. In 1871 and 1872 trains on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad were charged by the enraged beasts, cars were derailed and overturned and the lives of train crews and passengers endangered.

Many tales of hairbreadth escapes were related by small parties of soldiers, frontiersmen and emigrants, and it is altogether possible that many an emigrant wagon with its occupants that left the Missouri river and was never seen again was overwhelmed by the buffaloes rather than wiped out of existence by the Indians, to whom all unexplained disappearances were attributed.

Large buffalo bulls weighed 2,000 pounds or more and cows weighed in the neighborhood of 1,200 pounds. Herds numbering many thousands were really irresistible, and in a stampede carried all before them.

WILL RUSH WORK ON DRAWBRIDGE

American Bridge Company to Complete Structure By April 1.

Work on the drawbridge at Grassy Point will be resumed this wek. A small crew of men worked on the bridge for a few weeks, but was compelled to abandon further work on account of the extreme cold weather. The American Bridge company, which has the contract, plans to have the bridge ready for navigation in the spring.

The intention of the company to put a double shift on the work is pleasing news to the residents of West Duluth, who have been deprived of the regular passenger service over the Northern Pacific road. Only one train a day has been running through West Duluth since the bridge partly burned last fall, the regular schedule calling for two trains. An official of the railroad stated this morning that he expected the bridge to be completed and ready for the train service through West Duluth by April 1.

The approaches to the draw are being repaired and new piling is being put in. The preliminary work on the center pier has been practically completed, only the steel work remaining. Most of the steel has already arrived and the remaining sections are expected within a few days.

FINDS MISSING SON IN DENVER

West Duluthian Aided in Search By Lucky Accident.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 15.—A missent telegram last night was the means by which Carl Greve, aged 70 of Duluth, Minn., found his son, Fred Greve, who left his home two months ago, because, he said tonight, it was so cold there.

The elder Greve had just remarked to Edward Marsh, proprietor of a downtown hotel, that he would spend $75,000 to find his boy, when a telegram from Edward Greve, another son, in questioning the proprietor of a rival hostelry across the street about the possible whereabouts of the missing brother, was by error delivered to Marsh. Greve crossed the street and found his son in a room suffering from an affection of the lungs.

GROCERY STOCK IS DAMAGED BY FIRE.

Two fires Saturday evening did about $1,300 damage to a residence at West Duluth and a grocery store at New Duluth. The fire at New Duluth did about $1,000 damage to the building and stock of C. O. Bergquist, late in the evening. The cause of the fire is unknown and the blaze had gained considerable headway before it was discovered. Mr. Bergquist was moving his stock to the new Becklinger block and about two thirds of it that was still in the old building was damaged by either smoke or water.

The fire at West Duluth occurred at the home of Thomas Langdon, 5814 Elinor street. It was discovered by the family when they returned after a short absence. The department was called and the fire was put out with little damage.

WEST DULUTH RINKS AT BIG BONSPIEL.

COLD PREVENTS CHURCH SERVICES.

Services at the Merritt Memorial M. E. church, Forty-sixth avenue west and Halifax street, were prevented yesterday on account of the frozen and bursted water pipes. The furnace was entirely out of commission on account of the cold weather. Plumbers are at work in the church and services will be held as usual next Sunday.

SPEAKERS PREACH PARTY SOLIDARITY.

Party unanimity in the coming election was advocated by the various speakers at the special meeting of the West Duluth Republican club held in the Commercial club rooms Saturday evening. Supporters of the proposed amendments asked the help of the voters at the coming election and talks were also given by the various candidates for office. A short discussion of the bond issue for a municipal lighting plant was held after the progrom of addresses.

The members deferred action on the naming of precinct committeemen until the meeting to be held next Saturday evening. Among the speakers Saturday vening were: Emil J. Zauft, candidate for alderman in the Eighth ward; Clement De Roach, candidate in the Seventh; A. J. Meldahl, F. C. Warren, J. P. Morgan, W. B. Henderson, Roy Hood, County Commissioner Cummings, Charles Rossiter and L. A. Barnes.

TWO HARBORS FIRE HAS BEEN CHECKED

Clifton Hotel and Building in Rear Destroyed; One Life Lost.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—At 2 p. m. the danger of the fire that destroyed the Clifton hotel, a two-story frame building at the west end of Main street about noon today, and a frame house in the rear, setting fire to other property, has been passed. The fire is under control and the firemen do not anticipate any more property will catch. The fire-fighters had a hard time of it because of cold and poor pressure.

Find Victim's Body.

The body of Amy Anderson, who was suffocated by smoke, was recovered from the ruins of the hotel this afternoon. It is not believed any other lives were lost. She had apparently been trapped in an upper room. The girl was about 19 and the daughter of a farmer living about a mile and a half from town. Only the walls of the Clifton hotel are standing while the dwelling in the rear that also took fire was gutted. Both belonged to J. H. Delany and the total loss is probably close to $8,000, partially insured.

It is believed the fire caught from the heating apparatus. A man by the name of Soderstrom had been running the hotel for about two weeks. It was chiefly patronized by railroad employes who were at work when the fire broke out. Few of the occupants of the place saved any of their effects. Several days ago the hotel had a small fire, which was quickly extinguished.

Verdict For Government.

A jury in the United States district court Saturday afternoon brought in a verdict of $982.81 for the government in an action brought against William Grakela of Hibbing to recover for timber alleged to have been cut and removed from government lands. The government, in its complaint, set the value of the timber at $1,576.69, but the jury cut it down. The land involved was a homestead fifteen miles from Hibbing, on which Grakela had filed, but had never established a bona fide settlement.

Joint Installation.

The Sons of Veterans and the auxiliary order will hold their annual joint installation of officers Wednesday evening at the Memorial hall. A dinner will be served to the members at 6:30 o'clock which will be followed by the installation and a special program of music and addresses. W. E. McEwen will be the principal speaker of the evening.

Famous English Stage Beauty Will Wed Man of Wealth and Social Position

MISS GABRIELLE RAY.

The last of England's stage beauties is about to be married. She is Gabrielle Ray. She has long been recognized as the prettiest of a half dozen stage beauties, much admired by the London Johnnies. All of the others made notable matches, most of them marrying titles. Miss Ray will marry Eric Leder, son of the late Alfred Leder and nephew of Maj. Eustace Leder, well known to the English turf. Mr. Leder has a good social position and wealth.

Late Curling Scores.

REX BEACH'S LITERARY LIFE.

Rex Beach looks the part of champion water polo player of the world. His appearance recalls Al Hughes' astonishment when he learned that the biggest man he'd ever taken in his dog stage from Skagway to Dawson was a writer—not only the biggest man, but the most artistic fighter, for Hughes stayed over at Dawson after that trip in the dead of winter long enough to note how easily Mr. Beach cleared the landscape of people who made needless trouble, says the New York Sun.

It improved Mr. Hughes' opinion of authors to discover that they could have muscle and short hair, and he has never forgotten to grieve over Mr. Beach's loss of the two claims he staked out near Dawson. They turned out to be two of the richest claims in the Yukon. But there is a story that had he not lost those claims he might never have written "The Spoilers" and so would not have turned out to be one of America's successful writers.

When seen in his lakeside home Mr. Beach is so quiet and sneaks in such low, even tones that the background of adventure in his life is difficult to realize. There are many authorities for the statement that his reputation in Alaska is of the highest. That is, he was never regarded as a tenderfoot, but was received as an equal by the seasoned frontiersmen.

Though the driver of the Skagway-Dawson dog stage is inclined to deny that Mr. Beach can have rivals in anything, even in the matter of literary style and popularity, he knows positively that no author can show so enviable a record as explorer and pioneer. It was in 1897 that Mr. Beach first went to Alaska, where he spent five years. He returned to the states and went to Chicago. He was broke and looking for a job. A man he knew showed him a batch of stories he had just sold to a poultry magazine. He had received $10 apiece for them.

"It struck me," said Mr. Beach, "that if a man could get $10 for just writing I'd write, too. I sat down and wrote a bunch of short stories.

"They were chiefly stories I'd heard friends of mine tell, experiences I'd had vicariously, as it were. They were there in the background of my mind and when I began to write they just came out spontaneously.

"I sent my stories around to the magazines in about three weeks after I'd sent it out McClure's bought 'The Cowboy and the Colonel.' It was a story I'd heard some one I knew tell. Its scene was laid in a country I'd never visited, the Southwest.

"I sold all those stories and my success led me to wish to learn how to write short stories according to the best models. The stories I wrote as a result of study I, of course, had a hard time selling. When one tries to be Kiplingesque one is apt to fail.

"Moreover, a short story that is told spontaneously, because it just bubbles up out of your mind, is pretty sure to be good. A story that's worked over loses its life."

Mr. Beach is said to receive an income of $50,000 a year or more from his writings. He is one of the two or three authors who receive $15,000 for the serial rights of a novel. For his latest serial, the title of which he has not yet decided upon, he is to receive this amount. It is a 100,000 word story.

Robert W. Chambers is said to receive the same sum for the serial rights of his novels. The serial rights of his book "The Common Law" are known to have been purchased at this price. Jack London and Richard Harding Davis are in the same high priced class of story tellers.

About eight years ago Mr. Beach received $50 for practically the first short story he ever wrote. This was "The Cowboy and the Colonel." He now receives $1,000 for a short story as well as for special magazine articles.

After the dollar and a half editions of his books are exhausted a 50-cent edition is brought out. On this he gets 10 per cent. From the cheap edition of "The Spoilers" he cleared $25,000. But, as he himself points out, he is still making money from "The Spoilers," and it was, according to his own statement, the least successful of his books.

The bulk sale of "The Spoilers" was 300,000 copies. The returns from Mr. Beach's next book, "The Barrier," showed that it was even more popular than "The Spoilers." "The Silver Hoard" gained on "The Barrier," and now Mr. Beach says that his "Ne'er-do-Well" promises to be more successful than any of its predecessors.

Like all the successful authors of the day, Mr. Beach does not stop with selling his stories once. He sells their serial rights. Then the book editions appear and he gets royalties on them. He turns the books into plays, and these turn still more royalties into his pocket.

Mr. Beach says that some writers desire to make money in order that they may get away from writing. To such people writing is purely a business, a means of obtaining a living, luxuries, and finally leisure. They write from no need of self-expression, desire, or to protray or interpret life. In his own case he feels that the effect of a good income has been to lessen his output in order that he may do more careful work.

During the eight years of his literary activity he has written six novels, about fifty short stories and one newspaper article, besides a few special magazine articles.

His newspaper article was a description of the prizefight last year at Reno. This he did for a syndicate. Although he receives as much money for a special magazine article as for a short story, he does not like writing articles. He prefers telling stories. On the other hand, he finds writing hard work.

"When I was writing 'The Spoilers,'" he confesses, "I thought I should never be able to write another book. It seemed to me I was writing myself out; that I should have nothing more to say. But before I had completely finished it the idea for 'The Barrier' came to me.

"It is always so with me. Every time I write a book I think for a while that it's my last, but invariably before I finish it ideas for other books and stories come to me.

"The way to become a writer is of course to get in and write. There are special rules about it. A course in fiction writing migh help. It might save time. It would teach one what to avoid. Very likely it would help the writer to short cuts.

"When a man is in a normal condition he cannot write. When you're writing you're out of yourself. You become absorbed in the characters, the situations, the life you are depicting. You forget everything else.

"You don't know just how you do it. The story you're telling seems to be working itself out partly through the subconscious mind. It grips you, it carries you along. The point I wish to make is, you can't consciously tell just how you develop the characters, just how you relate them and work out your plot. You're not exactly in a state of frenzy. I should not say that; but you're in a state different from your real, everyday self.

"No man can write better under adverse circumstances. He does better work under pressure. When he's working in the city, with trolley cars buzzing, with the traffic of the streets roaring at his ears, with people talking all about him, and with all sorts of interruptions breaking in on him, then he concentrates and gets right down and does good writing.

"The man who battles with ill health and with poverty and all sorts of anxieties, who perhaps gets only a very little time to use for his writing, is the man who'll write well.

"Poverty is the greatest thing in the world. If I hadn't been hard up I should probably never have written a line. At least, I should never have stuck to it. Poverty is a goad. It makes people do things. It develops them.

"Poverty is not only good for people, it's good for nations. As soon as a nation gets too wealthy it begins to go to pieces. It's America's excessive wealth that is causing its bad business conditions, its graft, its politics and all that. Yes, America's overrich and is beginning to draw near the end of her greatest period.

"When America was poor, in the older times, you did not hear of the graft and crime that you hear of now. Poverty is a sane condition that causes men to struggle upward.

"When a man's out in the country where he is undisturbed and everything is so quiet that if a dog barks in the night and wakes him up he wants to go out and commit murder, he can't write. Then he thinks conditions are most favorable to work he'll find he can't do a thing.

"The best indication of a man's promise as a writer is his letters. If he's a good letter writer he's likely to succeed as an author. If he warms up over the writing of a letter and expands, if he enjoys writing it, there's an indication that he has talent.

"I know I always liked to write letters. I'd get started in on a letter and I'd be carried away by it. By the time I had finished I had written quite a good deal."

In discussing the way in which writers get material for their stories Mr. Beach said he thought the writer who put himself and his own personal experiences directly into his books was weak and limited. He qualified this by adding:

"At least such a writer must take a very romantic view of himself and his life. The things that really happen to you are not usually of the sort to be interesting in fiction if told just as they happened.

"The incidents in my life might be interesting material for some other writer to use, but they might have a light on them that would make them interesting for fiction; but they would not be interesting for me to use for my stories.

"When I wrote 'The Spoilers' I had just passed through an experience that had made a deep impression on me. I was at an age when impressions sink in deep. "The Spoilers" is historical. It is a historical frame-work on which the story is hung. But I myself am not in the book.

"Though a man does not put himself directly into his writings, in a subtle way, he puts himself into everything he writes. This is the reason, I think, why people don't read their own stuff. At least I don't like to read mine.

"It is difficult to explain just how a man finds himself in his own books. It is not that he puts himself in deliberately. But when he reads his own works he continually meets his own point of view in everything. He may portray a variety of characters and incidents, yet he always finds that there is a certain something in the doing of it that he recognizes as himself."

Mr. Beach has a great admiration for W. D. Howells. "He has something back of him that we younger fellows have not. He stands for something that is really literary, whereas we other fellows merely tell stories in a simple and direct way."

Although Mr. Beach places Mr. Howells in a class by himself among American writers, he admits that he is unable to read the books of the editor of "The Easy Chair." He is not, after all, in sympathy with the kind of story that is a fragment of real life without plot and color, and he thinks that the high prices Mr. Howells commands for his stories are due rather to reputation than to a large audience.

"If Robert W. Chambers and W. D. Howells both published a serial at the same time," he said, "with an equal amount of advertising, more people would read Mr. Chambers' story.

"I like Mr. Chambers' writing very much. He accomplishes difficult things. It is easier, for instance, to describe a blizzard or a cave man than to describe a sunset or a bride at a wedding. Chambers succeeds in writing about the finer things.

"I have been reading Marion Crawford of late. I think those older writers did work that most of us younger ones cannot do. I envy Crawford his ability to philosophize. It interests me greatly to read him, for he has the delightful art of taking a man's mind into the bypaths of thought."

Mr. Beach was born in Michigan and brought up in Florida. He was destined for the law. "Though you'd never know," he remarks, "from anything I've ever done that I had studied law."

IF TROOPS HAD TO BE RUSHED

"Let us suppose it became necessary to send the entire National Guard of New York out of the state, how long would it take the railroads to handle them?" a representative of the Railroad Man's Magazine asked a high railroad official in New York a few weeks ago.

"Twenty-four hours, easy!" was the instant reply. "This is under war conditions, remember, which means that everything gives way to the movement of troops and their equipment. The railroads of America can handle men and war material of all kinds, including everything from horses and men to cannon and rations, much faster than they can be assembled and delivered to us.

"In fact, under war conditions the railroads are prepared to do their part quicker and better, with more certainty and better speed, than any other part of the machinery, commercial or military, in America.

Take the New York Central lines as an example. By sidetracking all commercial business and using the railroad temporarily as an engine of war, this road alone can move 10,000 men every hour of the day and night in almost any direction within the state. This means fully 250,000 men and their temporary supplies every twenty-four hours, a mighty army in itself.

Considering that it would take at least one month for the government to assemble, drill, arm, clothe and feed such an army before it would be in shape even to put on a railroad train, to say nothing of putting it into the field, the fact that one railroad alone could take this army beyond the state lines within one day and one night shows where the American railroad stands if called upon to move troops under actual war conditions.

The recent movement to Texas or during the Spanish-American war was under urgent military conditions. The troops trains were sandwiched between commercial trains—passengers, freight, express and mail trains running on regular schedules in all directions—and this condition is much harder on the railroad man and the soldier than it would be to handle a hundred times more troops and military supplies under actual military necessity.

One railroad official, when asked what could be accomplished if it became necessary to rush troops from all over the country to the Pacific coast, said:

"I think we could put 10,000 men an hour, fully equipped for a week or two on the coast. That means 250,000 men a day scattered from Seattle to San Diego.

"To accomplish this the government would use the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific, the Oregon Short Line, the new St. Paul line, the O. R. N., the Union Pacific, the Gould system, the Southern Pacific, the Salt Lake route and the Santa Fe, all as one system, sending loaded cars West on one line and running East, empty, on another.

"It would mean the suspension of all mail trains and leaving some towns on the way a little short of coal and maybe of food for a week or so. Peace conditions and war conditions are vastly different, and if these towns could not exist under war conditions, then the inhabitants would have to move elsewhere.

"The government would have a pretty bill to pay later; but that is quite another story. Your question was that the railroads could do in the way of moving an army if they had to regardless of cost, and that is just what war means."

"Speaking of moving people," said another traffic official, "the New York Central or the Peinsylvania could move the entire population of Chicago, man, woman and child, allowing a 100 pound trunk for each one at that. Either road alone could transport the entire population of Chicago to New York in less than two weeks.

"All the railroads between New York and Chicago, operating together, could transport Chicago's whole population to New York in at least two days, and I think in even less time if we had authority to handle out trans as we liked. Under war conditions the railroads could easily dump New York city on the Pacific coast in one month with no trouble at all.

"If the railroads of this country cannot carry 4,000,000 persons from coast to coast in one month under military necessity I'll take a contract to eat the railroads. Let them trot out any old war they want to, the railroads are ready to handle all the men and supplies the nation can hand them.

"All laws, such as those about watering stock, block signs, car demurrage, mixed trains, hours of service; in fact, all civil laws vanish when martial law comes into play. The mess could be thrashed out later by the interstate commerce commission, the courts and congress, but that does not touch the railroad end of the matter. We would get our government orders to move troops, powder, horses and rations, and we'd move 'em!

"When a train was once made up, whether it was in New York, Boston, Chicago, Vicksburg or Salt Lake City, it would not stop except to change engines until it reached the Pacific coast.

"On the Eastern lines, probably as far west as the Missouri river, the average running time could easily be twenty miles an hour. We might soon increase it to thirty miles an hour on some of the best pieces of road. West of the Missouri river the time would probably be slower—say from ten to fifteen miles an hour—although we might possibly work it up to even twenty miles an hour, but this is unlikely.

"However, one is safe in saying that the troop trains would average fifteen or twenty miles an hour from starting point to the coast. Troops are moved best in mixed trains, say ten passenger coaches and ten freight cars to a train; or, say, about five passenger and five freight for faster running behind lighter engines.

"On a ten-car train we would put about sixty men to a car, say three companies and their equipment to a train. Cavalry would run, of course, more freight and less passenger to the train, because the horses and their feed take up more room. We might carry one company of cavalry to a train, that is 100 men and horses and their rations, for two weeks.

"Perhaps the same might be said for artillery, say the battery of six field guns, with the men, horses, ammunition and rations. We might even add a water tank if need be. The thousands of oil cars would do for such service. Might taste a little queer, but it would be only for a few days and would not necessarily be unhealthy. War is not a picnic, remember, and water is water at times.

"I saw the Illinois Central, the elevated and the surface cars of Chicago collect and deliver over 1,500,000 people between the city proper and the World's Fair grounds in less than twenty-four hours, and that was nearly eighteen years ago. Transportation facilities have increased greatly in the last two decades, and so great are the railroad facilities of this country that all the troops that the government could raise and equip could be moved in any direction and hardly interfere with commercial business."

THE SMALLEST REPUBLIC.

London Globe: The smallest republic in the world without contradiction is that of Tavolara, a little island situated about a dozen kilometers (seven and a half miles) from Sardinia. It is a little more than a mile in length and has a population of fifty-five. The sovereignty of the island was accorded in 1836 by King Charles Albert to the Bartoleoni family.

Up to 1862 Paul I reigned peaceably over the little island kingdom, but at his death the islanders proclaimed a republic. By the Constitution of the republic the president is elected for ten years and women exercise the franchise.

ARGENTINE BEAR NEWS

Cause of Slump in Wheat and Flax on American Markets.

Domestic Wheat Demand Dull—Larger Flax Receipts Expected.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 15.—Bearish news from Buenos Ayres caused a slump in both wheat and flax on the leading North American grain markets today. Duluth May wheat lost 1 cent from the close of last Saturday. January flax closed 2 cents down and May flax 2½ cents. Duluth cash wheat closed at the May price to ¼c under. Durum closed ½c up, oats ⅜c up, rye ½c up and barley and corn unchanged.

Wheat had a fairly steady decline on the North American markets during the morning. During the early part of the day, the movements were doubtful. News from Liverpool was bullish. There were reports of unfavorable Argentine weather and a continuance of the railroad strike. There were lighter world's shipments, especially from Russia and the Danube region. Moreover, there were few sellers of Platte and Canada parcels. Later in the day came news of lower wheat at Buenos Ayres, January opening 2c off and February ⅞c off. This quickly killed the effect of the bullish Argentine news that came earlier in the day, and wheat closed unchanged to ¼ lower.

These cables, together with receipts of wheat from the country considerably larger than those of a week ago, caused wheat to sag on the North American markets. Moreover, the demand for wheat was rather poor. Minneapolis reported the flour trade still quiet. Duluth May wheat, which closed Saturday at $1.05⅛@1.05⅛ asked, opened today at $1.05⅛ asked, and at noon was selling for $1.04⅝.

Flax Goes Lower.

Although January Buenos Ayres flax closed Saturday at an advance of 1⅝c, selling for $2.06⅜ this morning it opened at a decline of 4¼c. The effect on the Duluth market was naturally bearsih. There was little demand to sustain the prevailing high prices. Crushers were conservative in their orders. Buyers were not at all aggressive. Moreover, the milder weather and the general knowledge that country roads were in excellent condition for hauling, caused a general expectation that offers from the country would increase considerably in the near future. January flax on the Duluth market was ¾c down at noon today and May was 1¼c down.

FLAXSEED.

Nothwithstanding the intensely cold weather, which greatly reduced the offers of flaxseed on the Duluth market last week, the general tendency of the price of flaxseed has been bearish. The fall has been slight, however. The average of the closing prices of Duluth cash linseed for the week ending last Saturday is $217, against an average of $219 for the previous week. During the six weeks preceding last week, there was a general improved tendency in the price of flaxseed on account of bullish Argentine news. But last week the Argentine news was for the most part bearish and the Duluth prices declined in spite of the very light offerings. Last week Buenos Ayres January flax dropped nearly 8 cents a bushel. Such a decline would without doubt have had a far greater effect on the Duluth market than it did, had not the extremely cold weather so reduced the offerings.

The demand all through the week was very slack. Linseed oil manufacturers, especially those of the East, entertained steadily rising hopes that Argentine flax would get so cheap that American flax would have to sell far below its precent figure in the not very distant future. Hence, they held off in their purchases, buying for the most part only what they needed for immediate consumption. Moreover, the linseed oil trade was itself very dull, paint manufacturers being very light buyers. There has not been an active paint market of late. This condition was naturally a bearish factor on the linseed market.

On the whole, the linseed market of last week was very dull. There was no particular pressure to sell and no aggressive demand. Receipts and shipments were both comparatively low, as the tables show. The doings of the Duluth linseed market of last week are told in figures in the following tables:

Broomhall wired from Liverpool: Total world's shipments of breadstuffs, last week 7,584,000 bu, previous week 6,768,000 bu, last year 9,376,000 bu; corn last week 2,173,000 bu, previous week 642,000 bu, last year 5,247,000 bu.

"The Liverpool wheat market opened with offers light and support good, induced by the light world's shipments this week, especially from Russia and the Danube and prices were about ⅛d higher. Following the opening, there was a further advance of ⅛@¼d with shorts nervous. There was firm support in the distant months in Buenos Ayres, due to unfavorable crop conditions there, and the fact that the strike situation shows no signs of abatement is causing apprehension here. Arrivals at the ports show an inferior quality. There were few sellers of Platte and Canadian parcels and private reports state that Canadian reserves are mostly of very low grade. The market on the whole was dull but firm. At 1:30 p. m. prices were ⅛d to ¼d higher than Saturday.

"Corn, after opening ½d higher, further advanced ⅜d to ½d with the undertone very firm. There were very light shipments to the United Kingdom and the world's total was small. Shorts in January covered heavily with old spot 1½d higher and country markets both for American and Danubian at 6s to 9s advance. At mid-day the market was very firm and ½d to ⅝d higher. It was expected that there would be an early closing of navigation on the Danube."

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Is Weak as Result of Pressure in the Local Pit.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 15.—Pressure in the local pit caused Minneapolis to continue relatively weaker than outside markets. May closed 1⅛c lower than Saturday and July 1¼c lower. Trading in small volume, but more active than last week. Predicted warmer weather likely to increase receipts. Local elevator stocks decreased 65,000 bu for week.

Car lot receipts: Minneapolis, today, 459; weak ago, 281; year ago, 49; Duluth today, 12; week ago, 24; year ago, 25; Winnipeg, today, 120; week ago, 103; year ago, 19.

Cash wheat showed an easier undertone today. The milling demand for heavier offerings was indifferent. Bulk of No. 1 northern sold for even May price, with a few cars of extra choice going at ½c above.

Wheat—May opened $1.06⅛, high $1.06¼, low, $1.05@1.05¼, closed $1.05¼; July opened $1.06⅞, high $1.07@1.07⅛, low $1.05⅞, closed $1.05⅞.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Has Firm Tone on Lightness of World Shipments.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Lightness of world shipments gave the wheat market today a firm tone. Russian forwardings in particular were less than had been expected. Promises of more seasonable temperatures in the United States tended to restrain any undue enthusiasm on the part of the bulls. The opening was a shade to ⅛@¼c higher. May started at $1.00 to $1.00⅛, the same change from Saturday night as the market considered as a whole. After a reaction to 99⅞c, the price rallied to $1.00@$1.00⅛.

May corn opened a sixteenth to ⅛@¼c up at 64⅞ to-65c and rose to 65⅛@¼c up at 64⅞ to-65c and rose to 65⅜@¼c up at 64⅞ to-65c and rose to 65⅜@¼c up at 64⅞ to-65c and rose to 65⅜

CAMPAIGN IS WARMER

John Hogan Has Good Record for Two Terms as Alderman.

Just as soon as the cold spell broke, even though the break was short-lived, the city campaign began to show more spirit. R. E. Patterson's sensational attack on the water and light department and on City Attorney Bert Fesler at the meeting of the Fifth Ward Republican club Saturday evening added a little spice to the campaign and gave indications of warmth to come.

Dr. McCuen and Dr. Konkler also at the meeting of the Fifth ward Republicans Saturday evening, again asserting their intention to stand by the decision of the voters on the bond issue.

The Republicans have had more meetings and more speeches, but the Democrats have not been idle. They have been doing quite campaigning in all parts of the city and they say they are well satisfied with the outlook.

John Hogan, the Democratic candidate for re-election as alderman from the Fifth ward, is working hard to overcome Republican opposition. He has served two terms in the council and has some political enemies, but his record is such that he and his friends believe the people of the ward will retain him in the council.

Hogan's Record.

Mr. Hogan has lived in Duluth for twenty-four years and for nineteen years has been a resident of the Fifth ward. He also owns property in other parts of the city, so that he has a powerful incentive for being representative of the whole city as well as of the ward that elects him.

Mr. Hogan is completing his second term in the council. During the four years he has served, he was instrumental in obtaining the repaving of Michigan street from Eighth to Twelfth avenues west. Between $15,000 and $20,000 of the first collection of taxes under the new storm sewer and intersection provision of the city charter has been expended for storm sewers in the Fifth ward and Mr. Hogan claims part of the credit for that work. He worked with the park board for the public park between Eighth and Tenth avenues west on the lower side of Third street and that tract is now public property. He obtained a little park for Duluth Heights and has worked hard for the building of the Sundby road.

Almost continuously since he took his seat on the council, Mr. Hogan has been a member of the committee on streets, alleys and sidewalks and he has been of valuable service to the whole city as well as to his ward. His friends claim that his record entitles him to re-election and his long service has given him experience that will make him more valuable on the council than a new member could be.

CARGILL ELEVATOR CLAIMED BY FIRE

About 60,000 Bushels of Grain Ruined in North Dakota Blaze.

Langdon, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.) — The Cargill Elevator company's elevator here was destroyed by fire about 2:30 o'clock this morning, the origin of the blaze being unknown. There were 60,000 bushels of grain in the structure and the total loss above the salvage to be realized, will be about $35,000 or $40,000. The fire had a good start when discovered.

PROGRAM FOR WEEKLY "POP"

Musical Numbers to Be Followed By Volley Ball Game.

A special musical program of unusual merit has been arranged by Roy Flaaten and B. F. Higgins for the Tuesday night "pop" at the Y. M. C. A.

The program will be in two parts. The first part will consist of a musical program and the second part will be a championship volley ball game between the 40-year-old business men's class and the young men's class.

Among the special fatures of the musical program will be the violin solo by Lesli Moor. A piano quartet by Miss Ethl Molitor, Tess Booth, Lecarda Eliason and Lucille Albachten, will be an added feature. Miss Eleanor Kraft, and Georgia Evans, who have appeared in previous programs in violin duets, will play a selection on tomorrow night's program. Their playing is always popularly received.

The star number of the program will be the singing of Miss Thelma Larson. Miss Larson possesss a voice of unusual quality and her singing is well known in Duluth. She will appear for several numbers.

Harold White will play a 'cello solo and an orchestra of ten pieces will provide the orchestra music for the program.

The opposing teams of the volley ball game met in a former contest on New Year's day at which time the young men's class were the winners. The teams are very evenly matched and the contest will be a close one. Both sides are strengthened for tomorrow night's contest and the lovers of this new game will have an opportunity to see a splendid exhibition of this sort.

The young men's team will be captained by E. E. Hunner, and the 40-year-old class by H. W. Coffin. The complete lineup for the 40-year-old team has not been decided but their members will be chosen from the following list, L. C. Harris, S. E. Matter, W. C. Winton, C. H. Harding, W. N. Hart, F. A. Grawn, H. W. Coffin, G. H. Ebert, C. F. Coleman, W. O. Poehler, W. J. Olcott, Pentcost Mitchell.

The line-up for the young men's team is as follows: E. E. Hunner, E. A. Schultz, H. A. Westaway, H. H. Shewell, H. B. Detweiler, Thomas Gall, Mark Baldwin, R. G. Mace, Dr. A. G. Schulze.

Free tickets for tomorrow night's "pop" are being given away at the Y. M. C. A. and any who are unable to secure tickets before tomorrow night, may get tickets free at the door.

WRITER OF 59 NOVELS.

Amelia E. Barr is 79, has written fifty-nine novels and is still turning them out. She has had fifteen children. Perhaps the best known of her books, "The Bow of Orange Ribbon," was written when she was 55, had lost her husband, many of her children and when, according to Human Life, she was engaged to a hard fight to supply the rest of the family "with bread and boots."

She began as a newspaper woman and for several years she wrote nothing but potboilers, stories, poems or brief articles, according to the demands of her various editors.

Now she is credited with receiving the largest income of any American authoress. Despite her age two books a year still come from her pen besides numerous special articles for English and American publications.

Just now she is living at her home, Cherry Croft, at Cornwall-on-the Hudson, where, it will be remembered, she the other day had a severe fall, which, however, in spite of her age, did not have any very serious consequences.

Amelia Barr, "she that was Amelia Huddleston,' as they say in New England, was born in Lancastershire. She received the typical feminine education of those days; she was taught to play and and sing sentimental ballads, to paint landscapes and to make curtseys and her father's shirts. She read a good bit out of school, especially revelling in those banquets for the imagination, the Old Testament and the Arabian Nights.

When she was only 18 she made a visit to Edinburgh and fell in love with a young Scotch minister, Robert Barr. Within the year they married and came out to America. "If we had not gone," the lady confessed to the interviewer, "we should have been obliged to live with his relatives. And I didn't believe in that then, and I don't now."

Nevertheless coming over here in the middle of the last century was quite as daring a feat for an English country girl as a trip to Zululand would be at present. As a matter of fact the young couple did go directly to the the frontier for Galveston, Tex., where Mr. Barr took up a farm, was the never never country in those days. Indians prowled around the homestead of the immigrants; the pioneer Sam Houston became their closet friend.

There wasn't ever too much money, particularly during the difficult war times. But there was always plenty of romance, and today the woman of 79 confesses that she has never succeeded in writing a love story as interesting as her own.

Only the last chapter came tragically soon. In 1867 yellow fever appeared in Texas. Most of the white settlers fled before it, but the negroes and Indians had to stay and Mr. Barr and his family stayed to help them. He could give them medicine when they distrusted all other doctors. But he and his children contracted the fever. When the pestilence passed Mrs. Barr was a widow with only three daughters left out of all her family. She was also practically penniless.

She could not support herself and her babies in Texas. So she made another journey, this time to New York. There she began to work for Robert Bonner, editor of the New York Ledger. There began, too, all the usual struggles of the unevenly paid space writer. She remembered that she thought herself lucky in those days when a $10 bill made up her bank account.

Once the little apartment where she lived with her children was broken into by burglars and all the family silver she had brought from her Southern home was stolen. But the small sum of money she had in the house was untouched. She always kept her bank notes folded within her Bible, and New York burglars do not load themselves up with Bibles!

For fifteen years she devoted herself to literary hack work and her children, reading voraciously during what spare time she had. She took an alcove in the Astor library which was to serve her a good turn later. Finally when she 55 and her little girls had become women, she wrote her first novel, "Jan Vedder's Wife," during a period of confinement in her room with a broken ankle. "The Bow of Orange Ribbon" followed within the year, and her success as a writer of sentimental historical novels was assured.

"In spite of past troubles Mrs. Barr's is a happy face. There are wrinkles in it, to be sure, around the corners of eyes and mouth, but they're the wrinkles that come from smiling. Her eyes are blue and unfaded, with piquantly arched brows. Her hair, soft and white, curls frivolously under a bit of lace.

"she walks up and down stairs like a girl," says the interviewer, writing before Mrs. Barr's accident, "and herself acts as cicerone to the guests, whom she loves to welcome at her beautiful home in Cornwall. At the end of a winding two miles of uphill country road it stands, just opposite the mountain King. Many gabled, wide plazaed and surrounded with a glorious old fashioned unlandscaped garden it has a look of the English dower house, even as its mistress still keeps a twist of fine English distinctness in her speech.

"Upstairs in the tower opposite Storm King is her study, a nice bare little place with lots of windows and books and blisters of pen paper and ink. Not a typewriter, though she used to make one click merrily. Now she has gone back to a blunt pencil and a yellow pad, and the first draft of her manuscript is always clean enough for her publishers, as she scarcely changes a word after she has written it.

"Write? Of course she writes some four or six hours every morning. Sometimes she begins as early as 6 o'clock after a breakfast of a roll and a cup of coffee. After lunch she keeps the Southern siesta for a couple of hours. Then in the latter part of the afternoon she reads up for her next novel, she always has at least two on hand, one which she is writing, another for which she is gathering material. In the twilight she enjoys her music and after that comes dinner, which guests usually share with herself and the one daughter still living with her.

"If she's a bit unmodern in her dislike for what she calls 'cap and bell manners,' she is thoroughly up to date on one question, her belief in woman's suffrage. 'Women are out in the world, fighting the world's battles, and I think they should have all the weapons there are,' she told me. 'There is no question in my mind that they will soon win the ballot,' she added, 'for they have already won the power to ask for it everywhere.'"

FAME IN LITTLE THINGS.

Answers: It was a smile that made "La Glaconda," the picture stolen from the Louvre, in Paris, famous. It was perhaps, the most wonderful smile ever painted, but, still, it was a smile. And a smile is a little thing.

Little things have made people famous, or, at any rate, they have helped in the process.

One can hardly imagine Napoleon, for instance, without the curious curl over his forehead, and his hand thrust into his vest. Neither can one picture Mr. Gladstone without his peculiar collar, the kaiser minus his moustache, Mr. Chamberlain devoid of monocle and orchid, the Duchess of Gainsborough without her hat, the Gibson girl without her peculiar walk and skirt, Sir Edward Clarke, K. C., without his famous Dundreary whiskers, John Burns without his reefer suit, or Meredith, the famous footballer, without a toothpick on the field.

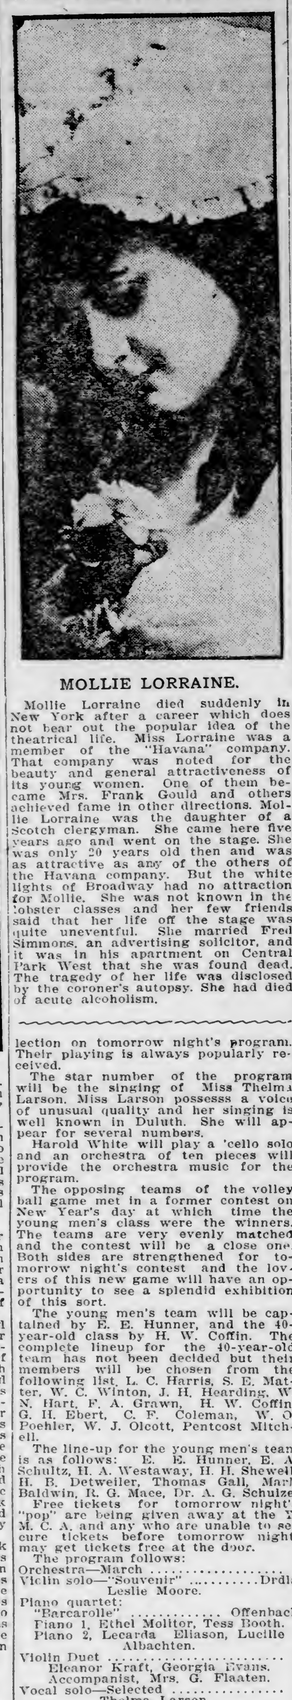

Without these little adjuncts, many people would not recognize the people mentioned. It is a case of "by their eccentricities shall ye know them."

A PROSE POEM.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: Old King Cole was a merry old soul, and he had his fiddlers three, but he had no such prodigious roll as the subsequent John D. He called for his fife, and he called for his bowl, and was mighty man, but he couldn't call us all with kings as his descendant can. As a matter of fact, though old King Cole called many treasures his, he wasn't one, two, three with what his great descendant is. He simply reigned in a pleasant way for fifty years or so, but on the whole, the truth to say, he never had the dough. It took the royal blood a while to find itself a sprout that it could richly flourish in while money grew without, and one day rose upon the earth in proper consequence a relative who made the king resemble 20 cents. He has his billion, and his health, his lawyers and his ads, and when he wants to swell his wealth he calls for dividends. His golf is not as good, perhaps, as his ancestor played, but a million eons will elapse before his fame shall fade.

The Gatun dam at Panama is twenty times thicker than it is high, being about a half mile through at the base. Moreover, its crest is 115 feet above sea level.

CORONER'S INQUEST DISCLOSED SAD STORY

MOLLIE LORRAINE.

Mollie Lorraine died suddenly in New York after a career which does not bear out the popular idea of the theatrical life. Miss Lorraine was a member of the "Havana" company. That company was noted for the beauty and general attractiveness of its young women. One of them became Mrs. Frank Gould and others achieved fame in other directions. Mollie Lorraine was the daughter of a scotch clergyman. She came here five years ago and went on the stage. She was only 20 years old then and was as attractive as any of the others of the Havana company. But the white lights of Broadway had no attraction for Mollie. She was not known in the lobster classes and her few friends said that her life off the stage was quite uneventful. She married Fred Simmons, an advertising solicitor, and it was in his apartment on Central Park West that she was found dead. The tragedy of her life was disclosed by the coroner's autopsy. She had died of acute alcoholism.

PUT LORIMER UNDER CROSS-EXAMINATION AS TO HIS ELECTION

Senators Inquire Into Details of His Story of State Politics.

Hopkins and His Relations With Other Leaders Are Discussed.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Senator Lorimer today faced the ordeal of a cross-examination at the hands of the investigators of his election. Frank Marble, attorney for the senate committee, led the questioning, prompted by John G. Healy, a Chicago lawyer who has seen something of Illinois politics.

One of the first points to be attacked on cross-examination was Senator Lorimer's story of an election contest in Chicago in which he claimed that Carter Harrison, then mayor, had used the police force against him to create a public impression that Senator Lorimer and his followers were attempting to steal ballot boxes. He cited that as one of the instances of persecution he alleged at the hands of his political enemies in Chicago.

It developed that the courts were contesting for possession of the ballot boxes, and that the commissioner of elections called on the police to keep possession of them. Mr. Lorimer,

MINNEAPOLIS MAN INDICTED

Arthur J. Kavanaugh Accused in Diamond Robbery Case.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arthur J. Kavanaugh, Minneapolis moving picture proprietor, is charged with complicity in the $8,000 White & McNaught diamond robbery of Dec. 22.

His arraignment in court Monday, following a secret indictment for first degree grand larceny, came as a bombshell in the case, as nobody, aside from the authorities, even knew he was under suspicion. Even the police did not know he had been indicted. Kavanaugh's attorney, M. C. Brady, said he considered the indictment an effort to scare his client and that it followed an attempt of the authorities to recover the missing jewels through Kavanaugh from W. W. Wells, now in jail awaiting trial for the alleged theft of the diamonds. The attempt was unsuccessful.

Kavanaugh pleaded not guilty and was released on $2,000 cash bail for trial Feb. 13. Wells, according to detectives, has also been known as "Kid" Horn.

REVERE HOUSE PARTLY BURNED

Guests in Famous Boston Hostelry Have Thrilling Escapes.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 16.—The Revere house, one of the oldest and most famous hotels in New England, was partly destroyed by fire early today. Quick work by the employes and the firemen saved all the guests, although there were many narrow escapes. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

The hotel, which fronts on Bowdoin Square and which has sheltered such famous guests as the Prince of Wales, later King Edward VII., Daniel Webster, Jenny Lind, Emperor Dom Pedro of Brazil and Admiral Pasha of the Turkish navy, was a five-story structure of stone and brick.

Started in Cafe.

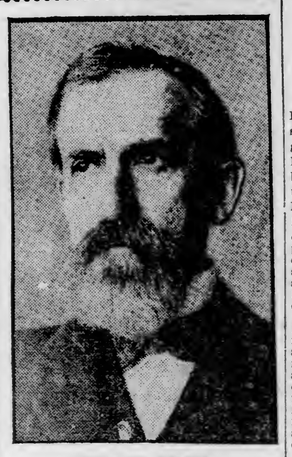

Starting in the rear of the grotto, a decorated cafe in the lower part of the hotel, the fire gained rapid headway and in a few minutes the flames had leaped up the stairway and elevator wells to the upper stories in the Bulfinch street annex.

Employes of the hotel, policemen, firemen and others aroused the sleeping guests and there were many thrilling rescues. Dozens of women were assisted to places of safety and several men and women escaped by climbing on the roofs of adjoining buildings. The fire escapes were lined with men and women and hastily raised ladders were the means of rescue for more than a score. Two women were let down from a window and firemen below on ladders brought them to the street. Clad only in their nightclothes, a majority of the guests received shelter in nearby hotels. Several lost all their effects.

No hotel in Boston and few in the United States are richer in associations than the Revere house. Here stayed, in the heyday of the hotel's popularity, visiting royalty, famous statesmen, soldiers, and some of the prima donnas, who charged a generation of Bostonians now dead.

The Revere house was named after Paul Revere. It was opened on May 19, 1847, as the most sumptuous hotel Boston had had up to that time. The ballroom and the banquet halls were regarded as models of splendor.

DEMOCRATIC CLANS MEET

Leaders Prepare for Big Political Conference at Fargo, N. D.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.) — The greatest political meeting ever held in Fargo will open tomorrow when many of the leading Democrats of the nation will gather for a two days' conference. The first meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon, when the county Democrats will organize. In the evening the first big meeting will occur. It undoubtedly will be the opening gun in the Northwest political campaign for the year. Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio will be the speaker of the evening and Former Senator R. F. Pettigrew of South Dakota also will speak. Judge Martin B. Wade of Iowa, who has loomed up strongly for the vice presidential nomination in the last few days, will be another speaker. He will talk on "Looking Both Ways."

Thursday afternoon will occur the meeting of the state central committee. In the early evening there will be a big banquet at which it is expected 450 Democrats will sit down. The speakers of the evening will be William J. Bryan, Judson Harmon, Martin B. Wade, Governor Edwin Norris of Montana, R. F. Pettigrew of South Dakota, T. J. Walsh of Montana and Charles C. Heffner of Seattle, the Western manager of the Wilson camapaign.

There has developed some feeling between Harmon and Wilson factions regarding this meeting, but efforts are being made to keep every thing harmonious. The Wilson followers requested that Heffner have a place on the speakers' list and this request was complied with.

TRY TO RESUME WORK IN MILLS

Small Number of Workmen Appear at Lawrence Plants.

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 16.—An effort was made today to start the cotton and woolen mills around which there were scenes of rioting by strikers yesterday. A small number of operatives appeared for work under the militia guard, but up to 8 a. m. there had been no interference by the strikers. It was stated that the authorities had the situation well under control.

Dudley M. Holman, secretary to Governor Foss, held a conference in the early forenoon with Joseph J. Ettor of New York, who is at the head of the strikers, in an effort to bring about a settlement of the trouble.

By order of Mayor Scanlon, all the saloons in the city were closed today.

Today the Everett, Pemberton and Lawrence duck mills, employing about 4,000 hands, were closed. In the remainder of the mills about one-fourth of the average number of help started work.

WRITER IS BRIDE FOR TWENTY-FOUR HOURS.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Frank S. Ober, the New York patent attorney, who on a sick bed yesterday in Garfield hospital here married Miss Josephine Hibb, a New York newspaper writer, died today.

Canadian Camp Cook Frozen.

Calgary, Alta., Jan. 16.—Stephen Pratt was found frozen to death, about eight miles west of the city. He had been employed as cook at the Bowness camp.

WANTS CITY ABATTOIRS

Dr. Bracken of Minnesota Talks at Packers' Convention.

Washington, Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Establishment of municipal slaughter houses or abattoirs was suggested by Dr. H. M. Bracken of St. Paul, secretary of the Minnesota state board of health, to the delegates attending the meeting of the National Meat Packers' association here today. Either this should be done, he said, or the killing of animals for food be placed under state inspection. If that can not be accomplished, then all sanitarians should line themselves up against the great majority of slaughter houses as they now exist, and force out the local killing.

"These local slaughter houses," Dr. Bracken said, "are an abomination from every point of view. Not only are they public nuisances in the great majority of cases, but their owners are also indifferent as to the sanitary environment of the places themselves in which meats are prepared for foods. Many of them go still farther in their indifference, and are willing to put almost anything on the market that comes to them for killing."

Examples in Germany.

Dr. Bracken was very much in earnest relative to the establishment of municipal slaughter houses, and pointed particularly to Leipzig, which has one of the most modern abattoirs in

COAL MINERS TO FRAME DEMANDS

Big Meeting Opens With Rumors of Coming Dissensions.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 16.—Thirteen hundred delegates, representing organized coal miners, gathered in this city today in one of the most important conferences in the history of the coal industry in the United States and Canada. It is the twenty-third annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America and will formulate the demands to be made by the miners when their representatives meet the mine owners to negotiate new wage contracts, to go into force April 1, next, in both the bituminous and anthracite fields.

Rumors of dissension over the report of the credentials committee were heard when the convention opened. The report was to deal with a contest that started a year ago in Pennsylvania when two district conventions met, one headed by Robert Gibbons and the other by Francis Feehan, who was recognized by the national officers as the district president. The Gibbons faction was outlawed and a number, including the leader, expelled from the union. These men were given seats in the convention by their locals and their credentials are questioned by President Feehan.

ITS ANNUAL IMBECILITY

Congress to Sit as Board of Aldermen for Washington.

Present System Hurts Both City and Country at Large.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a few days the annual imbecility of congress sitting as a board of aldermen for the city of Washington will be presented to the nation—or to such a part of the nation as will give it any attention. The committee on the District of Columbia has just reported to the house its current appropriation bill. The chairman of this committee lives in Kentucky. Texas, Arkansas, Illinois, Pennsylvania all have influential members on the committee which numbers in all twenty-one, Hamill of New Jersey, Stark of Chicago, O'Shaughnessy of Providence, George of New York and Redfield of Brook-

EIGHT MEN DIE IN MOLTEN METAL

Others May Be Buried in Mass From Blast Furnace.

Duisberg, Germany, Jan. 16.—Eight iron workers were killed and two others seriously injured by the bursting of a blast furnace in the vicinity of this city during the night. It is feared that a number of victims are embedded in the metal which flowed in a great molten mass out of the molds when the furnace burst. The workmen were paralyzed with terror when they saw the metal rapidly flowing toward them and they made no attempt to escape. Eleven more men have been reported as seriously injured.

BUEHLER GIRL WILL GO BACK TO CHICAGO.

New York, Jan. 16.—Violet Buehler, the runaway Chicago girl, is eagerly awaiting today the arrival of her foster mother, Mrs. Herman Buehler. The 15-year-old "Slavey" has told so many conflicting stories that Supt. Walsh of the children's society is unable to learn definitely whether any one persuaded her to run away or not. Walsh says he will take action if the girl left home by persuasion. The Buehler girl says she is in love with Jack Clune, a waiter, and wants to marry him.

New York Cold Again.

New York, Jan. 16.—After climbing up to 38 deg. yesterday afternoon the mercury dropped during the night until it stood within 3 deg. of the zero mark at 8 o'clock today.

BOMB FIRED AT PREMIER

Yuan Shi Kai Escapes, But Two Soldiers Are Killed.

Ten Thousand Manchus Massacred By Rebels in China.

Pekin, Jan. 16.—A bomb which was thrown at Premier Yuan Shi Kai's carriage while he was on his way from the imperial court today killed two soldiers and injured seventeen other persons, civilians and soldiers. Of these eight or ten are expected to die.

Several horses belonging to the military escort, besides those attached to Premier Yuan Shi Kai's carriage, were killed.

The would-be assassins were captured. The public executioner was at once called, and with his assistants is now standing sentinel in front of the house where the assassins are confined. He will remain on duty there until he receives orders from the imperial authorities, who, it is ex-

SPOONER GIVES WAY TO GORDON

Morris Man Will Not Seek Nomination for the Governorship.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—L. C. Spooner of Morris today eliminated himself from consideration as a prospective candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, when he wired a St. Paul paper that his own county and surrounding counties are for Gordon.

Spooner's county is in Stevens county, which adjoins Traverse, in which Gordon has his home. If Gordon has the support of Stevens and surrounding counties, Spooner's candidacy would be futile.

INDICTED OHIO BANKER DIES

Thomas F. McClure Falls Dead in Cincinnati Building.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 16.—Thomas F. McClure, who was president of the Metropolitan Bank & Trust company of this city when it was closed by state bank examiners two months ago, dropped dead in the federal building today. Following the failure of the bank, McClure was indicted by the Hamilton county grand jury on the charge of receiving deposits when he knew the bank to be insolvent.

SUPERIOR EXPLOSION IS INQUIRED INTO BY FEDERAL GRAND JURY

Testimony Regarding Dynamite Outrages in Wisconsin Is Taken.

Two Men From Portage Are Among Witnesses at Indianapolis.

Methods of Communication of Conspirators Told to Jurors.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 16.—Three explosions in Wisconsin, alleged to have been part of a wide-spread dynamite conspiracy, were investigated by the federal grand jury today.

Two men of Portage, Wis., said to be relatives of Ortie McManigal, were examined in connection with the dynamiters' transportation of explosives from Chicago to points in Wisconsin. The explosions were at Green Bay, Nov. 21, 1909; Superior, Wis., Aug. 2, 1910, and Milwaukee, March 16, 1911.

The explosion at Superior caused the destruction of the Philadelphia & Reading coal dock. It occurred during the night and no clew to the perpetrators was discovered. No one was injured by the explosion.

On his way to do the Milwaukee job, which resulted in damage to an unloading bridge and a steamer near the dock, McManigal says he carried four quarts of nitro-glycerin in a suitcase from Chicago and found six quarts awaiting him in Milwaukee.

As it required only four quarts to destroy the property he left the remainder in Milwaukee for future use.

In whose custody he left it and how some of the explosive happened to be there awaiting him are supposed to be some of the points inquired into by the grand jury.

Other witnesses were C. J. Brucker of Jordan Station, Ont., and J. C. Childers of Pittsburg, employers of an "open shop construction company," which claims to have suffered heavy

CAPT. BOB BARTLETT
Of the Steamer Roosevelt.

New York, Jan. 16.—Capt. Bob Bartlett, who was with Peary on his several trips to the North, is going to head an expedition to find the South Pole. He expects to have the backing of the National Geographical society. According to present plans, he will leave New York next September with a 5,000-ton ship and a crew of twenty-five, expecting to be gone a year.

"PINCHED RAT WILL SQUEAL"

Reply of Federal Attorney to Plea of Bath Tub Trust.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 16.—"The United States department of justice is not the great, oppressive machine pictured yesterday by counsel for the defendants," declared Attorney Frank H. Watson today in opposing before United States Judge Angell a motion to quash indictments in the government's criminal case against the "bath-tub" trust.

"I never knew of a case," he continued, "where a rat was pinched that it didn't squeal, and probably the department does appear oppressive to those who disobey the law.

LOW RATES ON GRAIN GET FEDERAL O.K.

Commerce Commission Reverses Decision as to Canadian Product.

Reduced Freight Tariffs Allowed to Go Into Effect at Once.

Means Big Gain in Business for Minnesota Mills and Elevators.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

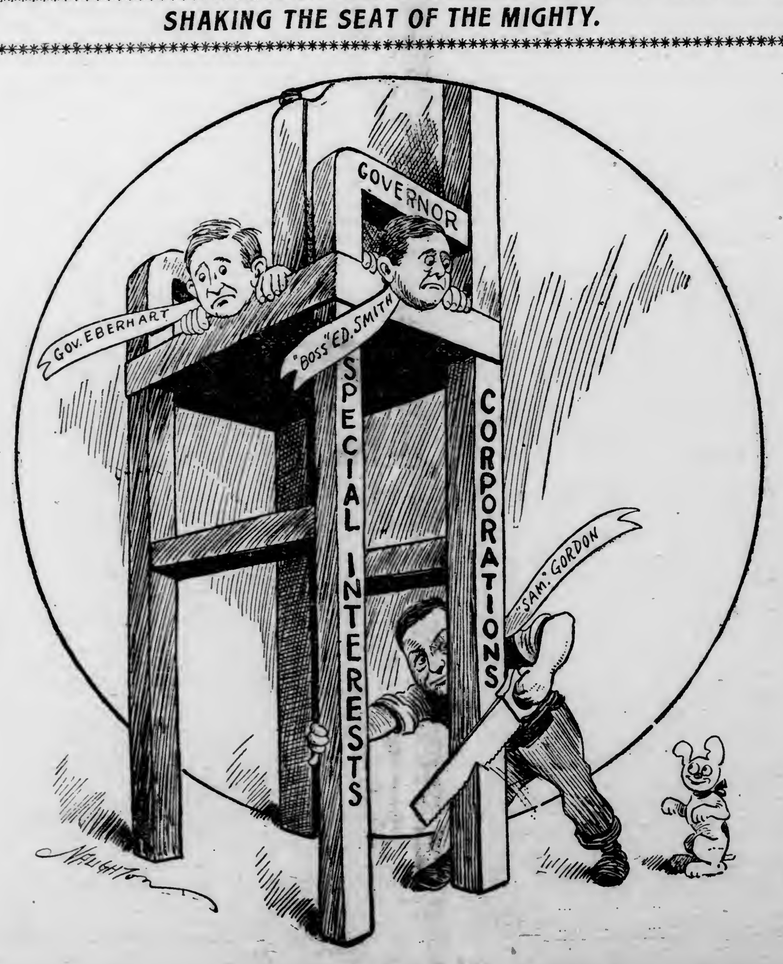

Washington, Jan. 16.—Revising its order of yesterday, the interstate commerce commission today decided that freight rates on grain from Canadian points destined for Duluth may be reduced without the imposition of the rule providing that thirty days' notice must be given before any change in rates can be made. The new order provides that the reduction may go into effect at once.

Today's action followed a second appearance before the commission by Representative Miller of Duluth, who yesterday argued the cause of the grain handlers and shippers. Today Mr. Miller vigorously presented the urgency of the circumstances and the extraordinary conditions which led the Canadian Northern and Soo roads to offer to lower rates if the commerce commission would permit such action. At the close of the hearing the commission reconsidered its action of Monday and the amending order was issued at once.

Car shortage and especially lack of capacity of terminal elevators in Canada, and the imperative need of farmers in that country to get their product on the market, together with the fact that the mills and elevators on this side of the border would be able to handle the grain easily, brought about the proposal that freight tariffs on the product be reduced. Lower schedules were accordingly filed, but the need of relief was so imperative that a special request was made to the commission to grant the reduction without the prescribed delay of thirty days after the filing of the new tariffs.

Owing to the inability on the part of the Canadians to handle the crop, the grain has been accumulating in that country, and there has been immense waste and loss. It is expected that this action by the railroads and interstate commerce commission will relieve the situation there, and at the same time bring an enormous supply of grain to the Minnesota mills and elevators.

STORE NEWS

"I've been all around Duluth," said a customer this morning, an out-of-town curler attending the bonspiel. "I'm awfully hard to fit. I know it as well as you do. No other store was able to fit me. Few of them even tried. Here it is different—you treat me as though you wanted me to come back again. Most stores don't seem to care whether I come back again or not, and I don't. You seem just as anxious to get my good will as to get my money." That man was right—as far as he went—but he didn't go far enough. We'd rather have his good will than his money. We treat people as though we wanted them to come back because we do want them to.

Another derelict from the human wreckage floating about in this part of the country died at the poor farm yesterday. Practically all that is known of him is contained in the death certificate. It gives his name as James Kendricks and his age as 55 years. He was taken to the poor farm about two weeks ago, and as far as could be learned he had neither a friend nor a relative, although he had been in the state seven years. Undoubtedly he had a past and possibly an interesting history, but the odds are heavy that it will never be known. He will be laid away in the paupers' field and the expenses of the simplest kind of a burial paid by the county.

Johanas Koski, who died at St. Luke's hospital Jan. 9, a victim of a gunshot wound received in a saloon brawl at Virginia, was buried in Park Hill cemetery yesterday. The county paid the bill. His wife, living at Elmer, was found to be in hard circumstances and could not spare a cent toward the funeral expenses of her husband. Koski was shot by Jack Drexler, now in the county jail charged with murder. He was the second man to die from Drexler's gun play, the first having been killed almost instantly when Drexler opened fire in the Virginia barroom.

CLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

Duluth, like most other cities, is afflicted with a set of pilferers who would feel greatly insulted if they were called by their true name, "thieves."

That is what they are, if one is not to be too polite about it. They probably don't think so themselves, but those who suffer the consequences have no hesitancy in attaching that label to them.

Their stealings amount to hundreds of dollars in the course of a year, but owing to the nature of the thefts they are very seldom reported to the police, so any kind of a definite estimate is out of the question. That the aggregate value of what they take is great is undoubted, as even the most cursory investigation would show.

Many of these people, men and women, old and young, are in the souvenir-grabbing class. They seem to have an irresistibel desire to carry away something for a souvenir. It apparently makes no difference what it is, so long as it is a souvenir, something to remember the place by," as many of them express it. In some instances it is silverware; in some it is a stein, or even a glass; in some it is a tea cup or a pot from a chop suey house; not infrequently napkins or other linen is taken. The hotels complain that their towels are taken and combs and brushes are removed from their fastenings. The loss of mirrors have been reported, and liquid soap receptacles have been unscrewed from their fastenings.

All these cannot be laid to the souvenir fanatic. In numerous cases people who have been "having a good time" seem unable to keep from filling their pockets with somebody else's property. The stuff they have imbibed seems to have a strange effect upon their fingers, in that the fingers stick to every small article with which they come in contact. These evidently do not thing that their night has had a proper finish unless they can manage to attach themselves to some things to which they do not belong.

Occasionally these thefts are reported to the police, but detection is so difficult that an arrest can rarely be made. On those occasions when an employe of the place sees the article taken, he is generally satisfied to let the matter drop with the return of the property. As a rule, these persons have some standing, and the proprietors feel diffident about having them taken to the police station. The usual explanation is that it was all a "joke," or "fun," but to hear the man who stands the loss talk about it, when he gives vent to his true feelings, it assumes an aspect which is scarcely akin to a "joke," for he can't see the funny part of it.

"A little ingenuity will often land a thief, although you don't actually catch him red-handed," said the old policeman this morning as he settled himself for a smoke in the operator's room at headquarters.

"I just happen to think of one case which came to my notice last summer. A boat owner who kept a supply of gasoline and engine oil in his boat house began to miss the juice and the grease. So he used his brains a bit and stopped the stealing first shot out of the box. And he didn't stay up nights to do it, either. He just used his head.

"When the supply got low he secured a quantity of emery dust. You know what that is, although your experience with it has probably been limited to having your skates or some tools sharpened on an emery wheel. Well, he mixed a quantity of the dust in both the gasoline and the engine oil. That thief never came back.

"I would like to have seen the interior of that engine after he got wise that something was wrong. It must have been in fine shape, all ground and cut up. The fact is that the engine was probably ruined. But it served him right. If he had bought his gasoline instead of stealing it he would have been away ahead of the game. All thieves aren't thrown into jail, but I have noticed that most of them pay the penalty in some way or other, whether they get into the toils of the law or not."

When the head of the house at 601 East First street crawled downstairs this morning he found a well-dressed young man snoring the sleep of the unrighteous on his parlor couch. The stranger had evidently been making the rounds, for between snorts, the man of the house could easily detect an odor which made a lot of noise.

Not knowing just what to do, he adopted the easiest course and called the police. Sergeant John Roberg footed at top speed to the house, and after herculean efforts managed to rouse the sleeper, placing him under arrest on a charge of trespass.

At the police station the prisoner gave his name as Harry Clay. He couldn't tell how he got into the East First street house. He claimed that somebody must have carried him there. The last he remembered he was calling. "Let's have another, boys!" He stated that he was stopping at one of the large downtown hotels. He was released, but not until he had raised a friend on the telephone who "came across" with the $17 fine, which was

Rheumatism

A Home Cure Given by One Who Had It

In the spring of 1883 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bidridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. If, after you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

NORTH DAKOTA PROGRESSIVES ARE MEETING IN FARGO.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual business meeting with election of officers and executive committee of the North Dakota Progressive Republican league is being held here this afternoon. A short forenoon session was held. Judge A. G. Hanson of Fargo is presiding. Many prominent Insurgent Republicans of North Dakota are present,

Item Welcomed By Many Men

This recipe can be filled at home, so that no one need know of another's troubles, as the ingredients can be obtained separately at any well stocked drug store. They are in regular use and many different prescriptions are constantly being filled with them.

This will prove a welcome bit of information for all those who are overworked, gloomy, despondent, nervous and have trembling limbs, heart palpitation, dizziness, cold extremities, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing, and general inability to act naturally and rationally as others do, because the treatment can be prepared secretly at home and taken without any one's knowledge.

Overworked office men and the many victims of society's late hours and dissipation will, it is said, find the restorative they are in need of.

If the reader decides to try it, get three ounces of ordinary syrup sarsaparilla compound and one ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom), mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring.

A certain well-known medical expert asserts that thousands of men and many women are sufferers all because of dormant circulation of the blood and a consequential impairment of the nervous force, which begets the most dreadful symptoms and untold misery.

TRI-STATE GRAIN MEET COMMENCES AT FARGO, N. D.

Products of Soil and Statistics to Prove Agricultural Wealth.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—With a tap of the gavel of President J. H. Worst, the Tri-State Grain Growers began promptly at 10 o'clock this morning the greatest series of conventions and public gatherings ever held in North Dakota. There is a good attendance. The weather is milder than for several weeks but the sky is overcast. Besids the Grain Growers' convention, there is a corn show that would do credit to Illinois, or Iowa. Those in charge have gathered some statistics which show in a nutshell how the corn growing industry has progressed in the past few years in this state which was at one time looked upon as an exclusive wheat state.

Corn Acreage Increases.

Some of these statistics are: Acres of corn in state—1909, 99,282; 1910, 100,000; 1911, 452,938; 1912, estimated at 1,000,000 acres. Number of corn exhibits at annual North Dakota corn show: 1908, 149; 1909, 312; 1910, 272; 1911, over 1,000. Corn harvesters sold in North Dakota: 1905, 179; 1910, 718; 1911, 2,400; silos in North Dakota, 1905, 20; 1910, 57; 1911, 114.

The poultry show is also a big surprise this year showing that North Dakota and neighboring states have made marvelous strides in poultry raising in past few years. Beside the agricultural shows and conventions, there will be a meeting here this week of the county judges of North Dakota on Jan. 17. The big Democratic gathering; Fargo district Sunday school convention; meeting of the North Dakota Temporary Educational commission and meeting of the Progressive Republican League of North Dakota.

Welcomed To Fargo.

President J. P. Hardy of the Fargo Commercial club, delivered the address of welcome, saying:

As a representative of the Fargo Commercial club, I have been asked to tell you how pleased we are to have you with us. The mayor has requested me to present to you the keys of the city with his compliments. I do not agree with the mayor, who seems to predicate the thought that you have no license or privilege here except those afforded you through his courtesy. As a matter of fact, all that we have here is yours by right of priority and we have nothing in the city that is not the direct result of your efforts. You are the producers of wealth, we are the stewards, and to you we must render an accounting.

Crookston Man Responds.

The response was made by Supt. Selvig of the Crookston agricultural college. He congratulated the city on the special efforts that had been made to welcome the grain growers and made the prediction that the time would soon come when the city would be compelled to build a larger building in which to receive the tri-state grain growers.

Hugh J. Hughes, editor of Farm, Stock and Home, was the last speaker of the first session this morning.

"The three necessary factors in any community," said Mr. Hughes, "are the farmer, the merchant and the banker. Without the co-operation of these three the highest co-operation of the community cannot be attained."

He brought out the fact the capitalization on the farm is not well balanced, that the farmer has too much invested in land in comparison to what he has invested in stock, machinery, buildings and working capital and that the great need of the farmer is capital to develop the land already tilled rather than to secure more acres. He said merchant and farmer both would benefit from a cash system of doing business.

State Engineer Atkinson was to have spoken on "How to Secure Good Roads in North Dakota," but was not able to speak today. This address may be given later. W. R. Porter was not able to speak on "Dry Farming" today either, and in his stead Prof. M. L. Wilson of the Montana state agricultural college at Bozeman, Mont., spoke on "Prize Grains at the New York Land Show."

Prof. Shaw Spoke.

The afternoon session was opened by Prof. Thomas Shaw of St. Anthony Park, who spoke on "Elements of Success in Agriculture."

"Road Improvements in Agricultural Districts" was the subject of one of the best addresses of the day. It was delivered by John T. Stewart, professor of agricultural engineering, University of Minnesota.

"The problem is one of constructing a road which will permit the hauling of a maximum load at a maximum speed with a minimum of motive power," said Mr. Stewart. "The game trail through the brush does for the Indian; the prairie sod, broken by a log dragged from the front wheels of a wagon, or a line of blazes through the timber answers the pioneer's purpose; but the best oil surfaced macadam road is scarcely satisfactory for the modern automobile or the heavy loads of our well settled and highly intensified modern communities.

"The qualities to be sought in a road are a flat grade with a smooth, dustless surface of a degree of hardness to withstand the traffic, and sufficient elasticity to prevent jar to animals and vehicles."

He went into details in showing how such a road could be secured under different circumstances of environment.

STARVING PEOPLE SELL CHILDREN

London, Jan. 16.—Terrible conditions prevailing among the peasantry in Southeastern Russia are depicted in a telegram from a doctor in Orenburg, which is published here as a special article. The doctor says that the starving peasantry in the government of Orenburg, on the river Ural, owing to having received no assistance from the authorities, are selling their children to the Khirgese nomads in the government of Saratov.

Many of the people in the vicinity have died from hunger and typhus and more than 70 per cent of the children are stricken with a fearful epidemic in some of the villages, while in other districts the distress is extreme.

Osaka, Japan, Jan., 16.—A series of fires which broke out at 1 o'clock this morning swept unchecked across the southern half of this city, fanned by a strong wind. The conflagration was not under control until late in the afternoon, when, according to official figures, 5,268 buildings had been destroyed and 30,000 persons rendered homeless. During the first four hours the flames consumed more than 1,300 houses.

The White Sale

Continues tomorrow. Replenished lots in practically all the specials advertised in Monday's Herald.

WAS AN ACT OF CHARITY

Woman Claims Taking Girls to Resort Was Kindness to Them.

Found Them in Duluth Without Money or Warm Clothing.

"I took the girls to this place more as an act of charity and to give them a more pleasant Christmas season than for any other reason, not intending at the time to lend them to any greater immoral conduct than they were likely to be subjected to if they had not gone. I have also been known by the name of Gladys Ford, but May Harris is my true name. This is my true and voluntary statement made without threats or intimidation of any kind and without promise of reward or immunity from punishment on the part of any one."—Signed May Harris.

May Harris, a woman of the underworld, is on trial in district court this afternoon charged by a grand jury indictment with inducing young girls to enter a house of ill repute.

She was indicted by the January grand jury on two counts. The cases are similar and involve the same offense. She is charged with having invited two young women to go from Duluth to Grand Rapids, Minn., where they were taken to a disorderly house.

Although standing trial, she and the young women have made clear statements to the police regarding the affair. One of the girls, the Harris woman claims to have known for four years. The other she met but recently.

She came to Duluth, the indictment that few on Dec. 15, and found her friend and another young girl, aged 20, whose home is said to be in Superior, rooming at the Lowell block.

The young girls were in straightened circumstances and without sufficient clothing and money. They told her, she claims, that they could not return home because their parents objected.

"I pawned a ring," she told the police, "to get money for transportation from Duluth to Grand Rapids. We went to Bovey and telephoned for a livery rig to take us to Grand Rapids, doing this to evade the authorities at Grand Rapids, who were watching for such things."

The girls remained at the Grand Rapids place until after the Christmas holidays, when they returned to Duluth. Information from them was secured which resulted in the indictment of the Harris woman.

The Harris woman claims that no attempt was made by her to conceal from the young women the fact that the place where they were going was a house of ill repute.

LINING UP FOR FIGHT

Municipal Campaign Beginning to Show Signs of Real Activity.

Mayor Cullum Will Answer All Questions Asked at Opening Meeting.

After considerable skirmishing on both sides, the Democrats and Republicans are assuming battle array for the municipal campaign.

Mayor M. B. Cullum will fire his first gun at the meeting of the West End Democratic club Friday evening of this week. It will be the first Democratic meeting of the campaign and Dr. Cullum's first campaign speech. He said this morning that he would cover the ground thoroughly, taking up all questions that appear to be issues.

"I will devote some time to a discussion of the amendments to the city charter and will advocate the adoption of all four," said the mayor this morning. "I think the voters will be making a serious mistake if they fail to adopt all the amendments submitted. As for the other questions, I will express myself Friday night in unmistakable terms. I will answer any questions and discuss any points that may be raised. I am going into the campaign on my record and do not intend to evade anything."

Dice Probably Manager.

Democratic headquarters will be opened next week. Mayor Cullum said this morning that he is not ready to announce the name of his campaign manager. It is understood, however, that Charles E. Dice, who managed the mayor's last campaign, will again be in charge. He made a signal success two years ago and his experience gained at that time will be valuable.

The Democrats are counting on doing the most effective work in the last two weeks of the campaign. The organization is now being perfected, campaign plans laid and the two weeks before the election will be crowded with activity. It is expected that few big meetings will be held, but there will be numerous ward and precinct gatherings at which Mayor Cullum and other candidates will speak.

The Republicans are making a strong campaign, but Mayor Cullum's friends are not worrying. They are satisfied that the voters are pleased with his record and that he will be returned to office to carry out his policies, especially those relating to public welfare and taxation. The steps taken during the present administration toward putting the valuation of the city on an equitable basis have commanded the respect of business men and property owners, and Mayor Cullum's part in obtaining the revaluation has gained him staunch support.

Republican Plans.

J. Frank Stafford has been chosen chairman and Walter H. Borgen secretary of the Republican campaign committee. Headquarters have been opened in the Phoenix block, Fourth avenue west and Superior street, and preparations are being made for the usual distribution of literature.

Ward and precinct workers will be appointed and plans are being made for a systematic campaign. Dr. McCuen has already spoken at several meetings and he will continue in a speaking campaign that will extend through the remaining weeks before the election.

The weekly meeting of the Young Men's Republican club will be held at Foresters' hall tonight. Three candidates for alderman, Clement de Roche of the Seventh ward, J. L. Taylor of the Third ward and Max Oreckovsky of the Fourth ward, will speak. Frank E. Randall will be one of the speakers and Frank Adams, harmonica and guitar player, will furnish the musical part of the program.

Wrinkleless Skin Now Easy to Have

(From Family Physician.)

There's no excuse for any woman having wrinkles now. It has been found that a simple mixture of saxolite and witch hazel has a remarkable action upon the deepest wrinkles, no matter what their nature, whether caused by worry, habitual frowning, a debilitated condition or the ravages of Father Time. This harmless remedy, which anyone can easily make, obtaining the ingredients at any drug-store, acts both as an astringent and a tonic. The combined effect of tightening the skin and heightening its vitality is to immediately affect every line and wrinkle, keeping the cuticle smooth and firm as in youth.

The proportions are one ounce saxolite (powdered) to one-half pint witch hazel. The solution should be used as a wash lotion. It is equally effective in disposing of flabbiness of cheek and neck, as well as sagging below the eyes.

WOMAN'S REALM.

Younger musicians of the city presented a delightful program, arranged by Miss Florence Hyland and Miss Theresa Lynn, yesterday afternoon at the regular meeting of the Matinee Musicale at the Y. W. C. A. auditorium.

Miss Marjorie May Harrison opened the program with a brilliant piano number, "Impromptu," by Hugo Reinhold, which she played with skill and charm, and responded to an enthusiastic encore with a second pleasing selection. Miss Harrison has a decided natural ability which has been well trained and her work yesterday was highly praised by the older musicians who heard her. This was her first appearance before this club.

Miss Gladys Reynolds was in excellent voice and sang a group of songs which were thoroughly enjoyed. "Will o' the Wisp," by Spross; "My Love and I," by Frank La Forge, and "A Birthday," by Huntington Woodman shared equality in the choice of the hearers, and she responded to a hearty encore with a little shadow song charmingly rendered. Mrs. J. H. McKindley played her accompaniments.

Miss Marie Agatin, whose ability as a pianiste is well known, played two numbers with fine interpretation of the composers' moods. Her first number, "Praeludium," by Arne Oldberg, was perhaps the most pleasing, though her rendition of Chopin's "Scherzo, op. 35, E flat Minor" was excellent in execution and technique. She also responded to an earnest recall with a pleasing number.

Master Wilbur Foster of Minneapolis, the boy soprano soloist of St. Mark's Episcopal church in Minneapolis, was a delightful surprise to the members of the club. He sang Gaul's "Holy City" with such sweetness, clarity of tone, and the atmosphere of the church that he scored a triumph. He responded to the applause with the "Red, Red Rose" and sang this number with even more charm than he first. His wonderful range, the clearness of his notes and the ease with which he sings, are all remarkable and again he was forced to respond to an encore by repeating a part of the second number.

Miss Anna Johnson who was to have given a piano number, did not appear on account of illness.

Miss Margaret Horton of St. Paul closed the program with a group of violin numbers, "Legende" by Wieniawski, "Elegie" by Franz Ries and "Ave Maria" by Schubert Wilhelm. Miss Horton's playing displays a good tone quality and evident careful study. She was evidently a little nervous but her interpretations were good and her numbers greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Bradley played artistic accompaniments for her.

Mrs. Fred Bradbury, Mrs. Alphine Flaaten, Mrs. George M. Richards, Mrs. I. N. McKindley, Miss Valborg Gunderson and Miss Faith Rogers left this afternoon for St. Paul, where they will represent the Matinee Musicale in a return concert before the Schubert club.

BISHOP'S CLUB.

THE EVENING STORY

A BILL PAYABLE

By Thomas E. Jordan.

"It is the call of duty," said Robert Sinclair to the dean of his college. "In the interests of my mother and sisters I feel that I have no choice."

"Well, I hope you will succeed in your new life," said the dean. "You have youth and energy; I confidently believe that you will be as successful in carrying on your father's business as you would have been had you realized your ambition, and taken holy orders."

Things being as they were, it can only be said that to believe such a thing implied a nature which was distinctly optimistic, to put it mildly; Robert Sinclair's knowledge of business being about as great as the average Hottentot's knowledge of Shakespeare. However, in accordance with his resolution, Mr. Sinclair transported himself from Cambridge to Prince's Gate, and transferred his attention from "Pearson on the Creed" to a consideration of debtor and creditor in Bread street, city.

His father, who had recently died, had been a soft goods merchant; he was believed to be well off, but had left little except debts. The business, however, was a sound and old-established one, hence his son's decision to carry it on for the benefit of the family.

For the next few months Robert Sinclair strove manfully to master the intricacies of the soft goods trade, but with indifferent success. He was essentially an earnest and painstaking young man, but these qualities are not in themselves sufficient to ensure success in this wicked world of ours.

And then, one fatal day, came a traveler with a new and special line of velvets. He was fluent, he was persuasive, he quite carried Mr. Sinclair away by the flow of his eloquence. Before he had left, the half mesmerized Mr. Sinclair had given him an order for $500 worth of the material, in different shades, and had accepted a bill drawn on him at three months in payment. That was on March 1, and so, reasoned Mr. Sinclair, he would not have to find the money until June 1.

Buyers, however, failed to rush in to buy the velvets in the eager and anxious way which the sanguine traveler had foretold; time flew by, and the first of June loomed ever ominously nearer and nearer. Money came in very slowly, and expenses were heavy; by the middle of May Mr. Sinclair was anxious; towards the end he grew frantic. His bank balance on May 30 stood at a little over $200, and in two more days his acceptance for $500 would be presented for payment. Ruin and disaster stared him in the face.

On May 31, the day before the bill matured, Mr. Sinclair took a train to some of the Northern cities where considerable sums of money were owing him; he would make one last effort to collect the money personally, so that he could meet his obligation on the morrow.

As in a waking nightmare, he dashed frantically from town to town, calling on his debtors at their places of business, even, if needs be, at their private residences. And at 7 o'clock on the night of May 31 he left the private house of a customer and hastened to the station. He was exhausted and utterly weary, but a sense of victory, of success achieved, buoyed him up. In his pocket he had checks and cash to the value of over $500. True, he had hopelessly offended some of his best customers, by his importunity, but that could not be helped. His good name and that of his father's firm was saved; that was all that mattered.

He would go to the bank the moment the doors opened in the morning and pay in the money. If he trusted it to the post it might not reach them the first thing in the morning and he would leave nothing to chance. He reached home in the small hours, utterly fagged out, but triumphant. He would not go to bed, lest he should oversleep himself; all night he sat in a half doze in the arm chair.

At 8:30 in the morning he sallied forth, the money in his pocket, and hastened to his bank—the Northern & Southern. The doors were just being opened when he arrived, and he hurried into the manager's room.

"My bill," he cried anxiously. "Has it been presented yet?" The manager smiled involuntarily.

"I have only just come," he said, "but why all the excitement?"

"I have an acceptance for $500 to meet today, and I have here notes and checks to the value of $530," said Mr. Sinclair, holding his head high. "With what I have already in my account, that is more than enough."

"Yes, today, June 1," said Mr. Sinclair. "It was a three-month's bill and was drawn on March 1."

"But what about the three days' grace?" asked the manager, while Mr. Sinclair stared at him uncomprehendingly. "You say this bill was drawn on March 1." Mr. Sinclair nodded his head. "Then, my dear sir," laughed the manager, "it will not become due until the fourth of this month. Three days' grace are always allowed, you know." Mr. Sinclair sprang from his chair, shaking his fist in the air as he thought of his trouble, his anxiety, his estranged customers, but he controlled himself by a violent effort.

"Well, well," he said, trying to put the best face on it, but smiling rather feebly, "the money is there in readiness for the fourth of this month. It makes no difference really."

But just there Mr. Sinclair made a slight mistake: it actually made a good deal of difference. For this conversation, you will recollect, took place on June 1, and it was on June 3 that the Northern & Southern bank closed its doors and suspended payment.

MRS. ZIEN WANTS CASE REMANDED

Asks That Property Be Sold By Order of Probate Court.

Mrs. Mathilda Zien, widow of the late Jacob Zien, who was engaged in the wholesale liquor business in Duluth, has appealed to the supreme court asking that proceedings involving certain real estate in the city be remanded to the probate court.

She also asks that the probate court be instructed to order the property sold to defray the costs of administration, the debts against the estate and the $5,000 legacy bequeathed to her. The real estate involved is a property on East Second street between First and Second avenues east.

HEIRS OF JAMES CARROLL APPEAR

Ask That Money Be Withdrawn From County and Distributed.

Heirs of the estate of the late James Carroll, a local saloonkeeper who died about a year ago, have been found and the sum of $407, which was paid over to the county by the probate court, will probably be withdrawn and divided among the heirs.

Carroll and his family separated a number of years ago. His wife, Mary Tully Carroll, went to Joliet, Ill., to live. When Carroll died, W. E. Brown, administrator of the estate, advertised extensively for the heirs, notices appearing even in the Chicago papers.

No heirs appeared, the estate was ordered closed and the money left after paying all claims was turned over to the county treasurer. By a mere accident, Mrs. Tully came to Duluth recently. She learned that her husband was dead and has started proceedings in probate court to have the money withdrawn from the county and divided among the heirs.

League for Medical Freedom.

A meeting in the interest of the League for Medical Freedom will be held in Steinway hall, corner Fourth avenue west and First street, on Friday evening, Jan. 19, at 8 o'clock.

This league was formed for the purpose of protesting against the passage of a bill by congress establishing a bureau of health sought to be established by the American Medical association. The enacting into a law of the United States of such a bill, it is argued by the league members, would be a great menace to the very large number of people who believe and practice other forms of healing the sick and diseased than that practiced by the members of the American Medical association. Dr. Leonard, a leading homeopathist, and Prof. Greer, a prominent educator, both of Minneapolis, will address the meeting.

Admission is free and the public is cordially invited.

Mme. Alda Delights Audience of Duluth Music Lovers

Mme. Frances Alda's concert last evening was perhaps the most thoroughly delightful musical event of the present Duluth season, and the audience which heard her last evening in her song recital at the Lyceum theater was ready to acknowledge her as one of the greatest artists who have ever been heard in this city.

Beautiful and charmingly gracious, Mme. Alda had her audience before she had sung a note and during the entire evening simply bound them more closely to her.

Clear, pure soprano as it is her voice is rich, true and full of feeling and she sings without any apparent effort.

Mme. Alda sang a program of songs arranged in four groups which afforded opportunities for the fine display of all the qualities of her voice, and brought into play all of her various moods.

In fact her program was so pleasing and the singer so charmingly gracious in responding to the applause, that she was forced to give several encores besides repeating a number of the songs.

Her first group was in French and every one of these numbers brought out the lyric beauty of her tones. She followed this group with five German songs repeating a sprightly little song, "Auf dem Grunen Balken" by Hugo Wolt and adding an extra number in response to insistent demands from the audience.

Her third group contained both French and Italian songs and in these she gave a hint of her dramatic powers.

The last group was made up of English songs, one number of which "My Heart" was a composition of Alberta Randdegger, Mme. Alda's accompanist, and the singer graciously included him in response to the applause which met this number and the number was repeated with even greater charm.

The last number on her program did not close the concert, however, for the audience refused to leave and recalled the singer again and again. She responded with a pretty cuckoo song and gracious acknowledgements. This concert was the third in the series which Horace W. Reyner, Stephen H. Jones and T. W. Hugo arranged for this winter and proved a triumph for the singer.

The next feature of the course will be the concert by Allesandro Bonci on March 19.

MEDICAL FREEDOM
A public meeting in the interest of the League for Medical Freedom at Steinway hall, corner Fourth avenue west and First street, on Friday evening, Jan. 19, at 8 o'clock. Dr. Leonard and Prof. Greer of Minneapolis, will speak. Admission free.

RECEIVING ALL FREIGHT

Embargo on Perishable Articles Is Lifted By Railroads.

Residents of the range country and other smal cities and towns tributary to the produce markets of Duluth need feel no anxiety of any serious shortage of such foods for which they are accustomed to depend on Duluth dealers, for all the railroads running out of Duluth today acepted all freight shipments that were consigned to them here.

The market has been help up to a greater or les extent for several days on account of the unusually long-continued spell of extremely cold weather. Unless there is another such spell, the traffic between Duluth and the smaller cities and towns will not be seriously interfered with during the remainder of the winter.

Any long-continued spell of fairly mild weather will soon bring large shipments of potatoes, fruits and fresh vegetables into Duluth from southerly points. During the last two days some consignments of oranges and lemons have arrived from Chicago in good conditon. The railroads, however, are not inclined to take any unnecessary risks. Fresh eggs and lettuce are arriving in considerable quantities by express from points within the state.

ISHPEMING MAN'S FUNERAL IS HELD

Ironwood, Mich., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of Matt Kaska, who was killed at the American mine at Ishpeming was brought here last Friday, the funeral services being held yesterday afternoon from the Finnish church. The deceased was 25 years of age and single. He leaves a sister and two brothers. Rev. Alfred Valano conducted the services and interment was at Riverside cemetery.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Ekabia of Van Buskirk died at the home of its parents last week and was buried yesterday afternoon. Rev. Alfred Valano conducted the services. The baby was only five days old. Interment was at Riverside cemetery.

Puritan Miner Hurt.

Gust Gustavson, a fireman at the Puritan mine, fell from the top of the boiler to the cement floor Saturday afternoon and broke his arm, also receiving several cuts and bruises. A steam pipe broke on top of the boilers and Gustavson climbed up to see if he could fix them. When he tried to come down he missed his footing and fell to the cement floor beneath. Gustavson is of Swedish nationality, about 32 years of age. He has a wife and two children living at the Puritan. His injuries are not of a serious nature, yet he received a general shakeup and will be confined to his home for some time.

Y. M. C. A. STATE CONVENTION SPEAKERS ARE ANNOUNCED

Secretary Bevis of the Y. M. C. A. received word this morning of the thirty-eighth annual convention of the Young Men's Christian association of Minnesota to be held at Winona, Feb. 8-11. Edward W. Peck of Minneapolis, state secretary, has sent notice to all the associations of the state. The Duluth association will send delegates to the meeting, and all others interested in the work may attend if they wish to do so.

The state officers are planning to make the convention the largest of its kind ever held in the state. The theme of the meeting is announced as follows "Men and Religion, Its Present Significance." The speakers will take up the various phases of the association's work, which includes Bible study, social service, boys' work, missions, the church and evangelism.

The executive committee at Minneapolis has announced the following speakers for the convention: Henry Churchill King, D. D., president of Oberlin college; Clyde R. Joy of Keokuk, chairman of the national finance committee and the Men and Religion Forward movement; Dr. George J. Fisher of New York, international secretary of the physical department of the Y. M. C. A.; James E. Freeman, D. D., rector of St. Mark's church at Minneapolis; William J. Robinson of Chicago, president of a large Illinois corporation and a great helper of the Y. M. C. A. in his state; David R. Porter of New York, International secretary of the preparatory school department; Ozora S. Davis, D. D., of Chicago, president of the Chicago Theological seminary; Clarence B. Willis of Milwaukee, general secretary of the Milwaukee association, and A. G. Knebel of St. Louis, international secretary of the railroad department.

The music will be under the direction of C. B. Willis and the prayers will be in charge of James E. Freeman, D.D. The executive committee which is in charge of the convention this year is made up of the following members: R. A. Kirk, St. Paul; W. B. Mitchell, St. Cloud; Arthur E. Haynes, Minneapolis; D. C. Hill (emeritus), Red Wing; Walter N. Carroll, Minneapolis; G. M. Palmer, Mankato; C. J. Hunt, St. Paul; Horace M. Hill, Minneapolis; G. P. Lyman, St. Paul; William M. Gold, Redwood Falls; Albert J. Nason, St. Paul; F. E. House, Duluth; J. M. Anderson, Minneapolis; Eugene M. Stevens, Minneapolis; Frank J. Clemans, St. Paul; Walter S. Harris, Minneapolis; W. D. Peck, Minneapolis.

TEST AUTHORITY IN HIGH COURT

Powers of North Dakota Authorities in Epidemic Cases Is Issue.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.) — A test case to determine authority of township and county boards of health to prohibit public gatherings because of a disease epidemic will be taken to the supreme court in North Dakota. The case comes from Bantry, McHenry county. The county health board quarantined several families for smallpox, prohibited a public dance and locked the hall. Edgar Wagner went to the county board and got permission to open the hall and broke the lock. Warrants were issued but not served and it was decided to carry the case through lower courts and up to the highest in state to determine it.

New Orleans Jan. 16.—An express messenger was killed, several passengers were hurt and a baggage car was burned at the derailment this morning of train No. 1 on the Alabama & Vicksburg railroad, seventeen miles west of Meridian, Miss.

TO THE MUSICAL PUBLIC OF DULUTH:

We take pleasure in announcing that we have reopened the business of Sheet Music and Musical Instruments discontinued a year ago on our entering the field of piano selling exclusively. The persistent demand of our former customers and friends that we again take up this line, coupled with the fact that Duluth really needs a first-class music house, where an adequate stock is kept, doing away with the necessity of sending out of town for everything needed, decided us in taking this step.

Our location, corner of Second Avenue West and First street (across from Bayha & Co.) is one of the best in the city, located as it is just about in the center of Duluth's retail and shopping district.

We shall be pleased to have those in need of anything in the musical line give us a call. Our many years of experience and general knowledge of matters musical will be a guarantee we think, that our customers' wants at all times will be looked after, and that they, in our store, will find just what is needed when it is needed.

News and Views of Minnesota Politics

The entrance of Sam Y. Gordon and W. E. Lee into the race for governor, the tentative announcement of N. J. Holmberg of Renville, and the consequent certainty that there will be a division of the anti-Eberhart forces in the state convention appear at first glance to give the "man a destiny" the nomination without a struggle.

Under ordinary circumstances, a machine candidate could, through the workings of the organization, walk off with a nomination sought by two or more opposing candidates. Ordinary circumstances do not prevail in Minnesota this year, however, and gaining the nomination for Eberhart may be a harder task than some of the machine organs would have the people believe.

The caucus and convention system is the rock on which bossism was founded. The ordinary voter has not paid much attention to caucuses. He has left the selection of delegates to the party leaders. The party leaders are part of the organization, so that the organization has done what it pleases.

The primary system, even though it is not state wide in Minnesota, awakened the voters to their power in making nominations. Just as they can make a nomination over the heads of party leaders amenable to a higher power, it will be hard to bring about such a seizure in Minnesota, but it is not outside the possibilities.

The anti-Eberhart sentiment in this state is something wonderful. The people are contemptuous of his weakness and if they can be aroused, they may set about turning him out, even though they must make use of the cumbersome machinery of the caucus system.

It may be that the anti-Eberhart delegates in the state convention will be so numerous that Eberhart will be unable to get a majority. If the other candidates see danger in a deadlock, they may pool delegates to effect a Progressive nomination; or a dark horse may be brought in to stampede the delegates.

There is more than a probability that L. C. Spooner will come out as a stand-pat opponent of Eberhart, which would help the Progressives by splitting the organization delegation.

A division is undoubtedly dangerous to the Progressive cause, but if Progressive delegates are all anti-Eberhart and there are enough of them, Smith's powr will be broken.

The situation is an interesting one. Sam Gordon intends to carry his fight right to the people just as though the primary system prevailed. Other candidates will be forced to do the same, or Sam will have an advantage. A warm campaign is promised and, while Eberhart's chances, aided by organization work and the proverbial apathy of the people, appear to be best, many developments may change the outlook in six months.

Mr. Lee's platform, while not as definite in its terms as that of Mr. Gordon, covers substantially the same ground. The breweries are hit. The initiative, the referendum and the recall are advocated, and other Progressive measures are mentioned in terms which indicate Mr. Lee's support of them. The announcement, telegraphed from Long Prairie, folows:

I wish to announce that I am a candidate for governor subject to the action of the Republican state convention.

I deem it proper to say at this time that if elected to that office I shall enter upon its duties with some experience in both the executive and legislative departments of our state government and shall devote whatever experience, ability and energy I possess to giving the state a good business administration in the interest of all the people.

I shall expect to familiarize myself with the administration of each of our state institutions and be in close touch with the several boards having them in charge. My undivided time will be given to the state's business, and the laws, whether good or bad, will be rigidly enforced. Appointments will not be made to gratify any one's ambition, to satisfy any particular locality or to build up a political machine, but men will be selected for administrative offices because of their ability and their capacity to help me carry on the business of the state in a businesslike manner.

I shall call the attention of the legislature to the fact that a condition necessary to good government is the elimination of the brewery and saloon from politics and that laws should be passed which will secure that much-needed reform. With the large breweries owning and controlling more than one-half the saloons in the state and continuing their policy of planting new ones wherever there is promise of a profit above the cost of a bartender, clean politics and efficient, wholesome government is impossible. While the people permit the liquor traffic to control elections they are in a measure estopped from complaining if large business interests combine with the breweries to control legislation.

It has been demonstrated that questions in which the people are keenly interested, such as the extension and perfection of the primary law, state development, the securing of immigration, equal distribution of the burden of taxation, the income tax amendment to the Federal Constitution and railway discrimination, cannot be rightly determined in a legislative body in which the brewery interest is paramount and made the determining factor in every issue and I would be necessary to drive this interest out of every department of our state government.

We all declare with pride that in this country "the government derives its powers from the consent of the governed." To me, this means that the will of the people ought to be supreme and that their mature judgment reached in an orderly manner through regularly appointed methods must determine all policies and settle all questions in which the people have a common interest. In this great country, representative government is necessary, but with proper organization and a well thought out system, the initiative and referendum can be exercised by the people on important questions with beneficial results; and to me it is a monstrous doctrine that would deny to the people the right to recall in a deliberate and orderly way the power delegated to a public servant. For a man to wish to hold office after the people have deliberately decided they no longer have confidence in him would be of itself sufficient reason for his recall. To say this would be "mob rule" is to question the capacity of the people for self-government.

The unrest of the times is but an expression of dissatisfaction and distrust in the management of public affairs and the remedy lies in placing the responsibility of reform upon the people. It is their government and they must undertake the task and assume the responsibility of making it what it ought to be. I would consider it a great privilege to be permitted to help them.

Mr. Holmberg's tentative announcement does not commit him to enter the race. He merely said that if there is sufficient pressure brought to bear on him by the Progressives, he will make a fight for the nomination. It may be that the Progressives will be satisfied with Lee and Gordon and will discourage any increase in the number of Progressive candidates. The disposition on the part of some Progressive leaders to mix state and national affairs, may alienate them from Gordon, but Lee has been an ardent supporter of the Progressive cause and there appears to be no cause for them to bring out a candidate against him.

The St. Peter Herald, which was edited by John A. Johnson before he was called to the governor's chair, sees signs of Democratic victory in the state next year. It says:

Just as all the signs portent a national victory for Democracy, so do they promise success for the Democratic state ticket. The voters of Minnesota rebuked gang rule in 1904, and kept on rebuking it until they were deprived of the leader they had chosen, in the space of a few months the machine was again securely entrenched in power, and today it is more defiant than ever before. This situation is well known and the people are in a mood to clean house.

The Walker Pilot doesn't believe Bob Dunn will be willing to go down to political death with Adolph O. Eberhart. Bob hasn't been very insistent in his denials that he is on the slate for lieutenant governor. The Pilot says:

The Eberhart forces are rosining up their political bows and squeaking out a tune to the effect that Bob Dunn will probably play second fiddle for them in the coming campaign and run for lieutenant governor. We don't believe that under any consideration, Bob can be persuaded to participate in the musical program of his own funeral.

The Cannon Falls Beacon looks favorably on the proposed candidacy of James A. Peterson for the Republican nomination for United States senator. The Beacon said last week:

James A. Peterson of Hennepin county has a few thousand dollars that he is willing to spend in traveling over the state of Minnesota telling the people what use Uncle Knute Nelson has made of his time and their money during the past sixteen years. James is a plain spoken man and knows his subject well, and when he draws aside the veil of mystery with which our senior senator has shrouded his personality and doings, their ideal will be found to be very much clay.

The Nelson-Eberhart-Dunn "succession of resignations" story has been fought most frequently with the assertion that Knute Nelson would not break faith with the people by resigning after having been elected to the senate. The Red Wing Free Press has resurrected some ancient history to back up its assertion that Knute is not above such tactics. It recalls the occurrences of 1894 when Nelson was elected to the governorship, only to obtain election to the senate and resign the governorship to Clough.

The Free Press says:

The way Knute Nelson at that time kept faith with the people was to go before them as he did at Albert Lea and other places, and declare that he was not a candidate for United States senator, as had been reported, but was a candidate for governor and wanted to be elected, and if elected, expected to serve out his term—and then, as soon as elected, cast aside the office for a higher one and left the office for which he had been elected to be filled by the lieutenant governor, Dave Clough, who at that time was the last man the people would have thought of in connection with the governorship. As it happened, the state didn't lose by the transaction, because Clough, who was a big-hearted, whole-souled, rough-and-ready sort of fellow, permitted State Auditor Dunn, who was amply qualified in every way, to run the governor's office for him, and as it turned out the state was given a better administration than Knute Nelson would have given it.

But that didn't relieve Mr. Nelson of the charge of breaking faith with the people of Minnesota—nor with the political interests that helped make him governor in order that Washburn might go to the senate.

This is somewhat ancient history, but it is quite pertinent at this time inasmuch as the chief character concerned is still in the political field and is being urged for re-election to the senate on the ground that "he has always kept faith with the people."

Germany. There, he said, no private slaughter house exists. All slaughtering is carried on in the public slaughter halls under sanitary surroundings, and the work of meat inspection is enormously facilitated. All meat taken into the city has to be taken to the central office for inspection before being sold. Microscopic and other examinations are carried out, and all meat passed as sound is stamped, showing it is fit for human food. Bad meat is taken away and destroyed by the municipality.

Sure's Help Needed.

"It would seem as though the municipal abattoir might be used to bring about an improvement in animals slaughtered for local sale," Dr. Bracken continued. "But the municipal abattoir cannot do this without the aid of the state, and the state cannot carry out any system of inspection without very liberal appropriations. The slaughtering of meat within the state from low-grade and diseased animals without any inspection whatever, should be stopped.

"It should be possible to establish the municipal abattoir on a fee basis. It should prove favorable to the consumer because he would be sure of the quality of his meat. It should prove favorable to the local butcher because he would have an advertising guarantee for his meats, and it should prove favorable to the packer because his local competitors would be on the same basis as himself so far as related to the quality of his meats.

Thinks Plan Would Grow.

"If any state should pass permissive laws along these lines, it should be possible for all municipalities having a population of 5,000 or upwards to put them into effect very quickly after passage, and the municipalities having a population ranging from 1,000 to 5,000 could rapidly follow those having the larger population. Later, the small municipalities would see the advantage gained by such action and undoubtedly would come to a great extent under similar local control. With such an arrangement, the state might easily set aside a small appropriation, using it as an incentive for the municipalities to take up such a line of inspection. If this plan should be followed out, then all attempts to secure a state-wide inspection might be abandoned."

Dr. Bracken scored the country slaughter houses as they now exist and said:

"I, for one, do not hesitate to say that as they now exist, they should be put out of operation. It is often contended that a slaughter house can be nothing but a nuisance and must, therefore, be located outside of the municipality, where it is unseen by the people, and consequently not offensive. This is not true, and moreover, is a dangerous argument.

Strict Observation Necessary.

"No slaughter house should be located where it is not under strict and close observation. Things are done in the dark that people would not think of doing in the open. Many things are permitted at the isolated country slaughter houses that would not be tolerated inside of the boundaries of the municipality. No slaughter house should be located where it cannot have an abundance of water and a place for disposing of its sewage.

"As to the possibility of operating a slaughter house without causing a nuisance, we have certain well defined illustrations in the state of Minnesota, and one in particular where the building is on the main street of a little city having a population of 6,192. I would never have thought of suggesting this place for such a killing house. Nevertheless, the owners asked and secured permission from the municipal authorities and I have yet to hear a single complaint of this place as a nuisance."

Dr. Bracken favors close inspection of all meats, both by state and federal officials, and believes that all animals or meat condemned should be paid for by the state or federal government.

Last Year Unprofitable.

That the past year has been the most unprofitable to the packing house industry in a decade was the assertion made in the report of the executive committee of the American Meat Packers' association.

"The uncertainty which prevails in many lines of business as to just what the government considers legitimate operations," is given by the committee as the reason.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson told the packers that his department had done much in driving out disease among American cattle, and that his work would be continued until there was not a single tuberculosis or fever-ticked food animal in the country.

President Allerdice of the association in his address said the packers had nothing to fear from laws for government supervision and regulation of corporations, if enacted on just lines.

DR. PATTON WILL LECTURE HERE

Former Pastor of Pilgrim Congregational Church Returning for Visit.

Rev. C. H. Patton, former pastor of Pilgrim Congregational church and now corresponding secretary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, who is at present on a tour of visitation to some of the more important churches of this denomination, will be in Duluth Thursday and Friday of this week.

The men of Pilgrim church will meet Dr. Patton at luncheon in the Y. M. C. A. building Thursday noon.

On Thursday at 8 p. m., Dr. Patton will deliver an illustrated stereopticon lecture in the church to which all members of the congregation and the general public are cordially invited.

The title of Dr. Patton's stereopticon address will be, "Along African Trails," and it will describe a journey of over 4,000 miles in the interior of Africa, including Gaza Land, Mashona Land, Matabele Land, Natal and Angola on the West cost. Certain parts of the trip were in the nature of exploration of new territory with reference to studying the habits and status of the natives in the hope of eventually establishing mission stations among them. This applies particularly to Mashona Land between the station of the Duluth church at Chikore and the cape to Cairo railroad. The lecture will abound in descriptions and pictures illustrating the strange life of the natives. There will be shown views of the remarkable old ruins in Southern Rhodesia in the heart of the African forest, which date back as far as King Solomon, and which indicates some long-lost civilization.

Dr. Patton will also take his hearers to the Victoria falls and show them some glorious views of that old wonder. The slides are all from his own photographs which were taken with very great care, having reference not only to accurate descriptions of the scenes, but to artistic values as well. The slides have been colored under his own instructions by Miss Pinkerton of Chicago, who has done a beautiful piece of work. The pictures are highly artistic, quite apart from the ordinary missionary views which are shown. In connection with Angola he will speak of the slave traffic and the rum traffic which he was able to study at close range.

MRS. MORROW IS HELD FOR HUSBAND'S MURDER.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Mrs. Rene M. Morrow, club woman and author, who was arrested on a charge of murdering her husband who was twenty years older than she, is held to the grand jury by Municipal Judge Fake in bonds of $40,000. She did not take the stand in her own defense at the preliminary hearing.

Morrow, who was an inventor, was found shot to death on the porch of the home he had deeded to Mrs. Morrow before their marriage. Witnesses testified that domestic life was stormy in the household and one witness, a roomer, testified that he had usurped Morrow's rights as a husband.

A maid in the house testified that Mrs. Morrow had requested her to tell callers that Morrow had committed suicide because of financial troubles and had requested that a revolver lying near the body be hidden. A quarrel between Morrow and his wife just previous to the shooting was related.

LESS ADDRESSES TO BE DELIVERED

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A new idea in farm instruction work will be given its first trial in North Dakota at the Red Rivery Valley corn and clover convention here Feb. 6 to 9. Instead of the old time-worn farmers' institute program, a regular farm university will be conducted for four days.

Classes in dairying cattle, grain, butter making and domestic science, for the farmers and their wives, will be organized and carried on in a systematic manner in such a way that every farmer will be given a full opportunity to study the question in which he is most interested, and not compelled to participate in general meetings where speakers flit from one subject to another, only to be finally dismissed with a maze of agricultural ideas out of which he is able to extract but little that is of material value to him.

Old Institute Plan.

The old farmers' institute plan is one which agricultural experts have come to recognize as being out of date. A class in dairying cattle will be conducted by Fred W. Merrill of Grafton, a government expert, and by Superintendent A. K. Risser, the head of the western division of federal agricultural work.

A class for butter making will be conducted by Commissioner R. F. Flint of North Dakota. A class in domestic science for the wives of farmers will be created.

The auditorium has been secured for the meeting. For the cattle classes a herd of cattle will be housed in the building, a portion of the basement being fitted up as a temporary barn.

The butter making classes, the grain classes and the domestic science classes all will be conducted with every facility at hand for the best work possible, so that the new idea may be made a complete success.

Thomas Cooper, secretary of the North Dakota Better Farming society is assisting Secrary M. C. Bachelor in arranging some of the details.

WOULD END CAPITAL PUNISHMENT IN NEW YORK.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 16.—The recent agitation for abolition of the death penalty in this state, which is favored by Governor Dix and Col. Scott, superintendent of the state prison, has resulted in the introduction in the legislature of two bills to banish the electric chair. The measure makes the penalty for murder in the first degree life imprisonment.

BUYS SAUSAGE AND HOLDS UP BUTCHER.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 16.—A lone robber, after buying 5 cents worth of sausage, held up Robert Meuser, proprietor of a meat market, which is within a block of police headquarters, and escaped with $17 and a diamond valued at $40. Frosted windows shielded the robber from the sight of the crowds passing on the sidewalk.

DRIVEN OUT BY FLAMES

Hotel Guests Make Hurried Exit in Their Night Clothing.

Fire Again Scorches One of the City's Historic Landmarks.

Pandemonium broke loose in the St. James hotel early this morning at 213 West Superior street when fire, which for a time threatened to raze the hostelry to the ground, was discovered in the rear of the structure.

Dozens of guests, including a number of women, poured into the corridors and down the stairway into the street. Most of them were but partially clad and a few ran onto the icy sidewalk in their bare feet, seeking shelter in nearby buildings. Many of them grabbed their suitcases while several lugged their trunks down the stairs. For a time they were stacked up on Superior street in front of the building, but later they were either taken back into the hotel again or stored temporarily in the stores on either side of the hotel. That no one was seriously injured seemed a miracle.

The cause of the blaze is unknown. It started in the attic at the rear of the building. The loss to the building is estimated at $1,000 and that of the contents at $500. That the damage to the contents from water was not greater was due to the fact that the salvage corps spread covers in nearly every room of the house as soon as the department arrived.

The St. James is one of the landmarks of the city and has been threatened with destruction by fire several times, but in each case the efficient work of the fire department has saved it.

Stillwater Man Killed.

Stillwater, Minn., Jan. 16.—Christian Hennington, a prominent business man of this city, was killed, almost instantly, by being crushed under a large plate glass which he was helping to unload from a freight car late Monday. He was born in Sweden and had been a resident of Stillwater for thirty-six years.

ST. PAUL BOY OF 16 FOUND HANGING AT HOME.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 16.—George Leffler, 16 years old, committed suicide Monday evening by hanging himself in his bedroom at the family home. He was found suspended from a curtain pole with a bed cord, and was cut down by a neighbor. No reason is accounted for by the boy's parents, who, in spite of the coroner's findings, insist that he lost his life by an accident, while practicing some kind of an athletic performance.

Death Points to Aching Kidneys

U. S. Government Statistics Show Over 100,000 Deaths a Year from Kidney and Bladder Diseases.

The appalling death rate from kidney and bladder diseases in the United States is enough to make any man or woman, who has the first sign of these troubles, turn pale with fear. Kidney disease is the "snake" among all diseases. Pain in the back means that you have already had kidney trouble for some time. Deaths occur by the thousands from sheer negligence.

Dr. Clarke, the great specialist, has put into Dr. Clarke's Kidney Wafers the result of 18 years of remarkable success in curing dangerous kidney and bladder diseases. Take them tonight—you'll feel their effects tomorrow. They save the kidneys,—make them work normally,—and save you.

Dr. Clarke's Kidney Wafers are the only kidney treatment that makes good its strongest statement. If you have pain in the back, profuse or scanty, cloudy or foul urine, rheumatism, diabetes, bladder pains, Catarrh of the Bladder, your search for a cure should end, if you buy a 25c box of Dr. Clarke's Kidney Wafers, at any drug store, or sent direct, on receipt of price, by Regent Drug Company, 42 Regent Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

If you want to prove their wonderful results first, just ask your druggist for a free sample package. Get it and try it. You'll be convinced. If you want any advice about your kidney or bladder trouble, just write to the above company. It will be given free and cheerfully.

FORMER MINISTER MAKES $18,000 IN REAL ESTATE IN LESS THAN TWO YEARS

After serving in the ministry for twenty years and ending in poverty, Rupert Swinnerton gave up the profession just eighteen months ago and entered into the real estate business, in which he has already cleared $18,000.

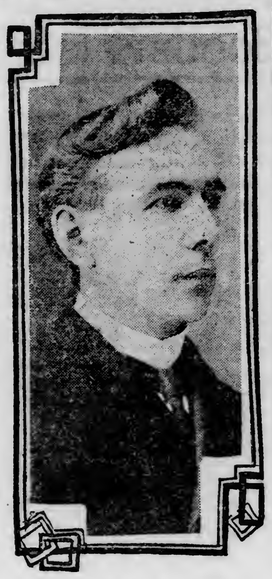

Mr. Swinnerton served several years at the Methodist church at Hibbing and after giving up the ministry went into the realty business in the same city, where he is located today. He was in the city yesterday.

When Mr. Swinnerton first took charge of the Hibbing church, it was in a bad state of repair, and the congregation in debt. He was compelled to start a campaign for funds and after soliciting among the congregation for several months with little success, gave up the plan. He then announced one Sunday morning at the services that if the saints would not give him the money with which to pay the debts, he was going to the sinners. And accordingly Mr. Swinnerton made the rounds of the saloons and men outside the church, and in a short time had collected enough money to pay the church debt and repair the building.

When everything had been paid up, Mr. Swinnerton announced one morning that he was going to resign from the church. He told of the poverty of his family and his inability to help his invalid wife or educate his children with the small allowance given him by the congregation.

After giving up the Hibbing church Mr. Swinnerton went to Cloquet for several months, and then returned to Hibbing and opened a small real estate office. Now the business is one of the largest in the range town and Mr. Swinnerton can be seen riding about the streets in an automobile.

"The ministry is all right," said Mr. Swinnerton yesterday, "but $18,000 in eighteen months is a little better than nothing in twenty years, even if it is the real estate business. I am still a good churchman and haven't a word to say against the church, but its ministers are not paid a living wage. I had one of the good charges and I couldn't lay aside a dollar for a rainy day."

RUPERT SWINNERTON.

MERCURY TO DROP AGAIN

The comparatively mild weather of today will not last a great while. During the early hours the thermometer registered about zero at Duluth, and the usual warming-up took place as mid-day approached. The Duluth people may enjoy this welcome relief until tomorrow, when the mercury will again drop. Tomorrow afternoon it will turn considerably colder, and in the evening and during the night the thermometer will again register considerably below zero. It is not expected, however, that there will be any such frigid weather as that of last week.

however, insisted that the use of the police was part of a plot against him.

Questioned by Kern.

Senator Kern wanted to know the details of the ill-feeling between Lorimer and Former Senator Hopkins.

"I don't want to go into that unless I have to," said Lorimer. "The gulf between us is wide enough now and I don't want to widen it unless the committee insists on hearing it."

The committee decided to hear it briefly.

"Well," said Lorimer, "after we had sent him to the senate he turned on every one of us. We felt we were under no obligations to send him back. He had no friends at all and could not be elected again."

Members of the committee evinced much interest in the details of the political situation regarding the senatorial contest in 1909 and much of the morning session was spent in questions along that line.

From Bootblack to Senator.

Senator Lorimer in his direct testimony told the story of his life with many homely details. Blacking boots at the age of 10 to support a widowed mother and five brothers and sisters, then a cash boy, a laborer wheeling coal, a house painter, a street car conductor, and a building contractor, were the successive steps he detailed in his progress to his present position as president of a national bank. He traced his way in politics from a constable's billet to a seat in the United States senate.

The man under fire was the coolest man in the room while he told his story. His voice was unshaken except when he spoke of his mother—two years dead. The ticking of the clock was audible between the sentences.

The political sensation of the day's testimony came when he declared that the faithlessness of Former Mayor Busse of Chicago and Former Senator Albert J. Hopkins defeated Former Governor Yates in the primary contest with Doneen, the present governor. He said Busse had promised to support Yates and pledged a campaign fund of $2,500 which he never paid.

"After that I was convinced that Hopkins had turned on his friends," said Lorimer, "and I treated him as I would treat any other man who tried to destroy my friends."

Why White Voted for Him.

"Why did Charles A. White vote for you as senator?" was one of the questions asked.

White was the former member of the Illinois legislature whose confession of bribery, published in a Chicago newspaper, formed the foundation of the inquiry into Senator Lorimer's election.

"He came to me and volunteered his vote," replied Senator Lorimer. "It was about ten days before my election. I did not solicit his vote. He was a street car conductor, and I had been one, and there is a fellow feeling among street car men in Chicago. Although most of them are Democrats, whenever I have been running for congress I have received 90 per cent of their votes."

"Did White suggest he ought to have something for his vote?"

"He never mentioned such a thing."

This portion of Senator Lorimer's testimony developed a conflict with the statements of other witnesses.

"Why didn't you testify in your own behalf at the former investigation?" asked Judge Haney.

His Earlier Silence.

That question was asked in the senate when Lorimer's case was being voted upon. The fact that he did not testify is said to have had much weight in influencing the senate's decision to order the present rehearing.

"Why, in the first place, counsel for the Chicago Tribune were prosecuting the case," replied Mr. Lorimer, "and they stated they did not intend to connect me personally with any bribery or corruption. I felt that it was below the office I was holding to go on the stand to deny a charge which had not been made against me, and that it would establish a precedent of calling senators under oath to testify about any charge or lie that might be made against them."

pected, will command that the men be immediately executed.

Rebels His Assailants.

Yuan Shi Kai's assailants were three Chinamen, said to be prominent revolutionaries.

They were standing on the sidewalk when the premier's carriage approached. When the vehicle was about thirty yards from them one of the men threw a large bomb in its direction, but his aim was so bad that the missile exploded twenty feet from the carriers. The vehicle rattled and shook from the shock of the explosion, but Yuan Shi Kai escaped unscathed, and appeared not to be greatly perturbed. The force of the explosion was so great that many houses hundreds of yards away were shaken.

The Kan Su imperial army, after much fighting, has succeeded in pushing its way to within sixty miles of Sian Fu. The entire province of Shen Si is in a turmoil. Many towns have been looted and deserted.

The reported massacre of 10,000 Manchus by rebels in the Shen Si district, is confirmed.

Abdication Is Reported.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 16.—A cable message from Shanghai received here by the Chung Sai Yat Po, states that news has reached there from Pekin that a proclamation of abdication was published by the throne today. The message further stated that the empress dowager and the emperor announced their willingness to retire to the summer palace at Jehol.

Cruisers at Che Foo.

Che Foo, China, Jan. 16.—The Republican cruisers Has Chen, Hai Yung and Nan Thin arrived here from Shanghai at 8 o'clock this afternoon and were given an enthusiastic welcome by the inhabitants and the local officials.

STOMACH MISERY JUST VANISHES

No Indigestion, Sourness, Gas or Dyspepsia Five Minutes Later.

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of Indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapepsin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and overcome a sour, gassy Stomach five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula, plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily see why it makes Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and other distress go in five minutes, and relieves at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour, undigested food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from Indigestion and Dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with the common, every-day cures advertised that they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe theirs is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This, no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead, it ferments and sours, turns to acid, Gas and Stomach poison, which putrefy in the digestive tract and intestines, and besides, poison the breath with nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapepsin.

interested in the conduct of the department of justice, as long as the papers presented here are legal and fairly set forth a case."

Denies Company's Claim.

Mr. Watson declared he himself had examined witnesses before the grand jury who counsel for the Colwell Lead company of New York, declared did not appear, and that the government in its investigation found that of the American proportion of 95 per cent of the world's supply of enamelled sanitary supplies, the defendants controlled 85 per cent.

Judge Angell asked if there would not be some force to the contention of the defense if it appeared that the grand jury acted entirely on hearsay evidence. Mr. Watson, in reply, cited a court decision to bear out his contention that the presumption was that the jury acted on competent evidence.

Mr. Watson declared the tariff, which was mentioned yesterday, had no bearing on the case; that it was quite a different matter to raise prices through an economic policy from raising them through a business combination that obliterated competitors. The constitutionality of the Sherman anti-trust law, he declared, had been declared by the supreme court within the last few weeks in the Swift case.

loss from explosions all over the country.

Code System Used.

Telegrams and letters signed "Ping" and purporting to contain a code system for giving instructions about viaducts, bridges and buildings to be blown up, were read before the federal grand jury in connection with Ortie McManigal's confession as to who was implicated with him in the dynamiate conspiracy.

The signature, according to McManigal, was not that of the McNamaras, but was used by another person, whom he named.

In June, 1910, at Cincinnati, McManigal said, in response to a telegram from "Ping," he went to Cleveland and there blew up a viaduct, for which he received $125, paid him later by "Ping" in Toledo.

The dynamiter's movements in Pittsburg and his arrangement to have a supply of nitro-glycerin stored in an old shop at Rochester, Pa., also were arranged by this person. It was because of his belief that "Ping" was receiving $200 for each "job" and giving him only $125 that McManigal says he refused to work with him, and later arranged, through John J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge & Structural Iron Workers, to do the "jobs" with the aid of James B. McNamara.

More Subpoenaes Issued.

The feature of the investigation having to do with the movements of men who, McManigal says, accompanied him to various cities where "open shop" work was to be destroyed, received an impetus by the issuance of subpoenaes for new witnesses. The witnesses were ordered called after Oscar Lawler, special assistant to the attorney general, arrived from Washington and conferred with United States Attorney Charles W. Miller, who is conducting the inquiry.

All the indictments against W. J. Burns, the detective, and James Hosick, a special officer from Los Angeles, charging them with kidnaping John J. McNamara last April, were dismissed by the county criminal court yesterday. This action followed the attitude of the federal court, which last week released Burns from answering to the indictment, on the ground that the detectives, in taking McNamara to California, had acted legally.

OHIO LIABILITY LAW IS UPHELD

State Supreme Court Says Labor Statute Is Valid.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 16.—The Ohio supreme court today upheld the constitutionality of the workmen's compensation law, known also as the employers' liability law. The act provides, for an insurance fund created by contributions from employers and employes and provides for benefits from $1,500 to $3,400 for death resulting from industrial accidents, and $5 to $12 weekly for a period up to six years in case of lesser injuries. The law is optional with employers.

MORE BOOKS OF PACKERS SHOWN

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Counsel for the government continued their examination of the books of Morris & Co. during the Chicago packers' trial today.

Dozens of additional books were turned over to the representatives of the government at the beginning of the session.

Shipment books showing the sales of dressed beef by Morris & Co. covering the period from 1908 to 1910, were exhibited to the jury.

By the books of Morris & Co. and the testimony of Harry A. Timmins, chief accountant for that company, it was shown by the government that the practice of crediting the beef account with the value of the hides, amounting to about $3.60 per animal, was discontinued between November, 1907, and April 1, 1909. The result of this, the government declares, was to increase the test cost of beef and make it possible for the packers to raise the price of fresh meat without showing excessive profits on their books.

The government expects to show that 1908 was the most profitable year in the history of the fresh meat business up to that time.

Harry A. Timmins produced the profit and loss books for 1908-10 and explained the method of keeping them. He said an inventory of stock was taken every month.

"Who fixes the basis of value in figuring these inventories?" asked Special Council Sheean, for the government.

"I do," replied Timmins.

"Have you ever kept any copy of instructions given to subordinates showing the basis of figuring beef cost?"

"No."

"How are they issued?"

"In a typewritten letter."

"To whom were these instructions sent?"

"To all district managers and the men who did the figuring in our own office."

"L. B. P. C." ON RICH MAN'S BAGGAGE

Southern Californian Barred By the Immigration Authorities.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 16.—Though he has resided in Lower California for twenty years, and has become the wealthiest man on the Mexican peninsula, John Hussong, wholesale merchant of Ensenada, has been denied permission to land in the United States from the steamer Eureka. The Immigration officials placed the letters "L. B. P. C." after his name, and would give no reason for their act. The letters stand for "Liable become public charge."

Hussong employed attorneys here after bonds had been arranged to insure his return to Ensenada today. He says he will take the case to the department of commerce and labor if necessary.

Vienna, Jan. 16.—The situation of the Turkish-Montenegrin frontier is becoming increasingly serious. It is reported today from Saloniki that Montenegro is making preparations for a conflict with Turkey and is arming the population on the frontier of Montenegro with repeating rifles. This proceeding has caused the Mohammedan Albanians to demand that they be supplied with rifles by the Turkish authorities. The local Turkish garrisons are being reinforced.

PREPARE TO CHEER GEORGE AND MARY

Great Welcome Planned By People on Return of Rulers.

London, Jan. 16.—King George and Queen Mary, who are passing through the Red Sea on their return voyage from India, where they attended the durbar at Delhi, are to have a great welcome on their arrival in England.

On Feb. 4, a naval review at Spithead is to be held, and when the royal party arrives in London, although no formal reception has been arranged, the public is prepared to accord the king and queen an enthusiastic reception on their way from the station to Buckingham palace.

At Malta and Gibrallar there will be a naval welcome to their majesties, in which both the British and French navies will participate.

After the return of the king and queen to London a thanksgiving service is to be held at St. Paul's Cathedral.

The spring will be spent in returning coronation visits to all the continental courts.

NEVER ANY FALLING HAIR OR DANDRUFF IF YOU TRY THIS

Your hair looks soft, fluffy, lustrous and abundant after a Danderine hair cleanse

Immediate?—Yes. Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

A delightful surprise awaits, particularly those who have been careless, whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Try as you will, you cannot find any dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will never itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use of Danderine, when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair sprouting all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it; surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

WEST END CLUB WILL BE REVIVED

West End Commercial Organization Will Again Become Active.

After being delayed for several weeks on account of the holidays, the West End Commercial club will become a reality in a very short time, say the business men.

That a Commercial club is necessary for the West end is evidenced by the fact that there is no united work on the part of the business men, which is the chief cause why public movements for the betterment of the West end are rarely carried through. The work the West Duluth Commercial club has done during the past two or three years and what it has accomplished for the western end of the city are held up as examples by those behind the new club.

There was a Commercial club at the West end at one time, but it never gained a proper foothold. A large number of the business and professional men are anxious to have the club reorganized and placed on a strong footing. They claim that the reason the West end does not get more improvements it is entitled to is because of the fact there is no body of men that will push the work. A large mass meeting of every one interested in the project will be called within a few weeks, when the organization will be finally completed.

Many residents claim that it would not be advisable to start a club until a favorable location for club rooms is first obtained. They claim that there is no suitable place for the Commercial club members to gather, and lay the cause for the long delay to the absence of a proper building. For the present, however, any of the school buildings may be used for club purposes, as the board of education is willing to allow the use of the buildings conveniently located. Several pastors have offered the use of the basements of their churches, and are willing to co-operate with the business men in forming their club.

It has also been suggested by several of the business men that as soon as the new Woodmen hall at Twenty-first avenue west and First street is finished, club rooms could be secured and equipped to suit the members of the Commercial club. The building of the new structure has added impetus to the plan of organizing a club, as it will provide a proper place to hold meetings, banquets and gatherings in general. The large auditorium of the new building will seat about 700 people, and on the second floor will be built the various club rooms. These rooms are being sought by a number of West end societies and lodges, and it has been suggested by many that a club be organized as soon as possible, so that the club rooms may be secured before all the available rooms are taken by the other orfanizations.

PLEASED WITH ACTION OF BOARD

West End Residents Will Welcome Water in Place of Chloride.

After presenting a petition to the council, the West end residents in the vicinity of Twenty-third avenue west have won out in their campaign against the use of calcium chloride for covering the dust on the streets. The petition originated with Charles Benson, 2301 West Second street, and was signed by nearly all the residents in that block. They claimed in their petition that the chloride simply made mud and was a nuisance instead of a help to the residents. The petition was presented when it was learned by the property owners that the city was planning to use the chloride again this summer.

The board of public works will not abandon the use of chloride on the streets of Duluth, but will not spread the substance as extensively as it did last year. It was proven last year that the streets in the West end were not in the proper condition for the chloride, as the dust is two or three inches thick. On the harder roads the chloride proved to be a great help and will be used again on these streets this year.

At the request of the residents of the West end only water will be used on the streets this summer. The cost of the chloride is only half of the cost of sprinkling a street, and the plan was undertaken by the board for the purpose of saving the property owners all the money possible. Mr. Benson, originator of the campaign against the use of the chloride, said last evening that he was pleased with the action of the board of public works and the fact that it had listened to the complaint of the residents in the West end.

REPUBLICANS HOLD MEETING

West End Party Workers Gather and Hear Talks.

About seventy-five Republicans of the Seventh ward and members of the West End Republican club met at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, last evening and heard several of the Republican candidates give short talks. The principal speaker of the evening was H. A. Carmichael, president of the Young Men's Republican club, who is representing the Republican headquarters in the political campaign. He gave a short talk on the various Republican candidates for offices and the policies of Dr. McCuen, candidate for mayor.

Peter Olson was elected chairman of the Sixth ward and he will take active charge of campaigning the ward for the various Republican candidates. County Commissioner Joseph Cumming was appointed chairman in the Eighth ward and the two men will appoint the precinct captains some time this week. The men will be announced at the regular weekly meeting of the club next Monday evening. The other speakers who addressed the club last evening were: Clement de Roche, candidate for alderman in the Seventh ward; A. C. Anderson, candidate in the Sixth ward; County Commissioner Cumming, and Capt. Jeffrey.

It was announced last evening that Dr. McCuen will address the club Monday evening, Jan. 29.

WILL OPEN WEST END CAMPAIGN.

Mayor Cullum will officially open his political campaign in the West end Friday evening when he will address a gathering at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. The residents in this end of the city have been endeavoring for several weeks to get the Democratic candidates for the various offices to speak at a grand rally. Mayor Cullum announced yesterday that he would start his campaign Friday evening and would make a number of addresses next week.

Among the other speakers who will address the gathering at Sloan's hall are: William Bernard, candidate for re-election in the Seventh ward; E. J. Sandberg, candidate for alderman in the Sixth ward; P. J. Martin, candidate for alderman in the Eighth ward, and several others whose names have not yet been announced.

RECEPTION FOR NEW ARMY LEADERS.

Members of the Scandinavian Salvation army, 1631 West Superior street, are planning a grand reception for Thursday evening in honor of the new adjutant and his wife, who are expected to arrive in the city Thursday morning. Their names are being kept a secret and a surprise will be sprung on the members of the local corps. A special program has been arranged which includes vocal and instrumental selections from representatives of the various camps at the Head of the Lakes.

Miss Emilia Wallen, who was adjutant in charge of the local branch for the past year, left yesterday for Chicago, where she has been given a larger field.

EDUCATORS WORKING IN SHOPS AND HOMES.

Instructors from the Y. M. C. A. educational department are now invading the shops and boarding houses of the West end with the view of reaching the many working people who are not able to attend the evening schools that are being conducted throughout the city. The work is being done in conjunction with the special classes that have been formed at the Central high school, Monroe and Irving schools, which meet three times weekly.

The plan was started about the middle of December and is progressing successfully, say those at the head of the project. The instructors go to the shops during the noon hours and teach the workinmen various subjects. In the evening they go to the homes and endeavor to reach every person who is uneducated and who is unable to attend the schools. The plan does not interfere with the classes at the schools, as these instructors visit only those who cannot afford or are too tired after the day's work to go to school in the evening.

The present innovation was made after a careful examination by the Y. M. C. A. authorities, who came to the conclusion that the reason why so many did not attend the evening classes in the past was because they were too tired and were loathe to leave their homes. They also learned that out of eighty-five employes in the Northern Pacific shops, only 50 per cent could speak English.

West End Briefs.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Swedish Mission church will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Albert Nelson, 2205 West Eighth street.

The Parthenoe Society of the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, will hold its regular business session in the church parlors tomorrow evening.

O. G. Otterman of Waukesha, Wis., is a guest of West end relatives this week.

The Women's Foreign Home and Missionary Society of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street, met in the church parlors last evening.

Rev. Edwain Stromberg of the First Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, assisted by Rev. John E. Stone of Virginia, started the series of revival meetings last evening. The meetings are to continue every evening this week.

The Bethany Junior Society of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, held a business meeting in the church parlors last evening.

The deacons of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church will meet at 8 o'clock this evening at the home of the pastor, Rev. C. G. Olson, 2305 West Third street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Olbin and family of Twenty-seventh avenue west, left yesterday for Minneapolis, where they will visit with relatives.

IN THE DAY'S WORK AT WASHINGTON

No Date on Shipping Trust.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Secretary of Commerce Nagel has written to Chairman Henry of the house rules committee that he has no facts that would aid in the inquiry into the so-called shipping combine. He referred to reported combinations of foreign steamship lines with certain railroads. Attorney General Wickersham was unable to attend the meeting of the committee, which began hearings on the proposed sweeping investigation of the so-called money, shipping and harvester trusts. Most of the day's hearing was devoted to an argument by Representative Humphrey of Washington, many of whose statements had previously been made before congressional investigation committees with respect to shipping discriminations.

Senators Talk Pensions.

The senate committee on pensions discussed the whole subject of pension legislation, but deferred action. The Sherwood dollar-a-day bill, with its alleged possible train of $75,000,000 annual expenditures; the McCumber bill, involving much less, and other propositions were considered. Commissioner of Pensions Davenport, Representative Sherwood of Ohio, author of the house bill, and members of the legislative committee of the G. A. R. will be heard next Wednesday.

Public to Hear Senate Debate.

The senate voted to admit the public to its debates on the pending arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France. The vote was decisive, only eight senators of the sixty-six recording in favor of closed doors. The controversy as to whether the discussion should be in open or closed sessions was brought to a head when Senator Rayner announced that it was his purpose to make a speech in relation to the treaties. Senator Lodge said the delicacy of the entire subject of foreign relations demanded that discussion of it be executive. After the debate had continued for some time, chiefly between Senators Lodge and McCumber on the one side and Senators Smith, Cummins and Rayner on the other, a resolution providing for open sessions were offered by Senator Gallinger and was adopted, 58 to 8.

Hear Sugar Growers.

"We have to make two blades of grass grow where one grew before. If we do not make our farms produce more, those who come after us, our children's children and their children will starve. That is all there is to it, gentlemen," said Charles Allen, a Paulding, Ohio, banker and farmer, to the house sugar investigating committee. His testimony was sought as to the condition and profits of best farming for the sugar refiners which are being built throughout the United States. Mr. Allen offered his solution of the high cost of living. He said the cost of foodstuffs would continue to soar until more intensive farming was practiced in the United States.

William Louis Bass, a Santo Domingo sugar planter, attacked the sugar schedule and the so-called No. 16 Dutch standard. He said this was the trick in the tariff law, and he was involved in a tariff argument when the committee adjourned for the day.

Representatives Patch up Peace.

The altercation in the house Saturday between Representatives Johnson of Kentucky and Madden of Illinois, which led to a challenge to fistic combat, resulted in a statement to the house by each. Representative Johnson expressed his regret that the incident had occurred and said he and Mr. Madden had agreed later to have their words expunged from the official record, but that through a mistake it had not been done.

YOUNG BOYCE ON WAY TO TEXAS?

Killing of His Father By Snead Followed By Journey South.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 16.—It is said here today that A. G. Boyce, Jr., is on his way to Texas. Boyce, it is alleged, recently eloped with Mrs. J. B. Snead of Amarilla, the two coming to Winnipeg. Snead last Saturday shot and killed A. G. Boyce, Sr.

Grand Jury at Work.

Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 16.—Preliminary hearing of J. B. Snead has been delayed pending grand jury investigation of the killing of A. G. Boyce, Sr. The tragedy occurred in a local hotel Saturday night and was the sequel to the elopement of Snead's wife with Boyce's son. The pair were traced to Winnipeg, and aiter several weeks Mrs. Snead returned here when her husband went after her.

Both families are prominent in business and social affairs in Texas. Further outbreaks between the families and their supporters are feared.

A special session of the grand jury has been called. The indictments charging A. G. Boyce, Jr., with the abduction of Mrs. J. B. Snead from Fort Worth was dismissed Saturday on motion of County Attorney Baskin, who admitted lack of evidence.

Motive for Killing.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 16.—According to the statement of H. H. C. Compton, head of a local detective agency, who was active in the Snead-Boyce case at the time Mrs. J. B. Snead was taken from Winnipeg by her husband, Mr. Snead then revealed the motive which later caused the killing of A. G. Boyce, Sr. Snead, while here, according to Compton, accused the elder Boyce of duping him in connection with the elopement of the latter's son with the former's wife. Compton declares Snead charged that the elder Boyce had posed as his friend, and had pretended to take a stand against his own son, when in reality he had connived in Mrs. Snead's escape from the sanitarium in which she had been placed.

MICHIGAN MURDER TRIAL OPENS AT COLDWATER.

Coldwater, Mich., Jan. 16.—The trial of Mrs. Victor Hearst, charged with killing her husband, Nov. 12, opened in the circuit court yesterday. Mrs. Hearst, who is 63 years old, shot her husband, fifteen years her junior, with a revolver. She claims that the act was committed in self-defense.

ENGLISH COTTON MAN AND BANKER ARRIVE.

New York, Jan. 16.—H. Kern, chairman of the Liverpool cotton bills of lading conference committee, and James H. Simpson, secretary of the European bankers' conference committee, reached here today on the steamship Franconia. The object of their visit is to get into closer touch with American bankers, railroad men and cotton shippers, and arrange for a more satisfactory system of safeguarding cotton bills against fraud and forgery.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Central Trust company has been appointed receiver for the Chicago Lighterage company, on the application of creditors.

TAFT BOOSTERS IN NEBRASKA MEET.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 16.—Members of the Nebraska league, formed for the purpose of pledging a delegation to the Republican national convention to the renomination of President Taft, met here last night and selected a compete ticket to go on the primary ballot to be voted for on April 9. The coveted places were the four delegates-ships-at-large, and the selections were made without friction. Governor Aldrich, who is anxious to go as a delegate to the Chicago convention, was not chosen.

The Perfect Laxative For Elderly People

Age has its attractions no less than youth in a more serene and quieter life. But it is this very life of rest without sufficient exercise that brings with it those disorders that arise from inactivity. Chief of these are a chronic, persistent constipation.

Most elderly people are troubled in this way, with accompanying symptoms of belching, drowsiness after eating, headaches and general lassitude. Frequently there is difficulty of digesting even light food. Much mental trouble ensues, as it is hard to find a suitable remedy. First of all the advice may be given that elderly people should not use salts, cathartic pills or powders, waters or any of the more violent purgatives. What they need, women as well as men, is a mild laxative tonic, one that is pleasant to take and yet acts without griping.

The remedy that fills all these requirements, and has in addition tonic properies that strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which thousands of elderly people use, to the exclusion of all other remedies. Trustworthy people like Miss M. H. Burling, Ripon, Wis., and J. P. Crider, Kimball, Minn., say they take it at regular intervals and in that way not only maintain general good health, but that they have not in years felt as good as they do now. You will do well to always have a bottle of it in the house. It is good for all the family.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

HOT SHOTS AT THE ADMINISTRATION.

Two candidates against Governor Eberhart for the Republican nomination for governor bounced into the arena yesterday, preceding themselves by announcements taking on a good deal of the character of bombs intended to shatter the foundations of the state administration and the organization back of it.

Lieutenant Governor Sam Y. Gordon led, and he was promptly followed by William E. Lee of Long Prairie. That their aims are much alike is shown by the similarity between their platforms, a similarity that is general, however, and does not apply to terms of expression nor, in all details, to platform planks.

These two announcements, and the probability that there may be others before the lists are closed, make it clear that the great and glorious campaign of 1912 is in our midst, and that we shall have no surcease from its alarms and noises of battle, sham and real, from now until Nov. 5, 1912.

Mr. Gordon's statement—and what is said of his platform applies in a considerable degree to that of Mr. Lee—is a pretty bold, daring and venturesome challenge. It hits at every prop that supports the organization which is in complete control of his party, and therefore of the state government. It doesn't mince words, either, but when it has to talk about a spade says "spade," right out, just like that, instead of speaking mealy-mouthed about "a certain agricultural implement." He seems to have made up his mind to challenge the organization of special interests which controls his party and the state government to do their worst, and to attempt the experiment of interesting the members of the Republican party in the overthrow of that organization.

This is a very timely and interesting experiment. Nobody in the party to which Governor Eberhart, Lieutenant Governor Gordon, Ed Smith and Mr. Lee belong has tried it before.

Parties ought to serve the people. Mr. Gordon's party—which is Mr. Eberhart's party also—has been too busy serving special interests to bother about serving the people. If he or his coadjutor Mr. Lee can change this about they will do a great service both to the Republican party and the state, for it is, of course, to the interest of the state that its parties should be clean and quickly responsive to the people's will.

Judging from the past and from present conditions, these courageous assaults are made upon a very difficult fortification. Mr. Gordon's platform is of such a nature that he cannot hope it to interest the treasury of any special interest in his candidacy, and the same is true of Mr. Lee's; though the latter is a man of large means himself. The trouble is likely to be, with anybody running on such a platform, that he cannot expect to have anybody with him but just people; and under the convention system—it would be very different under the statewide primary system—and with the Republican organization so firmly entrenched in the party control, it would be nothing short of a revolution if a man running on a platform of that character gained a Republican nomination in this state. He could do it only over the dead body of the last faithful member of the Old Guard.

It is good that somebody is going to make the experiment of trying for a Republican nomination on a platform that hits directly at every special interest back of the administration and its organization. It ought to show whether the Republican party in Minnesota contains within itself any possibility of regeneration.

MR. HITCHCOCK OVERSTEPS THE BOUNDS.

Postmaster General Hitchcock seems to have put his foot in it when he caused the announcement to be made that he would soon recommend to congress that the government take over the telegraph lines of the country and operate them as a part of the postoffice service.

It isn't a bad idea, nor a new one. As we recall it the Populists urged it, along with government ownership of railroads, nearly a generation ago. The adoption of the plan wouldn't create a precedent, either. The telegraph is a part of the postoffice system in Great Britain, and most countries own their own telegraph lines. In point of fact this is the only large country in the world that has left its telegraph lines to private ownership, just as it is the only large country without a parcels post system.

Mr. Hitchcock, in his announcement, said he believed the post office could give much cheaper telegraph rates than the private companies are giving, and we have no disposition to doubt him. On the contrary, we should think it entirely certain that he is correct.

But evidently he had not consulted the head of his administration. After his announcement had been given to the papers somebody, apparently the administration itself, tried to prevent its publication, but Mr. Hitchcock himself could not be reached, so the matter became public.

Yesterday morning there was a great commotion about the president's offices, and apparently huge indignation. It was a complete surprise there, it was said, and it was also said that attempts would be made to induce the postmaster general not to make his recommendation.

In the meantime the mischief had been done, however. Congress heard of the matter with keen interest, and is already discussing it. So it may bear fruit whether the president stifles further utterances by the postmaster general or not.

It is easy to see why such a recommendation might cause a flurry in the head offices of the telegraph companies. It is not so easy to see why the president and his cabinet should be so fussed about it. Surely a plan that is in use in every other great country in the world is a proper matter for recommendation and discussion in this country. Petitions signed by more than 2,000,000 citizens of the United States have accumulated in congress asking for a postal telegraph system, and that fact in itself is enough to justify any postmaster general in considering the matter and in recommending its adoption if he thinks it a good business proposition.

And on that point it may be well to remember that John Wanamaker, one of the best business men in the country, recommended the postal telegraph when he was postmaster general.

And another point to bear in mind is that where the charge for ordinary messages in this country is 25 cents, it is 12 cents in Great Britain, Germany and Switzerland, 11 cents in Austria, and 10 cents in France and Belgium. There is much testimony, too, to the effect that the service from the publicly owned telegraph systems of Europe is much better than that provided by the privately owned systems of this country.

Altogether, it is easy enough to see why Mr. Hitchcock got to be of the opinion that the postal telegraph would be a good thing for this country, but not so easy to understand why the administration should be so excited about his announcement.

PUTTING IT UP TO THE PARENTS.

Alderman Scott has tackled in a novel manner the problem of the child who is on the streets when he ought to be at home. In a resolution offered before the city council last evening he proposes that when boys or girls under 16 years of age are caught on the streets after 9 o'clock in the winter and later than 9:30 in the summer, their parents shall be arrested and faced with the alternative of a fine or a term in jail.

This puts the responsibility, in a great majority of cases, precisely where it belongs. Some boys and girls are incorrigible, and their parents can do nothing with them; but the law provides a way of taking care of such children. That is what the juvenile court and the Red Wing training school are for.

But such cases are exceptions, and perhaps in nine cases out of ten where boys or girls are on the streets at night they are there because of the indifference, ignorance or neglect of their parents.

This is a real problem. The street at night is no place for children. They are subject there to hideous perils and grave menaces to health and morals. In fact no parent is justified in permitting his young children out of the home at night unless he knows—not thinks he knows, but knows—where they are. The arrest of a parent or two might go much farther toward solving this problem of city life than the arrest of a swarm of youngsters.

GOOD BUSINESS.

Three months ago business interests were shivering over the prospect of a presidential campaign year coming just when business was at its lowest ebb.

Today from every hand come business reports of the most encouraging nature.

The presidential campaign has not been postponed. It is already getting into its swing, and it promises to be one of the liveliest and most interesting in years.

The difference, therefore, is not in the political aspect, but in the mood of business interests. They have made up their mind that the presidential campaign is something that has to come, and that therefore it must be endured. Besides, business men who really get right down to clear thinking must realize that there is not a single person in the presidential lists with the slightest chance of nomination or election who could be expected to work any possible harm to legitimate business interests. Even La Follette, most feared of all, can point to his work in Wisconsin as proof that carrying out his policies are not bad for business, but good for it—for honest business, that is.

So, in spite of the presidential campaign, it is going to be a very good year for business. There is plenty of money to do business with, several years of hand-to-mouth production have eliminated surplus stocks in all lines, and with courage regained there is no reason on earth why the country can't keep busily at work, leaving the campaign for its spare time.

GETTING AHEAD.

This country took a long step ahead out of a coil of precedent and custom when the supreme court yesterday upheld the Federal employers' liability law of 1908. This law abolishes the absurd "fellow servant" rule on railroads. It also abrogates the vile doctrine of "assumption of risk," and it modifies the rule of contributory negligence; all common law rules that benefit employers and oppress workers. "No one has a vested property right in the common law," said the justice who wrote the decision.

This is a wholesome law, and a wholesome decision. All the states should follow this example.

THE PARCELS POST.

The fourth assistant postmaster general reports that last year the rural free delivery system cost $42,790,000, and that the receipts were $7,570,000. This is a loss of more than $35,000,000, and if it could be made to break even the postoffice department would show a profit, besides carrying free a vast amount of government and congressional mail.

It is a very expensive privilege, but it never will be withdrawn and it never should be withdrawn. It should be made to pay its way; and it would not be hard to make it show a profit.

On the 41,656 rural routes now in operation, covering an average of 24.19 miles each, the average weight of the loads carried is about twenty-five pounds. Several hundred pounds could be carried without any additional expense. The difference between what the rural carrier is carrying and what he could carry is pure loss.

That loss can be turned into a profit by the adoption of the parcels post system. The postoffice department favors a parcels post plan that will apply only to residents on rural routes. That would probably turn the rural delivery loss into a profit, or at least make cost and income balance. But the person who lives in a city or a village has as much right to the privilege of a parcels post as the farmer; so the parcels post system soon to be adopted should be general, and not restricted to the use of farmers.

THE COMMISSION PLAN IN OPERATION—24.

Hutchinson, Kan., went under the commission plan last year. The good results were prompt and noticeable. The city immediately went on a cash basis. More public improvements are going on than ever before. The city's bonds are selling at a lower rate of interest than they ever did. Politics is wholly eliminated from city business. The whole community, it is reported, is well pleased with the commission form of government, and would not think for a moment of returning to the old plan.

In view of such examples as this, isn't it probable that Duluth would be talking the same way after a trial of the commission plan?

THE SENATOR AND THE GOVERNOR

By SAVOYARD.

The former governor of Wisconsin did not go to Lansing to hear what the present governor of Michigan had to say of him. The story told the marines is that La Follette was driven to the wrong station, and boarded the wrong train on the wrong road. Be that as it may, he escaped a bad half hour by reason of it, and the mistake was fortuitous, even if there was no method in it as perhaps there was.

Governor Osborn was in Washington during the extra session last summer, and appeared before the finance committee of the senate, to testify in the case of the People vs. the Interests in re Canadian reciprocity. He was a witness for the plaintiff, and made a strong plea for the treaty, or convention, or whatever you please to call it. And that, too, despite the fact that Michigan as represented in congress was violently and vociferously opposed to reciprocity.

He is a unique character, is this Michigan governor. Born a farmer's son in Indiana, he was bred to daily toil. Of large physical build, he is a mass of bone and brawn, endowed with immense physical strength, and blessed with abundant robust health. His physical courage is stamped on that resolute countenance, his moral courage is sublime, and his mental courage is evidenced in his every utterance. He is honest, too, mentally as well as morally. He appears to have an inveterate grudge against English grammar, and assaults it, beats it, and bruises it cruelly. He has about as much self-consciousness as a basket of chips to Tophet to be burned, and you cannot be in his presence for five minutes without thinking of the picture of Bishop Burnett as painted by Macaulay in that magnificent fragment, the History of England. Here in high place is a man of the people, if there is one. Andy Johnson was not more so, and, men and brethren, this Osborn would make a good president of these United States, an admirable chief magistrate, according to his lights.

Well, the insurgents had resolved to give La Follette a greeting at Lansing, and they thought it would give tone to the affair to have the governor preside and introduce the distinguished visitor. Always ready for action and ever equal to every occasion, his excellency accepted the invitation and prepared a speech—and such a speech! He began with advice to La Follette to get off the track for president. He also wanted Taft to decline and make way for the Colonel or Beveridge. He furthermore volunteered to say that as between Taft and La Follette he was for Taft. That at a La Follette meeting, mind you, and so you will discover that if the governor of Michigan is not very strong on manners he is immense on candor. There was some kicking about the speech when the governor gave this defense: "Well, what did you people expect when you asked me to preside? You know where I stood. Do you think I would allow you to censor my remarks? I am more sorry than you that the senator is not here; but I am more than glad to pay for the hall, if that makes any difference to you."

Here is one of the gems of this remarkable speech that we can all excuse La Follette from running away from, if he did run:

"I have noticed also that while Senator La Follette did great work in ridding Wisconsin of railroad domination, he has never said anything against brewery domination in that state. Really, as between the two, I prefer railroad domination. It was good politics to fight the railroads in Wisconsin, but it would not have gotten Senator La Follette anywhere, probably, if he had fought the brewery-owned saloons."

Then he wanted to know why old Sawyer was not prosecuted, and he was impertinent enough to suggest that there had been an alliance between La Follette and Uncle Stephenson, who expended over $700,000 in his canvass for the senatorship, and nobody, not even Stephenson himself, could tell how the money went. All the public knew was that Uncle Isaac got the toga that was twice worn by Matthew Hale Carpenter, who made it illustrious.

Osborn is in the prime of life, little past 40, if one shall judge from his looks. He could go into the harvest field in season and take the foremost row. He can swing the axe and cut and split as many call a day as any one you will find in a week's search. He is a born executive, and if he were as showy a man as Julius Caesar Burrowes, or as eloquent a man as William Alden Smith, he would soon be a national figure of commanding presence. His partiality toward Beveridge is commendable in this—he is a Hoosier by birth, and it shows a love for his native state. But the "grand young man" is impossible. He would be beaten in Indiana at least 50,000 votes. He is not the stuff of which presidents are made.

Since the last presidential election a sore calamity has overtaken each of the two great political parties. John A. Johnson died in Minnesota, and Jonathan P. Dolliver died in Iowa. Had Johnson lived he would have been the leading, perhaps the sole candidate for the Democratic nomination in 1912, and had Dolliver survived he would have been a much stronger and far more attractive leader of the insurgent Republicans than La Follette. Indeed he was the one man who took Nelson W. Aldrich by the throat — metaphorically — and shook him like a dog would a rat, and had the Republican boss not had numerous allies on the Democratic side of the senate, Dolliver would have injected copious currents of decency and honesty into the Payne-Aldrich tariff. No one ever has made a more magnificent assault on schedule K—which is wool and woolens—than Dolliver. Nothing like it was heard during the extra session last summer, and it is not at all likely that anything to equal it will be heard the present session. Excessive work killed Dolliver; the doctors had Johnson in hand.

It is likely that Governor Osborn does Senator La Follette an injustice in his citation of the brewery trust in Wisconsin. If he means that the senator should oppose the traffic in beer in Wisconsin, it amounts to nothing but a reproach to La Follette for not committing political suicide. Milwaukee is the Munich, and Wisconsin the Bavaria, of America. No man can give a good reason for opposing the proposal to tax alcohol in beer at the same rate that it is taxed in whisky; but when it was proposed in the Wilson tariff slightly to increase the tax on beer so as to lessen the incongruity, William S. Vilas, a far abler man than La Follette, led the opposition in one of the fiercest contests of the numerous fierce concontests over that bill, and he was successful.

La Follette is not only a temperate man, but he is a total abstainer. He does not use tobacco in any form, and he eats no meat that is classed as flesh. No doubt he would hail with joy the closing of every saloon in the Union; but he is not Quixotic enough to dash his head against a stone wall. It is quite likely, however, that if Osborn lived in Wisconsin he would take a whirl against the brewers—and that would be the last of Osborn.

Falstaff was a shrewd old catiff, and he opined that discretion is the better part of valor; and La Follette practiced that prudence and not without a measure of success, when he failed to fill his appointment at Lansing Jan. 2.

DULUTHIAN IN SOUTH SENDS HIS VIEWS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have lived in Duluth since 1869 and for years have been a large taxpayer. As a citizen I am interested in whatever affects the welfare of Duluth, and as a taxpayer I am interested in whatever affects my tax rate.

If the city of Duluth could purchase the plant of the Duluth-Edison Electric company at a reasonable figure, I would be heartily in favor of that course. I am, however, unalterably opposed to the city building a competing plant.

The proposed bond issue is for a competing plant. The building of a new lighting system would entail the tearing up of the streets for conduits and the erection of another forest of poles. The engineers' report says that 4,800 poles would have to be erected. I don't want to see anything like that happen in Duluth. I am too greatly interested in the appearance of the city.

Our bonded indebtedness is already at the cracking point. Our interest rates have gone up constantly and we are now paying heavy interest charges. It seems to me to be the height of folly for the city to even consider the issuance of more bonds—especially since the proposed issue is not for any improvement for which there is a pressing need. Compared with other cities, Duluth is being very fairly treated by its electric light company.

Few people seem to know that in the '70s the city was overbonded and was unable to pay the interest on its bonds. It had to throw up its charter and repudiate its obligations. By a special act of the legislature, it was given authority to compromise with its bondholders at 25 cents on the dollar. There was no money in the treasury to pay policemen and firemen and city orders were hawked on the street at 25 cents on the dollar.

With such experience to guide it, the city of Duluth should be careful about incurring obligations. The original $700,000 will not build such a plant as is needed for Duluth. It will be only a beginning and more bonds will be needed to keep the enterprise going. That is the history of every city starting on similar enterprises and it is a lamentable history in cities where competing plants have been built. As a business proposition, the voting of bonds for a municipal plant at this time would be the height of folly.

CHAS. R. HAINES.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 11.

NAGEL'S RECORD.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you kindly give us the record of Secretary Nagel, who is suggested for the supreme bench? Was he attorney for some corporation in St. Louis?

READER.

Duluth, Jan. 13.

As a member of one of the largest law firms in St. Louis, Secretary Nagel undoubtedly has had some corporation practice.

Hissing In a Theater.

New York Globe: Boston has a "Drama league" presided over by a Harvard professor named Baker, who evidently believes that what the modern stage needs is not so much an uplift as a knockout. He is quoted as saying that the only way the league can succeed in its purpose is to appoint a committee to attend the first night of every play and not only pronounce judgment but execute sentence. If the play be good, the committee is to issue next day a bulletin announcing the fact. If the play be bad, the committee is to hiss it vigorously and thereafter leave it to the newspapers.

Although Mr. Baker has a Saxon name, his methods have a directness and fervor that argue a Celtic strain. Therefore, for the sake of equality in the contest, it is to be hoped the Boston Drama league will make its first experiment upon a play of Bernard Shaw, who also wears a Saxon name to cover an undivided Gaul. Mr. Shaw has declared that a theater devoted to such plays as he writes is as sacred as a church and that a man has no more right to hiss a play than he has to hiss a sermon. Consequently it is a fair assumption the fervor on the one side is equal to that on the other, and that a vigorous attack would be as vigorously repelled. The rest might safely be left to the newspapers.

Bryan and Wilson.

New York Globe: Mr. Bryan has apparently respectfully declined the proposal that he become furiously angry at Governor Wilson of New Jersey. Last night at Washington the two men publicly met. Instead of slapping the Wilson face Bryan warmly grasped the Wilson hand in the full view of 750 diners and carried on a conversation whose nods and smiles showed no bellicosity.

For several weeks the political gossips have circulated stories to the effect that the Wilson candidacy would be killed off as soon as it became dangerous. The governor, it seemed, has sinned away his opportunity. Men and interests most friendly to him originally have definitely thrown him into the discard. The word went out to start a campaign of abuse and detraction. Woodrow Wilson, scholar, historian, president of a great university, was one of the most admired men in America. What was the date of the change of his character? We have heard of men becoming good all at once, but never bad all at once!

Mr. Bryan is doubtless foolish in some respects, but he is not a fool in all respects. He knows that for him to draw the line against all who at any time have disapproved of him would reduce his followers almost to himself. It has always been a favorite theory of his that he isn't as bad as he is painted, and that if men but knew him better they would love him more. So to him there is nothing mysterious or suspicious in the fact that Dr. Woodrow has changed his mind.

The whole incident is exceedingly cheap. Whoever launched this particular effort to hamstring Wilson must already feel ashamed. The cause of conservatism in this country has indeed fallen into unintelligent hands when it can think of nothing better than to turn to Bryan in the hope of inducing him to beat Wilson. In his most peanut days the late Senator Hill never did anything smaller.

His Remarks.

McCall's Magazine: "My dear," called a wife to her husband, who was in the next room, "what are you opening that can with?"

"Why," he said, "with a can opener; what did you suppose I was doing it with?"

"Well," replied his wife, "I thought from your remarks you were opening it with prayer."

Seemed So to Him.

Judge: Friend on next street—Hello, Smith! I hear you have a youngster at your house.

Smith—Great Scott! Can you hear it that far?

A Valuable Haul.

Pittsburg Post: "You say your jewels were stolen while the family was at dinner?"

"No, no. This is an important robbery, officer. Our dinner was stolen while we were putting on our jewels."

Exiled.

Chicago Record-Herald: "Why are you moving?"

"We forgot to give the janitor a Christmas present."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1892.

•••The following caucus nominations have been made for the officers of the Duluth board of trade for the ensuing year: President, Frank S. Daggett; vice president, Otto Hartman; directors, John McLeod, George Spencer and W. S. Birch; board of arbitration, J. H. Cook, C. J. Kershaw, Jr., and J. N. McKindley; board of appeals, W. S. Moore, George Rupley and Thomas Gibson; committee on inspection, G. G. Barnum, Charles Canning, George Rupley, Walter Turle and Ward Ames.

•••The thermometer yesterday morning touched the lowest point for the year, 26 deg. below zero. It rose to 3 above at noon today, and the indications are for warmer weather.

•••Dr. Charles Slaughter read a paper before the St. Louis County Medical society last night on his cure for the liquor habit and nervous disorders. The society afterwards accepted the resignations of Dr. Slaughter and Dr. Murray. A very warm time is reported.

•••The Duluth Jobbers' union yesterday appointed a committee consisting of J. B. Sutphin, D. G. Cutler, C. B. Woodruff and T. B. Hawkes, to cooperate with the local lumber manufacturers in entertaining the Northwestern Lumbermen's association, 300 strong, which is expected here on the evening of Jan. 28.

•••The Alliance city convention was held at the city hall this afternoon. A. C. Parsons was chairman and A. F. Rudolph secretary. The platform adopted declared for the strict enforcement of all laws on the statute book; for the abolition of the contract system in city work, and that no more city franchises be granted. Mayor M. J. Davis was the unanimous nominee for another term. R. S. Powell was nominated for municipal judge and E. L. Winje for special judge. The candidates for aldermen are: First ward, Matt Carroll; Second, A. F. Rudolph; Third, U. A. Burnham; Fourth, Alex Crawford; Fifth, C. O. Nelson; Sixth, Henry Haskins.

•••D. S. Sanfern is in Duluth, the guest of his sister, Miss Letta R. Nash.

•••Cards are out announcing the engagement of Miss Letitia V. Weber of Duluth and T. C. Dymond of St. Louis. The wedding will take place early in February.

•••E. L. Pond, formerly of the St. Paul Pioneer Press, now manager of the circulation department of the Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin, is in the city.

•••At a caucus of Republican leaders last night the mayoralty situation was discussed, and finally Charles A. Towne was agreed upon. Mr. Towne, however, stated today he fully appreciated the honor, but could not accept the nomination.

OUR NEXT GOVERNOR.

Spirit of Protest.

Cannon Falls Beacon: The spirit of protest against the Eberhart administration is but typical of a feeling that is widespread in at least the southern part of the state. This feeling is crystallizing and will gain in volume from now on. It is becoming popular to openly advocate a change, not only in the governorship, but in other departments as well.

Working, If Not Looking.

Baudette Region: Governor Eberhart is evidently looking for "ex" to be prefixed to his title.

Eberhart's Predicament.

Cuyuna Miner: Governor Eberhart is between the devil and the deep sea. He wants a re-election and he wants to stand in with the politicians against a reapportionment. The northern part of the state vigorously clamored for the convening of the legislature, and the main reason was that they wanted to see a law passed that will increase the gross earnings tax of railroads. In the southern part of the state the politicians used every means in their power to have the governor ignore the demand for an extra session. Now, who was pulling the chestnuts out of the fire while this fight was going on? Who was directly enriched by it? Why, the railroads and every one of their political strikers. These henchmen seem to have overlooked the fact that on all sides of Minnesota the railways charge less for transportation. Then, simmered down, Governor Eberhart and his following are willing that Minnesota shall dig up extortionate passenger rates so long as they have the influence to prevent a reapportionment or legislation that will increase the gross earnings of their friends, the railroads. Can any one successfully deny that this is true? If a man like Sam Y. Gordon was governor, there would be a different story to tell.

Undermining the System.

Gilbert Herald: Sam Y. Gordon's backers continue in their campaign for his nomination as governor and are adding strength every day. Most of the weekly papers have declared themselves, and they are unanimously in favor of him as governor. Eberhart and his machine will be up against the biggest fight they ever had when they attempt to beat a man who is unanimously the choice of the country press. The system is well aware of the fact, and for that reason is already making plans for a strenuous campaign. They'll need something strenuous, all right, if they expect to be in the running at the next election.

We're Not So Pessimistic as That.

Monticello Times: Shall the governor of Minnesota be permitted to betray the state?—Duluth Herald.

Yes, of course he will be permitted to betray the people of the state. The people elected him with the full knowledge that he was a creature of the interests—that they owned him, and owning him, control him. He has performed no act for the benefit of the people since he was made governor that was inimical to the interests. He opposes every proposition that is made for the state's benefit except such as have no opposition from any source. The right of the people to nominate state officers, the initiative, the referendum, and the recall, lower railroad rates, reduction in the extravagant expenses of his horde of office holders. He has not spoken one word of vital importance to the people of this state, although words, words flow from his lips like the running water. Governor Eberhart does not command the confidence of the state, and yet, at the behests of the corporations, he will be renominated and re-elected, because the voters are careless, indifferent to their own best interests.

Hammond's Position.

Windom Reporter: Notwithstanding that some of the politicians have been hoping that Congressman W. S. Hammond might be induced to enter the race for governor, Mr. Hammond denies the inference, and gives it out flat that he will be a candidate to succeed himself as congressman from the Second district.

A Plain Statement.

Breckenridge Telegram: The Telegram is in favor of Sam Y. Gordon for our next governor, Alvah Eastman of St. Cloud for congressman-at-large and La Follette for president.

Eberhart Helps.

Bemidji Pioneer: It has been suggested that if Sam Y. Gordon is elected governor he will owe much of his success to the country press. True, but due credit should also be given A. O. Eberhart.

Lack of Ambition.

Norman E. Mack's National Monthly: Two negroes were comfortably seated beneath a shady oak, enjoying to the full of the pastime of wishing for the impossible. Said one: "I wish I had a million watermelons."

"Wouldn't that be fine!" exclaimed the second negro. "Den we could eat all de watermelons we wanted."

"We!" mocked the first negro in disgust. "Why, I wouldn't give yo' a smell."

"Wouldn't you even give me one li'l watermelon?"

"Would't I even give yo' one li'l watermelon?"—with rising indignation. "Why, yo' good-fo'-nothin' lazy nigger, ha'n't yo' ever got 'nough ambition to wish fo' yo' own watermelons?"

Bright Prospects for 1912.

Marquette Mining Journal: The Oliver Iron Mining company is getting its men back on full time again. The year 1912 promises to be a vast improvement over 1911.

Latitude and Longitude.

Lippincott's: "Are all of Maupassant's stories short?"

"Most of them; but then, nearly all are broad, so that makes up, you know."

"PUT YOUR MONEY AND BRAINS INTO THE SAME THING" IS ADVICE GIVEN

Don't Play Other Fellow's Game; Get One Yourself, Says Contestant.

Buy Real Estate, Go Into Farming or Try the Piano Business.

There are plenty of opportunities for the man with his first $1,000 to invest it wisely or otherwise.

Every mail brings new answers and fresh ideas to the contest editor and today's contributions should be read carefully by this man "with $1,000, a family and ambition."

Real estate buying gets favorable mention at every hand and most people seem to agree that Duluth offers better opportunities than many other cities in this respect.

One contributor has a scheme for making money by handling piano contracts bought at a discount, another suggests truck gardening on the Hermantown road while another offers the suggestion that the young man go into business in some small town.

A Grand Rapids, Minn., man makes several timely remarks along general lines. He tells the would-be investor not to think that he can make a fortune by putting his money into an enterprise where the other fellow runs it.

Among today's answers are the following:

Jens Landey, Grand Rapids, Minn.—To the man with $1,000, a family, and ambition I say: Take the instructions printed in this contest with a grain of salt. Don't believe all a man tells you. For instance: Don't think that you can make a fortune by putting your money in an enterprise where the other fellow works it. If you wish to succeed financially put your money and your brains into the same thing. Put all your money and all your brain, with a little added for good measure, into the some undertaking. Make your money work for you and work your money besides. If you like farming, and your wife doesn't kick, buy a farm of say eighty acres. Pay $500 down Use the rest of your dough in improving your home. Now don't think you are IT because you own a farm, and don't think that all your troubles are over. Subscribe for a couple of good farm papers. Read at least one-hundredth part of the advice given As to location people differ. I think there is no place like Itasca county. For, Itasca county has an unlimited market. The hundreds of thousands of people living on the iron range are dependent upon the farmers of Itasca and St. Louis counties for their supply of daily bread. Then there is Duluth, the market center of Northern Minnesota and Canada. Also, it has a first class soil. Here droughts are unknown. The forest protects you from the wintry winds, the terror of the prairies. And, last but not least, Itasca county is the most healthful and most beautiful district in America. This advice is of no value if read and forgotten.

M. F. McCollough, 30 Twelfth avenue east—Had I $1,000 to invest I would buy stocks of a reliable company dealing in piano paper and real estate contracts or I would buy such contracts direct from a dealer at a goodly discount. Nearly all dealers are glad to get cash for their goods instead of waiting for the payments for they can use the money and discount their bills. Then they can afford to give a liberal discount for cash on their contracts. One thousand dollars ought to buy about four small contracts on pianos bringing a monthly payment of at least $40. When I had collected about $200, I would buy another contract at another discount and so turn my money on every contract I bought with the collections; besides each contract is bringing 6 per cent on face values not on what you pay for it so I would be getting interest on my profit as well as my investment. It seems too good to be safe. Yet it is perfectly safe as I would have the note of the one who held the land or piano and thus a security on the property. I'd have the indorsement of the dealer and I'd have the insurance in case of fire. In case the holder fails to make payments I can have the property or the dealer must give me a live contract of equal value for the poor one. I prefer, however, to buy stocks in a reliable company to buying direct from a dealer as a company has many advantages over an individual. None of my time needs to be used in looking after collections and reinvestments. Then, too, a company has more resources and can turn the money more times in a year. This is not a loan business. I would not advise anyone to invest in a loan company. Personally I know what the benefit of this brokerage business is and what it has done for me at it can do for anyone with $1,000 or more.

C. O. Ellefson, Proctor, Minn.—A man who is intelligent enough to stop and consider this question as seriously as this man of 35 will surely not altogether disregard the following idea:

Let him invest his $1,000 in well-selected real estate in a growing section of a prosperous community (Duluth and vicinity for instance). Let it be in the shape of a home for himself and family, if not convenient for him to his work, then he can rent it out to somebody who is fond of rent receipts. One thousand dollars cash and balance in reasonable monthly or quarterly installments should handle a very desirable place. Large grounds are more to be desired than a large house, so let him have enough ground for a good garden that will supply enough vegetables, etc., for household use. If house is small, repairs and additions to the same can be made from time to time.

If he now has a fair position with a living salary, by all means let him hang on to it. Length of honest service figures largely in a position, and chances may be good for his promotion, while on the other hand, should he resign to accept some other job, he would naturally lose a lot of time. Let him not buy anything that he does not absolutely need, just because he has $1,000, nor go into any kind of business for himself, unless he is thoroughly qualified.

Oscar Archambault, 2331 West Ninth street—To the man who has the $1,000 I would advise him to go on the Hermantown road, this side of Mork Bros., or the new road and buy five acres of land at $140 an acre, which would be $700. I would pay $400 cash and try to arrange to pay the balance in three years' time at 6 per cent interest. Then I would buy $200 worth of lumber and build a small house, and then take $250 and go out in the country and buy a team of light horses and plow up my ground and plant four acres in potatoes the first year. In the fall I would put one acre in strawberry bushes, as the berries will do well here and so will the man who raises them and take care of them right, because Duluth is one of the best markets in the United States While my potatoes are growing I would use my team down town draying, which would be a good way of making a fair living for my family. In that way I could look after my potatoes in the evening. When they would need cultivating, I could take the time to do so without losing my job. That is the beauty of a man who is working for himself. In the fall when I sold my crop, I would make a payment on my land. I would take part of the money to buy some chickens and keep doing so each year until I had a good flock of them. In this way the land would be worth more and I don't see why the five acres would not be worth $5,000 in ten years. I would do this as soon as possible as the price of land is going up rapidly.

John McKay, Kelsey, Minn.—My advice to your correspondent who has saved $1,000 is to go into business. On account of his position I should judge he would be more fitted for this than in any other line he might pursue.

Go into a country place on a line of railroad in Northern Minnesota, put up a small building 16 by 28 with 8-foot ceiling. If you commence, say April 1, when you have the whole summer ahead of you, to get ready for the winter. A tar paper building will answtr the purpose, and need not cost over $150. Then purchase your opening stock, about in this proportion, 50 per cent in groceries, 20 per cent in dry goods, 20 per cent in shoes and 10 per cent miscellaneous articles. Then mark your goods at a reasonable and fair profit.

Take one daily paper, the Trade Journal together with the jobbers catalogues, and an occasional visit from the knight of the grip, will keep you posted. Buy your assortments in small lots, and often.

Keep the want list in convenient place for articles you may be running low on, or some article a customer calls for you haven't got. Jot it down. This is what I call starting at the foot of the ladder, and as you mount up its steps, you and your wife will look back upon the day you commenced business in this small place, with pleasure and pride. Grit is what is required in business and then some.

Keep a level head, be courteous to all, keep out of politics, and if you don't succeed, then I am mistaken.

J. J. Thatcher, 812 East Third street.—Your young man with $1,000 saved in the last ten years out of his salary might buy a lot as central as he can for $500 then build a one-story cottage 22 by 30, having two bedrooms, living room and kitchen, for the other $500. This home when finished will free him from paying rent so that each month in place of paying rent he will be able to deposit money in the bank and as this monthly deposit increases use it for improving his own home, doing part of the work himself either mornings or evenings and holidays, until he has a comfortable home with every modern convenience.

He should give his best efforts to his employer and when the opportunity offers, as it surely will, take his savings which he has accumulated since living in his own home, grasp the chance even if he has to mortgage his home for $1,000, and go into the best business proposition that may come his way which he feels he can become master of. Each year, if he is tactful and honest with his partrons, whoever they may be, he will be adding to his fortune, and when he is satisfied and content that his income is sufficient for his needs let him and his faithful wife take a trip, either to the sunny shores of Italy, or the southern part of the United States, where they will enjoy a sweet rest and change.

Bert Fox, 115 East Fifteenth street, Minneapolis.—What would I do with my first $1,000, under the conditions?

The first thing would be to invest $700 in some good property—improved, where the former rent money would go in balance payments; then $100 in the savings department of any National bank—this for the rainy day. The other $200 would go in insurance, endowment, for the children and straight life for the parents; also a good health and accident policy for father, that's me.

In the city of Duluth property will more than double itself in value in the next eight years and the population will be over 150,000 people, so your $700 is safe.

The insurance is a great necessity to protect the family for the future and the $100 in the bank can be used when—if you had your hands on that much cash you could get a great many snaps—but if you had it all in property it would take interest to get it back again.

Last but not least, I would pick next Sunday afternoon as a day set aside to write an answer to the contest in The Herald and try to add another ten-spot to my hard-earned $1,000.

"I'VE GOT THE FIRST $1,000; WHAT SHALL I DO WITH IT?"

For the second of its series of contests The Herald has an interesting problem which comes to it in the form of a letter that explains itself:

To the Editor of The Herald:

We have often been told—at least we used to be—by rich men that the hardest work on the road to wealth is to get the first $1,000.

I've got that sum now—saved it out of my salary during ten years. Who will tell me how to go the rest of the way? How shall I invest it? Shall I go into business, and what kind, and how?

I am 35 years old, with a wife and two small children, and have a fair position with a living salary, but that's about all. Probably I could, if nothing happened, save another $1,000 in another ten years, but with the cost of living going up faster than salaries—and I can't expect mine to go much higher than it is—it is going to be harder. If I am ever going to start out for myself and gain independence or wealth, now is the time for me to begin, while I am strong and healthy and young.

What shall I do with myself and my $1,000—and my family?

Here's a real problem, a vital one that will interest everybody; and The Herald hopes to see a large and interesting variety of answers. It hopes, too, that men who have traveled the road that lies before this young inquirer will take part in the discussion. The prizes will, of course, be no temptation to them; but this is a subject of wide interest, and they should be glad to contribute their wisdom and experience to its solution.

Write out your answer, limit it to 300 words, put your name and address at the top of the sheet, write on one side of the paper only, and send it to the Contest Editor of The Herald before Feb. 1.

For the best answer to this young man's problem The Herald will give a prize of $10.

For the next best answer The Herald will give a prize of $5.

lyn, are the majority members having city constituencies. Sixteen out of the twenty-one are from distinctly rural neighborhoods, and are unfamiliar with the conditions obtaining in large cities. Of all, Henry George, Jr., is the only one who has made much of a study of municipal government, and his chosen field in the affairs of Washington is that dealing with taxation. The real estate speculator, who in Washington is both plentiful, prosperous and pernicious, is George's especial quarry. To run down and save for the people that "unearned increment" in land values which the elder Henry George so eloquently described, is the younger man's special task. Just at present he is making the buyers and sellers of land wail with a bill providing that the actual consideration for a transfer of real estate—the price paid—shall be set down in the deed as registered. Properly enforced this may save the government some money in future purchases. It will also save assessors some labor in future purchases. It will also save assessors some labor in estimating the value of property for taxing purposes.

No Cry for Economy.

Washington is one city in which the cry is not for economy, but for lavishness in public expenditures. Half of the cost of its government is paid out of the national treasury. Therefore when the district committee gets economical, as this year, and cuts the appropriation down by more than $1,600,000, the townsfolk protest.

While it is proper enough that the nation should pay a heavy share toward the maintenance of the national capital the present system hurts both Washington and the country at large. For example, the appropriation this year, recommended by the committee provides for no public improvements whatsoever, and is actually less than the amount expended two years ago. This is due to the Democratic policy of going into the pending presidential campaign with a record of congressional economy, thus making the city pay in part for a political advantage. But this bill has engaged the time of the committee for weeks past. It bids fair to be hotly contested in the house and may occupy that body for several days. Then the senate, a conference committee and the president must all give their august attention to the affairs of a city which could be administered better by an elected commission. It is true that the demand of the people of Washington for the franchise and self-government is tempered somewhat by dread of the immense colored vote that would have to be reckoned with. But the rest of the country has a right to demand a rectification of the system under which a congress elected to deal with trusts and the tariff should have to settle the question of street car transfers, or fix the salaries of attendants at a bathing beach.

To Make Record for Economy.

The Democrats are determined to make a record for economy during the remainder of this session. The niggardliness manifested in providing for the district is but the first step. It is announced that there will probably be no public building bill at all, and that the river and harbor bill will provide for no new projects, but will merely furnish funds for the continuance of work already under way. For the multitude of special appropriations sought there is no chance whatsoever. This determination is due in part to the passage of the Sherwood pension bill which at the very opening of the session provided for the appropriation of more millions than the party dares to be responsible for. True, that bill will never be a law. The senate will amend it out of recognizable form, and the president has practically announced his hostility to it in any form. But its passage at all by a Democratic house makes the party responsible for so heavy a raid on the treasury that the leaders are naturally eager to make amends by rigid economy henceforth.

Whether economy pays from the purely political standpoint is a question. The Democrats are always preaching it, while the Republicans who have never been hampered by it have kept in power. There was never a more popular retort than that of "Tom" Reed to the clamor about the billion dollar congress: "Well, this is a billion dollar country." We have seen the two billion dollar congress since then. Even with the utmost cheese-paring the Democrats will scarcely keep their appropriations below that figure.

YOUR GRAY HAIRS QUICKLY VANISH

A Harmless Remedy, Made from Garden Sage, Restores Color to Gray Hair.

A feeling of sadness accompanies the discovery of the first gray hairs which unfortunately are looked upon as heralds of advancing age. Gray hair, however handsome it may be, makes a person look old. We all know the advantages of being young. Aside from the good impression a youthful appearance makes on others, simply knowing that you are "looking fit" gives one courage to undertake and accomplish things. So why suffer the handicap of looking old on account of gray hairs, when a simple remedy will give your hair youthful color and beauty in a few days' time?

Most people know that common garden stage acts as a color restorer and scalp tonic as well. Our grandmothers used a "Sage Tea" for keeping their hair dark, soft and luxuriant. In Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy we have an ideal preparation of Sage, combined with Sulphur and other valuable remedies for dandruff, itching scalp and thin, weak hair that is split at the ends or constantly coming out. A few applications of this valuable remedy will bring back the color, and in a short time it will remove every trace of dandruff and greatly improve the growth and appearance of the hair.

Get a fifty cent bottle from your druggist today, and notice the difference in your hair after a few days' treatment. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented.

Why Actresses Never Grow Old

(Theatrical World.)

Nothing concerning the profession seems more puzzling to the dear old public than the perpetual youth of our feminine members. How often we hear remarks like, "Why, I saw her as Juliet forty years ago and she doesn't look a year older now!" Of course allowance is made for make-up, but when they see us off the stage at close range, they need another explanation.

How strange women generally haven't learned the secret of keeping the face young! How simple a matter to get an ounce of mercolized wax at the drug store, apply it like cold cream, and in the morning wash it off! We know how this gradually, imperceptibly absorbs old cuticle, keeping the complexion new and fresh, free from fine lines, sallowness or over-redness. We know, too, that this mercolized wax is the reason actresses don't wear moth patches, liver spots, pimples and the like. Why don't our sisters on the other side of the footlights learn the reason, and profit by it?

WOULD ABOLISH GOLD STANDARD IN PRICES.

New York, Jan. 16.—An international commission to compute from day to day a composite standard of the world's commodity values whereby contracts of commerce could be carried on, based on purchasing power instead of upon the gold standard basis, was advocated last night by Lieutenant Governor Robert Luce of Massachusetts as a solution of the high cost of living. He spoke at a dinner of the New York Bankers' association.

PROMPT EXAMINATION OF BANKS IS ORDERED.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Every national bank in the country must be examined regularly at stated periods, according to stringent instructions issued by Comptroller of the Currency Murray. He has abolished the "list of banks overdue for examination" previously kept in the office of the comptroller. In order that the investigation of no national bank may be delayed, Mr. Murray directed the examiners to call for help when overwhelmed with work.

The comptroller also decided that whenever the officers and directors of a national bank appeal to the comptroller for a review of the criticisms or instructions of a national bank examiner, based upon his investigation of the bank, the examiner will be given the right to attend the hearing.

Opium Congress Opens.

The Hague, Jan. 16.—The nineteenth sitting of the international opium conference began yesterday with the reading of the final protocol. It is stated that Persia will sign the convention unreservedly.

The Doctor's Answers On Health and Beauty Questions

By DR. LEWIS BAKER.

The questions answered below are general in character: the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, Ohio, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Anxious Wife"—Give 10 to 15 drops of the following in water an hour before each meal and your child will soon be cured of bed-wetting: Comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; tincture cubebs, 1 dram; tincture rhusaromatic, 2 drams.

"La Rue" writes: "For many years I have suffered with stomach and bowel trouble which has been caused by a severe case of catarrh. My blood is also in poor condition. What can be done for me?"

Answer: If you follow the directions given below you will soon be well and strong again. Obtain the following from any well-stocked drug store and mix by shaking well, then take a teaspoonful four times daily: Syrup sarsaparilla comp. 4 ozs., comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz., fluid ext. Buchu, 1 oz. Use in connection with this the following local treatment: Get a 2-oz. package of antiseptic vilane powder and make a catarrh balm by mixing one ounce of lard or vaseline with a level teaspoonful of the powder and use in the nostrils daily. Also make a wash of one pint of warm water and one-half teaspoonful of Vilane powder and use two or three times a day until the nostrils are thoroughly cleansed and your trouble will soon be gone.

"Elsie M." writes. "I have such short, stringy, straggling hair and my scalp is full of dandruff. Please advise what to do."

Answer: The best advice I can offer is simple. Get at a well stocked drug store a 4 oz. jar of plain yellow minyol, directions accompanying, and use it regularly. It promotes a healthy, vigorous growth of hair and cures dandruff, itching scalp, lustreless hair and stops falling hair. If the hair is harsh and straggling it restores a soft, fluffy appearance, and brings back the intense natural color.

"Hazelle" says: "I would certainly appreciate something that would increase my weight, and take away that languid feeling which I am subject to most of the time. My blood is weak and watery and my appetite is poor."

Answer: Your condition is very easily overcome if you will follow the directions given below. Ask your druggist for three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets and take according to the directions and your weight will increase. These tablets promote assimilation, absorption and aid digestion, transform the complexion and figure. They are prescribed by physicians and are perfectly harmless. They should be taken regularly for several months and you can depend upon gaining flesh and that languid feeling will vanish completely.

"D. E. G." writes: "My rheumatism is getting worse all the time. I am getting so stiff that it makes it very hard for me to get around."

Answer: Do not worry about your rheumatism as that can be very easily cured by using the following: Get at the drug store the ingredients named and mix thoroughly and take a teaspoonful at meal time and again at bed time and you will soon be entirely cured of that disagreeable disease, rheumatism. Purchase 2 drams of iodide of potassium; one-half ounce of wine of colchicum; 4 drams of sodium salicylate; 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort; 1 oz. comp. essence cardivi; and 5 ozs. of syrup sarsaparilla. This has cured thousands and I am sure it will cure you.

"Musician" asks: "Can you tell me how to overcome a bronchial trouble which manifests itself after singing, by a tickling in the throat, hoarseness and a slight cough?"

Answer: Obtain a bottle of essence mentho-laxene and use it pure, or make into cough syrup by mixing with ordinary granulated sugar syrup or honey. Directions for use and how to make accompany the package. It makes a full pint of effective pleasant cough syrup and cures all throat and bronchial trouble.

"Mrs. G. B." writes: "I suffer a great deal with stomach disorders. Heavy feeling after eating, heart palpitation, wind and gas on stomach, etc. Am restless and irritable. Afraid to eat a hearty meal. Sometimes great pain. I fear appendicitis."

Answer: The neglect of constipation and indigestion is the most frequent cause of appendicitis. It is better to prevent than to cure by an operation. I advise that you obtain tablets triopeptine and take according to directions accompanying sealed carton. They are pink, white and blue to be taken morning, noon and night, respectively. I think many cases of appendicitis could be prevented by using triopeptine intelligently.

"Mrs. C. C." writes: "Can you prescribe a tonic for one who is sleepless, nervous, hysterical, thin and getting thinner. Have little appetite and am restless day and night."

Answer: The following if used for several weeks will gradually restore and strengthen your nervous system: Compound syrup of hypophosphites, 5 ozs.; tincture cadicanene, 1 oz. (not cardamon). Mix, shake well and take a teaspoonful before each meal.

"Miss C. K." writes: "I am burdened with too much fat and would like a safe treatment prescribed."

Answer: I would not recommend the ordinary tablets and pills for obesity, but here is a quick acting formula that accomplishes big fat reductions and never causes ill feeling. Aromatic elixir 5 ozs., glycol arbolene 1 oz. Shake well in a bottle and take a teaspoonful after each meal for three days. Double the dose thereafter. Continue several weeks or months as the case may require.

"Poor H." writes: "My health is very poor on account of a long-standing constipation. I have to use pills or something all the time. Can you prescribe something to take that will cure chronic constipation?"

Answer: Constipation is probably the cause of more illness than any other thing. Most remedies only relieve the trouble and never cure. I always prescribe three-grain sulphetic tablets (not sulphur tablets), and have found them most reliable and gradually curative. They act pleasantly and tone up the bowels and liver, while purifying the blood.

"DAYLIGHT ROBBER" IS FOUND GUILTY BY JURY

Harry McKenzie, who has a string of aliases and a penitentiary record, was convicted by a jury in district court this morning of attempted robbery.

McKenzie tried to hold up E. D. Ranck, assistant Y. M. C. A. secretary, in broad daylight almost directly in front of The Herald office on West First street.

McKenzie is also known as Harry Carr, Harry Hanson and John Grant. At the time of his arrest he gave his name as Harry Carr. Judge Dancer has deferred sentence for a few days.

The accused man was put on trial yesterday afternoon, but the case did not go to the jury until this morning at 10 o'clock. The jury returned a verdict in thirty minutes.

McKenzie was arrested for grand larceny on Dec. 2, 1908 in Duluth and Dec. 10 was paroled. On Jan. 9, 1901, he was arrested at Minneapolis for breaking a window and stealing a watch. On Jan. 26, he was sentenced to fifteen months at Stillwater.

The police have also learned that McKenzie had a bad record in the East, having served workhouse sentences at Boston and Cambridge, Mass.

ARRAIGNED ON ROBBERY CHARGE

Anton Peter Christianson Pleads Not Guilty in District Court.

Anton Peter Christianson, one of the three men indicted by the grand jury on a charge of having robbed Dennis Shevlin of $34 two weeks ago in the St. Croix avenue district, was arraigned before Judge Dancer in district court this morning. He entered a plea of not guilty.

Christianson is employed as a bartender for Ole Olson, who was convicted yesterday on a charge of selling liquor without a license. Christianson was present at court during the morning session, although he had not been arrested under the indictment. When his name was called off for a witness in Olson's trial, he slipped out of the room and could not be found. Later he was arrested by the police.

Christianson, Lawrence Anderson and another whose name appears in the indictment as John Doe were charged by the grand jury with robbing Shevlin, after he had left Olson's saloon a week ago last Saturday night.

Christianson and Anderson are both bartenders for Olson.

FIVE CHILDREN DIE IN BURNING OF HOME NEAR PRENTICE, WIS.

Prentice, Wis., Jan. 16.—Five children, two boys and three girls, of John Deering, ranging from 1 to 13 years of age, were burned to death today when the Deering home, two miles from here, burned to the ground.

Mrs. Deering and her oldest boy were milking cows in the barn at the time. When the mother and her son rushed to the house the building collapsed at their feet.

The children who lost their lives were sleeping when the fire broke out and the flames had advanced too far to allow a rescue. The cause of the fire is not known.

OBITUARY

Henry Labourchere, editor of the London Truth, is dead at his villa in Florence, Italy. Until a few years ago, he was one of the most prominent independent politicians in the British Isles. He was a member of parliament for about a half a century, but always declined to take office in any cabinet. His political views were extremely radical, but he preferred to give expression to them as a free lance in the house of commons.

He wielded a very caustic pen, which was used freely in the weekly newspaper, Truth, of which he was proprietor and editor and in which he exposed many abuses in political, commercial and diplomatic life. He was at one time in the diplomatic service and served as an attache at Washington in 1854, but he retired from the service ten years later to enter politics. Owing to failing health he had resided in Italy since 1906.

Dr. Newton Clark, for nearly fifty years professor of theology at Colgate university at Hamilton, N. Y., is dead at his winter home at Deland, Fla. He was 70 years old. Dr. Clark was the author of "Clark's Theology," a book that caused quite a sensation at the time of its publication some years ago.

Joseph J. Kloeckner, aged 64 for many years prominent in the public life of Oshkosh, Wis., and a former postmaster, died Monday, following several paralytic strokes.

John C. G. Cofran, vice president of the Hartford Fire Insurance company, is dead of apoplexy at Hartford, Conn.

Col. Robert E. Edmonson, president of the Hereford Cattle Breeders' National association, is dead at his ranch near Claude, Tex.

John M. Danielson, pioneer grain merchant, 68 years old, is dead at Red Wing, Minn., his home. He came from Sweden in 1864, and for over forty years had been a large buyer of grain. His widow and eight children survive him.

Joseph M. von Radowitz, formerly German ambassador to Constantinople and Madrid, is dead. He probably was the latest surviving colleague of Prince Bismarck in the building up of the German empire. It was he who laid the foundation of German influence in the Turkish empire while he was ambassador at Constantinople. Later on he suffered a reduction in rank owing to his former connection with Bismarck, and was sent as ambassador to the less important embassy at Madrid. He retired from active service in 1908.

Edward A. Dackins, who was born in Wales in 1863, and who located in Blue Earth county, Minnesota, in 1856, is dead as a result of injuries received a year ago while visiting in California, when he fell and broke his hip. He was one of those who went to the relief of New Ulm at the time of the Indian massacre in 1862, and distinguished himself for bravery. His wife, four sons and two daughters survive him.

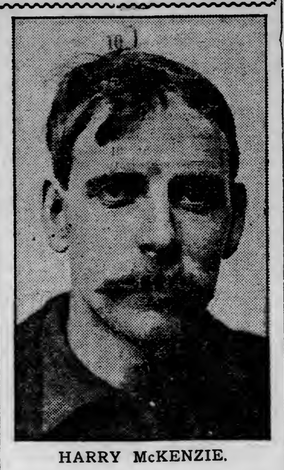

Harry L. Thom, professor at the Minnesota state agricultural school in St. Paul, is dead after a long illness at his home in St. Anthony Park. Prof. Thom was 31 years old and is survived by his wife, one daughter, and his father and mother.

Prof. Thom was a member of Company B, Thirteenth Minnesota. He enlisted with the second recruits in Minneapolis, arriving in Manila about Sept. 1, 1908, serving throughout the Filipino insurrection, returning with his regiment in 1899. He was a member of the Patterson post, Army of the Philippines, which will have charge of the funeral services.

COLLECTOR IS AN IMPOSTER

Man Soliciting Funds Represents Himself as Agent of Associated Charities.

Representing himself as an agent of the Associated Charities, an unknown man has been soliciting clothing and funds from East end homes this week, according to information which has reached Courtenay Dinwiddie, secretary of the local association.

Mr. Dinwiddie has notified the police and if the imposter can be caught, he will be arrested for obtaining goods under false pretenses.

Mr. Dinwiddie announces that the Associated Charities has no solicitors. Donations are of course made from time to time, but they are accepted by persons having a note or some other means of identification which would connect them with the organization.

BURNS TO DEATH IN PRIVATE CAR

Industrial Agent of Cotton Belt Road in Peculiar Wreck.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 16.—Guy L. Stewart, industrial and agricultural agent of the Cotton Belt railroad, with headquarters in St. Louis, was burned to death in his private car in a wreck in which trains of three different roads collided this mornng at Kelso, Mo., 140 miles south of St. Louis.

The accident occurred in the west end of the yards, at the bridge which crosses the Mississippi river here. The yards are used jointly by all the roads crossing the bridge.

The Cotton Belt passenger train, headed for St. Louis, was late in arriving at Kelso. When it reached the bridge yards it found the track blocked by a Chicago & Eastern Illinois freight train. While the passenger train was waiting for the track to be cleared an Iron Mountain freight train, northbound, crashed into it from the rear, telescoping it into the Chicago & Eastern Illinois freight train ahead.

Telescoped the Pullman.

Stewart's car was at the rear end of the passenger train. It telescoped a Pullman car in front of it. So far as has been learned no passengers in the Pullman were seriously hurt.

The engine of the Iron Mountain train plowed into the special car and fire from its furnace ignited the car.

The only other occupant of Stewart's car was William Osborne of St. Louis, a negro porter. He crawled from under the wreckage with only a few cuts and bruises.

C. W. Hodge of Salem, Ill., a Chicago & Eastern Illinois brakeman, was in the caboose. He has internal injuries and scalp wounds.

Stewart was at one time a professor in the Lansing, Mich. high school and state orchard inspector of Maryland.

"THE PINK LADY" COMING TO DULUTH.

Klaw & Erlanger's famous production, "The Pink Lady," will be one of the attractions of the current theatrical season in this city. This attractive comedy with music ran for 320 nights at the New Amsterdam theater, New York city, and will be staged this year not ony in this city but in Australia, London, Paris, Berlin, Vienna and Rome.

The story of "The Pink Lady" is taken from the French farce, "Le Satyre," by Georges Berr and Marcel Guillemaud. C. M. S. McLellan wrote the book and lyrics and Ivan Caryll the music.

"The Pink Lady" relates the adventures of a young Parisian blade who must shortly forsake the joys of bachelordom for the humdrum of married life, but who plans one more luncheon with an old flame in a quiet restaurant in the forest of Compiegne. In this, as well as in all of his escapades, he has told his sweetheart he has been out with a fictitious friend, one Dondidier. Innocently she selects the same restaurant for a little luncheon party. Separately they come to the resort to find that the wife of the proprietor has been kissed by a satyr, a Parisian Beau Brummel, another Dondidier, a kiss which gives her instantly the reputation of being a famous beauty. Here also have assembled the young ladies upon whom the satyr has smiled with approval. The young couple meet. The girl is suspicious until the young man's erstwhile sweetheart announces that she is the wife of the Dondidier, who has been detained in Paris. With surprise and alarm he learns that the person whose name he has used in vain so often is really a respectable dealer in antiques. His sweetheart plans to motor to Paris to remove all suspicions by facing Dondidier. He must reach him first to warn him. The victims also hurry to the city to meet the wonderful and mysterious satyr and invite him to a ball which they are to give at the Cafe Les Satyres.

Dondidier, the antique dealer, the fictitious satyr, is found to be old but respectable. He refuses to listen to any schemes of deception until he is promised a snuffbox which will complete a collection he has been making for years. Then enters the jealous fiancee, who immediately begins to involve him in trouble. His wife finding him making love plunges him deeper into his entanglements. The victims of the satyr hail him as their leader. Before he can free himself he is forced to attend the ball, where the threads are untangled to the satisfaction of all concerned.

The pleasing musica numbers include "I'm Going to Be Married in June," "When Love Goes Astraying," "The Girl By the Saskatchewan," "Donny Did, Donny Didn't," "The Kiss Waltz," "Hide and Seek," "I Like It," and the wonderfully popular waltz number, "Beautiful Lady."

BISHOP FAVORS DEATH PENALTY

New York State Prelate Says Objection Is Sentimental.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 16.—"Whomsoever sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed." This was the answer of Rt. Rev. William Croswell Doane, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Albany, when asked whether he believed in the abolition of capital punishment, the question having been suggested by the attitude of Governor Dix and Col. Joseph F. Scott, state superintendent of prisons, who have announced their belief that the death penalty should be abandoned in this state.

"Capital punishment is right," said the bishop. "The objection to it is purely sentimental.

Those who have been declaring themselves in favor of the removal of the death penalty overlook the one great significant instruction—God's own word, which I have quoted."

MUST PAY MORE TAXES.

Federal Judge Renders Decision Against Northern Pacific.

Helena, Mont., Jan. 16.—A decision rendered in the federal court here by Judge W. H. Hunt is expected to result in the Northern Pacific railway company being compelled hereafter to pay much bigger taxes on thousands of acres of land held by that company in Montana. The Northern Pacific company brought action to restrain Gallatin county from selling 108,000 acres of land for the taxes of 1911, claiming that in increasing the assessed valuation from $1 an acre to $2, it was excessive. The decision was against the company.

SUIT OVER SPONGE SEWED IN BODY IS APPEALED.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 16.—The alleged action of a surgeon in sewing up a sponge in a women upon whom he had performed an operation is the basis of a suit which may get into the Illinois supreme court. A petition for a writ of certiorari to bring the case from the appellate court of this district has been filed in the supreme court in the case of Carrie A. Smith vs. Dr. Ernest Mammon of McLean county. The case has been tried three times before a jury, and in each instance Mrs. Smith won damages.

Mrs. Smith alleged that Dr. Mammon sewed a smal, physician's sponge in her while she lay unconscious on the operating table.

OPPOSE TOBACCO TRUST REORGANIZATION PLAN.

New York, Jan. 16.—Retail tobacco dealers of this city, asserting that they are unable to compete with the United Cigar Stores company, with its rebate coupon system, and because of alleged favoritism by the American Tobacco company, through a bill of review filed in the United States district court, wil endeavor to have the dissolution and reorganization plan which is approved by the United States circuit court in the case of the American Tobacco company set aside on the claim that it is not in accordance with the mandate of the supreme court.

To Restore Lustre to Dull, Stringy Hair

"It requires no great effort to have long, soft glossy hair," says Mrs. Mae Martyn in the Buffalo Press. "The only requirement is that it be washed occasionally with a harmless mixture. This will give the hair a chance to help itself, and when this is done, bright, fluffy hair follows.

"Nothing can equal plain canthrox, a teaspoonful of which dissolved in a cup of hot water is enough for a good shampoo. This should be poured slowly on the head and rubbed briskly. The rich, creamy lather created cleanses and invigorates the scalp and hair roots, and rinsing leaves the hair sweet, clean and fluffy. After a canthrox shampoo the hair dries quickly and evenly and if these shampoos are employed when required, the hair will come in long and thick."

TWO SASKATCHEWAN BANKERS ARRESTED.

Craik, Sask., Jan. 16.—W. S. McKinnon, teller, and C. R. Crowford, manager, of the Union bank here, have been arrested, the former charged with theft and the latter with forgery. The arrests followed an investigation of the bank's affairs, disclosing an alleged shortage of several thousand dollars.

KAISER'S DAUGHTER TO WED GRAND DUKE.

Berlin, Jan. 16.—The betrothal of Princess Victoria Louise, daughter of the emperor, to the Grand Duke Adolph Frederick of Mecklenburg-Strelitz is expected to be announced on the emperor's birthday, Jan. 27, according to a report published in this afternoon's newspapers. The marshal of the imperial court denied a similar report published last June.

FIRE HALL ON HILLSIDE

Council Authorizes Board to Secure Plans and Call for Bids.

New Curfew Ordinance Introduced at Request of Woman's Council.

The board of fire commissioners was directed by the council last evening to secure plans and specifications and to advertise for bids for the construction of the new fire hall at Seventh avenue east and Ninth street, where the city has owned a site for about a year.

The new fire hall been desired by residents of the hillside for a long while and they will be gratified to learn that the council took another step towards its completion last evening. At present there is no fire hall in the hillside district and losses have been sustained because of the inability of the department to climb the steep hills in a short time.

A new curfew ordinance was introduced at the behest of the Woman's Council. In substance it is practically the same as the old ordinance, which it will repeal if passed. The main difference is that it brings the delinquent under the provisions of the new juvenile statutes, under the direction of the district court. The ordinance prohibits anyone under 16 years of age from being on the streets after 9:30 o'clock at night from May 1 to Sept. 30, and after 9 o'clock the balance of the year. It is the duty of policemen to arrest all who violate the provisions of the ordinance, and to notify the parent or guardian.

A. C. Volk & Co. filed a protest against erecting the proposed New Duluth jail on the site which has been selected, adjacent to the fire hall. The company claims that this will not be near the center of population and that it is not economical. Mention was made of the fact that the school board has secured an option on a block of property at Gary.

• • •

E. A. Silberstein, president of the Associated Charities, sent in a letter thanking the council for its assistance in providing funds for continuing the operations of the rock pile. The West Duluth Commercial club also sent in a communication expressing its gratification for the council's action in directing the condemnation of the lands for the proposed addition to Fairmont park. At the request of the latter body action on the franchise granting the use of Lesure street for railroad purposes was postponed another week.

The health commissioner was authorized to furnish the third floor of the city contagious disease hospital at an expense of not to exceed $500. This is in compliance with the request of the commissioner, who informed the council that all bids which had been received were unreasonable.

A resolution was passed giving it as the sense of the council that an additional block of property should be secured by the city at Oatka Beach addition, where a long strip along the lake shore has already been dedicated to park purposes. It is stated that the additional block would give the city possession of a beautiful grove of trees, enabling the city to make the spot one of the most attractive at the Head of the Lakes.

Chief Troyer was given permission to allow the state board of examiners of chauffeurs the use of the council chambers at any time when it would not interfere with any meeting of the council.

The city engineer was directed to prepare an estimate of the cost of enclosing Coffee creek between Sixth street and Piedmont avenue with a concrete culvert.

The sum of $150 was appropriated to pay for the services of a watchman on Park Point for six months.

MACKAY TALKS OF TELEGRAPH PLAN

Says Government Would Lose Money on Wire Business.

New York, Jan. 16.—Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph company, declares that if the government took over the telegraph lines of the country, as is desired by Postmaster General Hitchcock, he believed the investment would be unprofitable. He said the cost would be enormous and he did not believe the plan would be carried out as long as there was competition in the telegraph business.

"The step would lead to taking over the telephone lines also," said Mr. Mackay. "The British government has found it to be so. Two weeks ago it took over the telephone lines in England at an enormous expense.

"The telegraph and telephones in this country, I venture to say, would be operated by the government at a great annual loss, just as in Great Britain, where the losses on the telegraphs alone up to date are figures at $175,000,000. Moreover, the government would then be employing hundreds of thousands of clerks, telephone girls, telegraph operators, managers, etc. It would be a colossal political machine."

DULUTH YACHT AT MIAMI.

Itasca II One of Finest Ever at That Port.

The Miami Fla., Metropolis of Jan. 9 says: "The handsome power yacht, Itasca II of Duluth, Minn., flying the flag of the Duluth Yatch club, arrived in port yesterday afternoon, after having made a most pleasant trip down the coast. E. B. Hawkins, a wealthy mine owner, is on board and is the owner of the yacht.

"Capt. Swenson in command of the yacht, states that the trip from Jacksonville to Miami was made on the inland route. The yacht drew four and a half feet of water and made the journey without difficulty.

"The Itasca is one of the finest yachts ever to enter port. It is equipped with the best of everything, and all comforts are provided on board.

"Mr. Hawkins owns a beautiful winter home at Tarpon Springs, and he will leave port this afternoon with the yacht for that place. The entire party are delighted with Miami, and express themselves as hoping to be able to return some day not far distant.

DULUTH CONCERN IS GIVEN LEASE

Etiaw Mining Company to Work Property Eleven Miles From Little Falls.

Little Falls, Minn., Jan. 16.—According to an instrument filed with the register of deeds extensive iron mining operations will be carried on in this locality this year. This instrument is a fifty-year lease given by Louise Gorman of St. Cloud to the Etiaw Mining company of Duluth, giving the company the right to mine on land in Clough town, about eleven miles northwest of this city.

The lease covers the southeast one-fourth of the south east ¼, section 31, township 131, range 30, and under its terms the company has the right to explore, mine and remove merchantable iron ore; also the right to ditch, drain, build wagon and railroads for mining purposes.

On Royalty Basis.

Miss Gorman is to receive a royalty for ore mined as follows: At the rate of 25 cents per ton for non-Bessemer ore and 40 cents per ton for all Bessemer ore, railroad weights to be taken as the basis of settlement. The company is required to mine a minimum of 4,000 tons of ore during 1912, 4,000 during 1913 and 12,000 tons each succeeding year during the life of the lease. In case it is found that there are 500,000 tons of merchantable ore on the property then the above minimums are to be doubled.

Company Forced to Mine.

Royalty payments are to be made four times a year, on Jan. 20, April 20, July 20 and Oct. 20. In case no mining is done during the present year then the company must pay royalty on the 4,000 tons called for in the lease.

It is understood that work will at once be begun clearing up the land and putting it in shape for the sinking of a shaft, and that development of the property will be rapid as soon as weather permits work.

CONVICTION IN THE FIRST CASE

County Attorney Norton Gets Good Start on January Criminal Calender.

County Attorney John H. Norton started off the criminal calender in district court yesterday by securing a conviction in the first case on call, it being that of the State vs. Ole Olson. Olson was charged with the Sunday selling of liquor.

Olson is the proprittor of a saloon at 102 St. Croix avenue. He was indicted by the grand jury for selling liquor to one Dennis Shevlin, whom the police used to secure the evidence.

Olson will probably be fined, says County Attorney Norton, as this is understood to be his first offense. Sentence will probably not be pronounced until some time next week.

MILLIONS FOR CHARITY.

R. T. Crane's Will Disposes in That Way of $3,000,000.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—More than $3,000,000 of the estate of the late Richard T. Crane, ironmaster and detractor of colleges was bequeathed by him to charity by the terms of his will, filed in the Cook county probate court, by disposing of an estate of $10,000,000, estimated value.

The document was filed by Attorney John P. Wilson, who made the estimate of the estate value. This will names Charles R. Crane and Richard T. Crane executors of the estate of their father.

The following gifts will be made from the estate within two years, in fulfillment of the expressed wish of Mr. Crane as disclosed by the testament:

Two millians dollars as a pension and disability fund for the benefit of the employes of the Crane company.

One milloan dollars to provide homes for helpless children and their mothers.

Five hundred thousand dollars to the United Charities of Chicago as an endowment fund for the Mary Crane nursery.

The widow is to receive $15,000 a year and both the city home and the Lake Geneva country home for life.

The will recites that Mr. Crane's daughters and his son, Herbert Crane had been provided for before the death of Mr. Crane. Charles R. and Richard T. Crane are made the residuary legatees of the estate and are entrusted with the carrying on of the business of the Crane company.

GIVES GOOD REPORTS ON TWO MINING PROPERTIES.

A roseate report of the condition of the mining properties of Butte-Ballaklava Copper and Interstate Silver Lead companies is given by Dr. Walter Harvey Weed of New York, consulting engineer of both companies, who recently arrived in Duluth just after inspecting both properties. Dr. Weed has been giving a minute description of what he observed to Gust Carlson, president of the Interstate, and P. H. Nelson, president of the Butte-Ballaklava, and John A. Percival, president of both companies.

Dr. Weed states that the tunnel in the Interstate property, which is being driven to connect with the workings of the Callahan mine, has cut the Callahan vein. Drifting is now in progress. Ore from the Interstate property, 1,100 feet below the surface, assayed 21.9 per cent of lead and 11.2 ounces of silver to the ton.

According to Dr. Weed, a crosscut in the Butte-Ballaklava property will cut the Nelson vein about next Sunday. This vein has already been opened several hundred feet vertically. Great results are expected from this vein. It is 18 to 20 feet wide. On the 1,400-foot level it carries seven feet of ore, running up to 7½ per cent copper.

The shaft of the Butte-Ballaklava vein, which was loaned to the Amalgamated to fight the great fires on that company's property, and was badly flooded, is now in good working condition, Dr. Weed reports.

He says that the date will be announced soon for a hearing on the change of venue in the dispute over one of the Butte-Ballaklava veins with the Anaconda. This vein is still under injunction.

ROCK ISLAND AND C. & N. W. ARE TO ISSUE BONDS.

New York, Jan. 16.—An issue of $20,000,000 5 per cent gold debenture bonds has been sold to a New York banking house, it is announced by the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway company. The proceeds will be used for terminal additions and betterments to the system and for refunding purposes.

The Chicago & Northwestern Railway company contemplates an issue in the near future of $15,000,000 of 4 per cent bonds on the road's Milwaukee, Sparta & Northwestern division. The proceeds will be used to complete construction work on the division, which embraces that part of the line covered in the new Chicago & Northwestern-Northern Pacific traffic agreement to the Pacific coast.

PASTOR ACCUSED OF PART IN DEATH OF WOMAN.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 16.—Rev. W. D. McFarland, former head of the academic department of the Pittsburg high school and well known as an educator, is being sought by the Pittsburg police in connection with the death in a local hospital of Miss Eliza Dodd Coe, aged 28, who died last Friday. Miss Coe had been Dr. McFarland's secretary, and before her death she made an ante-mortem statement to a deputy coroner, in which she implicated Dr. McFarland and Rollin McConnell, who is now employed in the Westinghouse offices in Chicago. The coroner's jury found that the young woman died of peritonitis superinduced by mal-practice. Dr. McFarland, who is about 60 years old, was at one time engaged in editorial work and later he was president of a small Western college.

WINDSOR HOTEL CORNER SITE OF NEW BUILDING.

C. E. Henderson of Easton, Md., who was in the city yesterday, says that plans are being made for substantial improvements in the way of a new block at the southwest corner of Fifth avenue west and Superior street.

This corner is known as the Windsor hotel property, one of Duluth's landmarks. The property fronts 75 feet both on Michigan and Superior streets and is one of the most valuable in the city.

Mr. Henderson was formerly vice president of the Reading road. He is now retired. For a number of years he has been heavily interested in Duluth real estate.

KEEPER OF CHICKENS WANTS FARE REBATED.

Washington, Jan. 16.—On the plea that he was the caretaker of twelve chickens on a transcontinental trip from Richmond, Va., to Los Angeles, Cal., Charles Ream is endeavoring, through the interstate commerce commission, to recover from the railroad companies passenger fare he was compelled to pay.

Ream shipped a carload of emigrant movables from Richmond to Los Angeles. The property included a dozen chickens with a value of $5 a head. Ream claims that he had to accompany tht chickens as caretaker, and under the railroad regulations was entitled to free transportation for himself. On arriving at El Paso, Tex., en route, he was forced to pay his fare, aggregating $83. His claim is directed against the Southern Pacific and other lines.

LUMBERMAN ADDS TO $200,000 HOSPITAL GIFT.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 16.—A gift of $85,000 by R. A. Long, a millionaire lumberman of this city, to be used in the erection of a Christian church hospital here, is announced. The amount is in addition to $200,000 given for the same purpose by Mr. Long several months ago. A sum of $150,000 raised by private subscription will be added to the total. One-third of the accommodations will be reserved for charity patients, according to Mr. Long's stipulation.

Steel Companies Merged.

Youngstown, Ohio, Jan. 16.—A consolidation of the Briar Hill Iron & Coal company, the Youngstown Steel company and the Thomas Steel company of Niles is announced here. The merger will be capitalized at $15,000,000 and will be known as the Briar Hill Steel company.

THREE WRECKS CAUSED BY BROKEN RAILS.

Mason City, Iowa, Jan. 16.—Three train wrecks, each caused by a broken rail, blocked traffic all day on the Minneapolis & St. Louis, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Chicago & Northwestern. The Minneapolis & St. Louis accident was at Medora, where several cars were ditched, the Milwaukee at Emmettsburg, ten cars, and the Northwestern at Frost, Minn., nine cars.

Particularly the Ladies.

Not only pleasant and refreshing to the taste, but gently cleansing and sweetening to the system, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is particularly adapted to ladies and children, and beneficial in all cases in which a wholesome, strengthening and effective laxative should be used. It is perfectly safe at all times and dispels colds, headaches and the pains caused by indigestion and constipation so promptly and effectively that it is the one perfect family laxative which gives satisfaction to all and is recommended by millions of families who have used it and who have personal knowledge of its excellence.

Its wonderful popularity, however, has led unscrupulous dealers to offer imitations which act unsatisfactorily. Therefore, when buying, to get its beneficial effects, always note the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package of the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

For sale by all leading druggists. Price 50 cents per bottle.

Woman's Happiness

The highest point of woman's happiness is reached only through motherhood, in the clasping of her child within her arms. Yet the mother-to-be is often fearful of nature's ordeal and shrinks from the suffering incident to its consummation. But for nature's ills and discomforts nature provides remedies, and in Mother's Friend is to be found a medicine of great value to every expectant mother. It is an oily emulsion for external application, composed of ingredients which act with beneficial and soothing effect on those portions of the system involved. It is intended to prepare the system for the crisis, and thus relieve, in great part, the suffering through which the mother usually passes. The regular use of Mother's Friend will repay any mother in the comfort it affords before, and the helpful restoration to health and strength it brings about after baby comes. Mother's Friend is for sale at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

WARDEN IS UNDER FIRE

Reported at Eveleth Charges Have Been Preferred Against Woods.

According to Report He Is Alleged to Have Collected Expenses Twice.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eveleth residents who followed the work of Deputy Game Warden George Woods of Hibbing, during the fall in capturing game law violators, are interested in the report that he has been called to St. Paul, before the attorney general to explain vouchers that he presented to the game and fish commission after his expenses had been defrayed by the costs paid by game law violators. F. Miller of Hibbing, who assisted Game Warden Woods in the latter's work on the range, has also been subpoenaed to appear at St. Paul. He is now in Canada, but it is expected he will go to the Saintly City voluntarily, as the authorities believe him innocent.

Because of his alleged action, it is reported Game Warden Woods will lose his position. F. Yodel of Virginia, who assisted Woods and Miller, has also been called to St. Paul to testify and will leave for the state capital this week. He claims he and Miller are innocent.

SQUATTERS LEAVE EVELETH'S PARK

Obeying Orders to Move Off Ground to Be Beautified By City.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The squatters in Highland park, which is now owned by the city, are complying with Chief of Police John J. Farley's orders and are removing from the premises. Six acres are already owned by the city and efforts are being made to secure eleven more from the Steel corporation.

Trees and shrubbery have been purchased from the Jewel Nursery company, Lake City, to be planted in the spring. Plans drawn for the new park by P. H. Foote of St. Paul, have been accepted. They provide for a swimming pond, roadways, boulevards, etc., and will give Eveleth the best park system on the range.

LINCOLN SCHOOL NOW BEING USED

Splendid Chisholm Structure Practically Accepted From Contractors.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.) — The school board was in consultation with the general and sub-contractors of the Lincoln school Monday for the purpose of acceptance on the part of the board.

L. W. Winn, superintendent of construction, went over the plans and specifications of each of the contractors and pointed out where there were some variance from the specific instructions of the plans, and these alterations will necessarily have to be made before the new building will be accepted. The alterations are of a minor importance and the building as a whole was completed as originally intended and of the material specified.

School was begun in the new school Jan. 8 with the full consent of the contractors that its occupancy would have no bearing on its acceptance by the board. Bell, Yyre & Chapman, the architects, were represented by George Chapman, H. L. Sperzel and Bert F. Moore; Northern Construction company by Mr. Berge, the president of the company, and who has been on the ground a goodly portion of the time the building was under construction; Virginia Heating & Plumbing company by Mr. J. O. Cherne.

It is understood that the board has accepted the building and the contractors have agreed to make the alterations in conformity with the plans and specifications. The loss of the Central school by fire last week will compel the board to make some arrangements to care for six additional classes as the high school and Lincoln school are crowded as it is. It is expected that arrangements will be made for the erection of another modern school building during the coming summer, located somewhere south of Lake street.

Thousands Now Use This Low-Cost Cough Syrup

A Family Supply for 50c, Saving You $2—The Quickest, Best Thing You Ever Used, or Money Refunded.

The prompt and positive results given by this inexpensive cough medicine have caused it to be used in more homes in the U. S. and Canada than any other cough remedy. It gives instant relief and will usually wipe out the most obstinate, deep-seated cough inside of 24 hours. It quickly succeeds, even in whooping cough and croup.

A 50-cent bottle of Pinex, when mixed with home-made sugar syrup, makes a full pint—a family supply—of the most pleasant and effective cough remedy that money could buy, at a saving of $2. Easily prepared in five minutes—full directions in package.

Children take Pinex Cough Syrup willingly, because it tastes good. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative—both excellent features. Splendid for hoarseness, throat tickle, bronchitis, etc., and a prompt, successful remedy for incipient lung trouble.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of imported Norway White Pine extract and is rich in guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements. Simply mix it with sugar syrup or strained honey, in a pint bottle, and it is ready for use.

Pinex has often been imitated, but never successfully, for nothing else will produce the same results. The genuine is guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. Certificate of guarantee is wrapped in each package. Your druggist has Pinex or will gladly get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

GETS PNEUMONIA RIDING BUMPERS

Swan River Logging Company Lumberjack May Lose Life for Act.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A lumberjack in the employ of the Swan River company, whose name is not known, was picked up on the street late at night wandering aimless by the cold, and after taken to the station he lapsed into unconsciousness. Dr. Graham found him suffering from an advanced stage of puenmonia. He was hurried over to the Rood hospital at Hibbing, where it is stated that his condition is serious. The trainmen claim he rode he bumpers on the logging train down from the headquarters location and it is thought that the exposure to the severe elements is the cause of his illness.

USE DYNAMITE ON DIRT CARS

Because of Extreme Cold at Hawkins Mine Stripping Operations.

Nashwauk, Minn, Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The only work being done here now is that of the concentrating plant which is employing at the present time about 100 men. The stripping operations at the Hawkins mine were brought to a stand-still Saturday, due to the extreme cold weather. Almost every dirt car at the pit had to be dynamited before it could be unloaded. Most of the employes at the mine have been transferred to the work at the washing plant, which has been dragging along owing to a scarcity of men.

The McClintock-Marshall Construction company will complete their work at the plant within a week and their employes will leave for Detroit, Mich., where the firm has a contract of erecting a steel building.

Archie McWilliams, a well known logging man of this vicinity, has ceased operations at one of his camps at McCarty lake, seven miles north of here, owing to a scarcity of timber and scarcity of men. Mr. McWilliams is also operating in another district in the vicinity of McCarty lake, which he expects to run all winter.

HIBBING SCHOOL HAS BEEN CLOSED

Cold Weather Freezes Pipes, Putting Heating Plant Out of Commission.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Glen school in the Glen location is closed because of the heating plant being out of commission and about 250 pupils are taking a vacation. The cold weather is blamed, the water pipes having frozen and a new plant is being installed. The school is expected to be reopened next week.

Did Not Cover Horse.

Gust Anderson paid a fine of $10 and costs in municipal court this morning for not blanketing his horse which he left in an alley last night shivering in the cold. This is the first prosecution under the order issued by Mayor Weirick that horses must be protected against cold.

EVELETH SECURES FEBRUARY MEETING

Next Gathering of Range Ministerial Association Is Going There.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local churches were represented at the Range Ministerial association meeting at Gilbert yesterday by Rev. Phillip A. Schwarz, Jr., of the First Presbyterian church, Rev. B. D. Hanscom of the M. E. church, was unable to be present to give his paper on "The Application of the Effect of the Men and Religion Forward Movement on the Range," and in his place, Rev. Henry A. Neff of the M. E. church, Virginia gave the annual address. Rev. B. C. Jones of Chisholm gave an interesting paper on "Christ in the Miracles," while many discussions on religious topics were held.

The February meeting of the association will be held at the First Presbyterian church, Eveleth.

International Falls, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Manager C. B. Kinney of the telephone exchange has issued a new directory and will follow it with additional issues the first of each quarter and supplements for the same the first of other months. The growth of the business of the exchange has made it necessary that subscribers call by number, which the frequent issue of directories and supplements will make possible.

SOCIALISTS MAKE PLANS

Consider Getting Into Political Game in Hibbing This Year.

Proposed Platform for Coming Village Campaign Is Being Framed Up.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A third party, the Public Ownership or Socialists, will take a hand in the coming village election.

This became certain last night when a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of the followers of that faith was held in Workers' hall and discussed the tentative draft of the platform upon which the Socialists propose to go before the people and ask support.

Definitely Decide Saturday.

The matter will be further discussed and a definite platform agreed upon at a big meeting to be held Saturday night. Candidates will also be announced then for village president, trustees and the balance of the offices.

The platform being considered will call for: A municipal coal yard; city hospital; eight hour day for village employes; public park system; better regulation of saloons; weekly payday for all employes of big companies.

FIRE'S ORIGIN NOT DETERMINED

Two Harbors Council Will Take Steps for Better Protection of Town.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Clifton hotel which was burned yesterday was a total loss. The cause of the fire is not yet known, but several theories prevail. It may have resulted from defective wiring or by some lodger carelessly smoking. It could not have originated from defective heating apparatus, the building being equipped with steam heat.

The body of Miss Amy Anderson, who was suffocated, was discovered early in the afternoon wrapped in a blanket lying under the bed. The deceased was about 19 years of age and was employed as a domestic about the hotel. George McGraw and Walter Wright, two roomers, had narrow escapes.

Council Will Act.

The council discussed ways and means of bettering the fire service about town, as some action is absolutely necessary. Plans will be discussed in the near future for the installation of a new alarm system. There was also mention of having a steady force of three men and one team in addition to the volunteer service.

BARNEY RILEY CHIEF WINNER

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Barney Riley of Virginia, who has thrilled thousands at ski jumping contests on the range, in Duluth and elsewhere, again proved his skill in the great Norwegian sport yesterday at the interstate ski contest held on the new slide, during the afternoon, by capturing both professional events, the running and the long jump. There were no records broken as the riders were handicapped by the wind of Sunday having blown some of the snow from the slide and it was not in the best of condition. About 2,000 witnessed the events.

Riley covered 126 feet the first run and 124 feet the second, and his score was 273½. In the long jump he made 125 feet, but later, in an exhibition after the contest, he made 128 feet.

Jacob Gjestad of Stoughton, Wis., won second place in the professional event. His two jumps were 122 and 118 feet, with a score of 269 2-3. August Nordby, Virginia, third, with 114 and 119 feet; score 267 1-3. T. H. Schowem, Superior, fourth, with 102 and 105 feet; score 239. Earling Lanvick, Stoughton, Wis., fifth, with 119 and 123 feet, but fell on the second jump, which reduced his score to 229.

Duluth Amateur Wins.

In the amateur event, the first place went to Nels Floan of Duluth. In his two slides he made 108 and 115 feet, with a score of 259. Mr. Floan also won the long jump with 117 feet. The other riders in the amateur event scored as follows: Sigrud Bergeson, Virginia, 103 and 108 feet, score 237; Rider Aftaas, Duluth, 106 and 90 feet, score 228 2-3; O. L. Grinden, Duluth, 89 and 106 feet, score 225 2-3; George Flink, Duluth, 109 and 110 feet, score 203 2-3.

The judges for the professional events were: O. L. Grinden, Duluth; Sigrud Bergeson, Virginia; Nels Floan, Duluth.

For Chilblains, Frost Bites and All Sore Feet.

Many persons dread the approach of winter on account of chilblains and frost-bites which cause a soreness and itching at times almost unbearable, frequently bringing on a nervous condition. To those thus afflicted the following treatment will be welcome information as it gives immediate relief and soon cures. "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water (not hot). Soak the feet in this for fifteen minutes. Repeat this for several nights until the trouble disappears."

The action of Calocide compound for all foot ailments is really remarkable. By its use corns and calouses can be peeled right off. Sweaty, smelly feet and tender, aching feet need but a few applications. Bunions get relief instantly. Any druggist has it in stock or will get it from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent package is usually sufficient to put the worst feet in fine condition.

$1 FOR EVERY CALL.

Is Pay Proposed for Deer River Volunteer Department.

Deer River, Minn., Jan. 16.—This village will have a volunteer fire department in the near future if the plans of the village council are carried out.

It is proposed to have an efficient company, well equipped and able in every way to cope with a fire.

The council intends to amend the ordinance governing compensation and it is proposed that every member responding to a call, whether water is used or not shall be paid $1 for the service. The council agreed to make the amendment.

The ordinance will also provide that if the fire chief or officer in charge shall deem it necessary he may call upon any able bodied citizen to protect life and property in case of fire, and such citizen shall be entitled to the same pay as the regular firemen.

ODD FELLOWS ENJOY BIG TIME AT HIBBING.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was a great gathering of Odd Fellows here yesterday afternoon and evening at the district meeting, which was attended by Grand Master Nelson of Mankato and Grand Secretary A. L. Bolton of St. Paul, as well as many range members.

There was a joint installation of the officers elected for the subordinate Odd Fellows' lodge, Encampment degree, and Rebekahs. Following the work an elaborate banquet and social session took place.

The following officers were installed for the Odd Fellows: N. G., Alfred Parson; V. G., C. A. Larson; secretary, A. Lekve; treasurer, J. H. Nelson. The Encampment installed as follows: Chief patriarch, Samuel Orr; senior warden, J. A. Ross; junior warden, J. H. Nelson; high priest, Alfred Parson; scribe, Axel Hanson; treasurer, Francis Thomas.

YOUNG FALKENBERG SENT FROM RED WING.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Carl Falkenberg, 17 years old, who rode seventy-five miles to Chicago on the pilot of a locomotive after escaping from the Red Wing training school, was sent from this city. Last year he took an active part in assisting the city authorities in gathering evidence against blindpiggers, by securing strong evidence against the offenders. He resided here for several years and at school was always regarded as a very bright student.

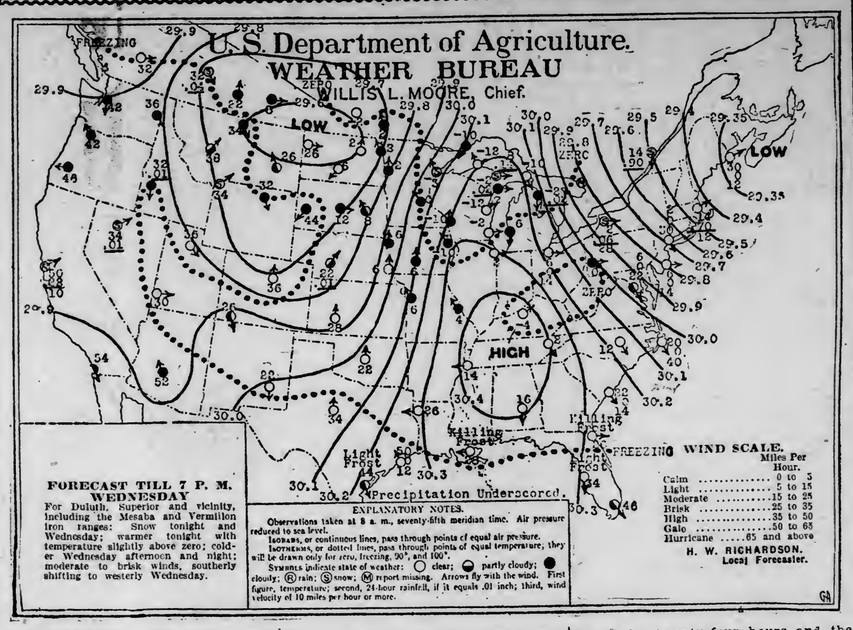

Grand Rapids Lodge Installs.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 16.—Leighton lodge, M. B. A. has installed these officers: William Wheaton, president; Mrs. B. C. Finnegan, vice president; William Maddy, secretary; William De Shaw, treasurer; Mrs. William Maddy, chaplain; Chris Halverson, conductor; Roy Long, watchman; Jacob Zeininger, sentry. The installation was an open one and was witnessed by the families and a large number of friends of members of the order.

Court On Wednesday.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—District court, which adjourned last week, will resume here tomorrow when Judge Stanton will resume hearing court cases. There will be no jury trial until the March term. The weather has moderated considerably here, to the general relief of all.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

SNOW

One may really walk more than a block or two without covering his ears today, and the mercury is making no struggle to drop through the bottom of the tube. It is almost satisfactory winter weather. This morning was rather raw, with a temperature below zero and a stiff wind, but softer conditions prevailed later. Snow and warmer weather are promised for tonight and tomorrow.

The run rose this morning at 7:49 and it will set at 4:47 this evening, giving eight hours and fifty-eight minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Somewhat warmer weather prevails throughout northwestern states in connection with the low pressure condition now centered over western North Dakota, but a turn to colder is developing in the extreme Northwest, which change will reach the Head of the Lakes during Wednesday and Wednesday night. The depression centered off the Maine coast is causing rather strong westerly winds in middle and north Atlantic states and some snow has resulted in the Lake region, New England and the St. Lawrence valley. Snow or rain also fell over Wyoming, Idaho, Nevada and California during the last twenty-four hours. The high pressure overlying the South is attended by much lower temperature over the Ohio valley, lower Mississippi valley, east Gulf and Atlantic states. Frosts occurred this morning in Florida and Louisiana."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Forbes Stock company in "Raffles."
Orpheum—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

Kyrle Bellews' great success, "Raffles," the play of the clever society thief, will be presented at the Lyceum tonight by Gus A. Forbes and his company and an elaborate production has been prepared for this performance. Mr. Forbes will appear in the title role. Raffles is familiar to readers of popular fiction as the hero of the clever detective stories in "The Amateur Cracksman" and as a play "Raffles" is one of the few that has been successfully adapted for the stage.

The only matinee performance of the engagement will be given tomorrow afternoon. The play will be repeated tomorrow evening and this special engagement will close with Thursday night's performance.

"Raffles" provides the entire company with congenial roles and this performance promises to be one of the most interesting presented by Mr. Forbes and his associates.

Paul Armstrong is an interesting example of the newspaper man become successful dramatist. For nearly a dozen years he was employed on the great dailies in New York as sporting editor and as police reporter. One day Armstrong decided that he could write a play, using as a basis some of the events that had come to his knowledge as a reporter. In rapid succession came from his pen "Salomy Jane," "Via Wireless," "Alias Jimmy Valentine," and "The Deep Purple,' which attracted so much attention here recently. Mr. Armstrong recently turned his attention to vaudeville and the sketch, "A Romance of the Underworld," was the result. This sketch, which is at the Orpheum this week, runs fifty minutes and contains twenty-three speaking parts. There are three heavy sets showing the night court in New York, the famous bridge of sighs, and the interior of the Tombs prison. The dramatist undertook the playlet as an experiment, but it has proved highly successful. Mr. Armstrong has written another entitled "The Signal."

"A Romance of the Underworld" has the same lively action and brisk dialogue that distinguish Mr. Armstrong's other writings. • • •

The bill of vaudeville being presented at the Empress this week is, out of the ordinary. Heading the bill is "La Petite Revue." No better singing novelty has ever been presented at the

Empress. When the curtain rises, there stand disclosed a miniature stage upon which are presented types of some of the world's most famous artists. The scene then changes and an extract of the opera "Pinafore" is presented, foiowed by the closing scene, a catcalling number. This attraction is a genuine novelty and during the course of the act, some excellent solos are introduced. The Powell-Howard company in the clever comedy playlet, "Books" are also making a decided hit this week. "Books" tells a story of college life in a forceful and natural manner. The story concerns a college chap, who is given some money with which to pay for some books. He squanders it on a supper for an actress instead. The book agent's forthcoming call naturally causes him considerable anxiety but his friend volunteers to get him out of the trouble. His efforts in this line are exceedingly funny and in consequence, the audience is treated to many laughs. The company is a capable one and present the playet in an excellent manner. • • •

It's always a safe wager that a Dillingham production will contain beauty galore. Where all the pretty girls come from is a mystery to everyone, but Charles Dillingham himself. Whether it is due to his system of promotion, his engaging personality, or the extravagance of his productions, where a girl has the opportunity probably for the first time, to wear the most expensive of gowns and millinery, matters not, for there is always beauty in a Dillingham production.

Two new stage beauties will be introduced during the engagement here when the Misses Helen Falconer and Edna Bates appear with Montgomery and Stone in "The Old Town." These two beautiful girls are said to be so marvelously alike in form, feature, coloring and expression, that those who do not know them intimately are astonished to be told they are not twins, as only their closest intimates can distinguish them apart. The only distinguishing feature lies in the fact that Miss Falconer's hair is a shade lighter than Miss Bate's, and though Mrs. Bell, the wardrobe mistress of "The Old Town" company, says there is a very slight difference in the dress measurements of the two girls, it is not visible to the naked eye. These girls are very young—not yet 21—and are natives of New York state. In "The Old Town," the Misses Falconer and Bates appear in twin ingenue roles as Diana and Caroline Bristow, nices to Mrs. Bilwether. Both of the young ladies have well cultivated voices, which are used to advantage in one or two of the principal numbers in "The Old Town." They also appear with Montgomery and Stone in two of the big dancing features.

SOCIAL CLIMBER'S TRIAL.

Alleged Minneapolis Jewelry Thief Is Facing a Jury.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 16.—The trial of Wilfred Stuart Dickason, claiming to be a member of a titled English family, who cut a swath here socially then was arrested charged with stealing $2,800 worth of jewelry from Mrs. Olga Von Haskell, a society leader, began here Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Von W. Haskell testified that she hid the jewels in a glove beneath the mattress of her bed on Nov. 8, and that Dickason saw her place them there. She testified that when she looked for them the next Wednesday, they had disappeared.

Dickason was a guest in the Von W. Haskell home at the time the diamonds disappeared.

NORTHWEST LUMBERMEN MEET AT MINNEAPOLIS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 16.—Full information concerning the present federal litigation in the Minnesota, Michigan and Colorado lumbermen's cases, will be given before the eighteenth annual convention of the Minnesota lumbermen, which began today.

William A. Lancaster, attorney for the lumbermen, will tell the dealers the history of the case, paying especial attention to the government's protest against the "lumbermen's information bureau." The government alleges blacklisting of manufacturers who sell directly to the customer and the upkeep of an information bureau for this purpose.

RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

Doctors Could Not Help Mrs. Templeton—Regained Health through Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Hooper, Nebraska.—"I am very glad to tell how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped me. For five years I suffered from female troubles so I was scarcely able to do my work. I took doctors' medicines and used local treatments but was not helped. I had such awful bearing down pains and my back was so weak I could hardly walk and could not ride. I often had to sit up nights to sleep and my friends thought I could not live long. At my request my husband got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I commenced to take it. By the time I had taken the seventh bottle my health had returned and I began doing my washing and was well woman. At one time for three weeks I did all the work for eighteen boarders with no signs of my old trouble returning. Many have taken your medicine after seeing what it did for me. I would not take $1000 and be where I was. You have my permission to use my name if it will aid anyone."—Mrs. SUSIE TEMPLETON, Hooper, Nebraska.

The Pinkham record is a proud and peerless one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinate ills of women that deal out despair.

It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a medicine?

BETTER SEED ITS MISSION

Polk County Organization Is Formed to Improve Quality of Seed Used.

Association Also Organized at Crookston to Take Over the Fair Grounds.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 16. — (Special to The Herald.) — As a result of a preliminary meeting held during the farmers' short course at the Crookston school of agriculture, and one of the direct beneficial outgrowths of that course, a committee on constitution and by-laws reported today, the report was adopted and the Polk County Good Seed Growers' association was organized by the election of the following officers: President, J. F. Ingersol; vice president, M. G. Malin; secretary, J. D. Billsborrow.

A meeting will be held every two weeks the prime objects being to secure better seed, more uniformity in methods and varieties of grains, etc., and a general movement toward intensified farming and the avoiding of the most common and costly errors, due sometimes to habit and other times to lack of knowledge that is available, but not taken advantage of. The school of agriculture and experiment farm will work hand in hand with the new organization. It is probable that a Potato Growers' association will be organized as an auxiliary organization which will work for both uniformity of varieties and act as a selling organization as well.

Fair Association Organized.

The Northwestern Minnesota Agricultural association has been incorporated; capital stock $20,000 and officers as follows: President, James Cumming, Mallory; vice president, C. G. Selvig, Crookston, school of agriculture; treasurer, H. D. Reed, cashier of the Scandia American bank, Crookston, secretary, C. A. Hitchcock; directors, president, vice president, treasurer and R. T. Buckier, J. M. Stephens, Henry Beardmore, E. Roberts, J. F. Ingersol, and Ed Kalston.

A good share of the stock was subscribed for at once and a committee consisting of Ingersol, Ralston and Hitchcock was appointed to dispose of the balance of the stock. The association now owns $6,000 worth of buildings and has an indebtedness of but $2,500 and will at once purchase the fair grounds from the city for $5,000, which includes a race track which would cost $3,000.

The capital stock will be all paid in and next year a fair will be put on on a scale double what was ever before attempted.

WINNIPEG MAN GIVEN FREEDOM

Brother of "Ralph Connor" Will Not Face Grand Forks, Charge.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—John S. Gordon of Winnipeg, charged with obtaining property under false pretenses, was released yesterday afternoon, the prosecuting attorney moving for the dismissal of the charge. It was shown that Mr. Gordon, who is a brother of "Ralph Connor," the author had not issued the checks in question with criminal intent, it being merely a misunderstanding of his own authority in connection with the issuance of such checks.

$30,000 BEMIDJI FIRE.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 16.—Clearing away the debris from Saturday evening's disastrous fire in the heart of town has commenced preparatory to rebuilding. The total loss is estimated at $30,000.

The firms burned out were: Lars Lind, where the fire started, saloon and retsaurant, loss $1,800; Charles Cominsky, Palace Clothing store, $8,000; insurance, $4,500; Ray Dennis, barber, $500, insurance, $300; Peter Edd, employment office, no estimate; all these on Minnesota avenue; Harry Gunsalus' saloon on Third street, $1,800, insured; E. K. Anderson, Third street, $1,500, insured.

Three of the burned buildings were owned by Schneider Brothers, valued at $12,000, with $8,000 insurance, and two were owned by the Fitger Brewign company at Duluth, valued at $6,000, with partial insurance. All the buildings were old and their destruction makes possible modern structures in one of Bemidji's most desirable corners.

COLDS AFFECT THE KIDNEYS

Many Duluth People Have Found This to be True.

Are you wretched in bad weather?

Does every cold settle on your kidneys?

Does your back ache and become weak?

Are urinary passages irregular and distressing?

These symptoms show kidney weakness.

The kidneys need quick help.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure kidney suffering.

Duluth people say so.

Nels Bakken, 1 E. Sixth St., Duluth, Minn., says: "Off and on for twelve years I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and have found them to be an excellent kidney medicine. I had sharp twinges in the small of my back and was lame across my hips and loins. If I took cold, I had to be careful that my kidneys did not give out entirely. After taking Doan's Kidney Pills about two days, I noticed that the secretions from my kidneys were clearer and more natural. The soreness and lameness soon left and I continued taking Doan's Kidney Pills, until I was well. Since then I have used them occasionally and have always been benefited."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

SHERIFF FAILS TO FIND PAIR

Red Lake County Official Makes Fruitless Search for Two Brothers.

Red Lake Fls, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff Fellman has returned after a fruitless search for Ernest and Joe Miller, brothers, sons of Sam Miller, for whose arrest warrants were issued several days ago.

Joe Miller is alleged to have violently assaulted his wife. Both men are alleged to have committed various robberies.

In the assault upon his wife Miller used a dipper. He struck her on the head, his victim being badly cut and bruised, it is said. A warrant was sworn out for his arrest, but before it was served the authorities received information convincing them that the brothers were guilty of several robberies.

Alleged Grain Thefts.

They are alleged to have stolen two loads of oats from Phil Demarais and previous to that to have stolen live stock from Paul Cyr and to have sold the stock. One or more other robberies are alleged.

Mrs. Miller, who was assaulted, is said to have protested against the thieving operations, and to have given the authorities the information leading to the charges of robbery being made.

Before they could be placed under arrest them apparently succeeded in getting out of the country. The sheriff traced them to Brookston, to Erskine, to Crookston, and to Grand Forks, but lost track of them there.

WANTS LAND DEEDED BACK.

North Dakotan Claims He Acted Under Misapprehension.

Bowbells, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—An effort to conform with Canadian land dpartment laws, which he supposed were similar to those of the United Stats, will be aired in the district court of Burke county this week when Oscar Dahl seeks to set aside a deed conveying a quarter section of Burke county land to Herbert Dixon, which he claims was transferred merely for the purpose of placing him in a position where he could declare that he was not the owner of any real estate.

Dahl found, on arriving in Canada, that the filing laws were different, and that the fact that he possessed land in the United States had no bearing on his application. He immmediately returned and claims that Dixon refused to deed the property back to him, and still holds it contrary to their alleged verbal agreement.

Dahl may lose his property because of a misunderstanding of laws.

OLD SETTLERS MEET.

Pioneers of Red River Valley to Gather at Crookston.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Next Thursday evening there will be a big meeting of the Old Settlers' association in the Commercial clubrooms. The plans call for a 24 by 40 two-story brick building. It will be located just east of the present building.

CRANDON, WIS., MAN IS CHARGED WITH DEFRAUDING

Crandon, Wis., Jan. 16.—A warrant has been sworn out for the arrest of W. H. Kennerd of this city, head of the County Abstract association on the charge of the transferring an alleged fraudulent mortgage to Dr. J. N. Kennerd has been missing for two weeks, and many investors in mortgages sold by him suspect that the paper is fraudulent. Humphrey is said to have invested about $20,000 and the total amount realized by the sale of mortgages is said to be from $75,000 to $100,000.

RENVILLE COUNTY HAS DEVELOPMENT LEAGUE.

Mohall, N. D., Jan. 16.—The Renville County Development league to promote immigration has been organized. The officers are: President, B. M. Harvey; vice president, J. M. Sauer; treasurer, R. D. Johnson; secretary, A. A. Lane.

Another meeting has been called at Mohall Feb. 6, when details for the season's work will be laid.

MANY TOWNS WILL "SHOW" MAJOR SHUNK.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fully fifty villages, towns and cities of the Red river valley of the north—both from the North Dakota and the Minnesota sides of the stream—will join in making a showing before Maj. Shunk of the war department, when he conducts a hearing here Thursday, as to the navigability of the stream and the possibilities which exist in the event that government appropriations can be secured which will permit of extensive dam work.

Buys Kittson County Phone.

Hallock, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Kittson Telephone company has been purchased by Kittson county farmers and local business men and most of the telephone lines in the county, are now owned entirely by farmers. The officers and directors are John A. Ross, pres.; Oscar Youngren, vice president; T. M. George, secretary and treasurer; Andrew Anderson, John S. Lindgren, William Ash and Victor Carlson.

Two Sentenced at Williston.

Williston, N. D., Jan. 16.—Melvin C. Howe, convicted of horse stealing, was sentenced to five years, and Thomas Logan, convicted of grain thefts, to three years by Judge Frank Fisk of the district court.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Oshkosh—The Oshkosh Power Boat club elected the following officers: Commodore, W. S. McDonald; vice commodore, C. A. Kennedy; secretary, Harry Gibson; fleet captain, G. G. Adams.

Burlington—After an illness of nine months, the Rev. Theodore Jacobs, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church of this city, died Sunday. He was 63 years old and was ordained for the priesthood at St. Francis' seminary in 1878. He has occupied his position here since 1890.

Green Bay—The program for the convention which the Wisconsin Buttermakers' association will hold in Green Bay on Feb. 6, 7 8 and 9 has been completed by Secretary G. Heikendorf and copies with detailed accounts of the program will be sent out to buttermakers next week. Subjects of interest to every individual engaged in the butter industry will be handled by men qualified to do so.

Rhinelander—The plans for the new high school building have been let to T. Casstra of Chicago. The building will be of brick with 16,868 feet of floor space. A vacuum cleaning system will be installed. Work will begin in the spring.

Green Bay—Earl Provencher, a Green Bay boy who has been working at Dallas, Tex., is a victim of the epidemic there of cerebral spinal meningitis.

Fond du Lac—The Billings, Mont. basket ball team, after drawing a 49 to 27 defeat from Company E of this city last week and scheduled to play a second game with Fond du Lac Saturday, has called off the contest.

Madison—In attacking the problem of the better distribution of farm products, the state board of public affairs is considering the establishment of a bureau of investigation, in co-operation with the agricultural college of the University of Wisconsin to study methods of marketing in use in Wisconsin.

Black River Falls—Dr. H. B. Cole died Sunday after a long illness. He was the oldest practitioner in this part of the state, coming here in 1865. Dr. Cole held the office of mayor for several terms, was chairman of the county board of education, served as coroner and filled many other offices. A widow and one son, who is the present district attorney, survive.

Rice Lake—It is rumored that Judge Henry Coustock of Cumberland, this county, wishes to be named as the next secretary of the state of Wisconsin. Mr. Comstock is one of the pioneer Progressives, and stands very close to Senator La Follette. Secretary of State James A. Frear will probably be the next congressman from this district, as he seems to have a big lead.

Washburn—An important meeting of the Chequamegon Bay Farmers' association was held at the Commercial club in this city Saturday afternoon, the purpose of the meeting being a proposition for building a cheese factory and also for taking up the question of pure bred stock. The organization was formed last season, and is composed of farmers in the Chequamegon bay district.

Negaunee—John Erickson, who was principal of the Negaunee high school for a number of years prior to leaving last fall, for Houghton, where he is now filling a similar position, is engaged to be married to Miss Jeanette Palmer of Bellefontaine, Ohio, formerly a kindergarten teacher in the Case street school of this city.

Ishpeming—The improvements in the Young Men's Christian association's building, made for the purpose of giving the boys meeting rooms of their own, will be finished this week. The entrance to the main, or men's lobby, on the first floor, was partitioned off Saturday.

Marquette—Earl Hodson, who has lived with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goodwin, for the last fourteen years, left Monday evening for Victoria, B. C., where his parents reside, and where he expects to make his home in the future. On the way to the coast he will stop at Duluth, Fargo and Butte.

L'Anse—Herman J. Seifert, president of the board of education received from the Misses Elsie and Allie McKernan of Houghton a portrait of their father, John Q. McKernan, which will be hung in the McKernan school.

Houghton—R. S. Goodell of Palmesdale has returned from Duluth where he was called by the illness of his brother R. T. Goodell, manager for Gay & Sturgis in Duluth. R. T. Goodell is reported as improving gradually.

Lake Linden—At a meeting of the women of the Lake Linden Congregational church the officers for the year were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Will. J. Parks; vice president, Mrs. H. D. Lee; secretary, Miss Margaret Jones; treasurer, Mrs. George H. Bennallack.

Hancock—Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Elsie Weismiller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Weismiller of East Hancock, to Percival W. Hiscock, third son of A. S. Hiscock, Trowbridge, Wiltshire, Eng.

Trimountain—The Baltic Glee club next Saturday evening will render a program at the M. E. church here. The proceeds of the entertainment will be used for new hymnals.

Calumet—It is stated that Abramson Bros., who were burned out at Phillipsville two days ago, will not rebuild their store. The total loss on store, stock and fixtures amounted to about $5,000, it is said, with $2,800 insurance.

Ironwood—E. P. Godfrey, who has been engaged as director by the Morrie band, arrived Wednesday. Mr. Godfrey comes highly recommended as a musician and director, and our band will undoubtedly fully sustain its enviable reputation under his leadership.

Ishpeming — Charles J. Shaddick, cashier of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, Friday received a cablegram from England informing him of the sudden death of his father, John J. Shaddock, who resided at Barnstaple, Eng.

A Clear Skin, soft, white hands and good hair are physical assets of great value. No one can afford to neglect them.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Crookston — The directors of the First National bank elected the following officers: J. W. Wheeler, president; H. C. Misner, vice president; E. M. Walsh, vice president; C. F. Mix, cashier; H. L. Marsh, assistant cashier; S. A. Erickson, assistant cashier.

Detroit — Maj. John R. Howard, superintendent at the White Earth agency, has returned from Washington, where he conferred with the department officials. Among matters considered was the construction of a hospital at the agency and upon this point all agreed as to its necessity. Mr. Howard was given every assurance that such an institution would be constructed next summer at a cost of not less than $20,000.

Bemidji — Leslie Ferrier, the young Spooner barber, arrested following a coroner's inquest over the body of Andrew Anderson, who was killed while engaged in a sparring match with Ferrier on New Year's night, was brought before Court Commissioner A. M. Crowell here and held in $5,000 bonds.

Deer River — Severin Momb, formerly of Bigfork, who has lived in Duluth for the past three years, where he is connected with a realty firm, was in town last week and went to Grand Forks to close up several sales of iron mining stock shares which he is handling for the Walhalla Mining company of Duluth.

Hendrum—A golden eagle was killed by Arnott McCradie, near here. He considers it quite a prize and intends having it mounted as it is a rare sight to see one of this species of eagles anywhere in North America. It measured eighty-nine inches from tip to tip of its wings.

Fergus Falls—The Fergus Falls Cooperative creamery paid 41 cents for butter-fat during the first half of December. This is the highest price ever paid here, and butter is today the highest it has been in the terminal markets.

Aitkin—An invitation has been accepted by the debating team of the local high school to go to Anoka on Jan. 26 to debate with a team from the high school of that city, the question, "Resolved, That the federal government should establish a parcels post." The Aitkin debators, Harold Porter, Henry Blomberg and Robert Leonard, will take the affirmative side.

East Grand Forks—At the special congregational meeting of the Mendenhall Memorial Presbyterian church a call was extended to Rev. C. E. Cole of Flaxton, N. D. Mr. Cole occupied the pulpit of the local church several weeks ago, and at that time made a favorable impression.

Moorhead—Rev. W. H. Hill preached his last sermon Sunday as pastor of the Methodist church of this city. Rev. Mr. Hill will leave in the near future for a point near Billings, Mont., where he will locate.

Northhome—C. P. Ellingson is making arrangements for the conveyance of four car loads of sawmill machinery for a mill to be erected at Island lake. Mr. Ellingson represents the Island Lake Lumber company, which secured a mill site at the lake last fall and is now hauling in the material, which will be an investment of between $20,000 and $25,000.

St. Cloud—William O'Neil was arraigned before Judge Taylor Saturday and entered a plea of guilty to forgery in the second degree. He was represented by J. C. Jenks, appointed by the court, and admitted passing two worthless checks on the Glueck Brewing company. He was sentenced by the court to the reformatory. The maximum for forgery in the second degree is ten years with no minimum given.

Mankato—Rudy Rolofson, baggageman at the union depot, was held up at the point of a revolver Saturday night while going to his home in North Mankato. Two masked men went through his pockets, getting $6, but overlooking $45 in another pocket.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Minot, N. D.—Five thousand dollars a year for three years will be spent in the vicinity of Minot in the better farming movement inaugurated by the Better Farming association, which covers the entire state. This was decided upon at a mass meeting of business men at the Commercial club rooms when Thomas Cooper, secretary of the association, gave an excellent talk, explaining the plan that the association will carry out.

Fargo, N. D.—The Good Samaritans have instaled the following officers, Good samaritan, A. M. Baker; vice good samaritan, George Cocking; centurion, G. L. Drew; high priest, J. B. Adams; chief messenger, A. L. Smith; Levite, D. M. Hunt; treasurer, Gilbert N. Gunderson; scribe, L. Kelsvec; watchman, Otto Jahnke; trustees, L. M. Ellefson, three years; P. H. Hannon, two years; George Snobeck, one year.

Baldwin, N. D.—Andrew Kruger, age 38, of Trygg township, who has been a sufferer from tuberculosis for over a year and a half, died at his farm home Friday. He leaves a wife and several children. The funeral was held from Baldwin Sunday afternoon.

Bismarck, N. D.—The next case on the calendar of the supreme court for argument is the rehearing of the Stockwell case which is set for Jan. 30 in which he appears as defendant with the state of North Dakota as plaintiff, and in which he was once defeated, being ordered to pay over $5,000 fees collected by the state superintendent's office and alleged to have been retained by him illegally.

Devils Lake, N. D.—The fall of 1911 has left a large acreage of unplowed land throughout the Northwest. Desirable work horses are not to be had at any price, hence the farmers of the state are buying tractors.

Grand Forks, N. D.—No. 137, the Neche train northbound ran into a team of horses belonging to John Sevoey a mile this side of Ardoch, killing one and maiming the other so that it was necessary to shoot it.

With $3,000 you can start a dairy in the Pacific Northwest

Land in the Pacific Northwest suitable for dairying, compared with equally suitable lands in other parts of the United States, is still very cheap. The Dairy and Food Commissioner of the State of Oregon estimates that there are 200,000 dairy cows in that state now—most of them in small herds, 10 cows or less.

Your herd, in the beginning, should be very small, but you should be prepared to increase it as you establish yourself in business.

Cows feed on green food, in the open, the year 'round, and therefore it is possible to produce milk out there very cheaply.

And the demand for dairy products is now greater than the supply. There are in one state alone (and the statistics for other states are not available at this time) 70 creameries, 7 condenseries and 50 cheese factories—thus insuring to the dairyman the consumption of his product as fast as it is produced. Prof. G. L. McKay, formerly head of the Dairy Department of Ames Agricultural College, says: "In my judgment, there is no place on earth where dairy products can be produced as cheaply as in Oregon."

The figure given above is an outside figure—and any man of industry and perseverance, who is willing to start in dairying with this amount of capital, should succeed. And, in addition thereto, he and his family would be living under the most favorable social and economic conditions.

Have You Heard About Free Washing Powder Week?

Only a few days and it will be here.

Then you can learn for yourself how dirt flies before Johnson's Washing Powder. How your bath tub and sink will glisten, your floors get snowy white, your woodwork shine.

Every year we give Galvanic users a chance to try one of our products free. This year it is a big full-pound package of Johnson's Washing Powder.

Galvanic Soap

Makes Clothes White and Washing Easy

We send more than 12,000 miles to Ceylon for cocoanut oil to make Galvanic Soap. This is expensive—but thirty-six years of experience have demonstrated to us that cocoanut oil is necessary to Galvanic.

That is why 1,000,000 women ask for "Galvanic" when they want soap for the laundry or kitchen. A single 5-cent cake will prove its superiority.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

DOING SOME CURLING IN THE OLD SPORT COLUMN

They're Wi' Us, Jamie, the Curlers, Those Friends O' Twenty Years Ago---Two More Fighters Coming---The Great Jim Thorpe.

(BY BRUCE.)

THEY are with us again, the jolly, genial and care free curlers. We welcome them each winter and we part with them with the deep longing of regret. The old sand glass remorselessly and even ruthlessly rolls off another year, and lo they are with us again. The same smile of true friendship is on their lips, the same hearty grip of the hand greets you. True men they are, members of the loyal band of good fellowship, tossing off years from shoulders that may be the least bent, forgetting for the time that this grim old world haunts us with its worries and cares—for one happy week men become young; Peter Pan is not such an impossible person as you may believe—if you have never curled, laddie.

Truly how time does fly. What a fund of reminiscences does a score of years contain. And so as we see Jamie Myron hurry out of that habitual composure that is founded upon Scotch nature and deep reflection, and eagerly grasp the hand of some broomed knight of the stane, eagerly asking his health with a touch of Scotch-burr on the tongue, and exclaiming that it was twenty years ago that they curled together—well we know as we see them make for one, or two rather, of the easy chairs, that friendship and the long roll of years bring joys to some of us.

There is "Gib" White down from Winnipeg, and mon, he curled twenty years ago with Jamie. There is Jake Wells, a veteran true and tried, and the frosts of many winters failed to even temper the white heat of his grand old enthusiasm for the grand old game. Aye, "Jakie" Wells, mon, is truly one of the grand old party of the curling constituency.

"Mac" Rochon is also present. Besides being interested in the hotel at Winnipeg, where we Americans stop when we alight at the Western Canadian metropolis, he also owns a race horse that was an American queen of the track. In addition to the two highly cultivated diversions of owning a hotel and a race horse—either of which would prove a burden for an ordinary man—he curls on the side.

Johnny McLeod, brother of Ron, from Minneapolis, is among the pleasant faces. Mr. McLeod's parents believed that the boy was destined to be a tailor, so persistently did he clutch a flatiron in his chubby hands and make for a small sheet of ice near the family home. You have heard before of youths playing on the ice with the flatiron and later with the curling stane, and you may not believe the story. In this case exaggeration has not flirted coyly with fact.

"Kid" Cassidy of Winnipeg is another of the famous delegates from the clan of good fellowship. As a mere che-e-ld, as they weep in melodramas and tenement fires, Cassidy was one of the greatest of Winnipeg. To be great up there with a stane you have to bite your initials on the main niche of curling fame. If the game didn't originate in Winnipeg it sort of revolves around that immediate locality at the present time. Cassidy used to skip the grade schools and go out and play with his bearded seniors, explaining difficult plays as the game progressed.

Tom McDermott, the massive and placid, unirritable and beaming, is an attorney with a Hackenschmidt physique, a formible opposition to be sure. Mister McDermott can pick flaws in some of the rocks and brings a legal acumen to every move made by his rink. Curling is not a diversion with him; it is a lesson in logic and the simple demonstration of mathematics.

There are many more characters that the game here in the American and Canadian Northwest has produced. This week they will have the time of their lives. Blue Beard might have been an optimist, not to mention a philanthropist, had he taken to curling in his younger days instead of speculating upon how to get ahead.

There is a thorough geniality, a true sense of friendship that is part of the game. It is no wonder that Duluth looks forward to the week of the curling bonspiel. It is a week in which many old friendships are renewed and many new ones made. She is one fine week—the one when the bonspiel comes to town.

SO JIM CORBETT is going to make Jack Johnson's nose flatter still. Can you picture it? You cannot. While Jim Corbett might have enough of the old stuff left to lick an ordinary cit affected or afflicted, depending upon the case, with dyspepsia, he does not carry large enough guns to blunt and render of low structure the proboscis that ornaments the shining ebony and gold countenance of Lil Artha.

Time was once when it would have been real interesting and worth many grimy bones to see these two gladiators in earnest action. Time has nung up several new calendars since then, however. Even the one night stands, necessary as they are for bread and the 40-cent per pound commodity, are getting so they leave James fatigued and of unstrung nature. Cam thouself, James; cam thyself.

A BASEBALL statistician has estimated that each of the hits of Napoleon Lajoie last summer, the time he was acting in the role of pinch hitter, cost Cleveland $567. If the Naps would agree to pay the old warrior that much per hit during the hay making time in the baseball vineyard, the large Frenchman would soon be able to settle the much-mooted question as to who is the richest man in the world. He would have John D. and Freddy Weyerhaeuser looking as sheepish and humble as poor relations when the Yule tide bells are about to shed gladsome ting-a-lings.

Again we might suggest that there are also some hitters working in the high endeavor circles of baseball, who, if paid on the percentage plan per hit, would have to borrow cigarette money from the groundkeeper. Now last season we had Bald—ah, but what's the use?

THEY say — they means a multitude of pens or typewriters turning out the dope—that George McDonald, the English bookmaker—not a publisher, understand—is going to bring two Wells over here when he returns to the coveted land of the millionaires—Matt Wells and Bombardier Wells. The first is a lightweight—a heavy one—and the second is a heavyweight—a rather light one.

One of the reasons given for the bringing of Bombardier here is Carl Morris. Carl is the reason for lots of things—the white hopes, a publicity bureau in Oklahoma and some free advertising for the Santa Fe. It is said that Wells, the large one, is to fight Morris. Let Wells lick Carl and we will have a more violent spasm of the white hope. Maybe Carl can't fight, but he is talked about just the same. That's better than being ignored, like James J. Jeffries, for instance.

If Bombardier Wells didn't have a weak stomach and had a harder punch and weighed more and had more experience—he might possibly be able to beat Jack Johnson, if Jack would fight him. As it is, fried chicken, perhaps a scowl at the waiter and a few fights with some of the harmless white men in the heavier division of the fighting class will be as strenuous as the ex-army man will get.

TO THE great list of all-round athletes of America must be added the name of James Thorpe of the Carlisle Indian school. Malcolm Ford, Alvin Kraenzlein, Johnny Garrels, Ed Merrill, Martin Sheridan, Ellery Clark and Neil Snow are classed among the greatest all-round athletes of modern times. Perhaps the wonderful Indian is as great as any of these.

Thorpe is high jumper, broad jumper, hurdler and weight man. In addition to this he proved last fall to be one of the greatest football players ever produced by America. He is also a baseball player and an adept at the game of lacrosse—which means giving the opponent the cross if he gets gay.

Some may wonder why the Indian does not go after the all-round competition. The title is at the present time held by a Pacific coast athlete. According to some of the figures that have been made by the Indian, he would prove one of the sensations of the decade in the seven events that the A. A. A. has designated for the all-round test of supremacy.

Dillon Has Engagements.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 16.—Jack Dillon, middleweight, signed articles to meet Terry Martin of Boston or Pittsburg next Saturday. Dillon also signed to meet Walter Coffey at New York, Feb. 6. Dillon probably will join Ray Bronson in February in a jaunt to Europe, where the Indianapolis welterweight will meet Matt Wells in London. Dillon is negotiating with Moreaux and Carpenter for bouts in Paris.

Klaus Gets Decision.

Pittsburg, Jan. 16.—Jimmy Howard of Chicago and Frank Klaus of Pittsburg went Six fast rounds here last night and the fight on popular decision was given to Klaus. Klaus was never in distress throughout the bout.

PLAY IN BIG BONSPIEL IS NOW WELL UNDER WAY

Rapid Progress Being Made in the First Three Events.

Duluth Rinks Showing Up Well in Early Contests.

With practically all of the rinks here, with the exception of some of the Winnipeg rinks that are coming down for the International, play in the big bonspiel has settled down to the steady machine-like progress that is expected to hold through until the final games are completed next Saturday.

While it is very early in the bonspiel to predict, the showing of some of the Duluth rinks to date has been very gratifying. Billy Dinham's rink has won three games to date, two in the Duluth Curling club's event and the remaining one in the St. Paul Jobbers' event. Dinham's rink looks like one of the strongest of the local representatives and the skip and its members are getting away fine.

While it is generally believed that Winnipeg rinks are an awfully strong contingent, Haig's rink met with two reverses yesterday, Hurdon defeating the Winnipeg veteran in the Duluth event by the score of 9 to 8. This was one of the best games played yesterday afternoon and a large gallery watched the two vets skip their rival rinks.

Up to the last two heads it looked as if the Pegger had the game neatly sewed up. Hurdon came strong in the last two ends, making three in the eleventh and two in the twelfth head.

Tucker of Pardeeville is one of the veterans who is attracting a great deal of attention. He has won from Pratt of Eveleth and in the last draw of the day defeated Holland's rink. In the game with Holland the Wisconsin vet laid five rocks in the first head and was never in danger after that.

Two Peggers Win.

Kelly of Winnipeg and the veteran McDiarmid of the Peg, the latter being th skip to capture the highest curling trophy in the world three years ago, won their games yesterday. Kelly defeated Michaud's rink and McDiarmid won from Pratt of Eveleth. There has been a large gallery on hand to watch McDiarmid's rink play, as the Winnipeg veteran is one of the very best known stane men in the world.

With the arrival of Bob Dunbar today, one of the greatest skips that the great old Scotch game has produced since the first Scot curled a rock on one of the sheets of bonny Scotland, interest in the play will increase.

It is expected that Dunbar and his grandfather rink, as his aggregation has been dubbed, will get into the play this afternoon. While it is stated that the Duluth veteran has not so fine a rink as he had last year when he made a clean sweep of the spiel, it is very probable that the wizzard of the rocks will take some of the jewelery back to the Apostle city.

"Mac" Rochon of Winnipeg has one of the strong rinks of the Peg and the play of his aggregation should be one of the features of today's events. Rochon is a brilliant skip and his rink is said to rank with the best in the great center of the curling game.

Clearly the feature of yesterday's opening day play was the great work of Johnny Oldham. In the early morning draw Oldham won a game from McDermott of St. Paul and sprang the first real surprise of the spiel. Later in the day he captured a 13 head contest from the veteran Haig of Winnipeg. This gives Oldham three games to date, and from the way he is playing he looks to be one of the contenders.

Following are the results of the games played yesterday afternoon and last evening:

SAILOR AND CARR.

The Husky Marine May Meet Joe Carr in Minneapolis.

Negotiations are on at the present time for a match between Sailor Jack of Duluth and Joe Carr of Minneapolis, the match to be wrestled at the Dewey theater in Minneapolis. Carr is the same boy whom Walter Miller recently failed to toss in an hour of wrestling time. Since the world's championship match between Miller and Sailor Jack has been announced there has been a curiosity to see the little marine in action. It is probable that Jack will also engage in a contest at the Star theater in St. Paul before the finish championship match with Miller is wrestled in Duluth.

At the present time Miller is in Montreal. He is expected back in St. Paul within the present week, when negotiations will be taken up regarding the details of the match to be wrestled in Duluth. For two years the two wrestlers have been wrangling. Now it looks as if they were about to sign articles that will bring them together in a match that will decide a long disputed question.

Negotiations are also being carried on with Dick Shepperd of Pipestone, Minn. Two years ago Shepperd and the sailor wrestled what was declared to be the greatest match ever wrestled here between little men. The marine is anxious to meet the Pipestone wonder before his match with Miller.

HURLEY CLUB AFTER BROWN-REYNOLDS GO.

Pat Lanzer, the well known promoter of Hurley, Wis., is after the go between Pal Brown and George (Kid) Reynolds of St. Paul. The Hurley promoter in a letter to the sporting editor of The Herald stated that he was willing to stage the bout and would make a bid for it. As Brown and his manager, Neil Moynihan of Hibbing, have stated that they are willing to take on the St. Paul scrapper, it looks as if the battle will be staged by the Hurley Athletic club.

Brown is fighting better than ever before at the present time. The little Hibbing fighter is on the trail of some of the best boys in the lightweight class, and the battle with Reynolds may be his last appearance in this part of the country before Pal leaves for the East.

CLOTHIERS WIN FROM ADAMS TEAM.

In an indoor baseball game that was not on the regular schedule of either team, the crack Big Duluth team defeated the Adams, last year's city champions, by the score of 13 to 10. The game was played at the Auditorium rink.

Macauly, Olund and C. Foster did some high sticking for the Adams, and Gallagher and Quinn did the bludgeon assault for the clothiers.

The score by innings:

Big Duluths	1 1 3 0 8 0 x—13

ENDIONS EASILY WIN FROM THE TIGERS.

At the French Club rink in the West end the Endion Athletic club's hockey team easily won from the Tigers by the score of 12 to 1. Lack of team work and the all-round superiority of the Endion team resulted in the easy victory.

The lineup:

Tigers.	Position.	Endions.
Gallernen	c	Harris
Dykins	r	Wood
Clark	rw	Owens
Murnlan	lw	Brown
Jones	cp	Kerns
Seiger	p	Warton-Wall
Stahl	g	Emons-Wharton

Cross Wins From Keyes.

New York, Jan. 16.—Leach Cross won a popular decision over Bert Keyes in a ten-round bout at the Olympic club in this city last night. In the first round Keyes knocked Cross down twice, once for the count of nine, and again for five seconds. In the second round Cross knocked Keyes to his knees and from that point had all the better of the fight.

Zbyszko vs. Ordemann.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 16.—Stanislaus Zbyszko and Henry Ordemann of Minneapolis, will meet here in a finish match tonight, two out of three falls. Ordemann has met Zbyszko once before and was defeated, but declares that he will be able to make a better fight against his opponent than before.

BONSPIEL PRIZES ARE THE FINEST EVER OFFERED

Never was there such a layout of trophies as are offered by Duluth merchants for competition in the Northwestern Curling bonspiel now going on at the rink of the Duluth Curling club.

The winners of the Duluth Curling club event will each receive a new thin model, solid gold Elgin watch. The runners up will receive cut glass water sets. The third in line will receive hunting boofs, made to order.

The winners of the St. Paul Jobbers' event will receive Chase automobile blankets and the second and third prizes are nearly as attractive.

The winners of the Minneapolis event will get besides the trophy, prizes to be decided upon after the event has been won.

Four Sheffield silver vegetable dishes will be presented to the winners of the Western Curling club event. The second, third and fourth prizes are attractive.

The winner of the Stephen H. Jones event will receive copper coffee percolators. Silver casseroles are the second prize and Dunlop hats presented by Siewert & Co., the third prize.

Four silver sandwich trays are offered for the winners of the Ordway trophy, the event being for clubs outside Duluth, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Winnipeg. It is offered to stimulate interest among the smaller Minnesota curling clubs and induce them to enter the 'spiel.

For the grand aggregate four women's solid gold cairngorm brooches are offered.

On Wednesday evening at the Duluth Commercial club the annual banquet will be held. At this time the officers of the association will be elected for the coming year.

The present officers in charge of the bonspiel are:

President, F. W. Hargreaves, Duluth; first vice president, Thomas McDermott, ... Paul; second vice president, George B. Reedal Phillips, Wis.; secretary, A. W. Withrow, Duluth; treasurer, E. A. Forsythe, Duluth; executive committee, Charles F. Poehler, Minneapolis; Dr. C. B. Lenont, Virginia; W. D. Stewart, St. Paul; Angus G McAuley, West Duluth; Dr. R. C. GENTLEMEN, ATTENTION!

The Best Sport in Western Canada Is in Our Midst.

Lt. Col. J. W. DeCoursey O'Grady, president of the Manitoba Curling association, president of the Assinaboine club, colonel of the Nineteenth regiment, commonly known as the "Little Black Devils," orator, promoter, financier, philanthropist, the best sport in Canada, and a curler extraordinary, being champion of the welterweight class, arrived in Duluth this morning and took charge of the O'Grady rink.

That first paragraph just tells who and what he is. He is much else besides all this to the Canadians as a man. There is not one of the Canadians but speaks softly, but none the less enthusiastically, of him.

With a heart as big as a watermelon, a smile as big and expansive as a May morning, a face as open as an eight-day clock, and as good natured as Tom McGilvary, it is easy to see how Col. O'Grady has endeared himself to every one with whom he comes in contact.

Yesterday he was detained by pressure of business. He did what he could between trains but stated upon arrival that he wouldn't miss the bonspiel for all the business in Western Canada.

Canadians speak of the colonel with a sort of reverence and soft look in their eyes.

"You can't say too much about our colonel," said one of them this morning. "He is the best ever. He's the best fellow in the world and he knows something about handling a stane, as he is liable to prove before the 'spiel is over.

Col. O'Grady has two sons in his rink. He began teaching them to love the game several years ago, and they are both some curlers, it is stated.

The rink is known as the "O'Grady rink." Dr. V. Williams, a Winnipeg physician is curling with them and they hope to be in at the finish.

All the Canadian rinks are looking forward to the International. This they hope to win this year. If the Canadians win they will play down at Duluth for the trophy and if the Americans win it will be played down in the same way.

"Steve"

In spite of being president of the Duluth Curling club, Stephen H. Jones (see cut) is a very fair player for one who has a natural inability to overcome.

As president of the Duluth Curling club, the Clarion editor believes that Mr. Jones should be treated seriously. Just what the treatment will be is to be decided upon later at a meeting to be held at the Clarion office.

Until he proves what he can do at the present 'spiel, the Clarion will withhold judgment. Isn't that fair?

One of the Real Sports.

This Harry Hurdon.

Harry went to Scotland a year or so ago and had the time of his life curlin' agin some of the real old Scots.

He is curling this year and he's always at or near the finish.

Harry runs a boat line in summer and the winter months he put in at curling and—talking about it.

"Smithie."

It will tickle A. H. Smith to have his picture appear again in the Clarion. "Smithie" used to be "of Duluth," but he is now "of Winnipeg," and Winnipeg is glad.

"Smithie" is as busy, and as thin and as good a curler as ever. He says that he couldn't have missed the 'spiel if he had had to walk and lug his stones.

The former Duluth man can say "luggage" for baggage just as well as any of the other Peggers, and he referred to an iceboat yesterday as a "craft." He'll be wearing a monocle next year.

It's good to see you, Smithie.

Won't Elmer be surprised when he sees it? Ant pleased!

Mr. Whyte likes this cut so well that he threatened to shoot the person responsible for its insertion if it was ever used again.

That is just Mr. Whyte's way of showing how pleased he is. He can't fool the Clarion man.

The man who drew the picture has to make his living this way. If there weren't people like Elmer Whyte, he'd starve.

So what's the use Elm, cheer up. Didn't you beat Bob Dunbar last year?

N. B. The cut will be carefully preserved in the Clarion morgue and if Mr. Whyte's record this year will permit, it will appear as usual next year.

"Dub."

"Dub" Tresise is playing with Harry Hurdon. The picture shows how he looks when Harry is delivering a stone. It is against the policy of the Clarion to say anything very good about any one, so we'll have to stop right here, for there seems to be nothing but good to say of "Dub." He's a good curler, a better fellow, a fine singer, a swell looker and he has his clothes made to order. Enough, Moritz

"Willie."

Would Willie Dinham's parents believed when he was a little thing that he would develop into such a curler at such an early stage?

Willie used to kick the slats out of his cradle and nothing would keep him still but a pair of flatirons with which he used to practice curling up in bed.

There is nothing peculiar about Willie except his curling. It must be a gift. And he's only 28 years old.

Willie and his rink started in to win yesterday, and at last accounts they were still winning. He had two games yesterday and won both of them. Judson of West Duluth and Dunlop of Duluth fell to the youthful stane manipulator.

The Eats.

Don't forget the banquet Wednesday evening at the Commercial club. The eats will begin about 6:30 and everybody must be on hand for that part of the entertainment. This is insisted upon. There will be no games on Wednesday evening and everybody is supposed to go down to the Commercial club for a good time. It will be "had," too, by hek!

A Joke.

If a Canadian lost a prize could he Win—a—peg?—Contributed, and not original, thank goodness!

Jumbo's Here.

After an absence of two years Jumbo Beggs of Winnipeg is back in Duluth for the annual bonspiel with Neil. "Jumbo," no one knows his other name is the best heavyweight curler in Canada.

Nature delt generously with "Jumbo." He towers over an ordinary person like the Alworth building does to a peanut stand.

When Jumbo comes in the door the lights go out. He could put an ordinary man in his pocket and still have room to take home a pound of the best butter.

When here two years ago, Jumbo was the hit of the 'spiel. He regrets the absence from the city of Marshall Alworth who is said to be in Florida. The two became so chummy when Jumbo was last here, that they forgot all about the bonspiel.

Jumbo knows everything. He wears a large button which states: "Ask me." And everybody does. Someone even asked him how the weather was up there but they were forced to move fast because Jumbo is some quick with a broom.

He had to have two berths coming down to Duluth on the train and when they tried to crowd him into a small room at the Spalding, he had to take down a partition. This last may or may not be true.

Anyway, he's here and everybody's glad to see him and he says he's glad to be here himself.

When last here he was a policeman on the Winnipeg force but he has been promoted and is now an official of the Canadian customs office at Winnipeg.

Thistledown.

"Wild Bill Shaver" is back amongst us. He didn't want his name in the paper. Didn't you tell where you were going, Bill? If Wild Bill could Shaver could Johnnie 'Old 'em? Rotten!

• • •

John Arthur Aristides Michaud lost his first contest to Heimbaugh of Superior yesterday. Some of Arthur's shots were close at that.

The Mystery of the Curling club! Who is Thomas Flannigan? The register says he is from Virginia and playing with W. B. Shaver. Shaver doesn't know. A careful search of the rink and the hotels has failed to disclose the secret. On Mr. Shaver's entry card he has noted that his aggregation is "perhaps the best bunch of curlers in attendance at the local bonspiel," an echo of last year, Bill. Old stuff.

• • •

From Stonewall, Man., comes J. M. Riley, who is skipping a rink composed of A. N. McDonald, W. T. Vincent and W. Montgomery. We wonder how Riley got in with that outfit. We suggest a game between rinks composed of Riley of Stonewall, Kelly of Winnipeg, Harrigan of Port Arthur and O'Grady of Winnipeg to play for the championship of Sweden against Pratt of Eveleth, Sullivan of West Duluth, McCarthy of Duluth and one of the O'Gradys of Winnipeg. It would be some con—test! Ouch!

Clarion Calls.

"Billy" Stewart of St. Paul is known as the best curler ever captured alive. "The greatest in captivity," a member of the rink said yesterday in pointing Mr. Stewart out proudly.

Mr. Stewart hasn't much time to attend to business during the winter months but when he can get conveniently away from the Nushka club, he takes a run to the office. "If business interferes with pleasure, cut the business," is Mr. Stewart's motto.

It was good to see Walter Poehler, formerly of Duluth—but now of Minneapolis, at the rink today. "Walt" was one of the original best curlers in the club," and he seems to be as glad to be back as we are to have him. He is playing with John McLeod of Minneapolis.

• • •

Lem Delfield is playing third for Bob Dunbar this year. Bill Griggs is playing second. Bob hasn't announced his lead.

• • •

Tom McDermott of St. Paul is known as the "outlaw curler." Tom objects to everything. He got his training in St. Paul courts. He is said to be a better lawyer than he is a curler, and believe us, that is going some.

• • •

Many are asking:

Where is Atkinson of Rainy River?

Where is Cover of Phillips, Wis.?

Where is Chamberlain of Phillips, Wis.?

Where is Conkel of Arlington, Wis.?

Broomstraws.

• • •

McIver of Port Arthur defeated Pollock of West Duluth yesterday. The Canadian skip says he has the "rottenest rink" at the 'spiel, but admits that he is the best skip.

• • •

F. H. Wade of West Duluth has three 15-year-old boys under his leadership. The youngsters succeeded in beating Kelly of Winnipeg yesterday. Kelly hadn't ought to be playing a scotch game, anyway.

• • •

Ed Holland of West Duluth is back again with his famous kids and they were lucky yesterday, getting a forfeit from Hartman of Virginia. Maybe it was just as well that Hartman forfeited for the kids are playing strong.

• • •

A. C. Anderson has a rink from New Duluth. This is the first time in history that New Duluth has been represented at a 'spiel. Walter Dash is leading, M. Becklinger is second and D. H. Lewis is third. It's a pretty bum rink, but then they are new at the game, and we hope they do well.

Bruder, Heimbaugh, Russell, Maxfield, Gates and Chadwick, all Superior skips, have all entered the bonspiel with grim determination and a two days beard over their features. The Superior men have recollections of a night or so ago and want a trophy or two to take the place of the Manley.

MORNING GAMES BRING OUT SOME CLASSY CURLING

Rochon Wins Very Close Contest From Rockwood of Portage.

Dunbar Arrives With His Old Partner, "Lem" Delfield.

"Mac" Rochon won the star game of the morning session from Rockwood of Portage, the Winnipeg skip nosing out by laying four stones in the eleventh head. The game was a beautifully curled one and a contest that drew the largest gallery of the early morning draw. Rochon had to exhibit some of the best curling that the young 'spiel has yet brought forth, for the Portage man kept him playing all the time.

Two big heads won for Rochon. Rockwood led 7 to 5 up to the ninth head. In this head Rochon laid three by some of the best curling that has been seen at the 'spiel. Rockwood came back with two in the tenth, but when the score was marked up at the end of the eleventh head the game was practically conceded to Rochon. At that Rockwood all but tied in the final end.

Heimbaugh gave Holland an unmerciful beating in the St. Paul Jobbers' play, and Tucker of Pardeeville had little trouble with Dunlop of Duluth. McLeod of Duluth defeated Judson of West Duluth, and Evered won from Smith.

The morning games in the Duluth Curling club events brought out two very one-sided contests. Morrison of Winnipeg easily defeated Krauth of Phillips, Wis., winning out by a score of 13 to 4. Parkinson of Phillips secured some measure of revenge for the disastrous defeat of his fellow-townsmen by taking a game from Bruder of Superior by the score of 15 to 3.

Sime and Keim played a close and hard fought contest and Harry Hurdon took McIver of Port Arthur into camp by the score of 12 to 9.

Dunbar Arrives.

One of the events of the morning was the arrival of Bob Dunbar and his rink of large size. Lem Delfield was on hand, larger than ever, though this does sound rather impossible as well as impractical. Admitting that it is rather impractical for Lem, nevertheless there is no exaggeration in the statement as to size.

Dunbar is making his first appearance at the spiel this afternoon. He is playing in the 3:30 draw against Sullivan of West Duluth. The appearance of Bob on the ice is sure to create a lot of interest. Wherever the famous St. Paul skip is playing, there you will find a large and interested gallery.

The meeting between Rochon and Rockwood gave the curling fanatics their first idea of what some of the best of the Winnipeg rinks are likely to do. The famous Cassidy is playing third for Rochon.

Duluth has shown strong so far and the old timers are watching the little youngster as playing the game of his life and he has one of the strongest of the local rinks. So far his skipping has compared favorably with the best of them. The youth Dinham is counted upon to make one of the best showings of any of the Duluth rinks.

RAILROADS

FREE RIGHT-OF-WAY

To Be Offered Milwaukee to Build Grand Forks Line.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Free right of way is one of the inducements held out by farmers of five townships in Grand Forks and Traill counties to the Milwaukee railroad by which they are hopeful to secure an extension of that road from Fargo to Grand Forks on the North Dakota side of the Red river. A big mass meeting was held at Belmont, thirty miles south of here, and preliminary plans formulated to obtain more direct rail connections with Grand Forks and Fargo, and the grain markets of the Northwest.

Government Sues Rock Island.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 16.—The Rock Island Railroad company is made defendant in twenty-four damage suits aggregating $12,000, filed in the federal court by the government. The suits were brought on the ground that the company has violated the interstate commerce law regulating the number of hours its employes should be compelled to work.

VERDICT AGAINST ONE PARTNER ONLY.

The verdict directed that C. H. Taylor, one of the members of the defendant firm be exonerated and that judgment for $8,460.12, the amount sued for, be entered against the other partner, L. H. Lien.

The wholesalers brought action against the Grand Rapids firm to recover for merchandise sold to the firm and never paid for.

FRANCE TO DECORATE J. PIERPONT MORGAN.

Paris, Jan. 16.—A Paris newspaper says that the French government has decided to decorate J. Pierpont Morgan with the commandership of the Legion of Honor, in recognition of his gifts to the Louvre.

Killed While Cleaning Gun.

Menominee, Mich., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald)—While cleaning a gun today, Henry C. Mitcheson, age 20, son of George A. Mitcheson, a prominent lumberman of Marinette, shot himself in the head and died almost instantly.

MORE LIGHT; LESS MONEY

New Duluthians Want Contract Made With Edison Company.

Other Suburbs Could Also Be Lighted for Smaller Outlay.

Residents of New Duluth have been complaining in the past of the poor lights in that suburb. There are twenty-two lamps at New Duluth at the present time, which cost the city $120 a year apiece or a total of $2,640 a year. The lights are furnished by the Thompson Furniture company of New Duluth and are only kept burning until midnight, leaving the entire village in darkness after that hour.

Several of the residents of New Duluth have been working for a change in the lighting system and figures have been obtained from the Duluth-Edison Electric company. The company will furnish twenty-two lamps at $52 a year apiece, or a total of $1,144 a year. The lights will burn all night instead of till 12 o'clock, as the other lights do, and promise a better service at all times.

The lights now in use are never in good condition, and there are many evenings throughout the year when there is no light at all. It is understood that the city has a monthly contract with the Thompson Furniture company which can be terminated at any time, thus allowing the city to make the contract with the Duluth-Edison company without any delay.

The electric company's figures would permit thirty-eight lights to be used at a saving of $864 from the present cost, although only twenty-two lights are now used. The plan is to put three extra lights at New Duluth, three at Ironton, five at Smithville and Spirit Lake and five at Fond du Lac. The would give proper lighting service to all the suburbs up to Fond du Lac.

Foot Is Amputated.

Frank Lauer was injured yesterday while working at the Great Northern power plant at Thompson. A piece of iron weighing several tons dropped on his foot which was so badly crushed that it had to be amputated. He is at St. Mary's hospital.

Fire at Box Factory.

The fire department was called out this morning to extinguish a small fire in the sawdust pile at the Standard box factory. Blame is laid to boys smoking cigarettes. There was no damage.

School Contest.

Students at the Irving, normal and high schools are very enthusiastic over the contest which is to take place within the next few weeks. They are to write on "Why Should a Girl Go to College."

August Kruger Dies.

August Kruger, 42 years of age, died early this morning. He was taken ill at 2 o'clock this morning and Dr. Jensen was called, but when he arrived the man was dead. The body was taken to Fillatrault's undertaking parlors where an autopsy was held by Dr. Jensen and Coroner McCuen, which disclosed that he died of heart and lung trouble. A wife and several children survive him. Funeral arrangements will be made later.

Died at Kelsey.

The body of Andrew Nilson, who died at Kelsey, Minn., last evening of cancer, will be brought to Duluth this afternoon for burial. His wife lives on a homestead five miles east of Kelsey.

To Dedicate Lodge Building.

The Proctor Odd Fellows have issued invitations for a banquet at which they will dedicate their new lodge building. Many of the West Duluth members are expected to attend.

Funeral of Twins.

The funeral of the twin babies, Rudolph and Ruth, of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Johnson of Midway, whose death occurred a few hours apart on Friday night and Saturday morning, was held yesterday afternoon from the family residence. Interment was made at Midway cemetery. The twins were born on Jan. 9.

THE FIRESIDE CLARION

Honi Soit Qui Mal y Pense

Published daily for one week only at The Duluth Herald Office. Not edited by anybody. Responsible to nobody. Opposed to everybody. An independent paper agin the government. Policy—"When a head shows, crack it." Office—By fireside at Curling rink.

GENTLEMEN, ATTENTION!

The Best Sport in Western Canada Is in Our Midst.

Lt. Col. J. W. DeCoursey O'Grady, president of the Manitoba Curling association, president of the Assinaboine club, colonel of the Nineteenth regiment, commonly known as the "Little Black Devils," orator, promoter, financier, philanthropist, the best sport in Canada, and a curler extraordinary, being champion of the welterweight class, arrived in Duluth this morning and took charge of the O'Grady rink.

That first paragraph just tells who and what he is. He is much else besides all this to the Canadians as a man. There is not one of the Canadians but speaks softly, but none the less enthusiastically, of him.

With a heart as big as a watermelon, a smile as big and expansive as a May morning, a face as open as an eight-day clock, and as good natured as Tom McGilvary, it is easy to see how Col. O'Grady has endeared himself to every one with whom he comes in contact.

Yesterday he was detained by pressure of business. He did what he could between trains but stated upon arrival that he wouldn't miss the bonspiel for all the business in Western Canada.

Canadians speak of the colonel with a sort of reverence and soft look in their eyes.

"You can't say too much about our colonel," said one of them this morning. "He is the best ever. He's the best fellow in the world and he knows something about handling a stane, as he is liable to prove before the 'spiel is over.

Col. O'Grady has two sons in his rink. He began teaching them to love the game several years ago, and they are both some curlers, it is stated.

The rink is known as the "O'Grady rink." Dr. V. Williams, a Winnipeg physician is curling with them and they hope to be in at the finish.

All the Canadian rinks are looking forward to the International. This they hope to win this year. If the Canadians win they will play down at Duluth for the trophy and if the Americans win it will be played down in the same way.

"Steve"

In spite of being president of the Duluth Curling club, Stephen H. Jones (see cut) is a very fair player for one who has a natural inability to overcome.

As president of the Duluth Curling club, the Clarion editor believes that Mr. Jones should be treated seriously. Just what the treatment will be is to be decided upon later at a meeting to be held at the Clarion office.

Until he proves what he can do at the present 'spiel, the Clarion will withhold judgment. Isn't that fair?

One of the Real Sports.

This Harry Hurdon.

Harry went to Scotland a year or so ago and had the time of his life curlin' agin some of the real old Scots.

He is curling this year and he's always at or near the finish.

Harry runs a boat line in summer and the winter months he put in at curling and—talking about it.

"Smithie."

It will tickle A. H. Smith to have his picture appear again in the Clarion. "Smithie" used to be "of Duluth," but he is now "of Winnipeg," and Winnipeg is glad.

"Smithie" is as busy, and as thin and as good a curler as ever. He says that he couldn't have missed the 'spiel if he had had to walk and lug his stones.

The former Duluth man can say "luggage" for baggage just as well as any of the other Peggers, and he referred to an iceboat yesterday as a "craft." He'll be wearing a monocle next year.

It's good to see you, Smithie.

Won't Elmer be surprised when he sees it? And pleased!

Mr. Whyte likes this cut so well that he threatened to shoot the person responsible for its insertion if it was ever used again.

That is just Mr. Whyte's way of showing how pleased he is. He can't fool the Clarion man.

The man who drew the picture has to make his living this way. If there weren't people like Elmer Whyte, he'd starve.

So what's the use, Elm, cheer up. Didn't you beat Bob Dunbar last year?

N. B. The cut will be carefully preserved in the Clarion morgue and if Mr. Whyte's record this year will permit, it will appear as usual next year.

"Dub."

"Dub" Tresise is playing with Harry Hurdon. The picture shows how he looks when Harry is delivering a stone. It is against the policy of the Clarion to say anything very good about any one, so we'll have to stop right here, for there seems to be nothing but good to say of "Dub." He's a good curler, a better fellow, a fine singer, a swell looker and he has his clothes made to order. Enough, Moritz

"Willie."

Would Willie Dinham's parents believed when he was a little thing that he would develop into such a curler at such an early stage?

Willie used to kick the slats out of his cradle and nothing would keep him still but a pair of flatirons with which he used to practice curling up in bed.

There is nothing peculiar about Willie except his curling. It must be a gift. And he's only 28 years old.

Willie and his rink started in to win yesterday, and at last accounts they were still winning. He had two games yesterday and won both of them. Judson of West Duluth and Dunlop of Duluth fell to the youthful stane manipulator.

The Eats.

Don't forget the banquet Wednesday evening at the Commercial club. The eats will begin about 6:30 and everybody must be on hand for that part of the entertainment. This is insisted upon. There will be no games on Wednesday evening and everybody is supposed to go down to the Commercial club for a good time. It will be "had," too, by hek!

A Joke.

If a Canadian lost a prize could he Win—a—peg?—Contributed, and not original, thank goodness!

Jumbo's Here.

After an absence of two years Jumbo Beggs of Winnipeg is back in Duluth for the annual bonspiel with Nell. "Jumbo," no one knows his other name is the best heavyweight curler in Canada.

Nature delt generously with "Jumbo." He towers over an ordinary person like the Alworth building does to a peanut stand.

When Jumbo comes in the door the lights go out. He could put an ordinary man in his pocket and still have room to take home a pound of the best butter.

When here two years ago, Jumbo was the hit of the 'spiel. He regrets the absence from the city of Marshall Alworth who is said to be in Florida. The two became so chummy when Jumbo was last here, that they forgot all about the bonspiel.

Jumbo knows everything. He wears a large button which states: "Ask me." And everybody does. Someone even asked him how the weather was up there but they were forced to move fast because Jumbo is some quick with a broom.

He had to have two berths coming down to Duluth on the train and when they tried to crowd him into a small room at the Spalding, he had to take down a partition. This last may or may not be true.

Anyway, he's here and everybody's glad to see him and he says he's glad to be here himself.

When last here he was a policeman on the Winnipeg force but he has been promoted and is now an official of the Canadian customs office at Winnipeg.

Thistledown.

"Wild Bill Shaver" is back amongst us. He didn't want his name in the paper. Didn't you tell where you were going, Bill? If Wild Bill could Shaver could Johnnie 'Old 'em? Rotten!

John Arthur Aristides Michaud lost his first contest to Heimbaugh of Superior yesterday. Some of Arthur's shots were close at that.

The Mystery of the Curling club!

Who is Thomas Flannigan? The register says he is from Virginia and playing with W. B. Shaver. Shaver doesn't know. A careful search of the rink and the hotels has failed to disclose the secret. On Mr. Shaver's entry card he has noted that his aggregation is "perhaps the best bunch of curlers in attendance at the local bonspiel," an echo of last year, Bill. Old stuff.

From Stonewall, Man., comes J. M. Riley, who is skipping a rink composed of A. N. McDonald, W. T. Vincent and W. Montgomery. We wonder how Riley got in with that outfit. We suggest a game between rinks composed of Riley of Stonewall, Kelly of Winnipeg, Harrigan of Port Arthur and O'Grady of Winnipeg to play for the championship of Sweden against Pratt of Eveleth, Sullivan of West Duluth, McCarthy of Duluth and one of the O'Gradys of Winnipeg. It would be some con—test! Ouch!

Clarion Calls.

"Billy" Stewart of St. Paul is known as the best curler ever captured alive. "The greatest in captivity," a member of the rink said yesterday in pointing Mr. Stewart out proudly.

Mr. Stewart hasn't much time to attend to business during the winter months but when he can get conveniently away from the Nushka club, he takes a run to the office. "If business interferes with pleasure, cut the business," is Mr. Stewart's motto.

It was good to see Walter Poehler, formerly of Duluth but now of Minneapolis, at the rink today. "Walt" was one of the original best curlers in the club," and he seems to be as glad to be back as we are to have him. He is playing with John McLeod of Minneapolis.

Lem Delfield is playing third for Bob Dunbar this year. Bill Griggs is playing second. Bob hasn't announced his lead.

Tom McDermott of St. Paul is known as the "outlaw curler." Tom objects to everything. He got his training in St. Paul courts. He is said to be a better lawyer than he is a curler, and believe us, that is going some.

* * *

Many are asking:
Where is Atkinson of Rainy River?
Where is Cover of Phillips, Wis.?
Where is Chamberlain of Phillips, Wis.?
Where is Conkel of Arlington, Wis.?

Broomstraws.

McIver of Port Arthur defeated Pollock of West Duluth yesterday. The Canadian skip says he has the "rottenest rink" at the 'spiel, but admits that he is the best skip.

* * *

F. H. Wade of West Duluth has three 15-year-old boys under his leadership. The youngsters succeeded in beating Kelly of Winnipeg yesterday. Kelly hadn't ought to be playing a Scotch game, anyway.

* * *

Ed Holland of West Duluth is back again with his famous kids and they were lucky yesterday, getting a forfeit from Hartman of Virginia. Maybe it was just as well that Hartman forfeited for the kids are playing strong.

* * *

A. C. Anderson has a rink from New Duluth. This is the first time in history that New Duluth has been represented at a 'spiel. Walter Dash is leading, M. Becklinger is second and D. H. Lewis is third. It's a pretty bum rink, but then they are new at the game, and we hope they do well.

Bruder, Heimbaugh, Russell, Maxfield, Gates and Chadwick, all Superior skips, have all entered the bonspiel with grim determination and a two day's beard over their features. The Superior men have recollections of a night or so ago and want a trophy or two to take the place of the Manley.

MORNING GAMES BRING OUT SOME CLASSY CURLING

Dunbar Arrives With His Old Partner, "Lem" Delfield.

"Mac" Rochon won the star game of the morning session from Rockwood of Portage, the Winnipeg skip nosing out by laying four stones in the eleventh head. The game was a beautifully curled one and a contest that drew the largest gallery of the early morning draw. Rochon had to exhibit some of the best curling that the young 'spiel has yet brought forth, for the Portage man kept him playing all the time.

Two big heads won for Rochon. Rockwood led 7 to 5 up to the ninth head. In this head Rochon laid three by some of the best curling that has been seen at the 'spiel. Rockwood came back with two in the tenth, but when the score was marked up at the end of the eleventh head the game was practically conceded to Rochon. At that Rockwood all but tied in the final end.

Heimbaugh gave Holland an unmerciful beating in the St. Paul Jobbers' play, and Tucker of Pardeeville had little trouble with Dunlop of Duluth. McLeod of Duluth defeated Judson of West Duluth, and Evered won from Smith.

The morning games in the Duluth Curling club events brought out two very one-sided contests. Morrison of Winnipeg easily defeated Krauth of Phillips, Wis., winning out by a score of 13 to 4. Parkinson of Phillips secured some measure of revenge for the disastrous defeat of his fellow-townsmen by taking a game from Bruder of Superior by the score of 15 to 3.

Sime and Kelm played a close and hard fought contest and Harry Hurdon took McIver of Port Arthur into camp by the score of 12 to 9.

Dunbar Arrives.

One of the events of the morning was the arrival of Bob Dunbar and his rink of large size. Lem Delfield was on hand, larger than ever, though this does sound rather impossible as well as impractical. Admitting that it is rather impractical for Lem, nevertheless there is no exaggeration in the statement as to size.

Dunbar is making his first appearance at the spiel this afternoon. He is playing in the 3:30 draw against Sullivan of West Duluth. The appearance of Bob on the ice is sure to create a lot of interest. Wherever the famous St. Paul skip is playing, there you will find a large and interested gallery.

The meeting between Rochon and Rockwood gave the curling fanatics their first idea of what some of the best of the Winnipeg rinks are likely to do. The famous Cassidy is playing third for Rochon.

Duluth has shown strong so far and the old timers are watching the line of Elliot Dick playing the game of his life and he has one of the strongest of the local rinks. So far his skipping has compared favorably with the best of them. The youth Dinham is counted upon to make one of the best showings of any of the Duluth rinks.

Following are the results in the Duluth Curling club and St. Paul Jobbers' event play for the early drow today:

RAILROADS

FREE RIGHT-OF-WAY

To Be Offered Milwaukee to Build Grand Forks Line.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Free right of way is one of the inducements held out by farmers of five townships in Grand Forks and Traill countties to the Milwaukee railroad by which they are hopeful to secure an extension of that road from Fargo to Grand Forks on the North Dakota side of the Red river. A big mass meeting was held at Belmont, thirty miles south of here, and preliminary plans formulated to obtain more direct rail connections with Grand Forks and Fargo, and the grain markets of the Northwest.

Government Sues Rock Island.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 16.—The Rock Island Railroad company is made defendant in twenty-four damage suits aggregating $12,000, filed in the federal court by the government. The suits were brought on the ground that the company has violated the interstate commerce law regulating the number of hours its employes should be compelled to work.

VERDICT AGAINST ONE PARTNER ONLY.

The verdict directed that C. H. Taylor, one of the members of the defendant firm be exonerated and that judgment for $8,460.12, the amount sued for, be entered against the other partner, L. H. Lien.

The wholesalers brought action against the Grand Rapids firm to recover for merchandise sold to the firm and never paid for.

FRANCE TO DECORATE J. PIERPONT MORGAN.

Paris, Jan. 16.—A Paris newspaper says that the French government has decided to decorate J. Pierpont Morgan with the commandership of the Legion of Honor, in recognition of his gifts to the Louvre.

Killed While Cleaning Gun.

Menominee, Mich., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald)—While cleaning a gun today, Henry C. Mitcheson, age 20, son of George A. Mitcheson, a prominent lumberman of Marinette, shot himself in the head and died almost instantly.

MORE LIGHT; LESS MONEY

Other Suburbs Could Also Be Lighted for Smaller Outlay.

Residents of New Duluth have been complaining in the past of the poor lights in that suburb. There are twenty-two lamps at New Duluth at the present time, which cost the city $120 a year apiece or a total of $2,640 a year. The lights are furnished by the Thompson Furniture company of New Duluth and are only kept burning until midnight, leaving the entire village in darkness after that hour.

Several of the residents of New Duluth have been working for a change in the lighting system and figures have been obtained from the Duluth-Edison Electric company. The company will furnish twenty-two lamps at $52 a year apiece, or a total of $1,144 a year. The lights will burn all night instead of until 12 o'clock, as the other lights do, and promise a better service at all times.

The lights now in use are never in good condition, and there are many evenings throughout the year when there is no light at all. It is understood that the city has a monthly contract with the Thompson Furniture company which can be terminated at any time, thus allowing the city to make the contract with the Duluth-Edison company without any delay.

The electric company's figures would permit thirty-eight lights to be used at a saving of $664 from the present cost, although only twenty-two lights are now used. The plan is to put three extra lights at New Duluth, three at Ironton, five at Smithville and Spirit Lake and five at Fond du Lac. The would give proper lighting service to all the suburbs up to Fond du Lac.

Foot Is Amputated.

Frank Lauer was injured yesterday while working at the Great Northern power plant at Thompson. A piece of iron weighing several tons dropped on his foot, which was so badly crushed that it had to be amputated. He is at St. Mary's hospital.

Fire at Box Factory.

The fire department was called out this morning to extinguish a small fire in the sawdust pile at the Standard box factory. Blame is laid to boys smoking cigarettes. There was no damage.

GRANTING OF NEW RATES

Is Bearish Factor on Duluth and Minneapolis Wheat Markets.

Both Have Lower Closes—Duluth Flaxseed Trade Very Dull.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 16.—A telegram received early this afternoon by President Frick of the Duluth Board of Trade from Congressman Miller to the effect that the interstate commerce commission had decided to allow the new rates on Western Canadian wheat, shipped to Duluth and Minneapolis, to go into effect immediately, caused a drop in the price of wheat. Without duobt the effect would have gone farther than it did, if the wire had not been received so near the close of the session. As it was Duluth May closed at ¼c to ⅜c below yesterday's close, and Minneapolis showed a loss of ½c in the face of bullish quotations from Chicago and Winnipeg. Duluth durum closed ½c down. Cash wheat closed at the May price. Duluth January linseed closed ¾c off and May ¾c off.

Wheat was affected by a very mixed situation during the morning. On the North American markets at noon it showed very little change from the closing figures of yesterday. It was down a little at Duluth but up a shade at Winnipeg, Minneapolis and Duluth.

Reports from Buenos Ayres were unfavorable. On that market February wheat last night closed at a decline of ⅞c and this morning opened at an advance of ½@¾c. These cables, together with reports of rains in that country and a scarcity of La Plata offers bulled wheat on the Liverpool market today. The result was a close of ¼@½d higher.

The bullish cables caused a higher opening on most of the North American wheat markets this morning. Early in the session, however, a sagging movement began. It was noticed by the Duluth brokers on the Chicago and Minneapolis markets and was followed to some extent on the Duluth market long before its actual cause was known. The cause was a report that the interstate commerce commission had granted the new Canadian wheat transportation rates. Wheat quickly took a drop on the North American markets. It was probably somewhat overdone, for there was soon a reaction, accelerated without doubt by the light primary receipts. About noon the markets were about as they were at the close yesterday. Early in the afternoon came a message from Congressman Miller to the Duluth Board of Trade to the effect that the commission had decided to grant these new rates immediately.

Flax Is Steady.

Trade in flax was dull on the Duluth market today. Offers were light and there was no aggressive demand. Fluctuations were within a very narrow range. Early in the day there was a bullish feeling on the Duluth market on account of reports of rains in Argentina, but when a message came from Buenos Ayres to the effect that February flax had opened unchanged from last night, the Duluth price lost its advance. At noon Duluth January was up ¼c and May was down the same amount.

The Paint and Varnish Record, Chicago, says: "Receipts of seed at the American markets have continued to be liberal. The arrivals at Duluth continue, in spite of the fact that this is the period of the year when the run is expected to fall off, and the stocks of seed at Minneapolis have so piled up that there is a very heavy private storage supply, so heavy, indeed, that it is expected that it will be necessary for the crushers to use the public warehouses for the storing of their seed. All this is not aided any by the extreme dullness in the oil market. The latter is in very bad condition, and while prices for both raw and boiled oil are higher than they were a fortnight ago, there is really no life to the demand, and the crushers are simply unable to determine what to do, or to figure on any probability of a turn for the better in the market in the near future.

"Reports from India indicate that there will be a larger acreage under cultivation this year than there was last. The sowing is all done, and the conditions thus far have favored a good crop, though no one can tell what the results eventually will be. It will be remembered that the supply of seed out of India last year was the largest, with one exception, in its history, and that it really was the increase in the crop there which prevented the world's seed market going to much higher levels than it actually did. It, therefore, the acreage in India is larger than it was last year, it is natural to assume that there will be more seed produced, though this is dependent on the right kind of weather. With a larger crop than last year in India, a heavier supply in the Argentine, in spite of the recent damage reports, a better yield in the United States, and a supply in excess of that of last year—at least potentially—in Canada, the world is much better off with regard to seed supplies than it was a year ago, and there is some doubt in the minds of many of the experts in the trade whether or not the present price levels can be maintained. India was the balance wheel last year, and it is likely to play an important part again this year. And it must not be lost sight of that every bushel of Indian seed means more to the trade than a bushel of Argentine or American or Canadian seed, as it runs from two to three pounds heavier in oil than the other seeds."

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Gets Oversold and Advances After Sharp Break.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 16.—Early pressure caused a sharp break in wheat, but the market became oversold and gradually advanced. New rates on Canadian grain caused some bearish sentiment. Outside markets relatively stronger than Minneapolis May and July both closed ⅛c lower than yesterday. Local evator stocks decreased 125,000 bushels for three days.

Carlot wheat: Minneapolis today, 237; week ago, 212; year ago, 214. Duluth today, 12; week ago, 47; year ago, 39; Winnipeg, 380; week ago, 361; year ago, 81.

Cash wheat was in fair demand today and market quoted steady. Mills good buyers of offerings. Increased No. 1 northern sold mostly for the even May price.

Wheat: May opened $1.05½ to $1.05¾; high, $1.05¼; low, $1.04¼; closed, $1.05; July opened, $1.05⅝; high, $1.06; low, $1.05; closed, $1.05¾. Closing cash; No. 1 hard, $1.05½; No. 1 northern, $1.05; to arrive, $1.05; No. 2 northern, $1.03; to arrive, $1.03; No. 3 wheat, $1.01. No. 3 yellow corn, 61@62c.

No. 3 white oats, 47c. No. 2 rye, 91c. Bran in 100-pound sacks, $22.50@23.75.

Flour—Prices lowered on account of decline in wheat. Demand slow and shipping directions fair to good. Shipments, 57,729 bbl.; first patents, $5.10@5.40; second patents, $4.70@5.00; first clears, $3.50@3.85; second clears, $2.40@2.80.

Flax—Receipts, 20 cars, year ago, 6; shipments, 3. Demand good for spot flax at 2c above Duluth January price. Closing price spot $2.14; to arrive, $2.12.

Barley—Receipts, 40 cars; year ago 48; shipments, 8. Barley quoted a trifle easier. Prices unchanged to 2c lower than yesterday. Closing range, 85c@$1.25.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—With European crop reports generally favorable and with the European visible supply showing an increase, the effect of bullish advices from the Argentine soon disappeared today in the market for wheat. Cash demand continued to have a slack tone. The opening was ⅛c to ¼@⅜c up. May started at 99½c to 99⅝c, the same change from last night as the market taken altogether. A decline to 99⅛c followed.

Assertions that much Canadian wheat in bond would be milled at Minneapolis formed an additional source of weakness, but denials led to a decided reaction. The close was firm with May ¼@⅜c net higher at 99⅝@99¾c.

Corn suffered from the heaviness of wheat. May opened unchanged to a shade up at 64¾@64⅞c to 64⅞c, and eased off to 64⅝c.

Rumors of big export sales here brought about a subsequent upturn. The close was firm, ½@⅝c net higher at 65⅝c for May.

Weakness attacked the oats market. May started at last night's level to ½c higher at 49½c to 49¼c and declined to 49c.

Large receipts of hogs from the West and a drop in quotations at the yards here counted against the bulls. Initinal transactions were 5c lower to a shade up with May delivery $16.30 for pork, $9.52½ to $9.55 for lard and $8.75 to $8.77½@8.80 for ribs.

Cash grain: Wheat—No. 2 red, 95@97c; No. 3 red, 93@95c; No. 2 hard, 97½c@$1.00; No. 3 hard, 95@99c; No. 1 northern, $1.09@1.10; No. 2 northern, $1.05@1.08; No. 3 northern, $1.02@1.06; No. 2 spring, 99c@$1.06; No. 3 spring, 96c@$1.04; No. 4 spring, 90c@$1.01; velvet chaff, 90c@$1.04; durum, 90c@$1.03.

BOSTON COPPER STOCKS

The Boston stock quotations furnished by Gay & Sturgis, 326 West Superior Street.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 16.—The first half of the day witnessed extreme dullness and nominal fluctuations. In view of the fact that very little long stock appeared for sale in any department of either market, the short interest, which has grown considerably in the past week, covered to some extent and caused a fair rally. The line of least resistance appears to the only lie in the ointment is Washington, and every little while people forget it for a time and then stocks advance somewhat, only to recede again when some politician advances a new theory for the benefit of the country incidentally, but for the purpose of securing votes primarily.

Foreign copper statistics today were unexpectedly favorably. All the market needs is a little belief in it. It wants to advance.

STRENGTH IN STOCKS

Opening Irregular With Narrow Fluctuations Followed By Rise.

Lehigh Valley and Tobacco Securities Active in the Trading.

New York, Jan. 16.—Fluctuations in stocks were irregular when trading was begun today. The weakest point in the list was the Interborough-Metropolitan stocks; the common stock fell ¾ and the preferred 4½. Reading, Union Pacific and Baltimore & Ohio rose ⅝ and Canadian Pacific 2⅝.

Fluctuations in the important stocks were unusually narrow during the trading in the first hour. Selling orders were encountered when the bulls bid up Union Pacific and Reading and when the latter relapsed to a parity with yesterday's closing, the whole list became dull and drooping.

Lehigh Valley and the securities of the tobacco companies almost monopolized speculative interest during the morning. The demand for the tobacco stocks and bonds was unusually heavy, the advance in prices being ascribed to pool operations. The usual market leaders were lifeless and price changes in most cases were nominal. Liggett & Myers jumped 7⅝ to 164½, the preferred 4 to 111, the Lorillard 3 to 174. American Tobacco preferred rose a point and the bond issues of the various companies were also higher. At noon most of the favorite stocks ruled unchanged from yesterday's closing.

Bonds were firm.

Large blocks of New York State canal bonds of 1951 were absorbed, carrying the price to 92⅞. The demand which was in large part by institutions which cannot find profitable employment for idle funds in the stock market. Central Railroad of New Jersey also reflected an investment demand, the price jumping several points between transactions until it reached 331, the highest figure on record and 11⅓ points above yesterday's closing. Meanwhile the active stocks were strong, selling slightly below yesterday's final figures, with partial recoveries afterwards.

The market closed steady. Leading stocks loomed into prominence in the last hour. Union Pacific, Reading, Great Northern preferred and Amalgamated Copper rose 1 to 1¼.

RALLY COMES NEAR THE CLOSE

Coppers Show Some Strength Near End of the Session.

The day was very dull on the copper stock market today and there were few changes in either direction. It seemed until very near the close that there would be a slight loss as the net result of the day's movements, but there was a rally near the close, and most of the red metal stocks showed slight gains over the closing figures of yesterday. They were encouraged in this by a better tone on the general stock market of New York and by a partial recovery in the London copper metal market from recent losses. Spot copper at London today closed 16s 3d up and futures 17s 6d up.

A dispatch from Boston says: President Thomas W. Lawson of the First National and Trinity Copper companies, circularizes the stockholders of these corporations to the effect that with two associates he has perfected a new copper extraction process to cope with the smoke nuisance difficulties of the California smelters. During the past nine months, it is stated, the first working plant, "at a cost of $350,000," has been undergoing erection.

New York—Exports of copper Monday were 1,672 tons; total so far this month is 12,415 tons.

Gay & Sturgis today received the following dispatch from London: The foreign visible copper supply in England, France and afloat thereto on Jan. 15, was 56,584 tons, a decrease of 1,700 tons within the past two weeks. This is the lowest reported since May 1, 1909. An increase had been expected instead of a decrease.

GRAND FORKS LIKES NEW LEAGUE IDEA

Red River City May Join Duluth, Superior, Fargo and Winnipeg Baseball League.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Baseball as a publicity proposition will be the means through which Grand Forks will obtain league baseball in 1912. Tomorrow evening the commercial club board of directors will give the subject consideration. The proposition submitted by the management of the Superior Baseball club, providing for the creation of a league with Superior, Duluth and Virginia as the Eastern towns, and Winnipeg, Grand Forks and Fargo as the Western cities in the organization, will be considered.

During the last two or three months there has been a very considerable sentiment developed in favor of the returning of old league days. Grand Forks once was a decidedly good baseball town.

The organization of the six-team league such as is proposed in the Superior letter is one on which local ball enthusiasts look with favor, and they believe it could be made a

NOT TOO COOL IN DULUTH

City Engineer Says He Suffered More From Cold in New Orleans.

Returns From Meeting With New Ideas on Paving Materials.

Thomas F. McGilvray, city engineer, certainly has the Duluth spirit.

He returned from New Orleans this morning after attending the third annual convention of the Association for Standardizing Paving Specifications, and his first remark was: "I had to come back to Duluth to get warm."

Mr. McGilvray declared that it was 34 deg. below zero when he left here for the South, and that he actually felt more comfortable here than he did while he was in the Louisiana metropolis.

"I don't think that I ever froze so much in my life," he continued, "and particularly on one river trip of twenty-six miles. The mercury was several degrees below the frost mark; we were in an open boat without much protection, and that wind cut into the skin like a sharp icicle."

The city engineer states, however, that in addition to having an excellent trip otherwise, he gained a vast amount of valuable information. He explained that the purpose of the organization is expressed in its name, principally to get together on all kinds of paving specifications that every city may get the best results for its money. This tends to eliminate these classes of paving which have been found unsatisfactory; to furnish the different engineers with knowledge of what can be expected of the various materials; to give them the best methods of testing paving, and to provide a common standard which makes for first-class paving.

Mr. McGilvray said that the session just closed will probably be the last which will be held for a number of years. He asserted that the principal aims of the association have been accomplished at the three meetings which have been held, and that no further meetings will be necessary for some time to come, unless some radical changes in paving materials or some new and unknown paving is put on the market. The convention was closed subject to the call of the chairman. Mr. McGilvray doesn't think that another meeting is likely to be held for a number of years.

BAPTIST CHURCH ABANDONS RITUAL

Iconoclast Pastor Also Gets Compulsory Baptism Done Away With.

San Jose, Cal., Jan. 16.—The Baptist church of Los Gatos, of which Rev. Whitaker, professed Socialist and iconoclast, is the pastor, has announced that all ritualistic ceremonies in the church will be omitted and the ordinance of baptism be made optional for those seeking membership. This virtually throws the membership open to all creeds and classes.

Mr. Whitaker says he has been waiting twenty-three years to put these measures into effect. An effort was made a year ago to read him out of the denomination.

FAVORS CHANGE FROM MARCH 4

House Committee Would Fix Later Date for Inaugurations.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The house judiciary committee today ordered favorably reported the Henry resolution changing the date of the presidential inauguration from March 4 to the last Thursday in April, and the terms of representatives in congress to begin the second Tuesday in January instead of on March 4. These changes would be effective April, 1917, and January, 1918, respectively.

South Dakota Cattle Starving.

Miller, S. D., Jan. 16.—According to a cattleman who arrived here from Forest City, 7,000 cattle are gathered at Swift Bird creek and hundreds are dying from starvation and cold. Cattle in many other places throughout the state are said to be suffering severely because of the recent cold wave.

WHY PAY RENT?

Once upon a morning dreary, as I figured, tired and weary,
Over many a lengthy column of the rent I'd paid before—
While I added, calculating, suddenly there came a grating,
As of one impatient, waiting, waiting at my rented door.
"'Tis the same old thing, I muttered, "rent collecting at my door,
This forever, evermore."

(Enter Rent Collector in the guise of the Raven.)

"Raven," said I, speaking coolly, "tell me now and tell me truly
Of this rent thing which is eating my exchequer to the core,
If I pay, pay it, pay it, if I struggle to defray it,
If I use my whole endeavor to keep even with its score,
Will I ever own the door-knob which is fitted to that door?"
Quoth the Raven, "Nevermore."

We will start you going with the door knob payment as cash.

KNOX EXPECTS CUBA TO KEEP CALM AND BE GOOD WITHOUT HELP

Threat of Intervention Not Likely to Be Carried Out, It Is Said.

Havana Fears Trouble When Announcement Reaches Interior.

Commercial Element in Island Would Welcome Outside Control.

Washington, Jan. 17. — Having served notice on President Gomez's government that the United States expected Cuba to live up to her treaty engagements and maintain a republican form of government, the state department now is awaiting developments.

Officials here are confident that when Cubans understand that the motive of the United States is simply to discharge its treaty obligations, there will be little dissatisfaction outside of the veterans' organization.

So well laid are the plans of the general staff of the army, that news of the possibility of intervention in Cuba has caused scarcely a ripple at headquarters here.

Should it become necessary to send troops to Cuba, the whole mechanism of the transportation and mobilization services could be in operation within a few hours, and probably within two days the first army transport would

MAY TRY TO HALT BELFAST MEETING

Ulster Unionists Start Sensation in Irish Politics.

Dublin, Jan. 17.—The threat of the Ulster Unionists to prevent the holding of a meeting at Belfast on Feb. 8, at which Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, and John Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalists in the house of comnions, are announced to speak in behalf of home rule, has caused a sensation in political circles.

During a Unionist meeting at Belfast last evening, recruits were called for to form a volunteer police force. The proposer said if trouble came they in Belfast wished to be independent of the Dublin police.

The Nationalists are somewhat handicapped in the home rule campaign. John Redmond still is laid up and may not be out for several weeks, while Joseph Devlin, member of parliament for the western division of Belfast, his chief lieutenant, has been ill for ten days.

KELLOGG WANTS NO FEDERAL JOB

Says He Will Decline Ambassadorship If One Is Offered.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Frank B. Kellogg declares that he will decline a foreign post and any other federal position that may be tendered him. He said also that he wants people to quit associating his name with high government places.

Mr. Kellogg's statement is as follows:

"I have not been offered an ambassadorship and would not accept one if tendered. I am not a candidate for any office and do not wish any. I am getting tired of being considered for all sorts of public positions. I am going to practice my profession."

OPPOSE INCREASE IN PANAMA RATES

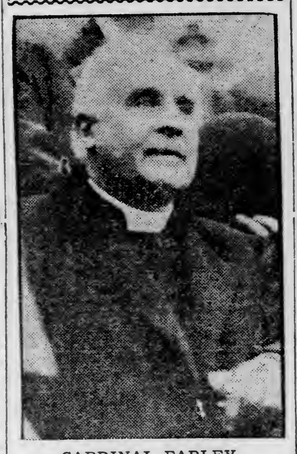

Western and Eastern Men Protest to Secretary of War.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 17.—The proposed increase on rates on westbound traffic carried by the Panama Railroad & Steamship Line will be vigorously opposed by the commercial bodies of important Pacific coast shippers, it was announced today by officials of the San Francisco Commercial club, following the adoption of a resolution authorizing William W. Wheeler, manager of the traffic bureau of the chamber of commerce, to go at once to Washington and take the matter up with the administration.

It was announced in December that the Panama line, which is owned and operated by the government, would increase its rates on westbound traffic, but Secretary of War Stimson, when appealed to, suspended the proposed advance until Feb. 4 in order to give the protestants a hearing.

Simultaneously, with the protest of Pacific coast shipping points, many shippers on the Atlantic coast protested to Secretary Stimson, as the government line is the only feeder of the independent freight steamship lines plying between the canal zone and the Pacific coast ports.

RETURNS HOME AS "PRINCE OF CHURCH"

CARDINAL FARLEY,
Who Was Given an Enthusiastic Reception on His Arrival in New York.

SUGGESTED BY TRUSTS?

Who Indorse Appointments to Supreme Court of United States?

Bryan's Demand for Information Justified By Carnegie's Testimony.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fortune seems at times to play into the hands of Bryan, probably because if a man continues long enough to insist on a thing that is right he is sure to have his position upheld by some occurrence sooner or later. One of the things concerning which Mr. Bryan has been most insistent has been his demand that every president should make public the list of men on whose recommendation he makes appointments to the supreme court of the United States. Mr. Bryan has urged that such appointments have been made at the incentive of various trust and railroad magnates. On that subject the White House has been silent, but the apparent determination of the president to appoint Judge Hook despite the protests that have come from states all the way from Minnesota to Oklahoma seems to justify the suspicion at least.

But more than suspicion of the subserviency of a past administration to

NEW YORK HAS TWO BAD FIRES

Big Storage Building Damaged and Financial District Scared.

New York, Jan. 17.—The seven-story warehouse of the Terminal Storage company, occupying a full city block near the North river water front between Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth streets, and containing merchandise valued at more than $10,000,000, was damaged by fire early today.

The fire was discovered a few minutes after midnight. It was not under control until 6:45 o'clock, when the loss was estimated at $1,250,000.

Five alarms, sounded in quick succession, summoned to the scene practically every available piece of fire-fighting apparatus from all Manhattan, and this was reinforced by five fire boats.

The warehouse was of brick and concrete and was regarded as one of the most modern buildings in that part of the city, the largest of its kind in New York and one of the largest in the world. Its contents consisted mostly of goods awaiting delivery to the big New York department stores.

Knickerbocker Scorched.

A stubborn fire on the ground floor of the 22-story office building owned by the Knickerbocker Trust company, at the corner of Broadway and Exchange place, gave the financial district a scare early today.

The blaze was within a few hundred feet of the Stock exchange, but was got under control before it could spread beyond the building where it started. The loss will not exceed $100,000.

The Knickerbocker company's building is a more modern structure than the ruined Equitable building—which was located only a block to the north, on Broadway—and the steel walls and concrete floors held the fire until a flood of water and chemicals gradually gained the mastery.

Ireland To Be Orator.

Galena, Ill., Jan. 17.—Archbishop John Ireland of St. Paul will deliver an address here on the anniversary of Gen. U. S. Grant's birthday April 27, 1912, according to an announcement today.

FARLEY IS WELCOMED

New Cardinal Given Warm Greeting on Return From Rome.

Will Be Chief Figure in Many Functions of Rejoicing.

New York, Jan. 17.—John M. Farley, archbishop of New York, came home today a cardinal, to a welcome that will mark an epoch in his life. After an absence of two months abroad he was the first of America's new "princes of the church" to touch home shores, and as such many thousands prepared to do him honor. Thousands along the line of march from the Battery to St. Patrick's cathedral at Fifth avenue and Fiftieth street, and thousands more, including a choir of 6,000 parochial school children, gathered within the edifice to note with reverence his progress to the episcopal throne.

The steamship Berlin, bearing the cardinal and suite, and which reached here last night, got an early start up

CUMMINS WILL SEEK NOMINATION

Report Is Persistently Circulated Among His Friends in Iowa.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 17.—Senator Albert B. Cummins shortly will announce himself as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, according to a report circulated persistently among his friends here today. The senator is in Washington.

It was stated Senator Cummins had definitely made up his mind to enter the Republican contest, after considering all phases of the situation. For several weeks, it is said, Iowa friends had strongly urged the senator to enter the race.

Nothing to Say.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Senator Cummins today absolutely declined to discuss the report that he was about to announce himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for president.

"I have nothing to do with these reports," he said. "I have nothing to say in connection with them."

It generally is expected among Mr. Cummins' friends in Washington that an announcement of his candidacy will be made very soon.

DYNAMITE UNDER RAILWAY BRIDGE

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 17.—The discovery of seventy sticks of dynamite under the railway bridge at Easton, a San Mateo county suburb, is being investigated today by Southern Pacific detectives, assisted by the police.

DEMOCRATS GATHERING AT FARGO

Governor Harmon First of the Outside Notables to Arrive.

Wilson Sentiment Among State Leaders Appears to Be Strong.

La Follette and Buchanan Indorsed By Progressive Republican League.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Democrats of the Northwest are gathering in Fargo today for the get-together conference and banquet which is expected to make Democratic political history of national importance.

The first feature of the meeting is the gathering at the Orpheum theater tonight when Gov. Judson Harmon of Ohio, former Senator Petigrew of South Dakota and Judge Martin J. W. Wade of Iowa will speak. Today was spent in getting together, greeting visitors, holding conferences and arousing the Democratic spirit. Governor Harmon was the first of the notables from outside of the state to arrive. He came early this morning and was taken in hand by the reception committee headed by Mayor Lovell. Fred L. Ryan of Duluth arrived with Governor Harmon. Fred B. Lynch of St. Paul will not be here.

Judge Wade, Governor Norris and other Montana Democrats are expected later in the day. North Dakota Democrats are out in force. State officers, candidates for office, state, district, county and local leaders are here to confer and make up a program that they hope will put North

WILSON TO TALK IN CHICAGO FEB. 12

Will Make That City the Starting Point of His Trip.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Governor Woodrow Wilson has accepted the invitation of the Iroquois club to speak at a luncheon and reception on Lincoln's birthday, Feb. 12. Plans have been made for two mass meetings, one in the stockyards district and the other on the North side, which will be addressed by Governor Wilson, who is expected to make his Chicago trip the starting point of a speaking tour which will take in other Illinois cities and touch Iowa and Wisconsin.

SOCIALISTS GET SUPPORT

United Mine Workers Declare for Government Ownership.

Would Place All Industries Under Control of Nation.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 17.—Government ownership of all industries is favored by the United Mine Workers of America, now in convention here, in a resolution adopted today. The resolution reads as follows:

"Whereas, We consider it would be a benefit to the community at large, therefore be it

"Resolved, That this convention go on record favoring government ownership of all industries."

The resolution was backed by the Socialists in the convention and found practically no opposition among the 1,300 delegates. The result of the vote was greeted with cheers.

One great union of coal and metal miners in the United States and Canada must be formed if mine workers are successfully to combat mine operators' corporations, declared Edward Young of Great Falls, Mont., representing the Western Federation of Miners. He urged that the national coal miners' organization absorb the metal miners' union, and said he believed a merger plan now going forward would be successful within a few years.

A referendum vote is to be taken among the metal miners of the Western Federation of Miners on the question of a combination with the coal miners, and J. A. McKinnon of Denver reported to the convention that indications were that the proposition would be approved by a large majority.

"After we have united on the industrial field we will unite on the political field, and then the men that daily risk their lives in mining coal and metals will get that which belongs to them," said Mr. McKinnon.

NO MORE RIOTS AT LAWRENCE, MASS.

Paper Mill Operatives Join Strike and Some Strikers Return.

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 17.—Increased numbers of mill operatives went to work today in the security guaranteed by the continued presence in the mill district of eight companies of national guardsmen.

Just as the paper mill of the Champion International company, owned by the International Paper company, was about to start work for the day, seventy-five operatives assembled and declared they had joined the textile strike because of the operation of the 54-hour law.

At South Lawrence operatives at the United States Worsted mill also joined the strikers, and their attitude about the mill property was so threatening that the militia had to scatter the crowd.

HOW MILLIONS CAN BE SAVED IS SHOWN BY THE PRESIDENT

Message on Economy and Efficiency in Government Service.

Would Put All Federal Officials Under the Civil Service.

Changes Already Suggested That Would Save $2,000,000 a Year.

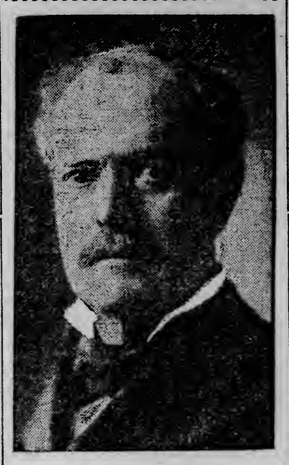

Washington, Jan. 17.—How the people of the United States may have saved for them millions of dollars annually in the operation of their governmental machinery is outlined by President Taft today in a message to congress on "economy and efficiency in the government service."

"What the government does with nearly $1,000,000,000 each year," said the president, "is as of as much concern to the average citizen as is the manner of obtaining this amount of money for the public use."

Probably the most radical proposal advanced by the president in today's message is that all administrative officers of the government in the departments at Washington and in the field be put under the civil service; be removed from the influence of politics and that their terms of office be not limited as at present to four years. Such officers should not be appointed by the president with the necessity of senate confirmation, he said, but upon merit. "The extension of the merit system to those officers and a needed readjustment of salaries," said he, "will have important effects in securing

AFTER GOVERNORSHIP ON PURITY PLATFORM

EDWARD F. DUNNE.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Edward F. Dunne, former mayor of Chicago, announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor of Illinois here today. One plank in his platform advocates political purity.

TRUSTS IN NETWORK

Steel and Harvester Business and Railroads Said to Be Allied.

Charge Is Made at Hearing Before House Committee.

Washington, Jan. 17.—The political activities and general affairs of the International Harvester company were discussed today at the hearing before the house on rules, which is considering a proposed inquiry into several "trusts."

W. H. Green of Creighton, Neb., a veteran dealer in farm machinery, declared the so-called Harvester and Steel trusts, the National City Bank of New York and the great transportation system of the country were dominated by the same directors.

Mr. Green asserted the company had raised prices from 15 to 20 per cent.

F. J. Lowe of New York charged that in the formation of the "trust" the smaller manufacturers were frozen out. The actual work of forming the trust, he declared, was directed by J.

RAILROAD EMPLOYE MURDERED IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—What the police say was another "Black Hand" murder was committed here early today, when an unidentified man shot James Palermo, an Italian railroad employe. As Palermo was leaving his boarding house shortly before daylight he was fired upon from an alley. The bullet passed through his heart and he died in a few minutes.

The boardinghouse-keeper told the police that he saw a man, who appeared to be an Italian, running down the alley shortly after the shot was fired.

STIFF FIGHTING IN PARAGUAY CAPITAL.

Buenos Ayres, Argentina, Jan. 17.—There has been stiff fighting in the streets of Asuncion, the capital of Paraguay, between the adherents of President Liberato Rojas and the revolutionaries. Many were killed on both sides. The insurgents, however, still are in control of the situation and all attempts by the government troops to rescue President Rojas, who has been a prisoner in their hands since Monday, have proved unsuccessful.

TODAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

In session at 2 p. m.

Lorimer inquiry adjourned until tomorrow because of Attorney Hanecy's illness.

HOUSE.

Met at noon.

President Taft submitted a message on government economy.

Miscellaneous bills on the calendar considered.

Investigation of International Harvester company urged by witness before the rules committee.

Secretary Meyer, before interstate commerce committee, advocated government construction of twenty-two supply vessels for the Panama canal, through which the fleet would be sent regularly as a part of the drill exercises.

Civil service committee heard advocates of old age pensions for government employes.

LORIMER INQUIRY WAITS FOR HANECY

Senator's Lawyer Is Indisposed and Committee Adjourns.

Washington, Jan. 17.—The Lorimer committee met today and immediately adjourned its inquiry until tomorrow because of the indisposition of Elbridge Hanecy, attorney for Mr. Lorimer.

A day's cross-examination of Senator Lorimer failed to develop any sensations. Apparently it had not tangled his story and certainly it did not ruffle his temper, for he maintained his composure throughout.

When the committee's lawyer tried to get him to repeat a conversation, he usually declined to do so, saying he could not remember more than the substance.

"I'm not going to testify to anything I don't know," was the frequent reply.

PLATT'S WIDOW IN FLYING CONTESTS

Enters With Husband in Aviation Meet at Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 17.—W. B. Atwater, a New York lawyer, and his wife, who was the wife of the late United States Senator Thomas C. Platt of New York, have sent their signed applications as contestants in the Los Angeles international aviation meet, which is to begin here Jan. 20. These applications brought the total number up to forty-six, including those of four women—Mrs. Atwater, Miss Scott, Miss Quimby and Miss Moisant.

Another entry received was that of Tom Gunn, a Chinese aviator. "I will fly in the name of the new republic of China," his letter stated. It was dated at San Francisco.

The program for the first day includes an international race to be participated in by Japanese, Chinese, a Frenchman, a Swede, a Russian, a German, and an American.

MICHIGAN G. O. P. LEADERS MEET

Poll of Views on Presidential Nominee May Be Taken.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 17.—Presidential candidacies were under discussion in hotel lobbies here today in advance of this afternoon's meeting of the Republican state central committee, and it was intimated an effort would be made to crystallize the views of the committeemen. It even was said an informal poll might be taken.

Special interest is being shown in today's meeting of the committee in view of Governor Osborn's recent suggestion that President Taft and Senator La Follette both withdraw as candidates for the Republican presidential nomination. A few days later State Chairman Knox gave out an interview indorsing the stand taken by Governor Osborn.

AREN'T MEN THE WRETCHES?

ADVICE OF ALL KINDS FOR THE YOUNG MAN WHO HAS SAVED FIRST $1,000

Some of It Is Sound and Some of It Is Not.

Wildcat Schemes Offered—Advocates of Farm Life Still Numerous.

If a man of 35 years of age has $1,000 saved, it appears that there are a great many ways in which he could put it to work. Advice for him is pouring into The Herald daily. In many instances, the answers are frank advertisements of wildcat schemes, and they are thrown aside. Some of the advice is sound, and some of it is not. Readers must judge for themselves on the arguments presented.

One man advises quitting one's job while another says "stick to it." Carl Phillips, 5118 Ostego street suggests going into the "loan shark" business, which he says pays 1,000 per cent on the money invested. His comment, however, appears to be a gentle rap at the "small loan king" for he says that if anyone wants to see how the game is played, he may do so by borrowing and then not paying. He says the debtor will "ride the goat."

Farming and gardening on a small scale lead all other pursuits in popularity, and great faith in the fertility of the soil and climate about Duluth is expressed. Strawberry culture, potato raising, and the producing of celery are advised. One man, however, says that if a young man has already saved $1,000, that he needs no advice and can be safely intrusted with its care.

I. Hawley, Duluth, Minn.—My advice to the man of 35 who has saved $1,000, is stick to your job and test the earning capacity of that $1,000, this way.

Look out for a good short time loan for $500. Purchase on contract, so much down, so much per month say two acres of land in one of the new additions near car line. Clear and plant to potatoes the first year which cannot fail to bring fairly good returns, enough to keep up payments and pay for clearing land.

Have plans for house ready. After potatoes are harvested call in your $500 loan which with the rent you are now paying you will be able to build.

The following year put in about one half of the land to strawberry bed. Any commission man will tell you they never get strawberries enough in Duluth. The remainder of the land plant so that it will bring in returns while strawberry bed is maturing.

Your wife will probably want hens, there is always good money in that proposition. In this way you will be able to get most of your living and hire all the work done you do not want to do yourself.

The property will increase in value and you can always make a living from it, be near the city to educate your children and enjoy city privileges. By the time you are tired of farming Duluth will need your two acres for building lots.

Carl Phillips, 5118 Otsego street, Duluth—I want to congratulate this young man with his $1,000. It shows that he has been able to steer clear of the loan sharks. I would advise him to start in the loan shark business, there he would make 1,000 per cent on his money. He should not lend more than $100 to one person. Charge 3 or 4 per cent interest and 2 per cent commission per six months. It is done every day in this city so you see it is an honest business enterprise. Keep your job one more year and you will be independent the rest of your life. In order to get a clear idea how they work it go and borrow $50 from one of the sharks and pretend that you are unable to meet your obligation, and he will let you ride the goat.

Mrs. J. Sandahl, 524 East Fourth street.—Advice to the man with $1,000. If, I had $1,000 I would buy a small tract of land somewhere and raise poultry and potatoes and a big enough garden for supply of vegetables. You could get acreage. Pay down what you could afford and the rest on monthly payments. Build a little three-room house to start with and improve it later. Start early in the spring to hatch out as many chickens as you could. Best of all get turkeys, as they are expensive by Thanksgiving and Christmas, and you could have a cow and horse. This doesn't require such a big sum for starting. I know many that started with only $200 and became well-to-do in the end. To live in the city is all right for those who don't care to save money, and the rich, but not poor people who are trying to build a home. In having a piece of land you have a sure living, and this is the best advise I can give. I am a poor widow, left with a small child, but as soon as I get a few dollars saved up I am going to do the same.

F. S. Schaleit, Proctor, Minn., Box 271.—If I were the possessor of $1,000, I would buy several lots or a half acre on the outskirts of Duluth and as near a car line as possible. I would erect a suitable dwelling to accommodate my family, build a chicken house for 35 to 50 chickens to supply my family with eggs and poultry, build a small barn for one cow to supply the necessary butter and milk, have enough land broke to raise potatoes and vegetables to supply my family until the next season's crop, and this would solve the problem of the high cost of living. I would continue at my present position, and am positive that at the end of five years I would be the proud possessor of another $1,000 or more, and with the increase in value of property, which is bound to come in Duluth, I could dispose of my property and make a good profit, and added to the $1,000 I had raised, would make a nice little sum to start in business.

William Top, Cloquet, Minn., R. F. D. No. 4.—If the man with $1,000 saved: For the sake of yourself and family, quit your job, or the next thing you find out you are on the way to the poor house. Let's see. How much will you save in the next ten years? You say, "I don't know." I will tell you. If it took you ten years to save the first $1,000, while in the first years, I understand you were single, and later with a partner to help you along, and now with a growing family and everything going up, I tell you right in the face, you don't make anything.

Invest your money on a piece of land. Build a shack to live in, strive to get as much as possible under plow, plant every inch of it to potatoes, no matter how small or large, and I challenge anybody to bring down anything else that will surpass potatoes in giving profits on an average soil.

Or if you want to get a bona fide, get-rich-quick scheme, I recommend you to start in the saloon business in a good location, where men are plenty and the laws unenforced, and I tell you the state—Minnesota—the place, where you make the money if you have any ambition and "nerve." Take my hint.

Mrs. Laura P. Scrutchin, Bemidji, Minn.—My advice to your correspondent who has saved $1,000 these hard times with a wife and two children to support on a salary, with house rent at top notch, needs no man's advice what to do with the same. Do my young man, as your mind tells you, and I am sure that one of your saving disposition is well qualified to look after his own money.

George A. Etzell, Clarissa, Minn.—If I was situated as the young man with the $1,000 I would not enter into any retail business, bearing in mind that reliable authorities claim that only 3 per cent of such businesses are a success. Look about you and you see the business world strewn with men who fell by the wayside in their mad fight for an existence. I would invest the money, or part of it into a tillable tract of land, say from ten to fifteen acres near Duluth, the future Metropolis of the Central West, and on this land I would devote my time with my family in the culture of celery and cucumbers. I would study and learn these crops thoroughly until I could raise them with first-class sucess. To begin with I would only try to supply the local market. The celery after being raised and bleached is immediately ready for the market at a good price. The cucumbers I would convert into small barrels or kegs and prepare them as dill pickles. In the meantime until I had these crops on a paying basis, I would devote my time in raising potatoes, chickens, etc. With proper perseverence the young man would find that he had fallen into an industry that is not overcrowded and in which he would not have to worry much what was to become of himself and family in years to come.

P. R. Wittman, Hannah, N. D.—In regards to that $1,000 man, my advice to him, if he wants to increase his wealth, and be a happy man, he wants to watch the ads in some good paper, in which he will soon see some well improved farm and good building all complete for sale. Then he wants to invest his $1,000 in that farm and by borrowing a few hundred dollars more and by paying a little interest which does not amount to a great deal, he will soon see his $1,000 has more than doubled itself in a short length of time, not saying anything about what the farm will produce and at the same time he is building up a good home for himself and little family, for it is the farm that makes the money. The crops grow while you sleep and the intelligent farmers are the happy ones.

"I'VE GOT THE FIRST $1,000; WHAT SHALL I DO WITH IT?"

For the second of its series of contests The Herald has an interesting problem which comes to it in the form of a letter that explains itself:

To the Editor of The Herald:

We have often been told—at least we used to be—by rich men that the hardest work on the road to wealth is to get the first $1,000.

I've got that sum now—saved it out of my salary during ten years. Who will tell me how to go the rest of the way? How shall I invest it? Shall I go into business, and what kind, and how?

I am 35 years old, with a wife and two small children, and have a fair position with a living salary, but that's about all. Probably I could, if nothing happened, save another $1,000 in another ten years, but with the cost of living going up faster than salaries—and I can't expect mine to go much higher than it is—it is going to be harder. If I am ever going to start out for myself and gain independence or wealth, now is the time for me to begin, while I am strong and healthy and young.

What shall I do with myself and my $1,000—and my family?

Here's a real problem, a vital one that will interest everybody; and The Herald hopes to see a large and interesting variety of answers. It hopes, too, that men who have traveled the road that lies before this young inquirer will take part in the discussion. The prizes will, of course, be no temptation to them; but this is a subject of wide interest, and they should be glad to contribute their wisdom and experience to its solution.

Write out your answer, limit it to 300 words, put your name and address at the top of the sheet, write on one side of the paper only, and send it to the Contest Editor of The Herald before Feb. 1.

For the best answer to this young man's problem The Herald will give a prize of $10.

For the next best answer The Herald will give a prize of $5.

For the third best answer The Herald will give a prize of $3.

WAS AUGUST BOO INSANE WHEN HE KILLED WIFE?

Duluth Physicians Testify That He Was Mentally Unbalanced.

Adopted Son Tells Story of Shooting to the Court.

August Boo, wife murderer, is being examined as to his sanity in district court before Judge Dancer today.

Boo, a grand jury indictment charges, killed his wife, Carrie Boo, early on the morning of Nov. 9 last year, at their home in the Pearson block, First avenue west and First street.

Andrew Nelson, his attorney, put witnesses on the stand today to prove that Boo for six months before and at the time of the murder, was mentally unbalanced. No other defense except insanity will be made.

Eleven-year-old Ingeman Gunderson, adopted son of the Boo family, told his story of the murder, he being the only eye-witness. He had been sleeping in the same room that Boo was in when he slashed his wife with a razor and, then attempted to take his own life.

"I heard them quarreling about Mrs. Boo going out auto riding," he said, "and Mrs. Boo was getting ready to dress to go out—she couldn't stand it no longer. Then I noticed she was bleeding. She tried to get out in the other room, but he held her. Then I guess Mr. Palmquist knocked him back."

"What did Mrs. Boo say?" was asked of him.

"She told Mrs. Palmquist, 'Oh, stay with me as long as I live.'"

"What else did she say?"

"'I guess he has killed me now.'"

The boy explained to the jury that Mrs. Boo had been cut in three places, across the face, the neck and on the breast.

Asked if they quarreled often, the boy nodded yes, adding that Boo always started it. The family trouble, the boy testified, was first noticed after July 4.

"How did Boo act before that?" he was asked.

"Oh, he acted nice."

"How did he act after that?"

"Well, pretty good, except when he got those spells."

"How often did he get those spells?"

"Nearly every day."

The lad testified that Boo had talked continually about Mrs. Boo having gone out automobile riding and that as far as he knew she had not. He said that Boo acted queerly and was always accusing Mrs. Boo about the automobile rides. Even while recovering at the hospital, when the Gunderson boy saw his foster father, the latter accused him of going out riding.

Brother on Stand.

Otto Boo, a brother of August, who is 44 years of age and resides with his family at 3609 Coates street, testified as to the actions of his brother since July and related several events which led up to the day of the murder. He said that his brother had lost fifty pounds of flesh, that his dark hair had turned to gray and that he frequently complained of imaginary ailments and consulted physicians about them.

The brother also testified of Boo's conduct regarding his wife, told of his illusions concerning the murdered woman's automobile rides, and also stated that he had purchased a revolver a week prior to the murder as he was laboring under the impression that some one was "after him."

He also stated that he had warned the late Mrs. Boo of her husband's mental condition and had advised her to have him examined. She appeared unwilling to do this and asked him to do it. He knew nothing, he said of Mrs. Boo's alleged automobile rides.

Mrs. Edith Boo, wife of Otto Boo, also took the stand and substantiated the story of her husband and that of the Gunderson boy. She stated that after August Boo and his wife had quarreled at various times that he would "make up" and show his affection and beg her to sit on his lap while he carressed her.

Dr. I. J. Murphy, Dr. J. J. Eklund and Dr. D. E. Seashore were put on the witness stand by Attorney Nelson to give expert opinions as to the man's mental state of mind.

Dr. Murphy, police surgeon, who first attended the case, testified that the first remark that Boo had made when he came into the room was to point at a man standing in the door with the exclamation, "When I came home, that man was here with my wife." At the hospital, Boo later denied that he had ever said that and expressed surprise when told what he had done and said.

In his opinion, Dr. Murphy stated, Boo was unbalanced at the time when the murder was committed. Dr. Eklund, whom Boo consulted a number of times gave testimony which showed that Boo was laboring under the impression that he had a certain ailment. A diagnosis of the case showed him to be in perfect physical health.

Dr. Seashore testified along similar lines and both Dr. Seashore and Dr. Eklund testified that in their opinion, the man was not in his right mind.

IS FROZEN TO DEATH.

Aged County Charge at Ashley, N. D., Found Dead.

Ashley, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. J. Nelson, an aged resident and county charge, was frozen to death this morning. His body was found by school children. He had been absent from the house where he lived alone only a short time, as the lamp was still burning in the house and the fire was fresh. The body was found about a rod from the house.

IN GRIP OF TRAVEL "BUG"

Railroad Man Says Americans Have Attack of California Fever.

That the traveling "bug" has taken possession of the American people and especially those in the Northwest and is causing passenger trains to be overcrowded, is the interesting information given by E. Hinckley of Minneapolis, passenger agent for the Santa Fe, who is in Duluth today.

Mr. Hinckley says he can not only prove that, but also show that times are not as hard as many people claim. "In the winter," said Mr. Hinckley, "there is a regular exodus of travelers to California and the coast cities. The railroads no longer have the problem of securing business but have all they can do to take care of what business comes.

"The Santa Fe road has five trains out of Chicago for the coast daily, and every one of them is crowded. The large de luxe' train, which runs once a week, charging $25 additional for passage, is also crowded. All of the roads are finding conditions the same. The Americans are the most restless people in the world, and those up here in the Northwest have the traveling fever more than any of them.

"Just the other day five men came in to the Great Northern office here and wanted tickets for a trip. The agent asked them where they wanted to go and they said that they didn't care. 'Just give us some tickets,' they said, and the agent sold them five to Seattle. They were woodsmen, but they had the travel 'bug' as badly as any of them."

RICH FINDS ON CANADIAN RANGE.

That some good deposits of iron ore are being found by explorers on the Aitkokan range in Canada was a statement made today by P. A. Smith of Fort Frances, connected with the Rat Portage and Manitou Lumber companies, who is in the city at the St. Louis hotel. He said some of the ore was found to run as high as 70 per cent metallic iron. The iron ore handled at Port Arthur comes largely from this range.

Mr. Smith also remarked that conditions for logging in his section had been excellent ever since Christmas, though before that time there had not been frost enough and the lakes did not have sufficient ice for that industry.

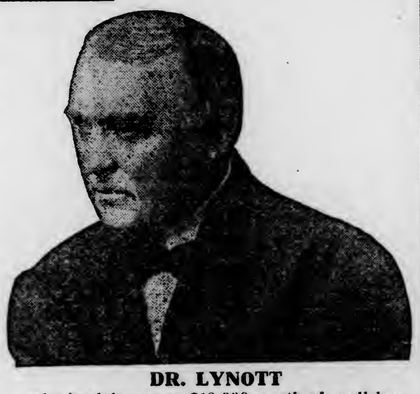

Boxes of Medicine to Be Given Away

$10,000 worth of curative medicine to be mailed out direct to the homes of those who need it, a free box to each sufferer.

People suffering from kidney trouble, bladder trouble, rheumatism and similar Uric Acid diseases can all be helped if they will let Dr. Lyntot send them some medicine to their home. He will send medicine to anybody free of charge, for he has agreed to give away ten thousand dollars' worth of his medicine to those who need it and will take the trouble to fill out the Coupon and send it to him.

This statement is vouched for and would not be printed if it were not true. No money is asked and none is expected. A box of free medicine will positively be sent to anyone who writes Dr. Lynott, and there is to be no payment for it now or later, when used or when cured. It is absolutely free. All that is necessary is for Dr. Lynott to know that you need the medicine he has, so fill out the coupon and send it to him. If you have any of the symptoms mentioned here you need his medicine and you can get a box of it free by simply writing him and describing your ailments in the coupon, which is put there for your convenience. Dr. Lynott has decided that the best way to prove his claims that he is the surest man in the United States to cure these diseases is to send a box of his medicine free to anyone who needs it, and he is spending ten thousand dollars to do that. He wants to send these boxes broadcast, and all sufferers are invited to write.

Dr. Lynott has devoted 26 years of his life to the difficult specialty of treating kidney trouble, bladder trouble, rheumatism and similar uric acid ailments. This medicine that he is giving away is the result of 26 years of observation and practical experience in these diseases. No ten doctors have treated as many people successfully as he. His medicine takes away the cringe and twinge of rheumatism; relieves the strain on the muscles and nerves that cause that terrible backache; tones and strengthens the kidneys and the bladder so that they act normally again; soothes inflammation, removes obstruction, and stops the too frequent desire to urinate. It contains tonic ingredients that strengthen and invigorate. It is a safe, sane, curative medicine, and its freedom from injurious ingredients is vouched for according to law. This is the grand medicine Dr. Lynott wants to send every sufferer from these ailments who will take the trouble to write him, and with it will come the Doctor's celebrated book describing all these diseases in detail. The book is beautifully illustrated. It is the largest book ever written on these diseases for free distribution. It has been read by over 350,000 Americans and has been translated into most of the popular languages of the world. A copy will be sent gratis with each box of the free medicine.

STOCK COMPANY IN "RAFFLES"

Forbes Players Present Famous Criminal to Well-Pleased Audience.

Theater-goers looking for thrills and romantic villainy will find delightful entertainment in "Raffles," played by the Gus Forbes Stock company at the Lyceum last night. The famous character, Raffles, as portrayed by Kyrle Bellew, has had a warm place in the hearts of the theater-going public for year, and Mr. Forbes, in presenting this play in Duluth made no mistake.

The thug and the "low browed" villain are time-worn characters in the drama and in other forms of literature, but in Raffles is seen the villain of culture and refinement, who is as much to be admired in the world of villainy as Sherlock Homes is in the detective world. The moral effect of an admirable villain has always been questioned by a gerat many, but the entertaining qualities of the play have always stood out beyond a doubt.

The climax of the play takes place at the gathering of the smart set in an English drawing room when Raffles, following the discussion of daring robberies, steals a valuable necklace and by extreme cleverness makes his escape. With him the pursuit of crime seems to be the love of the game rather than sordid profit.

In the part of the fascinating criminal, Mr. Forbes lends himself admirably, giving a faithful and sympathetic portrayal. Horace Y. Noble as Capt. Bedford of Scotland Yards, plays a part of almost parallel interest. Miss Corinne Cantwell as Gwendolin Conron, the sweetheart of Raffles, played naturally and skillfully, adapting herself perfectly to the varying moods of her role. The other parts were taken by Miss Theresa Lorraine as Lady Melrose, Miss Jane Hampton as Lady Ethel, Miss Virginia Hadley as Mrs. Videll and Miss Edith Harcourt as Marie, the maid; Frank Cotton as Merton, assistant to Capt. Bedford; Fred Van Rensselear as Lord Amersteth, Jack Maurston as Lord Crowley, Richardson Cotton as Crayshaw and Perry Golden as "Bunny."

Performances will be given tonight, tomorrow night and this afternoon.

Amusement Notes.

Now that he has won his spurs as an intrepid hunter in Alaska, bagging the biggest kind of game, invaded the Rockies, encountered and killed several grizzlies, and put in the past summer at a big polar bear hunt in which he travelled some 8,000 miles at an expense of $9,000 just to get six days' shooting, shows Fred A. Stone to be a hunter of some renown.

The expedition to the Polar seas was fraught with many dangers, but he got some handsome specimens of the noble polar bear, and accomplished what no mortal has ever done before—lassooed two bears in the open sea, landed them alive, and uninjured, on the deck of the vessel. Now his friends are wondering what he will do next.

Fred Stone is a busy man and has no counterpart in the theatrical or any other kind of profession. He is continually on the go, and never wearies, always sighing for something new, and the more dangerous kind of sport.

While engaged during the theatrical season with "The Old Town" he will put in hours, days and weeks practicing some difficult stunt to put into the play.

The pictures secured of Stone's arctic trip the past summer bear mute witness of the size and caliber of polar bears he shot, and two which he took alive by the aid of the lariat are, perhaps, the first and only ever captured in such a manner.

A description of the lassooing of the polar bears would fill a chapter as stirring as Paul Du Chaill ever wrote and before they were finally caged on the steamer, three of the party, including Stone, had wonderful escapes from death.

On this trip they carried a complete moving picture outfit, and succeeded in securing some 9,000 feet of wonderful arctic photographs, which include the incidents of lassooing the bears, and the difficulties with which the sport was carried on. These pictures will shortly be on exhibition in the moving picture houses.

The only black thoroughbred fox terrier known to be in existence is at the Orpheum this week with Richardson's posing dogs. His name is Slivers and he has a pedigree several yards long. An Omaha man recently offered Mr. Richardson $1,100 for this unique trick dog, but money cannot buy the pet of the canine company. Slivers' hair is as soft as velvet, which is partly due to the excellent care which it receives.

"My act is intended primarily for lovers of the artistic," said Mr. Richardson. "I love art myself and I am also very fond of dogs, so I conceived the idea of combining the two."

Mr. Richardson travels in the baggage car with his dogs, allowing them to have the freedom of the whole compartment. He superintends the cooking of their meals and bathes and curries them himself. Not one of his dogs has ever felt a whip. He trains them all by kindness and begins giving them lessons when they are a few days old.

"That black fellow for which I refused $1,100 is no better than this mongrel pup which I picked up for 35 cents," he said, "and it would be just as hard to buy the mongrel."

But few people realize what a musical treat is being presented at the Empress this week, under the title "La Petite Revue." Although the name gives no hint of the nature of the offering, nevertheless, the act includes some well known soloists, who have been in the past connected with some famous grand opera companies. Miss Laura Struvini, mezzo soprano with "La Petite Revue" was a pupil of Maestro Sebatini of Milan, Italy, and her last engagement previous to joining "La Petite Revue" was with the Bevani Grand Opera company with which she sang several roles, which gained her an enviable reputation as a soloist. Miss Irene Coughlin, whose beautiful soprano voice is heard to such advantage is a product of the Boston Conservatory of Music and has appeared with several grand opera companies, including the original "Madame Butterfly" company, in which piece she sang one of the leading roles. Miss Belle Mallette is also a singer of repute, having studied both in the United States and abroad. She possesses a soprona voice of wonderful clearness. The men with "La Petite Revue" are, also, soloists of note and are well known in Eastern musical circles. The company as a whole is an exceptionally strong one.

With "La Petite Revue" at the Empress.

W. H. SMALLWOOD SERIOUSLY ILL

Capt. W. H. Smallwood, one of the well-known pioneer residents of the city, has been seriously ill at his home, 14 Nineteenth avenue east, the last week. He has been very sick, but it was stated at his residence today that he showed considerable improvement this morning.

Capt. Smallwood had a bad fall on an icy sidewalk about a week ago, which is said to have been largely responsible for his sickness, in connection with his advanced years. He is being attended by Dr. Chapman. Capt. Smallwood has lived in Duluth twenty-five years and has a host of friends and acquaintances in the city.

Karlstad Creamery Election.

Karlstad, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Karlstad Co-operative Creamery association held its annual meeting Monday and elected the following officers: John Sieger, president; C. H. Ford, vice president; Peter Elleson, secretary and treasurer; Henry Sieger, Brede Geier, Martin Olson and M. O. Nelson, directors. The creamery has done a good business the past year, making 86,000 pounds of butter against 76,000 pounds in 1910.

POLK COUNTY FARMER DIES VERY SUDDENLY.

Fisher, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Funeral services were held from the Catholic church here at 10 o'clock this morning for Phillip A. Murphy, a farmer living four miles west of Fisher, who died suddenly Monday while apparently in the best of health, aged 57. He came here in 1880 from his old home at Perth, Ont. He is survived by his widow and five children.

REPUBLICANS HOLD RALLY

Young Men Meet and Hear Speeches Urging Party Solidarity.

"Vote Straight Ticket" Is Motto Given to Club Members.

The meeting of the Young Men's Republican club held at Forester's hall last night was the most enthusiastic Republican meeting of the campaign thus far. It was the scene of speeches, stories, songs, music and laughter. Party solidarity and the straight Republican ticket were urged by all the speakers.

The principal speaker of the evening was Attorney Frank E. Randall, who devoted most of his time in speaking on organization work and urging the voters to vote the straight party ticket in order not to handicap the head of the ticket.

J. L. Taylor, candidate for alderman in the Third ward, reviewed some of the history of the Republican party and pleaded for party harmony. He indorsed the platform of Dr. J. A. McCuen and said that the party platform is the platform on which he intends to stand.

Capt. C. De Roche, candidate for alderman in the Seventh, spoke along Republican lines and also proved himself an able story teller.

The musical program was furnished by Edward Grignon, who sang "The Prince of Tonight" and "Killarney and You" very pleasingly, and Frank A. Adams, playing the harmonica and guitar, pleased the audience with his wit, song and music. He will sing some political parodies on popular songs at the next meeting of the club

He spoke in part as follows:

There seems to be a well established impression prevailing throughout the city that the greatest result and efficiency is not obtained in some of our city departments under our present administration. It is to try to correct, if possible, such an evil as this that I was prompted to enter the aldermanic field. If elected, I will labor for a maximum of result and efficiency and a minimum of waste in all departments of our city government, and to see that the city receive full value for every dollar expended by it.

"I was the first one to start the present agitation for a 5-cent fare with universal transfers for Park Pointers, during the present campaign. I did not take this up for political purposes, but fully realize the need of it and will make a strong effort to secure lower fare if elected.

"I will vote for the lighting bonds at the special election in February, and will urge the voters to do likewise.

"I believe that the city should be in control of the electric light business, by building a plant of its own, or by the acquisition of the existing plant, or the securing of a favorable contract from the present company. Any of these objects can best be obtained by voting for the bond issue, which will place the municipality in an advantageous position, where now it is handicapped in dealing with this problem.

"Mr. Oreckovsky also spoke on the charter amendment relating to street improvements, first going into detail of the present system, showing its weak points, and then urged his hearers to support the amendment which provides for a new and better system.

IN THE DAY'S WORK AT WASHINGTON

Wants Fund for Mrs. Harlan.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Representative Sharley of Kentucky announced that he would endeavor to incorporate in one of the appropriation bills for the coming year, provision that the widow of the late Justice Harlan of the supreme court be given the equivalent of a year's salary of a supreme court justice, $13,500. This was authorized by congress for the widow of the late Justice Brewer.

Lindbergh and Levy Clash.

Representative Levy of New York argued before the house rules committee against the proposed investigation into the "money trust" shipping combine and International Harvester company.

"I think these matters should be referred to proper committees," he said, "to draft laws to aid these industries rather than agitate and probe and accomplish nothing. This continual agitation of these business enterprises is tying up the business of this country."

Representative Linbergh of Minnesota, author of the "money trust" resolution, replying to Mr. Levy, said he saw no reason why the proposed inquiry should be retarded because of the wish of New York bankers.

"If they are doing anything wrong and are fleecing the public," he said, "the public ought to know it; if they are not they have nothing to fear."

Harrison Postmaster at Denver.

The senate confirmed the nomination of Joseph H. Harrison to be postmaster at Denver, Col.

Hear Farrell Monday.

A meeting of the house committee on "Steel trust" affairs has been called for next Monday, when subpoenas on President J. J. Farrell and other officers of the Steel corporation to appear with their books and other documents are returnable. The house committee on naval affairs amended a resolution by Chairman Stanley of the "Steel trust" committee so as to ask for a general report from the secretary of the navy on all expenditures and bids for armor, armor plate and ammunition this fiscal year.

Reports on Army Enlistments.

Secretary of War Stimson sent a report to the senate showing that during the last ten years original enlistments in the army have averaged annually 10,373; re-enlistments 10,219; discharges upon expiration of enlisted terms 18,103; discharges for disability 1,224; for courtmartial 2,256; for desertion 5,107, and through death 512.

Argues Patent Medicine Bill.

"The government can well afford to protect the public against medical cheats and leave to the courts the protection of the innocent manufacturer," said Representative Sherley of Kentucky at a hearing before the house interstate commerce committee. Mr. Sherley was advocating his bill to prohibit sale of patent medicines under fraudulent guarantees as to their curative powers.

Study Leather Tariff.

The tariff board has launched its investigation of the leather schedule with a hearing of leather and shoe manufacturers and tanners from various parts of the country. Delegations were present representing the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers' association, Wholesale Saddlers' Association of the United States and the Leather association.

Limit on Free Paper.

To be entitled to free entry into the United States from Canada, wood pulp and paper must be the product of the woods of the dominion, and not Canadian manufacture of foreign materials, according to a decision by Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh. The question was raised on a recent importation at Detroit, Mich., of paper from Canada.

Would Avoid Trust Suit.

Conferences looking to a settlement of the government's suit against the United States Shoe Machinery company without a protracted contest in the courts began at the department of justice today. Charles F. Choate, general counsel for the corporation, conferred with Attorney General Wickersham and Assistant Attorney General Fowler.

Would Suspend Potato Tariff.

A suspension for six months of the tariff duty of 25 cents per bushel on potatoes is proposed in a bill introduced by Representative Ayres of New York. The bill states that the "scarcity of potatoes in the markets of the United States has raised the price to a point almost prohibitive to the consumers."

Berger After Votes for Women.

A constitutional amendment for woman's suffrage was introduced by Representative Berger of Wisconsin. A petition is now being circulated by the Socialist party, and Representative Berger declared that 1,000,000 would sign in favor of votes for women.

Wants Alaska Legislature.

A revised bill to extend legislative power to Alaska, subject to congressional approval, was introduced by Delegate Wickersham of Alaska. The bill would locate the capital of Alaska at Juneau and create a council of eight members and a house of representatives of sixteen members, all to be elected.

Want Army Canteen Restored.

A petition urging the restoration of the army canteen was presented to congress by Representative Bartholdt of Missouri. It bore the signatures of more than 300 physicians and 326 mothers and wives of army men. It contended that "the moral and physical health of the soldiers requires the re-establishment of the canteen."

Agree on Immigration Bill.

The senate committee on immigration has agreed to report favorably the bill introduced by Senator Dillingham for regulation of immigration to the United States. The committee struck out the provision which excluded all aliens unable to read or write. This feature will be introduced in a separate measure.

Democrat in Senate Chair.

The spectacle of a Democrat presiding over the deliberations of a Republican senate probably will be a common sight during the remainder of the session. This peculiar situation was virtually insured when Senator Gallinger announced that he would not, at this time, press his motion for the election of a president pro tempore of the senate. He is the candidate of the regular Republicans for the place, but the Democrats, in coalition with the insurgent Republicans, have supported Senator Bacon, and there has been a long deadlock. Senator Bacon has been occupying the chair during the absence of Vice President Sherman.

Would Teach Farmwork.

Provision for general agricultural extension work by which it is sought to revolutionize farming throughout the country, is made in a bill introduced in the house by Representative Lever of South Carolina, and in the senate by Senator Smith of Georgia. The bill contemplates the carrying on of this extension work through agricultural schools by instruction and demonstration, not only in agriculture, but in home economics and rural affairs generally through field demonstrations, publications and otherwise. The movement has the indorsement of all the agricultural colleges of the country.

INSTALLATION BY FORESTERS

Four Courts Hold Joint Meeting, Dance and Reception.

The four courts of the United Order of Foresters of Duluth held an installation of officers under the supervision of the high standing council of the high court jurisdiction last night. A reception with dancing, short talks and refreshments, was given the officers after the installation.

Some interesting statistics regarding the order were given by High Chief Ranger John McMurchy. He said that the order now has a membership of 1,200 in Duluth and that 200 new members have been added during the last three months.

The council is composed of John McMurchy, high chief ranger; James Kelly, past ranger; J. T. Wells, Ashland, high vice ranger; Harry Milnes, high secretary; I. W. Gilleland, high treasurer; Dr. L. W. Beebe, Superior, high physician; Mary Putman, high chaplain.

The officers installed in the various lodges follow:

MINNESOTA RATE BRIEF IS FILED

Big Document Recorded With the Federal Supreme Court.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Probably the largest brief ever filed with the supreme court of the United States, is that of Attorney General L. A. Smith of Minnesota and his associates, in telling the court in printed form their side of the famous rate case. The rate case will come up for oral argument, along with rate cases from half a dozen other states, on Feb. 19. Associated with Attorney Gentral Smith were Edward T. Young and Thomas D. O'Brien.

It was contended that strangulation of the state's power to regulate interstate business would not extend the federal power to cover interstate commerce, and that if the decision of the Minnesota federal court annualling Minnesota state rates stands, interstate commerce must go unregulated.

It was argued that the state rates would not be confiscatory of the railroad property if the income was figured on the property the railroads had contributed to the public service, or in the money invested therein, or what the facilities were worth. Figuring on the basis of what it would cost to acquire the rights of way and biuld new roads, was denounced as unfair. The old rates enforced by the railroads would be confiscatory if figured on such an improper basis, it was claimed.

HERBERT HEAD OF SHIPMASTERS

Lumber Carriers Also Meet at Detroit—Tugmen at Toledo.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 17.—At the opening session of the annual conventions of the Grand Lodge of Shipmasters' Associations and the Lumber Carriers' Association of the Great Lakes, James G. Herbert of Buffalo was re-elected grand president of the first mentioned organization, and the lumber carriers chose as president E. L. Fisher of Cleveland. It was stated at both conventions that nothing was attempted outside of the elections, but routine matters.

The other officers of the shipmasters were elected as follows: First vice president, A. J. Martin, Detroit; second vice president, Willis McGregor, Superior, Wis.; grand treasurer, A. J. McKay, Detroit; secretary, J. A. Holmes, Cleveland; chaplain, C. T. Bronson, Milwaukee; marshal, John D. Baird, Marine City; warden, H. J. Murphy, Ogdensburg, N. Y.; sentinel, J. H. St. Clair, Port Huron.

The lumber carriers chose: First vice president, O. W. Blodgett, Bay City; second vice president, F. P. Potter, Cleveland; third vice president W. E. Holmes, Chicago; secretary-treasurer, W. D. Hamilton, Chicago.

The death of W. H. Teare of Cleveland, and the retirement of W. E. Pierce of Bay City and E. M. Carleton of Cleveland, necessitated several changes in the Lumber Carriers' association's board of managers and the personnel of committees. The vacancies on the board were filled by the appointment of Fred P. Potter and Capt. Henry Brock of Cleveland and E. B. Foss of Bay City.

The executive committee of the association will meet in Cleveland in February.

Tugmen at Toledo.

Toledo, Ohio, Jan. 17.—Representing every port on the Great Lakes, about 100 delegates to the thirteenth annual convention of the Licensed Tugmen's Protective association met here. The convention was welcomed by Mayor Whitlock. President Edward F. Kemmet of Cleveland announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election. His annual report showed that the increase of wages to tugmen in 1911 amounted to $45,000. This increase was secured at Detroit last year. For 1912 it is estimated the increase will amount to $70,000.

IDA VON CLAUSEN FREED.

Judge Convinced Woman Who Sued Roosevelt Is Sane.

White Plains, N. Y., Jan. 17.—Ida Von Clausen Hohan convinced Justice Morschauser in the supreme court here last evening that she is sane and obtained release on parole until March 4 next from Bloomingdale asylum where she has been an inmate since Oct. 17 last. Justice Morshauser paroled her in the custody of her brother, Michael J. Clausen, and suggested she be kept away from New York city.

The woman is widelly known because of the great stir she made because she was not presented to the Swedish court by Minister Graves in 1907 as the result of which she brought suit against the then President Roosevelt.

On a writ of habeas corpus she appeared personally before Justice Morschauser last night, accompanied by three physicians who testified as to her sanity, while a physician from the asylum declared she was suffering from "constitutional psychopathic delusions of a paranoiac." On the stand in her own behalf she made a good impression.

ENGINEER IS BLAMED FOR CANADIAN WRECK.

Montreal, Jan. 17.—A coroner's jury has found Engineer J. C. Hamilton criminally responsible for the wreck on the Canadian Pacific railway's Quebec line, which resulted in six deaths. Hamilton was engineer on the first engine of the double-header which crashed head-on into another train. Hamilton is in the hospital with two broken legs, as a result of the accident.

Gives Mortgage to Widow.

New York, Jan. 17.—The Equitable Life Insurance society has purchased the $2,518 mortgage on the home of the late Battallion Chief William J. Walsh and presented it to his widow. Walsh died in the Equitable fire.

Discuss Sunday School Work.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 17.—The commission of twenty-one members appointed by the International Sunday School association is holding its first meeting at the Y. M. C. A. building here. Members from all parts of the country are in attendance.

DEBATE ON LIGHTING

Bond Question Is Argued By E. M. Morgan and A. W. Hartman.

Men's Club of Endion Church Hears a Lively Discussion.

A debate on the municipal lighting question and the proposed $700,000 bond issue which will soon come before the voters was held last evening at Endion M. E. church, East End, under the auspices of the Men's club.

E. M. Morgan, municipal ownership advocate, appeared for the affirmative. A. W. Hartman, president of the Duluth Edison Electric company, defended the lighting company's side of the case. I. K. Lewis, a local attorney, presided.

Mr. Morgan spoke first. He would handle the question, he declared, from a purely business standpoint, as his opponents have always insisted upon. He went into the subject of over capitalization and watered stock, claiming that the present capitalization was $1,436,326.80 more than it should be. He also claimed that the 3 per cent depreciation charges given in the reports of the company were too small and quoted the city's special engineers who placed the depreciation rate at about 5 per cent per annum.

Mr. Morgan, favoring municipal ownership, pointed out that the water rates under municipal control had been cut in half and that the rate of $1.90 on gas had been reduced to 75 cents a cubic foot. "No matter what you may say about the management of the water and light department," said Mr. Morgan, "the fact remains that we have been getting our water and gas at a lower rate. The people of Superior are obliged to pay $1.25 per cubic foot net for gas. At Superior the pipes were laid through sand, while in Duluth twenty-five per cent of them pierce solid rock."

Two Factors.

Mr. Morgan declared that there were only two factors which really entered into the municipal lighting question—the machinery and the management. The machinery doesn't care whether the city or a private corporation is running it: it will go on just the same. The manager, Mr. Morgan stated, was merely a matter of salary. "I have no doubt," Mr. Morgan said, "but what Mr. Van Bergen, if secured by the city, would work as diligently and faithfully for the city as for the Duluth Edison Electric company."

Mr. Morgan explained the procedure necessary for the city to acquire or build and operate a plant. There were two objects for a municipal plant, he claimed. First, to furnish the electricity at as nearly cost as possible, and second and more important, to keep such public service corporations out of politics.

Mr. Morgan spoke of the various proposals which had been made by the Duluth Edison company. "If you think that you are going to get anything from the Duluth-Edison Electric company, that does not come by force, you are badly mistaken," he said. He also dwelt upon the low rates which were said to prevail in other cities who have municipal ownership of the lighting facilities.

Winnipeg has a 3-cent per kilowatt hour rate. "If Winnipeg can furnish light for 3 cents" he said in conclusion, "it seems to me that at least a 7-cent rate could be squeezed out of the Duluth-Edison."

Mr. Hartman Replies.

In reply, Mr. Hartman first took up the matter of over-capitalization. "Criticism has been made that the company is over capitalized," he said, "but this should be given no weight for two reasons. First, it is wholly unimportant what the capital is unless by reason of over-capitalization, it charges an unnecessarily high rate. Second, the company is not over-capitalized when the expenditures that have been made by it and its predecessors in building up the plant and business at Duluth are taken into consideration."

He continued: "The cry of over-capitalization is raised merely to dodge the only question in the whole discussion, and that is whether or not the rates which this company proposes are as favorable, all things considered, as the rate that could be expected from the municipal plant. This company and its predecessors have been building up the lighting system of Duluth and expending money in this city in its development since 1884."

He then took up the organizations and reorganizations of the company and told of the reasons for each reorganization claiming that the watered stock talk was unfair. "The total amount of actual cash put into the plant and equipment for new construction since Jan. 1, 1901, has been approximately $1,000,000. The earnings of the company have not enabled it to pay dividends upon its common stock. It has, however, been able to pay dividends upon its preferred stock and to pay interest upon its bonds since it became the owner of the property in 1906. Another thing which must be remembered is that a large part of the existing plant was built when times were good and prices high. At that time, a large part of the insulated copper wire of the company was paid for at from 28 to 33 cents per pound. The engineers employed by the city have given an estimate of a plant that would duplicate in part the present plant of this company. At the time of making their estimate, the price of the same character of wire was from 13½ to 14 cents per pound."

Ordinance Limited.

In speaking of the ordinance to be voted on, Mr. Hartman said that the statute under which the ordinance was passed authorized the issuance of the bonds for the purpose of "acquiring or constructing" a lighting plant. "The ordinance to be voted on is limited," said the speaker, "to 'constructing' a plant and if adopted the money can be used for no other purpose."

Mr. Hartman then took up the proposal of the company to the city. He said: "The Duluth-Edison Electric company has made a proposal to enter into a contract with the city which will insure to the city and its inhabitants the lowest rates for commercial and for street lighting enjoyed by any city through a municipal plant.

"The Duluth-Edison company has 13,800 customers. A municipal plant could not make any profit on commercial lighting except by taking all customers, for the rates are at present so low that no competing plant could serve a part of the customers at the same rate without losing money.

The Seattle Plant.

"A great deal has been said about the Seattle municipal plant. The Seattle plant serves 12,000 customers. The Duluth-Edison serves nearly 14,000 customers. The Seattle plant cost $4,002,152. For street lighting the Seattle plant charges $54 per year, which is 32 per cent of the gross revenues of the plant. The Duluth-Edison company receives from Duluth $31,658.31 yearly, which is 7 per cent of the company's gross revenues. Seattle is three times as large as Duluth and pays five and one-half times as much as Duluth for street lighting."

Mr. Hartman contended that the city could not get as low a power rate as the Duluth-Edison Electric company received. In determining rates, the quanity of current used and the load factor are taken into consideration "The city would use a smaller amount of current and it would have a much lower load factor than the Duluth-Edison and therefore its rate would necessarily be higher than that of the Duluth-Edison company."

Conditions, Mr. Hartman declared which justified the purchase of the city's water and gas plant, do not exist with reference to the Duluth-Edison plant. There, he asserted, the trouble was with the service, but no one is complaining of the service by the Duluth-Edison.

Mr. Hartman also declared that the agitation in favor of the city owning a lighting plant for commercial purposes was "but the beginning of an agitation for city-owned industries of every kind, including, he said, "laundies, butcher shops, coal yards and grocery stores and I understand that Mr. Shartell favors them now."

Mr. Hartman asserted that indiscriminate attacks on invested capital did more than any other thing to prevent the development of the natural resources and advantages of this city.

Mr. Morgan was given a few minutes in which to reply. He brought out the fact that the Duluth-Edison had made a prosposal to furnish electric light at below cost to the city and asked if he was not right in assuming that the decrease in the rate to the city would naturally be followed by an increase to the individual customers.

The debate was followed by a short informal discussion after which refreshments were served. This was the second of a series of Men's club meetings. At the next meeting it is planned to have President Vincent of the Minnesota university present.

You Don't Need a New Stomach

You Can Now Look Any Meal Square in the Face, and Then Just "Go For It," if You Take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Trial Package Sent Free to Prove It.

The stomach will go on patiently for years enduring abuse, overwork and general ill-treatment. So we're apt to think it can stand anything. But when the stomach does rebel, look out!

"Every Meal Smiles at Me Now Since I've Been Taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets."

The minute the stomach ceases to perform its functions properly the whole body begins to suffer. The food is only half-digested, the body only half-nourished. And the undigested portion of the food ferments and decays, generating nauseating gases which derange the whole system. The eventual result is chronic dyspepsia, heartburn, bad breath, dizziness, flatulency and sick headache.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets instantly relieve all ailments of the stomach and digestive tract. They act quickly, safely and naturally—just like Nature herself. They contain in themselves the elements which go to make up the natural gastric juices. They actually digest the food, relieving the stomach of all the hard work. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the stand-by of many a doctor in the worst cases of stomach trouble, and they never fail him.

All druggists carry and recommend Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They are sold at 50 cents a box. If you want to try them first, we will send you a trial package free on receipt of your name and address. F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

greater economy and efficiency. The view that these various offices are to be filled as a result of political consideration has for its consequence the necessity that the president and members of congress devote to matters of patronage time which they should devote to questions of policy and administration."

Should Continue Commission.

The president did not attempt to explain in detail the work of the economy and efficiency commission created by act of congress a year and a half ago. He sketched the outlines of improvements that he said could be made in government service; declared that they would effect a saving of many millions of dollars and asked that congress continue the commission by granting an appropriation of $200,000, with $50,000 for printing its reports. From time to time, he added, reports of the commission proposing particular reforms would be sent to congress.

"I ask," said the president, "the continuance of this commission on economy and efficiency because of the excellent beginning which has been made towards the reorganization of the machinery of this government on business principles. I ask it because its work is entirely non-partisan in character and ought to apply to every citizen who wishes to give effectiveness to popular government in which we feel a just pride. I sincerely hope that congress will not, in its anxiety to reduce expenditures, economize by cutting off an appropriation which is likely to offer greater opportunity for real economy in the future than any other estimated for."

To date, the president said, the commission has cost the people about $130,000. Without having put in effect more than a few reforms it has suggested changes that will save $2,000,000 a year. "These," said the president, "represent only a few of the many services which should be subjected to a little painstaking inquiry. If this is done, it is beyond question that many millions of savings may be realized." The value of such investigation in increased interest which officers of the government will take in their own departments, their own work and that of their subordinates, he said, could hardly be estimated.

Inquiry Well Under Way.

"The initial work," said President Taft, "has been well done. The inquiry with its constructive measures is well under way. The work should now be presented with vigor and receive the financial support necessary to make it effective during the next fiscal year. Every economy which has been or will be effected through changes in organization or method will inure to the benefit of the government and of the people in increasing measure through the years which follow. I am convinced that results which are really worth while cannot be secured, or at least can be secured only in small part, through the prosecution at irregular intervals or special inquiries bearing on particular services or features of administration. The benefits thus obtained must be but temporary. The problem of good administration is not one that can be solved at one time it is a continuously present one."

In many ways, the president informed congress, a decrease in the cost of government might be assured. There is need, he said, of reorganization of the government departments, a consolidation and—a weeding out of bureaus that overlap in their work; scores of "local offices" throughout the country should be abolished and hundreds of political appointees who do but little work should be taken off the payroll and there should be an improvement in the personnel of government employes through the introduction of the civil service in practically every field; business methods should be employed by Uncle Sam just as big corporations use them, a modern system of accounting and reporting should be adopted, and last of all, the economy commission should be continued in its work.

Would Save $1,000,000 Yearly.

The treasury department, Mr. Taft showed, looked after the nation's finances and the life-saving service. The commission, he said, had recommended the abolition of the revenue cutter service, which would mean a saving of $1,000,000 a year.

"The greatest economy and efficiency and the benefits which may accrue from the president's devoting his time to the work which is most worth while," said the president, "may be assured only by treating all the distinctly administrative officers in the department at Washington and in the field in the same way as inferior officers have been treated. The time has come when all these officers should be placed in the classified service. The time has also come when those provisions of law which give to those officers a fixed term of years should be repealed. So long as fixed term of years is provided by law the question of re-appointment of an officer, no matter how efficiently he may have performed his duties, will inevitably be raised periodically. So long as appointments to these offices must be confirmed by the senate, and so long as appointments to them must be made every four years, just so long will it be impossible to provide a force of employes with a reasnably permanent tenure who are qualified by reason of education and training to do the best work."

A Few Examples.

Givin gexamples of excessive government expenditures along certain lines the president told congress that in one department it cost $5.84 per thousand to handle incoming mail and in another department $84.40 per thousand. For handling outgoing mail one department expended $5.94 per thousand; another $69.89. Either one department paid too much or the other not enough, he said. In travel alone the government expends about $12,000,000 a year. Definite tests, he pointed out, have shown that a saving in this item alone of a little over ½-cent a mile probably could be effected.

Through the introduction of labor saving machinery; through the elimination of unnecessary copy work, by cutting down needless expense in the distribution of public documents and in many other ways could millions be saved each year. The president urged the adoption of the "budget system" which would bring before congress, the press and the people of the country not only the proposed expenditures of the government but its revenue. "The United States is the only great nation whose government is operated without a budget," he said, later, the president declared, he intends to send to congress a plan for the retirement of civil service employes on pensions which will safeguard the government interest and yet provide for their old age.

Long before that transport had reached Cuban waters, several American battleships would be lying off proper strategic points on the Cuban coast.

War department officials, however, do not expect any such order, and the Atlantic fleet is calmly pursuing the routine of winter drills off the south coast of Cuba in little expectation of being called upon for active service.

Quiet in Havana.

Havana, Cuba, Jan. 17.—Tranquillity reigns in Havana today, despite the shock of the announcement in the morning papers of a possible intervention by the United States.

The reports received from the interior do not give any indications of trouble, but some fears are expressed in Havana that disturbances are likely to occur in the rural districts when the news becomes more generally circulated.

The newspapers confine themselves to the publication of the text of Secretary Knox's note, and interviews on the subject with various officials. There is no editorial comment except in El Dia, which expresses the opinion that no physical intervention is intended by the United States, which, however, will adopt other and efficacious means to compel compliance with the laws and prevent a breach of the peace.

Commenting on Secretary Knox's note, Gen. Freyre Andrade, former secretary of the interior, said:

"It is a sad blow to all good Cubans, but we must hope it will sound a note of warning. All must join in a patriotic effort to do their utmost to save the country."

Action Was Sudden.

So sudden was the action taken by the state department at Washington that Gen. Manuel Sanguilly, secretary of state, last night refused to believe intervention was threatened until some hours after Secretary Knox's note had been presented to President Gomez. He declined to make any comment on it.

The meeting of the council of the Veterans' association, which was called last night, adjourned early this morning. No line of policy was adopted.

No hour has yet been fixed for the conference between President Gomez and the leaders of the political parties and the Veterans. It will probably occur this afternoon.

At the opening of the board of trade today the prospect of intervention by the United States was regarded generally with satisfaction, especially among the Spanish element. Merchants almost unanimously expressed the opinion that the regulation of the affairs of Cuba by the United States would have the happiest effect immediately to stimulate business, which has been depressed by the lack of confidence now pervading the country.

A LIBERAL OFFER

We Guarantee to Relieve Dyspepsia. If We Fail the Medicine Costs Nothing.

To unquestionably prove to the people that indigestion and dyspepsia can be permanently relieved and that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will bring about this result, we will furnish the medicine absolutely free if it fails to give satisfaction to any one using it.

The remarkable success of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets is due to the high degree of scientific skill used in devising their formula as well as to the care exercised in their manufacture, whereby the well-known properties of Bismuth-Subnitrate and Pepsin have been combined with Carminatives and other agents.

Bismuth-Subnitrate and Pepsin are constantly employed and recognized by the entire medical profession as invaluable in the treatment of indigestion and dyspepsia.

The Pepsin used in Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets is carefully prepared so as to develop its greatest efficiency. Pepsin supplies to the digestive apparatus one of the most important elements of the digestive fluid. Without it the digestion and assimilation of food are impossible.

The Carminatives possess properties which aid in relieving the disturbances and pain caused by undigested food. This combination of these ingredients makes a remedy invaluable for the complete relief of indigestion and dyspepsia.

We are so certain of this that we urge you to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets on our own personal guarantee. Three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies only at our store—The Rexall Store. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street.

Many Women Will Buy Embroideries Here Thursday. Here's Why—

—The embroidery business has been good since the White Sale began. We expected a good sale from the fact that Fashion has so strongly indorsed embroideries and another season of white. We are overwhelmed at the great demand, and already many re-orders have been necessary to keep the stock so thoroughly complete as we think it should be.

—There's an almost bewildering assortment for selection. Scores upon scores of pretty patterns in the soft clinging Swisses and voiles or the very substantial cambrics.

—Thursday's selling will be unusual because there will be great response to the following very special values:

—A lot of new cambric embroidery flounces, very neat designs, usual 25c values, the yard, 18c.

—New Swiss flouncings, 18 inches wide, dainty eyelet designs, selling at 35c.

$3.50 RECIPE FREE FOR WEAK MEN

Send Name and Address Today—You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Healthy.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his health quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow men to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 4671 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3 to $5 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

WEST END NEWS

WAITING FOR AMENDMENT

Paving Agitation Will Be Renewed Immediately After Election.

Immediately following the election Feb. 6 when the charter amendment regarding assessments will be voted on, the property owners on Twenty-first avenue west will renew their campaign for the paving of the avenue from Michigan street to Third street.

Several of the men behind the movement stated yesterday that the delay was caused by the coming election and the residents on the avenue are waiting for the result of the vote on the proposed amendment. Should the amendment pass, the property owners will start their petition for the pavement at once. The majority of those living on the street are willing to stand the expense and it is thought that there will be little opposition when the matter is brought up for action. Those in favor of the pavement are anxious to have it put in at the same time the street car company begins running on its new cut-off.

The movement started with the laying of the tracks on Twenty-first avenue west and several metings have already been held by the property owners. At one of the meetings held at the Swanstrom Bros.' office, 17 North Twenty-first avenue west, steps were taken to indorse what was believed to be the proper width of the avenue in case it should be paved this spring. All favored a street forty-five feet wide from curb to curb with a ten-foot sidewalk. This will give a driveway of sixteen feet on each side of the tracks. At the same time talks were made by Alderman Bernard, J. J. Moe, A. F. Swanstrom and George M. Jensen, all of whom have announced themselves in favor of paving the avenue.

City Engineer McGilvray has been requested by the city council to submit his estimates for the cost of paving the street with either macadam or vitrified brick. He will probably submit his report immediately after the election when the property owners plan to take action on the matter. Only 25 per cent of the cost of the paving will be required in advance by the board of public works, if the amendment passes next month.

Since the building of the street car tracks on the avenue, the business men have become interested in the property and it is now evident that the avenue will be one of the most important in this section of the city. It will bring the business center of the West end nearer to the people living on the hill. A number of business buildings are now being planned and it is probable that by next year the avenue will be lined with stores. John Erickson recently completed at 14 Twenty-first avenue west, a double store that is already occupied. The new Woodmen hall is nearly finished and another building on the opposite corner from the hall is now being planned by the Swanstrom Bros., who own half of the block between Superior and First street.

WILL SPEAK AT CULLUM MEETING

E. J. SANDBERG.

E. J. Sandberg, Democratic candidate for alderman in the Sixth ward, will speak at the Democratic rally to be held at Sloan's hall Friday evening. Mr. Sandberg has a number of friends in the Sixth ward, who are working for his election next month and are not leaving a stone unturned in their efforts to secure the Democratic vote for their candidate. This is Mr. Sandberg's first opportunity to address the West end people on his campaign for alderman. Mayor Cullum will be the municipal speaker of the evening and the meeting will open his campaign.

NEIGHBORHOOD HOUSE CLUBS ARE ACTIVE.

Every club at the Neighborhood House, 2423 West Superior street, is in working order and the members of the different organizations are kept busy with the programs and meetings that are being held every week.

The annual meeting of the club was held several weeks ago when the plans for the year were formulated. Mrs. J. M. Crowley and Miss Jean Poirier were in charge of the meeting and outlined the plans for the year, which the members are now following every week. The boys' clubs have been under the personal direction of Miss Jean Poirier, with the exception of the past few weeks when Miss Poirier was compelled to go West on account of her sister's illness. Within a few days the 140 boys will again resume their activities.

The boys' clubs are known as the Twentieth Century boys, the Knights of the Round Table, the Lincoln Literary club and the Daniel Boone boys. Each club has a membership of about thirty, which is limited owing to the size of the building.

The older boys of the House are taking their gymnastic work at the Y. M. C. A., which allows for more room for the younger boys. The boys are planning to unite for a series of literary and social programs, which will be given the latter part of February.

The girls of the House are also as active and meet at their regular hours every week. The girls over 8 years old meet every Saturday morning for instruction in sewing under the direction of Miss Thiele. Several mothers' meetings are planned for the near future. Miss Thiele will also have charge of these special meetings of the mothers.

Everyday Sinners.

Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, will start a new series of sermons Sunday evening on "Everyday Sinners That Everybody Meets." The first sermon to be given Sunday evening is on "The Thief," and the remaining sermons to be given on four successive Sunday are as follows: "The Liar," "The Hypocrite," "The Blasphemer," and "The Slanderer."

Masquerade Ball.

The Svea Glee club of Vasa order, No. 170, held its grand masquerade ball last evening at the Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. A large crowd attended the affair and the prizes were won by Miss Louise Kvan and Charles Bostram for the best dressed couple, and Mrs. E. Meyers and E. L. Lyden for the most comically dressed couple. The committee in charge of the ball consisted of C. Pearson, Iver Holmberg and Hjalmer Ecklund.

Will Announce Committees.

A meeting will be held the early part of next week by the members of the Luther league of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, when Miss Ellen Bahlen will announce the new members of the committees. Miss Bahlen was elected president of the league last week and authorized by the members to appoint a sick committee of five, reception and membership committees of five each, and three on a finance committee.

The officers of the league who will be in charge for the first time this year are: Miss Edith Hallgren, secretary; Harold Olson, treasurer; Miss Edith Olson, organist; Miss Tillie Johnson, librarian, and Miss Delia Olson, assistant librarian. Miss Hildegrade Miller, George Anderson, Miss Victoria Benson, Herman Olson and Miss Lillie Larson were elected for the program committee, and a constitution committee, consisting of George Anderson, Miss Hilda Olson and Miss Ellen Bahlen, was appointed.

Mission Circle.

The Mission circle of the Central Paptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, met this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Peter Melin, 1820 West Second street. The subject for the afternoon was, "Woman, a Conserving Force," and the talk was led by Mrs. J. H. Giffin. Mrs. Margaret McPhail assisted Mrs. Melin in entertaining the guests.

"Tramp Orchestra."

Under the auspices of the North Star lodge, No. 11, I. O. G. T., the traveling tramp orchestra of the order will give a musical program at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, tomorrow evening. The orchestra travels over the country and visits the various lodges of the order. O. Stammed conducts the orchestra. A banquet will be given in honor of the visiting musicians following the musical program.

Entertains Whist Club.

Mrs. John A. Anderson, 217 Vernon street, entertained the Altha Whist club at her home yesterday afternoon. Following the cards a dinner was served to the following: Mesdames G. Dysen, C. Hanson, S. Agre, C. Shursen, B. Olson, A. Anderson, P. Olson, A. Berglund and the Misses Othilia Olson, Othna Otten and Anderson.

West End Briefs.

The Young People's Society of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, will meet in the church parlors tomorrow evening.

The Rebecca Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Adolph Olson, 321 North Twenty-third avenue west.

The two congregations of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, and the First Lutheran church, Third avenue west and Third street, will meet at the latter church Friday evening. The members will report on the Lutheran cemetery.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Swedish M. E. church will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ida Broman, 1429 West Superior street.

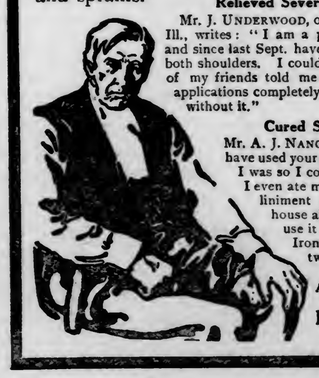

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Maynard of Winthrop, Minn., left yesterday for a visit in Chicago, after spending the past week with relatives in the West end.

Charles Olson and Charles Johnson of Cotton, Minn., are the guests of West end relatives this week.

The revival meetings of the First Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will end Friday evening after having continued for the past two weeks. Rev. John E. Stone of Virginia is assisting Rev. Edwin Stromberg, pastor of the church.

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

Gives quick relief from pain. It's an excellent remedy for rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago and sprains.

Relieved Severe Pain in Shoulders

Mr. J. UNDERWOOD, of 2000 Warren Ave., Chicago, Ill., writes: "I am a piano polisher by occupation, and since last Sept. have suffered with severe pain in both shoulders. I could not rest night or day. One of my friends told me about your liniment. Three applications completely cured me, and I will never be without it."

Cured Sciatic Rheumatism

Mr. A. J. NANCE, of Oak Hill, O., writes: "I have used your liniment for sciatic rheumatism. I was so I could not walk for a long time. I even ate my meals on the floor, but your liniment cured me. I keep it in the house all the time and have let others use it and it cured them. I sent to Ironton, O., the other day and got two 50c. bottles for other people."

IMPROVING THE BARBER SHOPS

Operation of Wisconsin Regulations Reported to the Governor.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 17.—A general improvement of barber shops and a raising of standards in the profession throughout the state are conclusions stated in the annual report of Charles L. Wehlitz of Milwaukee, secretary of the state barbers' board of examiners for Wisconsin, submitted to the governor.

The report says that violations of the law have greatly decreased. There were twenty-one prosecutions, five barbers were up for conducting unsanitary shops and sixteen were arrested for practicing without a license or permit. Five hundred and fifteen candidates were examined during the year, of whom 286 passed and 229 failed. An average of 75 per cent of the young barbers passed the examination, which is considered a good proportion. The receipts of the examining board were $7,643.53, disbursements $4,847.06, and the balance $2,795.47.

The annual report of the Wisconsin state board of dental examiners shows receipts of $3,477.98, disbursements $3,247.49, a balance of $330.49. Sixty-one candidates have taken the examinations, of whom fifty-eight succeeded in obtaining a license.

WOMEN WOULD HAVE SPRING WATER INSPECTED.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sale of spring water will be placed under municipal control here through the efforts of the Women's Civic league in the event that the council approves the proposition.

The league takes the position that a certain safeguard is thrown about the city supply of water, as provided by the municipal filtering plant, and that spring water sold to the city residents should be made to undergo the same inspection.

As outlined, the league's plan prescribes that Dr. G. F. Reudiger of the state public health laboratory shall make the inspection of all spring waters sold in the city.

"To our readers:

"We make the following reply to many inquiries from readers of Harper's Weekly:

"The name of Woodrow Wilson as our candidate for president was taken down from the head of these columns in response to a statement made to us directly by Governor Wilson to the effect that our support was affecting his candidacy injuriously.

"The only course left open to us, in simple fairness to Mr. Wilson, no less than in consideration of our own self-respect, was to cease to advocate his nomination.

"We make this explanation with great reluctance and the deepest regret. But we cannot escape the conclusion that the very considerable number of our readers who have cooperated earnestly and loyally in advancing a movement which was inaugurated solely in the hope of rendering a high public service, are clearly entitled to this information."

Refused to Comment.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 17.—Governor Wilson refuses to make any comment upon the editorial which appeared in Harper's Weekly, giving the reason for taking the governor's name as a presidential candidate from the head of the columns of that publication.

SOON BE USING ITS POWER PLANT

Cleveland-Cliffs Company's Power Project at Carp River About Ready.

Negaunee, Mich., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company has about completed its water power project on Carp river, on which work was started early last spring. At the dam everything is in readiness to turn the water into the pipe line as soon as the power plant near the mouth of the river is finished.

O. D. McClure, who has had general supervision of the construction work, said that the installation of machinery at the power house will probably be finished within two weeks, but the plant may not be operated at once, this depending on weather conditions. The work at the dam has progressed in a satisfactory manner, considering the unusually cold weather that has prevailed for more than two weeks past.

Power For Mines.

Power will be furnished to a number of the company's mines. They are now equipped with electrical machinery, which was installed following the completion of the electric turbine plants in Negaunee and on the Swanzey range, and the transfer of the load from the steam plants to the water power plant can be accomplished on short notice. The steam plants will be kept ready for service, so that in case of trouble at the dam or the power plant in Marquette they can be put in operation without delay. It is planned to operate the pumps as well as the hoisting plants with electricity.

Husband's Hair

How About it Madam, is it Falling Out or Growing Thin? Don't Lose It

Most husbands are careless regarding their hair—many are skeptical regarding hair tonics, restorers and the like.

It is only when their hair comes out in combs full that they really sit up and take notice.

If your husband's hair is failing; if he has dandruff or scalp itch, don't let it make a baldhead of him, get a 50 cent bottle of PARISIAN SAGE today, rub it on his hair every night until dandruff goes, hair stops falling and the new growth appears. Then use it every other night until the hair is thick and abundant. PARISIAN SAGE is a delightful, refreshing hair dressing for men, women and children. It will do as advertised, or your money back. Girl with Auburn hair on every carton and bottle. Sold by Boyce Drug Store and dealers everywhere.

ENGLISH STRIKES MAY BE SETTLED

Askwith Is Getting Agreements to Terms of Agreement.

Manchester, Eng., Jan. 17.—The proposals made to the employers and workers at the cotton trade conference by Sir George Askwith, representing the board of trade, appear likely to put an end to the industrial war which has been so costly to both sides.

The suggestions of Sir George Askwith are framed in such a way that each side can maintain its principles without injuring the rights of the other. Neither side, under the terms of the proposals, shall be entitled to take action on the question of the employment of non-unionists which shall involve the stoppage of the machinery of the mills without giving six months written notice.

Should the provisional settlement be agreed to, the mills will reopen Jan. 22.

The agreement between the employers and men, if it is eventually ratified, will be another victory added to the list of those won by Sir George Askwith, the recognized British "strike-settler."

The three weeks' stoppage of the mills has cost $30,000,000. The operatives have lost $3,000,000 in wages and the spinners, who have been on half pay since the lockout began, have sacrificed about $1,215,000.

The trades' unions have spent $1,050,000 in strike pay.

Coal Trouble Narrowing.

London, Jan. 17.—As a result of a series of meetings between the coal owners and miners held at Birmingham, the differences between the employers and workers, which are mainly connected with the settlement of a fixed minimum wage, have been narrowed down particularly as regards the English coal fields, and an early settlement may now be looked for.

The dispute affects about 900,000 men.

EAST GRAND FORKS WOMAN IS SUFFOCATED.

East Grand Forks, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Secial to The Herald.)—Mrs. H. A. Larue, known as "Della Wells," a member of the underworld, was suffocated last night in a small fire at her home by inhaling smoke and flames while attempting to save her diamonds.

KENNEDY MINER FALLS TO DEATH DOWN SHAFT.

BEMIDJI IS WORKING FOR COMMISSION PLAN.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Definite steps have been taken to bring Bemidji under a commission form of government, the Commercial club at a special meeting naming a committee of five to investigate conditions in St. Paul, Mankato Des Moines, Galveston and Kansas City, Kan., all under the commission plan and to report as soon as possible that a special election may be called to put the matter of adopting the commission plan up to the people for a vote.

NEW MASONIC TEMPLE

At Bismarck, N. D., to Be Dedicated Next Friday.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Masons will dedicate their magnificent new temple here Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The building was erected at a cost of $30,000. This will be the second building in the state devoted exclusively to Masonic uses. The grand lodge officers will participate in the exercises. There will be an elaborate reception and banquet in the evening.

The committee in charge of the dedication is composed of G. W. Wolbert, R. D. Hoskins, C. D. Little, W. S. Casselman and L. K. Thompson.

Demijohn an Original Package.

Olympia, Wash., Jan. 17.—The state supreme court has decided that a demijohn of whisky is an original package, even though the whisky to fill the demijohn is drawn from a barrel. The court's decision is expected to facilitate the shipment of alcoholic liquors to prohibition communities.

SURELY BREAKS UP A BAD COLD

Most Severe Cold or the Grippe Relieved in Several Hours.

It is a positive fact that a dose of Pape's Cold Compound taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken will cure Grippe or break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs.

You distinctly feel the cold breaking and all the disagreeable grippe symptoms leaving after the very first dose. It promptly ends the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

CONFESSION STOPPED TRIAL

May Harris Guilty of Taking Girls to Grand Rapids Resort.

May Harris, charged with having induced young girls to go with her to a house of ill fame, pleaded guilty while her trial was in progress yesterday afternoon in district court. Judge Dancer has taken the case under advisement before pronouncing sentence.

The trial promised to drag along for some time, until the state struck an unexpected blow when County Attorney John H. Norton introduced in evidence a written confession signed by the Harris woman in the presence of Chief C. H. Troyer of the local police.

The indictment against the Harris woman charged that she wrongfully induced two Superior girls, who were rooming at the Lowell block to accompany her to Grand Rapids, Minn., where they entered a resort conducted by a woman called Clara Rhody.

One of the girls appeared as a witness against the Harris woman. She testified that she had met the defendent at the Lowell block and that it was through her that she had learned of the Grand Rapids resort. She told of their trip to Grand Rapids and of their conduct while at the place.

Owing to the nature of the testimony, only such persons as were necessary to try the case were allowed in the courtroom, others being excluded. The Harris woman entered the plea of guilty, withdrawing her former plea shortly before 5 o'clock.

This is the first prosecution and conviction in the St. Louis county district court under the new law, passed by the last legislature.

"LUCKY" BALDWIN CASE IS APPEALED.

San Francisco, Jan. 17.—The fight for the millions of the late E. J. (Lucky) Baldwin, began in the supreme court of California yesterday when attorneys for Lillian Ashley Turnbull appealed from the decision of the superior court of Los Angeles that denied her daughter, Beatrice Anita, a share of the late turfman's fortune. The claim is based upon the allegation that the mother was the common law wife of the horseman. Attorneys for the Baldwin heirs contend that Baldwin could have had no common law wife, as he had a wife living at the time.

"BETROTHED TO RICHESON"

Salt Lake City Girl's Affidavit Certified to Boston Attorney.

Confessed Murderer of Avis Linnell Denounced as Scoundrel.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Jan. 17.—An affidavit made here Feb. 18, 1910, before L. P. Layton, a notary public, by Miss Patsy Felts of Salt Lake City, a daughter of a Kansas City Baptist minister, touching her relations with Rev. C. V. T. Richeson, confessed murderer of his fiancee, Miss Avis Linnell of Hyannis, Mass., has been made public here.

The document, a certified copy of which has been requested by the state's attorney at Boston, for the purpose, it is believed here, of combatting any attempt to save Richeson from the electric chair, sets forth among other things, that Miss Felts became engaged to Richeson Dec. 29, 1903, when Richeson was a student in William Jewell college at Liberty, Mo.

Wrote to Miss Felts.

Boston, Jan. 17.—The day after Avis Linnell met her death by poison given her by Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, the clergyman, who was then a guest at the Brookline home of his fiancee, Miss Violet Edmands, he wrote a letter to another fiancee, Miss Patsy Felts of Salt Lake City, according to the police. Miss Felts had loaned Richeson money when he was a poor theological student, and he wrote that soon, in that very month, he would be on his way west, where he would seek a church, that he "might preach to thousands instead of to hundreds."

When the letter was written Avis Linnell, to whom the minister had been engaged, was dead, his marriage to Miss Edmands was set for the end of the month, and in Salt Lake City the young woman who had befriended him in his hour of need considered herself also his fiancee, according to the police. Miss Felts, it is said, became engaged to Richeson in 1903 and the engagement was never broken.

Will Ask Rehearing.

Counsel for Richeson will seek a rehearing of the proceedings in court of Jan. 9, on the ground that the mental condition of Richeson was such at the time he pleaded guilty to murder in the first degree, that he was unable fully to comprehend the nature of that act. This move will have to be made in the supreme judicial court, and if the contention of the defense is sustained, the case will have to go again to the superior court, there to be disposed of as if no previous action had been taken.

Denounced By Teacher.

A scathing denunciation of Richeson was contained in an address made by President Horr to the students of the Newton Theological institution, of which Richeson is a graduate. President Horr, who was to have solemnized the marriage of the pastor to Miss Viclet Edmands, described Richeson as "a scoundrel," a "man convicted of a collosal crime" and "a traitor to God and man."

Of Richeson's relations with Miss Avis Linnell, President Horr said:

"After this girl had been debauched there was but one course open to Richeson, and that was to marry her; but the vision of wealth and social station had dawned on him. To carry out his purpose it was necessary to make away with the girl who had become his victim.

"Richeson is only exceptional in the cold-blooded heartlessness with which he subordinated every consideration of honor and fidelity to his egotism, to his pleasure and to his ambition."

"Bad to Begin With."

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 17.—"That man was bad to begin with," said B. M. McCullough, president of the United Railways company, speaking of Rev. C. V. T. Richeson, self-confessed murderer of Avis Linnell. "A few months after he had been employed on our Wellston line—that was twelve years ago—a man came into my office and told of having seen a conductor insult a young lady passenger.

"He said he was sitting just behind a young woman when the conductor came up for her fare. She dropped five copper cents into his hand. He looked at them disgustedly for a moment and then dropped them beside the window saying: 'That's the way I treat such trash as that.' The girl, my caller said, began to cry and left the car.

"The conductor proved to be Richeson.

"Now, I say that man was bad all the time."

GARY DEFENDS STEEL TRUST

Says It Is Doing Well in Treatment of Its Employes.

New York, Jan. 17.—The treatment by the United States Steel corporation of its employes is warmly defended by Judge F. H. Gary, chairman of the corporation in a statement. The statement was made after Judge Gary's attention had been directed to "the recent publication of portions of public addresses made during the last week dealing with the management of the Steel corporation and particularly its relations with employes."

"The facts and figures published by the corporation speak for themselves, as to the success of its business policy," the chairman declared. "We do not resent criticism; on the contrary we endeavor to benefit by it when we believe it is deserved," said Judge Gary.

"I believe, taking everything into account," he continued, "the treatment accorded by our corporation to its employes compares favorably with that of any line of industry in this country, or any period in the history of the world. We are paying 25 per cent higher wages than we were when the corporation was organized, and we have spent and are spending millions to prevent accidents in the work, to improve sanitary conditions, to furnish voluntary relief in cases of accident, regardless of legal liability, and for pensions to superannuates.

"We have largely abandoned seven-day week work and have to a large extent eliminated twelve-hour days. It is true there is considerable of the latter still in force; but this is largely because the employes prefer twelve hours a day work in order to receive a larger compensation. Above all, we are trying to satisfy our employes that they are receiving fair and liberal treatment. I think they appreciate our efforts."

Would Divorce Baroness.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 17.—Percy Proctor, wealthy soap manufacturer of this city, has filed suit for divorce from Nadine Proctor, formerly the Baroness De Klifus. He charges her with gross neglect of duty. They were married in London Oct. 14, 1904, at which time she was 26 years old. The baroness is now in Cincinnati, and, it is said, will not contest the divorce.

SUGGESTED BY TRUSTS?

trust influence is justified by Andrew Carnegie's testimony before the Stanley committee. After the iron master testified that he had asked McKinley to appoint as attorney general of the United States P. C. Knox, who was at the time attorney for the Carnegie company and that the appointment was made, suspicion ripened into certainty.

Insolence of Carnegie Group.

"Carnegie's statement is of the very first importance," said Senator Kern of Indiana. "It seems to illustrate the insolence of corporations of the Carnegie sort and the subservience of politicians of the old Mark Hanna type to them. If there were any body of men whom an ordinary sense of political decency should restrain from asking the appointment of any one to the lofty post of attorney general of the United States, it was surely the group associated with Carnegie.

"The Carnegie corporation was organized in defiance of the Sherman anti-trust law, and it should have been the first duty of the attorney general to proceed against it. What chance was there of the government being properly represented when the attorney general owed his place in part to Carnegie's recommendation? President McKinley is dead and no one who was at the time in his confidence would now tell how much weight was given to the Carnegie recommendation. But it as equally discreditable to the man who recommended Knox and the president who appointed him. Mr. Carnegie professes great public spirit, but by his own statement he was ready to secure the appointment of one of his own attorneys to a place in the government with which his personal interests were closely involved.

"Mr. Bryan has been urging that presidents should be called upon to announce the indorsers of men elevated to the supreme bench of the United States. There has been a certain feeling that his insistence upon this has amounted to a reflection on the personnel of the highest court in the United States and upon the presidents who appointed the sitting members. But this revelation of Carnegie's part in the appointment of an attorney-general makes Mr. Bryan's demand the more pertinent. The attorney-general can be of more service to the violators of the federal law than any single member of the supreme court could be. I do not assert that Mr. Knox was influenced by those who urged his appointment, nor do I charge that the Carnegie recommendation was the real cause of that appointment. But it is reasonable to believe that if Mr. Carnegie's letter had accompanied the nomination of Mr. Knox the senate would never have confirmed him. The incident certainly gives an added reason why the next nomination of a justice of the supreme court should be accompanied by a list of those who desire his appointment."

Strengthens Bryan's Position.

The report is current in Washington that Mr. Bryan was cognizant of the facts that led to the Carnegie admission. Representative McGillicuddy of Maine, who put the question, is a close friend of Mr. Bryan's and is said to have communicated with him by 'phone before propounding it. The result will go far to strengthen the Bryan position in the fight now being made over the appointment to fill the one remaining vacancy on the supreme bench. The controversy over Judge Hook. Who is the president's first choice, was already bitter, but if his nomination should be sent in with this Knox scandal fresh in the mind of the senate, it is altogether probable that there may be a demand from the senate for the papers in the case.

Besides elevating Justice White to the post of chief justice, President Taft has had the appointment to four members of the court—Justices Lurton, Hughes, Van Devanter and Lamar—and has one vacancy still to fill When that is done a clear majority of the court will owe their posts to President Taft—or to the forces that pressed upon him their appointments. What are those forces? That is what Mr. Bryan and many who think with him want to know. The case of Knox, once attorney-general and now secretary of state, has decidedly whetted that desire for knowledge.

CRIMINAL FEATURE LOST?

Sherman Law Affected By Supreme Court, It Is Claimed.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 17.—Whether the recent Standard Oil decision of the United States supreme court did not eliminate the criminal feature from the Sherman anti-trust law arose in the United States district court here while arguments were in progress before Judge A. C. Angell on a motion made in behalf of the Colwell Lead company of New York to quash the indictments in the government's criminal case against the "bath tub trust."

Likelihood of a postponement of the trial, which is set for Jan. 30, appeared when Judge Angell received with evident interest a suggestion from Attorney Henry E. Bodman, for the defense, that if the pending motion to quash were sustained, the government could appeal at once directly to the United States supreme court.

Mr. Bodman referred to the Sherman law under present conditions as a veritable trap in which a man might suddenly find himself after having conducted his business carefully with the advice of lawyers.

GIDEONS WILL HOLD RALLY IN DULUTH.

Word was received at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday from F. E. Reynolds, state secretary of the Gideon society, announcing that the society will hold a rally in Duluth on Feb. 24 and 25. A large meeting will be held on Saturday, Feb. 24, and the next day the Gideons will take part in the services that are held in the various churches throughout the city. One of the reports will tell of the progress that the society has been making in putting Bibles in the guest rooms of hotels of Minnesota. Every hotel in Duluth is at present thus provided with Bibles. An attempt will be made to have the national president and secretary attend this rally. The program for the rally has not yet been fully arranged.

THE ALDRICH BILL.

It seems to The Herald that there are three vital points, in connection with the national reserve association plan for the reform of the currency and banking methods of the country, which every citizen should have his mind clear upon before he decides either for or against the plan.

These points are as follows:

First—Will the plan meet the country's need of a more stable financial system, a more elastic currency, and a chance to participate in the world's markets on equal terms with great nations having financial systems that, in practice, are nearly ideal?

Second—Is it possible for any individual or group of individuals to gain control of the gigantic fund that will be accumulated in the treasury of the proposed reserve association?

Third—Having such control, will it be possible for such individual or group of individuals to use it to their own unjust profit and to the injury of the public?

As to the first point, and to some extent as to the second and third points, the word of financial experts most of whom are directly interested in the success of the plan must be taken. So far no word of criticism on that point has been heard. There seems to be a general agreement, so far as The Herald knows, that the Aldrich plan will accomplish the very real and very much needed results claimed for it.

On the second point, the possibility of control, no complete assurance has yet been given. The one point in that connection that has been worked out satisfactorily is that control by geographical division is impossible. Wall Street banks, the centers of the financial power which many fear, are given much less than a proportionate share of the representation on the board of directors, and the rest of the country has been given more than its proportionate share. The only way control could be secured, therefore, would be through control of enough individual banks throughout the country. We have little doubt that as the bill originally stood, this control was easily feasible. With a stake so great, it would be easily possible for a group of financiers to buy or life up enough stock in individual banks to gain voting control of the association.

The monetary commission has made a proposal intended to meet this question. It is provided that where any bank owns 40 per cent of the stock of any other bank in the association membership, or where 40 per cent of the stock in each of two or more banks is owned, "directly or indirectly, by the same person, persons, copartnership, voluntary association, trustee or corporation," then such banks shall be entitled, not to one vote apiece in the choice of officers, but only to one vote as a group. In other words, where two or more banks are controlled by the same interests, they shall count in the election of officers only as one interest. This is a large concession, and perhaps upon thorough study it will be found to meet the doubt based on this point.

The third point, however, is at least as important as the second. If it can be made clear that no advantage whatever would accrue to those who gained voting control of the association, then nobody will care whether voting control is gained by Mr. Morgan and his associates or not. The friends of the bill point out that the reserve association will deal in commercial paper, and not in stocks and bonds except in grave emergencies such as seldom arise. It ought to be possible to put this point beyond doubt, and if it is cleared up to everybody's satisfaction, so that there is no possibility that the funds of the association can be used for promotion, stock-jobbing and other schemes to exploit the people, then the question of the possibility of control, though not negligible, will be reduced to second importance.

THE COMMISSION PLAN IN OPERATION—25.

Birmingham, Ala., is the largest city in Alabama, and it is also one of the largest cities under the commission plan. It is nearly twice as large as Duluth, thanks to steel manufactures such as Duluth is soon to have. It went under the commission plan last April. In the first month under the new system the city borrowed half a million dollars at the lowest rate in its history. The commission cut the annual running expenses of the city by $75,000 in the first week. The plan has been working along those lines ever since.

Perhaps a plan of city government that would work out so well in Birmingham might help Duluth.

DEMOCRATIC PRESIDENTIAL CHANCES.

Says the New York World: "Mr. Taft had a popular plurality of 1,269,804 in the election of 1908. This plurality will have to be overcome if a Democratic president is elected next fall. It means a change of more than 600,000 votes."

This as a prelude to a warning to the Democratic party that though it has the chance of a lifetime, yet it will have to fight for its victory if it gets one. That's a timely suggestion, too; and it might be added that the Democratic party will have to deserve its victory by putting forth a candidate for president who will command popular support and confidence and respect.

But the case isn't so bad as the World puts it. It is true that if presidential elections went by popular majorities, it would be necessary to change more than 600,000 votes to elect a Democrat.

But presidential elections go by electoral majorities, not by popular majorities; and the fact is that basing the figures on the popular and electoral votes of 1908, it is possible to elect a Democrat by changing only 82,585 votes instead of 600,000; which isn't very much of a task for a man, say, like Woodrow Wilson.

Taft carried Missouri with its eighteen electoral votes by a popular plurality of only 629; and a change of 315 votes would have swung the state away from him.

Taft carried his own state of Ohio by a vote of 572,312 to 502,721 for Bryan; a plurality of only 69,591 out of a total of more than a million votes. A change of only 34,796 of these votes, or about 3 per cent, would have swung the state's twenty-three electoral votes to the Democratic candidate. A change of 5,366 votes would have lost Taft Indiana's fifteen electoral votes. A change of 1,472 votes would have lost Taft Delaware's three electoral votes. A change of 18,004 would have swung the ten Kansas votes the other way. A change of 2,004 would have put Montana's three in the Democratic column. A change of 8,230 would have lost Idaho to Taft. And a change of 12,398 would have given North Dakota to Bryan.

In point of fact, a change of 600,000 votes, properly distributed, would have beaten Taft as badly as Bryan was beaten.

It is true enough, as the World says, that while the Democratic party is in the best position by far that it has occupied for many years, it is not in a position so secure that bad management and a mistaken nomination cannot forfeit it.

But if in congress the party representatives keep their heads as well as they have been doing, and if in the national convention the party representatives choose a candidate for president who squares with the present spirit of the American people, it will be no great trick for that man to change enough votes to win easily.

Nor should the convention, in deliberating upon candidates, be ruled too much by the old saying that "as New York goes, so goes the nation." New York probably will not want the kind of man the rest of the country wants. If it is given its way it might pick a man the rest of the country doesn't want at all. The loss of New York's electoral vote would make it harder for the Democratic candidate, it is true; but it will be far easier to win without New York than it would be with a candidate that only New York wants.

PIFFLING.

Secretary Hitchcock, in his report, asks congress for $50,000 to experiment with a parcels post and $50,000 to experiment with carrying mails by aeroplane. These two requests are nicely balanced, revealing to a cent Mr. Hitchcock's comparative mystification over a parcels post which is in use in all parts of Europe and over an aeroplane mail which is not in use at all.—Life.

The adjective which heads this article—the word is in the new dictionary and if you don't know what it means you may understand when you learn that the dictionary makes it a close relative to "twaddle"—best describes Mr. Hitchcock's request for $50,000 to experiment with carrying mail by aeroplane.

And why ask anything at all to "experiment" with a parcels post? The parcels post is no experiment. Every civilized country in the world but this has it. Not a single other country has been silly enough to turn over to express companies the most profitable branch of the postal service. There is no need of experimenting with it. There is a great need that the country put it in practice.

Yesterday we showed from the report of the fourth assistant postmaster general that the 42,000 rural routes are losing more than $35,000,000 a year because they are carrying an average of twenty-five pounds when they could as well carry a couple of hundred pounds if there were a parcels post. A parcels post would turn that annual loss into a profit, and would quickly make 1-cent postage a reality.

Less flubdub about aeroplane mail-carrying and more earnestness about the parcels post would be agreeable.

NO MONEY IN THE MINISTRY.

There was a piece in the paper last night about an ex-preacher who left the ministry to go into business in Hibbing, and who has made $18,000 in eighteen months.

Said this fortunate individual: "The ministry is all right, but $18,000 in eighteen months is a little better than nothing in twenty years, even if it is in the real estate business. I am still a good churchman, and haven't a word to say against the church; but its ministers are not paid a living wage. I had one of the good charges and I couldn't lay aside a dollar for a rainy day."

Of course the ministry never can be expected to be a money-making enterprise. Generally, though some high salaries are paid, the demands of the position are such that even in the highly-paid charges there is no great margin. And in thousands of small communities where earnest, God-fearing men are laboring in the vineyard of the Lord, the salaries are pitifully small.

This preacher who turned real estate man—we congratulate him on his success, by the way—says that he has no word to say against the church. But when he says—and it is true—that the church does not pay its ministers a living wage, he says about as cruel a thing as can be said about any employer. Ministers deserve more than they get, and the church deserves a better grade of talent than it is paying for—and for that matter it is getting it.

THE COLD, HERE AND ELSEWHERE.

City Engineer McGilvray, returning from the "Sunny South," reports with a reminiscent shiver that he suffered more with the cold in New Orleans than he did in Duluth, though it was 34 degrees below zero when he left here. Which shows that recorded temperatures are not reliable guides. Far south of Duluth there are many places which Duluthians may envy because they have no below-zero weather, where you suffer much more with the cold when it isn't far below the freezing point than you do in Minnesota when the mercury goes fifty degrees lower. The cold in Minnesota is not the least of its beauties. Though it is very real, it is mercifully dry, and that means that it is bracing, invigorating and life-giving.

THE DREADFUL PRIMARY.

Said Lorimer, "jackpot" senator, yesterday: "The direct primary destroys the cohesiveness of the majority party in every state." What he means, of course, is that the direct primary destroys the effectiveness of the party machine which is oiled by the money of special interests and operated by politicians who are politicians for revenue only. Such a machine, for instance, as that which conducts the destinies of the Republican party in Minnesota, which has no statewide primary system.

JUSTICE HARLAN DIED POOR.

The estate of the late Justice Harlan of the United States supreme court inventories $13,000, which is less than a year's salary. Of this amount $7,200 is in life insurance.

If any testimony were needed as to the rigid honesty of this splendid jurist the revelations of the probate court would provide it. Fortunately his life and character and the broad humanity of his decisions rendered such testimony unnecessary.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

FOR "THE PASTOR."

To the Editor of The Herald:

The Pastor's letter of Jan. 12 in the Open Court column was read with interest.

I see your experience is like that of most pastors. You are preachers of the Gospel (?) and you do not know that Gospel means "good news."

This poor wretched girl was hopeless and there is no other name given among men whereby she or anyone else can be saved except the name of Jesus.

You told her to strive. Poor creature! She has been striving already and has found it all useless. "When we were yet without strength Christ died for the ungodly." Why did you not point her to Him?

"By grace are ye saved through faith and that not of yourselves, it is the gift of God." Sincerely,

EARL F. BRADLEY.

THAT PARODY ON MAUD MULLER.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Recently a subscriber asked for Bret Harte's parody on Maud Muler. Here it is:

Mrs. Judge Jenkins.
(Sequel to Maud Muller.)

Maud Muller all that day
Raked the meadow sweet with hay;

Yet looking down the distant lane,
She hoped the Judge would come again.

But when he came with smile and bow,
Maud only blushed, and stammered, "Ha-ow?"

And spoke of her "Pa," and wondered whether He'd give consent they should wed together.

Old Muller burst in tears, and then
Begged that the Judge would lend him "ten;"

For trade was dull, and wages low,
And the "crops this year, were somewhat slow."

And ere the languid summer died,
Sweet Maud became the Judge's bride.

But, on the day that they were mated,
Maud's brother, Bob, was intoxicated;

And Maud's relations, twelve in all,
Were very drunk at the Judge's hall.

And when the summer came again,
The young bride bore him babies twain;

And the Judge was blest, but thought it strange
That bearing children made such a change.

For Maud grew broad, and red, and stout,
And the waist that his arm once clasped about

Was more than he now could span, and he
Sighed as he pondered, ruefully,

How that which in Maud was native grace
In Mrs. Jenkins was out of place;

And thought of the twins, and wished that they Looked less like the men who raked the hay

On Muller's farm, and dreamed with pain
Of the day he wandered down the lane.

And, looking down the weary track,
He half regretted that he came back.

For, had he waited, he might have wed
Some maiden fair and thoroughbred;

For there be women fair as she,
Whose verbs and nouns do more agree.

Alas for maiden! Alas for Judge!
And the sentimental that's one-half "fudge;"

For Maud soon thought the Judge a bore,
With all his learning and all his lore;

And the Judge would have bartered Maud's fair face
For more refinement and social grace.

If, of all words of tongue and pen,
The saddest are, "It might have been,"

More sad are these we daily see:
"It is, but hadn't ought to be."

CHILDREN, THE STREETS AND THE PARENTS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

That is a fine resolution that Alderman Scott proposes to enforce keeping children of fthe streets. He would fine or jail the parents of children who stay out after prescribed hours. What will he gain? Suppose a man is struggling to support his family. His boy or girl is found out after hours. The man must either run in debt or suffer deprivation to pay the fine, or if he can't raise the fine money, must go to jail and lose time and part of his salary, all of which he needs, to the last penny. While he is in jail the boy or girl will be free of his restraining influence. Can't you imagine a case? A boy is out late; his father is jailed; lacking parental restraint, the boy is out again and the father gets another jail sentence before the first is finished; and so on ad infinitum. Maybe the father and mother could take turns on the jail sentences. That would divide the responsibility and make the home happy, of course.

Keep the kids in order on the street, and keep the kids off the street at night as far as possible by reasonable means. But let us by all means avoid such schemes as this of Alderman Scott.

TELLS PASTOR WHAT HIS DUTY WAS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I notice the communication from "A Pastor" in your issue of Jan. 12. I notice further that "A Pastor" invited notice from his ministerial friends. As I am not a minister, but a plain business man, I may be trespassing, but I offer my thoughts, in answer to his question, "what should I have done?" I will go further, and say what I think of what he did do. We, whose places are in the pew, must sit and listen in silence to the words that come from the pulpit, and so, if I speak plainly, I am only doing as "A Pastor" would do, were I in front of him, and he in the pulpit. Before going further, so that what I say may not be misconstrued, let me say, that I like to hear these things told strong and straight from the shoulder, by the man in the pulpit. That is what humanity needs, and I am in full sympathy with it. We are told so many times that we must be as Jesus would have us be, and do as we think He would have us do. I do not believe that if Jesus had been in "A Pastor's" place that night, he would have taken the woman to the stable, and helped make it easy for her to get to a house of ill fame, a short time after she left the stable. "A Pastor" is right when he intimates that his question is hard to answer, and perhaps it is not fair to go into fiction in this discussion, but I remember that the rich young woman in "In His Steps" regardless of consequences, flew to the side of the fallen woman and bowed with her at the altar, and, after she had fallen again, she took her to the aristocratic home on the avenue, and this she did in the name of Jesus, and regardless of consequences to herself. Perhaps "A Pastor" could not have done this, but would it not have been better if he had tried to get her to go with him to some good home where the effect of good influence might have, at least been tried? I am not criticising "A Pastor" for had I been in his place, it would have been my duty, as much as it was the duty of this pastor, to do as Jesus would have me do. A BUSINESS MAN.

CZAR SMITH AND HIS "MAN OF DESTINY."

In the Discard.

Fergus Falls Journal: Theoretically an aspirant for an office should go to the voters, but Attorney General Simpson knowing how things were run at present went to the man who makes and runs governors. If General Simpson is censurable in any way it is being willing to be governor under such conditions. In time the people will tumble to certain conditions which exist in this state. If General Simpson is not willing to lead against such influences the proper place for him is in the discard.

Pick a Democrat.

Litchfield Independent: Shall Ed Smith, Eberhart and the brewery trust have control of the state of Minnesota for another two years after the election next fall?

This is the query propounded by the New London Times. We assure our esteemed contemporary that the triumvirate above mentioned has a dead open and snut grip on the Republican situation in Minnesota, and that the only way to head it off is for the voters to go at it and pick a good Democratic candidate for governor and elect him.

Gracious! All That?

Willow River Farmer: Grand gloomy and peculiar, the Man of Destiny perambulates the Commonwealth, clad in the solitude of his own hallucination.

State Wide Primary Needed.

Northfield News: That Simpson—Ed Smith—"man-of-destiny" incident is leading many Minnesota weeklies to declare that all offices in the gift of the people should be nominated under the primary system. Let's place our hope in the next legislature.

The Man Behind.

Eveleth News: For a time we wondered who Minnesota's governor really was. Now we all know. It's Ed Smith.

Fight Smith and Eberhart.

Luverne Journal: The Progressive cause has the hearty support of the Journal and we yield to no one in our admiration for Senator La Follette, We should like to see him made president. We should like to see a good La Follette man made governor of Minnesota. But we believe the La Follette leaders, so-called, in this state are making a serious mistake in setting up active support of La Follette principles as the standard by which a Republican candidate for governor should be selected. Anti-machine Republicans in Minnesota owe it to their beloved commonwealth to leave La Follette and Taft out of consideration and make common cause against Eberhart and the kind of politics and state government he and his chief adviser, Ed Smith, stand for.

What!

Foley Tribune: When a man of recognized ability and a shrewd judge of human nature becomes an active booster for a nine spot like Eberhart, the question naturally arises, "What does he expect to get out of it?"

The People Be ——!

Wabasha Herald: Governor Eberhart has succeeded in unmasking himself as acting chieftain of his party by removing the remaining Democrats in the capitol clean-up on Jan. 1. Rather than serve as the executive of the people of this state, he chose to play his party's executioner, hewing close to the line all the way with a partisan as afraid to oppose it.

What does Eberhart care about the people? What does the real chieftain, Ed Smith, care about them? What does the whole gang care about the public?

There will be a day of recokoning, and it's not far off. The people have a lot of confidence in public officials, and they should have, for public officials are exposed as targets for every conceivable shaft of criticism, oftentimes being placed in a false light. But truth, even though crushed to earth, will rise invincibly some day, and when the people once see matters in the true light they will have no patience with their deceivers. The name of the late beloved John A. Johnson is often placed alongside that of Eberhart by the "interests" for comparison, with facts twisted for effects, but John A. Johnson's name will be reverently mentioned long after Eberhart's shall have been forgotten.

To Make a Free Government.

Chicago News: Persons who have read the speeches of the various Democratic leaders at the Jackson day banquet in Washington are not surprised to learn from yesterday's dispatch of the correspondent of the Daily News at the national capital that Woodrow Wilson carried off the honors. His speech was a thoughtful expression of rational doctrine. In comparison with the empty poetic flights and the labored denunciation of Roosevelt which made up so large a part of other addresses at that banquet it shines with peculiar brilliancy. That he made a tremendous impression, easily overshadowing all rivals, speaks well for the judgment of his hearers.

The Daily News has frequently commented upon the skill with which public men in dealing with the question of lawless combinations dodge the real point in the whole matter. Gov. Wilson shows himself a notable exception to this rule. In his speech at Washington he drove home the truth about the government's relations with predatory trusts. He said in words which should be spread broadcast by his admirers: "To free the government we must withdraw special favors. By withdrawing special favors we shall break up special alliances between powerful business interests and the government of the states and of the country. We shall not cease to take thought for business prosperity, but we shall cease to look to those who ask for special favors as spokesmen for that prosperity."

Gov. Wilson's terse presentation of the underlying evil of lawless combines could scarcely be improved. He sees the absurdity of systematically building up monopolies through government grants of privilege and then of prodding with federal prosecutions the thick hides of the monsters thus nourished into vast growths and enormous power. Equal opportunities come to all only when special favors are granted to none.

The ridiculous efforts of the Democratic enemies of New Jersey's governor to kill him off politically by harping on his application for a pension from the Carnegie Foundation and on his old letter about Mr. Bryan serve merely to show their disquiet when confronted by the intellectual strength and straightforward dealings of this progressive Democrat.

Explained.

Harper's Weekly: "I am sorry to see you here again," said the judge.

"You're not half as sorry as I am, Judge," said the prisoner.

"Bad company, my man, as I told you before, is sure to bring you back," said the judge.

"Yes, judge," said the prisoner. "But I can't help myself. I tried to avoid this vulgar cop, but he just regularly thrust hisself upon me."

A Tearful Pair.

Puck: "I'm the saddest thing there is—the ghost of a lost love."

"Huh! I'm worse than that! I'm the ghost of a vanished bank account."

THE ALDRICH PLAN.

Champ Clark in Norman E. Mack's National Monthly: There are two theories, diametrically opposed to each other touching the so-called "Aldrich Plan.' One—the one propagated by the opponents of the plan—is to the effect that it will create and is intended to create a money monopoly or trust; the other—propagated by Senator Aldrich and his co-workers—is to the effect that the Aldrich plan is intended to break up a money monopoly or trust already existing and to forever prevent the creation of one. In the latter case the astute Rhode Islander poses, or is posed by the advocates of his plan, as a disinterested and loftyminded patriot whose master passion is to be of service to his country and his countrymen. In the former case he is painted as the enemy of the masses intent upon fastening upon their necks a yoke too heavy to be borne. Certainly the difference expressed in these two divergent theories is wide enough to please even the most fastidious.

It is clear that Senator Aldrich regards this as the most important work he has ever essayed. He considers it the crowning glory of his life, for he voluntarily quit the senate and relinquished the undisputed leadership of that body—no small renouncement of honors—to devote his time, energies and skill to this Herculean task which he has set for himself in the evening of his life; and he is going at its accomplishment with the vim and enthusiasm of youth. He travels up and down the land explaining his plan, asking for suggestions, pleading for its adoption, making himself agreeable, marshalling his forces and predicting victory From all reports, his camp chest is bountifully supplied with the sinews of war. He has a corps of speakers, able, plausible, persuasive, to aid him. Among these are Representative Vreeland of New York and ex-Representative R. W. Bonynge of Colorado. To use a military expression, they have been "shelling the woods" all over the country and beating up for recruits. Many bankers have enlisted under the Aldrich banner because they wanted to do so and expect to get in on the ground floor to their own profit —to be among the ruling elders, so to speak. Others have reluctantly gone in with them to be in high financial society. Still others seem to have given their adhesion to the plan because they are afraid to oppose it.

At any rate, every nerve is strained by its proponents to have the "plan" formuated into law as speedily as possible. In fact, this desire for hasty action is one of the things arousing the suspicion that the "plan" would not prove to be as great and universal a blessing as it is cracked up to be by its friends.

Indeed, so conspicuous a financier as Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, thrice governor of Iowa, and secretary of the treasury under both Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt, argues that it would do the very thing which Senator Aldrich claims it would not do—that is, create a money trust or monopoly in the hands of a few men, practically holding the powers of life and death over business in the land—and that such a monopoy would be so profitable that the beneficiaries, thereof, could well afford to pay the entire national debt to receive a perpetual charter.

Now, as such eminent financial physicians as Drs. Aldrich and Shaw differ so radically as to the merits of this "Plan," as to what it will enable a small coterie of men to do the business of the land, would we not be acting wisely to look before we jump into an undertaking so important and so far-reaching, an undertaking which will influence not only our own happiness and prosperity, but also the happiness and prosperity of our prosterity to the remotest generation? For it should never be forgotten that if a good bill is defeated at one session of congress it may be enacted into law at a later session; but that it is extremely difficult to repeal a bad law—almost impossible to repeal one backed by such powerful interests as will be benefited by the "Plan."

Why then all this haste, this rush, to get it through under whip and spur?

For me, I am utterly opposed to precipitate action and am in favor of full investigation. Subject its proponents to cross-examination and discover the why and wherefore of the scheme, who are to be its beneficiaries, managers and conductors—how the rest of us, big and little, are to fare—in fact all about it. If it is a meritorious measure, if there are no "jokers" concealed in it, its creators and proponents can demonstrate that fact to rational men, and turning on the light will do no harm.

It is safer to go slow; then there will be a small chance of repenting at leisure.

It goes without saying that something ought to be done to add the element of elasticity to our currency system. A man doesn't have to be a financier to understand that; but in order to secure the needed elasticity—we do not have to rush into the adoption of any scheme which is presented for our consideration. On the contrary, every scheme proposed should be thoroughly scrutinized and submitted to the ordeal of the cross-examination of its proposers; for there is an old and universally condemned performance of jumping out of the frying pan into the fire.

If the Aldrich plan is good, careful study will demonstrate it. If it is bad study will prove it. Let us have time to study the "Plan."

The Aldrich plan centralizes the banking system of the country at Washington by the creation of a reserve association of America, embracing in its membership as stockholders all the national banks and dividing the country, regardless of state lines, into sixteen subdivisions or zones, in the most prominent commercial city in which is located a branch of the reserve association.

There are two objections to this—one, that it practically creates a central bank, concerning which there will be a great difference of opinion between the two political parties, and the other that with the concentration of the money power of the country now existing, such central bank would fall under the control of such power and that the pervision of the proper function of banking from that of advancing exchange to that of promotion and speculation would continue.

IN THE DAYS OF THE PIONEER.

Galusha Anderson in "When Neighbors Were Neighbors"—In person the people, take them as a whole, were fairly cleanly, although there was not a bathroom in the whole neighborhood. Here and there to be sure was a portable tin bathtub, that was occasionally used; but most of the people in summer took a bath only once a week in a washtub. Of course, they washed their hands and faces before each meal, but as to full baths they were irregular and too often quite neglected. To secure them in the hot days of summer, we youngsters resored to various expedients. On Saturday nights we often went in groups to the great creek that skirted our neighborhood on the south, or to the millpond, where we dove and splashed and swam, and, after rubbing down, put on clean clothes. So, in various ways, we were fairly washed at the close of the week.

I remember, too, that during showers I sometimes stood under the water spout, through which poured the rainwater from the roof of the wheat barn. This gave me an invigorating shower bath direct from the clouds. An ingenious brother of mine put up a rude shower bath in the horse barn, beneath which we were often refreshed during the sweltering days of July and August. But when winter came, bathing so far as possible was avoided. Who could blame us? We slept in rooms without a particle of heat. We jumped out of bed in a freezing atmosphere in which we saw the foglike vapor of our breath.

So we quickly got into our ice cold clothes, ran to the warm kitchen, hastily cleansed our hands and faces and sallied forth through the creaking snow to do our morning chores. Through all the winter we seldom washed from top to toe. Would those who now bathe in heated rooms and in tepid water have done better than we, had they lived as we did?

The Maid and the Weather.

Lippincott's: A Richmond woman has in her employ a colored cook who has managed to break nearly every variety of article that the household contains. The mistress' patience reached its limit recently when she discovered that the dusky servitor had broken the thermometer that hung on the house porch.

"Well, well," sighed the lady of the house, in a most resigned way, "you've managed to break even the thermometer, haven't you?"

The maid replied in a tone equally resigned, "Yessum; and now we'll have to take de weather jist as it comes, won't we?"

Her Status.

Pittsburg Post: "Oh, that my son should wish to marry an actress!" shrieked the proud, patrician mother.

"Now, ma, don't take on so," urged the undutiful heir. "She isn't really an actress! she only thinks she is."

Romance vs. Fiction.

WOMAN'S REALM.

For social purposes an auxiliary has been formed by the wives of a number of the members of the St. Louis County Medical association. They met yesterday afternoon at the Commercial club for the purpose of organizing, and elected the following officers: President, Mrs. H. S. Hirschfield; first vice president, Mrs. A. E. Walker; second vice president, Mrs. J. A. McCuen; secretary, Mrs. E. L. Tuohy, and treasurer, Mrs. Homer Collins.

The women expect to enjoy the auxiliary meetings, and they are planning social functions for the year which will add to the social life of the city. The annual convention of the Medical association will be held in Duluth next summer, and at that time the auxiliary will be a great help in entertaining the visiting delegates and their wives.

Auxiliaries have been formed in St. Paul and Minneapolis, which have proven satisfactory and entertaining, and the local women expect to be a factor for good in the city. A committee was appointed to draft a constitution consisting of Mrs. C. F. McComb, Mrs. C. E. Lum, Mrs. O. A. Oredson, Mrs. C. L. Haney and Mrs. E. J. Patton.

MISS HOLLENBECK DIES.

Former Duluth Teacher Succumbs to Illness.

News of the death of Miss Ella Eliza Hollenbeck, which occurred last week at her home in Perrysburg, Ohio, comes as a shock to her many friends in Duluth.

She taught in the Duluth public schools for many years, and during that time became widely known in the city. She died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Hollenbeck, and the funeral was held from the family residence on Tuesday afternoon of last week.

After leaving Duluth Miss Hollenbeck taught for three yeary as primary critic in the Teachers' Training school at Bay City, Mich., and had just a few months before her death entered upon her duties at primary supervisor in the Missouri state normal school at Warrensburg, Mo. She passed away after a brief illness at her home.

Annual Business Meeting, Election and Reports.

The annual business meeting of the Young Woman's Christian association will be held this evening at the association building at 8 o'clock. All members are urged to be present. Vacancies on the board of directors will be filled and the annual reports from the various departments will be given.

Miss Ella L. Roe will have charge of the devotional services of the program which will be interspersed with selections by the Matinee Musicale.

Miss Nettie E. Trimble, who is at the local association for six months doing general work for the association, and Miss Mae Anders, the new extension secretary will give short addresses.

BURNS' BANQUET.

Entertainers Named for Annual Affair.

Rev. Donald McKenzie of Mankato will give the toast of the evening on Jan. 25 at the annual banquet which Clan Stewart, No. 50, O. S. C., will give at the Spalding hotel. "Robert Burns" will be his subject and Chief Alexander Macrae will preside. Those who will take part on the program of Scotch music are: Philip Gordon Brown, Donald Alexander, John Mathewson, Miss Ruth Brown, Miss Jane Bartholomew and Miss Lillian Macaskill. Miss Agnes Johnson will read from Burns and four clansmen will give a gaelic costume dance. After the banquet the guests will dance.

The anniversary of the Scotch bard's birthday is always celebrated by the Scots of Duluth in this manner and the event is one of the most pleasantly anticipated social events of the winter.

Hauptmann and "Magda."

The morning class in modern drama of the Twentieth Century club will meet tomorrow morning at the library clubroom at 10 o'clock. Miss Frances Earhart will give a twenty-minute talk on Hauptmann and Mrs. Robert Bruce Liggett will give an interpretation of the character of Sudermann's "Magda."

Dinner at Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Gibbs of the Holland hotel entertained at dinner last evening at the hotel. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walter, Miss Irene Ward, Miss May Harcourt and John Rondeau.

Games and Music.

Miss Elsie Ward was the guest of honor at a birthday surprise party last evening at her home, 1724 West Third street. The evening was made pleasant with games and music and a dainty lunch was served. Among those present were:

Misses—
Amanda Carlson, Lillian Garland,
Ruth Jorgenson, Hulda Lindgren,
Linda Warde, Violet Ward.

Messrs—
Adolf Carlson, Arthur Carlson.
Raymond Erickson, Elton Erickson.

Good Club Program.

A delightful program of reading and music pleased the members of the Bishop's club at their regular meeting last evening in the cathedral hall. Miss Mary Shesgreen was responsible for the arrangement of the program and her efforts brought forth good results.

Maeterlinck, the Belgian philosopher-poet, was the subject for the evening. Miss Louise Lyons gave a character sketch of the man and some of his achievements, followed by Mrs. K. A. Ostergren, who gave an intensely interesting talk on "Pelleas and Mesilande," illustrating parts of the opera.

Miss Shesgreen then rounded out the subject by reviewing the "Bluebird."

Miss Nellie Sullivan read "Daughter of Jairus" and the Bible reading, and Miss Jane Crowley summed up current events in a brief talk.

Mrs. E. E. Fuller also added one of the most pleasing numbers of the evening in her singing of "Oh, Dry Those Tears' and her encore, "Where the River Shannon Flows."

LIFE HISTORY IS TANGLE OF DIVORCES

MRS. E. K. STALLO.

Mrs. Edmund K. Stallo has applied for a divorce at Cleveland. She says her husband, who was a son of the former minister to Italy, dissipated her fortune and has contributed nothing to her support, and has reduced largely the fortune left by his first wife's father, Alexander McDonald, to his two daughters, Helen and Laura. Mrs Stallo's life history is a tangle of divorces. She was married to Dan R. Hanna of Cleveland, a son of the late Mark Hanna. She got a divorce from him on the ground of cruelty. This is also one of the charges she brings against her husband. Hanna soon after the divorce married Elizabeth Gordon, who had previously divorced Maj. Maud. Later the second Mrs. Hanna got a divorce and Hanna married Mrs. Marie Stewart, the divorced wife of a New York hotel clerk. The second Mrs. Hanna then married Franklin D. Felton.

EXTRA TALK.

Miss Cora Meld Patton Will Speak Thursday Also.

Miss Cora Mel Patton, who comes to Duluth to give a reading of "Don" at the high school Friday evening under the auspices of the Duluth Teachers' association, will give a talk on "Present Day Dramatization as Given By the Children" tomorrow afternoon at the high school assembly hall before the teachers and women of the city. Anyone interested is invited.

Miss Patton will speak in Superior tomorrow evening and Friday afternoon, returning for her Friday evening reading.

The teachers have been arranging this affair. Miss Patton is known as an excellent reader and the evening is expected to prove a treat.

Miss Patton will arrive tomorrow morning.

Informal Tea.

Mrs. L. C. Harris of 1203 East First street entertained at a small informal tea yesterday afternoon at her home.

For Mme. Alda.

Mrs. Stephen H. Jones entertained Mme. Frances Alda at a small luncheon party yesterday at the Spalding hotel.

Luncheon-Hostess.

Mrs. J. B. Adams will be hostess at a luncheon at her home Friday noon.

Tea for Mrs. Adams.

Mrs. George Rupley of the St. Elmo apartments was hostess at an afternoon tea this afternoon at her home. Mrs. Cuyler Adams was the guest of honor at the affair.

Third Dance in Series.

About eighty couples enjoyed the dancing party given last evening at the old Masonic temple by the employes of the George A. Gray company. The hall was pretty with decorations of red and while, and Di Marco's orchestra played a pleasing program for the dancers. This was the third of the series of parties which they are giving this year and the committee in charge consisted of Misses Florence Holloway, Olive Nell, Anne McRae, Florence Nutting and Stella Sponnick.

Love-Strickland.

At a quiet home wedding last evening, Miss Edith E. Love, daughter of Mrs. M. J. Love, became the bride of Walter E. Strickland of Minneapolis. Rev. M. S. Rice of the First M. E. church read the service at 8 o'clock. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ettie Love, and J. C. Herbert of Minneapolis was best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland left for a short wedding trip and will reside in Minneapolis.

COMPOSER HERE TO SEE OPERA PRODUCED

MR. AND MRS. WOLF-FERRARI AND GATTI-CASAZZA.

THE EVENING STORY

HER REWARD

By Hilda M. Shae.

Annie Raynor sat, dry-eyed and watchful, beside the cot whereon her little child lay sick unto death.

"I'm sorry, Mrs. Raynor, but it would be mistaken kindness to hold out to you any hope of the little one's recovery," the busy little doctor has said to her, only that morning 'ere he hurried off on his long round of professional calls. "There is absolutely nothing else we can do."

In spite of his brusque manner, the stricken mother caught the sympathetic tone in his voice, and, knowing the great tenderness of the little man, she realized that all that lay in his power to do for her dying child had been done. Still, with her mother heart yearning over her child, she had faltered out, as one hoping against hope.

"Is there absolutely nothing else we can do? An operation? Couldn't one be performed? Couldn't you operate, and save him, doctor?"

At the pleading in her voice the doctor had felt the tears rise to his eyes, but he put up his hand quickly and brushed them away. "I'm afraid not in this case," he answered slowly. "I dare not perform such an operation as is required. The brain is such a delicate organ, and I only know of one man who has ever performed the operation necessary in this case successfully."

"And wouldn't he come?" There was a wail of anguish in the mother's voice as she put the question, and hearing it, the doctor put out his hand and touched hers with a sympathetic touch.

"It wouldn't be possible to get him here, even if we could scrape together the money," he said sadly. "He lives at the other end of the country, and it would be impossible for him to arrive before it was too late." The poor mother burst into tears, and for a moment or two not a sound was to be heard in the sick room but the deep, heart-rending sobs of a mother who was called upon to give up her only child. Presently, something, maybe the thought that her sobs might disturb her little one, caused her to control herself. As her sobs grew quieter, the doctor, whose duty called him to leave the stricken mother, said gently:

"I must go now, Annie. Keep a brave heart, my girl. After all you can trust your child to the keeping of God who gave him. May he comfort you."

So saying he turned to go; but there was a choking sensation at his throat all through the day whenever his thoughts turned to the picture he had left behind of the stricken mother bending with a world of tenderness over her suffering child. For hour after hour following the doctor's visit Annie Raynor sat motionless by the bedside of the child, who lay, all unconscious of her watchfulness, in the stupor which he had told her could only end in death.

At last, however, she rose and walked towards the window. From there she could distinctly see, gleaming in the fierce heat of the sun, the railway line which led to the nearest town. She glanced at the clock that was ticking upon the mantelpiece. It was 4 o'clock. The down train was due in a few minutes. How she wished Jim would come by it. But it was impossible, she knew. Two days before he had been called away on business and only a few hours after he had left his wife and little one; the boy had met with an accident which had laid him upon this bed of sickness.

How she longed for the strong support of her husband during this trial, though, even while she cried out for his return, she dreaded the trouble she would see in his dear eyes when she met him with the sad news that their little boy was doomed—nay, in all probability the news she would have to communicate to him would be that the child was dead for Dr. Watson had said he could only last a few short hours, and it was most unlikely that Jim could return until the morrow, for his whereabouts were so uncertain that she had no address where she could communicate with him.

Half unconscious she stood for a moment or two at the window, looking along the railway track. Suddenly she gave a start. What was that bright light she saw some hundred yards or so away? It flared out, then disappeared, only to flash out again brighter than before. She gazed curiously in the direction of the flare. Then, all suddenly, she realized what had happened, and opening the window softly she leaned out to see if her surmise was correct. Yes, it was as she supposed. The railway bridge had ignited—probably through the great heat. Anyhow, whatever the cause, the flames were leaping about it, and her anxious eyes saw that they were spreading rapidly, and that should the fire go on increasing there was great danger that the charred bridge would not bear the weight of the express that was so nearly due, and it would be hurled down into the river below.

She thought of the many precious lives that would in all probability be lost, and the thought came to her that she must, in some way, signal to them to stop the train. Hers was the last house in the district, and from there until the outlying houses of the town not another habitation was to be seen. Clearly it was her duty to warn the oncoming train.

She looked again at the clock. Already, if it were running on time, the train would be thundering through the station of the little village. She glanced at the child on the bed. Could she leave him for even a few minutes of the precious hours he would be with her? At first she decided that she could not. He might awaken and need her. Assuredly a mother's place was by the side of her dying child.

Then the doctor's words came back to her. "No, Annie, there is nothing you can do for him. Sit by him by all means, if it will be of any comfort to you, but I cannot give you the slightest hope that he will even move again. As far as I can tell, he will just lie there like a log until the end comes." So she had the doctor's assurance that her child would never need her again. She could be spared to warn the express of its danger. But could she tear herself away from her child?

"No; it is too hard. I cannot leave you, dearie," she murmured, as she bent down and kissed the child's hot forehead. He was breathing heavily, but at the touch of the other's lips he made no sign, and, with a sigh, she turned to the window once more. The flames were leaping higher and higher. She could see them now without leaning out of the window. Then the thought came to her—how could she hope to meet the pure soul of her little child again with murder upon her soul. "No," she told herself vehemently, "it would be murder to leave that express train full of human lives to its fate." Then she made up her mind. With a despairing glance at her sick child, a glance full of yearning at the thought that perhaps when she returned the little boy would have drawn his last breath, she tore out of the room, down the steps, and out of the little garden.

A moment later Annie Raynor was running with all her might across the field that divided their little garden from the railway track. Would she be in time? Already in the distance she heard the rumble of the train and unless the driver was warned soon, it was impossible that he could draw up in time. Should the train reach the bend in the track before she did it would be impossible for them to be saved, for at the speed the express would be traveling it would be impossible for it to draw up in time.

Like the wind she rushed along. With a cry of relief she reached the wall which divided the field from the track. Nearer and nearer came the rumble of the train. Hastily she climbed the wall, but in her haste she caught her foot in her skirt and fell. Breathless, she struggled to her feet again. Fortunately, she had fallen on the right side of the wall, and, though shaken, was unhurt. Almost without a pause she tore along.

She had reached the bend at last. Standing in the middle of the track she snatched off her gaily colored petticoat and waved it frantically. Nearer and nearer came the iron monster. Would she be seen? She began to fear that she would not, but that, instead, she would be crushed to death beneath it. What did it matter, for her child was dying, and she would be glad to go, too. But there was Jim. For his sake she must live and win through. What would his feelings be if on his return he found his wife, as well as his child, lying still in death?

With this thought to spur her on, she gave a frantic shout and waved her skirt with all the little strength that remained to her. Then, to her relief she saw the train slow up. A moment later the train came to a standstill, and the driver sprang from the train.

"What is it?" he asked.

"The bridge is on fire," she gasped, then fell forward in a dead faint. When she recovered consciousness she was lying by the side of the track, and a grave, elderly gentleman was bending over her.

"You are better?" he asked gently.

"Yes, I think so," she answered dazedly. Then, as recollection came to her, she asked: "Are you safe?"

"Yes, thanks to you," she was answered. "It is through your bravery that many homes today are saved from mourning." She gave a smile of satisfaction; but a moment later a spasm of pain crossed her face at the remembrance of the mourning that would be in her own home when the morrow came. At the remembrance she sprang up. "I must go to my baby," she gasped; "he's dying."

"Dying? What is the matter with him," asked the same grave-faced gentleman who had been tending her. "Are you sure he cannot be saved?"

"Yes," she answered simply. "Dr. Watson says that there is only one man who could save him, and he is too far away, even if we could afford the expense he says it would be impossible to get him here in time."

"And who may he be?"

"Dr. Marshmellon, the great brain specialist."

"Come along," he said, joyously. "Then we will save him yet."

She looked up at him in a dazed sort of way. "I—I don't understand," she stammered.

"Don't you?" he said gently. "Why, it is so simple. I happen to be that doctor, and, if it be humanly possible, I promise that your child's life shall be given back to you in return for the many lives you have saved today." So it happened that when Jim Raynor returned the following day it was to find his wife, pale but happy, sitting by the bedside of their sleeping child, who, through the agency of the great physician, had been restored to them as by one of God's miracles.

Does Every Woman Long to Be Beautiful?

("Esther" in Household Helps.)

"If you want light, fluffy and lustrous hair, don't shampoo with soap and water, which leave the hair dull and brittle. To make a dry shampoo, put a cupful of corn meal in a fruit jar, add the contents of a small original package of therox, and shake well. Sprinkle a little on the head and brush out thoroughly. This makes your hair clean, soft and silky and heightens its color.

"If you want a fine complexion, with soft and lovely skin, use a simple home-made preparation made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in a half-pint of witch hazel. Apply to face, neck and arms in the morning, rubbing gently.

"To reduce swelling, allay inflammation, to stop ache in back or joints, to relieve pain from sprain, bruise or any cause, apply Mother's Salve before retiring, rubbing in well. It is a most wonderful healer."

VOLLEY BALL AND MUSIC

Older Men Defeat Younger Opponents at Y. M. C. A. "Pop."

A capacity house greeted the performers at the regular Tuesday night "pop" program at the Y. M. C. A. last evening. An unusually meritorious program of music was arranged.

The program opened with an orchestra number by the students of the Flaaten conservatory. The violin selection by Leslie Moore was enthusiastically applauded. The piano quartet by Miss Ethel Molitor, Tess Booth, Lecarda Ellason and Lucille Albachten proved also to be a well executed selection. They were forced to respond with an encore. The violin duet by Miss Ellenor Kraft and Miss Georgia Evans showed remarkable skill and training on the part of these young women. They play remarkably well together. Miss Ethel Molitor presided at the piano for the instrumental selections.

Miss Thelma Larson, who was to have appeared for several vocal solos, was unable to be present on account of a severe cold. Miss Dryer sang in her place.

The musical program closed by a string number consisting of five violins, a cello and base violin.

A cello solo was played by Harold White, following which he played an encore number.

The volley ball game proved to be an exciting and interesting contest. The team from the 40-year-old Business Men's class won the contest against the Young Men's class. Many of the older men showed remarkable agility and many of the exciting incidents were a source of entertainment to the spectators. C. F. Coleman showed remarkable speed and agility in covering his territory while the coaching by W. C. Winton served not only to enthuse his team, but was a source of amusement to the crowd.

The score was 21-7 and 21-15 by the 40-year-old class and the Young Men's class won 17-21. The lineup was as follows:

Young Men's Class—Dr. Schultz, H. N. Westaway, B. F. Higgins, E. Hunner, S. Morterud, T. Gall, R. G. Mace, F. A. Hathaway, E. D. Ranck

Forty-year-old class—F C. Hoxie, W. N. Hart, W. O. Pealer, H. W. Coffin, Dr. F. A. Grawn, C. F. Coleman, A. Jacques, G H. Ebert, W. C. Winton.

QUARTET PLEAD GUILTY.

Four Men Acknowledge Causing Death at East Grand Forks.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—M. H. Peterkin and Frank Hawkes pleaded guilty yesterday to manslaughter in the first degree in causing the death of Ole Kjormoe at East Grand Forks the morning after the late election there. This makes four who have acknowledged their guilt. Joe Carroll having confessed during the holidays, while Fred Dale pleaded guilty Monday. The sudden cessation of the murder trials has saved the county quite a sum.

H. H. HOYT IS SUMMONED

Well Known Duluth Attorney Passes Away in California.

Waged Historic Legal Fight for Settlers Against Northern Pacific.

Death yesterday summoned Herbert H. Hoyt, 72 years of age and a prominent resident of Duluth, at San Diego, Cal., where he has been the last year, except for a visit here last summer. He had been suffering from a general breakdown and failing health for the last two years.

Mr. Hoyt won much fame as the attorney for the settlers who have been fighting the Northern Pacific land cases. Until ill health forced him to discontinue most of his practice, he continued to put up a fight for them which called forth the admiration of the Northwest. He carried many of these cases to the United States supreme court and some of them are still pending. It is stated that but for his efforts many settlers who today have comfortable homes, would be without their property.

Mrs. Hoyt accompanied her husband to Southern California last fall. The end had been expected for some time past, and his daughter, Mrs. Jessie Lammers of Spokane, Wash., was also at his bedside at the time of his death.

Mr. Hoyt was born in New York state and when a child moved with his parents to Northern Wisconsin. After graduating from a law school he took up his practice in that part of the country and early in life he became prominent as a most capable attorney. He entered politics in Saginaw, Mich., and served as mayor of that city for four years.

Mr. Hoyt came to this city with his family in 1893 and continued his law practice with much success. Until compelled to leave for a warmer climate because of his health, he resided continuously in Duluth. For the last five years, until leaving for California, he made his home at 2306 Minnesota avenue, Park Point.

Mr. Hoyt had a reputation for dry humor and wit. He loved a joke as few men do, and his Duluth friends tell scores of anecdotes of harmless practical jokes which he was accustomed to play.

MERCURY WILL TAKE A DROP

Colder weather may be looked for in Duluth this afternoon and tonight, says the weather man. It is not a cold wave that is coming, but just a dropping of the mercury. The temperature may fall from 6 to 10 deg. below zero by tomorrow morning.

The change has already reached the Dakotas and other parts of the Northwest and a gradual change will be felt here some time this afternoon. Yesterday was the warmest day of the new year. Six above was the lowest the mercury got and 8 above was the highest. The mercury was 3 above at 7 o'clock this morning and went up to 9 by 10 o'clock.

FARLEY IS WELCOMED

the bay to dock at Hoboken some time after 10 o'clock this morning.

Glad to Get Home.

Clad in the robes of a prince of the church, Cardinal Farley gave an informal reception aboard the Berlin to fifty newspaper men.

"Am I glad to get home?" he echoed in answer to a question. "Indeed, I am glad.

"I found the pope in splendid health.

Today's ceremonies marked only the beginning of receptions, ecclesiastical, public and private, at which Cardinal Farley will be the chief figure during the next few days. Tonight the cathedral itself will become a structure of fire, having been strung from spire to sidewalk with 40,000 electric bulbs.

O'Connell Starting Home.

Naples, Jan. 17.—Cardinal O'Connell and his suite have received many telegrams and messages of farewell, including one from Cardinal Merry del Val, wishing him a pleasant journey and also expressing the farewell greetings of the pope. Cardinal O'Connell and his suite will sail this evening on board the White Star liner Canopic, which is due to arrive in Boston Monday Jan. 29.

Harmon Gives Views.

"Sticking up like a sore thumb are the tariff and the curtailment of government expenditures, which should be the great issues in the coming national campaign," said Governor Harmon in an interview this morning. He outlined his views on national subjects, taking up the tariff, governmental expense and the trust question in order. He declared his belief in a tariff for revenue only and held that protection obtained by the tariff tax needed for revenue on imported goods is all the protection American manufacturers should expect.

"A tariff is a tax to obtain revenue for the government and it should be nothing else," he said. "A tariff for protection gives special favors to the few at the expense of the many. I believe the tariff schedules can be materially lowered and still obtain sufficient revenue for the government."

Governor Harmon replied to the oft-repeated charge that he failed as attorney general to enforce the Sherman anti-trust law. "The first cases ever won by the government under the Sherman law were instituted by me as attorney general," he said. "I personally argued the trans-Mississippi case and instituted the Joint Traffic association and the Addyston pipe cases. The decisions were favorable to the government, but succeeding administrations did not continue the work and the trusts were allowed to grow and multiply."

Governor Harmon is accompanied by Ben Chamberlain, one of the aides on his staff. Mr. Chamberlain believes the outlook is favorable to Governor Harmon's nomination for the presidency.

Burke to Preside.

Governor John Burke, who will preside at the banquet tomorrow night, arrived last evening. National Committeeman William Collins of Bottineau also arrived last night, and the other candidates for national committeeman, B. E. Whitehead of Williston and G. A. Wilson of Bathgate, were early on hand. Candidates for national committeeman are to be voted upon at the preferential primaries in March, so the candidates for that office, besides attending the conference as interested delegates, are not neglecting their personal fortunes.

The meeting of the state central committee tomorrow afternoon will be perfunctory. The preferential primary disposes of most of the functions of that body, and the meeting will probably give itself over to a discussion of plans. William J. Bryan has not yet arrived and may not come. He promised to be here but his attendance is now considered improbable as he is understood to be in the East.

Wilson Sentiment Strong.

Wilson sentiment among the state leaders here appears to be strong and his friends are speculating on what effect the visit of Governor Harmon will have.

Charles C. Heffner of Seattle, Governor Wilson's Western campaign manager, arrived today and the Wilson men will endeavor to advance the fortunes of their candidate.

Progressive Republicans of North Dakota held a meeting here yesterday and indorsed Senator La Follette for president, James A. Buchanan for governor and Thomas F. Marshall for national committeeman. Theodore Roosevelt was hailed as a firm friend of the people. The following officers of the North Dakota Progressive Republican league were elected: R. M. Pollock, Fargo, president; Everett J. Conrad, Mandan, first vice president; P. Thorson, Grand Forks, second vice president; Sidney Adams, Fargo, secretary; H. N. Johnson, Lankin, treasurer.

Pierpont Morgan through George W. Perkins.

Will Show Rebating.

"We propose to show," said Mr. Lowe, "that the United States Steel corporation gives rebates to the International Harvester company and that the Belt Line railroad in Chicago obstructs freight traffic of independent companies."

He also charged that the "trust" sold goods at home at a profit of 100 per cent and sold abroad at almost cost, demanding cash from American farmers and giving long term contracts to foreign trade.

"We charge that the International Harvester company, through the National City bank," Mr. Lowe, continued, "can break any independent concern in the United States."

Mr. Lowe charged that "51 per cent of the stockholders in the Steel, Beef and 'Bankers' trusts also control the International Harvester company."

"Chloroformed Prosecutions."

He declared that the department of justice had chloroformed every movement to prosecute the harvester trust, shown by the fact that the Townsend report to the department in 1906 has slumbered there ever since.

Mr. Lowe said last autumn he asked Col. Theodore Roosevelt's advice as to what he should do to urge prosecution of the Harvester company, and Mr. Roosevelt had said:

"You'd better come to see me later about that."

"Later," said Mr. Lowe, "I was astounded to learn Mr. Roosevelt had placed a clean bill of health on the United States Steel corporation. I also received a letter from Col. Roosevelt stating that he could give me no advice on the Harvester company and asking me to 'drop in any Friday' morning and I'll explain why.'"

GEN. GRANT TURNS ON ARMY CANTEEN

Has Changed His Mind on Question — Women Want It Restored.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Gen. Frederick Dent Grant, who many times in official reports has recommended the restoration of the army canteen, now is opposed to it. This information came today in a letter he wrote to a temperance paper of Evanston, Ill. Gen. Grant says the personnel of the army has changed greatly in the last ten years and soldiers have adjusted themselves to the new conditions.

Women Favor Restoration.

New York, Jan. 17.—Mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of men in the United States army all want the canteen restored, according to Mrs. James B. Burbank, wife of Brig. Gen. Burbank, U. S. A., retired, who spoke at a largely attended meeting of women under the auspices of the National League for the Civic Education of Women. She declared that women who knew conditions in the army without the canteen demanded its return, in the name of morality and temperance.

A petition to be sent to congress, already signed by 2,400 women of the army, was circulated and a large number of signatures obtained.

Pueblo, Colo., Jan. 17. — Robert Bruce Mantell, the actor, was married in the county court here yesterday to Miss Genevieve Hamper of Detroit, a member of his company.

Quick Action Prescription Cures Colds in a Day

The best and quickest prescription known to medical science for colds and coughs is as follows: "From your druggist get two ounces of Glycerine and half an ounce of Concentrated Pine compound. Take these two ingredients home and put them into a half pint of good whisky. Shake it well. Take one or two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bed time. Smaller doses to children according to age." Be sure to get only the genuine (Globe) Concentrated Pine. Each half ounce bottle comes in a tin screw-top sealed case. Any druggist has it on hand or will quickly get it from his wholesale house. There are many cheaper preparations of large quantity but it don't pay to experiment. This treatment is certain cure. This has been published here for six winters and thousands say it has no equal.

GET HARMON ON PROGRAM

Tri-State Grain Growers Hear the Governor of Ohio.

Silos, Calves and Other Subjects Discussed at Fargo.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio, who is here to attend the Democratic rally, was secured as an additional speaker on the Tri-State Grain Growers' program today. He spoke late this afternoon, his subject being "Taxation." The principal session of the four days of the grain growers' meeting will be this evening, when President J. H. Worst will deliver his annual address and President Howard Elliott of the Northern Pacific will speak on "The Relation Between Railroads and Farmers."

Hear About Silos.

The value of silos in North Dakota was discussed today by Fred W. Merrill, representative of the federal government in North Dakota.

Mr. Merrill showed the needs of silos because of the long winter season and the summer drouths.

"The more plants the more animals, the more animals the more manure, the more manure the more animals.' This was the farmers' slogan in North Dakota," said Mr. Merrill. "The corn crop is taking a prominent place among the farmers' productions," he continued. "The silo is a cheap, suitable building for housing the corn crop."

W. H. Tomhave of the extension division of the Minnesota college of agriculture talked on "Co-operative Creameries and Co-operative Shipping Associations." He condemned the present commission system of buying, saying that it was wrong in principle and did not permit of handling stock as economically as if it were all shipped by one person.

Capt. W. S. A. Smith of Sioux City, Iowa,, talked on "The Production of Feeders." As between fattening scrubs or "common stock" and well-bred beef types, the captain favors the well-bred stock, although he said much depends on the class of stock and that it could not be denied there is just as much money made in feeding common cattle, if they are bought as common cattle, as there is in feeding well-bred cattle.

Yearling as Baby Beef.

"The yearling as baby beef is coming more and more into favor," said Mr. Smith, and the feeders of 'baby beef' are finding a harder proposition from year to year to find calves suitable, for a calf must be well-bred, good type and carrying baby fat to answer the purposes. When I run against such calves it's pretty hard to leave them and only a pretty long price turns me down."

Other papers of the afternoon were: "Livestock as an Asset on a North Dakota Farm," by A. Devine of Mapleton, N. D.; an address by H. H. Gross of the National Soil Fertility league; "Horse Raising as a Source of Profit on the Farm," by Thomas F. Mooney of Fergus, N. D.

TWO ARRESTS IN BUEHLER CASE

Men Named By Girl in New York Taken in Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Two young men were arrested here today at the request of the New York police as a sequel to a statement by Violet Buehler, the 15-year-old heiress, who fled from her home in Chicago to New York and for whom search was made for weeks before she was found.

The men are Charles McGlynn, 24 years old, a printer, who boarded at the Myers hotel, owned by Mrs. Buehler, Violet's foster-mother, and Roy Allen, 26 years old, an electrician, who formerly was a guest at the hotel.

Both men denied the charges against them. McGlynn was questioned by the police at the time of the girl's disappearance last November, and today admitted that the girl had been in his room and that he had kissed her.

WOODROW WILSON STARTS FOR WEST

Will Talk at Detroit, Ann Arbor and Grand Rapids, Mich.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 17.—Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey left his home at Princeton today for New York, from which city he will start late this afternoon for Detroit. The governor will make a public address there tomorrow night and will deliver speeches in Ann Arbor and Grand Rapids on Friday.

The governor does not expect to get back to New Jersey until Monday. Meantime President John D. Prince of the state senate will be the acting governor.

FIERCE STORM IN BRITISH ISLES

Number of Small Fishing Vessels Wrecked—Few Lives Lost.

London, Jan. 17.—The British Isles are in the grip of a fierce storm which is creating havoc along the coasts as well as in the interior. A number of small vessels and fishing craft are reported to have gone ashore, but thus far fatalities have been few.

The British steamer Ashgrove of Glasgow was driven on the seawall during a gale at Methil, on the Firth of Forth, and four of her crew were swept away before the rescuers could assist them.

A driving snow is raging in the northern districts, blocking the railroad through the mountains and making the roads impassable.

A large three masted steamer foundered with all hands in the vicinity of Peter Head during the storm. The vessel has not been identified. The gale is so fierce that the lifeboats have not been able to go out.

Requisition Papers on Tennessee Governor Are Prepared.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 17.—Requisition papers for the extradition of Rev. Dr. W. D. McFarland, former head of the academic department of the Pittsburg high school, who was indicted yesterday in connection with the death of his secretary, Elsie Dodds Coe, were prepared in the office of District Attorney Blakeley today. They will be forwarded to Tennessee, where McFarland was arrested last night at Cedar Creek.

McFarland is reported to have told the Tennessee authorities he would return to Pittsburg without a requisition, but the authorities here will take no chances.

CASCARETS CURE A BILIOUS HEADACHE

Gently but thoroughly cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels and you feel great by morning.

You're bilious, you have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes; your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember, that every disorder of the stomach, liver and intestines can be quickly cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you and the entire family feeling good for months. Children love to take Cascarets, because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

BIG DIAMOND FRAUD CHARGED

Widows Are Main Victims of the Scheme, It Is Said.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Information was given to Postoffice Inspector Stuart today of the arrest in Philadelphia of John Tiffany, who, the postoffice authorities assert, is implicated in an alleged diamond swindle which netted thousands of dollars, the principal victims being recently bereaved widows.

The scheme practiced, it is declared, was to send a letter to a widow advising her that her husband had contracted for a valuable diamond as a gift on which there was still a substantial sum due and requesting payment.

GOOD ROADS MEN AT EMPORIA, KAN.

Winnipeg-to-Gulf Highway One Theme Before Meetings.

Emporia, Kan., Jan. 17.—Three organizations of good roads enthusiasts joined here today in what is expected to prove one of the largest meetins in the interests of American highways ever held in the Middle West. The ultimate aims of the delegates include improvement of national roads crossing the United States from coast to coast and from Winnipeg, Man., to the Gulf of Mexico. Nearly 2,500 delegates were scheduled to have part in the deliberations, under the directions of the Kansas State Good Roads association.

In conjunction with the state meeting a convention of committeemen and vice presidents of the new Santa Fe Trail association, which aims to incorporate the historic trade route in a coast to coast highway, and a conference of the Gulf to Winnipeg road promoters formed the program.

ROOSEVELT AND HADLEY, HE SAYS

Credit Men's Director Suggests Ticket to Cure Depression.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 17.—Before the Western Retail Implement Dealers' association in convention here, H. G. Moore, a director of the National Association of Credit Men, talked of business conditions today. He advocated the election of Roosevelt and Hadley for president and vice president of the United States as the cure for all existing business depression.

RABBI AND HIS PUPIL ARE KILLED BY GAS.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 17.—Rabbi Benjamin Numan, aged 31 years, and Mark Shuman, aged 9 years, were found dead in the Jewish synagogue at Steelton from asphyxiation. The rabbi conducted a private school and young Shuman was his pupil. It is supposed they found the building filled with gas, and the rabbi, thinking it was coming from a gas stove, tried to reach the stove to shut it off, but was overcome by the fumes.

Spirits for Rheumatism

The use of spirits in the treatment of rheumatism has proved an innovation among the medical profession. When mixed with certain other ingredients and taken properly it is said to be an almost infallible cure for rheumatism and back-ache. Here is the formula: "From your druggist get one ounce of Toris compound (in original sealed package) and one ounce of syrup of Sarsapatilla compound. Take these two ingredients home and put them into a half pint of good whiskey. Shake the bottle and take a tablespoonful before each meal and at bed-time." Results come immediately. If your druggist does not have Toris compound in stock he will get it in a few hours from his wholesale house. Don't be influenced to take some patent medicine instead of this. Insist on having the genuine Toris compound in the original one ounce sealed yellow package.

The Quick-Acting Cold Remedy

To make a hard cold vanish more quickly than you ever thought it could, try a box of Pinex Cold Tablets. Two doses give wonderful relief, and the trouble is usually conquered inside of twenty hours. Unequaled for la grippe—no other remedy will stop the aches and pains so rapidly.

These tablets do not contain a particle of opiates or coal tar heart depressants, and are entirely simple, harmless and agreeable. They check the nasal discharge, reduce the fever, restore normal activity in the pores, and are very pleasantly laxative and tonic. Cost no more than quinine capsules and are immensely superior.

Don't accept a substitute—one trial of this quick-acting remedy will show you that there is nothing else "just as good" as Pinex Cold Tablets. Money refunded if disappointed. 25c per box. If necessary, send to The Pinex Co., Fort Wayne, Ind., (makers of "Pinex" Cough Remedy).

OPPOSES COLD STORAGE BILL

Hayes Talks Before National Association of Meat Packers.

Washington, Jan. 17.—The meat packers of the country would be driven out of business and there would be general business demoralization all over the country if the Heyburn cold storage bill, now pending in congress, were adopted, was the declaration of A. H. Hayes, Washington representative of the American Meat Packers' association at its convention here. The bill, he declared, would kill the object sought by it.

A resolution was adopted approving the meat inspection law after its five years of trial. It calls attention, however, to the fact that the packers must stand the loss of cattle condemned after being killed, and urged that this loss be met out of the public funds.

Another resolution called attention to the spread of bovine tuberculosis, and urged congress to adopt effective means for eradicating it.

Minnesotan Vice President.

Benjamin W. Corkran of Baltimore was elected president, George A. Hormel of Austin, Minn., vice president; George L. McCarthy, New York, secretary; Charles A. Roth, Cincinnati, treasurer.

COLDS CAUSE HEADACHE

LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine, the world wide Cold and Grip remedy removes cause. Call for full name. Look for signature E. W. GROVE. 25c.

John T. Russell, president of the Western Butchers' Association of America, insisted that neither the packers nor the retailers were responsible for the high cost of living, but that the main trouble lay in the shortage of livestock. He said his association was in favor of a repeal of the tax on colored oleomargarine and in favor of a high fine and imprisonment of every person convicted of selling it as butter. It is opposed, also, he said, to the slaughter of calves, because if they were allowed to mature, it would increase the supply of beef.

BOATS IN GALLIOPOLIS HARBOR IN DANGER.

Galliopolis, Ohio, Jan. 17.—Several steamboats in the harbor narrowly escaped destruction when a traffic barge owned by Frank Riggs of Ravenrock, W. Va., caught fire, and after burning to the water line, sunk four miles above here in the mouth of Kanawha river. The burned barge was loaded with apples.

WANTS ROOSEVELT'S OPINION ON ISSUES.

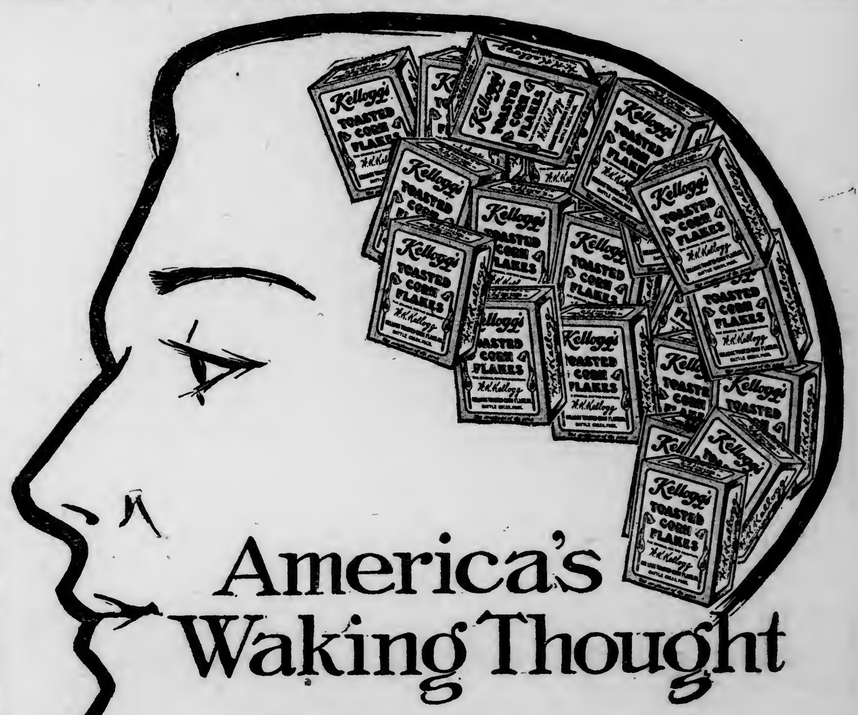

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 17.—John D. Fackler, president of the Republican Progressive league of this city, has dictated a letter to Former President Roosevelt asking him to make public his views on certain issues of the next national campaign. These issues, likely to dominate the convention, Fackler wrote, are the tariff, the trusts and the money question.

MEMPHIS COAL MAN KILLED IN QUARREL.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 17.—John T. Bartenstein, manager of the wholesale department of a local coal company, was shot and killed by W. T. Avery, formerly a real estate dealer, today. The shooting occurred at Avery's home. Avery is in jail and declined to state the cause of the quarrel, but asserted he fired in self-defense.

ON THE IRON RANGES

THROWN OUT AND KILLED

Father of Virginia Saloonkeeper Who Was Murdered, Breaks His Neck.

J. Pakkala Thrown From Sleigh Near Home, Losing His Life.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. Pakkala, the aged father of Axel Pakkala, the local saloonman who was murdered in his saloon during the holidays, met a tragic death here this morning when he was killed in a runaway.

Mr. Pakkala was about 70. He hitched up his team in his barn in the rear of his home this morning and started away in his sleigh about 9:30, when the team took fright and started to run away. Turning a corner at a rapid pace at the rear of the Pakkala home, the sleigh was upset and Mr. Pakkala was thrown out. He struck upon his head, breaking his neck. He was picked up in a dying condition and taken home, where he soon expired.

He has lived here many years. He was of Finnish nationality, and before coming to the range lived in Upper Michigan. A widow and several children survive him.

IS GOING AFTER WEAPON-TOTERS

Virginia Council Has Ordinance Preventing the Practice.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gun-toters will be severely punished here, if the ordinance introduced at the council meeting last night is passed. It provides a heavy penalty for carrying dangerous weapons. The ordinance regulating the shooting of dangerous dogs was passed. William McCoy, who runs the Ormonde hotel bar, was given a license. The matter had been held up for some time.

A communication was read from the fire warden asking the council to arrange for the employment of a forest fire ranger to work in the vicinity of the city in connection with the state department. It was suggested that the expense could be met by a 5-mill tax on the city's business men. The matter was referred to a committee for further consideration.

STORK BUSY BIRD DURING LAST YEAR

Births Far Exceeded Deaths in Eveleth, According to Vital Statistics.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—At last evening's council meeting, in his annual report, Health Commissioner Bulkley recommended that a visiting nurse be employed by the city. He also advised the adoption of ordinances regulating plumbing to safeguard public health. The council was also urged to provide the health department with a laboratory in which milk could be tested. In 1911, 133 males and 132 females were born, while forty-eight males and thirty females died. Seventeen deaths resulted from diarrhoea while pneumonia came next with ten victims.

City Treasurer William J. Davey reported the following balances on hand Jan. 1: Current expense fund, $7,214.08; water works department, $8,891.56; permanent improvement fund, $34,037.56; interest fund, $3,063. Bonds furnished by the city treasurer for $10,000 were referred to the finance committee.

The special committee on cemeteries headed by Chairman George A. Perham reported being unable to secure the forty acres between Eveleth and Gilbert mentioned for a cemetery site, but that an adjoining forty can be secured from the Oliver Iron Mining company. The committee was instructed to continue its work so that Eveleth can be provided with a cemetery in the spring.

Many Reappointed.

The following reappointments were confirmed: Municipal court clerk, Agnes Enrick; deputy city clerk, Mamie Webb; assistant waterworks superintendent, James Murray; pumpmen, W. Brown and L. Johnson; assistant fire chief, George Maghan; drivers, Hiram Gordon and S. G. Emory; firemen, Thomas Finnegan, Hugh Costley, Peter Vanderboom, William McGraw, J. Allen and Charles Kline.

The matter of insuring the new $20,000 fire hall was referred to the committee on city property. Christ Nelson was granted a renewal of his liquor license, while the transfer of the Decker and Leanna license to G. Ofstadt was also granted. City Clerk D. P. McIntyre was instructed to advertise for bids for the city printing. Vice President David A. Springer presided in the absence of President J. S. Wilson.

BEING TRIED ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Interpreter Claims Another Spartan Struck Him at Dance.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nick Mattinen of Sparta, charged with assaulting Matt Buronen, at a dance at Sparta Sunday evening, following a discussion of the latter's dealings with Game Warden Woods, who caused the arrest of several Spartans who were game law violators, is being tried in municipal court here before Judge William E. Moylan.

Buronen, who acted as interpreter for Game Warden Woods when the latter was working in this vicinity against game law violators, appeared in court with a bruised eye and other cuts he claimed to have sustained from an altercation with Mattinen. He claimed he was assaulted at Sparta. The defendant denied all knowledge of the charge. Nine witnesses appeared for the state and today the case will be finished. Several residents of Sparta crowded the courtroom to hear the evidence.

As a result of the game warden's visit to Sparta a small sized feud has originated at that point.

MISSING SPOUSE FOUND IN SALOON

Left Family in Want, Taking Pay Check, But Hibbing Police Find Him.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The police were appealed to by a Brooklyn woman to aid in locating her husband who had been missing since last Friday when he had received a pay check of $76.50 at one of the mines. His family was in straitened circumstances and one of the children was ill. He was located in a saloon on Pine street. Searched at the police station he had $38.50. He explained that he had been searching for work, having been laid off at the mine and accounted for his shortened bank roll by stating he had loaned $20 to a friend whose name he could not remember. His money was taken from him and turned over to his little son, who was instructed to take it to the mother of the family. He was severely lectured and notified if he was again found intoxicated or frequenting saloons he would receive the limit of the law. The liquor dealer in whose place he was found was also informed that if he again sold him liquor his license would be revoked.

THEATER RUMORS AROUND HIBBING

Reported One May Be Built---Also Elks May Buy Healy Property.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Western Vaudeville association, which had a lease on the Healy theater, which was destroyed by fire last Saturday morning, has abandoned the proposition of opening a house here. The company found it impossible to get a suitable location for the theater since the fire. There is a rumor that another theater will be built here in the spring and also that the four walls of the Healy building, which are still standing, and the site may be purchased by the local lodge of Elks and the building reconstructed as an Elks' home.

BIG SKI TOURNAMENT.

Virginia Slide Will Have Another Contest in February.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Virginia Ski club has arranged for another ski tournament to be held Feb. 24 and 25, on the new slide that was used the first time last Monday. A large number of prizes will be offered.

J. C. Gehrity and H. L. Duffee of the Soo Line are here arranging for a special car to carry range ski enthusiasts to Chicago for the national tournament at the end of the month.

SERVIANS CELEBRATE.

Austrians Observe the Regular New Year's Day.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local Austrians take exceptions to the statement in a dispatch from here to the Herald, Jan. 15, about their celebrating New Year's then. The celebration was observed by the Servians and not those of Austrian nationality. The Austrians have a church of their own here and celebrated New Year's the same as other people in this country, Jan. 1, but the Greek church still adheres to the Russian calendar and observes New Year's fourteen days later.

"The word "Austrian is a misnomer," said one who knows, "there is no Austrian nationality nor language, a great majority of these so-called 'Austrians' are Slovenians by nationality and speak the Slovenic tongue. Newspapers do them an injustice when they class them with Montenegrens, Croatians, Servians, etc."

WOODS DENIES DOUBLE CHARGE

Game Warden Says on Contrary He Has Collected No Expenses.

The Eveleth dispatch printed in Tuesday's Herald to the effect that Deputy Game Warden George Woods had been cited before the attorney general to explain irregularities in his expense account, the intimation being that he had collected his expense twice was branded as a falsehood out of whole cloth by Mr. Woods who was in Duluth today. As Mr. Woods has conducted an energetic and very successful campaign against violators of the game law he believes the story was conceived in spite to injure him.

"I have not collected a dollar from the state in over four months" he declared. "In fact, I have not put in a bill to the state for any expenses since the season opened, and have only collected my salary. The Herald story based on the fact that I have a subpoena for John Miller, who is supposed to be in Canada, and for Sam Yonell of Virginia, who are to be used simply as witnesses in a game case against Ernest Drew of Chisholm, which will be tried in the municipal court here."

LOSES $200 IN CASH BY BLAZE

Miners' Dwelling in Monroe Location to Chisholm Is Destroyed.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire early Tuesday morning destroyed a miner's dwelling at the Monroe location; loss $800; insurance $500. Louis Worth, the owner, states that the building caught fire while Mrs. Worth was temporarily out of the house, and the supposition is that the children played with matches and started it. The mother returned in time to get the children out, but the contents of the building, together with $200 in money, was entirely consumed. The fire department was summoned, but the building was a mass of flames when they arrived, and in coupling to the hydrants of the Monroe Mining company, found them frozen.

The nearby buildings were saved from a like fate by the bucket brigade organized. A high wind was blowing at the time, and the entire residence portion of the location was threatened.

UNDER ARREST IN VIRGINIA

Sam Watts Taken in Custody on International Falls Charge.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Acting on the request of the authorities at International Falls, the police last night arrested Sam Watts here on a statutory charge. Watts came here a few days ago from the border city to visit his mother.

The accused is a young man and has been prominent in athletics here and at International Falls. The details of the charge were not made public. The accused is held pending the arrival of an officer from International Falls.

EVETETH TO VOTE ON ISSUING BONDS

School Board Decides to Bond District for $60,000.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The school board last evening decided to call a special election for the purpose of bonding school district No. 39 for $60,000 to build the proposed ten-room school opposite the Adams school. Word is awaited from Attorney Bonham of Duluth, who is the board's special counsel. It will require three weeks before the election can be held, as two publications of the election call are to be made.

It was also decided to open the new $60,000 Fayal school constructed the first of next month.

Architect C. W. Bray of Duluth, consulting architects of the school board, was present and reviewed the plans for the proposed school with the directors.

WORK TO BEGIN SOON ON VIRGINIA BUILDING.

Washington, Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The supervising architect of all government buildings, Knox Taylor, today assured Representative Miller that the contract for the public buildings at Virginia would be let in a few days and that construction will begin as soon as the weather becomes favorable.

H. W. RICHARDSON, Local Forecaster.

FAIR

Well, the weather isn't so bad after all. The mercury was above zero all day yesterday and this forenoon, but the weather man says that there will be a change this afternoon. Not a cold wave, he says, but just colder weather coming from the Dakotas and other Northwest points. The mercury will fall gradually and may reach 6 or 10 degs. below by tomorrow morning.

The sun rose this morning at 7:41 o'clock and will set at 4:48. This gives nine hours of sunlight. A year ago it was fair.

Mr. Richardson's comments on the weather follow:

"During the last twenty-four hours light snow fell in northern border states and the Rocky mountains and rain in California in connection with depressions now centered over North Atlantic districts and Colorado. Much warmer weather prevails over the lake region, the Ohio, lower Missouri and Mississippi valleys, Gulf and South Atlantic states, while in the Western Dakotas, Wyoming, Montana, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia decidedly colder weather is the rule. This turn to colder will reach the Head of the Lakes tonight."

General Forecasts.

Upper Michigan—Snow flurries tonight or Thursday; slightly lower temperature.

Wisconsin—Snow flurries tonight or Thursday; colder.

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Thursday; colder tonight and in east portion Thursday.

Iowa—Snow tonight or Thursday; colder.

North Dakota and Montana—Generally fair tonight and Thursday; colder tonight.

South Dakota—Cloudy and colder tonight; Thursday generally fair.

GIVES SCOTCH LECTURE.

Hibbing Minister Entertains With Pictures and Talk.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Stanley Oadams delivered the second of his illustrated lectures in the First Methodist church last night to a large audience, on Ian Maclaren's "Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush." Mr. Oadams visited the locality a few years ago and the beautiful collection of lime-light views exhibited last night were made from his personally photographed views of this famous Scottish locality.

The Ladies' Aid society netted a nice sum from the proceeds of the lecture and the large audience manifested their delight in many ways. The next lecture of the series will be on "The Lands of Scott and Burns."

FINDS DAIRIES O. K.

State Inspector Manley Inspects Chisholm Concerns.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Inspector Manley of the state dairy and food department has been here inspecting dairies and gave them all a clean bill of health. On his last visit he caused the arrest of two men who were fined and gave warning to others that they had to come up to the requirements of the department within a short time or suffer the consequences.

He instructed Supt. Sullivan of the city water department in the handling of the milk testing apparatus, purchased some time ago by the city. A short time ago the dairy herds were tested for tuberculosis by a state veterinary surgeon, but none of the cows in the herds were found to be infected with the disease. Mr. Sullivan has been instructed by the city authorities to continue the test every six months. Two years ago several infants died from being fed impure milk, and ever since the health authorities have kept a close watch in the dairies.

They Played 500.

Mesdames Tripp and Clyde Blough entertained the 500 club at the latter's home Tuesday afternoon. The rooms were artistically decorated with red carnations and cut flowers. The favors were little red baskets placed at each individual plate and in which almonds were served. A three-course luncheon was served. Nine tables participated and Mrs. Thomas O'Connor won head honors, a hand-painted vase; Mrs. T. J. Sullivan, second prize, two pairs brass candlesticks; Mrs. Fred Hurt received the consolation prize, a cut glass knife rest. The out of town guests were Mrs. Ring of Nashwauk, Mrs. Siebel of Hibbing.

REFORMING WISCONSIN WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 17.—To effect a state-wide recognition of the seriousness of the new law requiring absolutely correct weights and measures, the department is preparing to send inspectors to certain cities to make tests, to be followed at intervals by others who will learn how the first warnings are being obeyed. Frederick P. Downing, chief inspector of weights and measures, says that a wonderful change in weighing and measuring stands has already been made all over the state.

Joint Installation.

All Royal Arcanum members in the city without regard to their council connections will meet tonight in Columbia hall in the West end to take part in a joint installation of officers elect of the two Duluth councils.

Mesabe council, 1943 of West end will act as host and Duluth council, 1483 of the city will go in force.

This is the first event in the way of a joint installation ever attempted by this order in Duluth and expectations are running high for a good turnout and an enjoyable evening.

Past Grand Regent W. H. Williams will arrive in the city this evening from St. Paul and be met by a delegation and escorted to the hall.

An informal banquet will be held following the installation.

FAT VANISHES

ONE POUND A DAY

BY NEW DRUGLESS METHOD

TRUE SUCCESS AT LAST.

DOUBLE CHIN GOES QUICK

Two Hundred Thousand Women Made Happy With This New Knowledge Through a Copy of This Remarkable Book, "WEIGHT REDUCTION WITHOUT DRUGS." Isn't This Convincing Evidence As to Its Value?

SEE ME HERE! I LOOKED AS FAT AS AN OX BEFORE I REDUCED MY FAT

HERE I AM AFTER REDUCING 37 LBS. IN FIVE WEEKS, WITH MY HARMLESS HOME TREATMENT

THE JOY OF LIVING IS THE HERITAGE OF THE LEAN. I WAS STOUT—AND I KNOW

My friends were charitable and they called it obesity; others referred to me as being STOUT, but I knew, it was just plain bulky weight. I was miserable—you, too, are equally miserable if you are too stout.

To reduce your weight you must find the cause, you must get at the very reason.

I FOUND THE CAUSE—THE REST WAS EASY

Before I succeeded, I tried everything within reason and some things beyond reason.

It was maddening,—disgusting.

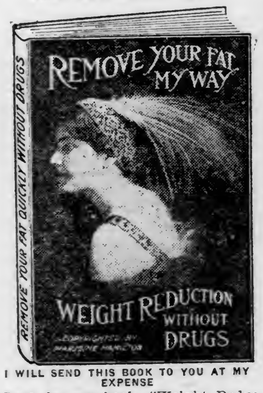

All I had to do was to remove the cause, and I swear under oath, that by my simple method, without drugs, medicine, harmful exercises, or starvation diet, I reduced my weight 37 pounds in five weeks, and guarantee that I can do the same for you. I do not use medicine of any kind or worthless stuff to rub on the body but a simple home treatment; even a child can use it without harm. Through this marvelous combination home treatment, I succeeded because I had found the right way. I can now climb to the summit of Pike's Peak with ease. I could not do that until I had taken off 37 pounds of my ponderous weight.

If you are interested in your own happiness and health and figure, you will permit me to tell you how to reduce your weight "Nature's Way."

It is astonishing the thousands of grateful letters I am receiving. J. E. Bolselle, Box 422, Great Bend, Kansas, writes that he lost fifty pounds with my harmless treatment. W. L. Schmitz, Montevideo, Minnesota, lost thirty pounds in thirty days. Manila McNeely, Desloge, Missouri, writes that she lost sixty-five pounds with this new method, and I can send you thousands of names of satisfied customers who have given me permission to use their names. I never publish any name without written permission.

I have printed a book for you entitled, "Weight Reduction Without Drugs," which I am giving away without charge, prepaid to you, so that you may know of my successful method and be able to permanently reduce your weight any amount up to seventy pounds, without harmful exercises or starvation diet, drugs or medicines.

I WILL SEND THIS BOOK TO YOU AT MY EXPENSE

Send for my book, "Weight Reduction Without Drugs." It is yours for the asking, and I will be glad to send it to you, postage prepaid.

I have found that the best way to know happiness is to give it.

Sincerely your friend,

MARJORIE HAMILTON

MAJOR SHUNK IS HEARING PLAINTS

Both Sides in Controversy Over Red Lake River Present Evidence.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Maj. Shunk, the United States army engineer, heard evidence here yesterday in the controversy between loggers and other people to determine whether a drive of logs stranded in the outlet of the Red Lakes is the cause of the low water prevailing in this section of the state.

It is claimed by down river parties that the Red Lake river, the only outlet of the lakes, has its water diverted or rather held in the lake by reason of the log jam, while the log owners claim that the logs stranded primarily because the water was so very low and because of two successive dry seasons. A number of interested persons appeared before the federal engineer at the Auditorium. From this city he proceeded to Crookston, where today he is holding a similar hearing and on Thursday another at Grand Forks.

The war department has control of the Red Lake river and has refused for years to make improvements although a number of large passenger and freight boats ply the stream every summer with the single exception of the season of 1911.

ONTARIO LUMBER MILL WILL NOT BE REBUILT.

Menominee, Mich., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ralph Wells, who has been engaged as general manager of the White Pine Lumber company at Blind River, Ont., the mills of which were destroyed by fire at a loss of $95,000, has closed out the Wells interests at that place, and the mill will not be immediately rebuilt. J. W. Wells still retains, however, his large white pine timber holdings in the Blind River district.

Ralph Wells will remain in Menominee as general manager of the Automatic Wire Weaving Manufacturing company.

SAW DICKASON IN ROOM.

Damaging Evidence Offered Against Alleged Minneapolis Thief.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 17.—Wilfred S. Dickason, the young Englishman on trial here charged with the theft of $2,950 in jewels belonging to Mrs. Olga Von W. Haskell, a society leader, while her guest, was seen in her room once, according to Mrs. Haskell's 14-year-old son.

The boy testified that on the evening of Nov. 11, looking from the street, he had seen Dickason in his mother's room near the bed, but that when he entered the room, Dickason had disappeared.

Mrs. Haskell, continuing her testimony today, told the jury she had taken Dickason in as a friend of her son, George, when he was penniless, and that Dickason proposed that she give him financial aid in entering the automobile lock business. She also declared that she had suggested raising $500 on her jewels for this purpose, but that Dickason objected to this and suggested that she mortgage her house. Her son, George, however, objected to this, she declared.

The trial will be continued this afternoon.

WOMAN SUFFRAGISTS TO ORGANIZE WISCONSIN.

La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 17. — At a secret meeting of the leading club women of La Crosse and nearby cities, arrangements were made to organize this part of Wisconsin for the pending battle for equal suffrage, which it is promised will be state wide. The entire state is said to be organizing for the fall election when the resolution passed at the last session of the elgislature is to be voted upon.

MINNESOTA FARM FETCHES $140 AN ACRE.

S.S.S. HEALS OLD SORES

Before any sore can heal, the cause which produces it must be removed. As long as the blood, from which our systems receive their necessary nourishment and strength, remains impure and contaminated with disease germs, any old sore on the body will remain open, and resist every effort made to heal it. The nerves and tissues of the flesh around the places are continually fed with unhealthy matter and nature is simply disposing of the poison by draining it from the system through the sore. The only cure for an old sore is a thorough cleansing of the blood, entirely ridding the system of the cause. S. S. S. heals old sores by removing every particle of impurity from the circulation. It goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and so completely cleanses the circulation that there is no longer any impurity to drain through the sore, but the place is once more nourished with rich, healthful blood. S. S. S. heals the sore from the bottom, the place soon fills in with healthy, firm flesh, the tenderness leaves, all discharge ceases, the skin regains its natural color and when S. S. S. has thoroughly cleansed and purified the blood the place is permanently healed. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write.

LOSSES PAID LAST YEAR

First Year's Working of State Hail Insurance Law of North Dakota.

There Were 1,011 Policies Written and $21,510.03 Insurance Paid.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.) — Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor W. C. Gilbreath has reported on the operations of the hail insurance department established by the last legislature. A total of 1,011 insurance policies were written.

The department paid $21,510.03 in losses during the first year's operations, while the total receipts of the department were $26,104.64 on the policies written.

All claims for losses were paid on the 70 per cent basis, that is, the farmers who carried the insurance received 70 per cent of the face of their policy on total losses. There were 139 claims presented for payment.

LUMBER LAWYER PEEVED.

Judge Lancaster Puts Iowa Editor in Ananias Club.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 17. — Judge W. A. Lancaster, of counsel for the Retail Lumbermen's association in the suits brought by the government to enjoin them from their camapaign against catalog houses and other irregular dealers as a restraint of trade, made the principal address late Tuesday at the meeting of retail lumbermen of Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota. Judge Lancaster gave an account of the actions already taken in the Minnesota, Michigan and Colorado cases.

According to Judge Lancaster, the only thing that the government could have to do in the case is to secure a ruling preventing the sending broadcast of names of wholesalers and jobbers who sold directly to the consumer. Any boycott on such wholesalers or manufacturers, he said, was beyond the interference of the government.

Mr. Pilkington in remarks preceding his set address, harshly attacked the proposed parcels post system and placed Henry Wallace of Des Moines, Iowa, former president of the national conservation congress and editor of a farm paper, in the Ananias club. "In an issue of his paper," Mr. Pilkington said, "Mr. Wallace editorially stated that the parcels post law should be enacted as it would enable the farmer to get away from the combinations of retailers. Mr. Wallace should have resigned from the national conservation congress after voicing that general sentiment regarding the retailer"

DISCLAIMS LIABILITY.

Telegraph Company to Rely on Old Wisconsin Statute.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 17.—Upon the ground that a statute of congress of 1867 characterized the telegraph as an agency for the dissemination of intelligence, entitled to privileges of the post road, the Western Union Telegraph company asserted its freedom from liability under the Wisconsin law which demands forfeiture of its charter for removing from a state to a federal court.

The case having to do with state taxes was heard before Secretary of State James A. Frear Tuesday and adjourned for thirty days for the preparation of briefs.

IS RECEPTIVE CANDIDATE.

Buckeye Governor Denies He Is Active Presidential Candidate.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 17.—Judson Harmon of Ohio passed through St. Paul Tuesday on his way to Fargo to attend the conference of northwestern Democrats.

"I am not an active candidate for the presidency," said Mr. Harmon in reply to a brief interrogation, "and shall not make an active campaign for the nomination. If it comes to me I shall feel highly honored."

Further than this, the governor refused to discuss politics.

BRAINERD COUNCIL BUYS CITY HALL SITE.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The council has purchased two lots on the northeast corner of Laurel and South Fifth streets for $1,500 as a site for a city hall. Alderman E. O. Webb's resignation from the council was not accepted by that body. The council gave its approval to the establishment of a weather bureau in the city, the temperature readings to be made by City Engineer F. A. Glass, as suggested by Postmaster Ingersoll of the Commercial club committee.

ASHLAND COMMISSION ELECTION TO BE FEB. 6.

Plans New Bemidji Building.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A three-story brick building, modern in every way, will replace the old frame buildings burned here Sunday, according to Benjamin Schneider of Minneapolis, who with his brother, owns the land on which three of the destroyed structures stood.

MARINETTE MAN TO BE CIRCUIT JUDGE

JUDGE W. B. QUINLAN.

Marinette, Wis., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald)—Judge William B. Quinlan of Marinette will probably be elected judge of the new Twentieth judicial circuit, which will include Marinette, Florence, Forest and Oconto counties, according to a bill passed by the Wisconsim legislature last spring.

Mr. Quinlan, now county judge, is well known in this district, where he has practiced law for many years. He has been identified with some of the leading cases tried in Marinette county and has been eminently successful as a lawyer.

JUMPS FROM TRAIN, BUT IS RECAPTURED

North Dakota Prisoner Leaps Through Car Window Into Snowdrift.

Beach, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jumping through the window of a coach of an eastbound passenger train near Sentinel Butte, when the train was moving about thirty miles an hour, John Marlin was nearly successful in making his escape from Deputy Sheriff John Madison, who was taking him to Medora to the county jail. On the pretext of wanting a drink, Marlin walked to the end of the passenger coach, and a moment later smashed a window and jumped through, landing into a snowdrift.

The official gave chase, picking up Marlin's trail and following him seven miles where he was captured, having taken refuge from the cold at the home of a farmer. He had suffered considerably from exposure, freezing his hands and feet.

WISCONSIN MAN IS DAZED BY EXPOSURE.

Couderay, Wis., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Village Marshal Fuller yesterday found Fred Kruger of Menomonie walking back and forth along the railroad track six miles from here in a dazed condition, having slept out in the snow during the cold night and suffered much from exposure. He was nearly starved and unable to talk. He was taken to Hayward.

WAHPETON, N. D., WOMAN DIES ON OREGON TRAIN.

Medford, Or., Jan. 17.—Mrs. C. R. Thatcher of Wahpeton, N. D., died in a Pullman on the train from Portland Monday, just before its arrival at Medford. The body is being cared for here. The woman's husband was with her and was taking her to California. Tuberculosis was the cause of death. The body will be buried in Wahpeton.

Minnesotan to Judge Poultry.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. H. Benjamin of Hutchinson, Minn., has been secured by the Grand Forks Poultry association to act as judge at the poultry show to be held here Feb. 6-9. He judged the show of 1911, and gave uniform satisfaction.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Calumet—Dr. W. T. S. Gregg, of the medical staff of the Tamarack Mining company, has accepted a position on the C. & H. medical staff. Dr. Gregg will be associated with Dr. Rees in the South Hecla branch of the C. & H. practice.

Hancock—Paul Pyykkonen, aged 49 years, a well known resident of Hancock, died Saturday evening at his home on White street, after a long illness. He leaves a wife and family of children, one of whom is located at Lansing.

Houghton—The annual dancing and skating party of the Houghton firemen will take place at the Amphidrome on the evening of February 19. It will be the fiftieth annual ball of the department, and invitations will be extended to the fire companies of the county to attend in uniform.

Calumet—George Hall and Paul P. Roehm will leave early next month for Alabama where they are interested in timber lands. A local company has been formed to exploit these lands, and as soon as possible steps will be taken to cut the timber. The local company's chief drawback at present is the lack of railroad accommodation.

Hancock — William, the 5-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. John Barry of the Union brewery location, died Sunday evening. The funeral was held this afternoon at the house, with services by Rev. Watters of the Atlantic M. E. church. Interment will be made at Forest Hill.

Calumet—Mrs. Kate J. Lambert of Ann Arbor, formerly of this city, whose building on Fifth street was destroyed by fire on New Year's eve, estimates her loss at $3,000, which is covered by insurance, and has announced that she expects to rebuild the property during the coming spring.

Hancock—The Knights of Columbus held a big gathering here Sunday. The Knights attended church in the morning. The afternoon was devoted to the exemplification of the second and third degrees on a class of more than fifty candidates. The exercises were witnessed by a throng of Knights that packed the council chambers in the Kauth hall.

Houghton—Capt. Fred Rogers and Engineer Joseph Greenleaf of this city left Sunday afternoon for Toledo, where they will represent the Houghton local at the national convention of the Licensed Tugmen's Protective association.

Negaunee—The first programs at the new theater in McDonald's opera house were given Sunday afternoon and evening and were witnessed by a fair-sized audience.

Ishpeming—Joseph Ogea, who conducted a farm at Clarksburg for thirty years up to ten years ago, when he moved to Champion to live with his daughter, Mrs. Edward Derrie, is dead. Mr. Ogea was known to many Ishpeming people, especially those who have camps near Laurie, near which his farm was located.

Chocolay—Residents of Chocolay turned out Monday afternoon to fight a fire in the roof of J. G. Koepp's store and dwelling, in which the postoffice formerly was located. Effective work by a bucket brigade resulted in the fire being put out before it worked down.

Marquette—James Russell left Monday evening for Detroit to attend the midwinter session of the joint prison boards of the state. He will give a paper on the indeterminate sentence law during the program. While in Detroit he will also attend the roundup of the Michigan Press association, under the direction of the Detroit board of commerce.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Milwaukee—The body of Jules Baden, a salesman from Minneapolis, was found in one of the corridors of the Juneau hotel Monday morning by a clerk. The man had been dead for some time. The body was taken to the coroner's office. It is believed that heart failure was the cause of death.

Appleton—The contemplated purchase of 15,000 acres of land lying between Wolf and Embarrass rivers for drainage and colonization purposes by a party of Chicago capitalists is the purpose of the organization and incorporation of the Wisconsin Land, Drainage & Irrigation company.

Ashland—Francis Dormady, son of Sheriff and Mrs. Dormady left Monday afternoon for the Philippines where he has accepted a position as stenographer for Uncle Sam. He will leave San Francisco on Jan. 23 on the steamer Manola and will arrive at Manila about Feb. 12.

Eau Claire—Fire in the John Young Box factory on Railroad street Monday night entailed a loss estimated at $1,000. In the building, a two-story structure, including the basement, there were the Eau Claire Boiler works, owned by Ole Winger and the plumbing shop of J. W. Dinger. The loss to these two latter establishments was slight.

Ashland—Attorney Walker Sanborn, son of Senator and Mrs. A. W. Sanborn arrived Monday evening from Prineville, Or., where he has been practicing law for the last two years. He will again make Ashland his home as he is to be associated with the law firm of Sanborn, Lamoreux & Pray.

Barron—Tobacco growers in this vicinity have made their deliveries of the 1911 crop. Returns run from $100 to $200 an acre. As yet the acreage here is small, only about fifty acres being harvested. The crop is of fine quality and has been shipped to warehouses in the southern part of the state for stripping and packing.

Milwaukee—John P. McLaughlin, for six years a member of the city staff of the Free Press, has retired from daily newspaper work to publish a Catholic monthly for young folks, which will be known as "Youth," and which will have offices in this city. The first number will appear Feb. 1.

Fond du Lac—Following the refusal of the management of the Ideal theater, a vaudeville house, to meet the new wage scale of the local musicians' union, the entire theater orchestra walked out ten minutes before the time for the afternoon performance Sunday. The theater is operated by the Orpheum Amusement company which also controls the Henry Boyle theater.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

East Grand Forks—Andrew Nelson, better known as "Capt." Nelson, and one of the best known men in the vicinity of East Grand Forks, died at the home of his son at Oslo late Sunday afternoon of heart failure. The deceased was a resident of East Grand Forks for over twenty-five years.

Red Wing—Sunday was the fifty-seventh anniversary of the organization of the First Presbyterian church of this city. Rev. John T. Fulton, the pastor, preached a memorial sermon giving many facts of interest in connection with the life and history of the church.

St. Cloud—One hundred and twenty-five students partook of soup at the normal school in this city Monday. The students of the model school, who live outside of a radius of four blocks from the institution, are allowed to "rush the bowl" and procure their penny's worth of steaming soup. The new plan is meeting with splendid success.

St. Hilaire—About thirty-five friends of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Soderberg gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Fellman recently for a pleasant surprise, the occasion being the coming departure of Mr. and Mrs. Soderberg for the West.

Bemidji—While scaling logs for the State Lumber company at Gemmell, James Lappin of Bemidji fell off a rollway of logs, injuring himself so that he was forced to return to Bemidji for medical treatment.

Le Sueur Center—Mystery shrouds the death of six horses belonging to William Hannigan, a prosperous farmer living three miles southwest of Le Sueur Center. For several months past, ever since the harvest was gathered, Mr. Hannigan's horses have been suddenly taken ill, one at a time, and then, as suddenly, died. Mr. Hannigan suspected nothing, but when the third and fourth horses died he made an investigation with a view towards discovering the cause.

Crookston—Rev. T. T. Ove, pastor of the United Lutheran church, who handed in his resignation to the church a week ago, preached his farewell sermon Sunday morning. Rev. and Mrs. T. T. Ove left Tuesday evening for Los Angeles, where Rev. Ove will locate for his health.

St. Cloud—The directors of the Merchants' National bank re-elected the following officers: President, J. N. Bensen; vice president, A. H. Reinhard; cashier, Carl O. Bensen. One thousand dollars was added to the surplus, making it $14,000.

Minneapolis—Faith lost in her husband cost the life of a bride of four months in Minneapolis Sunday. Mrs Nellie Roberge, 28 years old, killed herself in a room of a Washington avenue hotel. She died three hours after the time her husband, a stationary fireman in a Washington avenue saloon, usually got home.

Spooner—L. B. Darwin, Cloquet sawyer of Shevlin-Mathieu Lumber company the past season, has arrived in the city to assist in the reconstruction of some of the machinery at the mill preparatory for the coming season.

Stillwater—John D. Day has been received at the state prison from Minneapolis under a sentence for attempt to commit robbery in the first degree.

St. Paul—John Lind, president of the board of regents of the university, has notified Andrew E. Fritz, public examiner, that the claim against the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company, surety of J. D. Bren, had been paid. A check for $14,310.70, the amount of the alleged defalcation, has been forwarded to the comptroller of the university.

Little Falls—S. A. Walker of Omaha, who has been working in Little Falls for several weeks in the interests of a magazine company, was arrested at Brainerd Sunday night for jumping a board bill at the West hotel in this city.

Brainerd—N. E. Bullock was brought down from Aitkin Monday suffering with a severe attack of appendicitis. He was taken to St. Joseph's hospital. The patient was accompanied by his wife.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Grand Forks, N. D.—The Grand Forks Poultry association, as the organization is now to be called, has elected new officers. The most important change is that Former President Charles J. Evenson is now secretary and treasurer, and Sim Miller is president.

Dickinson, N. D.—With two victories out of three already to their credit, the Dickinson Rifle club will next meet the crack team of Bisbee, Ariz. The Dickinson club is handicapped this year through the loss of Wolford and Louden, both of whom are leaders in the North Dakota National Guard, and who have served in past years to help the local organization very materially.

Jamestown, N. D.—The Alliance Hail association elected officers as follows: J. M. Smith, president, Grand Forks; H. M. Clark, vice president, New Rockford; W. E. Boise, Jamestown, secretary and treasurer. The directors, in addition to the above, are: A. J. Field, Williston; H. F. Shipley, Hampden; Paul Johnson, Mountain; Fred Wolfer, Jamestown; F. E. H. Chae, Hebron; Evan Griffith, Kenmare; E. L. McGee, Valley City; Paul J. Wedge, Ruso.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Judge Charles F. Templeton has returned from Lakota, where he had been holding court for the past ten days. While at that city Judge Templeton contracted a very severe cold and is confined to his home as a result.

Fargo, N. D.—Gilbert N. Gunderson, for the past year assistant advertising manager of the Courier-News, severed his connection with that newspaper Saturday evening to become manager of the Norwegian weekly, the Fram, of which he was recently elected secretary treasurer.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—On account of a conflict in dates with the annual meeting of the South Dakota Press association at Yankton Jan. 18, 19 and 20 the meeting of state Democrats at Pierre, originally fixed for Jan. 17, has been postponed to Jan. 31.

Aberdeen, S. D.—The new Milwaukee terminal buildings in this city aggregating a total of $375,000, will be all completed and ready for occupancy by Jan. 23, the anniversary of the fire that destroyed the old buildings a year ago. The passenger station was opened Tuesday; the freight depot will be opened the first of the week and the roundhouse was opened Monday.

Pierre, S. D.—One of the leading features of the primary campaign in this state is the formal announcement by the Daily Capital Journal, the leading Republican paper of this city, that it will support the candidacy of George W. Egan for governor.

The Grave Question Is Whether Bob Dunbar's Rink Can Weather the Storm of Years--- Ernie Potts as a Manager--- Sailor Jack.

(BY BRUCE.)

SOME of those around the glow of the open fire in the club, the gossip group as it were, or is, or maybe, are wondering whether it was a rare coincidence that three veterans of St. Paul decided to try to come back at the same time. Wandering through these few slight words of introduction we come upon the rink that Bob Dunbar has brought to the nineteenth annual spiel. If old men can fight, can play highly successful games of baseball, and can twit and tweak the figuritive noses of the members of the Stanley investigating committee, why, gentlemen, then surely old men can also curl.

There is M. C. Griggs. He is known as "Milt" Griggs to those case hardened who campaigned in the days when Gen. Nettleton was winning victories and Milt was one of his chief lieutenants. In the old days M. C., also known as one of the best sailors on fresh water, was one of the foxiest skips that ever figured carefully a sheet of ice.

Can Milt come back? Oh earnest questioner we must refer you to the cold calculation of the little cards that are handed in at the box they have dignified with the name of the secretary's office. Bankers, owners of roulette wheels and plumbers have at various times stated that figures do not lie, this despite the wail of the C. P. Later in the week we may be able better to answer the question as to whether Milt can come back.

Lem Delfield has grown in many ways since he attended his last spiel. He has grown to look less like Opie Reed and more like President Taft. When he backs up to shoot his rock, the view of those in the galleries is completely shut off from three rinks. He was engaged in earnest conversation yesterday morning with a friend in front of the front room. He so effectively blocked the day light that it was necessary to turn on the electric lights.

In the old days Lem was a dashing youth, shaking the building with tread and sonorous utterances. With added weight of years and gross tonnage, Lem has become quiet and reflective. One could imagine and almost believe that Lem has reached the fireside and slipper stage, a pipe, Charles Wagner and even a cat. When a man who was as active as Lem once reaches the reflective stage he becomes deeply so—you see he has more to reflect on.

But back to the glad carnival spirit. They of the fireside are also wondering whether Lem can come back and be the Lochinvar of the Capitol City, as he was in the past. The cards will tell. Today and tomorrow may solve a serious problem.

Phil Nolan is younger in years and the path of experience than the three other members of the Dunbar crowd. Phil used to run foot races in school and then took to running bovines and kine, down at South St. Paul, where the pace is Swift. Now he is running an office. He confesses that he simply came to Duluth for a diversion. If he had said that last week when the thermometer was where it was, he would have been haled before the probate judge. Phil has not hurdled so many years as the other members of the rink, therefore his original ability may be, like claims for Ivory soap, 99 per cent pure.

Now comes Bob Dunbar. He looks the same—whether he will act the same, of course, remains another question. His eye is as keen as ever—apparently. Bob is said to be an ardent admirer of Alf Tennyson and also to have an intense admiration for the little brook that played the lead in the pastoral poem. In a curling way he has been an imitator of the wee brooklet. Can Bob come back? "Oh h——!" said someone yesterday, "he ain't never gone yet."

This is a year of some goodly veterans. The back in 18—— boys are in their element this week. Let us see just what Veteran Bob and his veterans will do.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙ ⊙

ERNIE Potts, the young man who has educated the white punching bags that play tunes and do several other things at the Orpheum the present week, is a brother of James Ebenezer Potts, and also of Billy Potts. The three Potts brothers are famous in the athletic history of Minneapolis. They have played football, baseball, matinees, and are all boxers. Ernie, muscular as he is, is the baby of the family. Have you a little fairy in your home?

For about a week Ernie was the manager of Billy Papke. Ernie took the Illinois Thunderbolt after he came home from the Australian invasion. Billy had some trouble in getting his head through a door.

Just before the fight with Sailor Burke, Papke called his small manager to him and spoke thusly, or along this general line, out of the corner of his mouth:

"There's nothin' to it—I'll beat that guy in a punch. He's got nothin' but a pair of boxin' gloves and he don't know what to do with 'em. It's a cinch; it's almost a shame to do it."

All his dream conversation, you understand, in addition to the many promises of contracts that Mr. Potts had been promised in the event the man from Kewaunee indented Burke's countenance. Papke was beaten by this old trial horse, the depised sailor—and Potts fell from the clouds.

The defeat at the hands of Burke, pugilistically palsied as they be, is the answer to the question you were going to ask as to why Potts was only the manager of Papke for about two and half days. There wasn't very much left to manage after what the New York sporting writers said about Stanley Ketchel's old meal ticket.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙ ⊙

SAILOR Jack is a busy kid these days. The marine is rounding in the magnificent condition that he was in when he beat Schober here and Matsuda, the Jap, on the Pacific slope. Next week he has a match with a husky down in Wisconsin. Following this will come his match with Joe Carr in Minneapolis, and then the marine may take on someone in Duluth. If the present plans go through Sailor and Miller will wrestle the long awaited match some time in March.

St. Paul and Minneapolis are anxious for a peep at the wrestling sailor, hence the offer from one of the Minneapolis promoters. About two weeks more of training will put the little sailor in fine shape. In his match the other night Jack showed that he is fast rounding into form. The little chap is as strong as a young cub bear and he is showing more speed as he rounds into condition. When he steps on the mat to meet Miller Jack should be in the greatest condition of his career.

A SPECIAL dispatch to The Herald yesterday told of the victory of Karl Lehto over the Mysterious Conductor in a wrestling match held at Ashtabula Harbor, Ohio. According to the present plans of Lehto, he will go east as far as Fitchburg, Mass. He will be back in this country some time in February or March and may appear here before the coming of sweet-faced Spring drives all thought of wrestling from the minds of the habitual followers of the mat pastime.

CATHOLIC CLUB TO MEET STRONG PROCTOR TEAMS.

At the Catholic Athletic club gymnasium this evening the C. A. C. basket ball team will meet the strong team from Proctor. One of the best games of the season is looked for. Both quints are strong, the C. A. C. aggregation being classed as one of the strongest in the Northwest after the great showing with the Ascensions of Minneapolis. The Proctor team will bring down a large delegation from Proctor.

Fancy Salaries.

New York, Jan. 17.—The newly formed United States league is in the baseball field for players with offers of high salaries, according to Pitcher Dick Rudolph of the Toronto team. Rudolph said last night that a representative of the new league offered him a three-year contract at a guaranteed salary double the amount he is receiving at Toronto.

The Toronto player asked for a week's time to consider.

EVENTS ARE NARROWING

Good Progress Being Made in the Northwestern Bonspiel.

Duluth Curling Club Event Is Down to the "Eights."

Play in the bonspiel is getting along to that stage where the figurative sheep are being separated from the more literal goats.

Rapid progress has been made during the past two days in the Duluth Curling club event and in the St. Paul Jobbers' event. In the former event Rockwood of Portage, Dinham of Duluth, Sullivan of West Duluth, Chisholm of Winnipeg, Hurdon of Duluth and McLeod of Minneapolis are in the eights, with Oldham and McLeod of Duluth and Rochon and Morrison of Winnipeg still left in the event.

Play yesterday narrowed down in this event. Rochon played to form and defeated his veteran townsman, McDiarmid. Tucker of Pardeeville, Wis., was put out of this event by Chisholm of Winnipeg, who is playing one of the strong games of the spiel. Russell of Superior and Dinham played one of the exciting games of the day, the Duluth youngster winning out in the last head. One of the surprises of the day was the defeat of Parkinson of Phillips by Sullivan of West Duluth, McLeod's hastily constructed Minneapolis rink also broke into the surprise circle by defeating Riley of Stonewall.

Fireside dopesters were also given a rude surprise when Anderson's rink of New Duluth went down the line with "Doc" Catterson's brigade. Tucker of Pardeeville received his second defeat of the day when Russell of Superior took him into camp in the Jobbers' event. Ralph Bradley's rink registered a defeat against McDiarmid and Evered of West Duluth set Johnny Oldham back.

Dunbar in Game.

Bob Dunbar and his rink of veterans made their first appearance at the spiel yesterday afternoon in the 3:30 draw. Dunbar was drawn against Sullivan of West Duluth and won handily. The initial victory of the St. Paul skip was watched by a large gallery, and while the onlookers do not believe that Robert has the rink he came up here with last season, still he is going to be hard to beat.

One of the feature games of the Minneapolis Curling club event was the defeat of the veteran Haig of Winnipeg by Ron McLeod of Duluth. The local skip won out in the last head, the contest being one of the best played in this event during the day. Morrison of Winnipeg defeated Ralph Bradley in this event. Dinham of Duluth continued his winning streak by easily defeating Stewart of St. Paul.

The big feature of today's play and the event of the 'spiel will be the International. This comes this afternoon and will bring together the best of the Canadian and American rinks. A game that will be watched by one of the largest galleries of the 'spiel will be that fought out between Rochon of Winnipeg and Dunbar of St. Paul. Rochon has one of the best rinks at the 'spiel, carrying the crack Frank Cassidy at third, and the battle is expected to be one of the feature events of the bonspiel.

Local followers of the game will watch with especial interest the play of Billy Dinham's rink against Hallock of Winnipeg. To date the youngster has not met with defeat and he is expected to make a great showing in the International. Dinham and McLeod will uphold the reputation of Duluth in this event, or at least make the try, while Winnipeg will be represented by Rochon, Chisholm, Neil, O'Grady, McDiarmid, Williams, Haig, Hallock and Morrison. McLeod will play for Minneapolis, Dunbar will pull stoutly for St. Paul, Russell and Gates for Superior, Tucker for Pardeeville Rockwood and Wells for Portage, Riley for Stonewall, Parkinson for Phillips.

Today promises to bring forth the best curling of the spiel, and all of the big games are expected to be followed closely by the biggest gallery of the week.

Following is the detailed result of yesterday's play:

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 17.—Stanislaus Zbyszko defeated Henry Ordemann of Minneapolis in two straight falls here last night, the first fall being won in 25 minutes, 25 seconds, and the second in 48 seconds. Both falls were won on arm holds and reverse nelsons.

WILL NOT JOIN "OUTLAW" LEAGUE

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 17.—Storm clouds which have been hovering over the Three Eye league, threatening since the organization of the new Columbian "outlaw" league in Chicago last Saturday, were swept away yesterday by the announcement of President Al Leisy of the local Three Eye league club that the present club management would not consider the proposal to enter the new organization.

President John T. Powers of the Columbian league spent Tuesday in Peoria, urging the commercial club to place a team in this city.

While a Columbian league team may be maintained here, it will not push Peoria off the map of the Three Eye circuit, as expected, when the first announcement of Peoria's consideration in the new league was made known.

Powers left for Cleveland late last night.

LAS VEGAS IS BIDDER FOR JOHNSON-FLYNN BOUT.

Las Vegas, N. M., Jan. 17.—Las Vegas yesterday became a bidder for the Johnson-Flynn battle July 4, next, when Charles O'Malley, a local promoter, wired to Jack Curley, an offer of $100,000 for the fight. Since the granting of statehood, there is no law in New Mexico against glove contests, as these events were prohibited by federal statements.

MURPHY BEATS BEDELL IN 10-ROUND BOUT.

New York, Jan. 17.—Tommy Murphy of New York defeated George Bedell of Brooklyn in a ten-round bout at the Royal Athletic club of Brooklyn last night. Murphy clearly outfought his opponent in the early rounds and floored him in the fourth. Bedell came back strong in the latter part of the contest, but the New Yorker managed to retain his lead.

Pueblo Protests Against Being Ousted From Western League.

Pueblo, Colo., Jan. 17.—A largely attended meeting of indignant baseball fans was held here yesterday against the action of Frank Isbell in disposing of the Pueblo Western league baseball franchise to Wichita capitalists. A committee was appointed to combat Isbell's trade and to carry the case to the courts if legal action is necessary.

CLIMAX OF BONSPIEL

Fourteen Canadian Rinks Available for International Event This Year.

Will Be Met By Equal Number of American Curlers.

The biggest event of the week—the climax of the Northwestern bonspiel—is on today, when the great International event is being played.

In other years it has been a hard matter to get three Canadian rinks, the smallest number with which the event can be played. This year, there will be fourteen rinks on a side.

Because there are but ten ices at the Duluth Curling club, four of the games had to be played off this morning. There will be ten games, all going at the same time this afternoon.

The International event is the climax of the week's curling in Duluth. The Canadians have come determined to lift the trophy which has for many years been held by Americans. Besides the honor of winning, the rink which finally wins in the play down which follows, be it among the Americans or Canadians, gets some fine jewelry.

The fourteen rinks entered at the present spiel make the greatest showing the Canadians have had at a Duluth bonspiel in many years. Visions of having the trophy on the other side of the line will make the Canadians a hard aggregation to beat as with fourteen rinks in the competition, they have more of a feeling of confidence than if the number were smaller.

The International this year is more like it was in the old days. Interest hinges upon it. Both sides will play for all they are worth for nearly every rink at the bonspiel would rather win it than any of the other events.

The American rinks will be under the leadership of Bob Dunbar of St. Paul, generally admitted to be the best curler in the country, and the Canadian rinks will be under Rochon of the Thistle club of Winnipeg.

It is expected that a large crowd will turn out for the games of the International as they will be the most interesting, perhaps, of the bonspiel.

The rink will be dark tonight. The curlers will enjoy the annual banquet at the Commercial club.

The American rinks are: Dunbar, St. Paul; McLeod, Minneapolis; McLeod, Duluth; Rockwood, Portage; Parkinson, Phillips; Wells, Portage; Gates, Superior; Tucker, Pardeeville; Dinham, Duluth; Russell, Superior; Bradley, Duluth; Evered, West Duluth; Stewart, St. Paul; Oldham, Duluth.

The Canadian rinks are: Rochon, Winnipeg; Chisholm, Winnipeg; Neil, Winnipeg; Riley, Stonewall; McDiarmid, Winnipeg; Halg, Winnipeg; Hallock, Winnipeg; Morrison, Winnipeg; McIvor, Port Arthur; Sleme, Port Arthur; McArthur, Winnipeg; Kelly, Winnipeg; O'Grady, Winnipeg; Williams, Winnipeg.

SCHOLARSHIP ATHLETIC TEST

"U" Alumni Take Action, Urging Passage of White Resolution.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 17.—Alumni of the University of Minnesota at a meeting last night adopted resolutions urging the university's representatives at the Big Eight meeting Jan. 26 to use every effort to secure the adoption of the amendment of the so-called White resolution and the adoption of an eligibility rule based solely on scholarship and one year's residence. The meeting was one of several which are to be held this week by students and alumni to discuss Minnesota's attitude at the conference.

Three things only remain for the university according to Dr. E. V. Robinson, a member of the faculty council, with regard to the athletic situation. These are, he said, the placing of athletics on a scholarship basis, the hiring of detectives to see that the summer baseball rule is enforced, or abolishing of athletics altogether.

ANSON WANTS TO "COME BACK"

After a Job as Pinch Hitter in the Big Leagues.

Chicago, Jan. 17. — Unless the plans of Adrian C. ("Captain") Anson go awry, the veteran first basemen will be seen in action again in some of the larger cities of the South next spring.

Furthermore, if the "Captain" shows the form he expects to display, he hopes to be offered a position as a pinch hitter by one of the big league teams.

This is the way Anson intends to start on his "come back" journey. If he can make arrangments with Charles W. Murphy, president of the Chicago Nationals, he will accompany that aggregation South on its sprig training trip. On the return trip, when exhibition games are being played, Anson will attempt to arrange to play first base for the opponents of the Chicago club. He will combine this work with a vaudeville sketch in the various cities.

"I am confident," said Anson today, "that I still can play first base well enough for the average of the minor league clubs. I still have my batting eye and may yet be seen in the big league as a pinch hitter."

It is regarded as certain that Anson will be invited to make the trip. President Murphy asked him to go last year, but business engagements here prevented Anson from accepting the offer.

KOHLER WILL TAKE RACERS TO ENGLAND.

London, Jan. 17.—Charles Kohler, the American turfman, who recently purchased Samuel C. Hildreth's stable and engaged Hildreth to train for him, has arrived in England and is looking for quarters at Newmarket. Mr. Kohler says that he intends to bring thirteen horses to race in England.

THE FIRESIDE CLARION

For Curlers Only — Honi Soit Qui Mal y Pense

WILL FEED THE CURLERS

Then Those Who Insist Will Have Chance to Speak.

Fodder will be served the curlers at the Commercial club this evening at 6:30.

The grub is the chief attraction, but running that a close second will be the vaudeville program which will follow the feed.

Beatrice Fairfax Tresise will probably be called upon to imitate Harry Lauder and the rest of the curlers will join in the part about "Mary's Kilts."

Col. O'Grady will be given a chance to prove that he is an orator. The Winnipeg man is said to have it on most orators when he tears loose on "'neath the folds of that grand old flog" stuff.

There will be a singing duel between William Kelm of Portage, Wis., and "Jimmie" Myron of Duluth. Portage men think that Kelm has it all over Myron when it comes to tearing off the Scotch in chunks, and the Duluth men are ready to believe them. Myron insists on a chance, however. He stoutly maintains that he is some pumpkins when it comes to warbling. He says that he never tortured a song in his life—he simply killed it dead and stopped its suffering.

Ron Du Pont Smith, the White Hope curler of the Duluth club, will be pitted against Dr. Edward W. Bok Catterson in a capacity contest. This event will feature the first part of the entertainment.

Tom McGilvary has promised to drag his sciatic ticks to the banquet and forget it in an outer room so that the event will be all the more pleasureable to the other curlers.

J. H. Wells will give a curling demonstration with cream pitchers, peppers, and salts. He will rehash the '89 game for the benefit of the present generation and he will be corrected by W. F. Paine from time to time. Mr. Paine, as is well known (it pays to advertise) played against Wells and tonight he will be given a seat near enough to Mr. Wells so that he will have no trouble in reaching him when he starts to get too enthusiastically wrong.

There will be music and song and talks and lots of other things that curlers like.

It will be some event, take it from the Clarion.

King of Them All.

"Bob" Dunbar, king of them all, came up from St. Paul to help the Americans out in the International. He will go back to the Saintly City with his rink tonight.

This morning the crowds followed "Bob" up and down the ice, watching his every move. At a curling bonspiel it is an easy matter to find Dunbar—simply go where the crowd is largest and where people are climbing over each other to watch him.

It was good of "Bob" to come up for the International and the Americans appreciate it. Cool, collected, steady and on the job every minute, Dunbar usually gets away with his game.

Bob is almost a painfully neat person. He wears a blue sweater, his tie is just so, he wears a severely plain cap. His costume is always the same. The 1911 bonspiel might still be on for all Bob has changed in looks, for he appeared today just as he did in Duluth a year ago.

"Is Dunbar coming?" is always the first thing thought about when a bonspiel is announced. Last year the St. Paul curler nearly sewed up the 'spiel. This year he could leave St. Paul for but a single day. We were glad to have him for only that short time, though.

A German Curler?

Here is Sir Tammas McGilvary. Sir Tammas was down South when the 'spiel was announced and he hurried right back.

He's not very much of a curler, but what's the difference.

He doesn't always wear his cap the way it appears in the picture.

Sir Tam says that the South would be all right if he could move Phil Seymour and Naughton and the rest of the Duluth club down there, and if the weather would permit a bonspiel once in a while, and if you like the South or can get accustomed to it.

Broomstraws.

"Chass" Brewer is being missed. Chass certainly knows what tastes good at a banquet. Last year he was in charge of this event. Chass is on his wedding trip and no one begrudges it to him, only a great many are wishing that he had arranged to get married at some other time.

J. H. Wakefield of Lambton county, Ont., "the man of dreams," is right on the job. In his sleep he can always see himself winning carloads of trophies. Just for a joke he is going to be allowed to win one some time. Last night he dreamed that he was down in the finals in all the events at the present 'spiel, and he had to play all the games at once. He was some busy—in his dreams. It is stated that he had to get out of Lambton county for a time. Not surprising, for anybody would have to get out of Lambton county "for a time." He picked Duluth, and Zenith City men are glad that he did.

When "Jimmy" Cleland of Winnipeg and Tom McGilvray of Duluth got together this morning they had a long talk about the time they went to the bonspiel at Sault Ste. Marie and "copped" a prize. Neither remembered whether it was first or second, or what event it was in. It was: "Remember that long draw for the button, Jimmy?" and such statements as that which got on the nerves of the other curlers, and they were told to cut the goulash or get out of the rink. Said Tom: "I know a place where we won't be interrupted, Jimmy," and they left.

Dougal McArthur of Winnipeg couldn't get a full rink to make the trip to Duluth with him, so he brought two pairs of rocks and one man. He depended upon the Duluth club to lend him two players, and he had his rink filled almost as soon as he explained his situation. Dougal showed the right spirit.

The real Scotch game of the bonspiel came yesterday afternoon, when McGilvray and Neil of Winnipeg met. "It's good Scot—sch!" sez Neil.

Dr. Catterson of Duluth is cultivating a sort of "turkey trot" which he is using to advantage in his trips up and down the ice.

Thistledown.

Every curler misses the little red pigs that used to scamper over the "hog" line. They used to be stamped in red upon the ice very artistically, the twist in their tails being particularly true to life. In the rush of everything they must have been overlooked this year.

With the American and Canadian flags the interior of the rink has a very pleasing appearance. If any one wants to see how quickly Ben Petz can get a peeve on, they might cast their eyes over the decorations and remark: "Rotten!"

Bob Dunbar celebrated his annual trip to Duluth yesterday by taking a fall out of Sullivan of West Duluth. The St. Paul man won, 14 to 4.

Willie Dinham "hasn't scratched yet."

"Mac" Rochon of Winnipeg "still retains his boyish laughter."

"Has anybody at the rink seen Kelly?"

The feature of the present bonspiel is the large number of spectators at the rink from early morning until late at night. At 1 o'clock last night there was still a large number anxious to stay for the finish. The women, too, seem to be greatly interested for they are turning out in large numbers to see the games.

Ron Smith is treating the 'spiel seriously this year.

Tucker slipped twice yesterday. What's the matter with the Pardeeville man?

DULUTH'S "KID SKIP" GIVES DUNBAR A HARD BATTLE

Dinham Defeated 10 to 7 After Having One Point Lead.

Other Interesting Games Played During the Morning Session.

Clearly the feature game of this morning's play was the contest between Dinham and Dunbar, with the famous St. Paul star playing third for his rink and Griggs doing the skipping. Dinham went down for his first defeat of the bonspiel, the veterans from St. Paul winning after one of the prettiest battles of the week by the score of 10 to 7.

Getting away with two in the first head, Dinham was overtaken by the Dunbar crowd in the second head. Dunbar's rink laid two more in the third and Dinham pulled up by lying one in the fourth. Dunbar came back with one in the fifth. In the next head the Duluth man pulled up on even terms with the visitors, bringing a hand from the big gallery that followed closely every detail of the play.

Dunbar again went into the lead by lying one in the seventh, but in the eighth Dinham's rink did some good curling and laid two, going into the lead. At this point the chances of victory seemed to favor Dinham. While unsteady at times, the younger rink had been coming all the time.

But the fortunes of the game seemed to shift on the next head, Dunbar laying one in this head and one in each of the remaining heads. Dinham's rink failed on several exceedingly difficult shots at critical places during the latter part of the game, but the members of the younger rink have the satisfaction of knowing that it required some of the best curling of the spiel to register the first defeat that has been chalked up against them.

Shaver of Virginia sprung a surprise by defeating Morrison of Winnipeg by the score of 11 to 7 in the Minneapolis Curling club event. The veteran McDiarmid won from Chadwick of Superior and Neil of Winnipeg took a game from Evered of West Duluth in this event.

Jamie Myron got into play today, taking the place of Farmer in the Western Curling club event and going down to defeat before Dr. Judson of West Duluth. McAuley forfeited to Myron and Stansburry failed to appear for his game with Dunlop of Duluth.

What was expected to be a battle royal in the Duluth Curling club event between Johnny Oldham and Ron McLeod, turned into a rather easy victory for big Ron over small Johnny. The score was 14 to 5 in favor of McLeod, who got away to a lead of nine in the first five rounds.

McArthur of Winnipeg is not going to play in the International, and as Oldham has withdrawn from this event, Stewart of St. Paul and Kelly of Winnipeg will meet in one of the first games. Bob Dunbar announced today that he is going to leave for home tonight. The veteran St. Paul curler has found it impossible to remain longer.

Following is the result of the games played in the morning draw:

CRACK BASKET BALL TEAM HERE

The Triple B basket ball team of Billings, Mont., which is on a tour of eight states, now working their way back home, invading as far east as Chicago, is in the city and will play the C. A. C. tomorrow night.

The team has made an enviable record, winning seventeen out of nineteen games played on the road, playing every evening. They recently defeated Portage, Wis., National A. A. U. champions on their home floor, being the first team to accomplish this feat in six years.

The team is sent out by the Billings Chamber of Commerce and is carying literature pertaining to Billings and the Treasure state.

Manager-Captain Markham of the Westerners was at one time captain of the "Big Bemidji" quint, four years ago.

This is the third year Billings has been together. The team holds the championship of Montana, North and South Dakota and Wyoming.

STATE GROCERS WILL MEET HERE

Arrangements are being made for the state convention of grocers and merchants which will be held in Duluth Feb. 20, 21 and 22, at the Spalding hotel. Excellent entertainment will be furnished and some of the most prominent commercial men in the state will be present.

All local merchants are being requested to take an active part and get in touch with as many outside men in the state and in adjoining states as possible.

DEMOCRATS OF FOURTH WARD HOLD MEETING.

The Fourth ward Democrats met at the People's hotel last night and perfected an organization for the municipal campaign. Michael Lynch, former deputy oil inspector; John Boyer and others made addresses. Mayor Cullum and Alderman H. P. Curren of the Fourth ward were indorsed. George Neff was chosen chairman of the permanent organization and subchairman for all the precincts were selected.

OF BENEFIT TO DULUTH

Influx of Canadian Grain Will Stimulate Many Industries.

Greater Part of Supply Will Be Exported in Spring.

Duluth grain brokers do not expect the new railroad grain rates, which were allowed yesterday by the interstate commerce commission, to have any great or lasting effect on the price of wheat at Duluth or elsewhere in the United States.

They expect a large influx of Canadian wheat, but they do not think a great deal more Canadian wheat will be actually marketed in this country than would have been the case if the new rates had never gone into effect. They are of the opinion, however, that the vastly increased quantities of wheat coming into Duluth for storage and going out in the spring from the Duluth ports will mean a great deal of commercial benefit to Duluth while the new rates are in effect.

"As I understand it," said A. D. Goodman, president and general manager of the Duluth Universal Milling company, "the new rates are but a temporary makeshift to afford the holders of Western Canadian wheat an opportunity of getting their wheat stored in bond in the United States, owing to the want of storage facilities in their own country, and that the new rates are to go out of effect about the first of May. Of course this will mean a vast deal of Canadian wheat being shipped to Duluth for storage in our elevators. The railroads running into Duluth from that direction will have the advantage of increased tonnage. Our elevators will have that much more storage business and our steamship lines will have more tonnage after navigation opens. But there is such a supply of American wheat on hand that I do not think there will be any such demand for the Canadian wheat as will induce the payment of the 25-cent duty that the grain may be marketed in this country. Of course, if there should be a shortage of wheat in this country before there is another crop, there would be a great demand for the Canadian wheat in store in this country's elevators, but I do not look for that. I look to see great quantities of wheat stored in our elevators this winter and shipped out from the Duluth port for foreign export as soon as navigation opens. When large amounts of wheat are seen in the Duluth elevators, it may have some sentimental effect on the market, but I do not think such an effect would be far-reaching or would last any great length of time."

Julius H. Barnes, president of the Ames-Brooks company, when asked what he thought of the probable effect of the new rates, said: "It will undoubtedly mean a large movement of Canadian wheat for export through Duluth."

Restores Men to Vital Vigor

The weakling must stand aside today; it is the strong, vital, healthy man who succeeds — who has the courage to meet all dangers. I can give you this vital strength.

Vitality is the thing which makes success; it gives men that compelling power which sends them forth eager and equipped to meet and overcome all obstacles; it is the thing which gives our young men courage to face death; it is the thing which inspires and holds a woman's love and faith. No matter what your age, I can give you this same vitality: I can restore the vigor you have lost from any cause. I can make you "young" and keep you "young." From an intimate and studious observation of possibly 100,000 weakened men I say to you that vitality or the lack of it means all the difference between a healthy man and a half man. The man who bubbles with vital power will exert a pleasing influence upon all with whom he comes in contact; women are naturally attracted to him, as are men. Lack of vitality is a negative condition, and it even ropels. You wear my Health Belt and suspensory attachment all night; it sends a great, glowing, health-giving current of electro vimilt into your nerves, blood and organs; it takes all the "kink" out of your back and all the coward out of your make-up; it puts you right up in the "feeling fine" class and keeps you there. No stimulation, no false results; just a sure return to manhood and courage. Recommended also for rheumatism, pain in the back, kidney, liver, stomach and bladder disorders. It makes you feel young and keeps you feeling young forever.

Let Me Send You This Book Free

Here is my latest illustrated book, "Health In Nature," a fund of private information relating to weaknesses of men. All men, young or old, can read every word of this little publication with great profit. Sent to you in plain, sealed envelope by mail. The book is not written with the idea of compelling you to use my Health Belt; it is meant merely as a guide for men, and while my Belt is fully described, there is absolutely no obligation on your part to purchase. I simply want you to read this book that you may know certain truths about all weaknesses which have never been printed before. Vitality is the greatest thing in the world, and I can supply you with it. Please fill in the coupon, or drop into my office for free consultation and test of Belt. Hours; 9 to 6.

TWO MORE WOMEN TAKEN ON WHITE SLAVERY CHARGE

The nature of two of the five secret indictments returned by the grand jury was revealed yesterday when May Fisher and May Ross were arrested on the Cuyuna range on the charge of inducing girls to lead an immoral life. Five girls are said to have been taken from Duluth early in the winter and kept in an immoral resort.

May Fisher is a character well known to the police and range officials. She is said to have come to Duluth with the Ross woman early in the winter and five girls were induced to go to the resort on the range. Two of the girls are said to have lived there for two weeks, two others two nights, and the fifth four weeks.

The indictments were secured as the result of the work of Chief of Police Troyer. During the session of the grand jury, Jessie Stanic, aged 18, the fifth girl, appeared to give testimony in another case. Chief Troyer had obtained some knowledge regarding the Ross and Fisher woman, and brought her before the jury. As a result she told the whole story of how the girls had been taken and of their life at the resort.

PREPARING FOR ABDICATION.

London, Jan. 17.—Further discussion of the question of the abdication of the Chinese throne has been adjourned until Friday, according to a news agency dispatch from Tien Tsin. The conference held today by the princes of the imperial clan at the palace was inconclusive.

The empress dowager, during the conference, was keenly affected by her position. She wept bitterly as she informed the princes that she thought the abdication of the throne had become imperative.

Prince Ching, the former premier, assented to this view, but the younger princes took an attitude of strenuous opposition to the passiveness of Prince Ching and urged upon the empress dowager to refuse to abdicate.

Mongolian Revolt Growing.

Pekin, Jan. 17.—The revolutionary movement in Mongolia is making considerable progress. The proclamation of autonomy by the Mongols of Khalla is confirmed. The imperial troops stationed in the town did not offer any opposition. Frequent reports reach Pekin that the Mongols have taken cities, sometimes with and sometimes without opposition.

DOCTORS OPEN OFFICES!

ANNOUNCEMENT

Yesterday our offices were opened and we invite all suffering men and women to come and see us, whether they want to take treatment or not. We want especially those who have tried to get a cure for their trouble elsewhere and did not get cured. We offer every afflicted man and woman our curative treatments for half the fee they would be charged otherwise, for all the month of January. We regret that we are not in a position to answer the many letters we have received from patients out-of-town and would like to request them to call at our office personally if possible. There will be no charges for consultation and examination to those who are earnestly looking for a cure. We make no wrong diagnosis, as we have secured the best diagnostician; we make no false statements nor promises; we make no failures because we take no incurable cases, however many cases have been cured by our system of treatments who had been pronounced as incurable. We want people with the worst kind of troubles, we want them in order to prove to the people of Duluth what we can do for them if Medicine, Massage, Bake Oven and everything else has failed to cure them. We want them at once and offer them the benefit of a reduction of half the fee: if health is worth anything it is worth this.

TELLS OF WAR ON LOCAL BUTCHERS

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Reading of lists of car routes, containing 3,200 towns in which Morris & Co. sold meat directly from the car to retailers, occupied most of the morning session at the packers' trial today.

Harry A. Timmins, chief accountant for Morris & Co., who has been on the stand five days, read the list and explained that they were used to distribute fresh meat in towns where the demand was insufficient to maintain an agent or branch house.

The witness said that in each of these 3,200 towns Morris & Co. was brought into active competition with local butchers and was obliged to undersell them in order to dispose of the products. He declared that the packers, by means of a comprehensive system of marketing their by-products, were enabled to undersell the local butcher.

RAILROAD WRECKS BEING CONSIDERED

Officials Explaining Rail Accidents to North Dakota Railway Commission.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A number of prominent railroad men representing all the lines in North Dakota, appeared before the state railroad commission at a session here this morning, and the cause of the many recent railroad wrecks in this state was discussed. That extreme cold weather caused wheels to lock, that is become set when the lubricating oil congealed after the train has stood for some time and this in turn caused the wheels to wear flat as they slipped instead of revolved over slippery rails are believed to be the primary cause by some of the prominent railroad officials. These flat wheels then cracked the rails which were made already brittle by the cold.

The railroad men admitted that some of the rails had proved to be extremely brittle in the cold. They said that they were now getting a better grade of rails.

Among the railroad men here were: J. M. Gruber, general manager; W. D. Scott, general superintendent; P. C. Allen, superintendent of the Dakota division and James Robinson, division freight agent of the Great Northern; General Manager Goodell and Supt. Johnson, the latter from Dilworth, Minn., and Attorney C. J. Murphy of Grand Forks, representing the Northern Pacific; Supt. Potter of the Soo; General Superintendent Foster of the Milwaukee and General Superintendent Dyke of the Northwestern.

WORK ON CHURCH WELL UNDER WAY

Proctor Edifice Will Be Completed By May 1—Subscriptions Cover Cost.

Work on the new Proctor Methodist church is now well under way and the edifice is expected to be ready for occupancy by May 1. The building was started Dec. 1 and most of the necessary $15,000 required for its cost has already been subscribed.

The congregation has outgrown the present little church and for the past three months has been holding services in the local I. O. O. F. hall. Rev. Charles W. Ramshaw, pastor, has been very active during the past year working for the new church, obtaining subscriptions from the congregation.

The new church will be modern in every respect and will have an auditorium with a seating capacity of 500. A full basement will be put in for the heating plant and the various church societies. Several ante rooms are to be built around the auditorium with a device for opening up into the main hall if necessary.

COLLEGE NEEDS MORE SPACE

Vacant Houses and Rooms Are Being Used By Students at Smithville.

Owing to the congested conditions at the Finnish Working People's college at Smithville, all the vacant houses and rooms in this vicinity have been rented and arranged for school rooms. The board has decided to enlarge the college in the spring and will build two more stories on the main building and a large wing on the south end.

The new buildings were finished last fall and were made to accommodate only about 100 students. There are 125 attending the school at present and with the second semester starting in a few weeks, those at the head of the institution are at a loss as to what arrangements to make. There is only one story to the dormitory but the building was first built for an additional two if necessary.

There are four teachers in the school under the direction of Prof. George Sirola, dean of the college. The attendance last year was ninety-two.

ENGINEERS MAKE ESTIMATES

Plans Made to Replace Fortieth Avenue Bridge and Pave Oneota Street.

The city engineering department is making an estimate for the replacing of the Fortieth avenue bridge at Oneota street with a culvert and fill early in the spring. The department is also making an estimate on the cost of paving Oneota street from Forty-sixth to Thirty-sixth avenues west, Jenswold street, and Superior street from the intersection to Twenty-fifth avenue west.

Property owners on the street are behind the new movement and were instrumental in having the engineer's office make the estimate. The street will give an excellent thoroughfare between West Duluth and the city proper and calls for Telford macadam.

The action in asking that the bridge at Fortieth avenue be torn down, is caused by the recent examination made by several West Duluth business men, who reported that the condition of the lumber in the bridge was rotten and it was not safe to permit street cars to cross. The filling in and building of a culvert will do away with the danger and it is also probable that the Forty-third avenue bridge will be treated the same way, if it is found advisable.

NEW GIRDERS ARRIVE.

Supplies for Canadian Northern Line Two Weeks Late.

A trainload of steel girders for the bridges of the Canadian Northern trestle at the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-sixth avenue crossing arrived this afternoon and a double crew of men will go to work tomorrow morning.

A number of riveters are finishing work on the girders at the Fifty-ninth and Fifty-eighth avenue crossings, and the tracks have all been laid to Fifty-seventh avenue west. The recent cold weather delayed trains so that the girders are two weeks late. Every street must be crossed up to Central avenue and the special bridge built across the Northern Pacific tracks at Fifty-third avenue west, before the work is finished.

TREE KILLS VICTOR CARLSON.

Body Is Brought to West Duluth By Victim's Uncle.

While getting timber out of the woods near Kelsey late Monday afternoon, Victor Carlson, 20 years old, had his skull crushed by a falling tree. He was assisting his uncle, Alfred Nelson, 904 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, who took the body to the Fiilatrault undertaking rooms where arrangements for the funeral are to be made this afternoon.

Carlson and his uncle had been in the woods for several days cutting and hauling timber to Kelsey. Mr. Nelson took the body to Kelsey late Monday evening and brought it to the city yesterday afternoon. Carlson had a sister and mother at Midway.

The meeting is to be an open one and will be followed by a luncheon and dance. The officers of the West Duluth lodge are: J. W. Smith, master workman; John Crawford, foreman; Emil Conradson, overseer; Nathan Rall, recorder; J. J. Moran, financial secretary; M. J. Fiilatrault, treasurer; H. Defoe, guide, and Mr. Peterson, watchman.

The officers of the Degree of Honor lodge are: Mrs. H. Defoe, chief of honor; Mrs. Hilda Pollock, past chief of honor; Mrs. Philomine Ganeau, chief of ceremonies; Mrs. Elsie West, lady of honor; Mrs. Hannah Melin, financier; Mrs. Anna Collins, receiver; Mrs. Nellie Brotherton, recorder; Mrs. J. J. Ganley, watch, and the Misses Lena Rivett and Lillian Nevella, ushers.

Grand Foreman J. A. Schumacher will have charge of the installation ceremony and will be the honor guest at the banquet following the ceremonies.

Kruger Funeral Friday.

The funeral of August Kruger, 42 years old, 6409 Elinor street, who died early yesterday morning of heart trouble, will be held at 9 o'clock Friday morning at St. James' Catholic church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Kinnear place. Rev. D. W. Lynch, pastor of the church, will officiate. Interment will be in Calvary cemetery.

Mr. Kruger was taken ill at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, and died before Dr. T. J. Jensen, who was called, could arrive. An autopsy was held on the order of Coroner McCuen. Krueger was a fireman for the Alger-Smith Lumber company. A widow and seven children survive him.

He believes that with this system of safeguarding property by preventing incendiarism will be the means of greatly cutting down the fire losses.

Wanted To Be "Let Alone."

William J. Hunt, who caused the arrest of Joe Aronson on a charge of disorderly conduct Saturday evening, states that he was drawn into the trouble with Aronson against his will and that all he ever wanted was "to be let alone." He claims that Aronson has had a grudge against him since last summer, when he became an unwilling participant in a neighborhood quarrel. He asserted that he ran for the gun Saturday only after Aronson had threatened to assault him, and that he was afraid of Aronson as he is considerably bigger than himself. The case was dismissed in police court Monday afternoon, the city attorney stating that the participants had come to an agreement to settle their differences out of court.

R. R. STRIKE AND RAINS

These Factors in Argentina Bull the World's Wheat Markets.

Bullish Flax News From Buenos Ayres Affects Duluth Prices.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 17.—Duluth May wheat closed today at an advance of 1⅛c by reason of bullish news from other countries, an improved domestic demand and a reaction from the slump that took place late yesterday, when the new railroad rates on Canadian wheat were announced. Cash wheat closed at the May price. Durum closed at an advance of ½c. Duluth January flax closed ½c up and May 1c up by reason of Argentine rains and bullish quotations from Buenos Ayres.

There was a bullish trend in wheat on the chief North American markets during the afternoon. This was rather remarkable in the face of the heavier receipts from the country. These receipts increased rapidly with the opening of the present spell of comparatively mild weather. Today's primary wheat receipts were a little ahead of those of a year ago, and away in advance of those of a week ago.

The bullish movement seems to have been largely the result of cables, especially those from Argentina, where unsettled, wet weather and a continuance of the great railroad strike were reported. Buenos Ayres February wheat closed ½c up last night and opened this morning at an advance of another ¼c. These cables bulled the wheat market at Liverpool. The deferment of Argentine shipments caused a great deal of apprehension on that market, and this together with firmer Australian offers and the expectation of lighter shipments from the Danube region with the closing of navigation of that stream, gave quite an upward impetus to Liverpool wheat. The close on that market was ⅝d to ¾d higher.

In the United States there was an improved demand. This was especially noticeable at Minneapolis, where millers were buying actively. The wire that came from Washington late yesterday, announcing the granting of the lower railroad rates on Western Canadian wheat, had a bearish effect on the wheat markets of both Duluth and Minneapolis, but this was merely a scare. Brokers today felt that there was no logical reason for a break in the wheat market by reason of increased facilities for storing wheat under bond in this country, and the effect of the slump was lost. Duluth May, which closed yesterday at $1.03⅞ asked, opened today at $1.04⅛ bid, and at noon was selling at $1.04½.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Is Bullish on Deferred Argentine Shipments.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Deferment of shipments from the Argentine had a bullish effect today on the price of wheat. Interest was taken in figures showing that the exportable surplus of the United States was only 88,000,000 bu as compared with 141,000,000 bu at this time a year ago. Opening quotations were ¼c to ⅜c higher. May started at 99¾@99⅞c to $1.00, a gain of ¼c to ⅛@⅜c, and rose to $1.00⅝.

The fact that Liverpool prices were on a working basis with Baltimore hardened the market here still more. Besides Minneapolis reported improved demand for flour. The close was steady, ⅝ net higher at $1.00¾@1.00½ for May.

Corn gave evidence of strength due to better cash demand both for domestic and export account. May opened a shade to ¼c up at 65⅝@65½c to 65⅝c, and steadied around 65½c.

Rains and complaints of car scarcity led to a further advance. The close was strong, 1⅛@1¼c net higher for May at 66½@66⅝c.

There was fair buying of oats on the part of shorts. May started unchanged to ⅛c higher at 49½c to 49⅝c and seemed inclined to keep within that limit.

Provisions displayed weakness on account of selling by packers and leading traders. Initial transactions varied from 2½@5c off to 2½c up, with May delivery $16.32½ for pork, $9.52½ for lard and $8.77½ to $8.80 for ribs.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Is Stronger and Moderate Support Is Given to It.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 17.—Wheat was stronger today and some moderate support was given the market. Speculative sentiment bullish following yesterday's liquidation. May and July both closed ⅞c higher than yesterday. Local elevator stocks of wheat increased 175,000 bushels for four days. Carlot wheat receipts: Minneapolis today, 231; week ago, 114; year ago, 219. Duluth, today, 16; week ago, 12; year ago, 26. Winnipeg today, 102; week ago, 148; year ago, 35.

Cash wheat was in good general demand. Both mills and elevators were buyers and the increased offerings were readily disposed of. No. 1 northern sold for the even May price.

Millstuffs — Shipments, 1,715 tons. Prices advanced today on account of excellent demand and light offerings. Mills well booked ahead.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 17.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: The market is beginning to assume a more active tone, and there were a large number of dealers and horse users from Canada and the Northwest looking for general purpose horses. Several carloads were sold for shipment to Canadian points, also several bunches for Wisconsin and Upper Michigan. About 120 head of general purpose and draft horses were among the day's receipts and will be among the offerings at the big Wednesday auction sale. Values are beginning to assume a somewhat firmer tone.

STRENGTH IS LACKING

Firm Undertone Which Marked Stocks on Tuesday Had Disappeared.

Union Pacific Bear Target and Selling of Steel and Reading.

New York, Jan. 17.—Movements of stocks were nominal at the opening of the market today. Trading was unusually light and there was not a sufficient demand from either side of the market to affect the level of prices materially. The only sign of life aside from a decline of a point in Canadian Pacific, was in the coalers and Tobacco stocks. Lehigh Valley gained ½ point, Liggett & Meyers 3, and the preferred stock 15.

Favorite stocks backed and filled within a narrow range. Efforts to raise prices were interfered with by the readiness of traders to sell on rallies. Some of the stocks which figured prominently in yesterday's advance were again bid up. American malting preferred gained 2 points and American Tobacco preferred, Pacific Telephone and Western Union 1.

Neglect of the usual leaders in favor of a few specialties again characterized the market during the morning. Manipulation of the tobacco stocks and bonds continued, and there was a further rise in some of the coalers. Some investment specialties, including the telegraph and telephone issues, were in better demand. The standard stocks were listless, but lacked the firm undertone evident yesterday.

Room traders sold the usual leaders freely in the second hour, and forced prices below yesterday's closing. Union Pacific losing a point. United States Steel, American Smelting and the Hill stocks were decidedly heavy. Pool operations in the Tobacco group were not impeded by the depression elsewhere, these issues all rising considerably higher previously.

Bonds were firm.

Further recessions were made in the afternoon before support became effective and the list rallied. Union Pacific was the bear target and there was spasmodic selling of United States Steel and Reading. Both the old and the new American Tobacco preferred stocks were lifted about 3 points, and some of the other members of the group also went higher. The market closed steady. A better tone manifested itself in the late trading. National Biscuit came forward with a rise of 4 points and Missouri Pacific showed unusual activity at an improvement of a point.

COPPERS HAVE A LISTLESS DAY

This was another, dull listless day on the copper stock market with very little change in the values of the shares. There was little incentive for the shares to rise. The stock market of New York was languid and frequently weak. The encouragement from the London metal market amounted to little, spot and futures closing at an advance of 2s 6d. At the same time, there was no strong influence to pull down the shares. Trading was largely professional, the general public taking very little interest. Among the stocks in which Duluth people are particularly interested, Calumet & Arizona and North American made the best showing, both closing at gains over yesterday.

Gay & Sturgis today received the following telegram from Houghton, Mich.: "Physical conditions at the Lake Copper company were never better than they are at the present time. This is saying a great deal for all who remember the history of the Lake, recognize the fact that some very rich ground will have to be opened to equal that which was shown in the early days of the Lake shaft development, when the stamp mill tests showed such exceptional values in the lode. There is no denying the fact that when the present management took over the control of the Lake property, it was with some misapprehension as to just what the future would have in store for the mineral development of the formation. Gradually such apprehensions have disappeared in the light of underground openings."

The News Letter published by Thompson, Towle & Co. says:

"Stocks of copper in this country are now lower than at any time since the Copper Producers' association, has been in existence. The statement of the Copper Producers' association, showing a decrease in stocks of 22,330,493 pounds for December, places the visible supply in this country as of Jan. 1 at 89,454,695 pounds. On the basis of present consumption and export demand, this supply of copper is sufficient to meet only nineteen days' requirements.

"A noteworthy feature of the December statement is the increase of 12,189,437 pounds in export deliveries. These deliveries reached 79,238,716 pounds and were the largest for any month of the 1911 year. Equally significant is the fact that domestic deliveries decreased 2,051,202 pounds. This indicates that American consumers have failed to satisfy their requirements and the increase of 11,020,000 in production in December should be welcome, as it will help act as a safety valve in preventing a runaway market."

"CARBIDE TRUST" ATTACKS LOCAL COMPANY IN COURTS

Alleging that the American Carbolite company of this city has infringed on certain patents held by the Union Carbide company of Chicago, the latter company has brought an action in equity in the federal court to recover damages and asking for an injunction against any further infringement.

The papers in the case were filed with the clerk of the United States district court this afternoon by Fryberger & Fulton, local attorneys for the Union Carbide company.

The complaint sets forth that certain patents governing new improvements on the process of producing metallic carbides and calcium carbide, the inventors of which were Thomas H. Wilson and Alfred H. Cowles, have been infringed on by the American Carbolite company.

The Chicago concern asks the court to require the local carbolite company to disclose its books showing the profits made on products turned out by the patented machinery and processes involved in the action. It also asks that such an amount of the company's profits and gains as the court may direct, be paid over to the Union Carbide company for damages.

ITALIAN GIRL WILL BE MET BY LOVER WITH LICENSE

Twenty-year-old Caterina Guzzo is on her way from Sunny Italy to Duluth, and thereby hangs a tale.

She is a bride-to-be, and immediately upon her arrival here will be married to her old-time sweetheart, Stefano Cuda, now a resident of Duluth.

All preparations for the wedding have taken place. She will be escorted directly from the train to the church, where the nuptial knot will be tied.

Mr. Cuda, who is a young man, let the clerk who issues the licenses at the courthouse in on his secret, when he secured his marriage license yesterday.

The prospective groom is a laborer and at the present time is living at 1125 West Superior street.

The wedding will be solemnized by Rev. Father J. Zarilli, pastor of St. Peter's Italian Catholic church, Eleventh avenue west and Superior street.

Just what day the wedding will take place cannot be determined until it is known when the bride-to-be will arrive. It is thought that she will be here Saturday.

Cuda and his intended were sweethearts in Italy, both having been raised in the same town, Pianopoli.

CLEANED.. ALONG THE POLICE RUN

The old saying, "You can never tell what a jury will do," was brought to mind in police court yesterday afternoon when Gust Lundgren, charged with having deer meat in his possession unlawfully, was acquitted by the twelve men who heard the action.

After the verdict had been read and the jury discharged, one of the jurors remarked to a court official that "we thought that he was guilty, all right, but we didn't want to convict him because he is a poor settler." The prisoner is a logging contractor with several camps in operation.

The statement of the juror shows that the jury didn't think that the sample of meat brought in by Deputy Game Warden G. H. Huseby was bear meat, as claimed. Half a dozen of the oldest and most experienced hunters in the city were put on the stand by the state, and all of them swore that the meat shown them was venison. They were very positive in their declarations that there was no room for doubt. But what the jury appears to have considered was whether the ends of justice would be served by convicting a poor man, as they thought, of getting fresh meat for his table.

The case was one of the most interesting which has been heard in municipal court for a long while. The court room was filled with an audience which listened to the testimony closely. They all seemed anxious to learn how deer meat could be distinguished from other meat. They found out that it was largely a matter of experience and that one can learn to identify venison just about as easily as the butcher learns to know the difference between mutton and beef and other meats.

The attorney for the defense tried to bring out that the game warden and the man with him had been drinking intoxicating liquor, but when Deputy Huseby was on the stand his cross examination along this line was a boomerang, coming back on himself.

"You had been drinking that morning, hadn't you?" asked the attorney.

"Yes," answered the deputy.

"Your friend Thompson had a bottle of whisky, hadn't he?" was the next question, and everybody thought the game warden was putting himself in a hole.

"Not that I saw," was the unexpected answer.

"You said that you had been drinking, didn't you," asked the lawyer.

"Yes."

"Well, what were you drinking, then."

"Water, and lots of it."

It was several minutes before the laugh at the expense of the attorney subsided.

Speaking of the above case and the verdict of the jury calls to mind an old story which has been told on a former prominent judge in Duluth.

A prisoner was being tried for stealing a valuable watch. The judge thought that the evidence was conclusive and plainly showed the defendant's guilt. In his instructions he made this apparent.

When the jury came back it returned a verdict of not guilty. For a minute the judge was non-plussed. He discharged the jury and in discharging the prisoner he showed his feelings by saying, "Next time you are arrested I hope it will be stealing the watch of one of these jurors."

Smallpox must be a baffling disease to some physicians. A woman employed downtown was sent to the pest house by Police Surgeon Murphy yesterday. She said that she had seen two doctors, one of whom had told her that she had a skin disease, while the other had said she had pneumonia and bad blood. Dr. Murphy lost no time in having her isolated and in having steps taken to check up her past movements to prevent any spread of the disease if possible.

T. A. Scarlett of West First street, who dropped his bank deposit of $246 in cash and $1,500 in checks, has recovered his wealth. He advertised for its return, offering a reward of $100. The police say that the man who found the fortune was walking right behind Mr. Scarlett when he lost it.

The case of George H. Gallup, arrested on a charge of perjury in connection with the suit of Adelmer Snyder against J. F. McCarthy, which has been on trial in the district court the last week, was continued until Jan. 18 at 2 o'clock in police court yesterday afternoon. Gallup is charged with having sworn falsely in connection with a list of lands which he claimed to have had in his possession. He is out on $500 cash bail.

The trial of Seka Cankoviez of New Duluth, accused of having sold whisky unlawfully, was begun in police court this morning. The woman's defense is that she sold the two stool pigeons meals for 15 cents each, but not any booze. She claims that if they got any whisky it was given to them for nothing by her husband.

ADVERTISE IN THE SOUTH

Florida Railroad Will Tell Dixielanders It Is Cool in Duluth.

C. W. Humphrey of St. Paul, district passenger agent of a number of Eastern lines and the Florida East Coast railway, is in the city today securing a number of advertising pamphlets from Maj. Eva of the Commercial club for use in the booklets the railroad is getting out for the people in the South. Mr. Humphrey said this afternoon that the officials of the Florida line and the new lines across the Keys are planning to advertise Duluth in the South as the cool town in summer.

"It's Cool in Duluth" will be told to every resident of the states below Illinois, and an advertising campaign is to be started by the same company in the North in which the people north of Chicago will be told of the weather in the South during the winter months.

The new line across the Keys, which was recently finished to Key West, "America's Gibraltar," was one of the greatest engineering feats of modern times. A special steamship line is now running to Cuba and round trip tickets from Duluth to Havana are on sale. A Duluthian may take a trip to Cuba with only one change of trains at Chicago, where the Florida Coast line meets the Duluth train.

In speaking of the claims that such a trip costs a very large sum of money, Mr. Humphrey showed pamphlets issued by the hotels at the winter resorts along the railroad line in which the prices range from $2 up on the American plan. "There are hotels in your home town that charge more than the Southern winter resorts," said Mr. Humphrey.

LEGAL NOTICES.

ORDER FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR ADMINISTRATION—
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis—ss.
In Probate Court.
In the Matter of the Estate of Josephine Sharvy, Decedent.
THE PETITION of Elizabeth Sharvy having been filed in this Court, representing, among other things, that Josephine Sharvy, then being a resident of the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, died intestate in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, on the twentieth day of December, 1911; leaving estate in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, and that said petitioner is the daughter of said decedent, and praying that Letters of Administration of the estate of said decedent be granted to said Elizabeth Sharvy.
IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard before this Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House in Duluth, in said County, on Monday, the fifth day of February, 1912, at ten o'clock A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.
ORDERED FURTHER, That this Order be served by publication in The Duluth Herald according to law, and that a copy of this Order be served on the County Treasurer of St. Louis County not less than ten days prior to said day of hearing.
Dated at Duluth, Minn., February 9th, 1912.
By the Court,
S. W. GILPIN, Judge of Probate.
(Seal, Probate Court, St. Louis County, Minn.)
D. H., Jan. 10, 17 and 24.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
Notice is hereby given that an application has been made to me by Sarah E. Whelan, under the provisions of Chapter 393 of the General Laws of Minnesota for the year 1893, for a deed of so much of lots fifty-two, fifty-four, fifty-six, fifty-eight, sixty and sixty-two, West Austin street, and lot fifty-nine West Greenlee street in that part of Duluth formerly called Portland, as lies within the limits of lots fourteen, fifteen and sixteen in block one hundred fifty-nine, Portland Division of Duluth, in St. Louis county, Minnesota, according to the plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for St. Louis county, Minnesota.
Said application will be heard before me at the Court House in the City of Duluth, Minnesota, on Saturday, the 10th day of February, 1912, at 9:30 o'clock in the forenoon, and it is Ordered, That notice of such application and hearing be given to all persons in interest by the publication hereof in The Duluth Herald, a daily newspaper published at Duluth, Minnesota, once in each week on the same day of the week for three successive weeks before said day of hearing.
Dated January 17, 1912.
HOMER B. DIBELL, A Judge of the District Court of the Eleventh Judicial District, County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota.

HERO MEDALS GIVEN TO THREE SUPERIOR MEN BY COMMISSION

Wetton, Conley and Munnings Also Get $1,000 Each for Lifesaving.

Carnegie Awards for Bravery Are Announced at Pittsburg.

St. Ignace Boy's Father Is Given Token of His Late Son's Courage.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 18.—Acts of heroism in many parts of the country received substantial recognition today in the awards of the Carnegie Hero Fund commission, which gave large sums of money, medals and other recognition to a large number of persons who have figured in acts of bravery.

Three men from Superior, Wis., and one from St. Ignace, Mich., come in for recognition. They are Samuel A. Wetton, John Conley and W. J. Munnings of Superior, each of whom gets $1,000 and a bronze medal. A silver medal is given to the father of Saul M. Krieger of St. Ignace.

The awards in full are:

Bronze medal to Paul Jones, Jr., aged 24, student, attempted to save Charles H. Wigmore, aged 23, and John F. Murphy, aged 23, from drowning at Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 9, 1909.

Bronze medal and $1,000 to Mrs. Della R. Powers, aged 32, who saved Joseph Kennedy, aged 3, from being run over by a train at Rockdale, Mass., Dec. 9, 1909.

Bronze medal and $1,000 to Charles V. Swain, aged 23, student, saved John Halton, aged 42, physician and hotel proprietor, from drowning at Sarasota, Fla., Dec. 29, 1909.

Bronze medal and $1,000 to Peter C. Banfield, aged 27, foreman of linemen, who rescued John F. Casey, aged 42, lineman, from electric shock at Windsor, Conn., Nov. 27, 1909.

Bronze medal and $2,000 to Levi Jackson, aged 32, fisherman, helped to save William H. Haskell, aged 46, sea captain; Ida M. Haskell, aged 34, and twelve others from drowning at Edgartown, Mass., Jan. 23, 1910.

Bronze medal and $1,000 to Patrick

FORTUNE TELLERS ARE IN TROUBLE

New York Police Raid Such Establishments in That City.

New York, Jan. 18.—A crusade against fortune tellers, crystal gazers and palm readers is under way, and several local soothsayers unable to foresee coming police raids have been caught in the net. Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty says he intends to drive all persons who pretend to have "second sight" out of town.

"CORPSE" ASKS IF IT ISN'T RAINING

Aged North Carolina Man Surprises Mourners By Sitting Up.

Asheville, N. C., Jan. 18.—When Robert Smith, an aged resident of South Hominy, apparently ceased to breathe, his friends thought he was dead. They prepared him for burial and named the hour for services. Several hours after these preliminaries mourners gathered about the room observed a movement of the supposed dead man's arms.

Mr. Smith half rose, opened one eye and exclaimed:

"It's raining! Ain't it?"

Then he sank back.

Despite these manifestations the shroud was not removed and twenty-four hours later Mr. Smith again was pronounced dead. Burial will take place today. He was 70 years old.

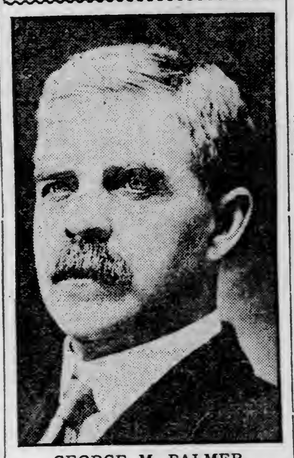

REBEL ADVANCE ON PEKIN BEGUN

Transports Carrying 4,000 Republican Troops Leave Woo Sung.

Shanghai, Jan. 18.—Four transports conveying 4,000 republican troops, chiefly infantry and artillery, sailed today from Woo Sung for Che Foo. Several other transports are lying at Woo Sung prepared to depart for the same destination with further detachments.

This is the beginning of the plan of campaign drawn up by the republican commanders for an advance on Pekin. The plan as arranged is that five columns shall advance simultaneously from Che Foo, through Shan Tung, Ho Nan, Hu Peh and Shan Si, all converging on the capital.

MAY SUCCEED MACK IN PARTY COMMITTEE

GEORGE M. PALMER.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 18.—Discussion of the chairmanship of the Democratic state committee of New York is active. Norman Mack, chairman of the committee, has resigned and his successor will be chosen in a few days. The choice lies between Col. Samuel J. Tilden of Columbia county and George W. Palmer of Schoharie county, both prominent in Democratic state politics.

TURNS DOWN SOCIALISTS

Mine Workers' Convention Rejects Resolution on Politics.

Partisans Yield, Satisfied With Earlier Action of Union.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 18.—By a vote of 515 to 155, the convention of the United Mine Workers of America refused today to adopt a resolution committing the organization to the Socialist party, and approved the substitute measure of the resolutions committee declaring "it would be well if workers would unite in the political as well as the industrial field." The resolutions committee had reported that it would be unconstitutional for the United Mine Workers to indorse any political party.

Socialists in the convention, after having succeeded yesterday in putting it on record favoring "government ownership of all industries," had determined overnight it would be prejudicial to their cause to press today the resolution indorsing the Socialist party as the "political party of the laboring class."

Statement by Walker.

"We decided," said John H. Walker, president of the Illinois miners and a Socialist leader, "that it would be impolitic at this time for the convention to attempt to bind the 300,000 miners in the United Mine Workers' union to the Socialist party. Republican and Democratic delegates expressed resentment against our campaign and we have no purpose to antagonize them.

"We have succeeded in showing by the demonstrations approving the Socialist orators, that the movement has gained enormously in the ranks of the United Mine Workers in the last year. This will be shown at the polls at the coming elections."

A bill providing for old age pensions for men and women past 60 years, introduced in congress by the Socialist representative from Wisconsin, Victor

FIFTY-THREE GO DOWN WITH SHIP

British Steamer Founders on the Coast of Scotland.

Aberdeen, Scotland, Jan. 18.—The British steamer Wistowhall was wrecked early today on the Bullers of Buchan, a group of dangerous rocks off the coast of Aberdeenshire. Fifty-three of her crew were drowned. Fifty of them went down with the ship and five others clung to the wreckage, but only two of them succeeded in reaching shore.

The seas were so huge that it was impossible to launch a lifeboat. The lifeboat crew of the village of Bullers tried several times to put out to sea, but their craft was hurled back onto the shore. Most of the drowned sailors were Lascars.

The Wistowhall was a vessel of 2,139 tons and was built at Greenock, Scotland, in 1899. She was owned by the Hall line of Liverpool.

Capt. Stoddart of the Wistowhall, who was one of those rescued, says the Wistowhall drifted helplessly for hours before a terrible gale. Her fires were extinguished, as the seas flooded the engine room during the night.

CUBANS IN AGREEMENT

Gomez and Party Leaders Are Determined to Avoid Intervention.

Representative of Veterans Gives Assurance of Peace.

Havana, Jan. 18.—An official statement was given out today regarding the conference held last night at the palace between President Gomez and representatives of all the political factions and the veterans. The statement is as follows:

"The meeting terminated with everyone breathing words of patriotism which filled the president with optimism because he found in his old companions in arms and in all the others present, a firm determination to save the republic, as might be expected from those professing their love for the Cuban fatherland."

Details Kept Secret.

Details of the terms of agreement reached at the conference have not yet been given out and possibly they will be the subject of further conference. It is probable, however, that one of the first actions to be taken will be the passage by congress of an act revoking the annulment of the civil service law and thus putting an end to

WILL ENFORCE RESERVE LAW

Banks Will Be Required to Observe It Strictly Hereafter.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Comptroller of the Currency Murray today took steps to compel all national banks of the country to maintain their legal reserves. The law regulating the reserves, the most drastic in the national bank act, never has been strictly enforced, it is said.

The national bank examiners now will report on all banks whose reserves continually are below the legal limit. While most of the banks maintain proper reserves, there are some which have disregarded the law for ten years. Under the statute, the comptroller is authorized to appoint a receiver for any bank that fails to hold its legal reserve or to call upon the attorney general to revoke the charter.

MORSE'S SENTENCE TO BE COMMUTED

Washington, Jan. 18.—President Taft will today commute the fifteen-year sentence of Charles W. Morse. It is believed. It was learned on good authority that the president is about to act in view of the serious physical condition of the former banker.

SITUATION IN MISSOURI

Contest Between Clark and Folk at Primaries Is Important.

Electoral Vote of State May Depend Upon the Result.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Today the most interesting, as it is the most immediate, political situation is that in Missouri. It is interesting because it involves the presidental prospects of Champ Clark, speaker of the house of representatives, and Joseph Folk, ex- governor of Missouri. It involves furthermore, what is of vastly more importance, the electoral vote of Missouri which nowadays is an uncertain factor. Everybody doesn't remember that Taft won it last time, so it may be worth while to set down here that the Republicans then carried the state by 629 votes. Finally the Missouri political situation is the most immediate, for on Feb. 12 the primaries will be held to determine whether the state delegation shall be for Clark or for Folk. Upon that decision much of importance may hang.

Washington is watching the Missouri contest with notable interest. Among members of the house of representatives the belief is strong that Clark will carry the primaries, and thereby get the delegation. Undoubtedly if congress could do the voting this would be the result. But there are lots of Missourians other than

WILL NOT TALK OF GIRL'S DEATH

Rev. McFarland Says His Friends Must Be His Judges.

Greeneville, Tenn., Jan. 18.—"As to my innocence or guilt, my friends will have to judge for themselves from my past record," declared Rev. Dr. W. D. McFarland today before the arrival of an officer who was to take him to Pittsburg to answer a coroner's charge that he was responsible for the death of his former secretary, Elsie Dodds Coe.

"I am expecting an officer to reach here from Pittsburg today," said the minister to the Associated Press. "I will tell my story to the grand jury. So far as I know, Miss Coe was a good girl. She was like a child to me. I loved her as my own daughter."

Mr. McFarland declined to say whether he had been in Pittsburg this month, declaring it was "nobody's business but my own." McFarland admitted he knew Rollin McConnell, said to have been mentioned in Miss Coe's dying statement as having been responsible for her condition.

McFarland is held in jail here. The confinement appears to have affected him considerably, according to the jailer, who says the minister is nervous and sleeps little. Dr. McFarland's wife is in a hotel here, and probably will accompany him to Pittsburg.

NORTHWESTERN DEMOCRATIC GET-TOGETHER CONFERENCE IS AN UNQUALIFIED SUCCESS

WATTERSON OLD SCOLD

Says Wilson's Western Manager, Discussing Break With Col. Harvey.

Desire to Stop Damaging Talk Caused Governor to Act.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Henry Watterson is an old scold," said Charles G. Heffner of Seattle this morning in regard to the statement given out by the Louisville editor on the reported break between Governor Wilson and Col. Harvey of Harper's Weekly. Mr. Heffner is here as Governor Wilson's representative at the Democratic conference.

"I know the history of the affair and Governor Wilson's attitude is beyond reproach," continued Mr. Heffner. "The bonds of Harper's Weekly are owned by J. Pierpont Morgan, and everybody knows he is in a position to dictate the policy of the paper. Col. Harvey, a warm friend of Governor Wilson, was jeopardizing his position by his advocacy of Wilson's nomination. Many people, not understanding that, believed the support to come from Morgan. Injury to the Wilson cause was inevitable, and Governor Wilson, out of friendship for Col. Harvey and a desire to stop damaging talk, requested that the support be withdrawn."

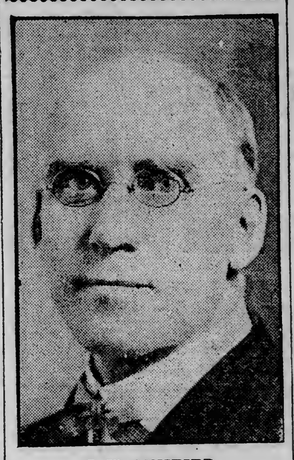

Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, California, Colorado and North Dakota will certainly have Wilson delegations in the Democratic national convention, in Mr. Heffner's opinion. He says that 75 per cent of the Democrats in the states named are for Wilson and that a majority of the Progressive Republicans, who have the controlling vote in the Republican party, will be for Wilson against Taft.

GEORGE D. M'CARTHY.

SUB-COMMITTEE HAS CLEARED STEPHENSON

Washington, Jan. 18.—The Heyburn sub-committee which has been investigating the election of Senator Isaac Stephenson of Wisconsin, today unanimously agreed that the charges of corruption and bribery made against Senator Stephenson have not been proved. The report will be made to the senate committee on privileges and elections.

HEAD OF GET-TOGETHER BANQUET-CONFERENCE

C. H. ANHEIER

Of Fargo, Chairman of Committee That Arranged Democratic Gathering.

ENTHUSIASM VERY STRONG

Woodrow Wilson Likely to Win at North Dakota Primaries.

Believed Progressive Democrat Can Carry State in November.

Expected Burke Will Not Seek the Governorship Again.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despite disappointments in the non-arrival of William J. Bryan, Judge Martin J. Wade of Iowa and other prominent Democrats who were expected, the Northwestern Democratic get-together conference has been an unqualified success.

Democrats of North Dakota and other states see in the enthusiasm evident here a strong measure of hope, for this year progressive sentiment is strong in North Dakota. The Republicans will be able to offer nothing to satisfy it if Taft is renominated and there is strong hope for a Progressive Democratic candidate for president to carry the state.

Organization is the plan of North Dakota Democrats as evidenced by the meeting of the state central committee this morning. The committee talked over the prospects, straightened out its financial affairs and prepared to get into the fight this year with enthusiasm for the national ticket and complete state and local tickets.

The banquet is being held this afternoon. Governor Harmon had to leave last night, Mr. Bryan and Judge Wade were unable to come, necessitating some filling on the program.

Charles G. Heffner of Seattle, chairman of the state central committee of Washington, is here as Governor Wilson's representative. He is accompanied by Jesse F. Murphy of Seattle, who will also speak. Thomas J. Walsh of Helena and Fred Whiteside of Kalispel are also on the program. Governor Norris of Montana was unable to come. Other speeches will be given by prominent North Dakota Democrats.

For Progressive Democracy.

The resolutions committee appointed at the meeting of the state central committee will not report until this afternoon or tonight, but the attitude of North Dakota Democrats was well shown by the speeches this morning. The flag of Progressive Democracy was waved aloft and allegiance pledged to progressive principles.

Mayor M. F. Murphy of Grand Forks announced that if the Democratic candidate for president is indorsed by Bryan, he will personally contribute $500 to the state and $500 to the national campaign fund. O. G. Majors of Hope pledged $500 under the same conditions. S. D. Doyle of Carrington pleaded the Progressive cause.

The North Dakota speakers at the banquet today are: W. E. Purcell of Wahpeton, M. A. Hilldreth of Fargo, T. D. Casey of Dickinson, L. O. Aellstrom of Bismarck, S. J. Doyle of Carrington, M. F. Murphy of Grand Forks, Joseph Cleary of Langdon, O. J. Majors of Hope, and George P. Jones of La Moure.

ATTACK ON THE TARIFF

Governor Harmon Tells of Broken Promise By Republican Party.

Gross Extravagance in Governmental Expenditures Is Also Denounced.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio did not declare his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the presidency, but he did give his audience here last evening an outline of the grounds upon which he stands before the Democracy of the nation as a receptive candidate for the right to become the active leader of the party in the coming campaign.

The tariff and governmental expenses were subjected to his attacks. The McKinley bill he characterized "the worst tariff bill ever passed." The Dingley bill, he said, he is willing to admit may justly be called "the robber tariff." The Payne-Aldrich bill is emblematic of a broken promise.

The governor denounced the rapid growth of governmental expenditures as unwarranted. He said the Democratic house has already practiced economy and a Democratic government all through can be depended upon to use the people's money carefully.

Governor Harmon addressed two

MAY END STRIKE IN TEXTILE MILLS

Concessions By Both Sides Expected at Lawrence, Mass.

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 18.—An early settlement of the strike of the 15,000 textile mill workers in this city was looked for today by certain officials who have assumed conciliatory functions.

The strikers insist on the abolition of the bonus and premium system, and it is said mill owners may concede this point. The demand for double pay for overtime may be abandoned. The mill owners are understood to have agreed to grant the strikers' original demand for the payment of fifty-six hours' wages for the fifty-four hours' work, which is allowed under the new law.

FIVE DIE IN WRECK.

Engineer and Four Negroes Are Killed in Georgia.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 18.—Engineer William Clark of Macon, Ga., a negro porter and three negro passengers, two of them women, were killed in a wreck at Jonesboro, Ga., twenty miles south of Atlanta, early today, when the South Atlantic limited, a Louisville & Nashville railroad train handled by the Central of Georgia railway, collided with a freight train. None of the white passengers was seriously injured, though a number sustained cuts and bruises.

LORIMER INQUIRY IS HALTED AGAIN.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The investigation into the election of Senator Lorimer of Illinois was adjourned again today because of the continued illness of Elbridge Hanecy, of counsel for Mr. Lorimer. It will be resumed Monday.

MORE ARGUMENT ON SHERMAN ACT

Supreme Court May Pass on Criminal Provision of Law.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 18.—Resumption of arguments today before District Judge Angell in the government's criminal case against the "bath tub" trust, found the attorneys facing the question whether the recent Standard Oil decision had not entirely eliminated the criminal element from the Sherman law.

The trial of the case is scheduled to begin Jan. 30, but the defense made a suggestion today that in view of the important questions raised over the pending motion to quash the indictments, it might be advisable to carry the matter at once to the supreme court of the United States. This, it was explained, would be done only if Judge Angell sustained the motion to quash, as the defense is entitled to appeal only after trial and conviction, while the government can appeal from an adverse ruling on the motion to quash.

RICHESON'S FATHER WILL NOT DESERT HIM.

Lynchburg, Va., Jan. 18.—Thomas V. Richeson, father of Rev. Clarence Richeson, the condemned murderer of Avis Linnell of Boston, today denied the report from Boston that he ever would desert his son.

"Although he is disgraced and degraded," said the elderly man, "he is still my son."

CLEANED.. ALONG THE POLICE RUN

Death claimed another of Duluth's old timers yesterday and he died at the poor farm of typhoid fever after he had been at the institution one year, within a day.

Probably a majority of those who were here when Duluth was in its swaddling clothes will not remember him, for those who knew him say that he was a quiet, unassuming person who did not "mix" much. His name was Allen T. McDonald and he was 63 years of age at the time of his death.

"Mack" came here when he was a comparatively young man. The records show that he has been in the state thirty-two years, and most of that time was spent in Duluth and vicinity. Ed Madden, who was also here in Duluth's kindergarten days, said this morning that "Mack" had been at the Head of the Lakes as long as he remembered.

McDonald ran one of the first saloons opened in Duluth. It was located down in the locality now traversed by Garfield avenue, in an old frame building which has long since disappeared. Later he worked some in the woods. Then his health failed him and he was not able to do strenuous physical labor. Equipped with a good education he took up bookkeeping and organized an auditing company. For many years he made a comfortable living in that manner. But he did not save a competence. Declining years found him without enough for his old age. He turned to odd jobs and at times tended bar at different places about the town which he had seen grow from little more than a village to a prosperous, rich city.

A year ago today he was taken out to the poor farm, penniless. Some time ago he was taken with typhoid fever and yesterday he died. He has a brother who is believed to be living at Cripple Creek, Colo., and if he does not pay the funeral expenses "Mack" will have to be laid away in the pauper's field unless some of his former friends take up a collection to defray the cost of a better burial. The body is at Crawford's undertaking establishment.

"I notice that two more women have been arrested on indictments charging them with violating the white slave act," said the old policeman as he stamped into headquarters this morning and warmed his hands over the radiator in the back office of the station.

"These indictments were returned by that last grand jury, which didn't see fit to give the boys credit for the work which they have been doing in this town. But I noticed that the evidence on which these indictments were based, was brought to them by the police. In fact, the chief was almost wholly responsible for it, himself.

"And by the way, come to think back upon it, who has ever supplied any evidence in white slave cases except the police department? It is just barely possible that I may be mistaken, but I cannot think of a single case where a local grand jury has brought in white slave indictments where the police have not supplied the facts. I've heard a lot of people talk about the evil, but to the best of my knowledge, all it ever amounted to is talk, when you leave the police out of consideration.

"Last fall May Fisher and May Ross came down here and picked up five girls who were taken by them to a place near Cuyuna. I knew both of them. That Fisher woman has been around here for years and has a bad reputation. The Ross woman was in Duluth last summer, living on St. Croix avenue. She got mixed up in some insurance deal and lost some money through a fake agent.

"When he was attending the grand jury session the chief saw one of these girls up there. Her name was Jessie Stanic. She was one of the girls subpoenaed to tell about evils in Duluth, and I guess she may have made some of the statements upon which that sensational report was based. She wouldn't tell the chief anything, and he brought her before the grand jury. She told them, rather than take chances on going to jail. She gave them the whole story, but if it hadn't been for the chief, these women would probably would never have been arrested.

"Look the grand jury over, and if you find cases of white slavery which have been brought before the grand jury by any one but the police, I wish you'd show me. I'd like to know."

Irving L. Bibber, 24 years old, was arrested yesterday by Sergeant Roberg on a charge of visiting a house of ill fame. It was reported by the police that he has been hanging about the place for some time, although he has been told to get out. In police court this morning he excused himself by saying that he didn't work because he had been in a hospital and had been advised by his doctor to take a vacation for a time. The court thought that he was selecting a poor place to spend his vacation and gave him $40 and costs or thirty days in the county jail. Execution of the sentence was stayed until tomorrow morning to give him an opportunity to get out of town.

Roy Coombs and William Fore, colored, pleaded guilty to having assaulted Peter Rorris when arraigned in police court yesterday afternoon. Fore paid a fine of $15 and costs and Coombs settled for $10 and costs. It is claimed that Fore had an old grudge against Rorris and attacked him on the street, being assisted by Coombs.

• • •

Otto Albini, the taxidermist, who was arrested by Deputy Game Warden T. J. Storey on a charge of having two caribou heads in his possession unlawfully, pleaded guilty in police court yesterday afternoon. He paid a fine of $100 on two counts, or $50 each. He claimed that he did not know who owned the heads, stating that they had been left at his place by a boy. His partner, F. G. Myers, pleaded not guilty, and his trial was set for Jan. 23 at 10 o'clock.

Thomas Walker, a woodsman, 47 years old, came into the police station last night to ask for lodging. He could scarcely walk because of a bad ankle. He claimed that he had been struck across the ankle with a poker when he got into a fight in a lumber camp near Nickerson. The injury was dressed this morning by the police surgeon.

Soka Coukovicz was convicted, after a trial in police court yesterday, of selling liquor without a license. She paid a fine of $100. Her story that she had sold the stool pigeons two meals for 15 cents each did not hold water.

• • •

The case against M. S. Cook of 219 West Superior street, charged with keeping his saloon open on Sunday, was dismissed in police court yesterday afternoon and the charge placed against the bartender, who paid a fine of $100 after pleading guilty.

James Marion, colored, was arrested early this morning on a charge of petty larceny after an exciting chase by the police. He and another man, whose identity is unknown, smashed the glass of the display case in front of the Twin Ports Clothing company on Superior street between Fourth and Fifth avenues west, and made away with a number of flannel shirts. Patrolman Oscar Olson heard the glass crash and saw the men running. He telephoned to headquarters and Lieut. Fritz and several patrolmen hurried down Michigan street and into the railroad yards. Patrolman Axel Johnson caught sight of the fugitives coming towards him. He hid behind a box car and grabbed Marion as the couple hurried past. He was unable to handle more than one, and the other, a white man, managed to escape. Marion will be arraigned in police court this afternoon, as he was too drunk to be brought up this forenoon.

The case of Game Warden George Woods against Ernest Drew, charged with having another man's game license in his possession unlawfully, was dismissed in police coutr yesterday for lack of evidence.

WILL ATTACK OPIUM LAW

Duluth Attorneys Will Raise Legal Point in Chinese Cases.

The constitutionality of the law, which makes it a crime to have opium in one's possessiom will be attacked in the United States district court before Judge Page Morris by Baldwin & Baldwin, atttorneys for Charley Quan and Lowe You, two local Chinamen, who have been indicted by the federal grand jury on this charge.

The opium cases will probably come up for trial tomorrow in federal court. Baldwin & Baldwin, attorneys for the accused, it is understood, will interpose a demurrer and the constitutionality of the law will be argued. If the court holds that the law is constitutional, the trial will proceed.

The grand jury charges Quan and You of having had in their possession, at the time of a raid made by the local police last fall, thirty ounces of smoking opium. The Chinese were arrested in the basement of a building at 18 West First street.

DAILY CONCERTS AT THE SPALDING

Miss Heymar and Miss Brown Will Entertain Each Day.

Miss Wally Heymar, the violinist who has charmed many of the music lovers of Duluth by her beautiful playing, and Miss Alice Mae Brown, pianist and vocalist, are to give daily concerts at the Spalding hotel, starting next Saturday, Jan. 20. A concert will be given from 12 o'clock to 2 o'clock and in the evening the two gifted young women will entertain from 6 to 8 o'clock.

One of the features of the new program of entertainment that the management of the Spalding has planned, will be the matinee recitals that will be held twice during every week. There will be one next Saturday and one on each Wednesday and Saturday following. These matinees will be given in the palm room, and during the afternoon, tea will be served. During the noon and evening entertainments at the hotel and also during the two weekly matinee recitals, Flaaten's orchestra will assist the young musicians.

These entertainments are an innovation to the music lovers of Duluth and are very much above the usual music found in even the hotels of the largest cities in the country. Both of the young women are talented musicians and since they have come to Duluth they have made a pronounced impression upon even the more critical of music lovers.

For location, comfort and convenience, there is no better place of residence for the single men of Duluth than

"LARRY" BROWN IS SUMMONED

L. L. BROWN.

L. L. Brown, 41 years of age, died last night at St. Luke's hospital of a tubercular affection of the heart. He was taken to the hospital three weeks ago.

He was familiarly known as "Larry" Brown, and had an extensive acquaintance in Duluth, having resided here for many years. He was engaged in the mining business, principally on the Cuyuna range.

He was a son of the late Thomas Brown, who died several years ago. He is survived by his mother, three sisters, Mrs. Clare Jamison and Miss Nellie Brown of Duluth and Mrs. Arthur Jamison of Spokane, Wash., and three brothers, Will, Morris and Paul.

The funeral will take place at 4 o'clock this afternoon from his late residence, 1530 Jefferson street. Rev. A. W. Ryan will have charge of the services. The body will be sent to Portsmouth, Ohio, for interment in the family lot.

ON TRIAL FOR COUNTERFEITING

Sam Polinsky Faces Charge of Making Bad Coins.

Sam Polinsky, charged with counterfeiting, was placed on trial before Judge Page Morris of the United States court this afternoon.

Polinsky pleaded not guilty. The other boy arrested with him, Edward Paul, pleaded guilty and will be sentenced after the trial of Polinsky.

Paul was the one who had the bad coins when arrested.

It is claimed that the boys had a complete outfit in the West end. They were about to leave the city when arrested at the union station about three weeks ago.

OBITUARY

Thomas S. Kilgallan, for many years prominent in mining at Butte, Mont., being associated with Senator W. A. Clark and having charge of several of the latter's properties, is dead, aged 54. Mr. Kilgallan served three terms in the Montana legislature, being a member during two of Senator Clark's famous campaigns for the senatorship and supporting the copper king to the end, although an element in the Democratic party opposed Mr. Clark and for two sessions prevented his election.

SECURES RELEASE ON HABEAS CORPUS.

C. L. Woodward, who was arrested at Ely, Minn., last fall on a charge of peddling without a license, the offense being a violation of a city ordinance, was yesterday afternoon released on habeas corpus proceedings brought before Judge Dibell.

Woodward at the time of his arrest was fined $17. He put up cash bail and was released from custody, after a stay of sentence was secured. Woodward later gave himself into custody and brought habeas corpus proceedings in the district court through his attorney, Andrew Nelson.

Judge Dibell in releasing Woodward held that he had not violated the ordinance in that he was taking orders for future delivery.

STORK BUSIER THAN REAPER

Duluth's Vital Statistics Show Increase in Population of Nearly 1,000.

Vital statistics from the health department, completed by Deputy M. J. Segal, show that Duluth had a substantial gain in population last year, simply from the excess of births over deaths.

During 1911 the number of births reported was 1,916, while the total number of deaths was 959. The births were almost equally divided between males and females, the stork bringing 957 baby boys and 959 baby girls, a difference of but two in favor of the gentler sex.

In 1910 the number of births reported was greater, the total being 1,952, while the total number of deaths was also larger, being 1,052. It is believed, however, that all the births for last year have not been reported to the department, several of the physicians being generally delinquent in this respect.

"PREFER GOSPEL TO MINNESOTA"

Frank Eddy Says Revival in Iowa Hurt Business of Exhibit Car.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.) — "Spellbinders," who preach the gospel, have it on the "spellbinders," who are out with the Minnesota advertising exhibit car, according to Frank M. Eddy, in a letter written from Mediapolis, Iowa., to H. J. Maxfield, state commissioner of immigration. After saying that the car arrived there late. Mr. Eddy continues:

'The weather is very severe and tonight there is red hot revival on the boards and the "spellbinder" who is preaching the gospel seems to draw the crowd away from the "spellbinder" who is preaching Minnesota.

"The people seem interested in our exhibit. They told me at Burlington that we had a much better car than those from Montana and Oregon. You can tell the boys who decorated the car that many compliments have been passed upon it. They are all unanimous that it is the best decorated car that has passed over the route, and there have been three before."

FIRE CAUSES HEAVY LOSS

Stock of Globe Clothing Company Damaged By Flames, Smoke and Water.

Two People Descend From Upper Floors By Fire Escapes.

The big stock of the Globe Clothing company at 123 West Superior street, valued at about $30,000, was badly damaged by smoke by a fire which broke out in the basement of the building about 7 o'clock last night.

It was impossible to obtain any accurate estimate of the loss today, but is was stated that it will run into thousands of dollars.

The blaze was started by the overheating of the connection between the boiler and the stack, and had been going some time before it was discovered and the department summoned. It burned along the ceiling and caused a heavy smoke, which gave the firemen great difficulty and gave considerable anxiety to roomers on the upper floors. No one was overcome, but a large piece of the floor had to be cut away with axes before the blaze was under full control.

Two of the men living on the third floor left the building by means of fire escapes, one down the rear escape and the other down the front ladder. Stanley Ferguson, a bookkeeper, was confined to his room by a severe cold and let himself down the back escape. Charlie Cookman, a barber, caused some excitement for a while as he came down the escape on the front of the building. He reached the bottom, and did not lose his head and make the jump to the icy walk below, but perched on the platform for several minutes, until the firemen put up a ladder, on which he made the balance of the journey to the ground. Several other men were in the building, but made their escape without difficulty.

POLITICS AND LIGHTING DISCUSSED AT THREE NEIGHBORHOOD MEETINGS

Miller and Makowski at Central Club—Socialists in Fourth Ward—Jordan and Henderson in Third Ward.

That Aldermen William Miller and Frank Makowski of the Second ward came out against municipal ownership and criticised the water and light department at the meeting of the Central Hillside club last evening, was flatly denied by Alderman Makowski today. He denied furthermore, that any vote was taken on municipal ownership. The reports in the morning paper, he said, had been misleading.

In the absence of Watson S. Moore, who was to be the principal speaker, A. A. Fider, secretary of the club spoke. Mr. Fider's claims that he had secured the fire hall on Seventh avenue east and Ninth street, were denied. The inference drawn was that he had been instrumental in having the site purchased.

Alderman Makowski denied these allegations, saying that he and Alderman Miller obtained the passage of the necessary steps through the council, and that they also took up the proposition with the fire commissioners. He said that Mr. Fider did help to get the site, but that he was working on a commission basis and got pay for his work as a real estate man.

George Bloedel of the board of public works, took a stand against the management of the water and light department, in a short address. There were about 100 present at the meeting.

The biggest Socialist meeting of the present municipal campaign was held last night at 438 Lake avenue, when about 150 turned out to hear Richard Jones, Socialist candidate for alderman in the Fourth ward, John A. Keyes and William E. Towne. The bond issue and better paving were the two subjects most warmly advocated.

"The Socialists were the pioneers of municipal ownership," declared Mr. Jones, "and they are still its heartiest supporters. If a Socialist is elected to the council, he will have the solid support of his party, and will feel that he is not only under personal obligation to support this issue, but will meet the disapproval of his constituents if he fails."

He argued that great good could be gained from the passage of the bond issue, even if a new plant were not secured. It would serve as a lever in securing better terms from the Duluth-Edison company.

John A. Keyes discussed the present system of paving, and found considerable fault with the work done in many cases. He advocated the bringing of an expert here whose duties would be to supervise such work. He said this had been done in Milwaukee, and better streets had been secured and 50 per cent of the cost had been saved.

Opposition to the bond issue was the keynote of the meeting of the Third Ward Improvement club held last night. Alderman Frank Jordan and W. B. Henderson were the chief speakers.

Mr. Henderson was asked several questions among which was the following: "Will the Duluth-Edison company still offer the same contract that was recently made to the city council if the bond issue fails to carry?" He said that while he was not a spokesman for that corporation, he believed that the contract was still in the city hall ready to be signed.

Alderman Jordan opposed the bond issue on the ground that the time was inopportune for the buying or building of a plant.

The Democratic campaign will be opened tomorrow night at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, when Mayor M. B. Cullum will speak. E. J. Sandberg, candidate for alderman in the Sixth ward and William L. Bernard of the Seventh ward will also talk. A great deal of interest is attached to this meeting as it will be the first general meeting held by the Democrats during the present municipal campaign.

EMPLOYED FORMER WIFE

Jacob Stubler Engaged Her as Housekeeper After Divorce Was Granted.

She Is Now Suing Him for Ten Months' Wages.

After being divorced from her husband, Jacob Stubler, Superior saloonkeeper, in the fall of 1910 and allowed alimony of $50 per month, Mrs. Stubler returned to Stubler's home several months later to act as his housekeeper.

She claims that she was to be paid $20 a month, in addition to the alimony, for her services, as well as board and room for herself and her minor children.

These facts were brought out in a suit instituted in municipal court by Mrs. Stubler against her former husband, the trial of which was finished this noon, the case being given to the jury. She alleges that she has received no part of the $20 per month due her for work performed from Feb. 1, 1911, to Dec. 1, 1911, when she left his house. Her attorney, E. J. Kenny, also stated that in order to collect the alimony due her, Stubler had to be brought into the district court on contempt proceedings, where he was directed to pay her $15 to square accounts to the first of this year.

In addition to the $200 said to be due her for acting as housekeeper, Mrs. Stubler sets forth that she has a one-third interest in the property, from which she alleges she has $133.33 coming in rentals, bringing the total amount asked to $333.33.

Stubler denies that he agreed to pay her $20 a month to act as housekeeper, but that he had her return in order that she might have a home. He claimed that she owes him $137.79 as her share of the money which was spent in repairs on the house and which were made at her instance. He asserts further that she was sick a considerable part of the time, and that on several occasions she retired to her room for long periods of time and refused to do any housework. Henry F. Green appeared as his attorney.

DICKASON IS TURNED LOOSE

Minneapolis Judge Dismisses Case Involving Alleged Jewelry Theft.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.) — Holding that the evidence presented by the state was entirely circumstantial and not sufficient to present to a jury, Judge William Hodgson today dismissed the case against Wilfred Stuart Sheldon Dickason, alleged member of a noble English family, charged with stealing jewels valued at $2,950 from Mrs. Olga Von W. Haskell, a prominent society woman of Minneapolis. Dickason immediately was given his freedom.

Dickason was arrested upon the complaint of Mrs. Von W. Haskell in November after he has been a guest in her home for several weeks. The motion to quash was made last night after the state had rested its case. Dickason's attorneys claiming that the indictment was faulty in that Mrs. Haskell's daughter owned the jewels and not the complainant and that the evidence was indefinite.

WOULD AMEND BANKING LAW

Kelsey Chase Proposes Compulsory Qualification of Bankers.

Also Wants to Limit Increase in Number of Banks.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Compulsory qualifications for bankers who assume the management of financial institutions is recommended by Kelsey S. Chase, the Minnesota state superintendent of banks, in an article which appears in the current issue of the Financial Age.

"In my opinion," Mr. Chase wrote, "the active executive officers of a state bank should be qualified beyond question to discharge the duties and assume all the responsibilities incident to the office. All who desire to assume management of a bank should be required to prove beyond doubt that they are qualified for such a position, and they should then be given a certificate much the same as is a lawyer as his authority to practice law.

Amend the Laws.

"The second legislative reform which I advocate at this time is an amendment to the present law, which permits the reserve of state banks, other than the required cash reserve of 10 per cent, to be carried as balances due from solvent banks. The superintendent of banks should have the authority to designate approved reserve agents with whom only the reserve may be carried.

"Many banks follow the practice of carrying their balances (which are a part of their reserve), with small institutions, which offer large rates of interest on daily balances, and other inducements. If balances are to be a reserve, they must be on deposit with banks of sufficient strength so that the reserve bank will not feel the withdrawal of these funds, and not with banks which would be seriously embarrassed, if crippled, when drawn upon.

New State Banks.

"A third suggestion which I hope will have the attention of our next legislature will be to delegate to some individual or board, discretionary power in regard to the organization and establishment of new state banks. With about 280 national banks and 737 state banks, Minnesota is amply provided with banking facilities. We should strive, for the present at least, not to increase the number of banks, but to better them.

"The minimum capital of state banks should be raised from $10,000 to at least $15,000, but much better to $20,000.

"With over 1,040 banking institutions in the state, the legislature could do far worse than establish a closed season for the organization of new banks in this state for a period of two or three years."

RETURNS AFTER LONG ABSENCE

Rev. C. H. Patton Greets Old Friends and Is Guest at Luncheon.

Rev. Cornelius Howard Patton, formerly pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational church of this city, but now home secretary of the American Board of Commissioners with headquarters in Boston, is in Duluth today after a fifteen-year absence. Rev. Mr. Patton has just completed a trip through many parts of Asia and Africa in the interest of missions. He will give an illustrated lecture tonight on "Africa."

The former pastor had a busy time today, meeting old friends both of his former congregation and outside of it. Some of the members of the Pilgrim church and several local ministers gave a luncheon for Mr. Patton at the Y. M. C. A. this noon.

Mr. Patton has lost none of the old-time kindliness and courtesy that made him such a popular pastor in Duluth. During his travels he has seen so much of both Asia and the Dark Continent that it was rather difficult for him to telescope his experiences into a few minutes' conversation. He did not travel in China, so he could not give first-hand information on the rebellion there.

"Africa," said Mr. Patton, "is making wonderful progress and countless millions are being expended there by European capitalists. Practically all the territory of the continent has been gobbled up by Great Britain and European nations and these countries are doing their utmost to develop their possessions.'

Mr. Patton will go to Minneapolis from Duluth.

PROGRESSIVE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

NO. 1 WEST SUPERIOR STREET (Upstairs).

WOMAN'S REALM.

Annual reports and business of a general nature interested the members of the Young Woman's Christian association, who met in the association building last evening for the annual business session. Members of the board of directors of the association whose terms expired were all re-elected and three new members were added, increasing the membership to twenty-one. Mrs. F. W. De Vey, Mrs. S. R. Holden and Mrs. H. H. Phelps were the new members added to the list. The other members are:

Mesdames—

G. H. Claypool,	T. L. Chapman,
Z. D. Scott,	W. C. Agnew,
Robert Smith,	A. C. Taylor,
T. J. Davis,	W. J. Olcott,
Norman D. McLeod,	E. T. Hughes,
R. S. Manley,	J. A. Watterworth,
W. J. McCabe,	W. A. McGonagle,
J. McCabe,	W. S. Moore.
W. H. Cole.

Carroll Graff,
Miss Myra Germond.

The report of the treasurer showed a good financial condition, the receipts and disbursements in the various departments being as follows:

	Receipts.	Disbursements.	Deficit.	Surplus.
Dormitories	7,232.60	2,663.74	.....	4,573.86

Total receipts for 1911				30,375.30
				31,350.02
Total disbursements				31,161.61
				197.41

Miss Millie Older, who has been the acting general secretary since Miss Ada Campbell left last September, read a most interesting report of the work of the departments of the association. Miss Nettie E. Trimble, a special worker for the association, has come to Duluth to build up the work along all lines during the next six months, and Miss Mae Corinne Anders has arrived to take charge of the extension and educational work of the association.

The general secretary's report follows in part:

"This is the tenth annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association of Duluth—one of the most vital institutions of our city, whose aim is to meet as largely as possible every need of the young women of Duluth, and aid in all ways for their social, physical, intellectual and spiritual advancement.

Membership.

"Our membership is larger this year than last. The total membership is 1,057, an increase over last year of 142 members. Our membership is composed of 6 life members, 79 sustaining members, 545 active members, 354 associate members and 76 junior members.

Lunchroom.

"During the year in our dining room we have served 101,723 meals, making an average per month of 8,475 meals, with a daily average of about 300. The average cost per meal is 16½ cents.

Dormitories.

"One of the greatest problems of the girl away from home is that of finding good rooming and boarding places, that will take the place of home. The association offers a place of safety, comfort and friendship under Christian influences and all within reach of the young business woman. We have 72 bedrooms in our building, and these are occupied by 86 young women and girls who are permanent roomers. Since Jan. 1, 1911, 169 permanents have lived here and 898 transients have been accommodated for one night or more: 1,067 girls and young women have enjoyed the hospitality of this well-equipped Young Women's Christian association. The girls have the use of the parlors, little dining room for parties, sewing room and laundry; in fact, they have all the comforts of home.

Religious Work.

It is hard to estimate the religious work of this association, since all the work primarily is religious work.

Total attendance at daily devotions 1,461

Total attendance at vesper service 1,430

During the last three months an evening song service and little talk around a bright cheery fire in the lobby has taken the place of the regular vesper service. These have been helpful little gatherings which sort of put us in the right spirit for the church service. During the year we have had two teacher training classes, three high school Bible classes, one normal Bible class, one Sunday school teachers' class and one mission study class.

Extension Work.

"Nearly all extension work is carried on outside of the Young Women's Christian association building for this reason—the girls whom we want to reach are the girls whose days are spent in shops and factories, who have little or no opportunity for all-round development of themselves to which every girl has a right. The Young Women's Christian association has something to offer these girls; therefore we send workers to them, because they have no time to come to us, neither do they know that we can help them realize their desires. This work not only means something helpful to the girls, but that we are touching the lives of a few of the thousand girls who have never even heard of the Young Women's Christian association and are possibly brightening and helping them to live happier lives and to develop into helpful Christian womanhood.

"During the past year eighty-one meetings have been held in factories with a total attendance of 704.

"A recreation center has been established which meets once a week. This is for younger girls, such as bundle and cash girls. They come here and enjoy an evening in the gym.

"Three other clubs have met during the year:

	Total Attendance.
T. M. T. M., 30 meetings	175
Frolic club, 7 meetings	153
West End club, 8 meetings	38

Traveler's Aid.

"Our traveler's aid work will speak for itself—4,514 trains have been met—1,096 persons aided. Since Mr. G. G. Hartley has so generously given $50 per month toward this work, we are able to have another worker, making it possible to meet all trains, especially the trains coming in early in the morning and late at night. Many pathetic as well as humorous stories could be told in connection with this work.

Gymnasium.

"Under the able direction of Miss Bertha F. Parmalee, physical director, there were 223 girls enrolled in the gymnasium classes. The total attendance for the year was 3,557.

Swimming.

"There were 3,365 admissions to the pool during the year and 728 lessons given. The average attendance per month was 281 admissions and average lessons per month 60. The pool has been opened two mornings, three afternoons and one evening each week.

Educational.

"Frances Willard said: 'The mission of the ideal woman is to make the whole world homelike.' This is the reason we have such a splendidly equipped domestic science room. It is the aim of this department to give a practical knowledge of cooking, teaching economy of time, energy, materials and money. During the year we had two matron's classes, one maid's class, two nurse's classes and one supper class, making a total of five domestic science classes.

"Owing to the fact that there are so many foreign speaking girls in Duluth, the association has formed classes to teach these girls the English language and to read and write. During the year we have had two such classes. Just recently it became necessary to form a class at West Duluth in the Irving school for the girls who work in that part of the city, who find it too far to come to the association building. Other educational classes are English literature, chorus class, mandolin and guitar class, embroidery and children's sewing class.

Social.

"The great need of the spirit of fellowship and good cheer has never been felt in the lives of women as much as today, when so many hours of their lives are spent in business activities. For this reason a social club has been formed called the round table which meets twice a month. All girls and young women are cordially invited to spend two hours every other Wednesday evening with us—giving them a chance to become acquainted and to be of mutual benefit to each other.

"Other social events during the year were Mrs. Jarley's Wax Works, Scotch entertainment, costume parties, Hallowe'en party, Washington party and Christmas parties. Two outside events given for the benefit of the Young Women's Christian association were the musical at Mrs. Congdon's and the Apple Blossom festival at Mrs. Hunter's. We want to thank both Mrs. Congdon and Mrs. Hunter for the use of their homes and grounds.

Employment Bureau.

"During the past year we have placed 164 girls in families, applications have been twice this number, but owing to the lack of trained help we were unable to fill places demanded. Many girls have found happy homes through this office. Sometimes girls come to us without money and are kept over night and helped to situations. We stand ready to befriend and encourage any one who needs assistance. Sometimes we have aided girls who have falsely represented themselves but it would be a long story to tell of the different girls who have been assisted and how grateful some of them have been.

"One girl who was tired of life and who tried to do away with herself, was sent to a home by Mrs. Atwood of the state employment agency. The poor girl was so discouraged and everything seemed so dark, life was hardly worth living. We had her stay with us for over a week and have a good and much needed rest. From here she was sent to a place; we gave her some suitable clothes and told her we would always be glad to have her come in and see us, and made her feel we were intensely interested in her life. One day, some six weeks later, she came to us with $3 and insisted on us taking it, as a small token of her appreciation of what we had done for her. This money was used toward helping some other girl who needed just a little encouragement.

"The Young Women's Christian association wishes to thank all the men and women who have so generously given of their time and money toward this institution. The association needs the support and co-operation of all the citizens of Duluth—it is a movement vitally connected with the highest interests of the city and should enlist the sympathy of every person interested in Young Women—so that the world's motto: 'I am come that they might have light and have it more abundantly,' may be realized. Mr. George Hodges said, 'Who knows what opportunity may come to us this year?' Let us live in a great spirit, then we shall be ready for a great occasion. Respectfully submitted,

"MILLIE OLDER,
"Assistant General Secretary."

DULUTH LADIES SAY IT'S GREAT

Duluth ladies are delighted with "Minnesota" macaroni and spaghetti. Even people who never liked these foods before, are charmed with the delicious, nut-like flavor of the "Minnesota" brand.

Good macaroni and spaghetti are the most nourishing foods known, and they can be prepared in so many delightful ways that no one ever tires of them. They agree with any stomach, and a family will feel much better if they eat less meat and more macaroni and spaghetti.

But if you want that rich, nut-like flavor be sure and get the delicious "Minnesota" brand macaroni or spaghetti—made from the finest Northern Durum wheat, with all the nourishing Gluten left in. It is easily digested and never gets soggy. All good Duluth grocers sell it.

Officers Installed.

At a joint meeting at Memorial hall last evening the officers elect of the Sons of Veterans and their auxiliary were installed. The evening opened with a dinner served at 6:30 o'clock and after the installation an informal musical program was given.

A Home Recipe For Removing Wrinkles

(From Woman's National Journal)

Who will blame the modern woman for trying to look as young and attractive as she reasonably can? Why should she be placed at a disadvantage in numerous ways by wearing wrinkles, if she can avoid these hateful marks of advancing age?

For women, however, know what to do to effectually rid themselves of wrinkles or sagginess. None of the advertised preparations is satisfactory and most of them are very expensive. But a very simple and harmless home remedy, which any woman can make, will work wonders where all the patent preparations fail.

Buy an ounce of powdered saxolite at any drug store. Dissolve the whole ounce in a half pint of witch hazel and use it as a wash lotion. The results are practically instantaneous. Marked improvement is noticed immediately after the very first trial. Wrinkles and sagging are corrected and the face feels so refreshed and smug-like.

"THE ADVENTURER."

Play to Be Given for Purpose of Starting Drama League.

To crowd out vicious plays by attending and commending good plays and building up audiences for them through study classes, reading circles and lectures; to aid in the restoration of the drama to its honorable place as the most intimate, most comprehensive, most democratic medium for the self-expression of the people, is the idea of the Drama League of America in a nutshell.

Anyone interested in the league will be welcome to join and to obtain the benefits of co-operation among those who are interested in good drama and who desire to see more and better plays in the theater.

The purpose of the league is to create a permanent taste for good drama and to obtain larger audiences for the best plays. It endeavors to accomplish this by securing actual theater attendance on plays outlined by the league and by the study and reading of plays outside of the theater.

For the purpose of raising funds to cover the necessary expenses of a mass meeting to be held in the Lyceum theater to discuss and take steps to form a branch of the league in Duluth, "The Adventurer," a play in four acts by Alfred Capus will be given at the Lyceum Monday evening by the best local talent of the city.

The rehearsals are going on successfully under the direction of M. Benedict Papot of Chicago, who will play the leading role in the play.

The advance tickets sold can be exchanged for seats tomorrow before the regular box office sale opens.

THE EVENING STORY

THE SQUIRE AND THE TELEPHONE

By Marjory Royce.

"Oh, yes, I admire it, of course, but it is so inconvenient," said the American girl to Mr. Philip Thrush, the great antiquarian of Feverston as they stood in the old fashioned garden of Weston Grays, looking at the stately Queen Anne house, with its lofty gables and casement windows all venerable and mellow in the autumn sunshine. Sadie Hartley had came from New York to spend a year at the old house with her uncle, the squire.

"Why is it inconvenient?" asked Mr. Thrush, turning his fresh colored clean shaven face under a soft gray Homburg hat towards his companion. She amused him.

"Well, there is scarcely any water, no bath room, no electric light, no inside heating. I have been used to having hot water laid on in my room. But, worst of all, there's no telephone!"

"My dear Miss Hartley, a telephone at Weston Grays!" He flung up his hands and laughed. "What an impossible idea!"

"I don't agree," said Sadie, warmly. "We are five miles from Feverston. There is no village or no shop nearer than the town. Oh, the inconvenience of it!" She bit her lip. The gong for luncheon sounded in the distance. "You wanted something in a hurry this morning and couldn't get it?" said he indulgently, as they moved together to the house.

"It was a postage stamp," said she. "And some chocolates." Mr. Brush, allowing Sadie to pass before him into the beautiful oak panelled dining room, thought she was an entertaining little girl; and Sadie, from her standpoint of 19 years, regarded him as a pleasant grandfatherly sort of a person. (Mr. Brush was 40.)

The squire's jovial face beamed at them as they entered; and Mrs. Hartley, a pale and gracious lady of 65, listened amusedly while Sadie continued to talk about the telephone. "We have done without one for 500 years at Weston Grays," said Mrs Hartley.

"You find it useful, don't you, Mr Thrush?" said Sadie. "You told me you had it."

"It saves me a good deal of time, certainly," said Mr. Thrush, smiling.

"Time," said the squire, banging his fist on the table. "That is what I need. Look how I had to keep you all waiting for lunch today. I had to go right into Feverston to fetch some lamp oil."

"You could have telephoned in and had it sent out this afternoon," said Sadie demurely.

"I rather like the idea," said the squire. "Don't find the days half long enough. One must move with the times. Sadie you are a sensible girl. Are you and Thrush coming to see the new fence by the wood this afternoon?"

Sadie had been at Weston Grays two months. The ancient house rang with her young and often irreverent laughter. The squire, who had never had a child of his own, idolized her, and Mrs. Hartley tried not to feel wounded when Sadie criticised her caps. The telephone had been ordered, was finally laid, and finished on an October afternoon. The squire was exceedingly enthusiastic on the project, and had written out a list of things to be telephoned for in his fine, clear handwriting. He had never even seen such a thing in his long, innocent life, and Sadie, bewitchingly pretty in a fascinating white waist spent some time in explaining matters. "I don't believe you can do it yourself," said he.

"Shall I speak to Phillip Thrush through it, and show you?"

"Yes, do. What shall we say to him? Ask him how he is, child."

"No, if you don't mind, I'll just ask him about that essay I am doing on Emerson for the literary society. Are you there? 324 Feverston."

It was a week later on a dull brooding afternoon. "Why, where are you going, Annie?" Mrs. Hartley, in hat and jacket was descending the shallow staircase to the hall, where the squire was lounging about rather aimlessly. "I thought of having the brougham and going to get some biscuits and looking in on Mrs. Devereux."

"But, why, my dear? Surely you can use the telephone. I have been to the expense of putting it into the house; why do you go to the trouble of having out the carriage for such a trivial thing? Telephone to Jones for the biscuits and ring up Mrs Devereux."

"But I have been in the house a week, Dick," said Mrs. Hartley.

"Just think of the folly of driving ten miles to buy some biscuits and to call on Mrs. Devereux!"

"It does seem silly," said Mrs. Hartley.

"I'll come and ring up for you," said the squire anxious for occupation.

"You might ask Mrs. Devereux how she is please."

Why not talk to her yourself when I've got on?"

"I don't like to. I can't make things out, everything buzzes so, and I hear such funny people talking, and I can't hear them and they can't hear me."

"Never mind, I can always do it for you," said the squire. He was quite busy and interested while the ringing up lasted, and came to the morning room to tell his wife the result.

"They're sending out a box of water biscuits and assorted tomorrow and Mrs. Devereux is better." The hands of the clock pointed to 2:30.

"What are you going to do now, Dick? Have you got your letters done?"

"Yes."

"You haven't taken long."

"No. You didn't bring me so many orders, you know, that needed to be written for. I get 'em all off on the telephone in half an hour. It's a wonderful thing, Annie."

"I suppose it is," said Mrs. Hartley, settling down to her sewing.

People missed the gallant figure of the squire driving in his dog cart along the country road to Feverston. He missed his journeys acutely himself, though he never said so. He missed seeing his friends. Mr. Doughfield and Mr. Worthington, both retired bankers, were not so impressed as the squire hoped they would be when he told them of the advent of the telephone. After the board of hospital governors one week he walked up the street with them both and mentioned it.

"A silly, trashy invention," said Mr. Doughfield, whose immense figure towered above his friend.

"And always going wrong, I hear," said Mr. Worthington. "Philip Thrush has a telephone and sits at it all day long, instead of taking a little healthy exercise."

"Why don't you have it put in at the Cedars, Claudius?"

"No thank you." Mr. Worthington raised a fat hand solemnly. "England is going to the dogs, and the Radicals are having it all their own way but you don't find me taking up the new notions. A telephone is a direct step to Socialism." The squire climbed into his gig, and drove homeward feeling rather crestfallen.

One afternoon, later in the year, when they were all gathered round the tea table, Sadie suggested that her uncle should sell Fanciful, the little mare. "Why, my dear?" said the squire, astonished.

"She's simply eating her head off in the stable. You don't need to go to Feverston now, except once a week, since you have the telephone." The squire grunted, and took some cake.

"Auntie, I had a card from Flora Godwin, my friend in London, today; she's been to an American exhibition and has seen one of those labor saving devices for cleaning a house I was telling you about. Shall I get her to order one for you?" The three maids had already too little to do at the quiet house of Weston Grays. Mrs. Hartley shook her head. There was a silence. The squire gazed gloomily out of the window, where, all round, fields stretched to cold gray sky. It was only twenty minutes to 5. Sadie started.

"I shall have to wire to Flora," she cried, "I forgot to give her the address of those lodgings she wanted. The squire jumped to his feet.

"I'll take it into Feverston, my dear," said he, and in a moment he was out in the hall finding his Burberry and hat and gloves, and shouting for his horse. "I shall enjoy a ride," he said returning with his delightful face wreathed with smiles.

"What are you doing, uncle?" said Sadie, looking up. "There is no need whatever for you to go into Feverston. I can 'phone the message to the post-office and they will send it on."

"Wh-at," said the squire.

"Yes, didn't you know that is one of the beauties of the 'phone? You can send a wire through it to the post-office," and Sadie launched into a full description. The squire scarcely listened to her. He went back mournfully to the hall, and, laying his stick along the row of hat pegs said to himself, very slowly, "One of the beauties."

"I don't think you are either of you nearly as cheerful as when I came," said Sadie. "I don't, really." She looked up with glowing cheeks. It was a sunny morning, and the young girl was looking particularly fresh and glowing.

"We love having you, Sadie dear," said her uncle and aunt.

"It is very sweet of you. But I don't think I can stay long," said Sadie, looking at them in a curious way. The telephone rang. "I know it's for me," said she, rushing from the room. The squire, with a puzzled face, bent over the newspaper, and Mrs. Hartley slowly mixed her tea. Sadie was back in two minutes. She went straight to her uncle and flung her arms round his neck. "I've just got engaged over the 'phone," she said. "He wrote and told me he'd ring up for my answer this morning. I call it a nice American way of doing things."

"But, my dear—who——,"

"Philip Thrush, of course, uncle. Didn't you guess?"

That is a year ago, and Sadie has become Mrs. Thrush. The squire may again be seen driving along the country road that winds to Feverston from the solitudes of fields and marshes, holding a half piece of note paper on which Mrs. Hartley has written a list of groceries. There is no telephone now at Weston Grays.

August Boo Is Found Insane By District Court Jury.

Verdict Returned After Jurors Had Deliberated But Ten Minutes.

"Not guilty of murder in the first degree, on account of insanity with homicidal tendencies."

This is the verdict brought in at 3:30 p. m. yesterday by the jury sitting on the Boo murder case in district court before Judge Dancer. It was returned after ten minutes' deliberation.

Although no formal sentence has been passed, it is known now that Boo must spend the rest of his natural life in one of the state asylums for the insane. Judge Dancer has not yet made the commitment.

County Attorney Norton told the jury that in his opinion the man was insane at the time he murdered his wife, Carrie Boo, Nov. 9, at their home in the Pearson block. The court also advised the jury to return the verdict of not guilty on account of insanity.

Boo, w: en the verdict of not guilty was returned, appeared to realize its significance, for afterwards he smiled and extended his hands to his attorneys.

The Boo case will go down on record as being one of the shortest murder trials in the history of St. Louis county, the time consumed in selecting the jury, presenting the evidence and returning the verdict being less than 5½ hours.

Three Superior Men.

To Samuel A. Wetton, a silver medal and $1,000. Wetton, aged 52, timber foreman, helped to save Andrew Anderson, aged 51, carpenter, from drowning, Superior, Wis., April 10, 1910. Anderson's sailboat had been dismasted and, helpless, he was being tossed about violently on Lake Superior by the high waves that were running. Wetton and others hauled a rowboat to the shore and Wetton called for volunteers. Two men responded and the three launched the boat, but it was upset in the breakers, a hundred feet from shore. The men were thrown into shallow water and waded ashore. Wetton again called for volunteers and two other men joined him. They successfully passed through the breakers after a half hour's hard rowing, during which their boat was nearly capsized several times. They reached Anderson's boat, 500 feet out, just outside the breakers. Anderson changed his position and his boat capsized, but Wetton was able to grab him and, with the help of one of the other men, pull him from the water into their boat. The trip to shore was made safely.

To John Conley, a bronze medal and $1,000. Conley, aged 26, blacksmith, helped to save Andrew Anderson from drowning, Superior, Wis., April 10, 1910. Conley was one of the two men who made the second trip with Wetton and it was he who helped pull Anderson into the boat. (See case of Samuel A. Wetton.)

To William J. Munnings, bronze medal and $1,000, as needed. Munnings, aged 17, blacksmith's helper, helped to save Andrew Anderson from drowning, Superior, Wis., April 10, 1910. Munnings was one of the two men who accompanied Wetton on the second trip. (See case of Samuel Wetton.)

Student Saved Girl.

Bronze medal and $1,000 to Oren G. Buchner, aged 18, student, who saved Sadye Guttery, aged 23, from drowning at Middletown, Ill., June 16, 1910.

TWO DEATHS AT CLOQUET.

Aged Woman Resident and Lumberjack From Woods Pass Away.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Cochrane, an old lady living in the East end, died Tuesday night following an illness of several weeks from heart trouble. She is survived by two sons. A daughter was killed last summer by a Great Northern train at the Johnson-Wentworth crossing. The family have lived here several years.

Frank Peterson, a lumberjack from the Johnson-Wentworth camps, died Tuesday night at the Cloquet hospital. Peterson was 34 years old and had been ill several weeks from dropsical complications. He is reported to have relatives in St. Paul, but none have been located and the remains will probably be interred here.

The remains of the 4-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Doddridge, who died Monday evening, were interred yesterday afternoon in the protestant cemetery. The funeral services were held at the home on First street, Rev. C. W. Lowrie officiating.

DOCTOR IS ACCUSED.

Williston Physician Alleged to Have Caused Montana Woman's Death.

Williston, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. E. H. Belyea, a local physician, was arrested yesterday, charged with murder in the second degree. He is accused of being responsible for the death of Miss Margaret McInnis of Medicine Lake, Mont., by performing an illegal operation. Dr. Belyea already faces one felony charge in another case. He will be given a hearing today.

MERCURY TO FALL AGAIN

Another Cold Wave Covers Greater Part of Northwest.

Duluth need not look for any let up in the cold snap before Saturday according to the latest report of the United States weather bureau. A gradual dropping of the mercury is looked for tonight and it may go as low as 25 below zero. The coming cold wave is widespread, extending over Saskatchewan, Montana, the Dakotas and other portions of the Northwest.

The temperature last night averaged about 10 below zero and at 10 o'clock this morning was down to 11 below zero. Moderate northwest winds will prevail and the sky will be clear.

members of congress, and from conversation with them I learn that it is not at all certain that Clark can carry his state. Folk enters upon his campaign with the primary advantage of having been indorsed by a state convention, over which Champ Clark presided. He can urge upon the people of his state that the bosses are now trying to take away from him what they were only too glad to concede him when his help was needed to put over the state ticket. He can point out that after the convention he fought loyally for the state ticket, and aided in carrying the legislature which gave a second Democratic senator to Missouri. If there was any bargain Governor Folk carried out his part loyally. If there shall be an effort on the part of the other parties to evade their obligation the results may be serious to the national ticket.

Importance of Primary.

For the importance of the primary election in Missouri on Feb. 12 cannot be overestimated. Suppose for a moment that Folk carries the primaries—and some of the strongest Clark men in Missouri admit that such a result is not wholly impossible. That would put Champ Clark out of the running for the presidential nomination. Men have been nominated without the vote of their own state but the situation was extraordinary. Cleveland, for example, won his first nomination without the vote of his state, but that vote was one controlled by Tammany, and repudiated as a machine vote. The Missouri vote will be a vote in free primaries and cannot be thus set aside. It is incredible to the Washington political crowd that Clark should lose at home.

But should he lose, fancy the situation. Today he is the favorite second choice of the friends of most of the other candidates. His chance of winning the nomination depends almost wholly upon the anticipated deadlock between Harmon and Wilson. If that occurs and lasts through two or three ballots, with Champ Clark with the full Missouri delegation waiting for the crumbs to fall from the rich men's table, the outcome would not be hard to predict. Nor would Clark have Missouri alone behind him. If he carries the coming primaries his friends, who are legion, can go forth into other states and in many—Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Tennessee for example—his chances for getting delegations would be better than that of any other aspirant. But beaten at home he will not have a chance abroad. The combinations made up with Clark as the first of the second choice will be dissolved. Men in politics will begin talking again of Marshall, Foss, Carter Harrison, Underwood or Hearst as the possible solvent of the problem.

How Folk Is Regarded.

They will not then, nor do they now, talk of Folk as a possibility. Just why is hard to tell. Men do not question his ability or his integrity. They are not without sympathy for him in his determination to make the indorsement of a state convention effective. But they persist in regarding him as vice presidential timber only. One of the leading members of the Missouri delegation does not scruple to say that Folk is a mere stalking horse for Governor Wilson, prepared to give his delegates, if he gets any, to the New Jersey governor and to accept the vice presidential nomination as a complete return. Other distinguished Missourians—not members of congress—with whom I have talked, are positive that the ticket of Harmon and Folk it what appeals to the latter's mind. This hardly seems plausible since Folk only lately accepted responsibility for the charge that Clark was merely the puppet for Harmon—an assertion which doesn't carry muchc weight with those who know the two statesmen named.

Among Democratic politicians the situation is considered the more grave because it may imperil the electoral vote of the state. "The old time Democratic Missouri, with 20,000 votes to spare, is gone," said a distinguished Democrat of that state to me today. It is a state we have to fight for. If this Clark-Folk contest goes much further we may see it slipped into the game bag of Taft as it was last time. We think that the state can best be saved by giving the vice presidential nomination to Folk, leaving Champ Clark in his present position which is lofty enough for any man. But if the two persist in a fight to the death, it may mean disaster to the party in state and nation.

Canadian Selling Fish at Fergus Falls Is Fined.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Jan. 18.—Max Hoffman, a Canadian, arrived here yesterday with a carload of fish which he proposed to sell. The fish had been caught in Canadian lakes. He had not been in business long when Deputy Warden Jones found he was selling some varities, the sale of which is forbidden by the laws of Minnesota. A warrant was sworn out for his arrest and he was fined $45 and 850 pounds of his fish were seized. He was allowed to keep six tons of pickerel, the sale of which is not prohibited.

EBERHART NOT TO MAKE CAMPAIGN

Governor Says He Will Stand Wholly on His Record.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 18.—Governor Eberhart, returning yesterday from Overt, Neb., faced the opposition of Sam Y. Gordon and W. E. Lee of Long Prairie with the declaration that he will not make any campaign for the renomination, but will stand wholly on the record of his administration and leave it to the people of Minnesota to decide whether they want to return him to office. He denied that he had announced his candidacy in Sioux City, declaring that all the time he was away he did not talk politics.

Governor Eberhart's statement that he will make no campaign for the renomination caused some surprise. It was generally supposed that he would go after renomination in an aggressive manner. E. E. Smith, chairman of the Republican state central committee, is in favor of letting matters drift and allowing the opposition to spend itself in oratory and claims of support.

PROGRAM FOR FREE CONCERT

Music of Ambroise Thomas Will Be Featured Next Sunday.

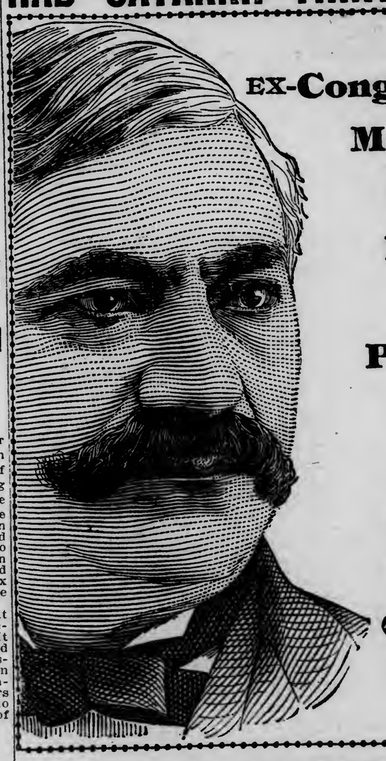

The program for the free concert at the auditorium of the Masonic temple Sunday, Jan. 31, at 3:30 p. m., follows:

Overture—"Mignon"..Androise Thomas
Organ—Opening chorus; gypsy dance; waltz song—"Mignon".....Thomas
Selections—"Mignon" .....Thomas
Vocal—"Nymphs and Faun"...Benberg
Mrs. Alphin Flaaten.
Selections—"Hamlet" .....Thomas
Organ—"Spring Festival," "Hamlet" .....Thomas
Vocal—"Miss Lindy" .....Rogers
Mrs. Alphin Flaaten.
Organ selections—"Psyche"...Thomas

The selections of Mrs. Alphin Flaaten for the next free concert at the Masonic temple on Sunday, Jan. 21, promise the treat always expected when this charming singer holds the boards.

It will be noticed that again all the instrumental music is by one composer, Charles Louis Ambroise Thomas, generally abbreviated to Ambroise Thomas, a noted French operatic composer, who died in 1896. In point of order, his most successful operas are "Psyche," produced in 1857; "Mignon" in 1866 and "Hamlet" in 1868, selections from each of which are on the program, and while the Thomas music is not written for the organ its cheery brightness and dainty melodies are brought out in good form, giving the listener an opportunity to hear him in many of his changeable moods. Thomas succeeded Auber as director of the Conservatory of Paris.

HAD CATARRH THIRTY YEARS.

EX-Congressman Meekison Gives Praise To Pe-ru-na For His Relief From Catarrh.

EX-CONGRESSMAN MEEKISON COMMENDS PE-RU-NA.

"I have used several bottles of Peruna and I feel greatly benefited thereby from my catarrh of the head. I feel encouraged to believe that if I use it a short time longer I will be fully able to eradicate the disease of thirty years' standing."—David Meekison.

PERUNA RESTORED HEALTH.

Mr. C. N. Peterson, 132 South Main St., Council Bluffs, Iowa, writes: "I cannot tell you how much good Peruna has done me. Constant confinement in my store began to tell on my health, and I felt that I was gradually breaking down. I tried several remedies, but obtained no permanent relief until I took Peruna. I felt better immediately, and five bottles restored me to complete health."

A SINCERE RECOMMENDATION.

Mr. D. C. Prosser, R. R. 6, Shelby, Oceana Co., Michigan, writes: "Two years ago I was badly afflicted with catarrh of the stomach. I had had a run of typhoid fever, was very depleted. I could find nothing I could eat without causing distress and sour stomach. Finally I came to the conclusion that I had catarrh of the stomach and seeing Peruna advertised, began to take it. It helped me soon, and after taking three or four bottles I was entirely cured of stomach trouble, and can now eat anything."

Good Shampoo for the Winter Months

"The hair and scalp require shampooing nearly as often in winter as during summer," writes Mrs. Mae Martyn in the Philadelphia Star, "and when a woman neglects this important duty her hair soon becomes oil-laden and unmanageable.

"A soothing and cleansing shampoo mixture can be prepared at little cost by dissolving a teaspoonful canthrox in a cup of hot water. This rubs into a thick, white lather, stops the itching almost instantly, and dissolves every particle of dust, dandruff and excess oil. Rinsing leaves the scalp clean and healthy, while the hair dries evenly and quickly, taking on a charming softness and rich gloss. Occasional shampoos with canthrox, encourage the hair to grow long and abundantly."

PLENTY OF GOOD PURE WATER

Tells of Nature's Great Remedy for All Diseases—Also Gives a Simple Home Prescription to Relieve Stomach Trouble, Kidney and Bladder Afflictions, and Rheumatism — Mix This Yourself at Home and Try It.

"The people here do not drink enough water to keep healthy," exclaimed a well-known authority. "The numerous cases of stomach, kidney and bladder diseases and rheumatism are mainly due to the fact that the drinking water, nature's greatest medicine, has been neglected.

"Stop loading your system with cure-alls; get on the water wagon. If you are really sick, why, of course, take the proper medicine—plain common prescription treatment, which will not shatter the nerves or ruin the stomach.

"To cure rheumatism you must make the kidneys do their work; they are the filters of the blood; they must be made to strain out of the blood the waste matter and acids that cause rheumatism; the urine must be neutralized so it will no longer be a source of irritation to the bladder, and most of all you must keep these acids from forming in the stomach. This is the cause of stomach trouble and poor digestion. For these conditions you can do no better than take the following prescription: Fluid Extract Juniper Berries, one ounce; Compound Fluid Balmwort, one ounce; Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, four ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take teaspoonful doses before each meal and at bedtime. But don't forget the water. Drink plenty and often.

"This valuable information and simple prescription should be posted up in every household and used at the first sign of an attack of rheumatism, backache or urinary trouble, no matter how slight.

FARMING SEEMS TO BE ONLY OPENING FOR THE MAN WITH HIS FIRST $1,000

Few Give Any Advice Except "Get Back to the Land."

Great Scarcity of Investments Suggested for City Dweller.

And still the suggesions to the man with $1,000 come, and still those who favor chicken raising or truck farming are far in the lead.

It seems that 90 per cent of the people who offer suggestions in the present Herald contest favor buying land with their first $1,000, and it is difficult to select from the many letters received any that offer other lines of investment for the man responsible for the contest. There are many different kinds of farms suggested, but the ideas of the great majority of those entering the contest favor farming of some kind.

There is a notable scarcity of practical suggestions for the man who does not care to leave the city. Good investments cannot be as scarce as the letters would indicate, and it would be interesting to hear some suggestions from men who have actually invested their first $1,000 without leaving the city for the country.

Some more of the letters received follow:

Alfred Mobby, Pine River, Minn.—My theory to invest the $1,000 would be to take a homestead or buy a farm of about eighty acres near Pine River or vicinity.

On this one could keep about twelve cows, a team, a few hogs and a few chickens.

One thousand dollars would just about pay for all of this; while your land is increasing in value all the time.

I would have forty acres in grazing land and have forty acres for farming, upon which I would raise corn, tame hay and potatoes.

Rev. J. C. Jewell, Walker, Minn.—I am just a little older than the young man who has saved $1,000. I have a wife and two children also. I have saved a few hundred dollars. I could not be persuaded to go into a business I'm not familiar with. It is a very easy matter to lose the savings of years by an unfortunate venture.

Speaking from the experience of one who has been out of business life and as I take the young man to have been, there are just two investments which I consider first class and perfectly safe for myself or him, viz: First, mortgages on real estate; second, investment in real estate, which are certain in reasonable length of time to appreciate in value.

M. E. I., Blackduck, Minn.—I do not think $1,000 quite sufficient to engage in business, nor do I consider farming a quick way of doubling one's money. I am sure that "our friend" would find his $1,000 rather small by the time he had purchased his stock, farm, implements, etc. It would be some time before he saved another $1,000.

Were I this person in question with the $1,000, I think I should locate on some good claim or homestead, either in Northern Minnesota, Canada, or out in the West. I think this is an excellent way of doubling one's money. A good many people have been successful in this way. You find the most of them with very comfortable homes and engaged in business of their own.

S. H. MacKenzie, Auburn, N. D.—For a man who has saved $1,000 and wants to invest it where he can enlarge his capital, I suggest the following: First mortgage on real estate where the real estate is worth three times the amount of the loan, interest payable annually, at 9 per cent. It is worth more to a man with $1,000 than any business he can go into. This investment can be made in Western North Dakota or the Canadian Northwest.

Dr. J. E. Natson, 2800 Bryant avenue south, Minneapolis, Minn.—In answer to your contest of the best solution of the problem of what a man with $1,000 had best do with himself and money, beg to submit to you the following solution of his problem:

"Invest your money in Yakima valley orchard land under the United States government canal, where you can purchase the same on easy payments. With the balance, put up a little home, buy a team and the few implements necessary to start in with in the fruit growing business in the Yakima valley. Plant your land to apple trees, the long keeping, winter varieties for which the Yakima valley is famous the world over. The first year, plant onions between the young apple trees, from which you will make from $100 to $400 per acre. After taking off the onions, plant one acre to strawberries the first fall, from which you can receive $500 per acre the second year after planting. The second year, plant part of the land to onions and part to potatoes.

"Each year your young apple trees are increasing the value of your land $1 per tree, 100 trees to the acre. By the time your orchard comes into bearing, your land, which you can purchase now on your $1,000 will be worth more than $1,000 per acre. In other words, in five years' time the growth of your orchard will have increased your original capital 1,000 per cent and you will have money in the bank from the crops raised between growing trees.

"Investing in Yakima fruit land differs from entering retail business or similar investments, in that failure is unknown in Yakima valley, where the sun shines 300 days a year and Uncle Sam furnishes water as wanted, and your orchard will provide an income for yourself as well as for your children and childrens' children.

"I know whereof I speak because my mother, brother and several relatives have gone out there with even less, money than you have and have made good. My mother went out with less than $700 and made payment on five acres of land. She now has an 8-year-old orchard in full bearing, for which she has refused $10,000. I also have a young orchard, not yet 3 years old, for which I would not take $500 per acre."

Fannie Lakonen, 105 Maple street, Virginia—I am only a girl of 16 years, but I have seen some experience as my father's right-hand man.

I advise this man with the $1,000 to buy a tract of timber, either from the state or of some individual; sell this timber to the company that pays most, as logs, ties and pulpwood. There is some expense in cutting it, but it brings quite a sum of money, especially if the man himself is "boss" and keeps books. And if his wife does the cooking for the workmen, thus saving the amount which would go to the cook otherwise.

If this man is void of bad habits, such as drink and gambling, he is sure to earn $4,000 or $5,000 clear on his $1,000 worth of timber. He could get his food-stuffs on credit of some grocer in a near by town, and pay it up when he received his monthly payment for his timber.

He could send an order to some employment office for men with their own tools. He could hire teams of some company that has idle teams for not more than $15 or $20 per month and feed. As for the buildings needed, in the business he could hire some farmer's buildings that are not in use. This is what I would do with my $1,000 in the same circumstances.

Elmer Henrickson, 202 St. Croix avenue—My advise to the man with the $1,000—now if he has a fair position, stick to your job and keep your little $1,000 in the bank and you will be better off some day.

Edgar Olson, Cloquet, Minn. R. R. No. 1.—If I had that $1,000 I would go into a small town on a new railroad line, say the Canadian Northern, in the center of a thickly settled farming district, about fifteen miles from Duluth, and build up a small store, with a lunch room in it.

You could order all your stuff from Duluth, and all the farmer would need to do is to go into his own home town and buy his goods, and then save the trouble of going a distance of ten miles.

As the town grows bigger and the district more thickly settled you will then realize how your bank account will grow.

Mrs. Alfred Roper, Hackley, Wis., Box 171.—To the man with $1,000 I advise him to buy a horse and two or three acres of land near a good business place where there is steady work the year around.

Pay $500 down and the balance the same as rent and keep the other $500 in case of sickness or bad luck of any kind. Plant the land in potatoes and vegetables for your winter use. When you have paid for your place, save the payment just the same until you have enough to fix up the house or lot so it is comfortable for the cold winters. Keep on saving the payments until you have enough saved to buy a farm or go into business, as you like. It wouldn't be more than four or five years and you would have a home of your own and enough money to go into some kind of business.

L. A. R. S., 875 Island avenue, Milwaukee, Wis.—My best advice to your correspondent would be to go west and let his family grow up in the land of sunshine and golden opportunity, where he would not have to spend all he saves during the summer to keep warm in the winter.

Just a year ago I was in Colorado spending the greater part of the day—from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.—out of doors, bare headed and getting a good coat of tan; while the folks at home were having hard work to keep warm with a big furnace and a lot of coal.

It would take a volumne to tell one-half of the possibilities of that glorious climate and soil and what a live man with $1,000 could do with a 10 or 20-acre tract. I am the proud possessor of a small tract within an hour's ride of Denver—the New York of the West; one of the most delightful cities I have ever been in; and I have been in a good many.

If your correspondent will write me, I will gladly give him views and figures of my own experience; also the names of prominent business men in your own city who will vouch for the same. I am now getting ready to return there the first of the month, to remain permanently.

Hoping this first $1,000 may prove the corner stone of a successful business career that the family may share in, with health and happiness.

"I'VE GOT THE FIRST $1,000; WHAT SHALL I DO WITH IT?"

For the second of its series of contests The Herald has an interesting problem which comes to it in the form of a letter that explains itself:

To the Editor of The Herald:

We have often been told—at least we used to be—by rich men that the hardest work on the road to wealth is to get the first $1,000.

I've got that sum now—saved it out of my salary during ten years. Who will tell me how to go the rest of the way? How shall I invest it? Shall I go into business, and what kind, and how?

I am 35 years old, with a wife and two small children, and have a fair position with a living salary, but that's about all. Probably I could, if nothing happened, save another $1,000 in another ten years, but with the cost of living going up faster than salaries—and I can't expect mine to go much higher than it is—it is going to be harder. If I am ever going to start out for myself and gain independence or wealth, now is the time for me to begin, while I am strong and healthy and young.

What shall I do with myself and my $1,000—and my family?

Here's a real problem, a vital one that will interest everybody; and The Herald hopes to see a large and interesting variety of answers. It hopes, too, that men who have traveled the road that lies before this young inquirer will take part in the discussion. The prizes will, of course, be no temptation to them; but this is a subject of wide interest, and they should be glad to contribute their wisdom and experience to its solution.

Write out your answer, limit it to 300 words, put your name and address at the top of the sheet, write on one side of the paper only, and send it to the Contest Editor of The Herald before Feb. 1.

For the best answer to this young man's problem The Herald will give a prize of $10.

For the next best answer The Herald will give a prize of $5.

For the third best answer The Herald will give a prize of $3.

MUST BELIEVE IT

When Well-Known Duluth People Tell It So Plainly.

When public endorsement is made by a representative citizen of Duluth, the proof is positive. You must believe it. Read this testimony. Every backache sufferer, every man, woman or child with any kidney trouble will find profit in the reading.

J. E. Watts, 918 Tenth Ave. W., Duluth, Minn., says: "I gladly verify the public statement I gave in 1908, regarding Doan's Kidney Pills. I had an attack of backache and lameness in my loins which obliged me to stop work. There was so much pain in my kidneys that I could not bend over and I was so stiff that the least movement made me miserable. I tried different remedies but nothing helped me until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They acted like a charm, and it would have been impossible for me to have obtained better results. Since then I have always kept Doan's Kidney Pills on hand and they have helped me when I have taken them."

LOOKS BAD FOR RICHESON.

One Condemned Man Gets No Commutation of Sentence.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 18.—The fifteen days' respite granted to Silas N. Phelps, the condemned murderer of Deputy Sheriff Emmett F. Haskins, failed to bring him commutation, through the inaction of the governor's council yesterday, and he will die some time next week.

Governor Foss, who obtained the respite for Phelps from the 1911 council, found the new council strongly opposed to commutation. Its attitude on the death penalty is regarded as having an unfavorable bearing on any similar petition from Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, also under sentence of death.

Phelps was sentenced to die during the week beginning Dec. 31, and the fifteen days respite, according to the opinion of the attorney general, will expire at midnight on Saturday next. The electrocution probably will take place either Monday or Tuesday next and very early in the morning.

JUDGE REFUSES SUBPOENA.

Says He Cannot Be Made to Testify Before Himself.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 18.—A judge cannot appear as a witness in a trial in his own court, in the opinion of Judge Charles Claftin Allen. The local street car company, which is defendant in a $5,000 damage suit, attempted to serve a subpoena on Judge Allen to testify in the case, which is being tried in his court. Judge Allen refused to accept service and ordered the process server out of his chambers.

MINNEAPOLIS MAN HELD FOR SHOOTING OFFICER.

Albuquerque, N. M., Jan. 18.—Theodore Goulet, son of a former policeman of Minneapolis, Minn., charged with the murder of Alex Knapp, an Albuquerque policeman, has been held to the grand jury without bail. Goulet shot Knapp several days ago while the officer was taking him to jail.

Was In Reformatory.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 18.—Theodore Goulet, accused of killing Alexander Knapp, a policeman, was arrested here in July, 1911, on a charge of burglary and sentenced to the St. Cloud reformatory. He later was placed on probation, and was a parole-breaker at the time of the shooting in New Mexico.

Goulet is the son of Joseph Goulet, who, ten years ago, was a patrolman on the local police force, and now is a clerk with a grocery company.

GAS EXPLOSION FATAL.

One Woman Dead and One Missing and Eleven People Hurt.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 18.—One person was killed, eleven others were injured and one is missing as the result of an explosion of gas that wrecked a three-story brick tenement house last night. The explosion was caused by the ignition of leaking gas by a lamp which was carried into the cellar by George Hoeff when he entered to cut some wood. The entire structure, which was built twenty-two years ago, crumbled like paper, burying its occupants beneath an avalanche of brick and timber. The dead:

MISS IDA MARKUS.

Missing:

Miss Mary Brook.

The injured:

George Hoeff, Mrs. Hoeff, Dorothy Hoeff, 20-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hoeff; Mrs. Norma Gamereno, William Wasnick, Frank Swickman, G. A. Schaefer, Clarence Hellian, Edward Brown, William Gamenero. Fire broke out immediately after the collapse.

BEVERIDGE TALKS ON CHILD LABOR.

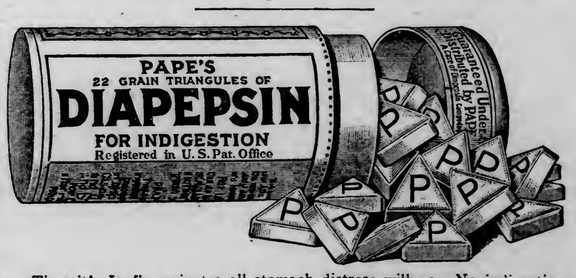

New York, Jan. 18.—Former Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana delivered an address on child labor at a meeting here last night under the auspices of the civic forum and child welfare league. He declared that the growth of Socialism might be traced in part to the Socialists' demand that child labor be done away with, "a question," he added, "to which the older parties have given little attention." He depicted many pitiful instances of child labor which he had investigated personally.

Michigan Child Scalded.

Menominee, Mich., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Kenneth Carley, aged 3, of Ingalls, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Carley, fell into a pail of boiling water and was scalded to death.

Diapepsin belongs in your home anyway. It should be kept handy, should one of the family eat something which doesn't agree with them or in case of an attack of indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis or stomach derangement at daytime or during the night it is there to give the quickest, surest relief known.

Suspend Judgment Until You Have the Facts

After a careful and comprehensive canvass of the sentiment among the voters of the City of Duluth, it has been found that the FACTS in the contemplated bond issue for a municipal electric lighting plant are not clearly defined in the minds of a majority of the voters.

THEREFORE, THE DULUTH-EDISON ELECTRIC CO. will endeavor to set before the citizens of this city, through the medium of the newspapers, FACTS, FIGURES AND TRUE CONDITIONS pertaining to the subject of lighting in Duluth and such other cities that may be relevant to the local situation.

We will endeavor before February 7th, to convincingly clear away any and all doubts as to our sincerity in our belief that the installation of a municipal lighting plant in the City of Duluth, at this time, would be unwise. To do this we will take up categorically every phase of the lighting situation in Duluth, explaining fairly our position and condition.

We will PROVE that our company is not overcapitalized.

We will PROVE that we have been placed in a false position because of errors in the report of the engineers employed by the city to submit a plan for a municipal plant.

We will PROVE that the taxpayer of Duluth will be burdened for years with the expense of conducting AN EXPERIMENT, whether he be an electric light user or not.

We will PROVE that all things considered, we offer the city of Duluth the lowest lighting rates now in force in any other city in the United Staets. AND—

WE WILL PROVE THAT EVERY STATE IN THE UNION CAN FURNISH LISTS OF "ABANDONED SUCCESSES" IN THE WAY OF MUNICIPAL LIGHTING PLANTS.

In all our published statements and arguments we will endeavor to appeal to your REASON AND COMMON SENSE. We do not fear the result.

TURN DOWN SOCIALISTS

L. Berger, was indorsed, and an invitation to Mr. Berger to come to Indianapolis to address the convention was extended.

Heated debate followed the reading of a resolution providing for withdrawal of the mine workers from the American Federation of Labor and condemning the leadership of Samuel Gompers and John Mitchell, former president of the miners, as "affiliated with that sleep-producing agency, the National Civic federation."

Attack Federation of Labor.

"The federation of labor," the resolution declares, "is in the grasp of Judge Gary of the Steel trust, and Andrew Carnegie of Homestead fame, and August Belmont, 'friend' of the interurban railway workers of New York."

It advocated the calling of a great labor convention in this city April 1 and the formation of a new national industrial organization, "to emancipate wage workers from the yoke of industrial servitude."

"The strike of the Illinois Central mechanics would have been successful long ago if the Federation of Labor had not 'scabbed' against it," said Frank Hefferly of Collinsville, Ill., author of the resolution.

The resolutions committee was instructed to group proposed measures advocating the transformation of the Federation of Labor from an association of crafts unions to a general industrial organization, each of whose members could be dependent upon the other to co-operate with it in strikes. A large number of such resolutions have been offered.

It is certain all those who were present at the meeting at the palace pledged the interests represented by them to make every sacrifice in order to uphold President Gomez in his efforts to remove the faintest justification for American intervention.

Both Sides Represented.

Col. Orestes Ferrera, speaker of the house of representatives, after the conference, said he was convinced all the trouble was due to congress truckling to the veterans by abrogating the civil service law.

Congressman Manuel Sacedes, representing the veterans, said they would now be satisfied with what they had already gained although they still believe the president's action in forbidding officers to attend meetings of the veterans was unconstitutional.

Expect No Trouble.

Washington, Jan. 18.—After a conference with President Taft, Secretary of War Stimson today declared he did not believe the United States would have to intervene in Cuba. President Taft agreed with him, said Mr. Stimson. Although the situation is regarded as hopeful, the White House and the war department will watch developments closely.

EAGLES' LODGE

All members of Duluth Aerie, No. 79, are requested to be at the F. O. E. hall at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning, to attend the funeral of the late brother, J. W. Sullivan. (Signed)

NAVAJO GIRL IS HEIR TO $160,000

White Half-Brother Wants Her to Share Estate of H. C. Simpson.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 18.—Attorneys for the estate of Henry C. Simpson, who died in this city three weeks ago, today instituted search for an "Indian maiden" somewhere "in the Southwest," who is heiress to $160,000 of the Simpson fortune.

That Simpson was wealthy was not known generally until after his death. His estate amounted to $322,000 and was left in the hands of his son, Henry, as executor. After the death of his first wife more than twenty-five years ago, the elder Simpson is said to have married an Indian. It is for a daughter by this marriage that the son seeks, with the purpose of dividing the estate with his half-sister.

The elder Simpson was uncommunicative regarding his second marriage. The daughter is said to have returned to live with her people, the Navajos.

UNDAMAGED SECURITIES TAKEN FROM RUINS.

New York, Jan. 18.—Millions of dollars in securities were taken from the vaults of Kountze Bros., bankers, in the burned Equitable building, during the night and removed to the firm's new vaults. The building was surrounded by policemen and the banking people worked under the lights of lanterns and the glare of searchlights from the Singer building. The securities were undamaged.

RUSSIAN SCIENTIST IS IN PRISON AGAIN

Morosoff Must Serve Another Year for His Book of Poems.

London, Jan. 18.—N. A. Morosoff, the Russian genius who, in spite of the fact that he has spent the greater part of his life in imprisonment or exile, has made a name for himself for researches in chemical and physical science, has been sentenced to another year's confinement in a fortress in connection with a volume of poems published by him in 1906, according to the current number of "Darkest Russia."

Morosoff was first arrested when he was a student at the University of Moscow, for spreading socialistic ideas among the peasants. In 1881 he was again arrested in connection with an attempt on the life of Emperor Alexander II, and also on account of his literary activities. He was kept a prisoner in the fortresses of St. Peter and St. Paul and Schlusselburg until the revolution of 1905, but was released in October of that year.

As soon as he regained his freedom he took to writing poetry, the publication of the first volume leading to his recent arrest.

CHICKEN THIEVES MURDER FARMER

Posses Are Hunting for Two Negroes Near St. Joseph, Mo.

St. Joseph, Mo., Jan. 18.—Posses of farmers, policemen and deputy sheriffs are searching the environs of St. Joseph for the murderers of W. C. Lykens, a young farmer who was shot by two negro chicken thieves he was pursuing near the city this morning. The rig used by the negroes to haul off their loot has been identified as stolen and the capture of the thieves soon is expected.

Few Vessels Lost.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 18.—The convention of the Great Lakes Protective association was held here yesterday. Announcement was made that but four vessels in the association were lost during the season just closed, the most profitable in the history of the association, which is a mutual insurance organization.

Fire in Packing Plant.

Chicago, Jan. 18. — Fire attacked the office building of Schwarzschild & Sulzberger just before the plant was closed yesterday and threatened the whole of the packing plant. The flames were confined to the upper stories of the office building, however. The loss was about $25,000.

Equity Society Official Raps "Grain Combine" in Fargo Address.

Says Minneapolis and Duluth Grain Dealers Rob Farmers.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Special and separate programs for visiting women and farm managers were features today at the Tri-State Grain Growers' convention.

Slight changes were made in the program of the big convention, C. A. Chinberg of Hankinson, N. D., and T. M. McCull of Crookston, Minn., being added as speakers.

That men should study nature and take advantage of her advice in using methods for the prevention of frost is the opinion of A. A. De Smidt of the Minnesota Horticultural society, as expressed in his address today.

"Nature has been and is doing much for us to prevent blossoms from freezing," said Mr. De Smidt. "She has given us brooks, rivers, lakes and lands with good northern slopes for orchard sites. We know that water will prevent frost, and a piece of land that is six or more feet above the water level and has water on two sides is, in my opinion, the ideal or all."

Best Trees for Windbreaks.

Prof. Waldron of the North Dakota Agricultural college told of a number of specific instances where the effects of windbreaks had been thoroughly studied in North Dakota during the past year and showed how they had done great good, in some instances practically saving a crop from destruction. He gave examples of the way to plant trees. Aside from the pine, the best trees for the valley were soft maple, white willow, native ash, Russian wild olive. All these trees would do well outside the valley with the possible exception of soft maple.

Wants Duluth Terminal Elevator.

"North Dakota farmers are paying commission men in Minneapolis, Duluth and Superior $1,000,000 annually for the privilege of marketing their grain," said J. M. Anderson of the American Society of Equity, in talking of terminal grain elevators. Mr. Anderson figured this out by saying that there was 100,000,000 bushels of wheat marketed each year from North Dakota. The farmers must pay the commission men 1 cent a bushel to sell the grain. Minnesota and South Dakota lose about the same amount.

"We believe that if we had a terminal elevator at Minneapolis and one at Duluth to be operated in connection with the large elevators now operated by the millers and in connection with the local farmers' elevators throughout the country we would be able to do not only the marketing, but also the elevating at a cost of not to exceed $100,000, for Minneapolis and Duluth," said Mr. Anderson. "But suppose that this was too low an estimate. Suppose that it cost us four times the amount estimated or $500,000 per year. We would still be saving to these farmers of these three states $2,500,000 annually by virtue of having a grain selling agency of our own."

Mr. Anderson contended that still another item of profit in the grain business is that derived from the mixing of grades.

"It is estimated that from 15 to 20 cents a bushel is made in this process of mixing grades," said Mr. Anderson. "Jim Hill says that this estimate is too low. He claims that the mixers make from 20 to 25 cents per bushel.

"But the greatest necessity of farmers entering the terminal markets is to try to break the grain combine. The board of trade of Duluth and the chamber of commerce at Minneapolis, as at present constituted are closed corporations. They are owned by the grain trust in Minnesota. They boast of the fact that they have an absolute monopoly of the grain trade.

"The Society of Equity is working for legislation which will make the membership of such organizations unlimited."

President McVey Talks.

President F. L. McVey, of the University of North Dakota spoke on "The Farmer and Co-operation."

"The almost universal practice of modern business is combination, a tendency developed because of the elimination of wastes, economy of staff and plant, the strengthening of the trade against outside interests and the gaining of political and financial control due to the power of capital," said Mr. McVey. "Yet this almost universally accepted law has been persistently overlooked by American and British farmers."

Mr. McVey showed the advantages of co-operation in milk and dairy products, co-operative elevators, in the field of fruit growing, etc.

He said that with the coming of power machinery will lower cost of production and as a consequence profits will be cut down and the farmer forced into co-operation along other lines. He suggested that there might be combinations to purchase such machinery, pooling on lands and to carry on farm work in general.

Other speakers of the afternoon were President W. J. Black of the Manitoba agricultural college and Col. R. Wilkinson of Lake Elmo, Minn., who spoke on "Improving the Status of the American Farmer."

WILSON SILENT ON WATTERSON

Says He May Prepare Reply to Statement Later On.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 18.—Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, who reached Detroit shortly after noon today, refused to discuss the statement by Henry Watterson with reference to the Col. George Harvey affair. He said he might prepare a statement on the matter later in the day.

The program for the visit in Detroit today of Governor Wilson embraces a luncheon tendered by the board of commerce at noon, a dinner in his honor under the auspices of the Michigan Press association, which is holding its annual convention here today, and a mass meeting arranged by the Michigan supporters of Governor Wilson's candidacy for the Democratic nomination for president.

During the afternoon Governor Wilson is expected to be present at a conference of Democrats from many parts of the state. At the board of commerce lunch and the press association banquet, it is stated there will be no political speeches, politics being reserved for the evening mass meeting.

Among other speakers in the evening will be Former Postmaster General Don M. Dickinson of Detroit, Dudley Field Malone of New York and Bishop Charles D. Williams of Detroit.

Governor Wilson was expected to arrive in Detroit shortly after noon.

ST. LOUIS MEN TO BOOM ROOSEVELT

Indorsement of Him for President Suggested at Party Meeting.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 18.—Controlling forces in the Republican city committee, which meets tonight, are authority for the statement that the meeting will result in the indorsement of Theodore Roosevelt for the presidential nomination, and that a state-wide movement in the interests of the former president will spring from the indorsement.

Every member of the committee, it is reported, favors Col. Roosevelt, but some are opposed to the indorsement at present. The Roosevelt movement in Missouri was started after E. Mont Reily of Kansas City, president of the Republican League clubs of Missouri, had visited Roosevelt and discussed the political situation with him.

The Republican city committee, at the suggestion of President Roosevelt, was the first in 1908 to indorse President Taft for the presidency.

Governor Hadley of Missouri is favored by members of the committee for the vice presidency.

CHANGING HER FACE

(From the Household Friend)

Any woman not satisfied with her complexion can remove it and have a new one. The thin veil of stifling half-dead cuticle is an encumbrance and should be removed to give the fresh, vigorous young skin underneath a chance to show itself and to breathe.

There's a simple old-fashioned home remedy which will always do the work. Get an ounce of pure mercolized wax from your druggist and apply it at night like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. The mercolide will gently absorb all the lifeless skin and leave a healthy and beautiful complexion, as fresh as a child's. Naturally it takes with it all such facial blemishes as freckles, tan, moth patches, sallowness, liver spots, pimples, etc. It is pleasant to use, effective and economical. The face so treated immediately looks years younger.

IS TOLD ABOUT McNAMARA PLAN

Federal Grand Jury Inquires Into McManigal's Statement.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 18.—Ortie McManigal's assertion that J. J. McNamara, just before the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building, planned to have "six or eight men stationed about the country to blow up places on a wholesale basis," was investigated by the federal grand jury today.

Several men who are alleged to have received proposals from McNamara during 1910, when twenty-five explosions occurred, were examined. Their appearance followed the dismissal as a witness of Frank Eckhoff of Cincinnati, who was acquaited with McNamara before the latter became an official of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron workers.

THINKS MAN IS SPIRIT OF HER "DEAD" HUSBAND.

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 18.—Mrs. C. C. Willard is awaiting examination by the lunacy commission here on the declaration of her neighbors that she had been induced, through the hynotic influence of Wilfred Belliveau, who was committed to the insane asylum yesterday, to believe that he was the spirit of her husband. The husband, who was in Denver, has been summoned.

It is alleged during Willard's absence Belliveau called on Mrs. Willard and told her that Willard was dead and that he was the spirit of the departed. He induced her to go with him to a cottage in Berkeley, where they disturbed the neighbors with wild dances and ravings. The arrests followed.

Ohioans Get to Work.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 18.—The Ohio constitutional convention by electing Prof. S. D. Fess of Greene county, vice president, over F. W. Doty of Cuyahoga county, completed its organization, and proceeded with the real work of constitutional revision by receiving sixteen proposals.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES

They Are Closely Observing Public Health Conditions

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies in an interview on the subject made the astonishing statement that the reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of applicants do not even suspect that they have the disease.

He states that judging from his own experience and reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has probably ben more successful in relieving and curing these diseases than any remedy known. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of cures.

We find that Swamp-Root is strictly an herbal compound and we would advise our readers to give it a trial. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes—fifty cents and one dollar.

However, if you wish first to test its wonderful merits, send to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle, absolutely free. When writing be sure and mention The Duluth Daily Herald.

COL. WATTERSON'S COMPLAINT.

It's too bad, of course, that Col. Watterson is disappointed in Governor Woodrow Wilson, but it doesn't affect the fact that a very great number of people are not disappointed in him at all, but like him better the more they see and hear of him.

And Col. Watterson's expressed displeasure with Governor Wilson is a little hard to understand when it is coupled with the statement that "in point of intellect and availability" no mistake has been made by those who favor his nomination.

Apparently the colonel's mild outbreak is due to the fact that Governor Wilson objected to leaving any possibility that people might take him for the personally conducted candidate of the editor of Harper's Weekly; and in that case it most certainly is not well founded.

Harper's Weekly is a very fine publication, and Col. Harvey, its editor, has a fine intellect and broad capacity. He was one of the original Wilson men, and until a few weeks ago he carried the device "For President, Woodrow Wilson," at the top of his editorial columns. Then it disappeared; and there was much curiosity as to whether this was because Morgan had pulled the string or because Wilson had requested that his name be dropped from its place in the Weekly.

It turned out that the latter theory was correct. Hence these tears from Col. Watterson and others.

In making this request Governor Wilson was thoroughly justified. When Harper & Bros. were about to go to the wall a few years ago J. Pierpont Morgan, perhaps out of consideration for one of the oldest publishing houses, put it on its feet again. Therefore he holds a large collection of bonds which are a lien against the publishing house and its publications. Whether or not it is justified, there has been a popular impression that this gave Morgan a good deal to say about the policies of the Harper publications. For our part, we suspect that Col. Harvey had a good deal of leeway, and that Harper's Weekly is really more free than the public believed. However, the public belief was otherwise, and therefore the support of Harper's Weekly was a handicap. Having handicap enough in the opposition of every powerful special interest in the country, Governor Wilson had to undertake the delicate task of asking to be relieved from this one. He did the right thing in doing so, and we can't see why Col. Watterson should be so grieved about it.

As to the character of the opposition to Governor Wilson, "Savoyard" speaks pointedly on this page today.

So far there has been nothing in the nature of the attacks on Governor Wilson likely to have any other effect than to strengthen public confidence in him.

FATE'S UNKINDLY TRICKS.

The report that Senator Cummins is going to get into the campaign for the Republican nomination for president adds slightly, but not very much, to the interest of the situation that exists. Senator Cummins has many admirers, but he is not likely to get very much attention as a presidential candidate.

The talk about him, however, reminds us that he is from the state of the late Senator Dolliver, and that recalls the true words and sad thought that "Savoyard" had on this page the other day: "Since the last presidential election a sore calamity has overtaken each of the two great political parties. John A. Johnson died in Minnesota, and Jonathan P. Dolliver died in Iowa. Had Johnson lived he would have been the leading, perhaps the sole, candidate for the Democratic nomination, and had Dolliver survived he would have been a much stronger and far more attractive leader ot the insurgent Republicans than La Follette."

What a splendid choice would have been offered the American people, with John A. Johnson on the Democratic ticket and Jonathan P. Dolliver on the Republican! But fate, in its inscrutable way, chose to rob the nation of this opportunity when it gave the cup of death to these two brilliant figures.

EBERHART AND DUNN.

The Albert Lea Tribune seems to be puzzling its wits over the story that "Bob" Dunn is on the Eberhart organization slate as a candidate for lieutenant governor, and it is speculating about whether this is done in the hope of pulling Eberhart through in Northern Minnesota.

It is saying too much to say that such speculation is idle, because it isn't quite that. It is more or less interesting, and it helps to keep savor and interest in the early stages of the campaign year.

But it's pretty complicated. For our part, we are unable, yet, to decide whether the question is going to be if Dunn will be able to pull Eberhart through in Northern Minnesota, or if Eberhart has strength enough to pull Dunn through in Northern Minnesota. It looks to a man up a tree as if it might turn out that a pretty tough job had been carved out for both of them.

NORTH DAKOTA DEMOCRATS "GET TOGETHER."

In spite of the fact that several of the outside leaders whose presence had been expected were not able to come, Fargo's Democratic "get together" banquet and reunion appears to be a very happy and successful affair. It is inspired by a broad spirit of optimism regarding Democratic prospects, and by a characteristically Democratic hopefulness of the triumph of a just cause.

Such gatherings do good. They help to crystalize issues, to rally party forces, and to enlist public interest and sympathy. And so they do more than merely help a party, which isn't of much consequence unless it gives that party an opportunity to make good in a sincere desire to work for the public benefit. Striving for party success for the sake of the party may be interesting, but it is of no earthly benefit to the public unless there are higher aims than merely gaining political power and pelf. Therefore it is good to note the sincerity and determination and unpartisan patriotism that are being demonstrated at this Fargo gathering.

THE COMMISSION PLAN IN OPERATION—26.

For a month The Herald has been running brief articles in these columns under the above heading. The working of the commission plan of city government in twenty-five cities has been studied and the results noted.

In each case marked improvement has resulted. Partisan politics has been eliminated, and the city business put on a business basis. Appointments have been made because of fitness and not to pay political debts. Where mistakes have been made in electing the wrong kind of men as commissioners the people have rectified their error through the use of the recall. Mostly that hasn't been necessary. The fact that it is there to be used if it is needed is enough.

A marked betterment in the credit of these communities has been noted in nearly every case. Nowhere have taxes increased; almost everywhere they have been decreased. Nowhere does anybody report that city improvements or other work have been decreased; everywhere they have been increased.

The meat of the commission plan, as judged by these practical demonstrations, is this; it gives better results for the same money, the same results for less money, or often better results for less money.

The Herald is not ceasing the publication of these reports because the supply has run out. There are plenty more of them to be had. Nearly two hundred cities in this country are operating now under the commission plan, and so far there is no report of a failure, no report of a return to the old system. There has yet to be heard the first whisper of "graft" in connection with the commission plag.

The purpose of The Herald in publishing these articles has been to keep the people of Duluth reminded of the commission plan while the operation of proposing it to the voters of Duluth is in abeyance.

It will not be proposed here until it is clear that it is constitutional. That question will be decided by the supreme court in a case brought to test the Mankato city government, which is operating under the commission plan. If the court holds it constitutional, then Duluth can go ahead. If the court holds it unconstitutional, then it will be necessary to make a fight for the adoption of the proposed amendment to the state Constitution making it constitutional. It will take a hard fight to bring about the ratification of this amendment—a fight not only against opposition to the commission plan, but against the indifference of voters in communities not interested in it.

In the meantime, it is well to remember that Duluth needs the commission form of government, and that it should get it as soon as it can.

THE ADVENTURE OF LIFE.

Do you sigh for the romantic days of old—for pirates and buccaneers and swashbuckling knights and glory in the wars? Do you bewail the lack of adventure, and criticize today as humdrum and prosaic?

Look about you. Life is as full of romance and adventure and interest today as it ever was.

Life itself is an adventure, full of romance and interest and excitement—providing you retain your interest in things as they are and your ideals of things as they ought to be.

But if you vitiate your tastes by false interests and dissipation, life will indeed be tame and humdrum for you, because these things quickly pall.

It won't be long now, though the snow covers the ground and wintry winds still howl down the fireplace and mutter under the eaves, before nature's spring awakening comes. Then you can witness the most wonderful thing in all the world, the resurrection of the summer; and every foot of your country walks will be as full of adventure and romance as the most lurid of yellowbacked novels. That is, if you have eyes that see and a heart that understands. From the bare, brown earth will spring the croziers of the ferns, the first tender shoots of the spring beauty, the anemone and their pale, fair sisters. The air will contain a new scent, the hint of fresh, young life. The trees will be stirring with the wonder of the new life.

Even now, when there is yet no sign of these things, there are adventures in plenty. Nature has a charm for every season, and in her garb of snow and breathing the wholesome air of winter she is still fair and inviting.

And if the outdoor life is too severe, there are adventures to be had by the fireside, where you can sail the Spanish main with the boldest of buccaneers, roam the wilderness with the French voyageurs through the pages of Parkman, take part in the bold doings of the heroes of all ages through the fascinating pages of history and romance, or come in fairly close contact with the real life of today by reading some of the modern writers who realize the interest and value of reality as a vital inspiration in fiction.

And never doubt that there are dragons to attack and ogres to overcome, as much today as ever there were. There is the dragon of Privilege, which it is your duty and your responsibility as a citizen to help overcome. There are the ogres of Greed and Political Bossism to be fought and defeated, and it is your duty and it should be your pleasure to give them battle in the name of freedom.

Life is humdrum and tame if you let it become so, but it never is either of these things if you keep your ideals and your interests alive. It is what you make it. If you find it tasteless it is the fault of your taste. If you find it unpalatable it is because your appetite is depraved. If you find it sweet and wholesome and full of amazing interest it is because you have kept your heart clean and your mind young. Your body will grow old in spite of you, but your mind, if you give it exercise and keep it busy and apply it always to vital interests, can be kept forever young.

Before you say again that life nowadays is flat and unprofitable, look about you with an observing eye and see how crowded full it is of interest, adventure and romance.

STRAIGHT TALK.

When a London chauffeur, whose license was suspended by the lord mayor for reckless driving, protested that this took his living away, the lord mayor thus addressed the culprit: "You talk about taking your living away; what about the persons whose lives and limbs you endangered? What compensation could you give a man if you ran over him and broke his leg? You talk about taking your living away when you might have injured twenty men. You are not a privileged portion of the community, and you shall not have the opportunity." That very proper language, manifestly, was intended for all chauffeurs in London. Something like it might be good for chauffeurs in this country—and for owners.

WILSON AND BIG BUSINESS

By SAVOYARD.

If there was any doubt that Mr. Bryan is the first personality in the Democratic party the uncertainty was dispelled when he appeared at the Shoreham hotel in this town Jan. 8, and participated in the deliberations of the national oommittee that was convened to fix the time and select the place for the holding of the Democratic national convention of 1912. When the oommittee went into executive session soon after the first convocation there was a grin of satisfaction on the face of every Republican as broad as the space between Portland, Me., and Portland, Ore. They were confident in the hope that faction was doing for the Democratic party what it had so effectually wrought in the Republican party. But when the Republicans came to realize the harmony that prevailed at the Banquet Monday night—and all night at that—the doleful gloom on their faces stretched from pole to pole. They now try to console themselves with the reflection and the declaration that William R. Hearst is a "dark horse." So he is, and he stands about as much show to be the Democratic nominee for president of the United States as I do to be pope of Rome, and besides that he would be a worse president than I would a pope.

There is rivalry in the Democratic camp; but it is not very bitter and the nominee of the Baltimore convention, whomsoever he may be, will have a united and an invincible party behind him. That special election in Kansas Jan. 9, when a Democrat carried the Fifth congressional district by 1,500, which even in 1910 went Republican by 5,000, shows the way of the wind.

"Dinna ye hear the slogan?"

Wall Street was in a conspiracy to undo Woodrow Wilson. It was about as precious a piece of baseness as ever was hatched. The curious thing was that it pleased the Republicans even more than it did Democrats opposed to Wilson. Thomas F. Ryan is the purse of the Tobacco trust. He pretends to be a citizen of Virginia, and it may be but a coincidence that Virginia rejected the income tax amendemnt. It appears that Mr. Wilson writ a letter to one of Tom Ryan's lawyers in which he spoke unfavorably of William Jennings Bryn. Shakespeare asserted that every true man's apparel fits a certain character, and here was Wall Street vindicating his philosophy. Look at the delicious comedy of it—that Jim Smith set holding adverse criticism of Mr. Ryan as same as lese majeste, or a little samer! For a week or two there was talk like this in this here town, the capital of the great Republic: "Well, well, we know. We could an if we would. If we list to speak. There be, an if they might," and we Wilson men actually took on a little alarm. But when they fired the petard, it only served to confirm

There's ne'er a villain dwelling in all Denmark
But he's an arrant knave."

They mistakenly estimated the character of Mr. Bryan. They assumed that he was a little man chock full of vanity. They were astonished when they found him a great man richly endowed with magnanimity. Nor was that all. He is capable of loving Woodrow Wilson for the enemies he has made. The trick was transparent in its naive knavery. Mr. Bryan saw at a glance that it was for no love of him they acted; but that they were prompted by hate of Wilson, and what is more to the point, it is the hatred of fear. And so the issue came on, and it is this: It is now up to the Democratic party to choose between Woodrow Wilson and rascally "Big Business."

It is not precisely revealed whom Big Business is for; but it is exactly revealed whom Big Business is against—it is against Wilson. In 1904 Big Business spread itself and spent its money to nominate Parker, an excellent man, by the way. But as soon as he was nominated Wall street shut up like a clam. It contributed money, barrels of it, to nominate the ticket, and when it was nominated it filled the Republican campaign chest to overflowing and it is a positive fact that Cortelyou had at command in 1904 a campaign boodle that dwarfed even that Mark Hanna had in 1896.

Wall Street is trying to play that game in 1912. Every mother's son of them who is a child of Cain is against Wilson, for well they know that his is a stout heart and a heavy hand. This country needs a president who will appoint a secretary of the treasury whose first act will be to sever the wire that connects that treasury with the National City bank of New York. The Democratic party has the opportunity to do it. Wall Street knows who is its arch enemy.

The writer of this is of very small importance; but some folks read my stuff. And right here I want to make confession and apology. It was a mistake we made in 1896 when we opposed Bryan. It was a blunder having the proportions of a crime, and it was a sore blunder when we rejected him in 1908. We are not going to do it again, and for one I am ready to serve notice on Big Business that if it won't have Wilson it shall have Bryan. We can't elect a yaller dog this year, but we can elect either of these.

If Mr. Bryan has taken himself out of the calculation; but he has got a duty to perform, and if Big Business shall get a hold on the convention and acquire vantage whence it can defeat the will of the great mass of the party, and his is the only hand that can choke the serpents off the party, it will become imperative for him to do it.

However, Wilson is now so far in the lead that his nomination is now almost assured, and certain it will go to him if the Wall Street crowd continue to fire their batteries at him. There must be no more of that 1904 business. And the way to prevent it is to find out whom Wall Street does not want and then go ahead and nominate him.

And we know Wall Street does not want Woodrow Wilson; but the people do, and they are grimly resolved to have him.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

COMING OR GOING?

To the Editor of The Herald:

I was amused at the editorial in the News Tribune this morning on the question of the capitalization of the Duluth-Edison company and municipal ownership. Searching for a conclusion is like looking for a kernel of wheat in a bushel of chaff.

It reminds me of the Irishman who got up in the morning and put his trousers on hind side before and he couldn't tell whether he was coming or going.

THE DANCE HALLS AND WOMEN OFFICERS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The report of the grand jury as quoted in the daily papers recommends either the abolishment or the strict regulation of public dance halls. This will remind the public interested in the protection of youth to lend their support to two forward steps in the regulation of dance halls proposed by the Women's Council, which have received the indorsement of Mayor Cullum, Chief Troyer, Judge Ensign, Judge Windom, Judge Cutting, Dr. Ryan, president of the Humane society; Mr. McKercher, humane officer; the executive committee of the Commercial club and W. A. McGonagle. These plans were embodied in a resolution introduced at the last meeting of the Women's Council by Mrs. A. A. Kerr of the committee on amusements. The two very important provisions of this resolution are: First, that a license with a fee shall be required of every public dance hall and skating rink (only those adjacent to parks are now required to obtain a license); and, second, that, with the fund thus provided, a regular municipal police supervision shall be maintained at all these places. The policemen now in attendance at public dance halls are engaged and paid by the managers of those halls, while off duty as city employes. This resolution with such strong indorsements when presented to the city council as an ordinance will unquestionably appeal to all who desire the best possible regulation, if these dance halls are to exist as a feature of the social life of any class of our young people.

A woman member of the police force has done such effective work in the supervision of Minneapolis dance halls that recently the mayor there has recommended to the city council the appointment of another police woman.

"HYPOCRISY AND CHRISTIANITY."

To the Editor of The Herald:

The article in The Herald of Jan. 11 interested me very much. There were sound and sensible thoughts in it and I am glad to see there are men who have the spirit that great Nazarene, who said: "Suffer those little ones to come to Me and hinder them not." Yes, I am glad that men with intelligence are breaking out of those institutions, and are willing to come out into the open, where God's sunshine can be found. Down here among those who are struggling for justice that these intellectual men and women will have the people with them, and the nations of today are hungry for those constructive messages of brotherhood and justice. To be a Christian means exactly to be in good standing with one's God. What do I mean when I say my God? I mean, my fellowmen, the people, if you please, because everything in nature is a part of God and therefore every man, woman, and child is a part of that nature's God.

But today we cannot be in good standing with God, unless we are in good standing with our fellowmen, with our brothers, who are striving to do good and practical useful things for each other. And what does that mean? Just this: "Do unto others as you would that others should do unto you." Have we as Christians practiced those great principles? Have we not eliminated them from our life? Surely we have wandered away from them, instead of making towards them. Under the conditions of today, we—everyone of us—ministers included—do things that we should not do, and the things one should do, as Christians we will not do. As Rev. W. T. Hughes says: "We have our Sunday clothes on." Good excuse. No, we have no time for this social thing—business! That is the principle of today. And that means: "Do others, before they do you." Business, that's the slogan, and it has become a huge gambling system where the principles of that great Carpenter of Nazareth are trampled down and laughed at. Today we find thousands of homeless people crying for bread and work. And that under the very shadow of the Christian temples. Those who produce food are hungry. Those who make clothing are naked. The church takes no interest in these things. It knows nothing of the injustice and bitterness of the toilers' lot. They simply tell us that they have nothing to do with social and industrial questions. What then in the name of common sense is the church for? The Carpenter's mission was to heal the broken-hearted, to preach liberty, and open the prison to them who were bound. Yes, He was always willing to help the friendless and the forsaken and despondent. Dr. Channing says: "That we as Christians should disappear if we will not do our part in the great work of regenerating society. It is the order of nature that the dead should be buried, and the sooner a dead, lifeless, soulless sect is buried the better."

The life and sayings of Jesus were the most perfect philosophy of life ever presented to minds of men. If I understand Christianity right, it should mean absolute truth! It is this, or nothing! Jesus said: "The truth shall make you free." Religion to my mind is in us, and there is nothing mysterious about it.

In conclusion my best and hearty thanks to The Herald for its editorial Saturday, Jan. 13. Yours for a true Christianity. X.

USES INDEPENDENT SWITCHBOARDS ELSEWHERE

To the Editor of The Herald:

Having noticed in your paper of Monday, Jan. 15, an article headed, "Takes Out Its Booth. Duluth Telephone Company Refuses to Connect With Courthouse Switchboard," and therein the local officials of the Duluth Telephone company are credited with the following statements:

That it is a policy of the Bell concern never to connect with any switchboard not its own.

As a representative of the largest independent telephone and switchboard manufacturers in the United States, I wish to object to such statements, as they are not facts, and are undoubtedly made to mislead and intimidate prospective purchasers of independent made apparatus.

Kindly have the Bell Telephone company explain what grounds they have for discriminating against St. Louis county by refusing connection at the courthouse, when at the present time they connect with switchboards of independent manufacturers in the following towns in Minnesota and Wisconsin:

Minnesota—Grand Meadow, Rochester, St. Charles, Waseca, Worthington, St. Peter, Halstead, Hendrum, Atwater.

Wisconsin—Iron River, Port Wing, Chetek, Baldwin, Park Falls, Bangor, Wilson, Sparta, Arcadia, Black River Falls, Neillsville.

The above are only a few of the many towns where both the Bell and independent companies connect on independent manufactured switchboards, and this is done for public convenience.

In the above cases these are public exchanges, and the traffic in these exchanges is far greater than it would be through your county courthouse. The only objection that the Bell company can possibly have in this case is that its policy is to intimidate any prospective purchasers of telephone apparatus from purchasing anything not manufactured by the Western Electric company, which is owned exclusively by the Bell Telephone company, and both are subsidiaries of the American Telephone & Telegraph company.

It is a well-known fact that the public utility commissions of several states have passed upon the efficiency of independent apparatus as compared to that of Bell manufacturers.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1892.

•••The cold wave of last week is being repeated by another which is now moving down from the Northwest with temperatures ranging from 20 to 40 degs. below zero.

•••Frank Cowen of West Duluth has been appointed organist of the First M. E. church of Duluth.

•••A new school was opened today on Grand avenue, West Duluth, with Miss Annie A. Stanley as teacher.

•••The Daily Advertiser, an afternoon paper, made its appearance at West Duluth today. Charles Colby and J. O. Hancock are the publishers.

•••C. H. Dunn, who has been acting as business manager of the Duluth Tribune, has left that paper and will go on the road as general agent for the Duluth Novelty & Plating company.

•••James Sutphin has gone on a trip to Trenton, N. J.

•••A patent has been issued to General Manager W. H. Fisher of the Duluth & Winnipeg for an automatic railroad switch.

•••Dr. C. F. McComb has been appointed a member of the state board of health to succeed Dr. V. Smith.

•••Secretary Thompson of the chamber of commerce has gone to St. Paul to attend the meeting of the Forestry association and to protest against the scheme to convert a large section of Northern Minnesota into a government park.

•••Miss Cullyford, teacher of French in the public schools, who has been laid up for several days on account of a badly wrenched ankle, resumed her duties today.

•••Dr. W. Wilson, late of Tower, has removed to Duluth and begun the practice of his profession. He has secured offices in the Silvey block at the West end.

•••Mrs. Moody of Lester Park, who has been visiting in the East for the past two months, returned this morning.

•••It is now definitely settled that Alderman Charles A. Long will be nominated as the Republican candidate for mayor of Duluth. He will be run for the reason that no one else is available, but it is generally understood that he will be "knifed" by the Republican leaders and that either Mayor Davis, renominated by the People's party, or C. d'Autremont, the Democratic candidate, will be elected.

DULUTH AND THE HERALD.

Duluth Does Things.

Carlton Vidette: A Duluth girl in packing eggs wrote her name on one of them. Away off in California it fell into the hands of a young man, who immediately started a correspondence. Last week he packed his trunk and went to Nebraska to claim his bride. This is believed to be the first time in the history of Duluth that an egg ever hatched out a wedding. But don't be surprised at anything in Duluth.

Pity the Small Towns.

Ada Herald: The grain and flour men of Duluth complain that they are discriminated against, the Twin Cities being given the preference by the railroads. Duluthians are in the favored class compared with small town and country shipper.

Advertising Pays.

Stillwater Gazette: "It's cool in Duluth"—as well as in the entire Northwest.

The Herald's Work.

Cass Lake Times: Minnesota is roped, tied and branded. Who will make it free?—Duluth Herald.

It is a herculean task, but we believe The Herald will do more toward unroping, untying and unbranding with its editorials, which, like the probe in the hands of the skillful surgeon, reaches to the roots of the cancrous growth, exposing to the people the nefarious designs of the "organization," than any other newspaper in the state. With this information the people should unite with The Herald to overthrow this "organization" which is engorging itself at the expense of everyone not a member of its corporate body.

Duluth Not Alone.

Grand Rapids Herald-Review: A news heading reads: Duluth Is Cold: St. Paul Colder. To which might be appended, Grand Rapids Coldest.

It Was a Good Cut.

Bear River Journal: The editor of the Journal hobnobbed a few moments with the literary end of The Duluth Herald one day last week, and while there the "shadow catcher" got busy, resulting in a cut in that publication that caused us to take to the tall timber at once. Being a country newspaper man from the pines of Northern Minnesota was too strenuous a proposition for us to remain in that city after the appearance of The Herald's illustrated write-up. The tall pines for ours.

It Has Long Seen the Light.

Aurora News: The failure of Eberhart to call a special session of the legislature accomplished one thing. It caused The Duluth Herald to see the light, and that publication is now busy denouncing the gang that has for so long run Minnesota.

Boost for Duluth.

Thief River Falls Press: The editor had the pleasant privilege of spending a couple of days in Duluth since the last issue came forth. Duluth is certainly a progressive city. Its business men are wide awake and, although the days that we spent there were the coldest of the season, yet every man showed distinctly his tendency toward hard work. By its geographical location Duluth is destined some day to be the largest and most prosperous city in our state and it is to be hoped that the progressive spirit of that city will not only work incessantly for a larger but also for a better Duluth.

Winter.

O Winter, ruler of the inverted year,
Thy scattered hair with sleet like ashes filled,
They breath congealed upon they lips, thy cheeks
Fringed with a beard made white with other snows
Than those of age, thy forehead wrapp'd in clouds,
A sliding car, indebted to no wheels,
But urged by storms along its slippery way;
I love thee, all unlovely as thou seem'st,
And dreaded as thou art. Thou hold'st the sun
A prisoner in the yet undawning east,
Shortening his journey between morn and noon,
And hurrying him, impatient of his stay,
Down to the rosy west; but kindly still
Compensating his loss with added hours
Of social converse and instructive ease,
And gathering, at short notice, in one group
The family dispersed, and fixing thought,
Not less dispersed by daylight and its cares.
I crown thee King of intimate delights,
Fireside enjoyments, home born happiness,
And all the comforts that the lowly roof
Of undisturbed retirement, and the hours
Of long uninterrupted evening know.
—William Cowper.

Should Work Together.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The Duluth Commercial club will spread the gospel of farm development during the coming year. The prosperity of Duluth and every other city in the country depends upon the prosperity of the farmers. Every man who has any sense at all is an advocate of everything that will help the farmers. One of the ways is to vote the 1-mill tax for good roads. The cities and villages will pay something like 85 per cent of this tax, and every dollar of it musth be expended in tre towns—outside the cities and villages. That may look like a one-sided proposition, but it is not. While a state-wide system of good roads will be of immense benefit to the farmers, it will be of equal benefit to the cities. Without the farmers, every city would be wiped off the face of the map in short order. Likewise the farmers need the cities for their markets. Without Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth, farm lands in Minnesota would be worth much less than they are, because the market would be farther away, and farmers compelled to pay the extra expense of transportation, and the earning capacity of their acres would be less. It is the earning ability of the land that fixes the value. We have little patience with the spirit that would create prejudice between the country and the city. They are co-workers together, and they should get together on a program of cordial good will. The Duluth Commercial club is taking the right attitude.

New Leader Demanded.

William Allen White in Emporia Gazette: The defeat of Judge Martin, the Republican congressional candidate in the Seventh Kansas district shows just one thing clearly: That the Democrats had the votes. In practically every special congressional election held since Taft was made president, the Democrats have won. Moveover in every state in the Union at every election since Taft was made president the Democrats have made gains.

William H. Taft found the party united; his leadership has left it torn and broken. Unless the Republicans change parties. A lot of minor things enter in the Seventh district situation; but they are minor things. The great big important fact developed is this: That this country is going Democratic as sure as November comes ,unless our party changes leaders.

There is Taft talking with the Conservatives; there is La Follette raring with the Progressives. Some one must take the reins who can put cayenne pepper where it will do the most good on the balky horse, and put a kindly hand on the wild horse.

It's Roosevelt or bust.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: The wormeaten chestnut of all "proverbs" is—well, you know what it is—"Unlucky at cards, lucky at love." If your bridge partner is a bit flirty she always goo-goos at you and springs it. Then she leads you away to a secluded spot. You know. Tommy Treathinger was the only one we ever knew to beat this game, and that was an accident. Here was the way of it:

"Are you very lucky at cards?" asked the woman.

"Very," said Tommy. "I always win."

"How above love?" she continued looking arch and kittenish.

"Lucky again," plunged Tommy—"I always lose.

BOARD WILL MAKE REPLY

Water and Light Commissioners Will Answer Patterson Charges.

"It is the right of the public to criticize the water and light department, and as long as a man serves on the board he must expect that criticism," said H. H. Phelps this morning, in speaking of the charges of R. E. Patterson. "The board will probably prepare some statement at its meeting this afternoon, regarding the charges made. The public has a right to know the facts and the board is willing at all times to give them, I believe."

That the proper body to take up the charges is not the board of commissioners itself but the grand jury, is the position taken by Mr. Patterson who has declined to appear at today's meeting, although especially requested to do so by Mr. Phelps. William Craig, who likewise was invited to attend and testify, has also declined to appear.

NORTHWESTERN DEMOCRATIC CONFERENCE

evening were the features of yesterday's political program leaving the meeting of the state central committee and the banquet, the real features of the gathering, until today.

Cass county Democrats organized yesterday afternoon with D. B. Holt, president; Melvin D. Hildreth, secretary and Dennis Lynch, treasurer. The organization is intended to be the first of a number of county organizations throughout the state. "Organization" was the key-note of the addresses made at the meeting. Among those who spoke were Fred Whiteside of Kalispell, Mont., T. D. Casey of Dickinson and Col. M. A. Hildreth of Fargo.

Yesterday was given over to informal conferences and discussions. There was a hang-over of Progressive Republicans from the conference of Tuesday and they were active around the hotels. The Democrats were here from all parts of the state and there was any amount of political gossip to be heard and noted.

A hasty survey of the political situation in North Dakota, as reported by the political leaders in Fargo at present would seem to indicate:

First—That Theodore Roosevelt's name will go on the presidential primary ballot with those of Robert M. La Follette and William H. Taft.

Second—That John Burke will not again be a candidate for governor of North Dakota.

Third—That Wilson will gain the North Dakota delegation to the Democratic national convention, unless John Burke's name goes on the primary ballot as a candidate for president.

Fourth—That L. B. Hanna will be the Republican candidate for governor.

Fifth—That George P. Jones of La Moure, known in Minnesota as "Jones of Rock," has the best chance of landing the nomination for governor on the Democratic ticket.

A Peculiar Law.

The presidential primary law, which will be given its first application in North Dakota this year, is a queer law. It was slipped through during the closing days of the legislative session last year and was evidently hastily constructed. It provides that candidates for president, vice president, national committeemen, delegates to the national convention and presidential electors shall be voted upon. It provides specifically for the filing of petitions with the secretary of state by candidates for national committeemen, delegates and electors, but makes no such provision as to presidential and vice presidential candidates. The petitions to be filed must contain the names of at least 1 per cent of the voters of the party in the last congressional election, or 500 names.

Although no specific provision is made, the law has been so constructed that the requirement of petitions for presidential and vice presidential candidates has been read into the statute. It is the opinion of eminent attorneys of the state that the law would not stand up under a test in court, on account of deficiencies in that respect, but nobody shows a disposition to bring the test.

A situation arose at the meeting of the Progressives Tuesday, which would seem to indicate that Roosevelt's name will go on the ballot with those of La Follette and Taft. In the resolutions committee, a resolution was introduced, indorsing both Roosevelt and La Follette impartially. The La Follette men happened to have the upper hand in the committee and they sidetracked it, but the resolution adopted by the Progressive league, while endorsing La Follette for president, gives Roosevelt "favorable mention." It is the impression of those in touch with the situation that enough of Roosevelt's friends will get together to produce the petition with 500 names, or if they fail to do so, the Stalwarts will inaugurate the circulation of a petition for Roosevelt in order to improve Taft's chances.

As a straight contest between Taft and either Roosevelt or La Follette, Taft would have no chance in North Dakota. The farmers are dead against him, principally on account of his stand on reciprocity, and North Dakota is Progressive in any event. Even under those conditions, the Taft vote will not be small, for the Stalwart organization is powerful to some extent and the federal office holders' ring is for Taft to the last ditch. If Roosevelt and La Follette are both on the ballot, there is a chance for a Taft delegation. It will be only a chance, but the federal officeholders are not overlooking any bets, and it is safe to predict that Roosevelt's name will go on the ballot in order to split the Progressive strength.

Democratic Situation.

The Democratic situation in regard to the presidency is also rather confused. Some of John Burke's friends want a North Dakota delegation for Burke for president. That would necessitate putting Burke's name on the preferential primary for president and if it went on the ballot, he would get an overwhelming majority. It is likely that if Burke's overzealous friends persisted in their movement to put his name on the ballot, the supporters of the real candidates for president would keep the names of their men off the ballot and would give Burke a clear field.

Burke is in no sense a candidate for the presidency—very likely because he could not get the nomination. He is a candidate for the vice presidency in a receptive way and will probably be considered by the convention. If a delegation should go from North Dakota instructed for Burke for the presidency, it would cast a complimentary ballot for him and would then be released to become an uninstructed delegation. Thus the object of the preferential primary would be defeated.

Other friends of Burke suggest that his name be placed on the primary ballot as a candidate for vice president and if the counsel of prominent party leaders in the state prevails, that will be the course followed. Burke cannot be nominated for president and his friends know it. They point out that an expression of the voters on the candidates considered to have a chance is of more importance than that a "favorite son" delegation be sent to the convention.

As between the leading candidates for the Democratic nomination, Wilson is the favorite. There are Harmon and Clark men here, but Wilson is of the Progressive type favored in North Dakota, and Wilson will undoubtedly carry the state unless Burke's name goes on the ballot as a presidential candidate.

Harmon has made friends for himself by this visit. There is no doubt but that he is a big man. He is plain and democratic. He appeals to the people as a man who does things, and any such man, coming into personal touch with a great body of people, is certain to leave a favorable impression. The Wilson sentiment has been growing, however, and it is doubtful if the Harmon impression will be sufficient to make an appreciable inroad on Wilson's chances of carrying the state in the coming primary.

Clark's friends from South Dakota are here, and Clark posters are prominent around Democratic headquarters. The Clark candidacy has not been given serious consideration in North Dakota, only Harmon and Wilson being considered as likely to gain the nomination. The Democrats here are not insensible to the importance of the two-thirds bugaboo, and the possibility of a deadlock with a dark horse nomination as a solution is frequently heard.

National Committeeman.

The position of national committeeman, of little importance in many states, looms up to unusual proportions on the Democratic side in North Dakota this year. The chances of Democratic success in the presidential election are bright. On the other hand, there is only a bare chance of a Democratic congressman being elected from North Dakota. If no Democratic congressman should be elected, practically all the patronage of the state would be at the distribution of the national committeeman. If one Democratic congressman happens to slip in, the national committeeman would still have a powerful influence in distributing the patronage in the two other districts.

In view of that situation, the contest for national committeeman is a heated one in the Democratic ranks. William Collins of Bottineau, the present committeeman, is a candidate for re-election. He has strong opposition and his chances are considered none too good. He did not improve them any by giving his proxy at the recent national committee meeting to Fred B. Lynch of Minnesota, in view of the developments. Mr. Collins was elected as a Bryan man and is still a strong adherent of the Commoner. It happened that when the contest came on Col. Guffey in the recent national committee meeting, Collins gave his proxy to Fred B. Lynch of Minnesota. Lynch turned it over to Stone of Missouri and Stone voted against Bryan. The friends of Bryan in North Dakota consequently have the knife out for Collins and they will probably use it.

The most prominent candidates in addition to Collins are B. G. Whitehead of Williston, F. A. Willson of Bathgate and Fred McLean of Fargo.

Col. Whitehead is one of the wisest politicians in North Dakota. He is editor of the Williston State, and is making a strong canvass for the office. The other candidates are not idle and the vote on national committeeman will be close. The candidates will be voted upon at the presidential primary, which puts the matter directly up to the voters of the party so that the national committeeman from North Dakota this year will be truly representative of the majority of his party.

The Governorship.

Avowed candidates for the governorship are L. B. Hanna, Stalwart Republican; James A. Buchanan, Progressive Republican, and George P. Jones, Democrat.

On the Republican side, Hanna and Buchanan will be the only candidates A prediction right now would be that Hanna will be the nominee. Buchanan is none too strong. He has the indorsement of the Progressive Republican league, but the leaders of the Progressive cause are not by any means certain of his ability to carry the state against Hanna.

Hanna has a number of advantages that could not be counted among those of any other Stalwart Republican candidate who might come out. He is personally popular and is a good campaigner. He used his patronage as congressman to good effect and has many friends in the Progressive camp on that account. As head of one of the largest banks in the state, his banking connections are not to be considered as insignificant, politically considered. He is by all odds the best candidate the Stalwarts could put forth and he seems to have the nomination laid away.

George P. Jones, "Jones of Rock," is the only avowed Democratic candidate and has the best chance of landing the nomination. He is personally popular, is a man of the people, has campaigning ability that is not to be lost sight of in picking a candidate, and would captivate the farmers with his display of oratory and common sense.

Mr. Jones announced his candidacy with the understanding that John Burke would not be a candidate. Jones would not run against Burke, for he is a warm friend of the governor, but Burke appears to be definitely out of it and Jones is corralling much of the support that has been Burke's in former campaigns.

Some North Dakota Democrats are not satisfied to let the nomination go to Jones by default. They think the Scandinavian would make a better candidate for expediency, and both for expediency and for ability, F. O. Hellstrom, warden of the state prison at Bismarck and a former resident of Cass county, is being urged to get into the race. Hellstrom is a Scandinavian, but that is not his only asset as a gubernatorial possibility. He is a hard-fisted, hard-headed friend of the plain people. He has no grasp of the art of flowery speech and it is evident that flowery language for its primary purpose of conveying thought, but he does succeed in putting language to its proper function and the thoughts that he thus conveys are worthy of consideration. Mr. Hellstrom would be by no means a weak candidate, and if he should get into the race, "Jones of Rock" would not be able to walk off with the nomination. Oliver Knutson of Lakota, present state bank examiner, is another Scandinavian who is being seriously urged to get into the race.

Hellstrom would not be as strong a campaigner as Jones, but he would make it interesting for Hanna if he should receive the Democratic nomination.

George Duis of Grand Forks and Former Senator W. E. Purcell of Wahpeton are also being considered for the Democratic nomination. Both are strong campaigners and would be popular candidates, but their entrance into the campaign is regarded as extremely doubtful.

The Congressional Situation.

This year North Dakota will have its first opportunity to vote on congressmen by districts. Heretofore the congressmen have been elected at large, L. C. Hanna and H. T. Helgeson of Milton being the present representatives of the state in the lower house of congress. The census of 1910 showed North Dakota to be entitled to another congressman, so the state was divided into three parts, the First district being the eastern part of the state, the Second district the central part, and the Third district the western part.

In the First district Helgeson will probably get the Republican nomination again this year. In fact, it is practically certain he will be the nominee. There is some talk of opposition from the Stalwarts, who are leaning toward Judge Vick as their candidate, but he is thought to have little chance, as Helgeson has the district fairly well sewed up.

The Democrats are casting about for a candidate, but Helgeson's strength is a discouragement. An effort has been made to get Former Senator Purcell into the race, but a man who has been United States senator doesn't take kindly to the proposition of leading an almost hopeless fight for a seat in the lower house of congress. J. F. T. O'Connor, the brilliant young lawyer from Grand Forks, is a much more likely candidate, but he is not warming up very rapidly to those who are urging him to run.

The Second district has a wealth of candidates. George M. Young of Valley City and Judge John J. Kirk of Bottineau, Progressive Republicans, have anounced themselves as candidates, as has Col. William P. Tuttle of Dawson. Young is an out-and-out Progressive and has already started his campaign in whirlwind style. Kirk is making his campaign as a Progressive, but his brand of Progressiveness is not entirely satisfactory to the Progressives at large. It is thought that he has straddled to some extent. Tuttle is a Stalwart and admits it.

Kirk, laboring as he is under the charge of straddling, has more than a chance to take the nomination. He is strong in the northern part of the district, which is of the shoestring variety. If Young and Tuttle get into a warm fight in the lower part of the district, which is regarded as extremely likely, Kirk may slip in.

Democratic sentiment has not crystallized on any candidate. S. J. Doyle of Carrington and Dr. Plateau of Valley City are spoken of. Both are regarded as good campaigners and the prospect of a warm Republican fight in the district is taken as a sign of hope by the Democrats.

The Third district also promises a warm primary fight. Joseph M. Devine of Minot, an ex-governor of the state, is out for the nomination as a Progressive. He was thought to have clear sailing, but Secretary of State P. D. Norton of Hettinger stepped in and declared himself a candidate. He too is a Progressive Republican. State Senator Leslie Simpson is the candidate of the Old Guard. James Johnson of Minot, Progressive Republican, and Nehemiah Davis, doubtful Progressive Republican, are also thought to be likely candidates. All of which promises a most interesting battle in the Republican ranks.

Col. D. C. Greenleaf of Minot, a fire-eating campaigner of the old school, is most prominently mentioned for the Democratic nomination in the Third district, and Halvor Halvorson, also of Minot, is another possibility.

Row in Progressive Ranks.

The Progressives developed a row over the indorsement of a candidate for lieutenant governor Tuesday. The indorsement was given to Usher L. Burdick, the present lieutenant governor. Later it was discovered that J. M. Hanley of Mandan, speaker of the house and high in the Progressive ranks, had already taken steps to grasp the nomination for lieutenant governor. Burdick wasn't very keen for the indorsement and declined, so the resolution was withdrawn. That left it open, where it remains, and the probability is that Hanley will be the Progressive candidate.

Do You Pooh-Pooh at Your Aching Back?

That Pain Means a Death-Clutch in Your Kidney. How to Save Yourself.

"Died—Mrs. John Burton Smith—Bright's disease—Age 45." She spurned the pain in her back. She could have saved herself at the start in 24 hours, and very likely lived to a vigorous old age. Kidneys can be managed, but it takes a scientific treatment to manage them when they ache—when they ache they are diseased.

For 18 years the well-known specialist, Dr. Clarke, achieved remarkable success in treating kidney and bladder troubles. The treatment he used, you get, in Dr. Clarke's Kidney Wafers. You begin taking them today and you feel a difference tomorrow.

Thousands, like Mrs. John Burton Smith, spurn and neglect their aching backs and aching kidneys—to death!

If you have back pains, bladder pains, bladder trouble, diabetes, rheumatism, profuse or scanty, cloudy or foul urine, save doctors' bills and specialists' bills by trying Dr. Clarke's Kidney Wafers. They are sold by all druggists at 25c a box, or sent direct by Regent Drug Co., 43 Regent Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

If you want to prove first that all these statements are true, tell your druggist to give you a free sample package. If you want advice in regard to your condition, it will be given free and cheerfully, if you write to the above company.

This Wife and Mother Wishes to tell you FREE How She Stopped Her Husband's Drinking

By all Means Write to Her and Learn how She did it.

For over 20 years James Anderson of 139 Elm Ave., Hillburn, N. Y., was a very hard drinker. His case seemed a hopeless one, but 10 years ago his wife in their own little home, gave him a simple remedy which much to her delight stopped his drinking entirely.

To make sure that the remedy was responsible for this happy result she also tried it on her brother and several of her neighbors. It was successful in every case. None of them has touched a drop of intoxicating liquor since.

She now wishes everyone who has drunkenness in their homes to try this simple remedy for she feels sure that it will do as much for others as it has for her. It can be given secretly if desired, and without cost she will gladly and willingly tell you what it is. All you have to do is write her a letter asking her how she cured her husband of drinking and she will reply by return mail in a sealed envelope. As she has nothing to sell do not send her money. Simply send a letter with all confidence to Mrs. Margaret Anderson at the address given above, taking care to write your name and full address plainly. (We earnestly advise every one of our readers who wishes to cure a dear one of drunkenness to write to this lady today. Her offer is a sincere one.)

large, enthusiastic audiences yesterday. He was forced to leave last night and did not attend the banquet. In the afternoon at the Fargo opera house, Governor Harmon spoke to a crowd that packed the large auditorium from orchestra pit to the highest point in the gallery. The occasion was the Tri-state Governors' convention, and Governor Harmon made no attempt to talk politics. He confined himself to the subject of taxation, of which there was much to be said with special reference to the situation in Ohio, where the governor has brought about some notable tax reforms. He charged that misuse of public funds by office holders amounts to robbery of contribution boxes. He proclaimed equitable taxation as the first principle of representative government. Although essentially political in its character, the evening meeting was not altogether political. There were many women in the audience and many in the crowd were people having no political interest, but anxious to greet and hear a man of such prominence as Governor Harmon.

In the absence of Former Senator W. E. Purcell, Mayor V. R. Lovell of Fargo presided at the meeting last evening. He introduced Governor Harmon in a short speech, in which Democratic principles were lauded.

Governor Harmon gave a straight political speech, attacking the Republican party's record on the tariff. He said in opening that his reception had been so warm that "it had been the good old summer time," despite the low point of the mercury.

Tariffs and Panics.

The Democratic party is coming to an election under peculiar circumstances, he said. Not in history before had the Democratic party been defeated four times in succession. He drew a round of applause when he said he did not regard the defeat of 1876 as a defeat. "We were robbed in that election," he said. For years after the Civil war, he said, the claim was made that the Democratic party, if returned to power, would renew slavery. It took one Democratic victory, that in 1884, to demolish that hum-bug. The "hard times" cry has been used against the Democratic party persistently. It is a more serious charge than the other, in his opinion. "But like all other falsehoods, it has had its day," he said. "It was founded on the belief that the Wilson bill was responsible for the hard times in the 90's. At the end of the Harrison administration, the treasury was depleted. They dumped the deficit on the Democratic party. The hard times began in 1892 and culminated in 1893.

"As high an authority as the present president of the United States said recently the Wilson bill, passed in 1894, caused the panic two years earlier," he declared.

Governor Harmon charged that the McKinley bill, passed in 1890, might more rightly be considered responsible for the panic.

"In less than ten years after the Dingley bill was passed, with not a Democrat in sight, another panic came," he said. "If it had to come, it was a good time to come, for not a Democrat was pushing a broom or wielding a mop in the government."

In 1908 the people had begun to realize that the tariff was a tax and the consumer was paying it. For every dollar the importer pays in duties the protected interests get three dollars in increased prices. When hard times came, people began to ask why, although a man's wages were raised, he had no more at the end of the year than before. On that account the Republican platform declared for a revision. Taft repeatedly declared in speeches that the tariff should be revised downward.

"People believed him; I wouldn't," the speaker said. "I don't mean personally, but no Republican officeholder can be expected to make good such a promise.

Raised the Tariff Tax.

"The Republicans after that election deliberately raised the tariff tax. That honest and patriotic man, my neighbor and friend, William Taft, was forced, not only to sign that bill, but to praise it. He went to Massachusetts and fell on Mr. Aldrich's neck."

In 1910 the people elected the first Democratic house in nearly twenty years and the speaker said it was due to the tariff. They resented the deliberate breaking of a promise.

Governor Harmon said he himself was somewhat fearful of having a Democratic house and nothing else, and hear a man of such prominence as Governor Harmon.

The governor drew applause when he referred to President Taft's reciprocity program, as "laying the baby on Canada's doorstep and Canada didn't want it."

When Governor Harmon spoke of Champ Clark and Oscar W. Underwood, there was hearty applause.

"By the aid of the staunch men in the senate, they passed bills reducing the tariff," he said. "The president vetoed them and he gave the most remarkable excuse ever known. He said he wasn't sure. He had appointed some men in a commission to beat around the bush. He didn't need any tariff commission when he made that promise."

"The Democrats in congress got together and stand together. The first thing they did was cut off 200 or 300 offices. Many officers did nothing but draw their pay. It took courage, but they did it."

He took up the charge that the Democrats had been out of power so long that they did not know how to run the government. The Democrat house set a great example. Democratic governors and other officers were elected in many Northern states. The people have a refutation of the charge that the Democrats are incapable of taking care of public affairs.

"We approach the next presidential election free of suspicion, free of libels," he said.

His Election in Ohio.

He told the history of his election in Ohio. "It was a cold day when we went up to the statehouse," he said. "It was the reception of poor relations at a wedding. The Republican legislature was in session. The other Republican officeholders had written on their faces 'You fellows are accidents; in two years we'll be doing business at the old stand.'"

He told of his struggle to uncover graft and to overcome handicaps. He charged that the legislators were liberal with the state money, so as to fasten a charge of extravagance again fasten a charge of extravagance against him. He was charged with playing politics by urging reforms. "If insisting on the right things at the rght time is playing politics, the people say 'Go on with the game,'" he said.

He told how the plea for help in effecting his reforms was answered by the election of both branches of the legislature. He held it up as an object lesson to other states and to the voters of the nation.

"We must go before the people and tell them 'Send us a president who will sign our bills,'" he said.

Expenses of the federal government have grown out of all proportion to the growth in population and needs, he said, in making an attack on governmental expenditures in recent years. The expenses of the federal government in less than six years would consume all the property, real and personal, in the state of Ohio assessed at its full value. "They would eat up the two Dakotas for breakfast," he said. "The federal governmetn wastes four times as much as we use for state, county and municipal government in a year in Ohio."

"Isn't it about time to talk economy in federal affairs?" he asked. "Isn't it about time to extend some state reforms to Washington?"

"The government must reflect the people," he said. "It will never be any better. We haven't the right to expect any better. But we have the right to expect the honesty, morality and integrity of the people in the men raised to govern.'

"I want to say as a message from the Democratic party of Ohio that nothing will stand in the way of the party in that state supporting Democratic principles. We have put Ohio in the Democratic column and we are going to keep her there."

"Looking Both Ways."

Fred Whiteside of Kalispel, Mont., followed Governor Harmon, substituting for Judge Martin J. Wade of Iowa, who was unable to be present. His subject was "Looking Both Ways." He talked bluntly and candidly, advising the party not to compromise on a platform, but to nominate a candidate who has personality. Platforms don't mean anything, he said, but personality does. He recalled history in a doleful manner and didn't provoke very much applause by his reminiscences and predictions. He said if history is repeated, the war between factions will be carried to the polls, with fatal result to the ticket. He indicated that, in his opinion the nomination of a "dark horse" might be a good thing for the party. "I just want a good, honest Democrat, who can get the votes," he said.

As the meeting started to break up there were wild yells for Governor John Burke, who was present. He went to the platform and gave a short talk, declaring his faith in the Democratic party and its ultimate success. He paid a high tribute to Governor Harmon. He said he was sorry Governor Wilson was unable to be present. "There are many men in the Democratic party, who are big enough to be president of the United States," he said.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

TO RECLAIM MANY ACRES

Extensive Project in North Dakota to Change Mouse River's Course.

Many Acres in McHenry and Bottineau Counties to Be Reclaimed.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota's greatest drainage project, the creation of a new channel for the Mouse river for forty miles, will be commenced early next spring, according to Chairman John Trimble of the Bottineau county board of drain commissioners, who is here this week completing the records of the board in connection with the awarding of contracts for the work.

At a cost of approximately $140,000, which will be borne by the land owners of Bottineau and McHenry counties, work will be done which will reclaim over 22,000 acres of land and make it suitable for agricultural purposes. The North Dakota counties will expend $70,000 of the amount in Canada, being compelled to form an outlet for the vast body of water which the Mouse river stores up in North Dakota and which is so disastrous to the land interests along the stream.

Extensive Equipment Used.

The France Dredging & Construction Company of Ohio, which has the contract, has its equipment on the river. It required eighteen cars to transport the machinery to the scene of operations, and a barge 40 by 106 feet has been placed at the mouth of the Deep river, this barge to carry the dredging machinery. In addition the company maintains kitchen and dining barges, sleeping barges and office barges, as well as a fuel steamboat.

To complete this big drainage project will require two seasons of work. The removal of 1,297,727 cubic yards of dirt will be necessary to form the new channel, which channel will be eighty feet wide for its entire distance, and the dredging company will operate its machinery day and night to bring about the completion of the work in two years. The company maintains its own electric light plant that the operations need not be suspended during the night.

NORTH DAKOTA DAIRY SCHOOLS

Walsh and Pembina County Farmers to Be Given Pointers This Winter.

Grafton, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Commencing Monday, eleven dairying schools will be conducted in Walsh and Pembina counties under the direction of the combined forces of the federal and state dairying workers in North Dakota. F. W. Merrill, in charge of the federal dairy movement in these two counties, will have with him A. X. Risser, general superintendent of the federal farm improvement work, and Dr. S. N. Smith of the bureau of animal industry, and O. A. Storvick of the dairying department, while State Dairy Commissioner R. F. Flint and Assistant E. S. Pierce will represent the state.

The following are the cities and dates for the short course dairying schools which will be conducted: Pembina, Jan. 22 and 23; Drayton, Jan. 23 and 24; St. Thomas, Jan. 24 and 25; Hamilton, Jan. 25; Grafton, Jan. 26 and 27; Hoople, Jan. 29; Cavalier, Jan. 30 and 31; Walhalla, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1; Park River, Feb. 2 and 3; Forest River, Feb. 5; Conway, Feb. 6.

VALLEY CITY MAN OUT FOR CONGRESS

GEORGE M. YOUNG.

Valley City, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—George M. Young of this city is a candidate for congress on the Progressive Republican ticket from the Second district, according to a statement he has given out for publication, in which he says:

"I am for Senator Robert M. La Follette for president and I believe that the securing of a delegation to the Republican national convention favorable to him and the issues he represents is of greater importance than my nomination as the Republican candidate for congress from the Second district. Immediately after the primary election of March 19 I will make my announcement and give my platform to the people of the district."

ABSTRACT LAW BEING ATTACKED

North Dakotans Claim New Law Works Hardship on Title Sharps.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Abstractors are interested in an action begun here in district court to nullify the provisions of a law passed by the last legislature. This act was vetoed by Governor Burke, but his veto was not filed until a day late, and the supreme court held that the law was in effect.

A. E. Watson has brought an action against County Auditor Hans Anderson to secure a certificate to abstract titles without conforming with the new law. Judge Templeton set Saturday morning at 10 o'clock as the time for the hearing on the writ of mandamus. George A. Bangs represents the plaintiff, and the suit will be resisted by county officials.

The feature of the law repugnant to abstractors compels them to maintain in their own offices complete duplicate sets of the county title records.

CAUGHT IN CANADA.

North Dakotan Alleged to Have Moved Mortgaged Property.

Dogden, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Samuel Warbitsky, for whom the authorities of this county have been searching since last fall, was arrested at Dahlinda, Sask., brought back and arraigned before Justice R. E. Person, and then held to the district court.

Warbitsky is charged with having removed mortgaged property from this section.

DIES IN CALIFORNIA.

Hancock Man Succumbs to Bullet Wound Sustained Last December.

Hancock, Mich., Jan. 18.—Frank Pera, a bartender in this city for a number of years, died Monday in San Francisco, of gun shot wounds sustained Dec. 3 last, when he was shot down by Savini Meinardi, a resident of Calumet.

It is said that Pera became infatuated with Meinardi's daughter, who was a married woman, and fled with her to San Francisco. The woman's father followed and on Dec. 3 shot Pera with fatal effect.

Meinardi was released on $2,500 bonds, which he forfeited when he fled the city. He is believed to be in Switzerland now.

BELTRAMI EXHIBITS.

Farmers Co-operating in Showing Products of County.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.) — A. H. Kleven, who is collecting agricultural exhibits from Beltrami county for the exhibit which is being shown at the immigration rooms of the Northern Minnesota Development association in Mineaponlis, is receiving many letters from farmers saying they will send in more extensive exhibits as soon as the weather permits.

Mr. Kleven asks those living at some distance from Bemidji to send their exhibits direct to W. R. Mackenzie at Minneapolis.

Mr. Kleven has received a letter from E. C. Leedy, general immigration agent for the Great Northern railway, who tells of the trip that will be made by the exhibition car.

ACCUSE ELEVATOR MAN.

North Dakotan Alleged to Have Attempted to Defraud.

Stanley, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.) — Charged with failure to redeem storage checks for grain palced in his elevator at Coulee, Montrail county, a warrant for the arrest of M. C. Graham has been secured by State Attorney Roy Miller. Mr. Graham is a prominent grain buyer of this section owning elevators at Stanley, Coulee and Manitou, N. D., and Mondak, Mont. He also is interested in a paper supply house in Minneapolis, a general store at Little Falls, Minn., a general store at Rose, N. D., and the impiement business here.

Complaint against Graham is made by a farmer of the Coulee district, who claims to hold storage tickets which the elevator owner has refused to honor. He contends that fraud is being attempted.

Boosting Duluth Product.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 18.—A note received Tuesday from Dr. G. A. Morley, who is spending a few weeks in New York, attending clinics, shows that the doctor, as usual, never overlooks an opportunity to boost for Minnesota. He was at one of the largest camping outfitters in the country, and was told "to save money and transportation by buying my blankets in Duluth where they get them."

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Devils Lake, N. D.—The Symphony orchestra season is practically assured for Devils Lake. It is expected that the directors of the Commercial club will close acontract with some organization within a day or two. A very favorable prioposition has been received from the St. Paul Symphony which will be considered.

Grand Forks, N. D.—At the regular meeting of the Sock and Buskin club of the university, it was decided to present "Nathan Hale." Clyde Fitch's great play of American revolutionary times, as the society's annual dramatic production. The play was recommended to the society by the executive committee, and after a short discussion, was accepted.

Fargo, N. D.—The stockholders of the Scandinavian-American bank elected as directors to serve for the ensuing year: H. H. Aaker, Emil J. Headland, M. A. Hagen, N. G. Eggen, B. G. Tenneson, Lars Christianson, Edward Engerud, George Hancock and H. J. Hagen. The following officer's were elected: H. J. Hagen, president; Lars Christianson, vice president; N. G. Eggen, cashier; N. J. Brevig, assistant cashier.

Minot, N. D.—Twenty-five hundred dollars a year for three years to carry on the better farming movement in Ward county under the auspices of the state association recently formed will be raised by the businessmen and farmers of this county.

Grand Forks, N. D.—In a decision handed by Judge Templeton, Attorney C. J. Murphy of this city is given judgment for $500.37 and costs, amounting to $538.02, against J. P. Casselman and the Fidelity Deposit company of Baltimore. Mr. Murphy sued the defendants to recover $300 and interest on an attorney's lein, which he held against Mr. Casselman.

Fargo, N. D.—H. F. Emery, who several days ago announced himself as a candidate for mayor, has withdrawn from the race on account of the fact that private business interests have so shaped themselves that he is not able to make the campaign or, if elected, devote time to the position.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Galvanic Soap

Does Twice the Work With Half the Labor

Galvanic Soap saves clothes, for unless they are very badly soiled you don't have to rub them on the board—you needn't even boil them. It's perpetual rubbing that tears the clothes to pieces—and breaks your back in the meantime. Compare Galvanic with the soap you now use. Give it a fair trial and then decide which is the best. One million women have made this test—and Galvanic won!

BREAKING OUT COVERED BODY

Where Scratched It Made Sores. Terrible Itching and Burning Kept Her from Sleeping. Cuticura Remedies Completely Cured Her. No Return.

Waukegan, Ill. — "Three years ago this winter I had a breaking out that covered my whole body. It itched so it seemed as if I should go crazy. It first came out in little pimples on my back and spread till it covered my whole body and limbs down to my knees, also my arms down to my elbows. Where I scratched, it made sores, and the terrible itching and burning kept me from sleeping. I tried several remedies all to no purpose. Then I concluded to try the Cuticura Remedies. I used the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, also the Resolvent, for about four months, and they completely cured me of eczema. I have had no return of the disease since. I never had a good night's rest after the skin eruption first broke out till I commenced using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I had only used them a few days before I could see they were beginning to heal, and the terrible itching was gone.

"Those that lived in the house at the time know how I suffered, and how the Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured me. I never take a bath without using the Cuticura Soap, and I do not believe there are better remedies for any skin disease than the Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Miss Sarah Calkins, Mar. 16, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment do so much for skin eruptions, poor complexions, red, rough hands, and dry, thin and falling hair, and cost so little that it is almost criminal not to use them. Sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book on skin and scalp treatment. Address, "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

WOMAN SICK TWELVE YEARS

Wants Other Women to Know How She Was Finally Restored to Health.

Louisiana, Mo.: — "I think a woman naturally dislikes to make her troubles known to the public, but complete restoration to health means so much to me that I cannot keep from telling mine for the sake of other suffering women.

"I had been sick about twelve years, and had eleven doctors. I had dragging down pains, pains at monthly periods, bilious spells, and was getting worse all the time. I would hardly get over one spell when I would be sick again. No tongue can tell what I suffered from cramps, and at times I could hardly walk. The doctors said I might die at one of those times, but I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got better right away. Your valuable medicine is worth more than mountains of gold to suffering women."—Mrs. BERTHA MUFF, 503 N. 4th Street, Louisiana, Mo.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: JAN. 21.

Luke II. 1-20: The Birth of Christ.

CONNECTION.

We are fortunate in having lessons from the cultured and careful Luke, "the beloved physician," who went into a deep study of all the incidents connected with the birth of Jesus. He tells us how it came that Joseph and Mary went to Bethlehem to be enrolled. Caesar ordered a census so that he could levy a tax. For that enrollment they went to their ancestral homes. Thus God was fulfilling His promise that the Christ should be born in Bethlehem, the city of David.

THE LESSON.

I.

Good News on Earth. 8-12.

"And there were shepherds in the same country abiding in the field, and keeping watch by night over their flock. And an angel of the Lord stood by them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, be not afraid; for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be to all the people; for there is born to you this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord. And this is the sign unto you: Ye shall find a babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, and lying in a manger."

1. ARRANGEMENTS.—God's plans were worked out with perfection. For ages He had been promising that Savior. He had delayed till conditions should be right, both for the effectiveness of His career while on earth and for the facility with which the news could be made known all over the world. There was a preparation going on all those ages. It was a preparation by expectation. He was expected by the Jewish nation, which had been appointed for that purpose, and by people of heathen lands. It was preparation by exhaustion, as all the nations had tried out their own powers of recovery from sin and all in vain. It was a preparation by arrangement. The Pharisees and Sadducees were too hostile towards each other to unite against Him till near the close of His career. Now the final arrangements are made by the decree of Caesar to have all his subjects enroll themselves. The invisible hand was invincible.

2. SHEPHERDS. — The first announcement of His birth was made to the shepherds. We can easily think of several reasons why it should have been made to them. They were there at the right spot where they could be easily reached and could go and confirm the story. But there were many other people just as near; so that is only a partial explanation. They were true minded men, unspoiled by the sophistries and conventionalities of the times, were simple minded and would believe without skepticism, were humble in spirit and reverent. Still another reason—they could tell it without spoiling the story. They might have been caring for the flocks intended for sacrifice in the temple; such is the view of some writers. They were not the very lowest stratum, yet they were lowly in station and we all know that fire kindled at the bottom, or near the bottom, ascends to the top through all the strata of life.

II.

Joy in Heaven. 13, 14.

"And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men in whom He is well pleased."

1. ANGELS.—Angels have always been tied up with human life. An angel announced the coming of His forerunner, John; also announced His birth to Mary and it was fitting that they should tell some one here when He was born. It did the angels good and it did the shepherds good; it does us good to read about it and to know that angels have some points of contact with our earth. It is a pleasure to know that they are God's family servants and are serving His children still—"sent forth to minister to those who are to be heirs of salvation." As soon as the one who was deputed to tell the shepherds had fulfilled his commission, he was reinforced by a whole multitude who took up an anthem and sang till the heavens echoed it back. I wonder if they didn't follow the spokesman and slip up on him with their chorus as a sort of surprise. After he spoke he turned around and there they stood, rank on rank, and soon they broke into song that was taken up by angels all the way to their home, till all the arches of heaven were ringing with exultation.

2. PLEASURE.—Heaven was pleased; God was pleased—pleased not only that He could show mercy and at last keep His long withheld promise, but pleased with the spirit of such humble men as those shepherds, who were typical of the true human spirit. As were the shepherds, so shall all be who receive the Savior. They saw the halo like the Shekinah glory that filled the Holy of Holies, in the temple, and they also heard that there were some men in whom God was pleased. The old version was "good will to men," but it is "to men in whom He is well pleased" that the peace comes.

III.

The Obedient Shepherds. 15-20.

"And it came to pass, when the angels went away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing that is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us. And they came with haste, and found both Mary and Joseph, and the Babe lying in the manger. And when they saw it, they made known concerning the saying which was spoken to them about this Child. And all that heard it wondered at the things which were spoken unto them by the shepherds. But Mary kept all these sayings, pondering them in her heart. And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, even as it was spoken unto them."

1. REVERENCE.—They knew they had proof of the birth; felt the compulsion to go and worship Him; cherished all the wonder of the words; would tell the story effectively. Prompt obedience to the suggestion of the angel and unhesitating recognition of God as the giver of the Savior marked their every step and act. The angels had made no mistake in selecting the shepherds as the first to hear the story. What impression they made on the villagers of Bethlehem, when they went searching for the Babe in the manger, we know not. It could not but be a stirring one. The angels had told them how to recognize Him—not by the swaddling bands, for all Oriental mothers wrap their babes in such bands at first. They meant that they should find a very young babe; too young to be out of those bands; they should find Him in a manger. That would be the sign, though other signs would confirm the conclusion they would reach.

2. OUTCOME.—The shepherds told it everywhere; Mary kept it in her heart. Yet the wonder soon died away, for we find no one who seemed to remember it when Jesus became a man and a preacher. Mary could think and love and worship, but not speak. Those things were too sacred to speak of and she was not sure of the meaning of it all. Her mind went back to the announcement of the angel to her, months before, and she was now spelling out the strange honors of this marvelous birth.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

As the town of Bethlehem is on a hill where snow is possible in cold weather, it is probable that the shepherds must be thought of as settling for the night with their long-eared, fat-tailed sheep, at some distance down the steep slope in the direction of the Dead sea, below the snow line. Shepherds generally were at this time a despised class. Josephus alludes to one with a distinct note of contempt in his tone. —W. T. Smith.

When that glorious light first broke upon the world well might the shepherds in the field behold a splendor in the heavens which was never seen before, and see and hear angels on the earth to which all other eyes were blind and ears were deaf. For every common task of common men is an opportunity for heavenly revelation: and every night the glory of the invisible God is but thinly veiled from the plains where grain ripens, and the hillside where flocks are feeding. Well might men be led to the lowest place where a child is born, and in the presence of the miracle of birth and childhood bow low in adoration.—Pollard.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. What would have been the result if Christ had come earlier or later?
2. What would have been the result on the homes of men if He had not come at all?
3. What analogy may we find between the wide use of the Greek language then and the English language now?
4. Why are the simple minded the most open to heavenly impressions?
5. Is there any thing essentially wrong in being rich?
6. To what extent ought we to tell in private conversation the truths that stir our inner lives?

TRAIN GUNS ON WILSON

Watterson and Dahlman Make Statements Against New Jersey Man.

Regan of Wisconsin Also Opposes Him as Candidate.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 18.—That he had hoped to find in Woodrow Wilson another Tilden, but had found "rather a schoolmaster than a statesman," is the declaration of Henry Watterson, the veteran Kentucky educator and Southern Democrat, in a statement made here to the Associated Press in connection with the break between Governor Wilson and Col. George Harvey.

"Regretting that I must appear either as a witness or a party to the misunderstanding which has arisen between Col. George Harvey and Governor Woodrow Wilson" reads the statement, "I shall have to speak with some particularity in order to be just alike to the public and the principals.

"The conference between us in my apartment at the Manhattan club was held to consider certain practical measures relating to Governor Wilson's candidacy. Col. Harvey stood toward Governor Wilson much as I had stood five and thirty years ago toward Mr. Tilden. This appealed to me. Col. Harvey had brought the governor and myself together in his New Jersey home, eighteen months ago, and as time passed, had interested me in his ambitions. I was hoping I might find in Governor Wilson another Tilden.

"In point of intellect and availability, I yet think Col. Harvey made no mistake in his choice of a candidate; but the circumstances leading to the unfortunate parting of the ways between them leads me to doubt whether in character and temperament—it may be merely in the habits of a lifetime—Governor Wilson is not rather a schoolmaster than a statesman.

"I have from Col. Harvey and Governor Wilson statements acording to the memory of each, of what did actually happen and was spoken on the occasion named. These did not materially differ.- They coincide with my own recollection. Nothing of a discourteous kind—even of an unfriendly nature—passed during an interview of more than an hour."

Regan Joins Opposition.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 18.—The reported break between Governor Wilson and Col. George B. Harvey has brought out the leader of the old Bryan strength in Wisconsin against the New Jersey man. Matt J. Regan, one of the strongest of the old Democratic leaders in the state, issued a letter to John A. Aylward of Madison, head of the Wilson campaign in the state, declaring that under no circumstances would he now aid in the campaign of the New Jersey governor.

Mr. Regan was, at the outset, a Wilson man. In his letter to Mr. Aylward, however, he declared that he can no longer aid in this campaign. He says that the Wilson movement at first appeared to be promising, but that recent events have demonstrated that his policies are not those of the modern Progressive Democratic party spirit.

His demand, as expressed in a letter of great length, is that the state delegation be sent into the national convention absolutely unpledged, while present plans of the state committee are that the state delegation be pledged by a state-wide primary vote.

Dahlman Gives Statement.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 18.—A conference of several leading Nebraska Democrats yesterday considered the action of the editor of Harper's Weekly in taking from the head of its columns the name of Governor Woodrow Wilson as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president. The meeting was held in the office of Mayor Dahlman of this city and was of an executive nature.

Mayor Dahlman, after adjournment, gave out a statement in which he admitted that the action of Editor Harvey was the cause of the meeting.

"The action of Col. Harvey is the collapse of the Wilson boom," declared the mayor. "Col. Harvey is by no means the first of leading Democrats who have been supporting Governor Wilson to drop him. Democrats like Col. Watterson and Col. Hemphill have fallen out of the Wilson ranks. Nebraska Democrats have no candidate to propose, but generally are opposed to Mr. Wilson, having long ago taken a stand against his pension policy.

"I am not authorized to speak for Mr. Bryan, but I know he is opposed to many of the policies advocated by Governor Wilson and I do not think this leading Nebraskan will support him for president."

What further action Democrats will take, the mayor declined to discuss. Several up-state Democrats were present at the meeting.

COMMON SEED FOR SCHOOLS

Supt. Young Asks Commercial Club to Limit Gardening to Practical Side.

Only the common varieties of seeds will be sent out this year to the children of the rural schools by the agricultural committee of the Commercial club. This was decided yesterday at a meeting of the committee after County Supt. of Schools N. A. Young had made his report of the last season's work. Sugar beets, canning peas, Red Globe onions and Holland and Danish head cabbage will be the chief articles raised by the pupils.

The report of Supt. Young was favorably received by the committee which was fairly familiar with the work accomplished because of the school exhibits given here last fall.

The school dates offered by the extension department of the state university were accepted. The poultry school will be March 18 to 23 and the garden school April 1 to 5. In order that the pupils of the public school might get better instruction it was decided that the superintendent of city schools send one teacher from each building to attend the classes of the garden school.

An application will be made to the state university to have an extension lecture course here next June. This course is similar to the one given at the university and is for the purpose of getting outsiders in touch with the state institution. These courses are held in tents and a full staff of instructors sent.

A committee reported that the agricultural lectures for the Y. M. C. A. have been arranged for, but that the dates have not yet been set. The topics treated in these lectures will be along broader lines than they were last year.

STATE ROADS ARE IN SIGHT

Final Action on Four Proposed State Highways to Be Taken.

When the state highway commission meets in St. Paul, Jan. 23, action will be taken regarding the four proposed state highways. John S. Pardee, secretary of the good roads committee of the Northern Minnesota Development association, and Charles E. Adams, attorney for the petitioners in the Duluth to St. Vincent road, will attend. The four proposed roads are from Duluth to Moorehead, Duluth to St. Vincent, Duluth to Twin Cities and International Falls to St. Paul.

According to Mr. Adams practically all the preliminary proceedings for the Duluth to St. Vincent road have been completed, including an indorsement by all the counties through which it will pass, the survey and the securing of data. It is now ready for the commission. Legal proceedings will then be started at Warren, Minn., and notices posted. Then work can be started on the construction.

This highway will be about 275 miles long and the cost will be approximately $1,000 a mile. About fifty miles of the road will lie in St. Louis county and cost about $30,000 to $35,000. Near Floodwood a new territory will be opened bringing new traffic to that town.

E. M. King of Deer River, president of the development association, will attend the meeting and speak for the proposed highways.

HEALTHY MOTHERS

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The junior class held a special meeting in the assembly hall yesterday and decided to give an open hop Feb. 9. Florence Mars and Kenneth Harris were named as a committee in charge. Treasurer Richard Cullum made a report and Lawrence Dow, editor of the Zenith, asked that all work for that publication be handed in early.

Special music will be given by the Musical society this afternoon. Miss Wally Heymar will play the violin and Miss Alice Mae Brown will sing a solo and play the piano.

The Junta Literary society has postponed its meeting until Friday night.

Charity Duplicated.

Secretary Courtenay Dinwiddie of the Associated Charities believes that people philanthropically inclined should report to the Associated Charities before making any donations in order to avoid duplications.

"I have found numerous instances," said Mr. Dinwiddie, "where several persons have helped the same family, each without the knowledge of the other, or sometimes of the true facts of the case."

Mr. Dinwiddie cited an instance where a sick man received aid from several people, although during his sickness he was getting full pay. Such instances as these, he says, would not be possible, if the co-operation of the Associated Charities were asked.

This is THE Pipe Dream

Some time, somewhere, someone may make tobacco like Prince Albert—but that happenin is still wrapped up in the hope-so package, tied tight. No pipe-smoker ever went to a dream of a smoke like P. A. No cigarette smoker ever compounded a roll like he can make with P. A. That's because no other tobacco is made like P. A. The flavor is up in the big-money class and the stinger is cut out in the makin.

WICKERSHAM PRAISES HOOK

Finds No Basis for Protest Against His Advance on Bench.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The protests against the suggested appointment of Judge William C. Hook of Kansas to the United States supreme court bench to succeed the late Justice Harlan, have been investigated by Attorney General Wickersham and found groundless. The complaints are based on Judge Hook's decision in the Oklahoma 2-cent railroad rate case, which he held to be confiscatory.

Mr. Wickersham concluded it was extremely unwise to judge the character of a jurist by one opinion simply because it happened to be favorable to the railroads. An examination of Judge Hook's record interpreting the railroad and other laws of the country refuted, in the judgment of the attorney general, the charge that Judge Hook was too conservative. His conception of the man was based on a consideration of his whole career on the bench.

Th result of the investigation means that Judge Hook still is among the foremost candidates for the supreme court vacancy, but the president, it is declared in authoritative circles, has not yet made up his mind as to the selection.

MICHIGAN INTERURBAN COMPANY PURCHASED.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 18. — Announcement is made of the purchase of the Grand Rapids, Grand Haven & Muskegon interurban railway by the United States Railways & Light company of Maine. The purchase includes the entire stock issue of $1,200,000. The road is bonded at $1,500,000 at 5 per cent.

PAVLOF VOLCANO IN ALASKA IN ERUPTION.

Seward, Alaska, Jan. 18. — Pavlof volcano, on the Alaska peninsula, west of the Shumagin islands, is in violent eruption. Andrew Groswald, a storekeeper at Sand Point, sixty miles from Pavlof, sends word that a discharge of stones from the crater can be seen and that lava and smoke are issuing. Pavlof is accounted the most active of the Alaskan volcanoes.

G. A. Lee, lighthouse keeper at Cape Sarichien, the most western point of Unimak island, Bering sea, reports violent earthquakes in the Aleutian islands.

SAYS HUSBAND HAS ANOTHER FAMILY.

San Francisco, Jan. 18.—Followed across the continent by his irate spouse, who now alleges that he has a wife and five children in Germany, Ewald Semmenich, a carpenter, is held by the police on a charge of abandonment and neglect. Less than a year ago Semmenich arrived in New York from Bielfeld, Germany. In June he met Mrs. Theresa Sotter, a widow, and their marriage followed in July. In October he is said to have drawn half of their joint bank account and come to California. The woman drew the rest and followed.

When confronted with her husband, Mrs. Semmenich became so violent that detectives interfered to save Semmenich.

HOT TIME IN MEXICAN STATE OF TABASCO.

Washington, Jan. 18. — Tabasco, a state in the southern part of Mexico, is on the verge of revolution because the governor has not inaugurated promised reforms, according to state department advices. The movement is said to have no connection with national affairs, and apparently there are not enough federal soldiers on the spot to restore order. No Americans have been molested.

SAYS REBATE IS GIVEN TO BREWING COMPANY.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 18.—Testifying before an interstate commerce commission examiner here Milton H. Smith, president of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, declared that the Anheuser-Busch Brewing association was receiving rebates from railroads through the Manufacturers' railway. The hearing in St. Louis is on an application of the Manufacturers' railway, owned by the brewery interests, for recognization as a common carrier.

Smith also accused Adolphus Busch, August A. Busch and other officers of the Manufacturers' railway of accepting passes in violation of the law.

George F. Moore, president of the Manufacturers' railway, at the hearing said the charges of President Smith were ridiculous.

LULU GLASER IS GRANTED DIVORCE.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Mrs. Ralph G. Herz, known on the stage as Miss Lulu Glaser, was given a decree of divorce yesterday by Judge McDonald in the superior court.

Fire in Insane Asylum.

Chicago, Jan. 18. — Fire yesterday destroyed the infirmary of the Dunning insane asylum on the outskirts of the city and caused attendants considerable trouble in restraining 300 excited patients, none of whom were hurt. The loss to the four-story building, which was erected in 1874, was $35,000.

Danderine

Stops Falling Hair and Destroys Dandruff

Makes the Hair Grow Long, Heavy and Luxuriant and We Can Quickly Prove It

If You Wish to Double the Beauty of Your Hair at Once, Just Get a 25 Cent Bottle and Try This

Surely try a Danderine Hair Cleanse if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair with little trouble and at a cost not worth mentioning—just moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—In a few moments you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of Dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. It's exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful. It at once imparts a sparkling brilliancy and velvety softness to the hair, and a few weeks' use will cause new hair to sprout all over the scalp. Use it every day for a short time, after which two or three times a week will be sufficient to complete whatever growth you desire.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

DON'T CENSURE THE MAN WHO DRINKS

Help Him—Advise Him How He Can Be Rescued From the Liquor Habit Through the NEAL THREE-DAY DRINK HABIT CURE.

THE TREATMENT THAT MAKES HAPPY HOMES

The drinking man is helpless. He is the victim of a burning thirst that cannot be satisfied. His system is poisoned with alcohol, which constantly demands more intoxicant. Drive this alcoholic poison from the system, and the liquor habit is conquered. That is what the Neal cure does—

IN JUST THREE DAYS

The marvelous cures effected by the Neal three-day treatment have elicited the endorsement of many of the most prominent men throughout the United States.

If you are inclined to be skeptical, we urge you to call and make a thorough investigation of our institute and the treatment we give. Let us tell you all about this Physician's remedy for the liquor curse—effective, but harmless; quick, but positive. Everything shall be secretly confidential.

There is no longer any reason to feel that treatment for the drink habit is slow and dangerous. The real Treatment takes but three days, and leaves the patient in greatly improved mental and physical condition.

Special accommodations, insuring the utmost privacy and comfort, have been provided for lady patients.

A contract is entered into with the patient that a perfect cure will be effected in three days—or money paid will be refunded at end of third day. Call, write or 'phone for full information, booklets, and copy of contract, sent in plain sealed envelope.

WOODMEN WILL CONSIDER RATES

Delegate Will Be Sent From Duluth to Chicago Meeting.

Local Woodmen will hold a meeting next week for the purpose of appointing a delegate to the national convention to be held at Chicago for the purpose of establishing proper insurance rates for all the camps throughout the country.

The action is the result of the complaint of the older members of the various camps who object to a raise in the rates and who claim they would be placed in a class by themselves. At a meeting held by the members of the Duluth camp No. 2341 two weeks ago, J. L. Sundeen of Minneapolis explained the proposed change in the rates and the manner in which, he maintained, the officers of the national camp were overstepping their official duties, claiming also that there is too much power in the "law committee" at the conventions, and the delegates are not given opportunity to vote. The meeting Jan. 26 is for the purpose of establishing a national rate and taking the power away from the "law committee."

The subject that has already become a national issue is called the Mobile bill, which was framed at the Association of Insurance companies at a meeting held at Mobile last winter. The rule providing for a raise in the rates has already become a law in thirteen states in either the original or modified form. The older men of the orders are the most affected and are especially anxious to vote against the section number 23, which provides for the setting of the rates for the older members without any increase in membership and that the younger men should be taken in at a lower rate.

The officers of each order throughout the country have been active in passing the proposed law which will be taken up again at a special meeting called for Jan. 26 in Chicago. The members here say that if any changes of rates are at all necessary they can be made at a meeting of delegates that have been especially elected to consider the change and that the drastic bill brought up at the meeting in Mobile is not in accordance with the policy of the Modern Woodmen. The new plan, they say, would add over $20,000,000 a year to the resources of the order, more than is required to meet the present death rate, and that it would cause an irreparable injury to the order.

BUSINESS MEN FAVOR PAVING

Improvement of West First Street for Traffic Purposes Meets Approval.

Several residents on Second street from Piedmont avenue to Vernon street are opposed to having the street paved for traffic and have announced themselves as against the plan of opening the street as a driving thoroughfare.

A. Lofgren, one of them, said last evening: "The Sunday paper quoted me as being in favor of the proposed plan, but I never was nor will I ever be in favor of opening a residence street for traffic. The plan is a foolish one from start to finish."

Dr. O. A. Oredson is also opposed to the plan and says he has been misquoted by the morning paper. "The change will never do us any good," said Dr. Oredson, "and it is up to the property owners to stop the plan at once. However, if an extra traffic street is wanted by the residents of West end, why not pave First street? It is more of a business street than Second and is better suited for a business thoroughfare."

Yesterday afternoon a number of property owners and business men took an automobile trip through the West end section to inspect Second street from Piedmont avenue to Vernon street.

First street is more level than Second. There is only one small ravine on the entire street and it can be filled at a nominal cost.

A petition will be circulated within a few weeks asking for the paving of First street from Piedmont avenue to Vernon street. The property owners will be requested to sign the petition and it will be submitted to the city council immediately after the election, when the new paving amendment will have been voted on. This plan seems to meet with favor among the property owners and business men.

Should the proposed plan materialize and First street be paved to Grand avenue, team traffic will then have a new and better thoroughfare from the central part of the city to Thirty-first avenue west. From this point the street is not paved up to Forty-seventh avenue west.

A plan is also being considered to have the city pave Grand avenue from Thirty-first to Forty-seventh avenues west, thus giving traffic a straight paved road from the city proper to West Duluth.

WEST END MEN GO SOUTH FOR WINTER.

Dr. A. J. Braden, 1920 West Superior street, left last evening for Hot Springs, Ark., where he will spend the next month resting and recovering from a slight illness. He is accompanied by Dr. J. J. Eklund of 7 East Superior street, who will also spend a month in the South. Before their return home they will take a trip through the South and return by way of New York and Chicago.

Republican Meeting.

Dr. J. A. McCuen, Republican candidate for mayor, will be the principal speaker next Monday evening at a Republican rally to be held at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. The candidates for office on the Republican ticket will also speak at the meeting and addresses will be made by Clement de Roche, candidate for alderman in the Seventh ward; J. C. Anderson, candidate for alderman in the Sixth ward, and Emil Zauft, candidate in the Eighth ward.

FURNITURE MAN BACK FROM TRIP TO EAST.

B. J. Enger of Enger & Olson, furniture dealers in the West end, returned yesterday from a short business and pleasure trip in New York, Chicago, Milwaukee and Grand Rapids. While in the last named city Mr. Enger visited the furniture plants.

Glee Club Prosperous.

The Glee club of Vasa order, No. 170, now has seventy-five active members and is one of the most thriving societies in the western end of the city. New members are joining the club at every meeting and the members expect to have 100 singers by June. A masquerade was given recently at Columbia hall by the members of the club and the receipts were a material help to the organization.

West End Briefs.

The choir of the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, will meet in the church parlors tomorrow evening.

The Vasa degree team of the Vasa order, No. 170, will hold a social in Sloan's hall Jan. 30. The new violano virtuoso, which the order won at the recent contest, will play selections during the evening and refreshments will be served by the ladies of the order.

Miss Gertrude Blaney of Taylor's Falls, Minn., is a guest this week of relatives in the West end.

The Baptist Young People's school of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, will be resumed today after having been closed during the holiday season.

Mrs. Ida Broman, 1429 West Superior street, entertained the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Swedish M. E. church at her home this afternoon.

The Rebecca Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church was entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Adolph Olson, 321 North Twenty-third avenue west.

George B. Thompson of Spokane, Wash., left for his home last evening after spending the past week with relatives in the West end.

Rev. Milton Fish of the Central Baptist church will preach on "When Are Christians Chastised" at the regular weekly prayer this evening.

WANT NATIONAL LABOR TEMPLE AT WASHINGTON.

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 18.—Resolutions favoring the construction of a national labor temple at Washington, D. C., and the removal of international headquarters of every trade and labor organization in the United States to that place, were adopted by the Washington State Federation of Labor. It is proposed that on some set date during the year every workingman and woman in the country shall give 25 per cent of his daily wage to a fund for the temple.

ROOSEVELT AND ETHEL PRACTICE ON SKIS.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Jan. 18.—Theodore Roosevelt passed yesterday afternoon skiing down the slopes of Sagamore Hill and practicing long jumps. He had as a companion his daughter, Ethel. Both are fairly expert at the sport and made several 50-foot jumps. "Don't suggest politics to me today," he said. "This is my day off."

ANDREW FRENCH HEADS MINNESOTA DAIRYMEN.

Wadena, Minn., Jan. 18.—At the closing meeting of the Minnesota Dairymen's association here, Andrew French of St. Paul was elected president; F. D. Carrier of Nicollet county, secretary, and J. M. Jack of Stanton, treasurer. Addresses were made by C. A. Nelson of Waverly, Iowa, and F. H. Scribner of Rosendale, Wis.

FRANKLIN PLEADS DENIAL OF GUILT.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 18.—Setting at rest all rumors that he would throw himself on the mercy of the court, Bert Franklin, the former McNamara detective accused of jury bribing, pleaded not guilty to the two charges filed against him. His trial was set for Feb. 27. Franklin still is under subpoena to appear before the county grand jury which is to resume the investigation of the alleged bribery.

Gold Fever in California.

Fresno, Cal., Jan. 18. — Much excitement has resulted from gold discoveries at Dunlap, in the Sierra Nevada mountains in this county. Miners are rushing to the new fields and a tent city has sprung up. Rich "pockets" found by prospectors started the rush.

Civil Engineers Elect.

New York, Jan. 18.—At the fifty-ninth annual meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers, the following officers were elected: President, John A. Eckerson, St. Louis, vice presidents, Charles S. Churchill, Norfolk, Va., and Charles D. Marx San Francisco; treasurer, Joseph M Knapp, New York.

"Got My Sore Foot in It Right!—TIZ"

"A TIZ Bath, My Boy, a TIZ Bath! You Can't Beat It for Sore Feet Corns and Bunions!"

Is this man a tender-foot? No. He is a joy-walker—one who uses TIZ and gets from the feet a happiness one never felt before.

"Sure! I Use TIZ Every Time for Any Foot Trouble."

When your feet are so tired they feel like stumps, when they ache so that they hurt way up to your heart, when you shamble your feet along and it seems as though all the misery you ever had has settled in your feet, look at the happy TIZ man in the picture.

You can be happy-footed just the same. If you have corns and bunions that everybody seems to step on, just think of this happy TIZ man. He had corns and bunions, too. This man used TIZ, and now he has no more tender, raw, chafed, blistered, swollen, tired, smelly feet, corns, callouses or bunions.

As soon a you put your feet in a TIZ bath, you feel the happiness soaking in. It's like mountain ozone to lungs.

Nothing else but TIZ can give you this happy foot feeling. Don't accept any substitutes.

TIZ, 25 cents a box, sold everywhere, or sent direct, on receipt of price, by Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill. Recommended by all Drug Stores, department and general stores.

THE BUSY, PROSPEROUS, WEST END

THE CENTER of Duluth's population lies between 16th and 40th avenues West; in that part of the city known as the WEST END.

¶ Here, in their thousands, are found the homes of the well-to-do workers; and the greatest of Duluth's fine factories and mighty mills.

¶ Herefrom, the manufactured product of forest, harvest field, and mine is shipped to the uttermost corners of the earth.

¶ Here also, are found many of Duluth's ablest and most prosperous business men; from whose untiring efforts in the past, the WEST END has drawn much of her present prosperity; and to whom she looks even more for the future prosperity that is to be hers.

¶ In this column, from time to time, we shall present portraits of the-men-who-have-made-the-WEST-END; portraits that will be of vital interest to all West Enders. Look for them!

¶ They will be directed particularly at the fostering of that "get together" spirit which has done so much in the past to help forward this section of the city.

¶ That you may know the men who are helping the WEST END, will be the purpose of these portraits; so that, knowing them, you may help them to help the WEST END and yourself.

CHAS. A. MORK.

Mr. Chas. A. Mork has been engaged in the Gents' Furnishing business at 1930 West Superior street for the past ten years, and for one term acted as representative from the Sixth ward in the city council, where he served and proved to be one of the most broad minded, conscientious and most sincere servants of the people. At the end of his term he was urged upon by the voters of his ward, irrespective of party, to continue as representative, but his fast growing business demanded so much of his attention he was forced to refuse.

Mr. Mork is still a servant of the people. He enjoys one of the largest clothing businesses in the city and his store has been built on a foundation of "square dealing." Mr. Mork is for everything pertaining to the interests of the taxpayers and you will find him an active worker for a greater West End. Let us have more heavyweight boosters like Charley.

Driving Across Great Northern Tracks Near Hibbing, Struck By Train.

Is Thrown Twenty-Five Feet, Badly Bruised and Sleigh Smashed.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Oscar Maki, a farmer living about forteen miles south of Hibbing, flirted with death this morning, and as a result is in a hospital badly bruised from the contact, but probably will not suffer serious consequences.

Mr. Maki was driving in a sleigh from town to his farm and tried to cross the Great Northern tracks at a crossing between Hibbing and Alice in front of the passenger train but failed. The pilot of the locomotive struck the sleigh admishlps and hurled it a mass of kindling wood into the ditch. Mr. Maki was thrown about twenty-five feet. The horses were not hurt. The train was stopped and the injured farmer picked up and brought to the Adams hospital. He has a bad cut on the head and several body bruises, but his injuries are not considered serious unless he was hurt internally.

HEALY THEATER FIRE PROBE ON

Detectives in Hibbing Looking Into Recent Disastrous Fire.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two deputy state fire marshals are already here investigating the fire that destroyed the Healy theater last Saturday, trying to get a line on some clew to the firebugs who are believed to have fired the building.

Deputy State Fire Marshal Sam Fullerton is expected this evening to join in the detective work. No statements are being made and probably will not be until a warrant is issued. The belief still prevails that the fire was the work of incendiaries.

EVELETH CHARTER ABOUT FINISHED

Charter Commission Has About Completed Task Delegated By Court.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eveleth's new charter, being prepared by the charter commission, is nearing completion and will soon be presented to the voters for their aproval. This evening the commission will hold a meeting to complete many details of the charter.

Tomorrow evening the members will attend the debate at the high school on the commission form of government in a body. The members are being assisted in their work by Judge J. C. McGilvray.

WILL GET INSURANCE.

Judge Stanton Decides Case Favorable to Calumet Man.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nick Rabatich, a Calumet, Minn., saloon man, will recover the full amount of his fire insurance policy of $2,000 with the Globe Insurance company as the result of a decision announced yesterday afternoon by Judge Stanton after hearing the law points involved in Rabatich's case against the company. The insurance company, while acknowledging the claim's justness, declined to pay because there were garnishments against the insurance amounting to $700.

Today Judge Stanton is hearing the case of Baldwin vs. Munson, involving the cutting of some cedar on state lands. The logs were held up by the state auditor until damages were paid by Mr. Munson, and he claims that by reason of this Baldwin is not entitled to remuneration for cutting them. Baldwin claims he is entitled to the full amount called for in the contract, less the trespass charges, about $800.

EVELETH SCHOOL BOYS AS HUNTERS

Camp Out at Night Near Town, Trying to Kill Bold Wolves.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The cold weather has driven wolves and other animals close to town and nimrods are trying to bag the game. Dr. Lirette was the first Evelethian to shoot a wolf near the city limits this year. Last evening, Percy Pryor and other high school students camped near the city water tank in the rear of the ball park in an effort to find wolves.

Yesterday a silver gray fox was brought to this city from the Adams location.

NASHWAUK WATER SUPPLY GETS LOW

Water Users Are Warned Against Useless Waste of Water.

Nashwauk, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.) — The water and light commission whose directors are: P. H. Tweed, B. W. Batchelder and M. H. Barber, have issued notices urging that all consumers of water use as little as possible as the village supply is very low. Consumers have been notified that the practice of allowing faucets to remain open, and the water kept runing to keep the pipes from freezing, must be stopped or the commission will be compelled to turn the water off the mains from 6 p. m. until 6 a. m. or discontinue water service in such cases. Each place of business and residence in the village, as stated by the commission, is or should be, equipped with a stop and waste valve. This valve must be turned off at nights and upon opening a faucet, the pipes will quickly drain which will prevent the water pipes from freezing.

SPARTAN ACQUITTED.

Evidence Lacking That Mattinen Assaulted Buronen.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nick Mattinen of Sparta, who was charged with assulting Matt Buronen also of Sparta at a dance, was acqultted in municipal court yesterday afternoon after a trial before Judge William E. Moylan. The evidence was weak.

Several witnesses were called by the defense and they told of Buronen being assaulted by a third party, and also of his troubles with his wife and family. Buronen claimed he was assaulted by Mattinen because of his assisting Game Warden Woods in arresting Sparta game law violators, but the defendant denied all knowledge of the warden's work at Sparta.

OUTING CLUB ELECTS.

Tower Concern Preparing for Busy Summer Season.

Tower, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Vermilion Boat & Outing company, at its annual meeting, elected the following officers: M. L. Wilson, president; R. L. Burns, vice president; E. J. Atkins, secretary and treasurer; directors—M. L. Wilson, W. E. Fay, R. L. Burns, Peter Swanson, E. J. Atkins, E. J. Cheetham, Albert Burgess and W. H. Congdon.

The company is giving its attention to developing Lake Vermilion along summer resort lines. It has a fleet of gasoline launches, some seven cottages on various islands in the lake and at no distant date expects to build a fine summer hotel, modern in its appointments on the Isle of Pines, one of the beauty spots of Lake Vermilion and which the company acquired last summer. The organization enjoyed a fine patronage last summer and is making preparations for a much larger business the coming season.

EVELETH MILITIAMEN ARE SHOOTING FOR MEDALS.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mayor Saari trophy is being shot for at the armory this week. Next week five teams will participate in the Albert Rohrer event, which is to be followed by the Decker & Leanna trophy contest. Individuals are now shooting for the marksman medal offered by Postmaster Edward H. Hatch. Seven teams have entered the various shooting events and the sport will be continued throughout the winter.

SWITCH ENGINE HITS ANOTHER NEAR WILPIN

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a collision last evening on the Missabe tracks near Wilpen, a switch engine hit the rear end of engine No. 22. The collision was witnessed by a local passenger train crew on the Missabe tracks. No one was hurt but it was necessary to return the damaged engine to the machine shops for repairs.

Tony Cairo, messenger at the Missabe depot plans to leave Eveleth soon, as he is to go into vaudeville with a Jewish comedy act.

TOWER CANDIDATES NOT COMING OUT.

Tower, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.) — Tuesday is registration day for the annual municipal election. The registration was light. Little interest in the election seems to be apparent, no candidates as yet having publicly announced themselves. The present administration is intensely engaged in installing a hydro-electric plant for the city at Pike River Falls which is estimated to cost about $25,000.

Quickest, Surest Cough Remedy Ever Used

Stops Even Whooping Cough Quickly. A Family Supply for 50c. Money Refunded If It Fails.

If some one in your family has an obstinate, deep-seated cough—even whooping cough—which has yielded slowly to treatment, buy a 50-cent bottle of Pinex and watch that cough vanish. If it fails, money back promptly, and without argument.

A 50-cent bottle of Pinex, when mixed with home-made sugar syrup, makes a full pint—a family supply—of the most effective cough remedy that money can buy, at a saving of $2. Gives instant relief and will usually wipe out a bad cough in 24 hours or less. Easily prepared in five minutes—directions in package.

Pinex Cough Syrup has a pleasant taste—children take it willingly. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative—both good features. Splendid for croup, hoarseness, throat tickle, incipient lung troubles, and a prompt, successful remedy for whooping cough.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of Norway White Pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and other elements which are so healing to the membranes. Simply mix it with sugar syrup or strained honey, in a pint bottle, and it is ready for use. Used in more homes in the U. S. and Canada than any other cough remedy.

Pinex has often been imitated, but never successfully, for nothing else will produce the same results. The genuine is guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. Certificate of guarantee is wrapped in each package. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Indiana.

ICE RACES ON SUNDAY

Virginia Racing Association Plans Pulling Off Two Fine Events.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Speciall to The Herald.)—The Virginia & Eveleth Driving association is aranging for some first class racing on the ice on Virginia lake next Sunday afternoon, begnning at 2:30. There will be two events, a free for all trot for the range association cup, won last by Clifford, owned by J. J. Hayes of Chisholm, and a matched race for cash prizes.

Horses Entered.

There are five entries for the free for all trot: Miss Hartford, owned by Andrew Johnson of Virginia; Better Than, owned by Andrew Johnson; Flying Princess, owned by Virginia parties; Mac G, owned by Dr. Guldyer of Virginia; Clifford, owned by J. J. Hayes of Chisholm.

The horses entered in the 2:30 class are Billy H, owned by Hammil & Co.; Harry Villard; Mercernary; Strathord and Matt B.

The course is pronounced in fine shape and some good results are expected.

EVELETH WOMAN'S FUNERAL FRIDAY.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. C. Koski of the Fayal location, who died yesterday afternoon at her home after an illness of five years, will be held, Friday afternoon from the Finnish Lutheran Concordia church, Rev. Peter Keranen officiating. Interment will be made at the Greenwood cemetery, Virginia.

Mrs. Koski was 61 years of age, and had resided in the Fayal location for several years, conducting a large boardinghouse. She is survived by four daughters who reside here.

IN THE DAY'S WORK AT WASHINGTON

Would Remodel Homestead Laws.

Washington, Jan. 18. — The interior department and the forest service were attacked in general debate in the senate by Senator Borah of Idaho, who advocated a remodelling and liberalizing of the homestead land laws. Mr. Borah suggested reducing from five to three years the time after entering and before proving up and that settlers should be allowed to leave their homesteads to earn a living while complying with the law as to residence.

Mr. Borah urged that title should be given as soon as the applicant made proof. He said there was frequently a delay of from ten to twelve years in getting title to homesteads on reclamation lands, often compelling settlers to abandon their land. Mr. Borah contended that settlers in the national forest reserves were at the mercy of the forest rangers.

Wants Land Court.

Senator Heyburn of Idaho wanted a land court established. Senators Warren, McCumber, Clark of Wyoming and Dixon said the great trouble was with the administration of the laws. Mr. Dixon said that eighteen months ago 20,000,000 acres in Montana were withdrawn on the supposition that they covered coal, but no effort had been made to ascertain the presence of the mineral. Mr. Clark complained of delay in transmitting letters within the interior department. Senator Smith of Michigan spoke feelingly regarding "the activity of meddlesome employes of the interior department."

Plans for Panama.

Fifteen colliers, three oil tank ships and four refrigerator ships, government-owned and operated, to carry supplies to the Panama canal, were urged at the house interstate commerce committee hearing on Panama canal operations. Six colliers, it was said, would suffice when the canal opened. These vessels would be available in time of war as naval colliers and could be utilized by the navy in its proposed frequent military exercise of sending the battleship fleet through the canal from Atlantic to Pacific ports.

Remove Iron Ore Duty.

Tariff discussion which probably will continue for many months, will begin next week in the house of representatives. The first vehicle will be the iron and steel schedul, upon which the Democrats of the house are expected to caucus Saturday. It is generally reported that the Democratic measure will recommend free iron ore and reduce the schedule on manufactured articles from 30 to 50 per cent, the duties to be ad valorem instead of specific.

Socialist's Expenses Nil.

John Halberg, Socialist candidate for congress at the Arizona primaries, has filed the following statement of his expenses with the secretary of the senate:

"This is a statement of my expenses as Socialist candidate for congress in Arizona: My expenses were none. Yours truly, JOHN HALBERG."

Children's Bureau Favored.

The creation of a children's bureau in the department of commerce and labor, recommended in a bill introduced by Representative Peters of Massachusetts, was unanimously approved by the house committee on labor. Senator Borah of Idaho is pressing for the same action in the senate. It is estimated that the bureau would cost $30,000 a year. It would collect statistics relating to infant mortality, delinquency, illiteracy, child labor and other problems of childhood.

Civilians for Army Engineers.

For the first time in the history of the army engineer corps, an effort is being made to fill vacancies by the appointment of civilians. Heretofore army engineers always have been appointed from the graduates from the military academy, but other branches of the military service insisted that the engineers were drawing too large a proportion of the best men from the academy, and congress directed the appointment of civilians to a certain extent. There are now ten vacancies in the corps, and five qualified applicants are undergoing the examination which is extremely technical and difficult.

The line of the army is also to receive some additions from civil life, and about forty young men are under examination for Fort Meyer with a view to testing their fitness for appointment as second lieutenants.

Would Pension Federal Employes.

Old age pensions for civil service employes were advocated at a hearing before the house commission on civil service reforms.

"Superannuation has so stagnated the government service that it prevents promotion of the ambitious and offers no incentive to the young," said Andrew McKee of New York, president of the United States civil service retirement association. With William E. Kelly, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, he advocated passage of the Hamill bill providing for a straight pension and opposed the Gillette bill, which would establish a fund from the contributions of employes.

Near End of Rate Case.

Whether freight rates on wool, hides and pelts, shipped from western points to eastern destinations are to be reduced is a question which the interstate commerce commission is endeavoring to determine. The case involves millions of dollars in freight rates and every railroad from the Atlantic to the Pacific is interested financially in its determination. The case has been under consideration for more than a year or more and a final decision may be rendered by the middle of March.

Asks Alaska Health Bureau.

Bishop P. T. Rowe of Alaska, for sixteen years an Episcopal missionary, recommended to the senate committee on territories the appointment of a commission to look after the public health in the territory. Many children in the territory are blind, according to the bishop, and about 30 per cent of the people in the northern section if Alaska have pulmonary tuberculosis.

PIPESTONE INDIANS RUNNING NEWSPAPER.

Pipestone, Minn., Jan. 18.—The Pipestone Peace Pipe, the only newspaper printed and edited by Indians in the state of Minnesota, has made its appearance from the printing department of the government Indian school. It will be printed twice a month and will be devoted to news of the school and general news of interest to Indian students. All of the mechanical work, the writing and general work of publishing the paper will be done by Indians.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

COLDER

Although today's temperature was away below that of yesterday, the weather was mild in comparison with the bitterly cold weather that covered this section a week ago. It was not nearly so balmy as yesterday, however, the mercury having taken a drop of 18 deg. in twenty-four hours. It will continue to go down, according to the government forecast, and tomorrow there is likely to be another touch of biting cold weather. Fair skies, it is promised, will accompany the cold weather.

A year ago today the weather was fair, like today, but about 10 deg. warmer, the early morning temperature being in the neighborhood of zero.

The sun rose this morning at 7:48 o'clock and its setting time this afternoon is 4:50 o'clock, making a day 9 hours and 2 minutes long.

H. W. Richardson, the local forecaster, comments on weather conditions as follows:

"Decidedly colder weather prevails in Western Canada, Montana, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Wyoming, Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado and Northern Texas. Temperatures ranging anywhere from 10 deg. below zero to 25 deg. below are the rule in Western Canada, Northern Minnesota, Northwestern Wisconsin and North Dakota. The temperatures at the Head of the Lakes will experience a further drop during tonight. During the last twenty-four hours snow or rain fell over Northern and Central states, principally in connection with the trough-like depression extending from the Lake region southwestward to Texas. Warmer weather prevails to the eastward of the Mississippi valley."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending 7 p. m. Friday are as follows:

Upper Michigan—Snow flurries, followed by clearing and colder tonight; cold wave in south and east portions; Friday fair with colder in east portion.

Wisconsin—Generally fair tonight and Friday; cold wave in east and south portions tonight; colder in east portion Friday.

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Friday; colder tonight.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Friday; colder tonight with cold wave in extreme east portion.

North Dakota—Generally fair and continued cold tonight and Friday.

South Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Friday; colder tonight.

Montana—Unsettled weather with snow tonight or Friday; not much change in temperature.

Shippers' Forecast—Protect thirty-six-hour shipments of perishables against temperature about zero to about 25 deg. below in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Forbes Stock company in "Raffles."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

The Forbes Stock company will bid farewell to Duluth tonight, when the last performance of "Raffles" will be given at the Lyceum.

"Raffles" has proven one of the best productions the Forbes company has given in Duluth. The famous story of the amateur cracksman has been faithfully presented by Mr. Forbes and his players. It is a thrilling story and an interesting and thrilling play, and it is being adequately presented.

Fred Stone, who is half of what is acknowledged the most successful team of musical comedy comedians in the country today, is a man of many wonderful accomplishments. He would have been a huge success in any field of endeavor.

Aside from his stage accomplishments, which comprise gymnastic, acrobatic stunts, he is what would be called an all-around man. He is considered one of the best trap shots in America, and as a big game hunter stands in the same class with Col. Roosevelt, Paul Rainey and C. P. Whitney. He, in company with his brother-in-law, Rex Beach the novelist, have penetrated the wilds of Alaska in quest of bear and other big game, and only last summer succeeded in reaching latitude 74 deg. north with his polar bear expedition which was fraught with considerable danger and hardships. He is the only living man who has ever lassoed polar bears and succeeded in landing them in a savage alive and uninjured, as several thousand feet of moving picture film will attest. The lassoing of the polar bear is best told in Stone's own inimitable way.

"On July 16 we sighted from the deck of the Fonelca, distant one mile, three polar bears, and they seemed to be all of one family. Word was passed to get the long boat ready, and as it swept from the davits, the six big Norwegians of the crew, with Mr. Houghton, Mr. Burns, Mr. Farmer and myself, threw ourselves in. We took a good look at our guns, and saw that everything was in readiness in case we got to close quarters. As we drew near

FRED A. STONE
Of Montgomery and Stone.

I saw at once that the trio were all of one family, the old lady and her two cubs, but believe me those cubs were healthy children. I called to Burns to destroy the old lady and I would try and lassoo the cub on my left, and immediately commenced to get busy with the rope, for now had come the dream of my life, to rope a polar bear. Could I do it? The old lady, who was within 100 feet of us, saw something was wrong, and made for us as fast as her strength would allow, and it seemed she was almost alongside of our boat before I could realize it. I was terribly excited, while busying myself with the rope and working the noose up to the right proportion, all the while having an eye on the cubs, who were following their mother as fast as they could. Two shots from Burns' gun told me he had done his work, just as I let fly the lariat, which settled just as nicely as you please just where I wanted it—around the neck and the nigh fore paw. Quick as a flash I passed the end of the rope to the crew, who made fast, and then gave the order to pull as fast as possible so as to take in all slack, which they did, and we made so much better headway than Mr. Bear that sometimes we had him under water. Anyhow, we were soon alongside the ship and about as excited a lot of Christians as you ever saw! We had an awful tussle to keep the other cub away, who had now come up, while we finally got a ship's hawser around the bear I had roped, but at last we got him aboard and into a steel cage which I carried for the purpose."

Montgomery & Stone will be at the Lyceum in "The Old Town" Friday and Saturday, with a Saturday matinee.

"Mr. Armstrong's play, 'The Romance of the Underworld' is a strong picture of life in the underworld, and it is one of the most thrilling and interesting melodramas I have ever seen, but I do not believe many men are railroaded to prison as the hero of it was," said Myra Bacheller, the sweetheart of the hero in the headline sketch at the Orpheum this week.

"Before taking up the stage as a profession, I was a stenographer in a law office, and later studied law, being admitted to the bar. Naturally, therefore, I was more than ordinarily interested in this sketch. I believe that the men who are arrested and brought before our criminal courts generally get their deserts. The cases of men being railroaded are very few and far between, in my opinion. In every city where we play I make it a point to visit the police court. All police courts are very much alike, and while the incident used by Mr. Armstrong makes a good plot for a play, I do not believe such an incident happens often."

Combining business with pleasure has gotten to be quite a fad of late and Mozetto, whose juggling is a feature at the Empress this week, is one of the few favored ones who has been accomplishing this in a large way. Mozetto is now on a tour around the world which will take him into almost every civilized country in the world. Four months ago Mr. Mozetto started his tour in Germany, appearing there for one month. He then jumped to London for six weeks, after which he came to America for a tour of the Sullivan & Considine circuit. After the completion of his engagement with this circuit, he will jump to Australia, playing the Hawaiian islands on his way over. From Australia his tour includes Japan, the East Indian countries, South America, and then back to England, where Mr. Mozetto is booked solid up to the year 1917, with a few scattered dates in the year 1918. This tour is one of the most extensive ever attempted by any performer, and the fact that Mozetto has been able to secure such extensive bookings stamps his offering as one of the best of its kind in vaudeville.

Your Money Back If You Are Not Satisfied With the Medicine We Recommend.

We are so positive that our remedy will permanently relieve constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine at our expense should it fail to produce satisfactory results.

It is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Laxatives or cathartics do much harm. They cause a reaction, irritate and weaken the bowels and tend to make constipation more chronic. Besides, their use becomes a habit that is dangerous.

Constipation is caused by a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestine or descending colon. To expect permanent relief you must therefore tone up and strengthen these organs and restore them to healthier activity.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies on our recommendation. They are exceedingly pleasant to take, being eaten like candy, and are ideal for children, delicate persons, and old folks, as well as for the robust. They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They apparently have a neutral action on other associate organs or glands. They da not purge, cause excessive loseness, nor ciate any inconvenience whatever. They may be taken at any time, day or night. They will positively relieve chronic or habitual constipation, if not of surgical variety, and the myriads of associate or dependent chronic ailments, if taken with regularity for a reasonable length of time. 12 tablets, 10 cents; 36 tablets, 25 cents; 80 tablets, 50 cents. Sold in Duluth only at our store — The Rexall Store. E. M. Tredway, 103 West Superior street.

The Retort Red Pepperites of the Dunbar Crowd---Jim Ridler Shot in the Back---Jobe Wells in the Early Days---Ordemann Does Well.

(BY BRUCE.)

JIM RIDLER, who is large and florid of countenance, and in addition to these distinguishing features plays on Tommy McDermott's St. Paul rink, once fought in a rebellion. At least that is what someone said yesterday. You see James has been one of the busy boys telling stuff on some of the other members of the St. Paul delegation. He is accused of springing the grandfather stuff on Bob Dunbar's rink. To get even they told something on Jim—we are not saying who. It was in 1885, somewhere up in Manitoba, where Jim was doing penance, that the rebellion occurred. There was an Indian named Rial, or Real, or Roal, or something of that sort. He was a bad Indian and he played true to form and aboriginee precedent by starting a rebellion against the existing order of things in Manitoba—particularly the brand of cigars, which are vile, and the Tam o'Shanter caps.

But the why's or wherefores of the rebellion have been filed with the Manitoba bureau of statistics; this story merely has to do with the part Jim Ridler played in it. He went forth to conquer and to drive from the plains the bad Indian and those unfortunate but zealous followers of his. He went forth with a musket on his shoulder and elation singing the song of the sour dough in his heart.

Just how fierce the fighting was and how long it lasted, the Manitoba historians only can say. That is not the point of the story—we are coming to it. The point of the story is, visiting curlers, THAT JIM RIDLER WAS SHOT IN THE BACK.

Fie on you, James. They do say that friends of Jim have always claimed that the bullet was a spent ball; that the injury was not received in the heat of battle. We are here simply to chronicle the news of the week and the sweet gossip of the spiel. Therefore when someone who objects to being called a grandfather comes through with the information regarding James—why it should be told.

In self defense James has always said that he was such a slow runner that he would never have thought of running, even if the inclination had risen up boldly and smitten his conscience. But this is the way the information came:

"Jim Ridler talks about certain fellows being old, why he fought in a rebellion once, and he was shot in the back. Yes sir, shot in the back. Go ask him to explain that."

One of the last things the members of the Dunbar rink shouted, reiterated, demanded, exhorted, was to wring from Jim Ridler just how he was shot in the back.

That grandfather stuff has stuck in the crop of the members of the Dunbar quartet and prevented passage of further thought.

OVER forty years ago Jobe Wells was curling at Portage, Wis. He was a school teacher, instructing the youth of the vicinity in the learnin' of the three R's. His time wasn't taken up on Saturday afternoon so he conceived the idea of getting up some curling games. He went out in the woods and cut some maple blocks. These were used by the boys and men for curling stones.

The next season Jobe worked for a blacksmith three days in return for having a pair of iron stones made. Iron stones were used by the curlers of Portage until one of the progressives of the village imported a pair of granite stones.

At the banquet last evening Jobe told of going to Milwaukee when he was a lad of something like 15 years. He took his iron rocks along. They would not let him use his beloved stones there for they did not relish the idea of the irons rocking up against the granites.

DISPATCHES coming out of Minneapolis yesterday stated that Henry Ordemann was thrown by Zbyszko in 48 seconds. This was a grievous mistake. The second fall went over 48 minutes, and the match was the best ever wrestled in Minneapolis, according to the statements of the three Minneapolis dailies.

Ordemann went right after the big Pole and twice had him in difficulty. In the second bout the big Norsk clamped the toe hold on and used it so effectively that Zbyszko will have a bad ankle for a number of days. While Ordemann did not win he made a great showing against Zbyszko and made the wonderful Pole exert himself to the utmost to beat the American champion.

Ordemann is the best wrestler that this country has produced outside of Frank Gotch. Matchmakers over the country are asking that Ordemann be sent against big Jess Pedersen. The great Scandinavian is cutting a wide swath in wrestling circles in this country and is at the present time asking to be matched with both Zbyszko and Mahmout. The promoters have asked that Pedersen meet Ordemann in a finish match. If this contest is wrestled it will be one of the big bouts of the present wrestling season.

CLOSE observers of fighting profess to see in the refusal of Jim Flynn to meet Al Palzer a healthy respect upon the part of the Pueblo fireman for the rising young heavyweight. Jack Johnson has stated that he will boycott any fighter who engages in bouts in New York. Flynn has seized eagerly upon this excuse to call off his bout.

Flynn is the weakest candidate for heavyweight honors that the ring has ever produced. He is a joke when compared to Johnson or even to Tommy Burns. The coming contest will be the biggest joke affair ever pulled in the fighting game in this country.

AMERICAN CURLERS WIN THE INTERNATIONAL EVENT

Win Eight of Fourteen Games From Canadian Cousins.

Battle Between Dunbar and Rochon Is Feature of Event.

The highest honors of the spiel have been captured by the American rinks. In the International yesterday the American rinks won from their Canadian rivals in eight of the fourteen games. By far the greatest interest of the spiel was manifested in the outcome of these games, bringing together as they did, the pick of the curling ability of the two countries.

A gallery that crowded, elbowed and pushed impatiently to gain a better view, watched with bated breath at times, the struggle between two of the most famous curlers in the world, the veteran Bob Dunbar, the hero of a hundred spiels, and the brilliant "Mac" Rochon of Winnipeg, whose name and deeds have been associated for years with the great spiels at Winnipeg.

The contest was worthy of the excitement it aroused. It was fought all the way from the first head when Rochon laid a four stone lead on the great Dunbar, to the very last end, when by a great spurt the St. Paul skip came within one point of tying it up.

With the great Frank Cassidy at third, whom some call the greatest curler in the world, Rochon undoubtedly had the advantage in rinks as a whole. But in the last three heads Rochon, tried and cool veteran that he is, blew up. The same goes for Cassidy. Dunbar came strong, accepted the long chance of winning out by some great playing—and just fell short.

Dunbar missed the weight at several critical times. Rochon also missed several shots that would have counted heavily. But the curling of Cassidy, until the last few heads, was one of the rare features of the spiel to date. Some of his draw shots were nothing short of wonderful and several times brought applause from the big and enthusiastic gallery.

Lem Deheld made several fine shots, but as a whole the playing of Dunbar's rink was not as sure as that of the Winnipeg skip. Dunbar's playing at times was brilliant. Several times he drew through the port with marvelous sureness, making shots that required perfect judgment of weight and angles.

Bradley of Duluth lost out to McIvor of Port Arthur after making a great finish and laying four in the eleventh head. The contest was decided in the final head when the Port Arthur man lay one.

Stewart of St. Paul, one of the comeback heroes, won handily from Kelly of Winnipeg by the score of 12 to 6. Johnny Oldham showed another flash of form and defeated McArthur of Winnipeg.

Tucker of Pardeeville and Haig of Winnipeg had one of the best games of the event. Tucker got away to a ten-point lead in the first three heads. With this almost unsurmountable handicap to overcome the Winnipeg skip never stopped playing an aggressive game for a minute, piling up four in the fourth head, three in the fifth, three in the seventh and four again in the eighth.

HUSSEY TAKES THE ICE HONORS

The first ice races of the season were held yesterday afternoon on the lake. The races were held under the auspices of the Duluth-Superior Gentlemen's Driving club, over the new course recently laid out parallel with the shore along Superior street. The races were highly successful and were witnessed by a fair-sized crowd. Following is the result:

John Hussey, Elliot	3	1	1
Bert Orator, Superior	2	2	2
Frank S. Runquist	1	3	3

Time, 1:05, 1:04, 1:04½.

BOWLING SCORES

In a bowling game conducted by telephone between the Adams of Duluth and the Capitals of St. Paul, the Duluth team lost out by seventeen pins. The locals played their game at the Grand alleys, the Capitals played at the Capital alleys of St. Paul. Each play was telephoned and scored on both boards. At the end of the game the total score was tabulated.

1913 SPIEL IN ST. PAUL

Capital City Curlers Spring a Surprise on Local Scots.

Annual Meeting and Banquet Attended By 200 Curlers.

At the annual business meeting of the Northwestern Curling association, held at the Commercial club last evening following the banquet, St. Paul furnished a distinct surprise by coming through with sufficient votes to land the next annual bonspiel of the association. It had been generally believed here that Duluth would have little trouble in landing it. Duluth, Superior and St. Paul were the three active candidates for the spiel.

When it came to the voting, the final count stood 4 to 2 in favor of the Apostle City, Superior also getting one vote. It had been thought that when it came to a test of strength that Virginia would throw the balance of favor to the local club. Virginia was not represented, and with Winnipeg and Duluth the outside clubs standing with St. Paul, the Sainty City gets the 1913 spiel to open its new house.

Duluth particularly wanted the spiel next season as it is expected that the local club will have a fine new curling clubhouse in which to entertain visiting rinks. St. Paul wanted the bonspiel for the same reason. The Nushka and Capitol clubs of St. Paul have consolidated and the result will be a fine new curling-house on the present site of the Nushka rink. St. Paul has not had the bonspiel for a number of years, and for that reason came here organized to make a determined fight to land the 1913 spiel. The fight was successful beyond some of the most optimistic expectations of the St. Paul representatives.

New Officers.

W. D. Stewart of St. Paul was elected president; R. C. Ogilvie of Superior, vice president; G. B. Reedal of Phillips, second vice president; Thomas McDermott of St. Paul, secretary; W. B. Gerry, St. Paul, treasurer.

The following were elected as members of the executive committee: W. C. Poehler, Minneapolis; C. M. Gray, St. Paul; L. A. Nelson, St. Paul; William Shaver, Virginia; Harry Hurdon, Duluth.

As a pleasant break in the busy week of curling the annual banquet of the curling association is always looked forward to as an event that brings closer together the members of the association and promotes the harmony and good fellowship that has ever been one of the distinguishing features of the association. In many respects the banquet of last evening was one of the most successful ever given by the association.

F. W. Hargreaves, retiring president of the Northwestern Curling association, acted as toastmaster. As a prelude to the speaking, Mr. Hargreaves read a pathetic and eloquent communication from the Rev. H. W. Knowles, chaplain of the association. Lying seriously ill, fighting for his life, Mr. Knowles did not forget his friends of the merry game of curling. "I am facing the Great Skip," he wrote, "and may be about to throw my last stone. I have never made a perfect shot in all my life, but I am hoping that if I am called upon to make my last shot that it will be a perfect one."

Speaking in the highest terms of the game he loves, Mr. Knowles made an eloquent and earnest plea that the game be kept on its present high plane, free from professionalism and a game where the spirit of fair play and good fellowship are the dominant traits.

During the course of the evening short talks were given by Stephen H. Jones, Thomas McDermott, W. O'Grady, Job Wells, J. T. Haig and L. J. Tucker.

Duluth's New Club.

Mr. Jones told briefly of the plans of the local club regarding the new clubhouse, going somewhat into the details. The idea of two floors seems to take with the curlers present President Jones assured the visiting curlers that in the event of the construction of the new house there would be ample facilities for taking care of future bonspiels.

Mr. O'Grady spoke of the growth of curling as an international pastime and assured the Northwestern Curling association of the hearty support and co-operation of the Manitoba association. Mr. O'Grady spoke warmly in favor of a permanent home for curling. He was supported along this line of argument by H. T. Haig of Winnipeg, who told of the success that curling had gained in Manitoba through the holding of the spiel each season at Winnipeg. Both speakers closed their talks with a cordial invitation to Duluth, Superior, St. Paul, Minneapolis and the other clubs of the Northwestern association to send clubs to the Manitoba spiel next month.

In discussing the progress of the game at St. Paul, Thomas McDermott outlined the plans that are being made by the Nushka and Capitol clubs. Mr. McDermott stated that St. Paul wanted the co-operation of Duluth in the development of the game and said that the St. Paul and Minneapolis clubs were going to work closely together for the future of the game in the Twin iCties.

Job Wells made one of the hits of the evening. The veteran told of curling at Portage some forty-three years ago. He also related a story on progression that brought down the house.

The Scottish Rite quartet with Prof. Custance at the piano was the distinct hit of the evening. The quartet sang many songs, but there was not a number given to which an encore was not called for. The music furnished by Miss Wally Heymar and Miss Alice Mae Brown also brought forth frequent applause.

Over 200 visiting and local curlers sat down to the banquet.

AMERICAN MAIL IN FRANCE IS BURNED.

Paris, Jan. 18.—The postal car on the special train conveying passengers and mail from Paris for the American line steamship Philadelphia, bound for New York, caught fire near Mesnil-Mauger, but railway men prevented the flames from reaching the other cars. It is said that of 400 sacks of American mail, about 300 were destroyed. It is feared that much registered mail matter was burned.

Tawney at Peace Meeting.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 18.—A mass meeting was held last night at Western Reserve university under the auspices of the Cleveland branch of the American peace society. Among the speakers were Representative David J. Foster of Vermont and Former Representative James A. Tawney of Minnesota. A number of letters or telegrams were read, among them being communications from President Taft and Andrew Carnegie.

PROMINENT MEN PLAYING GOLF

Tournament at Pinehurst, N. C., Has Many Notables in Entry List.

Pinehurst, N. C., Jan. 18.—Proceeded by numerous informal events, the golf tournament was begun yesterday with Scotch foursomes. These were intended to assist the committee in getting a handicap on contestants for the more important match play rounds of the week which start today with the qualifying round.

Prominent among the contestants was Secretary of the Interior Walter I. Fisher, who is the frequent golf companion of President Taft at Chevy Chase.

First in the big field of fifty-four pairs were H. S. Paine and C. F. Bacon of Boston, who scored 102 net playing with a handicap of seven strokes. A. W. Erickson of New York and Walter Smedley of Philadelphia (five) and J. R. Mix of New York and J. F. McGreenery of Boston (eight) tied for second at 105. The balance of the field was close up and bunched in numerous ties.

Other events include a one-club team match, a bogey handicap, and approaching and putting contests, and a bogey handicap for the women. Numerous other special events held in connection with the match play rounds will mark the week.

Buys Interest in Saints.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 18.—The Daily News says: Ray Meehan of Milwaukee, for three years business manager of the St. Paul American association baseball team, is now part owner of that club. It is said he purchased nearly half of the stock from George E. Lennon.

Al Williams Knocked Out.

Toronto, Jan 18.—Jim Flynn, the Fueblo fireman, who is matched to fight Johnson for the world's heavyweight championship, knocked out Al Williams of Cleveland in the second round of a bout scheduled to go ten rounds before the National Sporting association of this city last night.

Wrestler Collapsed.

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 18.—Charles Olson of Indianapolis collapsed on the mat last night, a few minutes after he had been thrown violently by his opponent, Yusiff Hassan of Chicago, in a wrestling bout. Referee Black stopped the contest and decided it a draw. Each man had claimed a fall.

Meeting of New League.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 18.—The first meeting of the new 12-club Central Baseball league was held at the Livingstone hotel here yesterday. Owner Claude Varnell announced that he has given Secretary Bert Dennis a 10-days option on the Fort Wayne club. Varnell plans to purchase a half interest in the Province club.

Burns vs. Britton.

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 18.—Frankie Burns of San Francisco, and Jack Britton of Chicago, were matched for a 10-round fight here Jan. 24. Each must weigh 133 pounds at 2 p. m. on that day.

Enters Swimming Contest.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 18.—Ernest Brandstein, swimming instructor of the University of California left here yesterday for Stockholm, Sweden, where he will compete in the diving competitions of the international Olympic games next summer.

Wallace Is Optimistic.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 18.—Roderick J. Wallace, manager of the St. Louis American league team, arrived here yesterday. He declared improvement in his pitching and fielding departments permitted him to view the coming race with optimism.

Missouri Defeats Ames.

Columbia, Mo., Jan. 18.—The University of Missouri defeated Ames at basket ball here last night, 25 to 24.

ONLY TWO UNDEFEATED RINKS LEFT IN THE SPIEL

Rochon and Parkinson Are Leading in Race for Grand Average.

Dinham's Squad Blows Up and Is Badly Beaten in Duluth Event.

Up to the beginning of play late this afternoon there remained but two undefeated rinks at the spiel.

"Mac" Rochon, the great skip from Winnipeg, with the great Cassidy playing third, has come through so far with flying colors. His defeat of Dunbar yesterday was the climax of some great curling. This morning he added further to his laurels by winning from Chisholm of Winnipeg. Parkinson defeated Ron McLeod in the greatest game of the early draw, and one of the best of the spiel, and remains the other undefeated rink. These two are therefore leading in the race for the grand average.

A shock was given to the followers of Dinham's rink today. In the 9:30 draw the young skip was pitted against Rockwood of Portage. On the form shown by the two rinks through the three days of play this was doped out to be a hard fight. To the surprise of the spectators Rockwood won out by the score of 12 to 3, Dinham scoring in but one head of the game.

After getting away with a lead of one in the first, Parkinson lost the lead to McLeod, the Duluth man's rink laying two in the second head. Parkinson came back with two in the third head and McLeod went into the lead in the fourth with a two-stone head. The Duluth skip added further to his lead by laying two in the sixth and two in the eighth. Parkinson scored one in the fifth head, one in the seventh, two in the ninth and won the game in the eleventh by laying four. McLeod did some great playing in the tenth and twelfth heads, laying one in each, but just failed to win out.

Rochon met with some great opposition from his fellow townsman, Chisholm. In the eighth head of the game Chisholm lay four and came back in the tenth with three more. But the crack rink of the spiel, for that is what Rochon's rink appears to be at the present writing, was steady all through and lay in all but four heads of the twelve. Cassidy continued his brilliant playing in the morning game and made some great shots.

Luck Against "Kids."

While the Dinham rink went down to disastrous defeat in the game that would have placed the Duluth aggregation within reach of the jewelry, there was some tough luck to contend with. Everything seemed to break against the local rink. Dinham was forced to curl against some of the toughest ends that have been piled up during the spiel. But at that the Duluth rink failed to show the form that it has exhibited during the first three days of the spiel.

McIvor in the St. Paul Jobbers' event made further progress by winning from McDermott of St. Paul by the score of 15 to 7. In this same event Williams of Winnipeg scored an easy win from McGilvray of Duluth.

It is stated that some of the games will be played at West Duluth tomorrow. If the spiel is to be finished by Saturday there will have to be more rapid progress than has been made to date. Many of the curlers cannot remain over and hence the anxiety to get all of the games out of the way by Saturday evening.

One of the games that is eagerly looked forward to is the meeting between McLeod of Minneapolis and Hurdon of Duluth. The result of this contest will narrow the play down to four rinks in the Duluth Curling club event. The first prize will lie between four of the best rinks at the spiel. At this stage of the spiel Rochon is picked to carry away the jewelry.

Following is the result of play in the 9:30 draw:

THE TWO MOST FAMOUS RINKS AT THE BONSPIEL

THE ROCHON RINK.
"Gib" White, "Kid" Cassidy, "Mac" Rochon, Evan.

On these two rinks interest was centered yesterday afternoon for Rochon led the Canadian rinks against Dunbar and the American rinks in the International event.

The Canadian skip won by one point. The game was perhaps the most interesting of the spiel up to date.

Both skips are very prominent curlers. Many a bonspiel has Bob Dunbar sewed up on this side, and Rochon has as interesting a record on the other side of the line.

The curlers shown in the pictures played to big business at the Curling club yesterday afternoon.

SIGNS OF WEARINESS.

Three Days and Nights of Curling Beginning to Tell.

The curlers are beginning to show signs of weariness.

This morning a good many of them looked "all in."

Three days of curling with games up to the wee hours of early morning and topped off with banquets, is not conducive to freshness the morning after.

None but those drawn to play early morning games were at the rink this morning. The other tired little curlers were tucked in their trundle beds in the various hotels.

Yawns, wide and expansive, punctuated the conversation and the games. It got to be quite a joke later on in the morning when one of the skips leaned up against the observation room and all but fell asleep.

To go through a curling bonspiel would "get to" almost anyone. It is a strenuous ordeal to play from three to five games each day.

Therefore, there was not the usual amount of "pep" displayed in the morning games today. The "bring her along Sandy," was not as loud and enthusiastic as it was on the opening day.

By this afternoon the men had won back some of their ginger and the playing was more lively. By tomorrow the curlers will get their "second wind" and it ought to pull them through to the end of the spiel which will come Saturday night. There may be a few games left to play on Monday morning, but it is expected that the bonspiel will be fairly well wound up by Saturday evening.

* * *

Early in February a bonspiel will be held at Winnipeg. The Canadians are anxious to have some Duluth rinks in attendance. Duluth curlers are also invited to the Portage, Wis., spiel.

Banquet Crumbs.

Bob Dunbar told a story at the banquet last night—goodness! We guess we have forgotten it as good as it was.

* * *

Grand Old Man Wells told about his first curling banquet last night. It was at Milwaukee and Wells was but a boy of 15. He was from the country and green as they make 'em. He said that he was afraid that the gas light which looked like a candle, was going to drip down on his turkey and he made quite a fuss about it, to the amusement of the other men present.

* * *

It was the biggest, and most successful banquet ever planned by the Duluth men and their selection of food seemed to meet with hearty approval if the appetites displayed and the amount of produce consumed is any indication.

* * *

"We are boosters for Duluth's new rink" is the ribbon motto passed around at the banquet last night by the Canadian curlers.

* * *

Eleven o'clock isn't bad for a curling banquet, is it?

Stewart "Comes Back."

In addition to winning several games and proving that he is as yet far from beng a dead one when it comes to the Scotch game, Mr. Stewart was elected president of the Northwestern bonspiel for 1913.

The Nushka and Capitol City Curling clubs of St. Paul are about to combine and make one strong club at St. Paul. Before next year they hope to be in a fine new home.

The official opening of the club will take place with the games of the Northwestern spiel, which will be held at St. Paul next year.

Wanted Another.

When Tucker of Pardeeville was discussing with Mrs. Tucker as to whether to make the trip to the Duluth bonspiel, the little daughter piped up and said: "Please let him go, mamma, he'll bring home another percolator."

Last year Tucker took home a percolator as a prize won in one of the events, and it pleased the little daughter immensely. She thought, evidently, that the old one would go nicely with her doll house.

New York Press: He was a lad of 5, so serious of expression he looked older. "How much do you love me?" asked the fond mother. Without a moment's hesitation he replied, "Where the numbers stop." Mother thinks that remark worthy of a Tennyson.

INSTALL OFFICERS.

Duluth and Mesaba Councils Royal Arcanum Hold Joint Meeting.

Duluth and Mesaba councils of the Royal Arcanum last evening held a joint installation of officers for the ensuing year in Columbia hall in West Duluth. The installation was performed by W. H. Williams of St. Paul, past grand regent, and G. A. Eklund, past regent of St. Paul council. The officers installed were as follows:

Duluth council—Regent, John D. Mahon; vice regent, D. C. Moore; orator, E. E. Burns; past regent, W. R. Peer; secretary, C. Brooke; collector, S. W. Richardson; treasurer, C. M. Ten Brook; chaplain, George H. Macfarlane; guide, A. M. Taraldson; warden, E. P. Sheehan; sentry, G. B. Caldwell; trustees, Nelson Hoople, A. J. Wright, A. Johnstad.

Mesaba council—Regent, J. T. Morgan; vice regent, E. A. Peterson; orator, H. E. Larson; past regent, Alfred Johnson; secretary, W. C. Burton; treasurer, William Pelty; chaplain, O. A. Bjorbuk; guide, N. J. C. Nelson; warden, F. S. Jeffry; sentry, J. A. Johnson; trustee, C. E. Lingwall.

ORGANIZE ICE COMPANY.

Residents of Proctor Do Not Want Repetition of Ice Fame.

A committee of the Proctor Commercial club will organize a stock company to procure ice for the citizens of Proctor. The action was taken to prevent a repetition of the ice famine which occurred last summer. The following have taken the matter in charge: P. McCabe, F. G. Sugg and Henry Babb.

A company will be organized. In the past the village has always been short of ice during the hot months and the many merchants who are in constant need of ice, will enter into the organization.

According to the present plan it is proposed to take about 1,000 tons from St. Louis bay. Ice may also be cut from Cedar Island lake, near Sparta, Minn.

ONEOTA CHILDREN HAVE NEW RINK.

The boys and girls of Oneota are delighted with their new free public skating rink, located at Fortieth avenue west and Third street. The firms which donated material or supplies for the rink follow: Duluth Edison Electric company, lights; Nelson Sash & Door Factory, door and window; Mullery-McDonald Lumber company, lumber; Johnson Lumber company, lumber and tar paper; Elliott & Co., stove.

HENDRICKSON MUST SERVE PRISON TERM.

H. Hendrickson of West Duluth, convicted in district court of arson and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary a few months ago, has lost out on his appeal to the supreme court, and will be taken to the state penitentiary at Stillwater as soon as Sheriff Meining receives the commitment papers. Hendrickson was charged with having set fire to his home at West Duluth. Hendrickson is now at the county jail.

DULUTH INDUSTRIAL HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Today was bank day at the Irving school, and when Mrs. Jensen of the First National bank totaled up the deposits, it was found that $45 was added to the already large amounut received the past three weeks from the students. The grand total is now $230. The bank is well pleased with the interest that is being shown by the pupils and the co-operation of the teachers of the school. Mrs. Jensen received the deposits of the Ely school this afternoon.

At the meeting of the senior class held yesterday afternoon the following floor committee was appointed for the annual dancing party of the class to be held Jan. 25 at the Great Eastern hall: Miss Mildred Sinons, Miss Edna Brigam, Miss Florence Salter, Clifford Stowell, John Simpson and Miss Frances Ehr. Blewett's orchestra will furnish the music for the evening and the committee has already sent out the invitations to the various friends of the class.

The hockey team is practicing daily for the game next Saturday at the French rink with the Central high school team. The game was scheduled for last Saturday, but the severe cold weather caused the postponement until this Saturday. This is the first game of the year for the Irving team, which lines up as follows: Little, goal; Blais, center; Dykins, point; Brydon, point; Saylor, rover; Simpson, right wing, and Spindler, left wing.

The girls of the undergraduate classes of the high school who are taking the cooking subjects are serving dainty luncheons and teas to their many friends and acquaintances as part of their study. Miss Irene Walker, head of the department is anxious that the girls learn how to properly serve and perfect themselves in the art of entertaining at a luncheon or dinner. At the examinations to be held this June the students will be requested to prepare and serve a meal for the examining board.

W. C. T. U. Meeting.

The West Duluth branch of the W. C. T. U. met this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ruth Merritt, 4603 Oneota street. The subject discussed was "Parliamentary Points" and Mrs. Helen Stewart led the discussion. Mrs. Ida Merritt and Mrs. E. Ward assisted the hostess in entertaining the guests

Funeral of Victor Carlson.

The funeral of Victor Carlson, 20 years old, who was killed by a falling tree Monday afternoon near Kelsey, Minn., will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the home of his uncle, Alfred Nelson, 904 North Fifty-sixth avenue west. Rev. J. A Krantz of the Elim Swedish Lutheran church will officiate and interment will be in the Oneota cemetery.

Miss Gunnarson Entertains.

Miss Jennie Gunnarson, 6403 Wadena street, entertained at a bundle shower last evening in honor of Miss Rachel Baudin of 515 North Fifty-eighth avenue west. The evening was spent in music and games and a supper was served to the following guests: Misses May Larrive, Rose Morgan, Ruth Gunnarson, Julia Graetz, Edith Wahlen, Nina Gunnarson, Mildred St. Germain, Josephine Mayhew, Lydia Gagnon, Myrtle Baudin, Mary Stibre and Ida Gunnarson.

Young Baby Dies.

May Muller, the 2-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Muller, 122 South Fifty-ninth avenue west, died this morning after an illness of several days. The funeral will be held from the residence at 3 o'clock tomorrow morning and interment will be in the Calvary cemetery.

New Minister Coming.

Rev. B. L. Opdahl of the Lutheran church of Rockford, Ill., who accepted the call of the Bethel Lutheran church at Sixtieth avenue west and Bristol street, tendered to him several weeks ago, is expected to assume his new charge the first of the month.

Rev. Opdahl is prominent in church circles in Illinois and it is expected he will be a prominent factor in the church life at West Duluth. A reception is being planned in his honor.

West Duluth Briefs.

Rev. G. Oberg of the Swedish-Finnish Evangelical Lutheran church, Fifty-third avenue west and Wadena street, will return tomorrow morning from Ashland, Wis., where he has been conducting mission meetings the past week.

Herman Clous of Edmonton, Can., formerly of West Duluth, spent yesterday at West Duluth renewing acquaintances and meeting a number of his former friends.

The official board of the Merritt Memorial M. E. church, Forty-sixth avenue west and Halifax street, met last evening at the home of Alva Merritt, 4603 Oneota street.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Asbury M. E. church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street, will meet in the church parlors next Tuesday afternoon.

The Christian Endeavor society of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street, held a basket social in the church parlors last evening.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Elim Swedish Lutheran church was entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. August Anderson, 419 North Fifty-second avenue west. The Dorcas circle will meet there this evening.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Westminster Presbyterian church was entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. John Galbraith, 5709 Cody street.

RAILROADS

NEW PRESIDENT OF SOUTH SHORE

A. B. ELDREDGE.

The recent selection of A. B. Eldredge of Marquette to the presidency of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway, follows years of distinguished service in that corporation.

Mr. Eldredge was born at Fond du Lac, Wis., in 1853. He attended Princeton university for two years and was graduated from Racine college, Wis., with the degree of A. B. He studied law in the office of his father at Fond du Lac. The elder Eldredge was a man of more than ordinary ability and represented his district in congress for twelve years.

The younger Eldredge located in Ishpeming in 1882, having been appointed attorney in Michigan for the Chicago & Northwestern railway. In 1890 he removed to Marquette as general attorney for the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, and upon the resignation of President William F. Fitch a short time ago was selected by the directors to fill that important post.

PREFERENCE TO TICKETS.

Passholders Will Not Be Given Best Accommodations.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—The practice of railway employes of obtaining choice accommodations on trains while traveling on passes is soon to be curtailed, according to advices received by passenger traffic officials in Chicago.

The preference henceforth, according to these officials, is to be given to the passengers who pay their fare. Employes on several Eastern roads have been notified by the officials that they must occupy upper berths while riding on passes and that they will be required to purchase seats in parlor cars the same as other passengers.

INDIAN IS ARRESTED.

Peter Mesaba of Cloquet Is Charged With a Serious Offense.

Peter Mesaba, an Indian who formerly lived at Nett Lake, but now a resident of the Indian settlement near Cloquet, was arrested by a deputy sheriff yesterday afternoon at Carlton on the charge of having had improper relations with a young girl. Mesaba was brought to the county jail last evening. He was taken to Virginia today to be arraigned before Judge Hughes of the district court at that city.

Sheriff Meining also placed under arrest yesterday on a similar charge, Nick Smith of Two Harbors. Smith was arraigned this morning in municipal court. He pleaded not guilty and waived examination. Smith has been in the employ of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad as a brakeman.

HEAR ABOUT ROAD TO GULF FROM WINNIPEG.

Emporia, Kan., Jan. 18.—Discussion of road material and bridge building, led by the state engineers of Iowa, South Dakota and Oklahoma, and an address on "Rock Highways," by State Senator George H. Hodges, made up the program of today's session of the Good Roads convention being held here under the auspices of the Kansas State Good Roads' association. All the states along the old Stanta Fe trail, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico, are represented by delegates.

A plan for definite action on the proposed Winnipeg-to-the-Gulf highway was laid before the convention today.

TRY TO RUSH TRUST TRIAL

Beef Barons' Case May Drag Along All Through Summer.

Jurors Are Getting Fat in Spite of Their Confinement.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Steps were taken today to expedite the trial of the ten Chicago packers charged with conspiracy in maintaining a combination in restraint of trade.

Taking of testimony began Dec. 21, and only nine witnesses have been heard. In addition to their testimony, eighty big statistical volumes have been offered in evidence. At the present rate it is estimated that it will take the government until May 1 to complete the presentation of its case, as District Attorney Wilkerson still has about seventy more witnesses to be called.

Might Last Until August.

The defense expects to call 100 or more witnesses and offer a mass of documentar evidence, so that the trial may not be concluded until next August or September.

District Attorney Wilkerson today checked over the list of government witnesses, with a view to shortening the hearing in every possible way.

The plan is to limit the questioning of witnesses to material points and introduce nothing but important documentary evidence, in the hope of concluding the trial in May.

Harry A. Timmins, chief accountant for Morris & Co., began his sixth day on the witness stand when court convened, and was questioned by Special Government Counsel Sheean.

"Is there in your possession any book showing the detailed amounts in dollars and cents received by Morris & Co. for fresh beef sold in September, 1907?" asked Attorney Sheean.

Only Show Total Amounts.

"No; our books show the total amounts received from the branch houses after expenses are deducted," replied Timmins.

"Do you expect us to keep memorandums of all account sales?" angrily shouted Attorney M. W. Borders. "If we did they would fill this court room in a few weeks."

"The government has ceased to expect anything from the defense," replied Attorney Pierce Butler.

The witness said the monthly accounts gave no accurate information regarding the profit or loss of the business, except when the inventory of stock on hand was considered in connection with the other figures.

The witness explained the "cellar" account on the books, which he said was used to keep a record of corned, pickled and salt beef.

United States District Judge Carpenter is closely guarding the health of the jury. He receives a report every morning from the bailiffs on the physical condition of the jurymen, and gives instructions in regard to their care.

Jurors Getting Fat.

The jury has been living at a downtown hotel under guard since Dec. 19, and thus far no member has complained of illness. Two jurors have gained fifteen pounds and nearly every other member of the body has gained five pounds or more in weight.

The jurors rise before 7 o'clock every morning and are taken for a two-mile walk before breakfast. Sunday morning they attend services in a downtown church. They do not care for theaters, having attended but two theatrical performances in six weeks.

Thomas Scott was a sailor for twenty years before being accepted on the jury, and has bought a large coil of rope, which he uses in tying knots during his idle moments.

RANGE FIRM SUES FOR INSURANCE

Butler Brothers Want $1,500 From American Fidelty Co. of Minneapolis.

Butler Bros., ore strippers doing business on the Mesaba range, are suing the American Fidelty company at Minneapolis in district court to recover $1,500, claimed to be due on a contractor's liability policy issued by the insurance company and held by the plaintiffs. The case went on trial before Judge Ensign this morning.

August Vaatenen, a laborer, employed by Butler Bros., was killed at the Grant mine near Buhl, Minn., on Aug. 13, 1909. Oscar Pohjonen, as administrator of Vaatenen's estate, instituted suit against the firm of Butler Bros., for damages. The case was finally settled for $1,350.

The ore strippers claim that under the provisions of their liability insurance policy, the money paid out in the Vaatenen case, together with $168.95, the costs of the action, should be paid them by the insurance company.

No settlement has ever been made by the insurance company, and the suit was filed to recover the amount claimed to be due.

HOLD HEARINGS IN MINNEAPOLIS

House Sub-Committee for White Earth Probe Starts West.

Washington, Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sub-committee of the committee to investigate the expenditures of the interior department which was recently authorized to investigate conditions on the White Earth reservation, consisting of Chairman Graham of Illinois, and Representative George of New York will leave today for Minneapolis, where they will hold their hearing. The committee goes forth short of Republican representation. Representative Mondell of Wyoming was appointed, but declined, and Chairman Graham thinks Representative Burke of South Dakota, is too well informed and probably prejudiced.

It is so the world over. In a certain North Carolina town the grandson of the president of a large bank rides down every morning to the bank in a handsome automobile. He is a clerk of the lowest rank. His grandfather rides down in the street car. He owns the bank.

WESTERN RATE HEARING ORDERED

Increased Charges on Livestock Withdrawn By Railroads.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Protests received by the interstate commerce commission against the advances made in freight in western classification territory, effective Feb. 15 next, will be considered by the commission at a hearing to be held in Chicago, beginning Jan. 29. The object of the commission is to afford shippers an opportunity fully to present their objections to the proposed changes, and to enable the railroads to explain why they consider the changes necessary.

Withdraw New Cattle Rates.

Voluntary withdrawals by the Western and Southwestern railway lines of proposed advances in the freight rates on livestock, particularly cattle and calves, induced the interstate commerce commission today to vacate its orders suspending the increased tariffs. This means the investigation proposed will be abandoned, and that the lower rates will continue in effect.

VIOLET MAY NOT GET HER MONEY

Runaway "Heiress" to Be Looked After By Humane Society.

New York, Jan. 18.—Violet Buehler, the young girl who ran away from home in Chicago and came to New York to earn her own way and "see life," will be given in charge of the Chicago Humane society, under a decision of Justice Olmstead of the children's court here today.

Detective Sergeant Koerner of Chicago submitted a report furnished by the Chicago Humane society stating that the child had a bad record in that city. The girl probably will leave for Chicago this afternoon.

Mrs. Buehler, Violet's foster mother, declared she had no knowledge of any of the incidents related in the report, but said she was willing to have the girl taken in charge by the society.

With reference to the reported inheritance that the girl would one day receive, Mrs. Buehler said that an uncle of the child, Frederick Rothser, who is a wealthy retired restaurant keeper, it was believed, intended to make Violet his heir, but when he learns of this latest escapade of the girl, Mrs. Buehler said, he probably would change his mind.

GOVERNMENT SCORED

At Minneapolis Meeting for Suits Against Lumbermen.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 18.—Denunciation of the government with regard to the suit pending against lumbermen was made by E. M. Trowern, secretary of the Retail Merchants' association of Canada in an address before the Northwestern Lumbermen's association here. Mr. Trowern invited any special agent of the government who might be attending the meeting to make himself known and take a front seat that he "might hear all said."

"You fellows work for the public year in and year out," said Mr. Trowern to the lumber men, "for what practically amounts to nothing and in payment for your trouble the government becomes imbued with the idea that you are parties to a conspiracy to defraud the people."

WILL ASK ESCH TO SHOW THE GOODS

Seventh District Progressives May Reject Him for Re-election.

Camp Douglas, Wis., Jan. 18. — At a congressional conference representing the eight counties of the Seventh district tonight, Congressman John J. Esch is to be placed on trial for his progressiveness. If he can satisfy the conference that he is a Progressive, he will be indorced for re-election. If he fails, a resolution of condemnation will be passed and Progressives will be urged to defeat him for re-election.

A large delegation of La Crosse Progressives, headed by Lieut.-Governor Morris and Former Congressman Frank Coburn, all pledged to Esch, arrived here this afternoon to plead his cause.

The conference is due to meet at 5 o'clock and adjourn until evening, when Congressman Esch may be asked to come before it and explain his position.

ON TRIAL FOR ROBBING PATRON

Bartenders Accused of Having "Rolled" Dennis Shevlin, a Woodsman.

Peter Christianson and Lawrence Anderson, bartenders, charged with the bery in the first degree, are on trial before a jury and Judge Dancer in the district court this afternoon.

They and an accomplice, who escaped arrest at the time and who has not been found, are accused of relieving Dennis Shevlin, a woodsman of his "roll," which consisted of $34.

Shevlin, the evidence appeared, came to town from the woods on Jan. 5 and visited Ole Olson's saloon at 102 St. Croix avenue, where Anderson and Christianson were employed. He spent some of his money there and considerable of his time the day of the alleged robbery.

When closing time came that evening, Christianson, who was on duty behind the bar, told Shevlin that it was time to get out. Shevlin started to leave the place through the front door, but was told that it was locked and that he would have to "go out the back way."

As he was leaving the saloon, Shevlin claims that Christianson pushed Anderson against him and that outside of the saloon both men threw him down. At this point, an unknown man, supposed to have been hiding outside, joined them and the stranger rifled his pockets. Before he could get to his feet, the stranger had disappeared in the darkness and the bartenders had returned to the saloon and bolted the door.

Shevlin reported the matter to the police and the arrest of Anderson and Christianson followed. Both pleaded not guilty.

Ole Olson, proprietor of the saloon, was convicted of selling liquor on Sunday, the following day. Shevlin claimed to the police that the bartender told him that he gained admission to the saloon on Sunday by giving three raps at the back door. The police had Shevlin try it, and in this way evidence which resulted in Olson's conviction was secured.

Just a century ago the "conscience fund" of the United States treasury received its first contribution. A record has been kept of every penny that has found its way to the fund, the grand total amounting at present to practically $500,000. The largest single amount ever received by the treasury officials was $18,669.60, frim some source whose identity has never been revealed.

YOU CAN'T KEEP A GOOD MAN DOWN.

The time that "Jim" McDiarmid of Winnipeg won the Canadian Soo event at the Sault Ste. Marie bonspiel with the caretaker of the rink as lead and a couple of loungers, picked up in the observation room, came in for rehashing this morning.

It seems that McDiarmid lost his rink. He went on one train and the rink on another. The train that bore the famous skip got through all right but the one on which the rink was riding became stalled in a snow bank. While the three members of the rink waited to be dug out, McDiarmid was busy at the Soo enlisting men to take their places.

He pressed the caretaker of the club into commission and drafted two idlers, who had no connection with the club whatever.

Starting as a joke the rink won its first, second, and third game. Not content with that the men went through the event without losing a game and at the end McDiarmid was the proud possessor of the biggest trophy offered at the spiel.

Thistledown.

Pardon, but you will observe that the Clarion has not used that old joke about sweeping once this year. That ought to help a little.

* * *

Rochon grabbed some glory yesterday when he beat Bob Dunbar by the narrow margin of one point in the great International event. It was lucky we had Dunbar play against the great Canadian skip, else the result of the International might have been different.

* * *

The Duluth Curling club event is down to the eights. Rockwood, Dinham, McLeod, Parkinson, Chisholm, Rochon, Hurdon and McLeod of Duluth are still straining for the prize.

* * *

"Billy" Stewart, newly elected president of the Northwestern Curling association, is one of the most prominent and popular Scots in the Northwest. If Duluth had to give up the spiel for a year we are glad that St. Paul got it and that Billy Stewart will act as pilot.

We were surprised to see Jumbo down at the rink this morning. We had not expected to see him—so early.

VERDICT FOR SNYDER

District Court Jury Awards Plaintiff $7,363.31 for Commissions.

Jurors Spent Night Deliberating on Suit for $33,000.

After having been out for more than twenty hours, the jury in the case of Adelmar Snyder vs. John F. McCarthy, a suit brought in district court to recover about $33,000 claimed to be due as commission on a land deal, at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon returned a verdict of $7,363.31 in favor of Mr. Snyder.

The case went to the jury in Judge Ensign's court at 6 o'clock last evening.

The case was tried at the November term of court and dragged along for seven days. The jury was given the case, and after having been out for twenty-six hours, reported a disagreement. The present trial has extended for eight days, and the jury considered the evidence nearly as long as the jury in the first trial.

The suit was an action brought by Mr. Snyder to recover from J. F. McCarthy a commission of $1.50 an acre on 22,192 acres of Sellover-Bates lands in Eastern Colorado purchased for Mr. McCarthy.

WILL BRING EXHIBIT HERE

Art Society Will Show Handicraft Work Done in State.

At a meeting of the Duluth Art association soon to be held, plans will be made for the bringing to Duluth next spring of a splendid art exhibition, the best ever shown in the city, it is said.

A letter has been received by Rt. Rev. James McGolrick from Maurice I. Flagg, director of the Minnesota State Art association at Minneapolis, in which he states that the state exhibition will be brought to Duluth about the last of May or the first of June. It includes samples of handicraft work of all kinds.

EXAMINATIONS.

Duluth Chauffeurs Will Stand Test as to Competency Feb. 1.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 18.—Advice was sent out today by Julius Schmahl, secretary of state, of a meeting of the board of automobile examiners to be held in the city council chamber at Duluth, Thursday, Feb. 1, at 9:30 o'clock. Applicants for chauffeurs licenses will then be examined. This probably will be the only meeting of the board at Duluth this year.

SUPERIOR

Praises Superior Guard.

Gen. Charles King of the Wisconsin National Guard, who is making his annual tour of the state and reviewing the various militia companies, said yesterday, after inspecting the Superior guard, that the local company is one of the best trained in the state. Gen. King left this morning for Hudson, Wis.

Offered Compromise.

At the council meeting last evening it was announced that the city will accept the Belknap street paving job if the contractor, Paddy McDonald, is willing to compromise. He will be paid $2,400 less than the contract called for or a total of $54,428.56, if the city's terms are accepted.

Club Hearing Completed.

The population per mile of street railway lines in Superior is greater than in Duluth, was the admission made yesterday afternoon by General Manager Warren at the hearing of the Commercial club's complaint before Halford Erickson state railroad commissioner. The statement was brought out in an effort to show that Superior is contributing more in proportion to the total earnings of the company than is Duluth. The attorneys will argue befoer the whole commission at Madison.

Neighbors Build Home.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hart of Chaffey, Wis., who were burned out of their home on the morning of Dec. 26, yesterday, moved into their new log cabin which was erected for them by their neighbors at Chaffey. While the cabin was being built the old folks were cared for in Superior by a popular subscription with which they have bee nable to bu yclothing and household articles for their new home.

New Company Buys Dock.

H. M. Young, an expert engineer of Chicago, and W. J. Sellick of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal company of that city, are here making an appraisal of the machinery and apparatus in the old P. & R. dock on St. Louis bay, which has been taken over by the White Oak Coal company. The organization will operate here under the name of the Great Lakes Coal & Dock company.

HARRIS BEGINS PRISON TERM

J. M. Harris, convicted and sentenced to four years at Stillwater for obtaining money under false pretenses, has been taken to the penitentiary by a deputy sheriff, and this week began his term. He has been in custody for about a year, having fought his case to the supreme court which affirmed the decision of the lower court.

Harris secured a number of horses from a local man under false pretenses and sold them. He disappeared for a time but was finally located at Sioux City, Iowa. He fought extradition and considerable time was spent before he could be brought to Duluth for trial.

LOOKS INTO WISCONSIN COMPENSATION LAW.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 18.—Welker Given of Des Moines, secretary of the Iowa Employers' Liability commission, visited the Wisconsin Industrial commission today to secure information upon which to base a law for a workmen's compensation act for Iowa. The commission he represents is a creation of the Iowa legislature and its report will be made next September.

ALL FOR EFFECT.

Los Angeles Times: "Poor Carrie Nation," said a Leavenworth editor, "had many a story to back up her claim that men drink not for the taste, but for the effect alone—that they all drink like the Chinaman who said, 'Me no drinkee for drinkee, me drinkee for drunkee.'

"One of Mrs. Nation's stories was about a Nola Chucky hackman. An angler, as he rode toward the Nola Chucky canal in a hack, unscrewed the glass from the bottom of his flask, filled it and gave it to the hackman.

"The hackman tossed off the drink and returned the empty glass.

"'That's good whisky, Wash, isn't it?' said the angler.

"'Wall, sah,' the hackman chuckled, as he wiped his lips with the sleeve of his ragged coat, 'too tell you' the truth, sah, Ah clean fo'got to taste it!'"

Settlers at Cohasset.
That settlers are pouring in upon the lands in the vicinity of Cohasset and rapidly converting wild timber land into productive farms, was a declaration made today by E. G. Buck of that village, who has been in the city at the St. Louis hotel. He said that the richness of the soil of Northern Minnesota was just beginning to be appreciated. Farmers were coming in steadily increasing numbers, many of them being from the vicinity of Mason City, Iowa. He remarked that farmers who were clearing their lands found a ready market for their timber at Cohasset and could obtain enough money for that product to pay the cost of clearing.

CANDIDATE IMPORTANT

Thomas J. Walsh Urges Democrats to Be Careful in Selection.

Man Counts for Much and Political Party for Little.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The tariff, of itself, will not be an issue of supreme consequence in the coming presidential campaign, according to T. J. Walsh of Montana, at the "Get-together" banquet of Democrats here this afternoon. After discussing recent Democratic successes, Mr. Walsh said:

"The people have awakened to the belated realization of the fact that the corporate interests controlling great industrial enterprises and public utilities have cozened from the substance of self-government by effecting an alliance with those who make trade of politics. The destruction of that alliance is the political task our people have set themselves to. In the face of this purpose all matters of mere politics become as nothing.

Must Speak Frankly.

"Every consideration of duty requires the Democratic party to declare itself with the utmost frankness upon those measures which signify to the popular mind the real nature of the political crisis in which the nation is involved.

"As indicative of the purpose of the party, its candidate is as important as its platform.

"We have come upon a time when the man counts for much and the party to which he professes adherence for little.

"The abuses of a generation are not to be uprooted in a day, nor in the course of one administration. Let us not try to do it all nor promise to do it all at once.

Mr. Walsh attacked the present system of appointing judges, declaring that men who were opposed to corporations were opposed for federal judgeships. He cited some instances in Montana that led him to this belief and concluded:

New Blood Needed.

"If there were no other reason to welcome to the presidential office a Progressive Democrat, the chance of the infusion of new blood into the federal judiciary would be cause for abundant rejoicing."

The speaker asserted that out of twenty-seven cases passed upon by the new commerce court since its organization, until last December, restraining orders or final decrees were entered in favor of railroads in all but seven cases, and three of the seven were of minor magnitude. He said that the Democrats should not answer the cry against the courts by abolishing the system, but by changing the personnel. He also differed with W. J. Bryan as to the necessity for changing the Sherman law, asserting that it would "be time enough to agitate a change in the law when some great trust escapes through a loophole in some great decision, or when it is adjudicated that the penal provisions are innocuous."

BRYAN SENDS HIS REGRETS

Urges Democrats to Exert Themselves for Party's Success.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Last night a message was received from William J. Bryan, dated at Jacksonville, Fla., expressing his regrets at being unable to come to the Northwestern Democratic conference, and uring the Democrats to exert themselves for the party's success.

"The prospects for this fall are very encouraging," said Mr. Bryan in his message of regret, "but so much depends upon the record made by congress and upon the action of the nation, that it behooves every Democrat to exert himself to the utmost to strengthen the party's hold upon public confidence. The allied forces of predatory wealth were never more active. We cannot afford to compromise with Wall Street."

SHARP ATTACK ON SAMUEL GOMPERS

Senator Heyburn Says Senate Should Refuse to Recognize Him.

Washington, Jan. 18.—A sharp attack on President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor was made in the senate today by Mr. Heyburn of Idaho, who protested that a communication from Mr. Gompers should not be received by the senate. He said no communication should be accepted from that source after the revelation made in the McNamara case.

WHITE HEAD OF MINE WORKERS

Result of Vote for Officers Announced at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 18.—John P. White of Oskaloosa, Iowa, was re-elected president of the United Mine Workers by a majority of 45,425½ over his opponent, Thomas L. Lewis of Bridgeport, Ohio, according to the report of the tellers made to the convention this afternoon. White received 104,015½ votes; Lewis 58,591.

Frank J. Hayes was re-elected vice president by a majority of 64,824 over Samuel Pascock of Illinois. Secretary-Treasurer Edwin Perry was not opposed for re-election.

Delegates elected to the American Federation of Labor convention as announced this afternoon were:

John Mitchell, New York; John P. White, Iowa; Thomas L. Lewis, Ohio; Frank J. Hayes, John H. Walker and Duncan McDonald, Illinois; and William Green, Ohio.

GRAIN MEN ASKED TO CHANGE RULES

Council at Chicago Will Take Action on Important Matters.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Members of the council of grain exchanges, which began a two days' session here today with representatives in attendance from Chicago, Duluth, Omaha, Minneapolis, Milwaukee and other cities, will take action on two important matters before adjourning.

One is a resolution offered by C. A. Magnuson of Minneapolis which all the grain exchanges will be asked to adopt later, and which seeks to prohibit offers to buy or sell large quantities of grain or seeds for future delivery, with limitations requiring the buyer or seller to purchase or sell the entire amount offered. The resolution provides that all such bids must be open for acceptance by any member in lots of 5,000 bushels or multiples thereof.

The other business scheduled to be acted upon is a suggestion made by Hiram N. Sager of Chicago that all the exchanges adopt "calendar" days as a basis for shipments instead of "business" days. Nine members of the council have already adopted this system.

The project means the combination of fifteen marine organizations with a total membership of 40,000.

EAGLE RIVER SCHOOL BUILDING IS BURNED.

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 18.—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the Eagle River school building yesterday. It was a two story building and before the flames were under control the structure was doomed. There are twenty-three pupils and Miss Kelly is the principal.

PHOTOGRAPHS IN COLORS.

New York Herald: Color photography has made rapid strides of late years, and at no distant date bids fair to become available for all amateur photographers, instead of remaining as now the hobby of the favored few.

The so-called three-color process has been successfully practiced for many years. But the labor entailed in taking three negatives, printing three positives, coloring these in their correct tints, and accurately adjusting them in superposition too often spells failure, besides taxing the patience to an extent which would have led Job to make colored remarks.

Four years ago the new autochrome process invented by a French firm attracted great attention. Splendid results are obtained, and the method is comparatively simple. The great bulk of amateur photographers, however, have held aloof from this process, the reason being not so much the increased cost of the plates, compared with those ordinarily in use, as the fact that pictures are obtained only on glass. Prints on paper cannot be made by this means, and this, after all, must be the ultimate goal of any process of color photography if it is to appeal to the majority of amateurs.

Many endeavors have been made to rectify this defect and to perfect a process of printing on paper in natural colors from autochrome and similar plates.

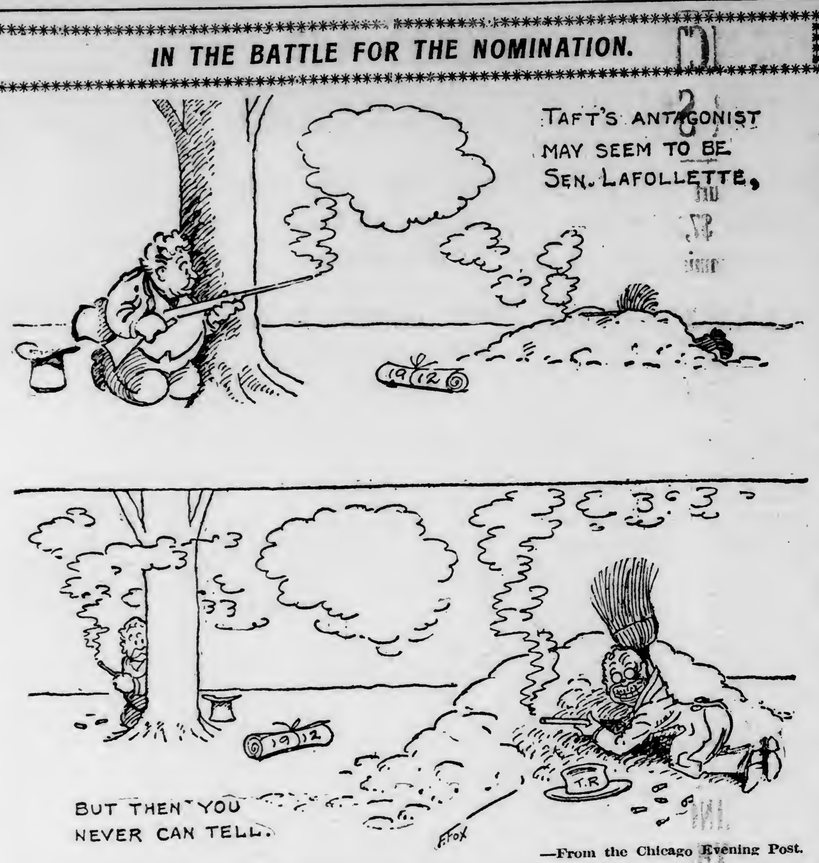

Dr. J. H. Smith, who had been working on these lines long before the advent of the autochrome plate, redoubled his efforts after its appearance, and has now succeeded in inventing a means of printing colored photographs on paper. The new process is to be placed on the market at an early date by a French company in Paris which has been formed for this purpose.

BATHING IN GOLD.

Tit Bits: A Parisian journalist who had speculated in railway shares won 200,000 francs as the result of a lucky venture. Drawing it in gold, he proceeded to a hotel, emptied the bags of gold in the bed and went to sleep literally in the sands of Pactolus. The man was so crazed by his good fortune that he found indescribable pleasure in reveling in a golden bath.

Paganini, the violinist, when he received the proceeds of his concerts (he insisted upon being paid in gold), used to wash his hands in sovereigns. A French novelist, Soulie, wrote a book called "The Memoirs of the Devil." It was successful; the publishers paid him for the first volume £2,000 in gold. The author carried the gold to his bedroom, poured it into a footbath and enjoyed for half an hour the excitement of moving his feet to and fro in a bath of gold coins, smoking meanwhile the biggest of Havanas.

A Chicago merchant of great wealth, believing certain symptoms indicated that he would become insane, consulted a specialist, and under his advice became an inmate of a private asylum. For twelve years there his recreation was piling up gold coins and then knocking them over. At times he washed his hands in gold eagles and half eagles. At the end of the long seclusion he returned to his business and in twelve months confirmed the thoroughness of his recovery by amassing £100,000.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS.

By Alderman Barnes—

Resolved, That the city treasurer is hereby directed to receive from the owner of all of Lot 14, Block 31, London addition, excepting the westerly 95 feet thereof, the amount of the original assessment levied against said property to defray the cost of the construction of sidewalk in London road, as full payment thereof, provided the same is paid within fifteen days from the date of the passage of this resolution, and further provided that said owner shall at the same time pay the sum of $1.50, the estimated cost of the publication of this resolution.

Alderman Barnes moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Jan. 15, 1912.
Approved Jan. 17, 1912.

By Alderman Shartel—

Whereas, In the platting of Oatka Beach addition on Minnesota Point there was dedicated for park purposes all of the beach on the Lake Superior side of said addition, being more than one-half mile in length, including the riparian rights; and,

Whereas, This part of the city is very popular for park purposes, therefore,

Resolved, That it is hereby suggested to the Board of Park Commissioners that it is highly desirable that at least one block of property be acquired between Minnesota avenue and Lake avenue for park purposes, which would make a most desirable addition to this lake shore park in that it would furnish the fine natural grove existing at said location which, in connection with the beach already dedicated, would make one of the finest natural parks obtainable anywhere.

Alderman Curren moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Jan. 15, 1912.
Approved Jan. 17, 1912.

By Alderman Curren—

Resolved, That there is hereby appropriated from the general fund the sum of $150.00, to pay the services of a special watchman for Park Point for a period of six months, the same to be paid on the monthly pay roll.

Alderman Curren moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Jan. 15, 1912.
Approved Jan. 17, 1912.

By Alderman Bernard—

Resolved, That the city engineer is hereby requested to report to this council an estimate of the cost of enclosing Coffee creek from Sixth street to Piedmont avenue in a concrete culvert.

Alderman Bernard moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Passed Jan. 15, 1912.
Approved Jan. 17, 1912.

By Alderman Miller:

Resolved, That the Board of Fire Commissioners is hereby directed to have plans and specifications prepared and advertise for bids for the construction of a fire hall on the south 45 feet of lots 7 and 8, block 16, Norton's division, and award the contract therefor subject to the approval of this council, the cost of said building to be paid out of the permanent improvement fund.

Alderman Miller moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

INTRODUCTION AND CONSIDERATION OF ORDINANCES.

The following entitled ordinances took their first reading and were referred to the Committee on Ordinances and Resolutions, viz:

By Alderman Scott (by request):

An ordinance prohibiting persons under sixteen (16) years of age from being on the streets, alleys or public places in the city of Duluth, Minnesota, at night, after the hours of 9:30 p. m., from May 1 to Sept. 31, inclusive, of each year, and from Oct. 1 to the last day of April, inclusive, of each year after the hours of 9 p. m.

By Alderman Barnes:

An ordinance providing for the issuance, form and sale of $22,000.00 of certificates of indebtedness, in anticipation of the collection of taxes against the permanent improvement fund of the city of Duluth, levied in the year 1911.

The ordinance submitted by Alderman Jordan entitled "An ordinance providing for the issuance, form and sale of $10,000.00 of certificates of indebtedness in anticipation of the collection of taxes against the park fund of the city of Duluth, levied in the year 1911," took its second reading.

Alderman Wharton moved that the ordinance be now placed upon its final passage and the motion was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present, on roll call.

Alderman Wharton moved the adoption of the ordinance and it was declared adopted by a unanimous yea vote of all present on roll call.

On motion of Alderman Bergstrom the council adjourned.

H. W. CHEADLE,
City Clerk.

By Alderman Jordan:

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE ISSUANCE, FORM AND SALE OF $10,000.00 OF CERTIFICATES OF INDEBTEDNESS IN ANTICIPATION OF THE COLLECTION OF TAXES AGAINST THE PARK FUND OF THE CITY OF DULUTH, LEVIED IN THE YEAR 1911.

The Common Council of the City of Duluth do ordain as follows:

Section 1. Pursuant to authority of Section 315 of the charter of the City of Duluth the Common Council does hereby direct the issuance of certificates of indebtedness in anticipation of the collection of taxes levied in the year 1911, against the park fund of the City of Duluth, to the amount of $10,000.00, said certificates to be made payable at the office of the city treasurer of the City of Duluth, Dec. 1, 1912.

Section 2. Said certificates of indebtedness are hereby directed to be signed by the mayor, sealed with the seal of the city, attested by the clerk and countersigned by the comptroller thereof.

Section 3. Said certificates of indebtedness shall be of the following form, with the blanks in this form properly filled in:

"CERTIFICATE OF INDEBTEDNESS OF THE CITY OF DULUTH.

State of Minnesota,
City of Duluth.
No. $——

"This is to certify that the sum of $30,000.00 was the whole amount embraced in the tax estimate for the park fund of the City of Duluth made in the year 1911, and that none of said amount has at this time been collected and credited to said fund, that heretofore no certificates have been issued against said levy for said fund, and that this certificate of indebtedness is issued in anticipation of said tax. The City of Duluth hereby guarantees to the holder of said certificate that it will cause to be collected said tax so levied, and will pay upon surrender of this certificate to the treasurer of the City of Duluth on the 1st day of December, 1912, the sum of $1,000, with interest from the date hereof to the time mentioned therein for payment at the rate of 4 per cent per annum.

"This certificate is one of a series of certificates in the aggregate sum of $10,000.00, issued under the provisions of Ordinance No. ——, passed ——— 1912, in pursuance of Section 305 of the charter of the City of Duluth."

Section 4. Said certificates of indebtedness, when so issued, may be taken up by investments from any of the separate funds of the City of Duluth in the manner provided by Section 306 of the city charter.

Section 5. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Passed Jan. 15, 1912.
Approved Jan. 17, 1912.

M. B. CULLUM,
Mayor.

BREAK LATE IN THE DAY

Early Bulge in Wheat Is Followed By Profit-Taking Spell.

Flaxseed Goes Up on Receipt of Bullish Argentine Figures.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 18.—The session of today, during its early hours, gave promise of being decidedly bullish on account of cables that came from Argentina and Europe, but the bulls carried things too far, and the result was that a reaction and a period of profit-taking set in during the latter part of the session, and the closing figures were below those of yesterday. Duluth May wheat showed a loss of ½@⅝c. Cash wheat closed at the May price to ⅛c lower. Durum closed unchanged. Duluth January flax gained 2¼c and May 2½c.

During the greater part of the morning the bulls had the better of it in the wheat markets of North America. Foreign cables were bullish almost with out exception. There were unfavorable reports from Argentina. The Buenos Ayres market reported wheat 1⅛c to ⅞c up at the close last evening and ¾c to ⅞c higher at the opening this morning. Closing cables on all the European markets were higher. Liverpool wheat was bulled by the Argentine news and by the scarcity of Platte offers. On that market wheat closed ⅝d higher.

Montreal early in the day reported a strong export demand for wheat. The receipts from the country in the United States, although considerably ahead of those of a week ago, when the Northwest was in the embrace of a severe cold spell, were smaller than those of a year ago. Today's American primary receipts were 534,000 bu, against 316,000 bu last week and 645,000 bu a year ago. On the Winnipeg market, however, the receipts, as usual, were away ahead of those of a year ago.

The news on the whole was so bullish that the movement seems to have gone farther than conditions warranted. Duluth May wheat, which closed yesterday at $1.05 bid, opened today at $1.05⅛ bid, and then started a rapid rise, which was general on the American markets. A slump took place not long before noon. A feeling that the bullish movement had gone farther than conditions warranted caused an epidemic of profit-taking, and the reaction carried wheat below yesterday's close. At noon today Duluth May was selling at $1.04⅞ and there were quotations at the same time from Winnipeg, Chicago and Minneapolis, showing wheat below the closing figures of yesterday.

Flax is Bullish.

Trade in flaxseed showed a considerable improvement today. There was a better demand, due, probably, to very bullish news from Buenos Ayres, where flaxseed closed last night at a gain of 4½c over the close of the day before and made an additional bulge of 3c at today's opening. This caused crushers to take alarm and there were some orders for quick purchases, which soon caused flaxseed on the Duluth market to rise. This upward movement was checked somewhat by better offers from the country, as farmers have been doing more hauling since the terribly cold weather gave place to more moderate temperatures. There were 27 cars of flax on the track for inspection at Duluth this morning. Yesterday there were 14 against 4 a year ago. Duluth January and May flax were both 2½c up at noon today.

FLAXSEED.

Despite pleasant weather the Argentine flax movement is not comparatively heavy and the shorts are finding little stuff available when they climb into the pit to buy back their seed. The chief interest is in the February delivery which did not accompany in the same ratio the January delivery when it soared out of range of the American and European markets. Argentine exporters have endeavored to bring their market to a basis on which they can sell some seed to Europe, but they have been unsuccessful, the heavy short interest having created a bullish situation similar to that which existed in this country a year ago.

Receipts in this country are holding up fairly well but it should be remembered that the movement started later than usual on account of heavy rains in the fall which prevented thrashing and hauling. It is natural, therefore, to expect that the movement will extend over into this year to a degree greater than in previous years, comparatively, as in those years the movement started early in the fall. Farmers had some difficulty in marketing their flax at a period when shipments should have been heavier than they were. This flax is now coming to market. It is expected that offerings may dry up in the near future as the country is selling itself out of seed and the greater percentage of the stuff now in the interior is under snow and cannot be thrashed until spring. It is uncertain what percentage of this seed will make commercial flax, but there is no doubt that considerble will be lost.

So far as the American show windows will be concerned, there may be considerable stuff piled up for "the boys" to comtemplate when Canadian shipments begin to go to Minneapolis crushers who undoubtedly will become heavy buyers of Canadian seed when the reduced freight rates on flax become effective Jan. 23. On the other hand, this seed will not remain in the show windows much longer than it will take the crushers to get it out. All of the available space in the public elevators will be needed, probably, by holders of Canadian wheat and other grains and the flaxseed will be taken into private storehouses. Some Minneapolis crushers haven't much space left, but most of them are fairly well equipped with storage facilities.

This buying of Canadian seed will have very little bearish effect, eventually, on the American prices, although it may relieve the American market temporarily from a means of support that it would otherwise get. This Canadian seed would be purchased, anyway, however, and buyers will have to come back to American seed when the remainder of the Canadian crop is bought.

About 35 to 40 per cent of the Canadian flax crop is under the snow and the greater part of it may never come to market as commercial seed. The receipts at Winnipeg are at a low ebb. Of course, this is due, in a small measure, to the inability of the railroads to handle the stuff, but there is no doubt that the Canadian crop will be even shorter than any estimate thus far made publicly by any well-informed person.

Some people have cited the big Indian crop as probable "balance wheel" and have prediced that the "bottom of the market will drop out" when the Indian crop begins to be marketed. The Indian crop is generally a steady proposition. The Indian yield does vary greatly from one year to another. If the exportable surplus this year is about the same as in the last two it will not break anybody's back. Europe's bins are empty and Europe can handle all of the Indian crop if America does not take a bushel. Furthermore, the Indian crop will not be available in this country until next summer. Everybody in the flax trade knows that the Russian crop has been knocked into a "cocked hat." The exportable surplus will be greatly reduced. While the Russian crop has been grown chiefly for its purposes, yet improved facilities for marketing have enabled growers to place the increasing quantities of seed on the market. Even with extraordinary high prices in the Russian crop year Russia did not break anybody's back last season and with lower values and a short crop this year Russia is not going to be a bearish factor.

While the oil trade has been dull, yet it in some quarters has been holding up better than expected. It is said that a leading Eastern crusher with mills in many parts of the country has been doing a good business. Several crushers have been selling cake heavily abroad so that the general trade has not been so seriously "in the dumps" as some people would have the market believe.

Oil buyers who have been holding off for lower prices have not seen a pronounced materialization of their hopes.

The Cincinnati Price Current says: "Most of the central regions are covered with a heavy blankett of snow. Winter wheat generally is regarded in good condition and the outlook is improved. The Ohio and Indiana indication is that the surplus will move freely from the interior when the weather is favorable, provided prevailing prices be maintained."

Carruthers, Montreal, wired: "Cables are higher again toay. We have acceptances from both the United Kingdom and the Continent at over a cent above yesterday's sales."

Broomhall wired from Liverpool—"The market opened steady and ¼d higher on firmness in Buenos Ayres and the strength in America. Later there was some realizing on a report received here that the strike situation in Argentina was nearing a settlement. Later there was further covering by shorts and prices quickly advanced an additional ½@⅝d from the opening on the wintry weather in the United Kingdom, scarcity of Plata offers, firmness in Paris and Antwerp at the opening; urgent inquiry for Australian cargoes, forecast of light Argentine shipments and unfavorable weather in Argentina, which caused large shorts to cover heavily. At 1:30 p. m., the market was strong and ¾d higher than yesterday. Corn was strongly supported owing to the strength in America, firmness in spot, few American offers and light European offers. There is a good demand. At 1:30 p. m., prices were ⅝ to ¾d higher.

"Buenos Ayres wheat closed firm at ⅞ to 1⅛d advance from the opening with shorts covering up the light arrivals from the country as a result of the strike and the continued unsettled weather. Further encouragement was shown in the firmness in foreign cables.

"The Argentine strike situation shows improvement. The weather in the north is unsettled. Arrivals at the ports are small and the quality variable. The outlook for corn is magnificent. A cable from our agent this morning shows the weather unseasonably cold and stormy.

Minneapolis indemnities: May puts, $1.04⅞; calls, $1.06⅜@1.06⅞.

A Chicago dispatch says: "There is a heavy snowstorm all over England, which is beneficial to the wheat crop. Australia offers are reported larger and prospects of the wheat crop in India are magnificent. Offers from that country are likely to increase very soon."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Is Stronger on Covering Operations By the Short Side.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Shorts covering on account of the unseasonably cold and stormy weather in the Argentine tended to put strength today into the market for wheat. In addition Buenos Ayres sent a forecast of light shipments notwithstanding talk of a settlement of the railroad strike. Colder tempertaures northwest of here contributed also in favor of the bulls, and so did a firmer tone in the flour trade. The openin was ⅛c to ¼@⅜c higher. May started at $1.00⅝ to $1.00¾, a gain of ⅛@¼c to ¼@⅜c, reacted to $1.00⅜, and rallied to $1.00½@1.00¾.

Increased marketings by Nebraska farmers brought about rather free selling later and sent prices down. The close was easy with May ⅜c net lower at $1.00@1.00⅛.

Corn, although higher at the outset, sold off under pressure from leading longs. Statements that Indiana and Ohio surplus stocks would move freely at prevailing prices had an influence in weakening the market. May opened a shade lower to ⅛@¼c up at 66½c to 66¾c and declined to 66¼@66⅝c.

Afterward the fact that exporters were holding off led to a further setback. Closing figures were easy, ⅜@½c down for May at66¼c.

Oats showed a disposition to sag after corn began to descend. There was considerable scattered selling on the part of holders. May started unchanged to 1-16c higher at 49⅞c to 49⅝@50c, and dropped to 49¾c.

Packers unloaded hog products rather freely and made quotations somewhat easier. Lower prices at the yards had also a bearish effect. Initial sales were a shade to 10c down with May $16.25 for pork, $9.47½ to $9.52½ for lard and $8.80 for ribs.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Is Easier on Account of Moderate Selling Pressure.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 18.—Wheat was easier in the late session today on account of moderate selling pressure. Early the market responded to bullish foreign news. May closed ½c lower than yesterday and July ⅛c lower. Elevator stocks decreased 225,000 bu for five days. Carlot wheat receipts follow:

Minneapolis today, 335; week ago, 164; year ago, 369. Duluth today, 8; week ago, 16; year ago, 37. Winnipeg today, 406; week ago, 89; year ago, 34.

Cash wheat was in good demand again today. Mills and elevators were both buying. Offerings were more liberal. No. 1 northern sold for the even May price. Millstuffs—Shipments, 2,326 tons. Market strong and steady. Demand active, especially for bran and standard middlings. Prices unchanged.

Wheat: May opened $1.06¼; high, $1.06⅜; low, $1.05⅜; closed, $1.05⅝. July opened, $1.07; high, $1.07⅛; low, $1.06¼; closed, $1.06¼.

BOSTON COPPER STOCKS

The Boston stock quotations furnished by Gay & Sturgis, 326 West Superior street.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 18.—The markets today were dull and non-committal. News was only routine and beyond the formal announcement of the fact that J. P. Morgan X Co. had underwritten the new Inspiration securities, nothing happened of consequence. The importance of Morgan's definite entrance into copper shares is not realized in present apathetic condition. It will be eventually, no doubt.

Cotton Market.

New York, Jan. 18.—Cotton opened barely steady at a decline of 5@9 points. There was good demand with spot houses moderate buyers, and the market during the middle of the morning ruled steady, with prices 3 or 4 points up from the lowest. Private cables expressed doubt as to a settlement of the Lancashire labor troubles Friday, and the less cheerful outlook in that respect was colored by the relative weakness of the English market.

Spot closed quiet, 10 points lower. Middling uplands, 9.50; middling gulf, 9.75. Sales, 2,000 bales.

Futures closed steady; bids: January, 9.25; February, 9.26; March, 9.36; April, 9.42; May, 9.52; June, 9.54; July, 9.62; August, 9.64; September, 9.68; October, 9.73; November, 9.76; December, 9.80.

London Stocks.

London, Jan. 18.—American securities were quiet and featureless during the forenoon. Prices ranged from unchanged to ¼ higher at midday.

Close—Prime mercantile paper, 3⅜ to 4¼ per cent; sterling exchange steady with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.83.80 for 60-day bills and at $4.86.90 for demand. Commercial bills, $4.83. Bar silver, 66⅜c. Mexican dollars, 47c. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds irregular.

PRICES ARE UNCHANGED

Stocks Close With Little Change From Wednesday's Figures.

Trading Conducted in Desultory Fashion in the Last Hour.

New York, Jan. 18.—Opening prices of stocks today in most cases were slightly lower. The buying movement in the Tobacco issues continued and American Tobacco preferred rose a point and American Snuff preferred 1⅜. Otherwise changes were small.

The hesitation at the outset was succeeded by a definite movement upward with the demand for various specialties again the feature. There was distinct firmness in Union Pacific and United States Steel. Tobacco stocks made further substantial progress upward. Liggett & Myers preferred and Lorillard preferred gained 2 points. New York Central was active, 1¼ higher. Western Union improved 1½. National Biscuit 1¾ and American Brake Shoe preferred 4 points.

Market conditions were virtually unchanged during the morning, and no determined effort was made to rouse the list from its apathy. The recent demand for some of the specialties was sustained, and the increase in interest in those stocks encouraged pool operations in other similar issues.

The high prices of the tobacco stocks invited some profit-taking during the second hour, but the general market was not affected. Bonds were steady.

The market closed steady. Trading was conducted in desultory fashion in the last hour with scarcely any movement in the important stocks. Fnal prices were not essentially changed from yesterday's closing.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage executed by Ursula Russ and John Russ, her husband, mortgagors, to Sattler Liquor Company, mortgagee, bearing date October 1st, 1909, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of St. Louis County, Minnesota, on October 15, 1909, in Book 267 of Mortgages, on page 402.

Said default consists in the nonpayment of the sum of $966.75 and interest, according to the conditions of a certain promissory note for $1,246.75, executed by said mortgagors under date of October 1st, 1909, payable on demand; no part of which has ever been paid except the sum of $380.00, though payment has been demanded.

The name of said SATTLER LIQUOR COMPANY has been changed to and now is SATTLER BROTHERS COMPANY.

By reason of such default, the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage.

There is claimed to be due and is due upon said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $1,168.07.

The property described in said mortgage and thereby mortgaged is the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter (NW¼ of NE¼) of Section thirty-three (33) in Township fifty-nine (59) north of Range twenty (20) west, in St. Louis County, Minnesota, containing forty (40) acres more or less, according to the United States government survey thereof.

By written instrument, dated August 28th, 1911, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of St. Louis County, Minnesota, on December 23rd, 1911, in Book 215 of Mortgages, on page 555, said Sattler Brothers Company (formerly Sattler Liquor Company), mortgagee, released from the lien of the above described mortgage (recorded in Book 267 of Mortgages, page 402) so Independent School District No. 40 of St. Louis County, Minnesota, all that portion of said mortgaged premises described as follows, to-wit:

Commencing at a point where the sixteenth (16th) line of the northeast quarter (NE¼) of Section thirty-three (33) in Township fifty-nine (59) north of Range twenty (20) west (4th Principal Meridian, St. Louis County, Minn.) intersects the westerly line of the County Road as now established; thence west along said 16th line three hundred (300) feet; thence north at right angles two hundred seventy-four (274) feet; thence at right angles, and parallel with the said 16th line, three hundred forty-five (345) feet, more or less, to the westerly line of said County Road; thence southwesterly along the said westerly line of said County Road to the place of beginning containing two (2) acres, more or less.

Said property had previously been conveyed by the mortgagors to said releasee.

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises first above and in said mortgage described, reserving and excepting therefrom all that portion of said mortgaged premises last above and in said release to Independent School District No. 40 of St. Louis County, Minnesota, described, which sale will be made at public auction to the highest bidder for cash by the Sheriff of St. Louis County, Minnesota, at the Front Door of the St. Louis County Court House, in the City of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, upon Saturday, the 2nd day of March, 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage and twenty-five dollars ($25.00) attorneys' fees, as provided in said mortgage, together with the costs and disbursements allowed by law.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Fourteen ($14.00) (interest due Dec. 1, 1911) Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by William Glertz and Olga Glertz, his wife, Mortgagors, to W. C. McCarter, Mortgagee, bearing date the 1st day of December, 1910, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of St. Louis, and State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of December, 1910, at 1:45 o'clock P. M., in Book 284 of Mortgages, on page 323.

AND WHEREAS, The said W. C. McCarter, the Mortgagee and Holder of said Mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said Mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said Mortgage and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Fourteen and no-100 ($414.00) Dollars, with interest thereon at the rate of 7 per cent per annum from the 1st day of December, 1911, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof;

NOW THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

Lots One (1), Two (2), Three (3), and Four (4), in Block Forty-four (44), Bay View Addition to Duluth, No. 2, according to the recorded plat thereof of record and on file in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minn., in St. Louis County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Duluth in said County, and State, on the 20th day of February, 1912, at 10 o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Four Hundred Fourteen and no-100 Dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Twenty-five Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated January 3rd, A. D. 1912.

W. C. McCARTER,
Mortgagee.

PAUL THOMPSON,
Attorney for Mortgagee.

DEMOCRATS AT FARGO LAUNCH BURKE BOOM; WILSON GIVES IT O. K.

"Favorite Son" Move Carries in the Get-Together Convention.

Hope to Land Him in Second Place on National Ticket.

Resolution Adopted Is Acknowledged to Point to New Jersey Man.

ADOPTED AT FARGO.

Resolved, That it is the sentiment of the Democrats here assembled that the Honorable John Burke be recommended for the nomination as the Democratic candidate for president of the United States, and that all honorable means be used to bring about his nomination, provided however, should the delegation find his nomination is impossible, then the delegates selected from North Dakota should vote for a progressive candidate whose career gives assurance that he will carry out the principles advocated by the great progressive leader, William J. Bryan.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.) — For the Democratic nomination for president of the United States—Governor Burke of North Dakota.

The Burke boom for president was launched here last evening by the members of the Democratic state central committee and other prominent Democrats of North Dakota in attendance at the Northwestrn get-together conference and banquet. The resolution provides that Burke's name be presented to the Democratic conven-

DEMOCRATS HAVE HOPE

Confidence of Victory in November Expressed at Fargo Banquet.

Names of Party Leaders Greeted With Applause By Crowd.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to he Herald.)—Hope of Democratic success at the polls next November, with a Progressive leader at the head of the ticket ran through the speeches at the banquet held yesterday afternoon in connection with the Democratic conference which opened Wednesday.

Supplementing the hope for success were expressions of allegiance to the Jeffersonian principles of Democracy, assurances of the adherence of the party to the principles advocated and so long supported by William J. Bryan, a message to the people of the nation that the Democratic party stands for the plain people and will restore to the plain people the power that has been taken from them by the machinations of special interests which control the party now in power.

The first guns in the national campaign in the Northwest were fired and they fired ammunition that will be used freely during the next ten months. The Republican party was attacked as the party of privilege; the Democratic party hailed the party of the people.

Speeches were made by Thomas J. Walsh of Helena, Charles G. Helfner of Seattle, S. J. Doyle of Carrington, War-

PUEBLO LAUNDRY IS DYNAMITED

Police Say the Explosion Is Due to Labor Troubles.

Pueblo, Colo., Jan. 19. — A terrific dynamite explosion today partly wrecked the Colorado laundry, in the heart of the business district of this city, and damaged the office of the Globe Express company. City detectives who immediately began an investigation found a dynamite fuse in the alley outside of the express office.

The police now are working on a theory that the explosion was due to labor troubles and was the work of men who do not live here. The laundry, one of the largest in the West, is a non-union plant.

It is believed the object was to destroy a large tank used as a water softener. When this was being erected several years ago, it mysteriously toppled over one night. No clue ever was found as to the cause.

The tank was erected by a Chicago Heights, Ill., concern.

MORSE UNCLE SAM'S GUEST

Banker Freed Immediately After Taft Commutes Sentence.

May Go to German Health Resort If He Is Able.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 19.—Arrangements for moving Charles W. Morse, the New York banker whose fifteen-year sentence was commuted last evening by the president, to a sanitarium, were held up today pending the arrival of Mrs. Morse from Washington. She is due to reach Atlanta at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Morse is occupying his room at the army hospital now as a "guest" of the government, his freedom having been given him yesterday by Warden Moyer of the federal penitentiary upon telegraphic advices from Washington.

It is expected Morse will visit one of the German resorts if his condition permits. While the former prisoner was greatly brightened this morning at the news of commutation, the military physicians would permit few persons to see him.

Has Served Two Years.

Washington, Jan. 19. — President Taft last night commuted to expire immediately the fifteen-year sentence for violation of the national banking laws under which Charles W.

STARVED FOR HER MONEY?

Woman's Death and Sister's Illness Laid to Sanitarium Keeper.

Mrs. Hazzard Is Put on Trial in Seattle Court.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 19.—How Miss Claire Williamson, a wealthy English woman, starved to death under the immediate care of Mrs. Linda Burfield Hazzard, a sanitarium keeper, who, it is alleged, wanted her money, and how Dorothea Williamson, sister of the dead woman, was rescued, a delirious living skeleton by the nurse of her childhood, was recounted to a jury here today by Prosecutor Frank H. Kelly of Tacoma.

Mrs. Hazzard is on trial for murder. Her husband, said to be a West Point graduate, was the only prospective witness allowed in the court. The state accepted as jurors several men who declared themselves opposed to the death penalty.

Took Them to Ollala.

In April, according to the state's evidence, the starving sisters, who had put themselves in Mrs. Hazzard's care last February, were taken to Ollala, where, it is asserted, Mrs. Hazzard induced Claire to add a codicil to her will endowing the Hazzard sanitarium with $125 annually, and obtained an order on banks holding funds belonging to the Williamson sisters.

Claire died May 19, literally reduced to skin and bones. No notification was sent to relatives, but a family nurse in Australia, hearing of Claire's death, hurried to Ollala and found Dorothea a living spectre. Mrs. Hazzard, asserting that the girl was insane, already had applied to be appointed guardian to Dorothea and administrator of Claire's estate.

HEADLESS BODY FOUND IN ASHPIT

Murder Is Discovered in St. Louis Black Hand District.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 19.—The headless body of a man was found in an ash pit in the rear of 1122 North Ninth street by a patrolman at 9:30 o'clock this morning. The body was warm and the man apparently had not been dead any great length of time.

The body was first seen by a negro who said he also saw the head. When the patrolman reached the ash pit the head was missing. The negro later said he might have mistaken some other object for the head. The general appearance of the torso and its clothing indicated that the murdered man may have been of foreign birth.

The body was found in the heart of what is called by the police "The Black Hand district." The body was tied between a blanket and a mattress, a clothes line being used.

Break Jail at Dubuque.

Dubuque, Iowa, Jan. 19.—Babe Barrington and Barry Williams, charged with burglary, broke out of the county jail here last night after assaulting and knocking senseless Jailer Norton. There is no trace of the escaped men.

WATTERSON SUGGESTED

Willis J. Abbot on Marse Henry as Presidential Candidate.

Beloved of All Parties and Democrat of Tried Loyalty.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Men say that the time has come when the Democratic party must seek for a candidate some man whose name has not yet been bandied about as that of an eager aspirant. They think the public is weary of Wilson; Harmon and harmony grow hackneyed; Folk lacks the folks, and Champ's champions are unable to promise that he will have his own state; Underwood is under the cloud of his Southern habitat, and Marshall can scarcely marshal the delegates from his own state under his banner. New names are called for, and the sentiment grows that some figure, looming large in Democratic councils, but never yet placed on a presidential pedestal may yet be uncovered.

Which reflection leads to the inquiry: "What's the matter with Henry Watterson?"

Here we have a man beloved of all parties, and withal a Democrat of tried

WOMAN PULLS BOY FROM BOILING LARD

Saves Three-Year-Old Grandson From Death in the Kettle.

Sterling, Ill., Jan. 19.—Three-year-old Roy Claussen's life was saved by his grandmother here today when she plunged her arms into a kettle of boiling lard into which he had fallen and rescued him. The boy was burned severely. His grandmother's arms were scalded badly. The boy was playing around the kettle when he accidentally fell into it.

WOMAN SHOT IN BACK BY THIEF

Colorado Marshal in Turn Kills Her Assailant at Segundo.

Trinidad, Colo., Jan. 19.—Mrs. George B. Piercy, wife of the cashier of the Colorado Supply company store at Segundo, west of this city, was shot in the back and probably fatally wounded last night by an unidentified man who was attempting to rob the store. The robber was shot and killed by Earl Tucker, city marshal of Valdez.

BAD BLAZE AT GRAND FORKS

Masonic Temple Destroyed With Total Loss of $85,000.

Hardware and Clothing Stores in Building Are Cleaned Out.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Masonic temple is in ruins as a result of a fire which broke out at 11 o'clock last night in the basement of the A. B. Rheinhart hardware store, occupying a portion of the structure. The losses follow:

Masonic temple, building and equipment, $45,000; insurance, $25,000.

A. B. Rheinhart, loss on stock, $15,000; insurance, $10,000.

John Fishman, clothing store, loss on stock, $10,000; insurance, $6,000.

Masonic bodies and Kem temple, loss on paraphernalia, $15,000; insurance, $8,000.

It was the most spectacular blaze ever seen in Grand Forks. After being subdued for nearly two hours, the flames suddenly burst through the roof and leaped high into the air with a spray of sparks that completely enveloped a portion of the down-town business district. The fire gained its start in the paint storage room, supposedly from spontaneous combustion.

The destruction of the building will mean the erection, this year, of a new temple which will cost $150,000, plans for which were already under way. New building sites have recently been secured.

RUNAWAY GIRL DUE IN CHICAGO

Federal Authorities Are Interested in Violet Buehler's Case.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—The closing chapter in the sensational flight from Chicago and subsequent arrest in New York of Violet Buehler, was scheduled for Judge Merritt W. Pinckney's juvenile court today.

The girl, who was yesterday made a ward of Detective Norton and Supt. George H. Scott of the humane society by Justice Olmstead in New York, was expected to arrive in Chicago today in company with her fostermother and Norton. On arrival here it was expected that the girl would be taken into court at once, where Judge Pinckney would decide who was to have her care.

Federal investigators here turned their attention to the case. Charles Dewoody, chief of the department of justice secret service men, became interested in the case when he received word of a reputed admission by Jack Clune, a waiter, that he had accompanied Violet from Chicago to New York, and, from the story attributed to the girl, that he had visited her rooms clandestinely.

Sixth Cavalry Goes Home.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 19.—The Sixth cavalry, stationed at Fort Des Moines, after an absence of nine months, returned from the Mexican border early today. The Sixth is under command of Col. Charles M. O'Connor.

OVER 1,000 FALL IN ECUADOR FIGHT

Gen. Eloy Alfaro Is Made Commander-in-Chief of Army.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Jan. 19. — Over 1,000 men were killed and wounded in a battle yesterday at Yaguache, to the northeast of this city.

An army supporting the Quito government, under the command of Gen. Julio Andrade, formerly Ecuadorean minister to Colombia, attacked and defeated an army of Guayaquil troops supporting the provisional government proclaimed by Gen. Montero, under the command of Gen. Flavio Alfaro.

Gen. Flavio Alfaro was wounded during the fight, which was very severe. Gen. Eloy Alfaro has now been appointed commander in chief of the Guayaquil army.

FOUR CAUGHT IN SALOON ROBBERY

Chicago Police Claim They Have Gang That Has Defied Them.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—In the arrest of four men today the police believe they captured the gang of saloon robbers which has been operating freely here for weeks.

The rashness of the men in robbing the saloon of Joseph Byrne, caused their capture. A passer-by saw the robbery committed and called the police. The prisoners gave the names of Jerry O'Conner, Lee Lake, Edward Stillwell and William Whorter.

CHINESE REPUBLIC APPEALS TO POWERS TO GIVE RECOGNITION

President Sun Refuses to Resign—Ultimatum Sent to Premier.

Surrender of Sovereign Power and Removal of Capital Demanded.

Court Seeks Delay But Is Distrustful of Yuan Shi Kai.

Nanking, Jan. 19.—The republican government today sent an appeal to the powers for recognition. This took the form of a circular which was sent to Washington, Tokio, London, Paris, Berlin and St. Petersburg and was signed by Wang Chung Wei, the foreign minister of the republican cabinet.

An ultimatum sent to Premier Yuan Shi Kai today is, according to republican leaders, the last word of the republicans.

Sun Yat Sen Is Firm.

President Sun Yat Sen said today to the Associated Press:

"I have taken an oath to oust the Manchu rulers and restore peace to the country before resigning. I have taken an oath to establish a republic in China, and if I consented to the proposition laid down by Yuan Shi Kai I should be foresworn.

"I am convinced that a republic is not only practicable but that it would be the best thing for China.

"China cannot permit outsiders to dictate her form of government. This republic is now an established fact. Nothing can swerve me from what I consider my duty to my fellow countrymen.

Governor May Not Reply at All to Watterson's Attack.

Story of Break With Harvey Is Told By Ewing.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 19.—Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey today, the second day of his brief tour through Michigan, was scheduled to address a meeting at Ann Arbor about noon and another at Grand Rapids late in the day.

Before leaving Detroit Governor Wilson said that he had had no opportunity as yet to give to the statement of Col. Henry Watterson the consideration it demanded. He said he was unlikely to issue any statement concerning this matter during his present tour. Further, he said he was not in the habit of issuing statements and might make no reply.

REV. McFARLAND ON WAY TO PITTSBURG.

Greenville, Tenn., Jan. 19.—Rev. Dr. W. D. McFarland, accused of responsibility for the death of his former secretary, Elsie Dodds Coe, is on his way to Pittsburg, under arrest, today. Mrs. McFarland will go to Pittsburg later. She does not believe the antemortem statement attributed to Miss Coe, in which the latter is alleged to have said she had submitted to an illegal operation directed by McFarland.

AUSTRIAN FOREIGN MINISTER TO RETIRE?

Vienna, Austria, Jan. 19.—Reports regarding the early retirement of Count Alois Lexa von Aehrenthal, Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, are persistent. Rumor even names his successor, who is said to be Count Szecsen von Temerin, Austro-Hungarian ambassador at Paris. He holds a very strong position with the clerical party, which has been attacking Count Aehrenthal. It is said that at the request of Count Aehrenthal the reichsrath has decided to meet in February this year instead of in March, so as to enable the foreign minister to furnish details of his policy before he retires from office.

TRAINS CRASH AT FULL SPEED

Two Men Killed Instantly and Three Hurt in Missouri.

Wittenberg, Mo., Jan. 19.—Two men were killed instantly, one was injured seriously, two others were hurt slightly and two engines and twenty freight cars were demolished when two Frisco freight trains collided head-on a mile below this place early today.

Both trains were going almost at full speed when the crash occurred at a dangerous curve on the Mississippi river bank. Charles Beard, engineer of the northbound train, and Clark, the fireman, were killed. Millhouse, brakeman of the southbound train, was scalded.

BOAT LINE STATUS ARGUED IN CHICAGO

Question of Common Carrier Rights Put Before Harlan.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—The question of when a boat line becomes a common carrier so as to enable it to receive part of joint or through rates with railroads and not be liable for rebating under the act to regulate commerce, was scheduled for argument before Interstate Commissioner Harlan in the federal building today.

The case is that of the Colonial Salt company and others against the Michigan, Indiana & Illinois line and the Ludington Transportation company. Ten salt companies in Michigan and Ohio allege that the two lake lines are not common carriers and serve only certain salt companies. On this ground it is contended that they are not entitled to receive part of joint rates, to which they would be entitled if they served the public generally.

REFUSES TO LET MISSIONARIES DIE

British Consul Insists on Deportation of Women at Ichang.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 19.—When Miss E. Mallery and Miss N. E. Sears, both missionaries, refused to leave Ichang as advised by the British consul because they "could not recognize earthly authority, and God has not given permission to vacate," the consul had them deported and recommended that they be refused permission to return to China, according to advices received by the steamer Kamakura Maru today. In his order for deportation the consul said:

"I cannot recognize your individual right to die, as your death would involve other foreigners and have far-reaching consequences, as deaths of foreigners in China at the present time might lead to international intervention in the present crisis."

NEW SYSTEM IS WANTED

Mass Meeting Called for Jan. 25 to Consider Road Building.

Will Recommend Changes in Methods of Spending Road Fund.

To get 100 cents value out of every dollar expended in building roads is the object of the calling of a mass meeting to be held at the Commercial club Jan. 25, which is exciting great interest and at which a large attendance is expected. The meeting was scheduled for Jan. 23 but has been postponed because D. N. Forgan is slated to talk on that date.

The calling of this meeting arose from the action of the December grand jury, which went over the present system and recommended several changes. The grand jury had no criticism to make regarding the work of the county commissioners, but based its recommendations solely on the fact that the old system is out of date and not adequate for the handling of such a large fund as exists at present. From 5 to 10 per cent of the fund, it is said, should be devoted to administrative purposes.

The road fund will be about $500,000 this year, and it is believed that with a proper revision of the present system much more effective work can be done.

Interest in the meeting is growing both in Duluth and the range towns, and large delegations are expected from Virginia, Eveleth, Chisholm and Hibbing. Representatives of the Commercial and Rotary clubs will also attend. Probably there is no subject that is of more interest in St. Louis county than that of good roads.

Those who are interested in the calling of the meeting claim that the same system of road building is now being used that was in force when the county had but $54,000 to spend for roads. They want more expert supervision of the road construction, and they want some comprehensive plan of road building mapped out. The first step they claim, would be to prepare a map showing every road in the county, its cost to date, and the amount needed to complete it.

Anybody interested in roads is invited to attend the meeting. A committee will be appointed to draw up some specific recommendations to the county commissioners. Those behind the movement say they are convinced the county commissioners will be glad to receive the recommendations and give them due consideration.

GOVERNMENT'S SNOW BULLETIN

The occurence of snow was rather widespread during the past week, but the fall was mostly light, save in New England and portions of the Middle Atlantic states and in the Ohio valley, where the total fall for the week increased the depth on the ground by from 4 to 6 inches, and in a few localities the increase was a foot or more. There has been a very general increase of from 1 to 3 inches in the snow depths over most of the remaining districts east of the Mississippi river and north of Kentucky and Northern Virginia. There was a fall of several inches of snow during the week over portions of Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia, and Tennessee, but it appears to have melted to a considerable extent despite the continued cold.

From the Mississippi valley westward there were local snows at intervals during the week, but, except in a few places, the depths now on the ground are less than one week ago, and at the lower elevations of the mountain districts of the West the decrease has been quite pronounced, especially in the far Northwest, where from 3 to 10 inches disappeared during the week.

A fairly good depth of snow covers the ground throughout nearly the entire winter wheat-growing region, affording protection from the severe cold. At the same time the continued prevalence of snow over portions of the Great Plains region, where the ground has been snow-covered for several weeks, together with the severe cold, has doubtless caused much further suffering to stock exposed without proper shelter and a sufficient supply of food.

In the Upper Lake region and portions of the Upper Mississippi valley the snow depth now ranges from 1 to 2 feet with extreme depths of nearly three feet in portions of Northern Michigan.

But little if any increase occurred during the week in the amount of snow in the high mountain ranges of the West, and the accumulated depths are probably less than the average for this period of the winter.

FATHER AND SON-IN-LAW

Have Legal Battle in Which Farm and Back Wages Figure.

Old Man Gave Farm to Daughter in Return for a Home.

A 20-acre farm, and the love and affection of a woman, who is the daughter of the one and the wife of the other, figure in a bitter fight which has been instituted in the district courts between Thomas Johnson and Matt Soujanen.

Thomas Johnson, the father-in-law, has passed his seventieth birthday. Soujanen, his son-in-law is a middle aged man. Up to two years ago, they lived together at Midway. The principals in the suit are both of Finnish ancestry and neither can speak or write English.

In an action, which is now on trial before Judge Cant and which is an aftermath of a previous suit, Soujanen is suing his father-in-law for $1,350 back wages, figured at the rate of $25 per month. The taking of testimony in the case is very slow, on account of the fact that neither can speak English and an interpreter is necessary.

Before the present action went on trial, another case was brought in which Johnson sued his son-in-law and daughter, for the purpose of having the deed to a 20-acre farm, given to Mrs. Soujanen, his daughter, set aside, on the grounds that Soujanen had not lived up to certain agreements, which were mutually agreed upon previous to the deeding of the land to Mrs. Soujanen. The court dismissed this action.

Johnson claimed that the land was given to his daughter for a consideration of $1 and the usual love and affection which every daughter is supposed to show towards her father. He also claimed that on June 24, 1906, previous to the deeding over of the land, that the Soujanens lost their home on a mortgage and that they were invited to come and live with the "old folks." They remained there until July 5, 1910.

Mrs. Soujanen, it is claimed by Johnson, helped with the work about the home, but Soujanen, himself aided only occasionally. When the land was deeded over to Soujanen's wife, it was agreed, Johnson claims, that Soujanen and his wife were expected to give their support to the "old folks" in their declinning days.

The arrangement, it appears from the complaint brought by Johnson through his attorney, never was satisfactory. On March 30, 1910, domestic altercations came which resulted in Johnson getting a thrashing at the hands of his son-in-law. The elder man had Soujanen arrested for assault. He was convicted and fined. Soon after that, Johnson brought suit to recover the land.

After the dismissal of the first action, Soujanen started his suit. He claims that he worked on the farm without receiving any recompense for fifty-four months, and claims that at the rate of $25 a month, he has $1,350 due him.

MORE WHEAT TO THE ACRE

That Is Object of Meeting Being Held in Chicago.

W. J. McCabe, M. L. Jenks and Secretary C. F. MacDonald of the Duluth Board of Trade are in Chicago as representatives of the local institution at the council of North American Grain Exchanges. They will return tomorrow.

The grain exchanges are pushing a propaganda to increase the wheat and other crops of the United States by teaching scientific methods of production to farmers. While they are interested in other work incident to the grain trade they regard crop cultivation by intensive methods as their chief reason for existence as an international organization.

The Flax Development Committee of the United States will meet at the La Salle hotel, Chicago, next Tuesday. Its object is to advance the cause of scientific methods of cultivating the flax crop. Its members represent the leading linseed crushers, paint and oil men in the country.

E. H. Smith and Allen P. Allensworth of the American Linseed company will probably attend the meeting.

ACQUITTED OF ROBBERY CHARGE

Peter Christenson and Lawrence Anderson, St. Croix avenue bartenders, charged with having robbed Dennis Shevlin, a woodsman, of $34 on the night of Jan. 6, behind Ole Olson's saloon, 202 St. Croix avenue, were acquitted by a jury in district court yesterday.

The case was on trial all day yesterday in Judge Dancer's court and went to the jury after 5 o'clock. The jurors were out but a few moments. The state put on no witnesses to establish connection between the bartenders and a stranger named in the indictment as John Doe, who is charged with having done the actual stealing.

Conflicting testimony was given. Three policemen, who made the arrest of Christenson the night of the alleged robbery, were called to the stand but their testimony brought out several versions of Shevlin's side of the case. Shevlin was put on the stand at the morning session.

District Attorney John Norton prosecuted the case and Attorney James Wharton appeared for the defense.

CONGRESSMAN ESCH HELD PROGRESSIVE

After Night Conference Seventh Wisconsin District Gives Him O. K.

La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 19. — Without adopting resolutions for or against any congressional candidate, the Seventh district Progressive Republican congressional conference at Camp Douglas, in continuous session from 7:30 o'clock last night until 12:15 this morning, adjourned after the most remarkable exhibition of politics in this state, and erhaps in any other. The spirit of the primary law pervaded the conference and any effort to dictate to the voters of the Seventh district whom they should nominate to congress was frowned down.

It was the most remarkable exhibition of politics ever seen. Representative John J. Esch was on trial for his political life and he was there in person to defend himself. His record was discussed from the time he entered congress thirteen years ago to the present time. States Senator Otto Bosshard of La Crosse appeared as principal interrrogator. He opened the meeting and asked Congressman Esch to explain various things over which there had been differences of opinion as indicating whether he is a Progressive.

Concede Esch's Honesty.

Even Esch's most bitter opponents conceded in their remarks on the floor that he was honest, industrious and had put through a great deal of Progressive legislation, but there were several things in his record, notably when he lined up with Tawney, which were attacked.

The feature of the meeting was the defense of Mr. Esch's record by Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris of La Crosse, during which he charged State Treasurer Dahl with using unfair methods in reading only portions of Esch's record and not explaining the motives which might have actuated them.

The organization of the Seventh District Progressive League was perfected and Mr. Esch became a member and signed the declaration of principles.

PLANNING FOR CONVENTION

Grocers Secure Very Low Rate From the Great Northern.

The Duluth Retail Grocers' association started making arrangements for the convention of the state body to be held here Feb. 20, 21 and 22, at Owls' hall, 116 West Superior street, last night. A committee on arrangements was selected and the general outline of the program drawn up.

The committee is composed of. George H. Schulenberg, J. E. Roos, Simon Clark, John Moyer, J. E. Foubister, A. M. McEwen, George M. Peterson, J. O. Johnson, G. A. Hjerpe, M. R. Bush, Edward Strange, J. W. Lent and L. A. Paddock.

According to telegrams read at the meeting large delegations from the Twin Cities, Mankato, Winona, and the Cuyuna and Vermillion ranges will be present.

The Great Northern railway has come to the front and has offered a rate of a fare and a third for the round trip. This is the first time that this rate has been given since the 3-cent fare went into effect with the exception of the land show held in St. Paul in December.

MINNESOTAN ACCUSED OF OLD APPLETON FIRE.

Appleton, Wis., Jan. 19. — Twelve years ago the Waverly hotel, then the leading hotel in Eastern Wisconsin, was burned to the ground, and yesterday an arrest was made of Michael McGurne, of Mora, Minn., who is charged with the crime. Several months ago a local newspaper received an anonymous letter saying the writer knew who set fire to the building and the state fire marshal located the writer, if the word of handwriting experts that the writer and McGurne are the same, is to be believed. The fire caused a loss of $35,000. McGurne says he did not set fire to the building himself. He was a trusty at the county jail the night the building was burned.

HOW LONG A CIGAR WILL LAST.

Le Figaro: Six members of a Parisian club took six cigars out of the same box, lit them simultaneously and tried to make them last as long as possible. The winner smoked his for 2 hours and 17 minutes.

DEMAND FOR PAPER MONEY

Estimate for 10,000,000 More Sheets of Currency Paper Submitted.

Plan for Publicity of All Security Issues By Corporations.

Washington, Jan. 19.—An estimate for 10,000,000 additional sheets of currency paper from which $959,000,000 worth of paper money is to be printed, was submitted to the house by Secretary MacVeagh to meet a shortage of small bills and demands for "clean money." The bureau of engraving and printing will make during the fiscal year of 1913, $106,000,000 of $5 and $10 treasury notes; $293,000,000 of gold certificates, in values from $10 to $100; $506,000,000 of $1, $2 and $5 silver certificates.

Wickersham to Meet Senators.

Attorney General Wickersham will appear Monday before the senate committee on judiciary to express his views on the Cummins bill, which would give the right of appeal to the supreme court of the United States to certain organizations or persons in the federal suit against the American Tobacco company. The hearing will be executive.

Publicity on Securities.

A plan for the publicity of all issues of securities by corporations, following the report of President Taft's railroad securities commission, was introduced by Representative Harrison of New York. The Harrison bill would require all interstate corporations to file with the interstate commerce commission certificates of notification of the issuance of new securities, with all facts necessary to show the corporation's financial status and purpose.

More Land to Be Opened.

The 2,340,880 acres of remaining unallotted lands on the Cheyenne river and Standing Rock Indian reservation will be opened to settlement under two bills by Senator Gamble favorably reported by the senate committee on Indian affairs. The Gamble bill to extend payment for lands on the open portion of these two reservations for a year was also favorably reported.

May Be Joint Inquiry.

It is indicated that the proposed inquiry into the Atlantic, Pacific and South American shipping combines instituted in the house by Representative Humphrey of Washington, may be made a joint congressional investigation, as President Taft has expressed the opinion that the treaty relations of the United States with other nations might be involved.

Mr. Humphrey told the house rules committee that he thought discrimination in rates against American people by foreign controlled and subsidized transportation lines was bound to involve American treaty relations, and for that reason the senate should be recognized in the investigation, which he said was bound to be prolonged and world wide.

Immigration Bill Reported.

The Dillingham general immigration bill, the fruit of the deliberations of the immigration commission and the immigration committee, has been reported to the senate from the committee. Its provisions include a $4 tax on all immigrants, exclusion of idiots, vagrants, criminals, anarchists, etc., prohibition of any soliciting of immigration by steamship companies or other interests, corporation or individual.

Neglected Treaty Dug Up.

After reposing for several years in the files of the secretary of the senate, the wireless telegraph treaty, which originally was entered into by several nations under the initiative of the United States, has been referred back to the committee on foreign relations. The treaty was favorably reported to the Sixtieth congress, but the session adjourned without action. Now that there is to be a new international conference, this country finds itself unable to enter it without being a party to the agreement, and the ancient document was brought to light in the hope of getting action upon it.

Senate Confirms Ambassador.

The senate yesterday confirmed the nomination of Edwin V. Morgan of New York to be ambassador to Brazil.

Explains Army-Navy Dispute.

Details of the clash in opinion between the army and navy on the best way to fortify the Philippines were given to the house committee on appropriations by Maj.-Gen. Wood, chief of staff of the army. Gen. Wood outlined the rival plans, the navy favoring the fortification of Subig bay, fifteen miles from Manila, while the army officials contend for an appropriation to make Manila itself the base. The bill will not be presented to the house for several days.

Agree on Wiley Report.

After an all-day session, the house committee on expenditures in the department of agriculture reached an agreement on the report of the subcommittee into charges made last summer against Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry. It is reported that the committee was divided over recommendations relating to the Remsen board, some members of the committee favoring its abolishment. The report of the subcommittee has been ready for some time, and the full committee has held several meetings to consider it. The report probably will not be presented to the house until next week.

Dissect Economy Report.

The report of the economy and efficiency committee which was sent to congress Wednesday is being dissected by members of the cabinet, to whom it has been referred by the president for their views as to the suggested reforms affecting their respective departments. The recommendation for the abolition of the revenue cutter service and the distribution of its varied functions among several departments is being considered by the secretaries of the navy, commerce and labor and treasury. The commission's suggestion has excited opposition. Should this service be abolished, it would wipe out one of the most historic arms of the government. It is 122 years old, having been created in 1790 at the first session of the Second congress, thus making the service seven years older than the navy.

Hear of Niagara Power.

Representatives of the Niagara Falls Power company were heard by the house foreign affairs committee on the proposed regulations for future use of water for generating electricity. The cheapness of power in Canada was emphasized by Gen. Francis V. Greene of the Ontario Power company. Gen. Greene's company sells power to the hydro-electric commission of Ontario for $9.40 per horse power, while the same power is retailed by the company at $25 in Rochester, N. Y. The cheap Canadian power was made possible by the governmental distribution, he said.

The power manufacturers declared that power distribution must be a "legalized monopoly" and urged regulations that would permit the development of the full extent of power and the importation of Canadian power under proper regulations.

Rome G. Brown, attorney for a Niagara company, said the owners of power rights were legally entitled to exercise waterpower rights to their full extent, even though it took all the water from the falls. Representative Bartholdt of Missouri retorted that the people were more interested in saving the falls than in considering rights of power companies.

The committee is considering prospective legislation under the international treaty to succeed the Burton law which will expire March 1. O. F. Fleming of Windsor, representing a power company said that the Canadians believe that the treaty would permit the unlimited importation of Canadian power. The Burton law limits the importation to 160,000 horse power.

URGE SPECIAL SESSION

To Provide Funds to Rebuild Black River Falls Dam.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 19.—Committees of the Milwaukee Merchants' & Manufacturers' association and the chamber of commerce, which conferred with Governor McGovern regarding plans for funds needed for rebuilding the Black River Falls dam, unanimously recommended that a special session of the legislature be held to provide the needed relief.

The governor was informed that the citizens of Milwaukee and other sections of the state have provided for immediate relief for the stricken city, and that it is up to the state to supply funds for rebuilding the dam, inasmuch as the state grants franchises and is morally responsible.

The governor has taken the matter under advisement.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Montgomery & Stone in "The Old Town."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

Montgomery & Stone, with their big organization of eighty-five people, arrived over the Northern Pacific by special train from Fargo, where they appeared last night to a turn-away audience that with difficulty could find accommodation in the theater, and that the same conditions will prevail here is an established fact, judging by the sale and the interest which the coming of this pair popular has awakened, for seldom has such a spontaneous feeling manifested itself with anything connected with the stage.

Duluth will see for the first time tonight the most talked about musical comedians in America, Montgomery and Stone. Duluthians have been obliged to accept their substitutes in a number of what are termed Number Two companies. This visit will undoubtedly dispel any further invasion of the so-called "Number Twos." Unfortunately Duluth has been denied seeing them in "The Wizard of Oz" and "The Red Mill," but will see them at their best in their new production Charles Dillingham, their managerial sponsor, whose taste and extravagance in productions is welll known, has provided Montgomery and Stone with a most sumptuous presentation and with a cast of considerable brilliance. The chorus is said to be unique; the costumes gorgeous, while the stage settings are gems in their way. There is little question that the engagement will prove a brilliant success. It will be for two nights with a Saturday matinee.

College stories are running riot at the Empress this week. William Powell of Powell-Howard & Co., who are presenting the playlet, "Books," being mainly responsible for them. Mr. Powell tells of a classmate of his, a young graduate in law, who had had some experience in New York city, and who wrote to a prominent practitioner in Arkansas to inquire what chance there was in that section for such a one as he described himself to be. He said, "I am a Republican in politics, and an honest lawyer." The reply that came seemed encouraging in its interest: "If you are a Republican, the game laws here will protect you, and if you are an honest lawyer, you will have no competition.

NUGGET IN CHICKEN.

Big Falls Man Claims Gold Was Found in Gizzard.

Big Falls, Minn., Jan. 19.—Sam Lachapelle, living near here, who has always claimed gold existed in this locality, says his wife, while dressing a chicken a few days ago, came across a good-sized gold nugget in the bird's gizzard.

The chicken came from Prosper Lachapelle's coop, located on a farm three miles west of town. Prosper is a brother of Sam's, and on prior occasions has found indications of gold in the creek bed which runs through his farm. It has been Mr. Lachapelle's custom to lay in a supply of gravel taken from the creek bottom for the chickens for the winter months, and the presumption is that the prospecting chick picked the nugget from the gravel. It always has been Sam's contention that there is great mineral wealth in Koochiching county, and he says that while Northome has been first to demonstrate her iron values, Big Falls is now ready to show them the real gold.

AGAINST PARCELS POST.

Northwestern Lumbermen Reaffirm Their Former Opposition.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 19.—W. R. Wood of Parker, S. D., and W. G. Hollis of Minneapolis were re-elected president and secretary respectively of the Northwestern Lumbermen's association at the closing session of the organization Thursday. Resolutions were adopted reaffirming the lumbermen's opposition to the parcels post and urging the adoption of the corporation tax law amendment in congress introduced by Congressman Harrison of New York, which provides that corporations may make returns at the close of their individual fiscal years.

The Retail Lumbermen's Insurance association, with a membership practically identical to that of the Northwestern association, met immediately following adjournment and re-elected J. H. Qucal president and W. G. Hollis secretary.

IMMIGRATION INSPECTOR FINED $1 FOR ASSAULT.

International Falls, Minn., Jan. 19.—Immigrant Inspector Rippy, in municipal court Tuesday, was found guilty of assault upon an Austrian and fined $1 and costs. The Austrian had crossed to this side of the boundary against the orders of the officer and was found at Ranier. Citizens of the latter place thought Rippy too severe in his method of endeavoring to make the alien return to the Canadian side, and had the Austrian file the charge against him.

South Dakota Agriculturists Elect.

Brookings, S. D., Jan. 19. — A. W. Krueger of Groton was elected president of the South Dakota State Agricultural society at the close of the twenty-third annual session here. Prof. N. F. Hansen of Brookings, and A. J. Glidden of Hitchcock were elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

ORGANIZE TO BACK WILSON

His Supporters in Wisconsin Hold Meeting at the State Capital.

Brother of Senator La Follette Talks for New Jersey Man.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 19.—Leading Wisconsin Democrats who gathered here to organize the state for Woodrow Wilson gave loudest applause to the name of La Follette, but it came when William T. La Follette, brother of the senator, was introduced and made a vigorous speech for Governor ..ilson for president. William T. La Follette failed to mention any of the Republican presidential candidates, but praised W. J. Bryan and Woodrow Wilso.. as the original Progressives.

Addressing the delegates as "fellow Democrats," Mr. La Follette said: "We have the right to say fellow Progressive Democrats. I believe we were Progressive in advance of the Republicans who go by the name of Progressives.

"I believe that National Committeeman Davis voiced the sentiments of all of us this afternoon when he said that the great commoner, William J. Bryan, was the leader of the Progressive Democrats today, and I am proud to say that I have been in my feeble way a follower of that man. I was originally a Progressive Republican, but transferred my support of 1906, and say here that we have not had a Democratic platform since that was not Progressive."

Wilson Sure Leader.

Mr. La Follette said that in his opinion a man of deep mental caliber as Woodrow Wilson cannot fail to lead the Democratic party to victory in 1912.

The conference formed the Woodrow Wilson League of Wisconsin and elected the following officers: President, John A. Aylward, Madison; vice president, Robert B. Kirkland, Jefferson; secretary, Edward Lucknow, Baraboo; treasurer, Max Hottellet, Milwaukee; vice presidents also were elected for each congressional district.

Resolutions pased cite in part as follows:

"Whereas, We believe that the sentiment of the Democratic voters of Wisconsin is largely in favor of Woodrow Wilson's candidacy;

"Now, therefore, to the end that the choice of the people may not be defeated through the work of organizations already active;

"Be it resolved, That we organize a league to promote in a fair, open and generous way the candidacy of Governor Woodrow Wilson as the Democratic candidate of the United States, such league to be known as the 'Woodrow Wilson League of Wisconsin.'"

The Break With Harvey.

The break between Col. George B. Harvey, editor of Harper's Weekly, and Governor Wilson of New Jersey came up for extended discussion, but it was decided not to abandon the effort to nominate delegates for Wilson in this state. The Wilson-Harvey matter, however, it was shown at the conference, has already split the Democratic leaders in Wisconsin. While National Committeeman Joseph Davis of this city, has been and still is a Wilson man, State Chairman Frank E. Schutz, hitherto a Wilson man, who was said to have decorated himself with a Wilson pennant at the national committee meeting, has come out with a declaration that the break with Harvey will undoubtedly injure Wilson's previously good chances of carrying Wisconsin, and authorized a denial that he had been working for Wilson when at the national committee meeting.

MERCURY WILL RISE

A general rise in temperature in Duluth and throughout the Northwest with moderate southerly winds, is the prediction of the United States weather bureau for tonight and Saturday. The mercury will go up steadily today and then drop to about 5 or 10 below at the coldest period tonight and then go up again to zero or above, Saturday.

The coldest in Duluth last night was 20 below zero and the same temperature was observed at 7 o'clock this morning. By 10 o'clock the mercury had risen to 14 below and was still going up.

The whole Northwest experienced a cold wave and at some points the mercury was as low as 24 below.

and unquestioned loyalty.

Birth? A native of Washington, D. C., and by life and training admirably fitted to return to his birthplace and reside in that commodious residence, much outdone by the palaces of the Walsh's, Belmont's, Henderson's, Anderson's and others, simply known as the White House.

Knows Who's Who.

Age? Intellectually ripe; by heart and sympathies young; by activity just the right period between the period of ostentatious pedestrianism, and sober minded golf. A man old enough in fact to have studied the Democratic party in its days of power, and its nights of nothingness. Old enough to know what's what and who's who. The latter knowledge incidentally will be very useful to a Democratic president after the party has been out of office sixteen years. Still the Republicans are doing all possible to make it unnecessary to him by putting all the places now held by their people under civil service rules so that the only man who's who will be the man who's in office.

Political convictions? The primary conviction of Col. Watterson is that it is time for the Democrats to come back into their own. He holds to a party creed that transcends mere passing platforms. He believes that there is a book of Democratic doctrine that does not have to be reaffirmed every four years, and he can point to the disappearance of "16 to 1" and the silent fading away of "anti-imperialism" as evidences of the evanescence of the orchids that bloom gaily for awhile on the stout old tree, and drop off into dissolution leaving the parent trunk still sturdy.

Has Fought for Tariff Revision.

But when it comes to the real issue of the pending campaign—the tariff—who so able to defend it with voice and pen as "Marse Henry?" In over forty years of distinguished public service as editor and orator, he has fought the fight for real real tariff revision which the Democrats must promise next fall or be lost. Advancing years have not changed his convictions, nor have they mellowed a temper which needed no amelioration. They have but tempered the fervor of youth with the serenity of age, have made him more certain of the early victory of which he has so often been balked.

Kentucky is one of the states which have to be fought for. Who could offer greater assurances of victory there than Watterson? Amid the multiplicity of favorite sons, shall he of the "star-eyed goddess" not be counted? Democrats say they must carry New York. Who could help more to that end that the distinguished Kentuckian who annually discovers and proclaims in words of resounding poesy that New York is the greatest of all summer resorts. He even lives up to that assertion by spending his summers there, and his record suggests that with him as president, Manhattan Beach rather than the aristocratic rocks of Beverly, Mass., would be the summer capital.

A Good Bridge.

They talked of breaking down the prejudice against Southern candidates. Well, Marse Henry furnishes a good bridge for that no longer bloody chasm. Kentucky is a border, not a Southern state. It is not even solidly Democratic, having just parted with a Republican governor and being still represented by a Republican United States senator. If the irreconcilable should point out that Watterson served in the army of the Confederate states, let the answer be that he has spent many of the ripest years of his manhood in eulogizing Abraham Lincoln on the lecture platform. If he was against Bryan in 1896, he has been for him ever since, and is one of the choice and select body of literary gentlemen, headed by Woodrow Wilson, whom the Nebraskan has forgiven for that early error of judgment.

As a political prophet Watterson ranks supreme. Even now he faces fearlessly a Gargantuan banquet won from the New York World on a bet that this year would see Taft and Roosevelt at daggers drawn. Such prescience deserves better things than mere banquets. To a presidential nominee it would be invaluable. Suppose, for example, Clark had been able to foresee Folk two years ago, how different present day history would be.

In a day of favorite sons, the name of Henry Watterson should surely lead all.

Desire For Stock Reduction Before Inventory Prompts the Most Unusual Price Reductions. Note These Carefully

—As the days for stock-taking draw nearer greater effort is being made by each department to reduce lines to the lowest figure and to effect clean-up on all odd lots, all tag-ends and all things that are classified as winter merchandise.

—Special prices are proving the effective medium. Generally, the original cost has not been consdered in the making of sale prices, the one idea has been to name a figure that will spell immediate clearance. While many lots are too small to make advertising them practicable, yet the following listed items will give some idea of the great values to be had.

Practically Our Entire Stock of French & Convent Muslin Underwear Half Price

—A determined effort at reducing the line of French and convent made underwear to a minimum before the taking of stock prompts this most unusual offer. When the beauty of garments and the range of styles is considered, this is truly a most notable bargain event.

—Practically the entire stock enters into the sale. Some of it is somewhat soiled from display during the White Sale, but will come from the tub as fresh as new. The lot offers—

Chemises that were $1.25 to $12.50.....
Corset covers that were $1.49 to $7.50.....
Drawers that were $1.98 to $7.50.....
Gowns that were $2.98 to $15.....
Combinations that were $3.50 to $8.50.....
Skirts that were $2.98 to $18.50.....
Three-piece sets that were $14.50 to $32.50.....

Choice at Half Price

The Millinery Sale Offers Choice of Any Trimmed Hat in the House at 4.98

—A certain expedient to the quick and absolute clearance of all trimmed Winter millinery is this astonishing offer. The unrestricted choice of any trimmed hat includes silk, beaver, velvet, velour and fine felt shapes, variously trimmed, both street and dress shapes, hats with former prices ranging up to $18 and $20, now clearing at, choice, $4.98.

2.50 to $5 Untrimmed Shapes 98c

—Something like 500 shapes in this great lot. They are from fine felt, large and small sizes, all new to the season and in all the popular colors. Their former values range from $2.50 to $5, clearing Saturday at 98c.

Children's $1 to 2.75 Trimmed Hats at 19c

—With such pretty hats to be had for such low prices, every child in the city should have a new hat. The range of styles has nothing lacking for there are hats of felt, corduroy, velvet, velour, neatly trimmed in various ways, former values ranging from $1 to $2.75 offered for quick clearance Saturday at, choice, 19c.

—Remember to see the other tables of trimmed hats which offer—

Hats worth to $4 at.....98c
Hats worth to $7.50 at.....$2.48
Hats worth to $10 at.....$2.98

"Seconds" of Phoenix 50c Mufflers at 12½c

—Here's the biggest muffler-buying opportunity of the year—the biggest, we believe, that we have ever been able to offer.

—From the Phoenix Knitting Mills we secured a surplus of what is called "seconds" by the manufacturer because of a skipped stitch, a spot or some other hardly noticeable defect. To all intents and purposes these goods are as serviceable and as good as "firsts" would be. Classification, however, lowers their market value and so we got them at a figure less than cost to make.

—There are men's and women's styles in shades of gray, mode, blue and white, all "seconds" of the regular 50c quality, selling Saturday at 2 for 25c, each 12½c.

(First Floor, Central)

Sweater Coats ¼ Off

—For Saturday's selling we offer the entire stock of women's and misses' sweater coats, in plain and fancy weaves, full range of colors and sizes, all new models for prompt stock reduction, at ¼ Off.

(Sweater Dept., Second Floor.)

Pony Coats at Half

—In the Before Inventory clearance we have grouped a lot of pony coats, in various sizes, now selling at Half Price and Less.

Fur Sets and Pieces ⅓ to ½ Off

—The advantageous time for selecting furs is now, while the lots afford such splendid choosing in muffs, neckpieces or sets. Reductions are 1-3 to ½, and often more on the various kinds of peltry.

"Mussed" Tailored Waists Half Price

—For prompt disposal one table of tailored lenine waists that have become slightly soiled or mussed from display and which include the well-known "Geisha" brands, with former prices of $2 to $3.50 are clearing at Half Price.

(Apparel Salon, Second Floor)

First Showing of Spring 1912 Tailored Skirts

—Advance ideas in 1912 skirts are now on display. The newest modes and combinations that are to have great vogue for Spring are first to be shown in this interesting exhibition.

—There are pleasing styles of panamas, serges, poplins, new mixtures, white serges and black and white striped novelties.

—A new feature of this skirt line is that they may be made to your measure and to suit your individual taste. If you prefer the material of one style and like the cut of another, this can be had at very short notice and with entire satisfaction.

—You will find the exhibit interesting. Prices range from $5 to $12.

Before Inventory Reductions in China Store Command Immediate Attention

—There's hardly a woman in this section but what would be intensely interested in the many reductions in this great China Store; there's not a home in the Northwest but what can use some of these splendid wares.

—Just scores of thrifty housewives have attended this sale during the week and found it most helpful. The interest is principally among these lines—

Open Stock Dinnerware at One-Fourth Off.
All Cut Glass at One-Fourth Off.
All Marble Statuary at One-Third Off.
All Fancy China at One-Fourth Off.
All Hand Painted China at Half Price.
Bric-a-brac and Art Wares at Half Price.

(China Store, Third Floor)

Anent the January White Sale

—This great annual event continues with interest unabating. The sphere of its usefulness increases from day to day.

—Providing the choicest selections, the most dependable qualities and the lowest prices in things of white needed for the home or for personal wear is the function this notable event is ably performing.

—Special prices quoted heretofore maintained for Saturday. Many lots that have sold low have been replenished, many arrivals in new goods have been received and will be shown for the first time. It's important that you attend.

Boys' Suits and Overcoats Clearing at Half Price

—The Before Stock-Taking clearance in the boys' store takes on a determined expression Saturday when the entire stock of boys' suits and overcoats will be offered at Half Price.

—These suits and overcoats are tailored with expert care and skill from the best selected materials, and are made in the very nattiest styles.

Boys' Knickerbocker Suits

$5, $6. $6.50 and $7 suits, sizes 8 to 16— ½ Price

$7.50 and $8.50 suits, sizes 8 to 16, ½ Price

$9 to $12.50 suits, sizes 9 to 16— ½ Price

—One lot of about 30 well made suits, regular $3.98 values, closing at $2.

Boys' Overcoats

—Made from serviceable mixtures, some with storm and some velvet collars—

$5 and $6 values, sizes 10 to 16— ½ Price

$7.50 and $8.50 values. Sizes 4 to 12— ½ Price

$10 and $12.50 values, sizes 8 to 16— ½ Price

Boys' 89c Knickerbocker Trousers 75c

—One lot of boys' tweed and mixture trousers, knickerbocker styles, sizes 4 to 16, regular 89c values, clearing at 75c.

(Boys' Store, Third Floor)

New Books Added to Our Circulating Library

—This circulating library is proving one of the store's greatest services. It is the means for many a person "keeping up" on the good books of the day.

—Its usefulness is not alone in the very nominal fee charged for the rental of the book, but more in the fact that it is different from the usual library in that suffiicient number of copies are kept to insure your getting most any book you may wish.

—Just look into the proposition Saturday, and see it's helpfulness. Some of the new books just added are—

"Dawn O'Hara," by Edna Ferber.
"The Case of Richard Meynell," by Mrs. Humphry Ward.
"Mother," by Kathleen Norris.
"Mr. Wycherlys Wards," by L. Allen Harker.

PROBE FOR RELIGION

National Congress the Culmination of Men and Religion Campaign.

Taft, Bryan and Bryce to Speak on International Night.

Washington, Jan. 19.—While the general public is talking of the national political conventions, an important proportion of churchmen throughout the country are arranging for a national congress in Washington on April 19 to 24, which come of them are enthusiastic enough to say will mean more to the nation than either of the national political conventions.

These optimistic prognostications are based partly upon the size and representative character of the convention, which will bring thousands of men, representing all evangelical denominations, from all parts of the land; but more particularly upon the fact that this congress will present the first systematic general study of church efficiency that has yet been made. The experts who have been working in the city campaigns throughout the country are all preparing for this congress to make a showing of what they have discovered about the actual working of religion of a masculine sort in America.

Religious Insurgency.

Widespread publicity has been given to the statement that J. Pierpont Morgan and Wall Street are behind the men and religion movement, using its a palliative to make the public content with present conditions. The campaign leaders, when approached on this subject, smile grimly and say that before they get through they are likely to be espousing insurgency and Socialism. It is true that Mr. Morgan gave $5,000 toward the national fund, and other rich men have given generously. The bulk of the money used in this expensive campaign has been raised in the cities visited, each making its contribution to the national fund.

The teams of experts have done unconventional things in various cities. They have stood for new and progressive forms of church work. They have been practical to the extent of making many staid church workers gasp. That the enterprise really means business is indicated by the thorough surveys it has made of social, civic and religious conditions in the cities visited. Now the essence of all is to be presented at the Washington congress in April.

Biggest of Men's Congresses.

During the last five years there have been several great religious conventions of men, some numbering as many as 5,000 delegates. The present outlook is that the Washington congress will eclipse all these records. It is on a broader basis, making a wider appeal and drawing its delegates from a larger constituency. In nearly 100 cities of the continent, local committees of 100 laymen will have been at work during the last winter, and each of these will be the nucleus for a propaganda for the Washington congress. The completeness and efficiency of the machinery under the direction of the national men and religion forward movement is something entirely new in religion. It is enough to make the politicians envious.

This congress closes the men and religion campaign. The committee of ninety-seven, which has directed the winter's work will go out of existence. Some of the experts may accept invitations already received to go abroad to continue their service, but the American movement, as a national movement, will be finished. Its work will remain entirely with the local churches and local men's organizations. The stress which the men and religion leaders put on this would seem to indicate a rebuke to other movements which have ceased to move and have settled down into permanent organizations to be supported by the gifts of church people.

Test of United Campaigns.

Religious leaders do not conceal from one another the fact that this is a crucial time for concerted movements of the churches. There have been of late so many such going over the country that it has been admitted from the first that if this men and religion movement did not do for the country what other similar movements have failed to do, it would be hopeless to organize another national campaign in the churches.

Largely upon the showing made at the Washington congress, where the traveling teams of experts will make their reports and their presentation of the needs of the time, will the success of the men and religion movement be judged. At present, nobody is in a position to say how successful the city campaigns have been. In some cases they have been extraordinary successes. In others they have not produced the expected impression. It will need the April congress to sum up the whole.

Newspapers and Religion.

The scientific survey idea will dominate the Washington men and religion congress. It will by no means be a gathering merely to hear about work already accomplished. Commissions have been appointed upon all special lines of men and religion work, and these will report their findings in April. The revolutionary Edinburgh conference is the only other meeting in the history of the churches at all analogous to the April congress. In Washington, as at Edinburgh, the reports of the commissions will be printed and in the hands of the delegates so that they may be discussed from the floor.

One new commission, that bids fair to create a commotion, is made up of newspaper men and will investigate the subject of the relation of the churches to the newspapers. The study will touch every newspaper office in the land and every ministerial association. It will find out what the newspapers are doing to help the churches, and whether the churches are doing anything to help the newspapers. This question of how far the churches ought to go in using paid advertising, will be an important point discussed. The aim of this commission as of the others, is to find a broad scientific basis for its generalization instead of the saying so of any one man or group of men.

Spectacular Demonstrations.

There will be an international night at the congress when President Taft, Ambassador Bryce and a distinguished Canadian will speak. William J. Bryan has also accepted an invitation to speak at the congress. As many ambassadors, members of congress and other officials as possible will be grouped on the platform on this occasion. A great parade of men, followed by another of boys, will march down Pennsylvania avenue, and it is expected that the president will review them.

It is intimated from headquarters that such living themes as "The Man ward Side of the Social Evil," will be discussed at the congress. Because of the acute political situation in the country, there will be an endeavor on the part of politicians of all grades to identify themselves with this unique and potent concentration of the church sentiment of the country. The leaders are a canny crowd and they will see that the congress, like the movement, is not used to further any man's personal ends.

HITCHCOCK GETS NEAR PROPOSAL

Texas Women Invite the Only Cabinet Bachelor to Correspond.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Leap year has brought to the only bachelor of Taft's cabinet, Postmaster General Hitchcock, a proposal of marriage. The woman who is "willin'" writes from Houston, Tex.:

"As we have now reached the year 1912, and hearing from newspaper accounts you are a bachelor and have always been too busy to get married, I thought probably you might find time to take up a short correspondence with one who will be very much interested.

"Now, even if you have always been so busy, I trust you will find time and pleasure enough in answering this note when you realize that you are giving pleasure to some one else.

"Trusting to hear from you at your earliest convenience, I remain very truly," etc.

GREAT ARMY MANEUVERS.

New York Will Be Attacked and Defended By Troops.

Washington, Jan. 19.—New York city will be the scene of the greatest joint army maneuvers in its history next summer, if the plans of the militia division of the war department do not go astray. The scheme is contingent upon congress appropriating $1,135,000 for army and militia maneuvers in a number of places in the United States.

The Maneuvers planned for New York consist of a land attack of the city. The attacking forces will consist of the Tenth Cavalry (negro regiment), two battalions of the Third Field Artillery, the Fifth Infantry and the organized militia of New England.

The defense will consist of the First squadron of the Fifteenth Cavalry, the Third battalion of the Twenty-ninth Infantry, and the National Guard of New York and New Jersey. In addition to these troops, the Coast Artillery now stationed at forts in and around New York—the forts in New York's scheme of defense as charted by the army war college—will participate.

The maneuvers will be in charge of the commandant of the Department of the East.

BABY SLEEPS ALL NIGHT LONG

Mr. W. H. Longworth, Pastor, Orient Congregational Church, Orient, N. Y., writes:

"I just want to write a word of appreciation of your baby food. Our boy is one year old, weighs 25 lbs., and has never had a sick day since we began feeding him Mellin's Food. At three weeks of age his mother's milk did not seem to agree with him. So we began giving him Mellin's Food, and from that day he never kept us up one hour at night. He has not even ever had the colic."

Mrs. R. M. Jones, Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

"I am using Mellin's Food and our baby is gaining steadily in health and weight. Previous to using Mellin's Food I tried a number of other foods, but none of them agreed with him, he kept losing in weight all the time. I am happy to say that Mellin's Food has restored our baby to perfect health."

FAKE TALES OF DARING HEROISM

Captivate Twin Sisters and They Desert Families for Sparto.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 19.—Fascinating them with the wonderful stories he told them of his own heroism and his many escapes from death at the hands of villains, Frank Sparto induced Mrs. Mattie Yoerns and her twin sister, Mrs. Rachel Rugraft, aged 20, of 730 Columbus avenue, Alliance, Ohio, to leave their homes, husbands and children and fly with him. In company with his affinities he was captured here by the police.

The two sisters told a story of how Sparto reported to them he had acquired a fortune while prospecting in the West, and that they would never have to worry about the future if they would wait for a few days until his wealth arrived. Both women were heartily sick of their adventure.

In Sparto's suit case were a large number of photographs depicting him in the acts of using a stiletto, rifle and revolver, and subduing some would-be assassin or enemy. Accompanying the pictures was a big collection of "yellow back" literature and many endearing and romantic letters.

"Oh, this is awful," declared one of the twins; "what will our husbands say?"

"And our poor children, too," sobbed the other. "Just to think that all of the pretty things he told us about having everything we want is all a pack of lies."

"Oh, please let us go back home and we will never leave again," they both cried.

Because of admissions made by the sisters, Sparto will be turned over to the United States authorities with a view to seeing if he does not come under the regulation of the "white slave" law.

JUDGE SPARES AGED MAN.

Instead of Sending Him to Prison Finds Work.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 19.—The white hair and stooped shoulders of homeless Anton Leitman, 68, who pleaded guilty to burglary and larceny in criminal court, saved him from a penitentiary sentence.

"You have passed the age when there is any hope of reforming you," said Judge Babcock, to whom he pleaded guilty, "and you are too old to serve a penitentiary sentence. I have found you a job, and when you go out try and live so that men may respect the gray hairs which have saved you from prison."

THOUSANDS OF ROBINS

Congregate in Teacher's Yard to Be Fed During Cold.

Wesson, Miss., Jan. 19. — One of the attractive sights the cold snap has brought to Wesson is the assembling on one of the sidewalks in the main part of town of many thousand redbreasted robins.

The birds seemed to know exactly where to stop, as a pretty young lady, a music teacher, close to where they alighted on the ground, threw a lot of grain to them, and all day they congregate in her yard and play about her door.

As no one is allowed to shoot firearms in the corporate limits, the birds are perfectly safe.

Advertising has made "oaks" of many businesses that were simply acorns.

"HOW MAY A MAN INVEST HIS FIRST $1,000 AND STILL LIVE IN THE CITY?

All Variations of Farm Life Have Been Suggested By Contestants.

Field of City Investments Is Still Almost Untouched.

Among the most interesting letters received by the Contest editor of The Herald offering suggestions as to the best investment of the first $1,000 saved by a man of 35 years with a wife and two children, is one by H. C. Fesell of Thief River Falls, who advises the purchase of a Five and Ten-cent store.

This suggestion is a digression from the usual run, as it offers a possible solution of the problem, "How is a man to make a good income on his capital and still live in the city?" Mr. Fesell points out that a Five and Ten-cent store is not only a profitable business, but he shows how a man can make his home in the store building, doing away with high rents, and also furnish employment for his wife and children in helping to increase the family fortune.

A. Maude Kerr of Duluth thinks that a young man should ask the advice of his wife, as two heads are sometimes better than one. C. W. Carson of Embarrass, Minn., says that the best investment is to purchase a home. As every young man cannot go into farming, suggestions along this line are especially invited. The variations of the farm idea have been about exhausted, while the many city investments have been almost entirely neglected.

Following are some of the others received today:

Ella Hirshheimer, 2212 West Sixth street, Duluth: Let me give my advice about using the $1,000.

Buy a piece of land by the new Hutchinson and Morris Thomas road. Pay $500 down on the first payment and $5 a month afterward. Build a living house for $200. Buy a cow for $40 and some chickens. Build a log camp for them.

When spring comes move to the place and plant vegetables and potatoes on a strip of land. Your income should be $1,500 and not less than $1,200 a year. In a few years you will be able to build a new house and buy your own auto. You cannot find any better way to invest money.

John M. Laven, 305 East First street: As to what I would do with my first $1,000. As $1,000 is not very much money and the first $1,000 must certainly be hard earned money, it would be foolish to invest in something that would be gambling. I would buy forty acres of farm land with house and buildings on it; buy a team of horses, four or five cattle, about the same number of pigs, buying everything on time, or at least the farm, paying $500 down and the rest on yearly payments. In the course of a few years I could buy more land. After five years it would be worth three times what I paid for it. I would always be working for myself and family. Could I be happier or more contented? At any time I could change my position. I am not a farmer, but who do the president and all other officials say they are going to work for at election time if it isn't the farmer?

Wallace Rodney, 414½ East Eighth street, Duluth: If I had $1,000 I would buy a neat little cottage for $2,000, pay my $1,000 down, put an ad in the rent column of The Herald and with the rent received would pay the balance due on the cottage.

Plessa Jussi, Kettle River, Minn.: I'd advise the man with $1,000 to invest his money in town site lots in Kettle River, Minn.

C. W. Carlson, Embarrass, Minn.—For a man who has saved up $1,000 at hard labor the best investment I can thing of is to buy a home. There is nothing nicer in the world to own than a comfortable home.

It doesn't pay to pay rent year in, year out. A fellow might as well buy a home and pay part of the $1,000 and the rest on the installment plan. The same amount which he has been paying rent, he could pay on installments for his home, and will be money ahead.

When a man has a home and everything squared up, if he should happen to lose his job, he knows where to go to, his home of course.

Another thing, if he should happen to need money bad, he can get it on his property.

It is the best, safest investment a man can get, is a comfortable home for his wife and children.

James M. McDonnell, Cloquet, Minn.—If I had $1,000 I would invest it in a dairy and poultry farm. I would buy five acres of good land and build a cow barn and a chicken coop.

I would keep twenty cows and 200 or 300 chickens, which, if they were propertly taken care of, would yield a man a good living and a substantial bank account after the land and buildings were paid for.

You could build a home on the land if you wished and live with your family there or live in the city and hire a boy to take care of your farm.

Harold Shadduck, McIntosh, Minn.—My advice to the man with $1,000 is that he invest in land. Oklahoma is a promising place, and a place where a man with $1,000 has a good chance to get ahead.

The new Indian lands have lately been opened and by a little looking around he might hit upon a good piece of land. I think land is the safest and best place to invest your money.

H. C. Fesell, Thief River Falls, Minn.—Start a 5 and 10-cent store in a lively farming or manufacturing town. Invest $500 in stock, place $400 in the bank on interest and use the remaining $100 far ready cash for opening up the store. Rent a building in a good location far $20 a month.

Use the back part for a living room for your wife and two children. They will attend to the store duties while you are at your meals. The advantages of a 5 and 10-cent store are these: Your investment is small; your profits large and the sales are strictly cash. Besides there are no perishable goods to take care of and no book accounts or outside help required.

Now, to become great in business and to make success of it you must inherit good judgment and a foresight; be careful and attentive, be honest in your dealings, as honesty is one of the real secrets of business success. Thousands fail each year because they do not appreciate its value. Before you accept an undertaking you must know that you fulfill it. Better refuse a large undertaking than to carry it through.

In running your store do not overstock, but buy as your business increases. By turning your stock over twice a month you make more money. Do your buying from a reliable mail order house. No fixtures are necessary in this business.

In 1911 the owner of a 5 and 10-cent store in our town paid $2,500 cash for a new home. His business has been a success and as the town has grown he now has two 5 and 10-cent stores. Wishing you all kinds of luck.

John G. Kantsch, R. F. D. No. 2, Alpena, Mich.—This is what I did with my first $1,000. I bought twenty acres of land fourteen miles from town, a light team of horses, three cows, cream separator, etc. This twenty acres I divided into four fields, one field into vegetables such as early and late potatoes, beans, corn, etc., another into oats, one into hay and one into pasture. These crops I plant in rotation, after vegetables the oats and seed down to hay, cut the hay one year and then pasture it a year, the next year it will be in good shape for vegetables again. By farming this way my land never runs out. I have plenty of feed for my little team and three cows and sell on an average of $400 worth of vegetables and butter every year.

One thousand dollars does not go very far in any kind of business unless a man has a business training and then there are failures. I call good farming a business, anyway it gives me much pleasure to be my own boss and manager. It is more pleasure than it is work.

A. Maude Kerr, 627 East Fourth street, Duluth—My advice to the man of 35 years, with a wife and two children and $1,000, is to start your own thinker going, do some thinking for yourself, also some figuring. Keep a good lookout for opportunities and profit as much as possible by others' experience. You should know what line of business you are best adapted to, whether farming, merchandising or mechanics. You may be able to put what experience you have had working for others in use for yourself in some line of similar effort.

Have confidence in your own ability and judgment. Do not take too great risks for sake of large returns. You cannot afford to do so. Read the daily papers, get as well posted as you can and if you are unable to find a good investment for your $1,000 and your own time, in or near this "Zenith City of the Unsalted Sea," you had better stay with your present position and loan your $1,000 o some one on good security or purchase some good dividend paying stock or bond.

If you are unable to find an opportunity for yourself, with youth and 1,000 pulnks on your side. It is very douobtful whether you could make a success in a place or business selected for you by some one else.

Get busy, consult your wife about it. Two heads are sometimes better than one. You are quite likely to succeed and have thesatisfaction of doing so without the help or advice of others.

"I'VE GOT THE FIRST $1,000; WHAT SHALL I DO WITH IT?"

For the second of its series of contests The Herald has an interesting problem which comes to it in the form of a letter that explains itself:

To the Editor of The Herald:

We have often been told—at least we used to be—by rich men that the hardest work on the road to wealth is to get the first $1,000.

I've got that sum now—saved it out of my salary during ten years. Who will tell me how to go the rest of the way? How shall I invest it? Shall I go into business, and what kind, and how?

I am 35 years old, with a wife and two small children, and have a fair position with a living salary, but that's about all. Probably I could, if nothing happened, save another $1,000 in another ten years, but with the cost of living going up faster than salaries—and I can't expect mine to go much higher than it is—it is going to be harder. If I am ever going to start out for myself and gain independence or wealth, now is the time for me to begin, while I am strong and healthy and young.

What shall I do with myself and my $1,000—and my family?

Here's a real problem, a vital one that will interest everybody; and The Herald hopes to see a large and interesting variety of answers. It hopes, too, that men who have traveled the road that lies before this young inquirer will take part in the discussion. The prizes will, of course, be no temptation to them; but this is a subject of wide interest, and they should be glad to contribute their wisdom and experience to its solution.

Write out your answer, limit it to 300 words, put your name and address at the top of the sheet, write on one side of the paper only, and send it to the Contest Editor of The Herald before Feb. 1.

For the best answer to this young man's problem The Herald will give a prize of $10.

For the next best answer The Herald will give a prize of $5.

For the third best answer The Herald will give a prize of $3.

Glorious Hair For Women

Your Money Back says Boyce Drug Store if PARISIAN SAGE isn't the Most Delightful Hair Dressing, Grower, Beautifier and Dandruff Remover you ever saw.

Try it ladies on that fair and square basis. Surely you don't want to experiment with common commercial tonics, when a large bottle of PARISIAN SAGE costs but 50 cents.

There is a reason for the phenomenal sale of PARISIAN SAGE in the United States since it was first introduced into America, and the sales this year are breaking all records.

And the reason is plain to all: PARISIAN SAGE does just what it is advertised to do.

There is no reason whatever why any man or woman should fail to take advantage of the above generous offer.

But one thing that has made PARISIAN SAGE so famous is its peculiar power to turn the harsh, unattractive hair that many women possess into luxuriant and radiant hair in a short time. Women of refinement the country over are using it and it never disappoints.

Sold by leading dealers everywhere and in Duluth by Boyce Drug Store for 50 cents a large bottle. The girl with Auburn hair is on every carton.

"TURNED COPPER"

Louis Johnson "Tipped Off" Counterfeiter to the Police.

Tells Court of Meeting the "Mixer" and Passing Bad Coins.

Louis Johnson, aged 30, who "turned copper" and "tipped off" the police to the alleged counterfeiting operations of Edward Paul and Sam Polinsky, took the stand this morning in federal court to testify against Polinsky, who is on trial for counterfeiting.

Johnson has a record. He admitted it in his testimony. He came to Duluth, he said from Minneapolis. He first met Polinsky, he claimed on Dec. 8 last year in the Saratoga pool room on West Superior street.

Johnson claims that between Dec. 8 and the time of the arrest of Paul and Polinsky, he had met Polinsky at the pool rooms nearly every day. On or about Dec. 10 or 11, Johnson claims that Polinsky showed him a counterfeit $5 gold piece.

"We next met on the 16th," testified Johnson, "and Polinsky took me down and introduced me to the 'mixer.' I found his name Edward Paul. On the 18th, Polinsky and I took a street car from the Lenox hotel corner to the blacksmith shop. The shop was on West Michigan street."

Johnson claimed that Edward Paul and Julius Paul, brothers, were talking in a language which he could not understand in the rear of the shop. Edward Paul then showed him some counterfeit coins and Johnson claims that Polinsky, Paul and himself then went to Superior for the purpose of passing off some coins to get some good money with which to buy a ticket to Minneapolis.

Johnson testified that Paul gave him a revolver and asked him (Johnson) if he would use it if occasion presented itself. Johnson told Paul that he would. Johnson told of passing the money at three or four different places. Paul gave him the money, he said, and some of it was passed in the presence of Polinsky.

On cross-examination, Attorney Marx, representing Polinsky, asked Johnson if he had been promised any immunity from punishment by testifying in the case for the United States. He said that he had not. He was also asked if he had been arrested for any offense at the Saratoga hotel. Johnson denied that he had.

Mrs. H. Cohen, who with her husband, conducts a confectionery store at Fifth avenue west and First treet, testified that a young man answering in part to Polinsky's description, had passed a counterfeit coin at their store. She could not identify Polinsky positively, however, stating that "he looked to me like that young man."

CHAIRMAN VERIFIES MAKOWSKY'S STATEMENT.

That neither Alderman Makowsky nor Alderman Miller came out for or against the bond issue at the meeting of the Hillside Improvement club Wednesday night is the statement of A. J. Anderson, who was chairman of the meeting and heard both aldermen speak.

According to a report in the morning paper Thursday, both men are credited with having expressed opposition to the proposition. The report is said to have been based on a statement of Arthur Fider, secretary of the club. Both aldermen in last night's Herald, denied the report, and Mr. Fider replied that his report was correct.

Mr. Anderson being a neutral party, was questioned today and confirmed the statement of Mr. Makowsky.

"Alderman Makowsky did not even mention the bond issue," said Mr. Anderson. "As for Alderman Miller, he did mention the subject, but took no stand either for or against it. He said that he was to remain neutral, but would try to carry out the wishes of the voters."

WANT BUSINESS MEN OF CITY TO HEAR FORGAN'S TALK

Maj. H. V. Eva, secretary of the Commercial club, is making a special effort to get a large attendance of business men for the address of David R. Forgan, the Chicago banker, at the club rooms Tuesday evening, Jan. 23. The address will be on "Monetary Reform," and will treat the subject in a general way. A dinner will be given Mr. Forgan by the club at 6:30 p. m.

In view of the pending government legislation on the monetary system there is an increasing interest being shown in that subject and it will continue to grow until the problems have been settled.

In connection with the lecture, Maj. Eva is handing out a circuar issued by the Citizens' League of Minnesota, which is affiliated with the National Citizens' league, treating on the monetary system and conditions.

The purpose of this organization is monetary reform. It has been organized within the last few weeks and contains many prominent men on its roster and official staff. F. A. Patrick of Duluth is one of its vice presidents.

The principles and aims of the league follow:

Co-operation, not dominant centralization, of all banks by an evolution out of our clearing-house experience.

Protection of the credit system of the country from the domination of any group of financial or political intrests.

Independence of the individual banks, national or state, and uniform treatment in discounts and rates to all banks, large or small.

Provision for making liquid the sound commercial paper of all the banks, either in the form of credits or bank notes redeemable in gold or lawful money.

Elasticity of currency and credit in times of seasonal demands and stringencies, with full protection against over-expansion.

Legalization of acceptances of time bills of exchange in order to create a discount market at home and abroad.

The organization of better banking facilities with other countries, to aid in the extension of our foreign trade.

GORDON AND LEE AT LONG PRAIRIE

Two Candidates for Governor to Speak at Editors' Banquet.

Long Prairie, Minn., Jan. 19.—The fifth annual business meeting of the Northern Minnesota Editorial association began here today and will conclude tomorrow. The program of the business sessions includes discussion of the following topics: "Foreign Advertising," "Piano Contests," "The Front Page and the Value of Headed Articles," "The Cost System," "How Can We Best Build Up Our Subscription Lists?" Each topic will be in the hands of a well-known publisher. This evening the citizens of Long Prairie will give the visiting newspaper men a banquet, at which Rudolph A. Lee, publisher of the Long Prairie Leader, will be toastmaster.

Among those who will respond to toasts will be Sam Y. Gordon, a member of the association and a recently announced candidate for governor. The fact that Long Prairie is the home town of W. E. Lee, another aspirant on the ticket, adds to the interest. Mr. Lee will also speak at the banquet. While the association puts the ban on politics in its meetings, yet there is no doubt that there will be a great sufficiency of political talk on the side.

Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern railway, was invited to the banquet, but a letter has been received regretting his inability to attend.

"SPOT MAP" OF THE CITY

Health Commissioner H. E. Webster is planning to get out a "spot may" of the city for use in caring for contagious diseases.

The idea is to have the map show at a glance the locations of contagious diseases inside the city limits. The map would be made in sections, on a large scale and stretched on the walls of the health department. Different colored pins would be used for the various contagious diseases and placed on the map whenever a case was reported. When the patient had been discharged the pin would be removed. In this manner it would be very easy to see in a minute just how much and what kind of sickness the city has, as well as its location. It is believed that it would prove a valuable aid to the department.

Controling apparatus of a new aeroplane is so arranged that it can be operated by either of two persons, seated side by side.

The various Greek letter fraternities of America have 300,000 members today in the colleges and universities of the land. They are all derived from a secret fraternity, organized in 1750 by the students of William and Mary college at Williamsburg, Va., and called the Flat Hat club. Among the members of the F. H. C. were St. George Tucker, Thomas Jefferson and Edmund Randolph.

BOARD SPENT $105,667

The total expenditures of the board of public works for last year were $105,667.63, or $3,790.61 in excess of its available funds, according to the report by R. Murchison, clerk of the board.

This is considered an excellent showing in view of the fact that the board started the year with a deficit of $13,000, which had to be paid out of its funds, which totaled $101,877.02 for the year. Of this sum $27,703.47 came from the street maintenance and repair fund; $19,152.89 from the wheelage tax fund, and the balance from the tax levy and miscellaneous sources.

The heaviest expenditures for the year were for repairing streets and alleys, amounting to $24,234.95, while $20,195.08 was spent for cleaning streets and alleys. The board did considerable work in all parts of the city the last season in street repair work. Some highways which had not been touched for years were put into condition which will add several years to their lives.

The other expenditures of the year were as fololws: Repairing walks, $6,468.85; repairing sewers, etc., $5,207.26; repairing viaducts and bridges, $4,197.22; cleaning gutters and sewers, $5,840.83; removing ice, $9,885.67; chain gang, $2,567.33; salaries, $10,440; miscellaneous, $16,702.12.

A HOLE FOR A HOLE.

National Magazine: Little Donald had a penny given him to buy whatever he pleased. His three years of dignity thus had a new impulse thrust upon him. He decided to visit a bakeshop, and a doughnut was his choice. In a lusty voice he called for one and immediately passed the penny to the shopkeeper.

"See here, my boy," said the man, "this penny has a hole in it. I don't know as I can take that penny."

"But the doughnut has a hole in it," Donald responded, and he got the doughnut.

SWIFT PACE FOR RIVALS

American Manufacturers Are Starting More Plants in Ontario.

Anguish Reigns at the Customs Houses in Canadian Cities.

Toronto, Ont., Jan. 19.—It begins to look as if American capital has acquired a decided liking for the province of Ontario. It is now coming in barrels, greatly to the happiness of Ontario people, who see as a result the eerction of large industries and the employment of many men. During the late lamented reciprocity campaign the future flow of United States capital was a much discussed question, and this province displayed a special interest in it for the reason that a large, if not the largest, share of these investments comes to Ontario. What would or would not have happened had the agreement been adopted has become one of the companion queries to the forever unanswerable question in the matter of the age of Ann. It is, however, a fact vouched for by government officials, that since September the agents of a number of thriving American industries havo been nosing about Ontario, seeking sites.

The automobile industry is said to be especially concerned, with the machinery and implement business a close second. The Oliver Chilled Plow company, an American concern, began the establishment of a Canadian plant in Hamilton last year. It has been said that this concern made no substantial alteration in its Ontario plans during the interval when reciprocity was a possibility. It had a Canadian charter with an authorized capital of $1,000,000. It has within the last few days obtained from the state department supplementary letters patent, authorizing an increase in capital up to $2,500,000. The company, it is stated, intends to do a good deal of its export business from the Ontario plant. Then there is the advent of the Yale lock people with a new industry for the town of Saint Catherines. Toronto also gets something. The plant of the American Abell company has been sold to the M. Rumley company of Laporte, Ind., for a couple of millions and will be very largely extended, the capacity being practically doubled. The only people who seem to regard these moves with any disfavor are the Ontario manufacturers, who are led to the conclusion that the pace will be fast.

Hard on Customs Clerks.

Anguish reigns at the Toronto custom house, as in other custom houses along Lake Ontario. The Toronto case is typical. The new broom is in operation. The broom is regarded unanimously by the custom house hands as highly objectionable, as involving hardship and as interfering with the liberty of the subject. It has to do with hours. In the golden days, even up to now, it was the rule in the custom houses to conduct business on such principles as would least interfere with the comfort and limit the leisure of the employes, from the collector down to the elevator man. The result has been that many merchants have been moved to great feats of eloquence. They have uttered sulphuric expressions of rage. The point was that when an invoice calling for some slight labor on the part of the customs clerk was presented at the wicket close to the hour of 4 o'clock, the holder of the invoice would be sweetly told to go away back and return on the morrow. Four o'clock has been the closing hour for public business at these offices since the ancient days, and the refusal of clerks to take in invoices which would give them work after that hour has been a great inconvenience and at times has meant a financial loss to merchants. Now, however, orders have been received from John Dowsley Reid, the new minister of customs, requiring the customs officials to look after the business of any man who gets into the offices before 4 o'clock, even if the labor involved lasts far into the twilight hour. The gloom among the officials is in striking contrast to the joy observable among the business men who have been the sufferers.

Scarcity of Ministers.

A scarcity of would-be ministers is causing some concern among leaders in the Methodist church. The supply of raw material appears to have suffered a severe decline, and churchmen are setting themselves to a study of the situation. The executive of the mission board has held a meeting in Toronto and has decided on the appointment of a commission to go into the question. The fear has arisen that the salary problem may be at the bottom of the famine, in which case it will be necessary to increase the emolument.

The merger movement has struck the natural gas districts of Western Ontario. Negotiations have been quietly proceeding for a consolidation of the various gas interests and agreements have been entered into whereby a new concern, to be called the Union Natural Gas company, takes over something like a score of gas franchises in the counties of Essex, Kent and Lambton. The new concern will have a capitalization of $3,000,000 and will conduct its business from offices in Niagara Falls.

Pure Water For Toronto.

After many and great tribulations the people of Toronto are now for the first time within the memory of man, drinking pure water. People hesitate to mention it lest the spell be broken. The filtration plant built on Toronto Island at a cost of $750,000 has been put in operation. The leisurely way in which the plant was built while the city water abounded in all those things which send water-drinkers to the cemeteries, caused many heartburnings and sundry furious protests. The long job has at last been finished and Lake Ontario water is passing through the beds. Analysts, have tested the result and their verdict is one of acquittal. But, and it is this but which causes certain misgivings in the Toronto breast, the water is stil beng doped. In other words it is still being chlorinated after filtration, the object being to free the fluid from the bacteria which may have wiggled throug hthe filtration plant. And the health experts offer no hope of immediate relief from the need of using the bleaching powder.

Wanted! A Better Digestion

If you have indigestion, gas on the stomach, sour stomach, acid stomach, belching or heartburn; if you cannot eat substantial, nourishing food without distress, your stomach is weak. As a great deal of your comfort, happiness and success depends upon a good digestion, you want to be able to eat anything your appetite craves. Don't try to get relief by cutting down your diet to a starvation basis but strengthen your stomach until you can eat good, nourishing food. What you want is a better digestion, not a poorer diet.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People act directly on the stomach, purifying the blood that strengthens it and toning up the nerves that control it. A trial of these pills will make you hungry and strengthen your stomach so that you can eat what you want without distress. Under this treatment you will become stronger and healthier because you will get full nourishment from your food.

Mrs. G. W. Eggleston, of No. 412 East Fifth street, Topeka, Kans., says: "In my case stomach trouble seemed to follow a run-down condition. What food I ate did not seem to digest but felt like a lump in my stomach. My stomach would bloat with gas and was sour all of the time. I was so sore about my body that I could not bear to have my clothes touch me. Later I began to be troubled with rheumatism which settled in my limbs. They were swollen and at times my arms were so stiff that I could not raise them. There was a dull, aching pain through the small of my back and for weeks I could not bend over. Nothing seemed to help me, although I tried many remedies, until I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. A few boxes helped me and I continued with them until completely cured of both the stomach trouble and rheumatism. I am now able to do my work and am in good health."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have cured thousands of cases of stomach trouble. These results are the strongest reason why you should try them. If you are suffering from any form of stomach trouble, let us send you our free booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat." A postal card request will bring it.

Ge sure that every box you buy bears this trade mark. The genuine are never sold loose, by the dozen or hundred.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

CO-OPERATION OF NORTHWEST

In Development and Settling of Country Urged By J. J. Hill.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 19.—In a statement issued from the offices of the Northwestern Development league, James J. Hill, chairman of the board of the Great Northern railroad, advocates the strengthening of the organization, co-operation of the Northwestern states and establishment of a central colonization or immigration bureau to aid in the development and settling of the American Northwest. The statement from Mr. Hill is a powerful indorsement of the movement started in Helena, Mont., last May, when the Northwestern Development league was organized.

"The states of this league spend enough separately on immigration projects to bring in several times as many people each year as they gain; but a considerable portion of it is devoted to enticing settlers from one of them to another," says Mr. Hill. The states in the league are Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and the territory of Alaska.

Mr. Hill goes on to say: "A most desirable result of this confederation would be the establishment of a common immigration agency, with resources sufficient for a comprehensive canvass of possible settlers, but absolutely impartial as to their location anywhere within this zone between the Mississippi and the Pacific, substitute one central colonization bureau for seven, and every dollar expended will do the work that five do now.

"This association of seven states and our great undeveloped territory comes into existence in an interesting way. The Northwest Development league is not the creation of the promoter's art. It is not a product of either ambition or jealousy. It is a grouping of business entities having work in common which can be accomplished better united than divided."

FIFTH SPOUSE IS JOLLY BOHEMIAN

According to Margaret Fauser Who Says She Wants Divorce.

New York, Jan. 19.—Mrs. Margaret E. Fauser, who has a mania for marrying, according to her fifth husband, Gustave M. Fauser, a wealthy artist and designer, was awarded an additional $100 in the supreme court to prosecute her suit for separation against the artist.

According to Mrs. Fraser, her husband has an income of $15,000 a year. She was married to him soon after she had divorced her fourth husband, the expenses of the divorce being borne by her present husband. He also allowed her $5,000 a year for clothes, she declares.

Fauser's love for the "gay life of the student world" is blamed by the wife for the artist's desertion. She also charges that he had her placed in an insane asylum. Mrs. Fauser got rid of her first three husbands by divorcing them. The fourth divorced her, and Fauser, who holds the record for living on friendly terms with her—six years—is to be separated legally if she has her way.

Fauser asserts that she has lived only seven years with all her husbands. He furnished the following list:

William Anderson of Topeka, Kan., in 1890, with whom she lived one year; Dr. William Wheeler of Kansas City, six months; Walter Kountze of Pittsburg, Pa., four months, and Charles Miller of Pittsburg, Pa., two months.

Mrs. Fauser accuses the last husband of attempting to make love to her 19-year-old daughter, Ernestine, who is in a New Jersey convent. Fauser's attorneys are endeavoring to establish that the complainant is of unsound mind.

GOVERNOR SAYS HE IS ASTOUNDED

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 19. — Aghast at an incident which he says recently took place in the yard of a negro school house, where a handsome white woman was observed with her arms around negro children, her pupils, Governor Col. L. Blease, in his annual message to the legislature, commands that it pass an act prohibiting any white person from teaching in negro schools, or teaching negro children. Continuing, he says: "We boast of the fact that we have no social equality in South Carolina, yet, white people are teaching in negro schools, are affiliating with the pupils, and teaching them that they are as good as the white people, and are o'clock, even if the labor involved installing into their heads ideas of social equality. Not long ago a white woman, and a good looking one, was seen walking on a negro school grounds with one arm around a negro boy and the other around a negro girl. What do you expect to come of this kind of conduct? Stop it, and stop it now."

Governor Blease also recommends a law to prevent the negroes from having secret societies, saying negroes who commit crimes are given assistance in escaping, and money is raised to pay lawyers if the one charged with a crime is a member of the lodge. Therefore, such lodges should be disbanded.

SURE WAY TO CURE CONSTIPATION

Many apparently simple things are difficult of perfection, and only those who have suffered long from constipation know how hard it is to find a genuine cure. But it can be had. No matter how discouraging your experiences have been in the past, promise yourself to make another attempt at a cure. This time try DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN. There must be genuine merit to a remedy that thousands endorse as a positive cure for constipation, and thousands in all parts of the country are endorsing DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN. One gentleman as old as 87 asserts he has had no relief until he took this remedy. Buy a bottle of it yourself and see what it will do for you. You know by this time that salts, cathartic pills or powders, waters whether manufactured or natural, will at best only do temporary good. So why not try a scientific preparation? DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN is scientifically compounded. It is designed to act mildly and gradually so that in time all medicines can be dispensed with and nature will again do its work. It is a tonic laxative and has a strengthening effect on the stomach and bowels. You will feel better in every way for taking it, and you will get the permanent relief that you have so long sought. This is not an idle assertion, but is based on the experiences of thousands of people who, in the quarter of a century that this remedy has been compounded, have voluntarily written the facts to Dr. Caldwell. It is the best remedy obtainable for constipation and all stomach, liver and bowel troubles. Because of its pleasant taste, mildness and freedom from griping, it is also the laxative best suited to the needs of children.

Dr. Caldwell:
I have tried your sample bottle that you sent me and it seemed to help so I went to the drug store and got a 50c bottle. I think it is the best thing in the world for constipation. I have been bothered with it for years and never got anything to cure before I used your Syrup Pepsin. Miss Marie Yager,
Marinette, Wis.

Dr. Caldwell:
I received your free sample of Syrup Pepsin and found it to be all right. I took two doses of it and it helped me so much more than any medicine I have ever taken. I have a little grandson about ten months old and he was constipated. I gave him some of the Syrup Pepsin and he has been all right ever since.
J. P. Crider,
Kimball, Minn.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

MR. W. J. PULLEN

Dr. Caldwell:
I received a sample bottle of your Syrup Pepsin about three months ago. I took it and have bought a dollar bottle from my druggist. It has cured me of a six-year case of stomach trouble. I am so well pleased that I am cured and I will recommend your Syrup Pepsin to all sufferers. I am a railroader and am out in all kinds of weather. You have the best stomach remedy that I know of, and I have tried about a dozen. Feel like a new man.

TICKET BUYER DECIDES FUTURE OF THE DRAMA.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Fola La Follette, prominent actress and daughter of United States Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, delivered an address on "Insurgency in the Drama" to a theater filled with members of the Chicago Drama league.

In her address Miss La Follette attacked the present "star system," and regretted the existence of the combined booking and producing manager.

"Insurgency in the drama is closely allied to insurgency in politics," said Miss La Follette, "for the actor, like the politician, works before the people. The drama is a great democracy and every box office is a ballot box. Each time you purchase a theater ticket you cast a vote for what the future drama will be. If you patronize a vulgar play you perpetuate another vulgar play for next year."

Her Own Hat the Obstruction.

London Standard: A woman in a Vienna theater came out after the first act and asked to have the price of the ticket refunded, on the ground that having complied with the request to remove her hat she had held it on her knees and thus entirely obstructed her own view of the stage.

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is in reality an internal inflammation—a diseased condition of the blood cells which supply the nourishment and strength necessary to sustain our bodies. Uric acid, an irritating, inflammatory accumulation, gets into the circulation because of physical irregularities, and then instead of nourishing and invigorating the body, the blood irritates and inflames the different nerves, tissues, muscles and joints, because of its impure, acrid condition. The pains and aches and other disagreeable and dangerous symptoms of Rheumatism can never be permanently cured until every particle of the cause is driven from the blood. S. S. S. does this because it is a perfect blood purifier. It goes down to the very bottom of the trouble, purifies and cleanses the circulation, invigorates the blood, and completely drives Rheumatism from the system. Plasters, liniments, soothing lotions, etc., may be used for the temporary relief and comfort they bring, but a cure cannot be effected until S. S. S. has removed the cause. It frees the blood of every impurity and makes it a rich, health sustaining fluid, to bring permanent relief and comfort to those who suffer with Rheumatism Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.

Christie MacDonald sings two numbers from her famous success "The Spring Maid"

This dainty and tuneful Viennese opera has captivated America and in it Miss MacDonald, as the Princess Bosena (familiarly called the Spring Maid), has made the biggest success of her career.

Her two greatest song hits are the "Day Dreams" and "Two Little Love Bees", and naturally she is the best one to sing these charming numbers for Victor audiences.

OUR POLICIES ARE BELATED

Woodrow Wilson Explains Rise of the Progressive Sentiment.

Laws Lag Almost Generation Behind Our Business Conditions.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 19.—Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey closed a day's visit to Detroit with an address at the Light Guard armory last night. His topic was "Belated Policies," and he said, in part:

"A few yearse ago, a few months ago, it was a matter of common remark that the field of our politics was singularly confused and disordered; party lines everywhere broken, or breaking; party labels losing their significance; party combinations threatening to break and reform themselves. But in recent months the scene has become more ordered and definite. Every careful observer now can perceive that certain great, definite, calculable forces are at work, the character of which is being more and more plainly disclosed, their movement and direction more and more clearly defined.

Baseless Fears.

"To many this changing scene has seemed ominous. They have feared that the foundations of our politics were threatened with disturbance. They have thought that they saw in what was happening about them a peril to business and to all the fixed conditions of our life. Some had even fancied that these conditions had been artificially produced; they have thought that they discovered in them the artful work of demagogues and disturbers of the public peace; of men who wished to produce unsettled conditions and set the various elements of society at loggerheads with one another.

"They have thought that irresponsible agitators were producing these conditions in order to accomplish their own reckless purposes. But no one who views the scene calmly and in the large; no one who sees it steadily and sees it whole, can really believe that these great, almost universal movements of opinion, have been produced in any such fashion. I do not see how anybody who has really studied and comprehended the situation of the country and the actual conditions of politics, can look forward to the outcome with anything but hope and satisfaction.

Not Accidental.

"The great progressive sentiment which now more and more dominates the country, and only awaits its opportunity to determine the policies of the government, is not accidental, is not merely a passing phase expressive of the temperament of an eager people. It is a thing that has arisen steadily by natural and inevitable force, like the tides of the ocean.

"The most profitable thing that we can do, in order to reassure ourselves, is to ask why this great body of progressive opinion has grown so strong; why is has spread to almost every part of the country. The affects are unmistakable enough. The history of the present administration has illustrated them at every turn. We have seen an honest and patriotic man in the presidential chair struggling with the rising power, involved in greater and greater difficulties, because he did not understand that power, or comprehend the great purposes that lay behind it, and yet unable to curb it and seeming, in spite of himself, to increase its volume by the very acts attempted to check it. What has happened? What is it that the standpat ranks of the Republican party vaguely battle with? Why is the country attempting to break away from the old party formulas, and blaze a new path for itself in politics under a changed leadership, and by new measures of reform?

Our Laws Lag Behind.

"Because within less than a generation all the economic conditions of life in this country have changed almost beyond recognition, while our politics have all but stood still. There has been much controversy. There has been loud shouting as if upon a field of battle. Some measures of reform there have been, but there has been no steady, consistent force to give them their full effect, to guide them, to adapt them to conditions all along the line. The sum of the matter is that our life has changed and that our policies are belated. Our laws lag almost a generation behind our business conditions and our political exigencies.

"Those who insist upon undertaking the adjustment, those who argue that our laws should be brought up to date—to the date marked upon the calendar of our economic advance and change, are called radicals, not because they would change the facts, but because they would adjust the law to the facts.

The Air Grows Clearer.

"I do not perceive in the United States any dangerous volume of passionate dissatisfaction. It seems to me that the air grows clearer rather than thicker. There is no sign of storm on the horizon, but there are many signs of a hopeful and a better day. Those who once contended that nothing was the matter, are now admitting that a great deal is the matter; that much has been done in the world of business and in the money market that ought not to have been done. They are growing willing to discuss the matter; to confer; to admit the necessity for remedies and, while their temper has changed, the temper of reformers has perhaps grown more sober. They are beginning to discuss the practicable means of change in a more direct and businesslike way.

"Recent investigations have been of the greatest service. They have disclosed and are disclosing, item by item, just the methods of business which have been most harmful and most unjust. I think they have opened the eyes of the very men who gave the testimony.

Business Deep in Politics.

"We see that somewhere near the center of the whole trouble lies the great system of governmental favors, which we call the tariff. Round about the tariff has been built up a body of business undertakings in which control has been too much concentrated In order to maintain this control it has been necessary to be secure of the patronage of the government, and so business has gone deep into politics. Legislative action has been controlled by special business interests. Party machinery has been used to serve private purposes and to make sure pecuniary profit. The whole normal process of government has been reversed and government itself has come to be privately owned. The phrase may be exaggerated, but it is only the brief epitome of a state of affairs, the main facts of which are only too plain.

"And so progressives are drawing together, not to destroy anything, but to effect wholesome readjustment not hastily—not by any too extensive plan which runs beyond what we see and know; but item by item we must set the government free from private control and set business free from private control, so that the economic courses of our life may run free again, and that with their fredom we may return to individual opportunity and open the gates to fresh, untrammelled achievement. This is the gospel of the progressive."

WEST VIRGINIA FOR ROOSEVELT

Governor Glasscock So Declares in Statement at Charleston.

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 19.—William A. Glasscock, governor of West Virginia, has issued a statement in which he declares that a careful canvass of the political situation in West Virginia has convinced him that the people of the state are overwhelmingly for Col. Roosevelt for the Republican presidential nomination, and he calls upon the people to elect delegates to the Chicago national convention who will vote for his nomination.

Governor Glasscock says in part:

"I am certain Roosevelt will not seek the nomination or work for it in any way, directly or indirectly, and I believe he would not accept it if it came as the result of interests seeking personal benefit. But if it comes to him as the result of a general popular sentiment, because the people want him to do a job for the people as a whole and because the people as a whole believe he is the best man to do that job, then I am sure he will accept."

BRITISH COAL MINERS VOTE TO QUIT WORK.

London, Jan. 19.—The ballot taken by the coal miners of Great Britain is officially declared to be in favor of a strike for a fixed minimum wage. The actual figures were: For, 445,801; against, 115,921. Notices to quit work will probably be handed in by the miners and this will bring about a national stoppage of coal mining on March 1.

HABEAS CORPUS WRITS ASKED FOR THE SNEADS.

Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 19.—Habeas corpus proceedings were started in behalf of both J. B. Snead and his wife yesterday. Snead is in jail on a murder charge growing out of the killing of A. G. Boyce Saturday night. Boyce was the father of A. G. Boyce, Jr., who is alleged to have abducted Mrs. Snead, taking her to Winnipeg. Half an hour before he killed Boyce, Snead placed his wife in a sanitarium where she is being held against her will.

CHILDREN'S TESTIMONY SAVES THEIR MOTHER.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Three children who testified in the criminal court brought about the acquittal of their mother, who with her husband is on trial for murder.

The indictment charged that Thomas Brannigan and his wife, Minnie Brannigan, murdered Joseph B. Ladreyt, who died from a fractured skull last Saturday. The children testified that they saw their stepfather, Brannigan, strike Ladreyt on the head until he lay bleeding on the floor. They insisted their mother took no part in the attack on the victim.

After they had testified, Judge Kersten directed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty in the case of the woman. The trial of Brannigan was then resumed. The cause of the quarrel, witnesses declared, was jealousy.

RANSACKS HOUSE OF DYNAMITE PROSECUTOR.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 19.—Leaving spots of blood as the only clew, a burglar ransacked the residence of Oscar Lawler, United States special prosecutor in the local dynamiting probe, and escaped with a little money. The police think the burglar sought papers relating to indictments returned by the grand jury, since much valuable silverware and many other articles of intrinsic value were left scattered over the floors and tables of the residence.

The burglar entered by cutting out a rear window, probably injuring himself in doing so. He visited every room in the house and every drawe was found to be opened. While going through the dresser in the room occupied by Miss Hattie Lawler, a sister of the prosecutor, he was discovered. Miss Lawler was awakened by the noise and screamed. The man dashed for the front door and escaped. His movements in the house could be traced by a trail of blood that led from one room to the other.

HAS NO MONEY TO PAY BURNS $10,000 REWARD.

Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 19.—The application of William J. Burns for the reward of $10,000 offered by the state assembly for the arrest and conviction of the Los Angeles Times dynamiters was rejected yesterday by State Comptroller Nye because, he said, there was not $10,000 in the assembly "contingent fund." Nye suggested, in a letter to District Attorney Fredericks of Los Angeles, that Burns' proper course would be to have a claim bill introduced in the legislature at the next session.

MINNESOTAN ATTACKS INDIANA'S FOOD LAW.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The constitutionality of the Indiana pure food law was attacked yesterday before the supreme court. W. H. Boutette, representing a Minnesota manufacturer, declared that the law conflicted with the federal pure food and drug act and for that reason must give way.

"Would the article in this case come within the provisions of the federal law if Indiana had passed no pure food law?" inquired Justice Day of Mr. Corr, arguing for the state.

"It probably would."

"Then why don't you take your whole case away?" asked Justice Lurton.

Mr. Corr responded that the federal law applied only to the introduction of goods into a state, while the state law related to the sale within the state.

CLARK WANTS TO BE GOVERNOR OF IOWA.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 19.—Lieutenant Governor George W. Clark of Adel last night opened his campaign for the Republican nomination for governor of Iowa, in a speech before the Grant club.

PART OF SHOAL LAKE, MAN., IS BURNED DOWN.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 19.—Fire last night destroyed a portion of the business section of Shoal Lake, Man. The fire started in Martin's bakery and spread to several buildings. The loss is about $75,000.

50,000 IRISH WOMEN ISSUE FIERY APPEAL.

Belfast, Ireland, Jan. 19.—Fifty thousand women, members of the Ulster Unionist association, have issued a fiery manifesto to their sisters in Great Britain to aid them in defeating the home rule bill.

Inter-Ocean Bonds Sold.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Probate Judge Cutting has accepted the bid of George Wheeler Hinman, president of the Inter-Ocean Newspaper company, for the $400,000 bonds of the company, which are a part of the estate of the late Charles T. Yerkes. His bid was $200,000.

NORTH DAKOTA PAIR ARE FATALLY FROZEN.

Valley City, N. D., Jan. 19.—Joseph and Christie Peterson, brother and sister, aged 40 and 30 years, living near Hamar, were found in their shack so badly frozen that they died shortly afterward. A traveler seeing no smoke coming from the house investigated and found the nude body of the man in one corner and the sister, fully clothed, on a bed.

Just as it pays a man to be seen associated with the successful, so it pays a store to have its announcements appear in the company of the prosperous.

Don't Try to Heat "All Outdoors"

THAT is really what most home-owners are trying to do. Bitter Winter sneaks in through wood and brick and plaster, and you've got to keep stuffing the furnace with coal all the time just to make the house liveable. Bitter Winter can't sneak in through Linofelted walls, and Cozy Warmth can't sneak out. The cold has to stay out and the warmth stay in. Isn't that the kind of a house worth living in?

LINOFELT
Linen-Felt made from Flax Fibre

is worth knowing and it costs so little that when you do know it you're going to make your house a Linofelted house.

You are heating "All Outdoors" now because your walls, built with sheathing-lumber and building-paper, merely stop draughts and the wind. That's all any building paper will do, no matter what is claimed.

But Linofelt, used in your walls instead of building paper, stops the passage of heat and cold. It keeps the heat in in winter and out in summer. That's what is meant by an insulated house.

Linofelt is made from the fibre of the flax plant. The flax fibre is macerated, combed, and then mixed with chemicals and cooked four hours in steam at 250 degrees Fahrenheit. After washing and drying the fibre is made into heavy sheets like cotton batting. Then on the largest sewing machine in the world it is stitched between two sheets of building-paper.

All this results in a quilt which meets the scientific requirements of insulation better than any other substance capable of use in building. And that means that Linofelt is an effective and reliable non-conductor of heat and cold. It is also a marvelously efficient sound-deadener.

Perhaps you glimpse now the reason why Linofelt always saves an average of 40 per cent, at the least, of fuel bills every year. If for no other reason than that, drop us a postal today, or call up our local agents on the 'phone.

Kellogg's

It's the national favorite—never was a food so popular before. Last year the country ate more KELLOGG'S than all the other brands together, and there's hardly a home that doesn't serve KELLOGG'S regularly. The tempting filmy flakes have made a hit with the nation's appetite.

From youngsters up, the enchanting flavor of the tender, meaty, sun-ripened sweethearts of white corn, has made good. And you're missing the treat of your life if you're not serving the most delightful of all foods in your home. Try it tomorrow and let the children's vote decide.

BANKER AND "ICE KING" FREED FROM PRISON

CHARLES W. MORSE,
Whose Fifteen-Year Sentence for Violating National Banking Laws Has Been Commuted by President Taft Owing to Ill Health.

Morse, the New York banker and "ice king," has served two years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga. The commutation of sentence, which gives Morse his complete freedom — but, which, unlike a pardon, does not restore his civil rights—was granted upon recommendation of Attorney-General Wickersham and Surgeon General Torney, U. S. A. According to the surgeon-general's report to the president, Morse could not live one month longer in confinement, and even at liberty probably will not live six months.

The White House statement granting freedom to Morse follows:

"The president this afternoon commuted the sentence of Charles W. Morse to expire at once. This action was taken upon the recommendation of the attorney general, based upon the following report of Surgeon-General Torney:

"'A careful review of these reports makes it clear to my mind that he is a sufferer from a combination of diseases due to degenerative changes which are incurable and progressive. The reports show that both the condition of the kidneys and the heart are growing worse. I regard the attack of cardiac dyaposa, or heart-block, from which he suffered on the morning the 15th inst., as an ominous occurrence. In my opinion the prisoner's duration of life will in all probability be less than one month if kept in confinement and in the event of his release under communation of sentence it is not probable that he will live as long as six months.'

Efforts made for a complete pardon were unavailing, and under the law Morse could not be paroled until he had served five years. Under the commutation, he is given freedom at once.

Celebration at Bath, Me.

Bath, Me., Jan. 19. — The news of the pardoning of Charles W. Morse by President Taft aroused the city of Bath, the birthplace of the financier, to a high pitch of excitement and joyousness last night. A band was at once called out and bonfires were lighted. Led by the band several hundred men marched through the streets burning red fire and cheering for Morse and Taft. Telegams were sent to Mr. and Mrs. Morse, and the president extending congratulations.

CHINESE REPUBLIC APPEALS TO POWERS TO GIVE RECOGNITION

China unanimously supports the republic. There is no question of North and South. I am firmly convinced that the people of eighteen provinces are in favor of a republic.

"We are now confident of the righteousness of our cause and of the superiority of our military strength. If Yuan Shi Kai persists in obstructing, our armies will be ordered to march northward."

President Sun Yat Sen declared that entire harmony exists within the ranks of the Republicans.

The terms of the circular are as follows:

"The Manchu government having entered into negotiations with the republic of China for the purpose of abdicating its entire sovereign rights, powers and privileges, we fervently pray for recognition in order to avoid a disastrous interregnum.

"WANG CHUNG WEI,
"Foreign Minister."

Demands of Republicans.

The demands of the Republican government which were telegraphed today to Premier Yuan Shi Kai at Pekin, are very drastic and substantially as follows:

First—The abdiction of the throne and the surrender of the sovereign powers are demanded.

Second—No Manchu may participate in the provisional government of China.

Third—The capital of the provisional government cannot be established at Pekin.

Fourth—Premier Yuan Shi Kai cannot participate in the provisional government of China until the republic has been recognized by the foreign powers and the country has been restored to peace and harmony.

Wants Sun to Resign.

Today's decided action by the Republican government is due to Premier Yuan Shi Kai's demand that Dr. Sun Yat Sen resign the presidency, permitting Yuan Shi Kai to exercise sovereign powers until the national convention which is to be called to decide on the form of government of China shall have reached a conclusion. In the meantime Premier Yuan Shi Kai desires the court to retire, temporarily transferring its powers to him. The court, however, objected to leaving Pekin until the national convention had reached a decision. It distrusts the premier.

NO ANSWER BY WILSON

row Wilson, forced to reply to Col. Harvey's query, said he feared editorial support in the Weekly was injuring Wilson's cause.

A statement purporting to be a description of the meeting between Col. Harvey and Governor Wilson with Henry Watterson in New York, was given out here today by Judge Robert Ewing, middle Tennessee representative of the state Woodrow Wilson organization. Judge Ewing, who is related by marriage both to Governor Wilson and Mr. Watterson, asserts the governor's statement to Col. Harvey was made against the dictates of personal friendship and with the realization that "Harvey's support had brought him (Wilson) to the front."

"Utterances Were Untrammelled."

Judge Ewing's statement begins:

"Col. Harvey's intimates well know that his editorial utterances were wholly untrammelled. He had been brought into close friendship with Woodrow Wilson and had conceived the highest estimate of his character."

Then Judge Ewing goes on to tell how Col. Harvey, through editorials in Harper's Weekly, championed the cause of Woodrow Wilson for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"Many, not knowing the real independence of Col. Harvey," the statement declares, "and seeking to harm the Wilson cause, began to indulge in all sorts of conjectures and unfounded intimations. As a result a number of Wilson's real friends began to be of the opinion that perhaps the Weekly's support was militating against his (Wilson's) prospects."

Wilson Approved Harvey's Action.

Judge Ewing declares Governor Wilson's opinion was decidedly contrary to this view, appreciating that Col. Harvey "had brought him to the front, appreciating Harvey's support and feeling it to be valuable."

Then followed the meeting in New York between Wilson, Harvey and Watterson. Judge Ewing declares that at the close of the conference Col. Harvey arose and said to Governor Wilson:

"I wish to ask you a question, and I expect a frank answer. Dou you believe that the booming nature of my articles in Harper's Weekly is injuring your cause?"

Judge Ewing says Governor Wilson's friendship for Harvey demanded that the governor answer in the negative to the question, but that Col. Harvey had demanded frankness, and that Governor Wilson was obliged, with much embarrassment, to make such a reply that later his name, as candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, was removed from the editorial column of Harper's Weekly. And Judge Ewing asserts Col. Harvey exclaimed:

"Well, I'll have to put on the soft pedal!"

DEMOCRATS AT FARGO LAUNCH BURKE BOOM; WILSON GIVES IT O. K.

tion, and, in the event of the impossibility of Burke's nomination, the delegates to be chosen are instructed to vote for a Progressive candidate, "whose career gives assurance that he will carry out the principles advocated by the great Progressive leader, William J. Bryan."

These facts stand out in the resolution, as they did in the speeches at the banquet yesterday and in all the deliberations.

Is Favorite Son.

The Democrats of North Dakota have a deep and unchanging respect for the personality of John Burke, who has captivated the people of a Republican state, and under the standard of Democracy has three times been elected governor.

The Democracy of North Dakota, as Gen. M. A. Hildreth of Fargo expressed it yesterday in his speech at the banquet, "is progressive to the core, and no reactionaries need apply."

The Democrats of North Dakota are strong in their admiration for William J. Bryan, for the principles he has advocated and does advocate and for his steadfast adherence to his cause in face of repeated disappointments.

Why Not for Vice President?

The Burke boom is a "favorite son" boom. The Democrats of North Dakota admit there is no more than a remote chance of their governor being nominated for the presidency. But they believe he has a chance to be nominated for the vice presidency and they believe that by offering his name for the nomination for the higher office, they will be furthering his chances of gaining the lesser honor.

North Dakota is a Wilson state. The prominent Democrats who will have a say in framing up the slate of candidates for the primary ballot are determined that the state must have a Wilson delegation. Under ordinary circumstances, Governor Wilson's name would go on the ballot and he would receive an overwhelming majority over all other candidates now permanently mentioned for the office.

Extraordinary circumstances prevail, however. The Democrats believe that they owe it to their great leader to do him the honor of sending a "favorite son" delegation to the national convention. With John Burke's name on the ballot at the presidential primary, no other candidate need apply. The voters of North Dakota, especially the Democratic voters, will not deny John Burke anything within their power to give him.

Held Back for Wilson.

Even under those circumstances, some of the Wilson men on the resolutions committee were anxious to indorse Wilson. They argued that Burke has no chance of gaining the nomination, and after the "favorite son" votes were out of the way, the delegation would be in the position of an uninstructed delegation. They contended that the purpose of the presidential primary would be defeated by that fact and the wishes of the majority of the Democratic voters of the state might be defeated by a delegation not tied down by positive instructions and uncertain as to personal inclinations.

Letter From Wilson.

Their objections were exploded in the meeting of the resolutions committee. A letter from Governor Woodrow Wilson was read, in which he said that, if John Burke desired the delegation, he would not allow his name to go on the presidential primary ballot. Former Senator W. E. Purcell promptly stated that Burke wanted the delegation. Whether he was speaking authoritatively or was merely speaking on his own initative, is a question, but the Burke indorsement was promptly drawn, was adopted without question or argument by the gathering, and John Burke's name will very likely be the only name on the Democratic ballot at the preferential primary.

Governor Burke was present when the resolution was read and adopted. He thanked the Democrats for the honor.

The latter part of the resolution is regarded as a safeguard to prevent the delegation from getting too far off the reservation and voting for a candidate in disfavor with the progressive leaders. Although it does not specifically so provide, it is intended to be an indorsement of Woodrow Wilson and is manifestly not intended to be an indorsement of William J. Bryan as a candidate.

Wilson Men Satisfied.

The Wilson men are satisfied with the resolution, as they believe they are able to so arrange matters that the delegation will be for Wilson after the "favorite son" votes are out of the way. The Harmon leaders will also be satisfied, it is said, as his friends long ago gave up the idea of gaining North Dakota's ten delegates. Harmon does not measure up to North Dakota's idea of the man who should lead the Democratic cause this year. They respect him, but their allegiance is elsewhere.

The Harmon satisfaction will come from the fact that the overwhelming majority in favor of Wilson at the presidential primary in March will not materialize. The North Dakota primary is the first to be held. It will naturally attract national attention. The moral effect on the rest of the nation of a large majority for Wilson will not be underestimated by either the Harmon or Wilson men and the indorsement of Burke, which is now practically certain, will suit the followers of the Ohio governor.

The presidential primary law, which is a loosely drawn statute, was responsible for other resolutions adopted last evening. The law specifically provides that North Dakota's ten delegates shall be elected at large.

The contest for national committeeman will be the most interesting in the Democratic primary in March. There are six avowed candidates now in the field—William Collins, the present committeeman, whose name is in Bottineau; F. A. Wilson of Bathgate, Ben G. Whitehead of Williston, J. W. McLean of Fargo, George E. Duis of Grand Forks and H. H. Perry of Ellendale.

A resolution emanating from the North Dakota Democratic Editorial association, which held a meeting during the gathering here, was adopted. It sets forth that it is the sentiment of the Democrats of the state that the voice should seek the man, as far as delegates and national committeemen are concerned. It provides that each candidate for those offices shall sign a statement setting forth that he has not heretofore or will not in the future promise any patronage, in the event of his election. Statements must be filed with the secretary of the state central committee prior to Feb. 15, 1912, and in the event of any candidate failing to file his signed statement, the resolution recommends that Democrats of the state fail to support him.

The resolutions committee consisted of Former Senator W. E. Purcell, Wahpeton; S. J. Doyle, Carrington; Hugh McDonald, Valley City; T. D. Casey, Dickinson; M. F. Murphy, Grand Forks; John Heskett, Bottineau; Wesley C. McDowell, La Moure, and Halvor Halvorson, Minot.

DEMOCRATS HAVE HOPE

den F. O. Hellstrom, Gen. M. A. Hildreth of Fargo, Senator Wesley C. McDowell of LaMoure, George P. Jones, and Former Senator W. E. Purcell.

Governor Burke presided as toastmaster.

The crowd numbered about 500 and it was an enthusiastic one. It was free with its applause, the names of national leaders being hailed with handclapping and cheers. Wilson, Bryan and Burke led in applause, but Harmon, Clark, Folk, Underwood and other Democrats were not slighted. Even Robert M. La Follette's name drew a burst of applause when he was mentioned by some of the speakers as a Democrat at heart.

Mr. Walsh's speech was a classic. Mr. Helfner's was a brilliant expression of the spirit of democracy and a development of the history of that spirit. The North Dakota orators were among the best in the state of orators, and for several hours Democratic enthusiasm and Democratic oratory swayed the crowd.

In the evening another meeting was held, at which Governor Burke, Senator Purcell, T. D. Casey of Dickinson and others spoke.

THE "CITY CLUB."

Chicago has a "City club," founded in 1903, which has become the parent of many similar organizations elsewhere that have taken large places in the lives of their respective communities.

These clubs are all centers of nonpartisan activities for the improvement of municipal conditions. Such centers are needed in all the growing communities of the country, and Duluth needs one quite as much as any.

It is true that the Duluth Commercial club includes within the wide scope of its activities the affairs of the city itself. It has a municipal committee, and it often has co-operated in matters of city business. It does not, however, and probably cannot, do in Duluth what the "City club" does in Chicago, Los Angeles, Boston, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Milwaukee and eight other cities.

The city club is distinct from the social organization like the Kitchi Gammi club, and from the business organization like the Commercial club.

Neither of these clubs "mixes in politics." The city club wades right into politics, but carries no partisanship with it.

Neither of these clubs searches the records of candidates for public offices and announces the results and its recommendations, without fear or mercy, to the voters. The city club does that very thing, and it is one of the best things it does.

Neither of these clubs scrutinizes public expenditures to see whether the taxpayer is getting a dollar's worth of results back from each dollar he pays in taxes. The city club devotes a good deal of attention to this point, which is of course fundamental.

A community lacking some such organization as this has no real check upon its public affairs—upon city finances, city improvements and candidates for city office. There is no check whatever except unorganized public sentiment, which has no effective means of probing these matters, of determining whether its suspicions are justified or not, and of seeing to it that public business is conducted along business-like lines for the public good and that bad candidates are exposed and defeated. To some extent, of course, public opinion can grapple with all these problems, but it is handicapped by a lack of organization and by a lack of effective agencies for observation, study and investigation.

There is a field in Duluth for a city club which shall take upon itself the full burden, in behalf of the public, of seeing to it that business methods are applied to the public business, that the dollars of the taxpayers shall be balanced by results equivalent to an equal number of dollars, and that no candidate for public office shall escape the most careful scrutiny of his record, motives, affiliations and fitness for the office he seeks.

It might be said that the Duluth Commercial club, by expanding slightly its present machinery for promoting the public good, could fill this vacant space in the public life of the city. Perhaps it could, but there are many reasons for believing that this important work could be handled best by an organization free from other duties and free from any business or other alliances that could possibly obstruct straightforward and, if need be, aggressive action.

EXPLAINED.

Somebody, curious to know, wrote to the Chicago Tribune and asked: "Why did the thermometers burst at Cook, Minn.?" The Tribune turned the query over to Bert Taylor, who edits a "colyum" of wit every day except Sunday and when he is getting a new lease of life and a new stock of vigor in mind and body by a canoe trip through the wilds of Northern Minnesota. Taylor, he knew, and he told:

> The answer is that they burst for the same reason that the mail carrier between Two Harbors and Duluth climbs a tree every winter to escape the ravening wolves: the correspondent needs the money.

Right you are, old truepenny! Your explanation floods with light a host of mysteries about life in Northern Minnesota.

ARE WOMEN'S FEET GROWING?

Not long ago there was a national convention of shoe manufacturers, and during its discussions an interesting fact was brought out. The sizes of shoes worn by women are increasing.

Twenty years ago, these shoe manufacturers related, women wore sizes running from three to five. Today the average size is from four to five. Size No. 2, which used to be considered the height of elegance, has entirely disappeared.

Have women's feet grown larger in these twenty years? They have not. Obviously, then, women must have grown more sensible; and that's a mighty good thing to know.

Maybe there still are women who cling to small feet as an indisputable sign of beauty, aristocracy, or whatever small feet were supposed to stand for. Very likely there are such women. But there can be no question that this report of the shoe manufacturers means that the woman of today has sense enough to be comfortable even if she does have to wear a larger shoe.

Women's feet, of course, are just the same as before. Only the shoes have changed—the shoes and the feminine brains that choose them. Feet haven't grown but intelligence has; and intelligence is a lot more important than feet any day.

Nor is that the only significant feature of the change. One big reason why women are wearing larger shoes is because they are using their feet more. They have found out that they have arms and legs and they are using them. They walk, swim, play golf and ride horseback astride. A woman can't do these things with her feet encased in shoes a size or two too small for her. That was all well enough when women were supposed to lounge about in idle elegance, when health was vulgar and physical vigor was mannish. You could stand tight shoes when all you had to do was to sit around and read novels and eat chocolates. They weren't comfortable, even then; but they were the fashion, and so was physical indolence; so they went.

But the tight shoe couldn't survive woman's discovery that her muscles were made to use, that there was joy and health and vigor and pleasure in using them, and that headaches and "vapors" and nerves and other fashionable ailments couldn't exist where women took plenty of exercise in the fresh, clean air of the out-of-doors.

This all to the good, both for the women themselves and for society at large; because women are potential mothers, and to have sound, healthy children there must first be sound, healthy mothers. The size of the shoes is the smallest item of importance in the facts the shoe manufacturers developed in their discussions. What really is important is the fact that women nowadays use their arms and legs for the purposes for which they were made, and that this means healthier bodies, clearer heads and more vigorous minds. Incidentally, of course, it means comfort; for there is hardly any torture on earth that is worse than the wearing of tight shoes.

THE OPPOSITION TO WILSON.

"Last night," a local citizen hurries a letter in to say, "you said that the opposition of the special interests is a handicap to Wilson's presidential candidacy. I don't agree with you. The opposition of the interests is not a handicap but an advantage. Like many others, I am for Wilson because of the enemies he has made."

Our correspondent is, of course, right in a way; and in another way The Herald was right in saying that the opposition of the special interests is a handicap.

Such opposition is no handicap in a fight before the people. Open opposition of that sort is indeed an advantage to a candidate for the presidency. But it isn't always open. Often it is secret, subtle, crafty and effective. Well organized interests, knowing exactly what they want and knowing exactly who they do not want for president, have other ways of defeating a candidate than coming out in open interviews declaring him to be an "unsafe" man.

Besides, it isn't the people that nominate presidential candidates. It's only that portion of the people which bothers to attend caucuses and participate in conventions. And there are several states where, to say the least, the special interests are strongly influential with those who have much to say in the selection of delegates.

The moral of it is, of course, that the people everywhere, the rank and file of both parties, should be awake and alert and on the job. They should attend the party caucuses and participate in selecting local delegates, for there is where the process begins, and if the people do not take a hand there they have little chance in the later stages.

FIGHTING A SHORTER HOUR LAW.

Perhaps some people are mystified because the employes in the textile mills at Lawrence, Mass., are striking against a law limiting their labor to fifty-four hours a week, which was manifestly passed in their interests. Fifty-four hours a week is nine hours a day; and that's long enough for anybody to work. Why, then, should these Massachusetts mill-workers be fighting such a law?

Because the owners of these mills, which are highly protected against foreign competition on the theory that such a policy will benefit labor, in reducing the hours of work as the law requires reduced the pay correspondingly. Because the old pay was just barely enough, when the workers were steadily employed, to keep body and soul together, and the proposed new pay was not enough to do that.

There can be little sympathy with employers who, having gained valuable special privileges from the government on the plea that it was for the benefit of their working men, working women and working children, throw the full burden of a wholesome law limiting the hours of work upon workers already laboring under the handicap of a wage schedule close to the starvation point.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP OF INDUSTRY.

> Resolved, that this convention go on record favoring government ownership of all industries.—United Mine Workers' convention.

This rather startling proposal has the backing of a respectably large number of workingmen, not all of whom by any means are members of the Socialist party, so it is a significant declaration.

It is hardly necessary to go into the merits of the proposition. It is true that if a choice must be made between monopoly in unregulated private control and monopoly under public ownership, unquestionably pretty nearly everybody, sooner or later, will choose the latter. But there is no such alternative—yet. The country is trying the experiment of destroying monopoly and restoring competition by "dividing up" the trusts without changing their ownership; and that attempt will fail. It will then try the experiment of putting monopoly under government regulation, which looks very promising.

But before any such step as the coal miners propose can even be seriously considered, and even before government regulation is attempted, there is an essential to be gained without which no possible good and much harm could come from either of them.

That essential is the public ownership of the government.

NAIVE.

The president, besides a new organization of the government's departments which ought to save a lot of money and certainly would bring about greater efficiency, proposes to take all the government places out of politics and have appointments made for fitness only, the appointees to hold their jobs so long as they measured up to the demands of their positions.

It's a good idea, too; it would greatly improve government service besides saving money. It's coming some time.

But just at this time, with the Republicans about to go out and the Democrats very probably about to come in, the idea is likely to spread dismay among aspiring Democrats who wish for the country the benefit of Democratic rule and for themselves jobs where they can help the Democratic party do the country good and draw substantial salaries meanwhile.

Very likely Democrats who are indulging these patriotic hopes will approve the idea thoroughly—providing it is put in practice when it will freeze Democrats to their jobs instead of Republicans who have held on long enough anyway.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

"CLUB" NOT NEEDED.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I presume it is your desire to encourage all taxpayers in the city of Duluth to express their opinions regarding the coming election on the proposed bond issue. I believe I express the sentiment of all the voters of the city of Duluth, who are taxpayers, when I state that I do not believe that at this time the city of Duluth can afford to issue any more bonds. As I understand it, we are bonded at present twice as heavily as the city of Minneapolis, per capita. The advocates of municipal ownership have given out that the bonds will never be sold but will be used as a "club" to lower the rates of the Duluth-Edison Electric company, and that there will never be a competing plant, and at the same time the municipal advocates are ready to go ahead if the bonds carry and have their program carried out, and they will never stop until the bonds are sold and the money used, and when it is used there will be a call for more, for no reasonable man can see how a plant will pay or how a bond issue of $70,000 can build an electric lighting plant and meet the deficits which are certain to occur during the first few years. I do not believe that a "club" against the Duluth-Edison Electric company is needed. Comparisons show that Duluth rates for lighting are already low and the company offers a still lower rate. The rates for commercial lighting and power are lower than in most cities.

I believe that Duluth is being fairly treated by the company and I think a great mistake would be made by the city by going into competition. Duluth has enough bonds outstanding. Let us get where we can see daylight before adding to our obligations.

The claim that the bond issue is a bluff will not "hold water," and it has never been clearly explained to the taxpayers of the city why the council did not take into consideration the proposition of the Duluth-Edison Electric company before taking up this agitation of a municipal plant. Yours very truly,

F. D. MERRICK.

ECHO ANSWERS "WHO?"

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have just read an editorial in The Herald entitled "Poor Minnesota," and I must say it was an excellent article. A few days ago I read an editorial in the News Tribune where the Tribune accuses The Herald of indulging in personal abuse against Governor Eberhart. The Tribune also states that, instead of devoting its columns to such things, they think it's lots better to work for the development of Northern Minnesota and for a return to the 2-cent railroad fare. All this sounds pretty nice, but I wonder how many could take that editorial without salt. The Herald never threw any personal abuse at Mr. Eberhart. It has simply given out some facts to the common people about his administration that are getting on the nerves of the interests. Or who has worked any harder for the welfare and development of Northern Minnesota than The Herald? Who has ever heard of the Tribune putting up a serious fight for a return to the 2-cent fare? Or how can they and still indorse the man for re-election who made it possible for the railroads to raise the fare to 3 cents.

THAT PROPOSED NEW CURFEW LAW.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The man up a tree notes with interest the reformatory influences at work, and the effort of Alderman Scott to control the younger elements of society is pathetic. Evidently one of the "Dads" is in a state of "peeve" because of the effect the resolution may have on parents in general and perhaps a "Dad" in particular.

Some one has been reading "Ancient History" with a sprinkling of "Arabian Nights" thrown in. "Dad" may rest assured that the spasm will pass away. If the resolution did pass it would find no support in law, if it did, it would be quite as reasonable to hold the parent responsible for and punishable for any crime committed by the child.

It is reasonable to expect the parents to use every endeavor to lay the foundation for good citizenship in their offspring. It may be conceded that the child under 16 should be indoors within the prescribed time preparing for national rest. There is a great tendency among the younger generation of the present day to chafe under restraint of any kind, and many parents would gladly accept the co-operation of the city authorities, requiring children to be indoors at the prescribed time. Special provision should be made to enforce the rule, but not through the regular police channels. Men and women (armed with the proper authority) who love children, should be specially detailed for this work.

It might be suggested to Alderman Scott in particular and the "City Fathers" in general as being more in line with their special sphere of action, that they devote their time to cleaning the city of impurities, so that if perchance, a child should venture out in the evening hours, either alone or with his elders, that he will neither hear nor see anything of which we need be ashamed. What meaneth this saying: "The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge." Respectfully,

"PASTOR" DID NOT DO HIS DUTY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I noticed in your paper of Jan. 12 a letter written by a "pastor" in regard to how he should have helped a wayward young woman whom he met on the train.

Please allow me to give my view. In the first place, I wish to say what I would have done; as I have done so before, I will do so again. If I could have induced this young lady in question to come to my home, I would do all in my power to make her contented with clean books, exercise and food, and bring her nearer to her Maker. I have tried this in three different cases, and am proud to say that I did not fail in my undertaking.

The trouble is not in the one that has fallen, but in the government causing young women to support themselves on starvation wages. What can a young woman do with $5 per week? It takes at least $2.50 for a room and $2.50 for board. What is left? Is it a wonder that we have some wayward girls?

The "pastor," as a preacher of the gospel and a representative of God, should have taken her to his fold and endeavored to bring her face to face with the truth of her plight and to bring her to her Maker. "Come unto Me, all that are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." Truly our friend the "pastor" is not a good representative of God, otherwise he would have thought a little more before he acted as he did in directing her to the livery stable and helping her to her destination, when he should have detained her for "Him who makes all things bright."

Man can be low morally and can rise high, with the ever-helping hand of his fellow-man and his God, but can a woman? No. Why? A woman can be ever so good a mother, ever so loving a wife, even if her past was dark, but her "friends" will always remember her dark days, as surely as man lives, and will always remind her of it at the best times of her life, instead of helping her out of her plight and to forget. We men are all too willing to push and shove, or help shove, these poor unfortunate sisters of ours into everlasting hell and damnation, instead of bringing them to their God. Let the public judge.

A FRIEND OF THE FALLEN.

Duluth, Jan. 17.

PASTOR SHOULD HAVE MADE GREATER EFFORT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I would like to add a few words to the discussion of "What Should I Have Done?" I fully agree with "a business man," that the pastor though his intentions were all right, did not do all, nor nearly all he could have done to save that young woman from the life she was living. The first step in trying to break away from sin is always the hardest step, and he could at least have tried to help her take it. If he had a home of his own, and had taken her there and made her welcome and showed her kindness and sympathy until she had seen for herself that a clean life pays in everything worth while, she might have been saved for this world and eternity too. She was not all bad nor what she was from inclination as is shown by her crying over her shame. Perhaps the young people had they happened to see him with her, would have felt a new and stronger impulse to go out after the outcast themselves and also had a deeper love for their pastor who like his Great Master loved the sinful most. I do not wish to condemn "a pastor" for no doubt he did what to him was his duty even though it cost him a struggle, nor to say what I would have done for we never really know until we are tried. God pity those who are sliding down and help us to show them the loving, helpful hand, not in theory but in practice. Yours,

A WOMAN.

EDUCATION BEFORE MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Several months ago I sent in a letter to the Open Court which was never published. Perhaps you considered it too rank, but everything has since been published. It was on the advisability of having a commission form of government (when you had officials to conduct one).

It criticised the departments for their records in spending money like drunken sailors; the park board for wasteful expenditures of money and lands—miles in the country when they have bridges in the city that are a disgrace to Duluth.

I would like to favor municipal ownership, but the past experiences in Duluth officials doing work as cheaply as a private party is any guide I say wait until we have educated our people to hold these places.

Let's be loyal to Duluth, purchase our goods from our merchants, employ Duluth people for our public and private jobs. Then we could own the electric light plant, telephones, street railways, etc., without bond issues.

Thanking you for space, I am yours very truly.

I. A. WORKMAN.

Duluth, Jan. 17.

THE CIGAR BAND ISSUE.

New York Sun: We did not enter upon the struggle for bandless cigars with eyes shut, and such vicious assaults on us as the attack in The Duluth Herald, an organ of the cigar band printers, which follows, shall not divert us from our course:

> Cigar bands are. Therefore they are right.
> Cigar bands have been. Therefore they must always be.
> Shall the wisdom of the Fathers be thus scorned and rejected by its stanchest champion and defender? Cigar bands are an Institution. We don't recollect that they are touched upon by the Constitution, but we are quite clear that the proposal to do away with them is unconstitutional. Unless the manufacturers of cigar bands have been overlooked in the appointment of Judges, we have the utmost confidence that if the Sun's wicked and destructive and socialistic crusade is subjected to the test of the courts it will be declared abhorrent to the sacred principles of the Constitution, in which the wisdom and foresight of the fathers are embalmed forevermore.
> What though the cigar band is a nuisance? It is, and therefore it must be right; and the right must and shall be maintained.
> What though the cigar band is located at the exact point on the cigar where the pleasure of smoking it is greatest? It is, and therefore it must be right; and the right shall ever be guarded and preserved.
> What though, when the eager smoker seeks to prolong his pleasure by removing the band, it brings the wrapper with it and spoils his smoke? The cigar band is, and therefore it must always be.
> What though, when the baffled smoker has his pleasure thus interrupted, he is exceeding wroth, and his wrothness tempts to profanity, and the profanity destroys his soul? The cigar band is, and therefore it always must prevail.
> Whatever is, is right. The Sun must never forget that. Whatever is, must always be. The Sun must not neglect its own teachings. Those who proclaim the existence of evil are muckrakers, and therefore vile. Those who propose reforms are disturbers and destroyers, and therefore wicked and fit only for utter destruction.
> Long live the cigar band, the Institution which sacred custom makes inviolable and eternal!

Great as are the resources of the spoilers of cigars, powerful as are their numerous secret allies, crafty as are their methods, the Sun does not shrink from the contest. A great moral principle is at stake. We shall burn tobacco for it if that be necessary.

How unsuccessful is the effort of this particular agent of the wrapper bearers to degrade this moral revolt to the level of a mere political issue! The Duluth Herald, itself better informed as to the contents of the Constitution of the United States than are most of the Insurgents, is obliged to confess that no section of that immortal document prescribes cigar bands. It accuses the Sun of wavering in its allegiance to the principles of the fathers when the Sun devotes itself to combating an innovation those venerated experts in good living would have repelled with horror. Because the Sun demands a return to the high standards they established, this agent of wood pulp seeks to hold us up as rash tamperers with the foundations of society.

It remains only to point out one characteristic error in this insurgent defence of the cigar band. That poisoner of smokers is called by The Duluth Herald an "Institution." It is no such thing. It is a mere Excrescence.

•••The mercury is still dropping. This morning the lowest point for the year at Duluth was recorded at 29 deg. below. Very cold weather is reported throughout the whole Northwest.

•••E. A. Humphreys and his Southern friends and John McKinley and Judge Hale will organize three Mesaba iron companies this week—the Pittsburg, with capital stock of $5,000,000; the Cleveland, with $2,000,000 capital stock, and the Ballard, capitalized at $2,000,000.

•••Miss Emma Palmer of West Duluth left last evening for Knapp, Wis., where she will visit friends.

•••Mrs. J. G. Esken of West Wuluth is expected to return within a few days from Virginia, where she has been visiting relatives for the past five months.

•••Frank Osler has moved from West Duluth to Duluth, where he will run the International hotel.

•••Owing to the death of Walter Brown, Clan Stewart will not publicly observe the anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns on Jan. 25.

•••At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the First National bank of Tower the old board of directors was re-elected. The directors elected H. A. Ware, president; D. H. Bacon, vice president, and G. A. Whitman, cashier.

•••The shrewdest political scheme which has been worked in Duluth for some time, was the one consummated at a meeting held in Labor hall last night, when F. L. Bresland was nominated for mayor by a number of members of trades unions. Mr. Bresland has no chance of election, and there was no such idea in nominating him. The scheme is to draw votes from Mayor Davis, who is popular with the labor element. Bresland is a painter and was formerly secretary of that union, but has severed his connection with it. J. J. Haley, who acted as secretary at last night's meeting, took out his first citizenship papers yesterday.

•••The Grand Marais Copper Mining company is offering for sale 100 bonds of $1,000 each at par, the purchaser getting 500 shares of common stock as a bonus with each bond. The company is composed of Chicago business men, who have spent thousands of dollars in developing the copper mine on the Canada river, nine miles west of Grand Marais. Reports by the best experts in the country on the ore showing are very flattering.

OUR NEXT GOVERNOR.

Lucky Adolph.

Chisholm Tribune-Herald: Our governor stated in an interview that Minnesota would gracefully accept increased railroad rates if the supreme court saw fit to uphold the Sanborn decision. Sure thing, governor, increased railroad rates, increased state taxes, anything, give it to us good so long as it doesn't interfere with the governor's lucky streak.

Every Knock a Boost.

Austin Transcript: Sam Y. Gordon's popularity increases daily as the Twin City papers continue to lie about him. Keep it up, boys, and he will be elected our next governor, hands down.

Hammond Needed in Congress.

Albert Lea Standard: Congressman Hammond is a good, a useful and needed man in his place, and his best plan is in congress. There are a dozen Democrats, any one of whom might be elected governor and thus restore the honor, high class administration and prestige that Governor Johnson conferred upon the state, and thousands of independent, patriotic Republicans are only waiting to see such a man brought forth.

He Has the Habit.

Northfield News: Sam Gordon's "king for a day" stunt may not have resulted in much of anything for Gordon, but it is a ten to one shot, that Minnesota's traveling governor will hesitate about taking any more junkets right away. The probabilities are that the chief executive will be found in his office or thereabouts every day from now until next November.—Lake City Republican.

On the other hand this is an improbability. This was not one of the governor's New Year's resolutions, or if it was, it is already shattered as he is now reported absent for one week Ring it up, offense number one for 1912.

Sam Comes Out.

Luverne Journal: The gates around the fair village of Brown's Valley were open the other day and forth issued one Samuel Y. Gordon, whom George Simpson and the Twin City press had told us we never, never would see again. Sam Gordon is the same square, frank, honest, progressive Sam that he was before the "king for a day" episode, and may yet give the gang a run for their money.

He May Get a Seat.

Wabasha Herald: The fight for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in Minnesota will be between Eberhart and Gordon. Eberhart, representing the interests, will be renominated—must be renominated. Sam Y. Gordon of Brown's Valley wouldn't do; he's too independent. He might trump Ed Smith's king of clubs with an ace, if allowed to play.

Sam is Talking.

Battle Lake Review: Really we do not know what Sam Gordon has been up to, but the Twin City papers appear to be doing the principal part of the screaming.

Would Please the Newspaper Boys.

Austin Transcript: Nothing would suit the newspaper boys of the state better than to write it next year: Governor Samuel Y. Gordon and Congressman-at-large Alvah Eastman. It would be a pair that would bring honor and prestige to the great North Star state anywhere.

The World Is Bright Before Thee.

The world is bright before thee;
Its summer flowers are thine;
Its calm, blue sky is o'er thee,
Thy bosom pleasure's shrine;
And thine the sunbeam given
To nature's morning hour.
Pure, warm, as when from heaven
It bursts on Eden's bower.

There is a song of sorrow,
The death dirge of the gay,
That tells ere dawn of morrow,
These charms may melt away—
That sun's bright beam be shaded,
That sky be blue no more,
The summer flowers be faded,
And youth's warm promise o'er.

Believe it not; though lonely
Thy evening home may be;
Though beauty's bark can only
Float on a summer sea.
Though Time thy bloom is stealing,
There's still, beyond his art,
The wild-flower wreath of feeling,
The sunbeam of the heart.

Violating Confidences.

Kansas City Star: All social intercourse is founded on the assumption that confidences are not violated. Gentlemen do not make public private letters. The man who does so is a cad.

The fact that Woodrow Wilson's Wall Street acquaintances are taking this opportunity to give out his private communications of years ago to the newspapers shows the lengths to which certain interests will go to prevent his getting the nomination.

Wool.

Collier's: Two years and six months ago President Taft declared the Payne-Aldrich Bill the best tariff ever written; Senator Cummins, Senator Clapp, Senator La Follette, and all the other Insurgents denounced it—and especially the wool schedule—as inconsistent with the true Republican principle of protection, pointed out wherein it erred, and framed a substitute that accorded with what they declared to be the right Republican doctrine. The president of the United States prevailed and the Insurgent senators were outlawed from their party. Today President Taft approves and urges upon the country a report from an expert tariff board which justifies all that the Insurgents said and did. How many years and moral parasangs ahead of us is that standard of statesmanship and generous candor in high places which might now lead President Taft to acknowledge what everybody knows?

Unnecessary Questions.

Yonkers Statesman: "And are you the owner of the car?" asked the policeman as he helped the man to his feet after the accident.

"No," replied the injured man, "I'm a demonstrator."

"And did you have to demonstrate that the car wouldn't climb that tree?"

GETTING THE NEWS IN INDIA.

Rudyard Kipling in "The Man Who Would Be King": A newspaper office seems to attract every conceivable sort of person, to the prejudice of discipline. Zenana mission ladies arrive, and beg that the editor will instantly abandon all his duties to describe a Christian prize-giving in a back-slum of a perfectly inaccessible village; colonels who have been overpassed for commands sit down and sketch the outline of a series of ten, twelve or twenty-four leading articles on Seniority vs. Selection; missionaries wish to know why they have not been permitted to escape from their regular vehicles of abuse, and swear at a brother missionary under special patronage of the editorial We; stranded theatrical companies troop up to explain that they cannot pay for their advertisements, but on their return from New Zealand or Tahiti will do so with interest; inventors of patent punkah-pulling machines, carriage couplings and unbreakable swords and axle trees call with specifications in their pockets and hours at their disposal; tea companies enter and elaborate their prospectuses with the office pens; secretaries of ball committees clamor to have the glories of their last dance more fully expounded; strange women rustle in and say:

"I want a hundred cards printed at once, please," which is manifestly part of an editor's duty; and every dissolute ruffian that ever tramped the Grand Trunk road makes it his business to ask for employment as a proofreader.

And all the time the telephone bell is ringing madly and kings are being killed on the continent and empires are saying—"You're another," and Mr. Gladstone is calling down brimstone upon the British dominions and the little black copy boys are whining Kaa-pi chay-he'yeh (copy wanted) like tired bees, and most of the paper is blank as Modred's shield.

But that is the amusing part of the year. There are six other months wherein none ever come to call, and the thermometer walks inch by inch up to the top of the glass, and the office is darkened to just above reading light, and the press machines are red hot of touch, and nobody writes anything but accounts of amusements in the hill stations or obituary notices. Then the telephone becomes a tinkling terror, because it tells you of the sudden deaths of men and women that you know intimately, and the prickly heat covers you as with a garment, and you sit down and write: "A slight increase of sickness is reported from the Khuda Janta Khan district. The outbreak is purely sporadic in its nature and, thanks to the energetic efforts of the district authorities, is now almost at an end. It is, however, with deep regret we record the death, etc."

Then the sickness really breaks out and the less recording and reporting the better for the peace of the subscribers. But the empires and the kings continue to divert themselves as selfishly as before and the foreman thinks that a daily paper really ought to come out once in twenty-four hours, and all the people at the hill stations in the middle of their amusements say: "Good gracious! Why can't the paper be sparkling? I'm sure there's plenty going on up here."

Why He Was an Episcopalian.

Ladies' Home Journal: An Episcopal clergyman who was passing his vacation in a remote country district met an old farmer who declared that he was a "'Piscopal."

"To what parish do you belong?" asked the clergyman.

"Don't know nawthin' 'bout enny parish," was the answer.

"Who confirmed you then?" was the next question.

"Nobody," answered the farmer.

"Then how are you an Episcopalian?" asked the clergyman.

"Well," was the reply, "you see it's this way: Last winter I went down to Philadelphy a-visitin', an' while I was there I went to church, an' it was called 'Piscopal, an' I heerd them say that they left undone the things what they'd oughter done and they'd done some things what they oughtner done, and I says to myself says I: 'That's my fix exactly,' and ever since then I've been a 'Piscopalian.'"

Stingy!

Boston Transcript: The champion mean man runs a hotel in Springfield—state not named. Observing that passers-by looked in at his clock he put up a notice: "This clock is for the use of the guests of this hotel only."

WILL CO-OPERATE WITH MINNESOTA

Stony Brook, N. Y., Assembly to Join With Bemidji Bible Conference.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—President J. F. Brackman of Duluth of the Bemidji Bible conference which will meet here, July 21-28, is rejoicing along with members that the Stony Brook, N. Y., assembly will co-operate with the Bemidji conference this year.

The Stony Brook assembly has a nation-wide reputation among religious associations of the entire country. Dr. Carson, the present moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, is the president of the Stony Brook assembly.

Rev. Mr. White, secretary of the Bemidji Bible conference, is especially well pleased at the character and standing of the speakers and teachers who will be present at this year's conference.

Noted Speakers Coming.

A speaker new to the conference here will be Dr. Fred C. Ottman of New York, having an international reputation, who has been engaged in Bible teaching for many years. Dr. Ottman is the author of many standard works on the Bible.

Dr. A. C. Gaebelein of New York, editor of "Our Hope," and one of the most famed Bible teachers in the United States will again attend the Bemidji conference. Dr. Gaebelein has attended two previous conferences here, and he is immensely popular with the members of the conference.

Dr. G. N. Luccock of Oak Park, Ill., famous as a Bible teacher, comes for the fourth time and will participate generally in the sessions of the conference. He has a large following in this conference.

Rev. White is in receipt of a letter from Dr. Gaebelein, who is in New York, in which Dr. Gaebelein rejoices over the determination of the Stony Brook assembly to co-operate with the Bemidji Bible conference.

PINE RIVER RURAL PHONE COMPANY ELECTS.

Pine River, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to TheHerald.)—At the annual meeting of the Pine River Rural Telephone company held here yesterday the following officers, and directors were chosen for the ensuing year: President W. A. Curo; vice president, J. J. Allen; secretary-treasurer, Jay P. Brewer. Directors elected comprise the three mentioned and J. W. Patterson and Fred S. Moulster. The finances of the company are in good condition. The dividends declared will be used to install improvements and an added rural line or two will probably be built during the coming summer.

FARMERS BUILD DEPOT FOR WISCONSIN TOWN.

Marinette, Wis., Jan. 19.—The settlement of the town of Miles on the Wisconsin & Michigan railway, this county, made no appeal to the railroad rate commission for a depot, but it has one just the same. The station was erected by Nels Christianson and Dennis Donavan, two farmers. John Wickham, another farmer, contributed the stone, and an appeal has been made to all who come to the station to bring wood so as to keep the stove going. The appeal adds that this is better than standing out in the snow.

BERRY BOX LAW IS COSTLY TO DEALERS.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 19.—A loss of about $25,000 confronts the retailers of berry crates in Wisconsin if the "short measure" berry box law passed by the last legislature be strictly enforced. If this be done, their crates and boxes bought before the law was passed will have to be thrown away or be confiscated by the state. The rigid enforcement of the law, say the shippers, promises to work a hardship upon a large number of co-operative marketing concerns which supply the growers with the containers.

It is also planned by the city council to build a new fire hall in the West end and a special council committee and Fire Chief Randall spent several hours recently in the vicinity of Thirty-third avenue west for the purpose of finding a suitable site for a station for the Hazelwood Park district. It is planned to build the station with this year's appropriation and in a central location between the No. 2 hall at Eighteenth avenue west and No. 8 on Fifty-fifth avenue west and Cody street. The action was taken at the last meeting of the fire commissioners when the large number of industries in the West end were considered and also the rapidly growing residence section.

The new Woodman hall will be completed by May 1 and when finished will be one of the best lodge halls in this part of the state. The structure will cost $20,000.

WEST END

TEN ACRES FOR HOMES

New Residence Plat Mapped Out for the West End.

Numerous Signs of Real Estate Activity—Many New Buildings.

Following the recent sale of the Fairbanks tract of unplatted property in the West end to James J. Hughes, a local real estate dealer, comes the announcement that Mr. Hughes and several other West end business men have formed a company, which will plat the land and build homes on the entire ten acres. The property is located between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-eighth avenues west and between Fifth and Seventh streets, and it is understood that $20,000 was paid for the property.

The property is totally unimproved, on account of the former owners being unwilling to place the land on the market. Former Vice President Fairbanks was the principal owner of the land and the sale was negotiated here through the office of Stryker, Manley & Buck of this city. There are about sixty lots in the division. The homes will be built on the platted lots and put on sale to the public. The entire district around the division is thickly populated.

That the above action on the part of Mr. Hughes will greatly add to the building activity of the coming spring and summer, is evident, and with the many other plans of real estate dealers and builders, a busy year is predicted for this end of the city.

Among the larger structure planned for this year is the new two-story brick building at 1817-1819 West Superior street to be built by the Minneapolis Brewing company. The two lots were recently bought by the company and the old structure on one of the lots was torn down several weeks ago. The company already has the plans on hand and will begin building in the spring. The structure will cover a 50-foot frontage and is to be of brick. The lower floor is to be built for two stores while the second floor is to be arranged for a hall, which will probably be used by some of the local lodges. The building will cost about $30,000 and will be ready for occupancy by May 1.

What will probably be the largest building enterprise of the year for the West end is now being planned by Swanstrom Bros., who have ordered the plans for a three-story brick building to be built on the corner of Twenty-first avenue west and First street. The building will cost in the neighborhood of $35,000 and if present negotiations go through, work on the structure is expected to start sometime in April. The building will have a frontage of 100 feet on Twenty-first avenue and will run about the same distance down First street. The brothers, Emanuel A., and Adolph F. Swanstrom, Jr., own the property and have been thinking of building a modern structure for the past few years. Their plans at present are to build a foundation for four or five stories and only build two of them at the start. A local architect has been ordered to draw up the plans.

Swanstrom Bros. have already let contracts for the erection of four houses on Grand avenue near Forty-eighth avenue west. The houses will all be built alike and will cost $2,000 each. Work on the buildings will be started at once by Andrew Landin, contractor, and they are expected to be finished May 1. The houses will be thoroughly modern, having five rooms each.

It is probable that a two-story stone and brick store and office building, having a 50-foot front, will be erected on the lower side of Superior street between Twenty-first and Twenty-second avenues west. The lot was recently sold to Dr. L. Q. Greeley and is next to the building now occupied by Mrs. Johnson's store.

• • •

P. George Hanson & Son recently let a contract for the building of a large stone and brick apartment house for five families, at Eighteenth avenue west and Second street. The structure will cost about $6,000. The following men bought new homes that were completed this fall by the same company at Twenty-third avenue west: Anton Strand, Hans Olson and Alfrde Anderson. The company is planning several other buildings.

• • •

Among the real estate deals recently closed was the sale of the property at 2012 West Superior street, formerly conducted by Joe Popkin. Both the boys are experienced in the furniture and stove line and their aim will be to keep up the past policy of the house, to sell the best goods at lowest prices. They have made many alterations in enlarging the store and their stock, and their aim will be to keep abreast of the times with the up-to-date goods, both in new and second-hand lines. They desire all who wish anything for housekeeping purposes, including stoves, to make them a call. They will still retain the West End Furniture House slogan, "You can get the best here for either cash or credit."

DEMOCRATS HOLD MEETING

Party Workers Gather and Organize—Mayor Will Open Campaign.

Mayor Cullum spoke before a gathering of the Seventh ward Democrats last evening at the polling place, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street. The meeting was held for the purpose of organizing for the city campaign and C. E. Dice was chosen chairman; Lucien Merritt, secretary, and Charles Mork, treasurer.

Following Mayor Cullum's talk in which he outlined a plan for organization, Alderman Bernard candidate for re-election, spoke. The other speakers who addressed the gathering were: Charles Mork, ex-Alderman Lucien Merritt, Alderman Gibson, August Hagberg, Otto Johnson, J. T. Bernard, Ole Jinn, J. B. Reyolds, Joseph Bostier, Richard Flynn, Charles Hagberg, Gust Hjerpe and John Davis.

Tonight will be a busy one for Dr. J. A. McCuen in the West end. The Republican candidate for mayor will speak before the French Naturalization club at its headquarters, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street. The club is non-partisan and invitations have been sent out to about 500 residents of the West end. Mayor Cullum will address the members next week. Following the address of Dr. McCuen and several members of the club, a musical program will be offered the guests. Dr. McCuen will meet the party heads after the meeting and plans will then be made for the campaign. County Commissioner Joseph Cummings, who was appointed chairman of the Seventh ward, will not announce his precinct managers until next week, but will meet Dr. McCuen this evening.

Mayor Cullum will officially open his campaign at a Democratic rally to be held at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, this evening. Charles E. Dice will preside and the aldermanic candidates of the West end will give short talks.

Annual Convention.

Rev. C. G. Olson of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, will attend the annual convention of the Lake Superior Mission district to be held at Billings Park, Superior, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Rev. Olson is vice president of the district and will make several addresses at the meetings.

Forty-five congregations will be represented at the convention and sixteen pastors of the Lutheran churches will be present. J. B. Melfemiuf of Two Harbors is the president of the district and he will call the gathering to order Monday morning. Business sessions will be held every morning and afternoon and for the evening special religious services are on the program.

CONSULS WILL ACT AS DELEGATES.

Following the announcement yesterday that a special meeting of the Duluth Woodmen would be held next week for the election of a delegate to attend the national convention at Chicago Jan. 23 for the establishing of proper insurance rates for the order, O. W. Olson, former consul of the Duluth camp, No. 2341, said yesterday that no meeting would be held in Duluth, as the presidents of each camp will attend the meeting as delegates.

"Although some cities are appointing special delegates for the meeting," said Mr. Olson, "it is not at all necessary and, according to the camp by-laws, the consul of each camp may attend as its delegate. The delegates will assemble in Chicago Tuesday morning and it is expected that the meetings will continue the rest of next week. The establishing of new insurance rates will be the main issue before the meeting and it is not probable that the convention will adjourn until next Saturday."

Besides Mr. Olson, John H. Norton of the Imperial camp, No. 2206, Carl L. Johnson of Virginia and John G. Larson of Two Harbors will also attend the meeting as their camp delegates. They all leave Sunday morning over the Northwestern road.

SAY CLUB MEETINGS ARE NOT ANNOUNCED.

Several of the West end business men interviewed this morning regarding the statement of S. W. Hill that there is a West End Commercial club in existence at the present time, said that they were unaware of the fact and that no meetings have been called for the past six months to their knowledge.

"If there is a club as is claimed," said on of the Superior street business men this morning, "we hav not known it, as no meetings are called and there is no regular system of getting the members out. I am supposed to be a membr of the club and will surely attend any mteting if it is called and announced beforehand. The West end neds the active work of a club and not the mere fact that it exists only in name. We can obtain numerous improvements for this end of the city by such club meetings."

The statement made by Mr. Hill yesterday that the members do not care to come out to the meetings and that the only way to gain any improvements, is for the members to get together, is agreed to by the business men of the West end and they are now anxious that meetings be called very week or two weeks." "We need a system like the Commercial club has adopted in West Duluth," say the business men.

West End Briefs.

After having been closed during the holidays, the Baptist Young People's school of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, met for the first time yesterday afternoon. Rev. Milton Fish, pastor of the church, conducted the meeting.

O. G. Otterman of Waukesha, Wis., will leave for his home tomorrow after spending the past week with relatves in the West end.

The Young People's Society of St Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, met in the church parlors last evening.

Under the auspices of the North Star Lodge, No. 11, I. O. G. T., the traveling "tramp orchestra" of the order gave a special musical program last evening at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and First street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Hanson of Brainerd, Minn., are guests this week of relatives in the West end.

Misses Ellen and Lucille Boasberg of Minneapolis, who have been visiting friends in the West end for the past two weeks, left for their home yesterday afternoon.

"When Are Christians Chastised?" was the subject of the sermon preached last evening by Rev. Milton Fish of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street.

George M. Jensen, 2117 West First street, has been placed in charge of renting the halls for the new Woodmen building at Twenty-first avenue west and First street.

BUYS OUT WEST END FURNITURE HOUSE.

Erick Hagstrom, 21 years a resident of the West end, and the past 16 years employed in Elevator E, and Charles J. Lundquist, a resident of Superior, Wis., for the past 6 years, have bought out the interests and good will of the West End Furniture House, 2012 West Superior street, formerly conducted by Joe Popkin.

Both the boys are experienced in the furniture and stove line and their aim will be to keep up the past policy of the house, to sell the best goods at lowest prices. They have made many alterations in enlarging the store and their stock, and their aim will be to keep abreast of the times with the up-to-date goods, both in new and second-hand lines. They desire all who wish anything for housekeeping purposes, including stoves, to make them a call. They will still retain the West End Furniture House slogan, "You can get the best here for either cash or credit."

BIG CLUBS WILL HELP SMALLER ONES.

Maj. H. V. Eva, secretary of the Commercial club, returned from Minneapolis this morning where he has been attending the meeting of the state executive committee of commercial clubs. Two important matters were taken up, the setting of the date for the annual meeting of the state association and the decision to do whatever possible to aid small clubs.

"It has been a problem for a long time," says Mr. Eva, "how the clubs in small towns can best be maintained, and the larger organizations are trying to help solve the problem.

"As the difficulties to me met by small clubs are different from those of the larger organizations, it is hard for us to know just what suggestions to offer. The subject will be thoroughly worked over and then suggestions will be made."

Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 20 and 21, were set as the date for the state meeting, the Radisson hotel, Minneapolis, being chosen as the place.

C. A. McPHERRIN PASSES AWAY

Well-Known Duluth Attorney Dies After a Long Illness.

C. A. McPherrin, 52 years of age, and until a few years ago one of the well known attorneys of the city, died yesterday noon at his home, 2220 Minnesota avenue, of acute dilation of the heart.

Mr. McPherrin was actively engaged in the practice of law in Duluth until a few years ago, when ill health forced him to give up most of his work. He has continued to reside in the city and the last six years he has made his home with his family across the canal.

Mr. McPherrin had a host of friends and acquaintances in the city who will be grieved to hear of his death. He was a man of extremely pleasant, equable temperament and was held in the highest esteem by all who knew him. He served as assistant county attorney for four years and made an excellent record during the time he was in the office. He has been in Duluth the last nineteen years.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence on Park Point. Interment will be at Forest Hill cemetery.

Besides his widow he is survived by two children, a son and a daughter.

The Doctor's Answers on Health and Beauty Questions

By DR. LEWIS BAKER.

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similiar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, Ohio, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

Elizabeth says: "I am troubled with a constant headache which also affects my eyes. My breath is awful, as I have a severe case of catarrh of the head and throat."

Answer: I receive daily hundreds of letters from people who have suffered as you do and who have been cured with the following prescription: Make a wash by mixing one-half teaspoonful of Vilane powder, which you can purchase from any druggist in 2 oz. packages, and add to this one pint of warm water, use this in the nostrils daily to thoroughly cleanse them. A catarrh balm should be used with this. This is made by mixing one teaspoonful of Vilane powder with one ounce of lard or vaseline and apply well up into the nostrils twice a day. If this is used daily, your catarrh will soon vanish. It should, however, be used occasionally to prevent a return of the disease.

"C. G." writes: "If you know of anything that will cure dandruff, itching scalp and premature baldness, please let me know what it is."

Answer: For several years I have prescribed plain yellow minyol as superior to anything known for the treatment of diseased scalp. Get it in four-ounce jars with full directions. It quickly overcomes all diseases of hair and scalp and gives new vigor and intense natural color to the hair. Try it fairly and you will advocate its use for your friends.

"Mildred" writes: "I am constantly embarrassed because of the fact of my extreme thinness. I have absolutely no color in my face or lips and I am dull and lifeless most of the time. Please advise me what to do."

Answer: If you are so thin and pale and your lips and cheeks colorless it is because your blood is deficient in red corpuscles. This can be easily overcome by the use of three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets, which can be had from any druggist in sealed cartons with full directions for taking. When the blood is enriched by the use of these tablets your weight will increase, the color will come back into your face and lips, and it will improve your general system so that you will become strong and healthy.

"Edna" writes: "I suffer with rheumatism all the time and I shall be very glad if you can tell me something to relieve me."

Answer: I can give you a prescription which will not only relieve, but will cure your rheumatism. This is my favorite remedy and from the number of letters received from people who have used it proves its value in curing rheumatism. The following is made by mixing well, taking a teaspoonful at meal times and again before retiring: Comp. essence carduol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; syrup sarsaparilla comp., 5 ozs.; iodide of potassium, 2 drams; wine of colchicum, one-half ounce; sodium salicylate, 4 drams.

"Morris" asks: "I have suffered with a chronic cough for almost a year, and catch a fresh cold every few weeks. Nothing the doctor gives me helps, so I write to you."

Answer: You need a thorough laxative cough syrup, one that not only relieves but surely drives it from the system. The following regularly used will cure any curable cough or cold promptly. Obtain a 2½ oz. bottle of essence mentho-laxene, mix it with a home-made sugar syrup or honey as per directions on bottle.

"Anxious B." writes: "I have in recent years been threatened with appendicitis, but would never consent to an operation. Indigestion, constipation and sedentary habits cause me much suffering. Kindly prescribe for dyspepsia something which you think will cure me and prevent appendicitis."

Answer: The most scientific and satisfying treatment for your trouble is tablets triopeptine; packed pink, white and blue in sealed cartons with full directions. All stomach disorders can be conquered by regular treatment.

• • •

"Nervous M." writes: "Loss of sleep, nervousness, loss of appetite and overwork has made almost a complete wreck of me. I have to work, but can scarcely drag one foot after the other. Please advise."

Answer: The condition you describe is prevalent especially with brain workers. Use the following: Compound syrup of hypophosphites, 5 ozs.; tincture cadomene, 1 oz. Mix, shake well and take a teaspoonful before meals.

"K. J." writes: "I have become so fat in the last two years that I am uncomfortable, unhappy and frequently embarrassed. Exercise and diet seem to not help. Please advise."

Answer: To avoid substitution get these two ingredients and mix in a bottle, shaking well before taking. Aromatic elixir, 5 ozs.; glycol arbolene, 1 oz. Take a teaspoonful after each meal for the first three days. After that double the dose and continue for several weeks or months as your case requires. A reduction of a pound a day is usual after the first week or two.

"Sara C." writes: "I am constipated and have a greasy skin. Suffer from headache, indigestion and some kidney trouble. I wish you to recommend a remedy."

Answer: The best remedy to relieve and cure chronic constipation is called three-grain sulpherb tablets made from sulphur, cream of tartar and herb medicines. Taken regularly the blood is purified, the bowels and liver stimulated into healthy action and a cure established. They are packed in sealed tubes with full directions. These tablets are splendid for children as they do not gripe or sicken.

"Mamma": I know of nothing better for bed-wetting than: 1 dram of tincture cubebs, 3 drams of tincture rhus aromatic and 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort. Mix. The dose is 12 to 15 drops in water one hour before meals.

PIONEERS HAVE MEET

Early Residents of Red River Valley Have Reunion at Crookston.

Plans Considered for Big Summer Picnic Somewhere in Famous Valley.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The mid-winter meeting of the Polk county auxiliary of the Red River Valley Old Settlers' association last evening proved the biggest meeting in the history of the local branch. Over 250 of the pioneers gathered in the rooms of the Crookston Commercial club, where a very fine program of speeches, readings and music was enjoyed, followed by a banquet and an hour of round table talks.

President O. I. Hamery of the Polk county auxiliary presided, and addresses were made by Judge William Watts of Crookston and Judge Andrew Grindeland of Warren, both of the district bench, Senator A. D. Stephens of Crookston. Other numbers were songs by the Viking chorus, vocal solos by Miss Katherine Wheeler and O. W. Peterson, piano solo by Miss Beth Rapin and readings by Alderman John Craword.

President James Elton of the Red river valley association was unable to be present, his sustaining a broken arm. The speakers confined themselves to the progress made, privations suffered and humorous anecdotes of the early days, and the gathering was a most happy one.

A big midsummer picnic was decided upon, at which it is planned to have between 2,000 and 3,000 people gather for an all-day celebration at some point along the river.

FEDERAL OFFICER CONDUCTS HEARING

Maj. Shunk Hears Sensational Charges About Logs in Red River.

Chookston, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Maj. Shunk held a hearing yesterday relative to the charges that the lumber companies, by permitting log jams in the Red Lake river, are to blame for the abnormally low stage of the water in the river at the present time and since last July. W. G. Hunt, editor of the Sunbeam, published at Sunbeam, Pennington county, representing the farmers and other residents of the eastern section of Pennington county, presented sworn affidavits of the condition of the river. He described in detail six log jams beginning at the outlet of Red Lake, the jams being forty rods to three-fourths of a mile in length and from forty rods to a mile apart. He stated that the logs were jammed into the bottom of the river, many of them up-ended, and that there was a difference of from a foot to two feet in the depth of the water in the river above and below each jam. Hunt said in many instances the river had started a new channel around the jams, but that it had frozen up since the recent cold snap.

The editor complained of the fruitlessness of lodging complaints with the federal engineer in St. Paul, claiming letters were not even answered until Congressman Steenerson had been appealed to, and that when a man had been sent up to investigate he had gone only as far as Thief River Falls where the government representative had reported there was not water enough in the river to float a rowboat and that as there were no roads to the outlet of the lake, he could not report regarding the jams if there were any.

Purposely Dammed River?

Mr. Hunt charged the lumber and logging companies with purposely permitting the jams to remain unbroken with the hope of so damming the water till next spring that the logs would float down without the expense of driving them during low water, and expressed the most bitter indignation over the conditions. He also severely criticized the Minnesota state game and fish commission for expending thousands of dollars for the propagation of fish, and then permitting jams to remain for months and said they could be fast in the spring at the time the fish went up to spawn and declared that no fish could get past any of the log jams which now exist. Several others reiterated what Mr. Hunt had said.

There was no complaint by Crookston parties as the stage of water is ample there, but Aldermen K. C. Hunter and Hugh Ryan of Grand Forks were here getting names for a gigantic protest to be filed at Grand Forks at the hearing with the hope of getting relief at the earliest date possible in the spring and action that will prevent log jams in the future if the government determines the jams are the real cause of the low stage of the river at the present time.

There are those who contend that the jams have nothing to do with the low stage of the water. The Red lake is three and a half feet lower now than for a quarter of a century. This is an undisputed fact, and it is contended by this faction that the water would be just as low if there was not a log in the river at all, or at least that there is no material stoppage as a result of the log jam.

What Grand Forks Proposes.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Six important benefits would accrue to the Red River valley through carrying out a plan of river improvement urged upon Maj. Francis R. Shunk, who closed his series of three hearings here yesterday and departed for St. Paul last night.

The six benefits which it is contended can be brought about through the construction of a series of lock dams on the Red river, and a controlling dam at the headwaters of the Red Lake river, are set forth by the Grand Forks Commercial club's river navigation commission in a statement filed with Maj. Shunk, and they are as follows:

Navigation through the entire open season would be assured and extensive river transportation would be developed.

With the danger of failure of service removed, the present water power plants along the Red Lake river in Minnesota would develop on an assured basis and others be added, until a total of more than 10,000 continuous horse-power could ultimately be in operation.

Quality of Water Improved.

If a continuous flow with good current at all times, including especially the dry seasons of dry years, could be secured, the quality of the water of the Red Lake river for domestic and municipal use of the dwellers on the farms and in the cities along its banks would be greatly improved and the comfort and health of all would thereby be much profited.

At irregular intervals of few or many years, high spring floods pass down the valley, whereby immense damage is some times wrought. The operation of the Red lake as a reservoir would reduce the heighth of the greatest flood in the valley one foot, more or less, with benefits accruing.

Many thousand acres of swamp lands abutting on the Red Lake river near the lake could be drained and reclaimed after the lake outlet channel was dredged and the flow regulated.

The Red river would be brought, by the series of dams, to a nearly uniform level or unvarying stage through most of the year. Thus, instead of being bordered by wide mudbanks, the stream would have banks vegetation covered to the very edge of the water.

These six benefits, it is contended, can be brought about with very small expenditure.

JURY DISAGREES IN CASE AGAINST SHERIFF

SHERIFF SCHWITTAY.

Marinette, Wis., Jan. 19.—The jury in the case against Sheriff A. F. Schwittay, charged with criminal libel by Attorney P. A. Martineau, late last night reported itself unable to agree, and was discharged.

OLD RAILROAD BUILDER DIES

Capt. E. C. Davis of Crookston, War Veteran, Called at 80.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. E. C. Davis aged 80 years, a territorial pioneer once prominent as a railroad contractor when James J. Hill first acquired the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba railroad, and who built many miles of that road and a large number of the bridges across the Red and Red Lake rivers, died Friday. He will be buried Saturday afternoon from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Wolf. The old settlers and the G. A. R. will have charge of the funeral. The deceased was a man of more than average ability and was among the first mayors of Crookston.

LIDGERWOOD, N. D., HAS COSTLY FIRE

Damages Estimated at $140,000 Result From Business District Blaze.

Lidgerwood, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Four buildings were destroyed by fire, one was almost completely demolished by an explosion and another building was razed by the firefighters to prevent further progress of flames, which yesterday entailed a loss of $140,000 in the business district. The fire started in the basement of the Movius Mercantile company by an explosion of lubricating oil.

The arrival of the Hankinson fire department by a special train after the fire had been under way two and a half hours, saved eight business buildings.

The First National bank building was wrecked by an explosion which took place between the roof and the ceiling of the upper floor. The front wall was blown into the street.

Starting in the Movius Mercantile company stove the fire consumed that building and jumped across the street to a building occupied by the F. S. Movius furniture store and the Dakota Realty company, consumingn it, and then destroying Phil Wirtenberger's general store. There the flames were stopped by the razing of the G. L. Kennedy barbershop building. Weak water pressure during the heighth of the fire, because of the use of too many streams, was responsible for the manner in which the fire jumped across the street.

Losses and Insurance.

The losses and insurance follow:

Movius Mercantile company, building and stock, loss $100,000; insurance, $47,500.

E. F. Movius furniture store, stock and building, loss, $23,000; insurance, $4,500.

Phil Wirtenberger, stock and building, $8,000. Covered by insurance, some stock being saved.

H. Dutton, owner of Kennedy barbershop building, loss, $800. No insurance.

Dakota Realty company, loss on building, $1,000. Covered by insurance.

In addition there was a loss of about $5,000 to owners of offices in the Movius furniture store building, and in the second floor of the First National bank.

MAKES COLDS OR GRIPPE VANISH

Most Severe Cold and Grippe Misery Relieved In a Few Hours.

You can surely end Grippe and break up the most severe cold either in head, chest, back, stomach, or limbs, by taking a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, mucous catarrhal discharges, running of the nose, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, without interference with your usual duties and with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

RECRUITS CHANGE MINDS.

Enlist at Marquette Then Quit at Detroit.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Enlisting in the United States marine corps at the recruiting station in this city, but changing their minds at Detroit, where they were sent to be sworn in, William Harrington, Jr. of Ishpeming, and John P. Hayes of this city, were put under arrest by Sergeant Swincki, local recruiting office, on their return to this city. Hayes is now in the county jail and Harrington is at liberty on his own recognizance, his father having promised that the young man would appear whenever wanted to answer to the charge against him.

The charge is having used money appropriated for military purposes for private ends. It is probable that Hayes and Harrington will have to appear before a magistrate and answer to the charges against them. Sergeant Swincki states that the offense with which Hayes and Harrington are charged is punishable by a fine or imprisonment, or both.

ALLEGES PERSECUTION.

Accused Theatrical Man Expects to Disprove Minneapolis Charge.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 19.—A. J. Kavanaugh, proprietor of the Grand theater, who has returned from Minneapolis, characterizes his arrest and the charge of grand larceny against him in connection with a Minneapolis diamond theft as a piece of persecution pure and simple, and says that if the case ever comes to trial this will be effectually shown. He charges that the county attorney was afraid that he would not get sufficient reputation out of the affair and so swore out the indictment on which Kavanaugh was arrested. Mr. Kavanaugh says that the indictment was not returned following the testimony of witnesses, but that it was on the say-so of the county attorney. Before leaving Minneapolis yesterday it was intimated that the case would not even be brought to trial.

HAS WONDERFUL DOME.

That of Wisconsin's New Capitol Is Second to Only One.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 19.—The great dome being completed on Wisconsin's new capitol here of which granite and along heroic lines will be classed as one of the greatest in the world. It will cost nearly $3,000,000.

From the foundation to the figure that will surmount it, the dame will measure 300 feet. The height of the one on the national capitol in Washington is given as 287½ feet and 300 feet. Other world-famous domes that tourists have traveled many miles to see are as follows:

Pantheon, Rome, 143 feet; St. Peters, Rome, 330 feet; St. Sophia, Turkey, 201 feet; St. Paul's London, 215 feet; Duono, Milan, 254 feet.

Other state capitols are built along more extravagant lines, but the architects say that Wisconsin's new capitol will be as impressive as any in the country, not excepting the one in New York and the one in Pennsylvania, by reason of the simple, massive style of architecture, and the four great wings with the giant dome in the center.

DEAD MAN'S COMPANION CENSURED BY JURY.

Valley City, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The coroner's jury that investigated the freezing to death of Joseph Martin near here returned a verdict censuring the dead man's companion for failure to use due diligence in trying to save the victim.

The jury found that the man had been left on the prairie, where his dead body was afterwards found by Elmer Isensee.

Big Claim For Song.

Milwaukee, Wis, Jan. 19.—The final chapter was written in the Plankinton bank failure this week when Judge Tarrant discharged trustee, the Fidelity Trust company. The last act of the trustee was the sale to Arthur Knight for $100 of a claim of $316,000 against the estate of Fred T. Day, who was cashier of the bank and surrendered all his property to the creditors.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Big Falls—George J. Maloney of Duluth, deputy United States marshal, spent Sunday in the city subpoenaing witnesses to appear before the federal grand jury Tuesday in the case of the United States vs. Charles F. Wirt.

Perham—Matt Pamppi was arrested Tuesday for assaulting and beating his wife and driving her out of the house. He was brought before Judge Haarala and pleaded guilty to the charge against him and was fined $25 and costs or thirty days in the county jail at Fergus Falls.

Stillwater—Mrs. Lena Chatterton, wife of Charles Chatterton, died at the family residence in Oak Park Wednesday after an illness of one and a half years, aged 47 years. Mrs. Chatterton has been a resident of the Park for the past ten years. Surviving are the husband, four sons, mother, brother and a sister.

Little Falls—Robert W. Bonynge of Denver, Colo., delivered an address on monetary and banking reforms at the courthouse Tuesday evening. He is a very forceful speaker and has a thorough knowledge of his subject.

Cuyuna—The First State Bank of Cuyuna had its annual election of officers and re-elected the old officials as follows: President, Isaac Hazlett; vice president, J. J. Meyer; second vice president, F. B. Coon; cashier, R. W. Wedgewood. The directors include Isaac Hazlett of Minneapolis, J. J. Meyer, F. B. Coon and W. E. Parker of Wadena, and H. J. Ernster of Deerwood.

Anoka—Paul Andre went out doors during the cold spell, and the boy, who is only 8 years of age, put his mouth, wide open, over the pump handle. The frost froze his tongue and lips fast to the handle and in breaking loose he cruelly tore his tongue and mouth. A physician was summoned and the boy suffered a great deal.

Luverne—Mrs. Jeanette La Due, wife of Hon. J. J. La Due, died Tuesday at her home in Luverne, aged 51, of pneumonia. Mrs. La Due was a native of New York state and came West with her husband years ago. For years they have been residents of Luverne, where Mr. La Due is engaged in the banking business. Besides her husband, Mrs. La Due is survived by four sons, John of St. Peter, Clarence, Lamott and Albert of Luverne, and Miss Mabel, also of that city.

Dilworth—Miss Rushfeldt, county superintendent of schools, spent Tuesday here, visiting the Dilworth schools. She reports the work progressing very nicely, but states that the enrollment is growing so rapidly that a new schoolroom is to be provided at once. The enrollment is now upwards of 130.

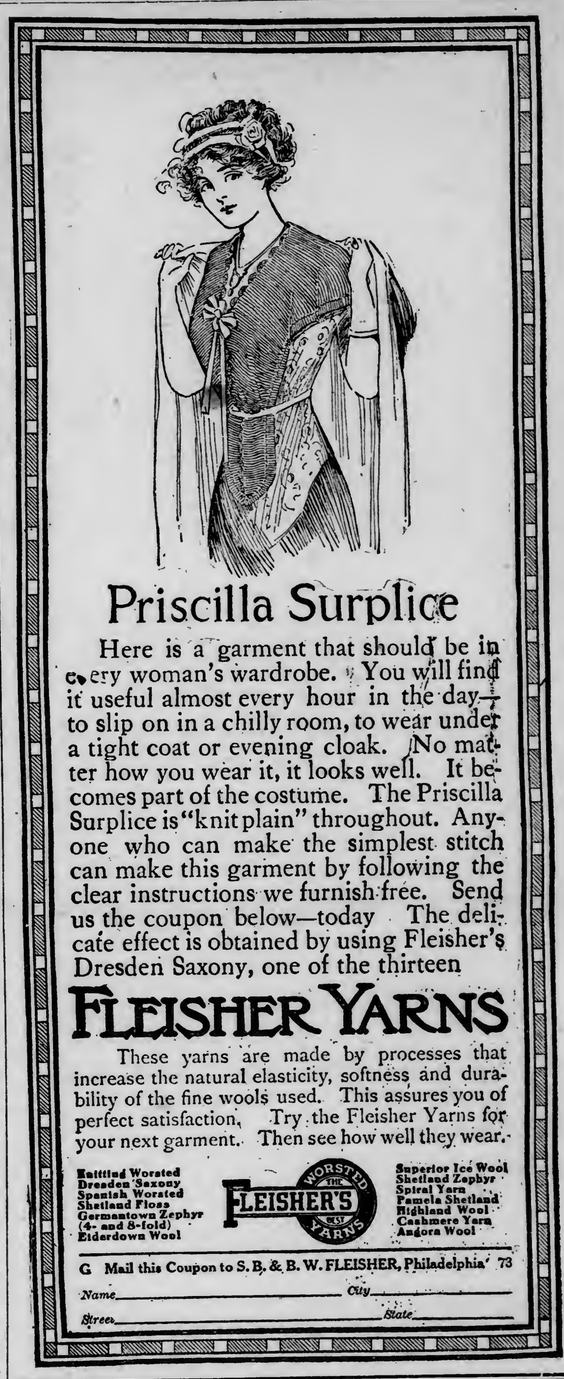

Moorhead—The insurance company carrying the loss upon the Leved Art store, which was damaged by fire some time ago, has declined flatly to pay the loss on the ground that Leved did not own the stock at the time was insured. Instead of fighting the matter Leved surrendered his policy to the resident agent, George L. Walker, and accepted the tender of the return of the premium.

Red Wing—C. E. Sheldon will leave here on Saturday, Jan. 27, for the West on his way around the world. He will travel in company with his brother-in-law, Edmund D. Brooks of Minneapolis, and plans to be gone from home about five months.

Bemidji—At a meeting of the village council in Nymore Tuesday evening it was decided that the liquor license of the mill suburb be raised from $500 to $750. It was also decided that a volunteer fire department be organized.

International Falls—Additional radiation is being installed in the courthouse owing to the fact that the building was not comfortable during the recent cold snap.

Barnesville—Wendell Howard, the 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Howard of South St. Paul avenue, Winnipeg, who left Winnipeg mysteriously, was found riding under a cushion on the Great Northern "Winnipeg Limited" Wednesday night by Conductor Cook and taken off here. He was sent home. The boy gave no reason for leaving home except that he wanted to see the world.

ON THE IRON RANGES

SHIP TUBERS FROM AURORA

Duluth Probably Will Get First Consignment From the Mesaba Range.

Car of Fine Potatoes Grown in That Section Being Loaded.

Aurora, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. C. Talboys is loading a car of potatoes to ship to Duluth. This is believed to be the first car load of potatoes to be shipped from the Mesaba range to outside markets.

The potatoes are of the finest quality and were all grown in the immediate vicinity of Aurora, coming from Embarrass, Pike River, Mesaba and from the farming country south of town. Gust Noble, a representative of the firm of Fitzsimmons & Palmer of Duluth to whom the potatoes have been sold, stated after an inspection, that the potatoes in Mr. Talboy's bins are the finest he has seen.

The farming country about Aurora has developed considerably in the past several years and the merchants of the town have always taken everything the farmers were able to raise, paying the highest market prices. As a result much of the produce sold in the local stores has been home grown. The farmers have always been given the benefit of the best prices and at the same time the local consumers have been able to buy their produce at prices much lower than in other range towns where practically all produce has been shipped in.

To Build Storehouse.

Anticipating an increasing amount of produce from year to year, Mr. Talboys will erect a large shed in the spring near to the tracks where he will load cars for outside markets.

The development of the farming country has been greatly assisted by the liberal policy of the town board of the town of White in building roads to the leading farming settlements, giving the farmers a means of bringing their produce to market. The market house, recently erected by the village, has also been a factor in inducing farmers from a distance to come to Aurora.

Shows That Dairying Pays.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Haehnke of Wolf is demonstrating that dairying pays in this section of St. Louis county. He is an old timer on the Mesaba range and has a fine farm well developed, five miles from Virginia. He ships his milk to the Globe hotel at Eveleth and to Miller's cafeterla in Virginia and recently stated to a friend that he was receiving 95 per cent more for his product than are the farmers of Southern Minnesota, who sell direct to farmers. Haehnke recently sent a sample of the soil on his farm to the state agricultural college for analysis to determine whether or not it would grow alfalfa and received an adverse report. Third growth alfalfa over a foot high was shown at the St. Louis county fair here last year.

RIDER SAYS HE CALLED WOODS

Executive Agent Asked That Expense Accounts Be Filed.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 19.—H. A. Rider, executive agent of the state game and fish commission, said yesterday that Deputy Warden Woods of the Mesaba range had been asked to come in and straighten out his expense account.

"Mr. Woods was appointed to his position last September," Mr. Rider said. "He has drawn his salary regularly, but has turned in no expense accounts, although we have asked for them."

Mr. Rider added that since Woods was appointed he has made seventy-four arrests and been one of the most active wardens on the range.

TWO HARBORS YEOMEN INSTALL NEW OFFICERS.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Yeomen installed officers Wednesday evening at the K. of P. Hall. The installation was public and about sixty members and friends were present. Paul A. Neumann, was installing officer. P. F. Harouff, district manager arrived from Sandstone, on the morning train, and acted as chief Yeoman. He was assisted by two young ladies of the order as special guards, Mrs. O. J. Hooker acted as custodian of badges. The work was put on very nicely.

After the ceremonies, dancing was participated in until midnight, when a very appetizing lunch was served by the ladies. They have organized a Rowena circle, and the results are very satisfactory. The local order now numbers more than 100 members, and it has been organized only a year.

Mr. Harouff will return to Sandstone today, where he will organize a homestead of the order next week, after which time he will return to Duluth, and other fileds in the work.

TO SHOW POULTRY AT TWO HARBORS

Sixth Annual Display of Fine Birds to Be Made Next Week.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sixth annual exhibition of Lake County Poultry association will be held next week beginning on Tuesday, and closing Thursday.

It is expected that quite a number of birds from Duluth and Superior as well as other outside points will be exhibited.

The officers of the association are J. D. Budd, president; August Tabor, vice president; Fred W. Thias, superintendent.

The association has secured the services of W. C. Ellison of Minneapolis, to score the birds.

The officers extend to all poultrymen a hearty invitation to exhibit their birds at the Lake county show.

BRUSH WOLF IS CAUGHT IN TRAP

Farmer Near Hibbing Catches Animal and Reports Brutes Thick.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Hakala, son of a farmer living north of Chisholm, brought the skin of a large brush wolf he trapped near his home to Town Clerk Callaghan to secure the bounty.

Hakala reports that wolves are numerous this winter, but that settlers who have set traps and hunted for them this winter have had indifferent success. Residents of the outlying woods districts say that the gray timber wolf, once plentiful in this section, is seldom seen now, but that coyotes seem to be growing more numerous.

WOODENLEGGED MAN IS CLIMBER

I. Perreault, Although a Cripple, Is Famous Mesaba Range Steeplejack.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—I. Perreault of Virginia, a well-known steeplejack, who for fourteen years has made his home there, was a Hibbing visitor yesterday and announces that he hopes soon to retire from business. Perreault is about 45 years old. So far as known he is the only chimneysweep with a wooden leg, working at the business. Fourteen years ago while painting a smokestack at Yankton, S. D. he sustained a bad fall, the ankle of his left foot was so badly fractured that amputation became necessary. He wears an old-fashioned stout-built wooden leg. He has painted every large smokestack on the Mesaba range and twice since he was injured he has returned to Yankton and painted the smokestack where he sustained the injury.

TO IMPROVE ROADBED.

Great Northern Expected to Do Much Range Work.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is reported that the Great Northern road will do considerable reballasting and improving its tracks between Virginia and Grand Rapids next year. Railroad men anticipate that a couple of work trains will be put in service as soon as practicable in the spring and will probably be kept on during the greater part of next summer.

HIBBING FIRE LOSSES LIGHT

Fire Chief's Report Shows Range Town Has Been Pretty Lucky.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hibbing has been especially fortunate in the matter of escaping property losses by fire, according to local insurance men.

The annual report of Fire Chief McIlhargey shows that duringn 1911 the loss was $5,646; during 1910 it was about $7,000; in 1909, a little more than $12,000, and in 1908 $40,000.

While insurance statistics show that the average frame building used for business purposes is burned once every ten years, this has not held good in Hibbing, where a large majority of the buildings in which business is conducted are of frame. Hibbing is considered one of the most fortunate towns in the state in the matter of fires in proportion to its population and without a question has the record for the Mesaba range as Virginia has had two bad fires and Chisholm was once destroyed by forest fires. The city's fire department is one of the most efficient in the state.

OLD TWO HARBORS RESIDENT BURIED

Last Rites for John Lingren Who Lived There Twenty-Nine Years.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of John August Lingren, one of the earliest settlers of this city, having resided here for twenty-nine years, was held yesterday at 1 o'clock a. m. from the residence and at 2 o'clock p. m. from the Swedish Lutheran church, the pastor, Rev. J. D. Nelsentus officiating. Interment was made in the Two Harbors cemetery.

The pallbearers were Fred Hagberg, Gust Nelson, Gust Jackson, Ole Week, John Ekholm and Alfred Clausson. Deceased was a member of the United Order of Druids and was insured for $1,000.

Mr. Lingren was injured on Aug. 21 by falling from a wagon while assisting in the removal of tables and chairs from the picnic grounds at Stewart River. Seated on a table in the wagon, a sudden jerk of the horses caused him to fall, wherein his left knee cap was broken in several places. He was taken to the Budd hospital, where an operation was performed and later specialists from Duluth were called in consultation.

However, his constitution was not able to withstand the shock, and the long confinement and he died Monday.

Was Born in Sweden.

Mr. Lingren was born in Sweden, June 13, 1863, immigrated to America in 1883 and came to Two Harbors the same year. He was employed by the Duluth, Iron Ranges as ore-trimmer and blacksmith, after which he engaged in the saloon business, in which he was interested at the time of his death. He was married in 1895 and is survived by a widow and seven children, four boys and three girls. He also leaves a brother, Joseph Lingren, sister, Mrs. Peterson, and aunt, all of Taylor Falls, Minn., and one brother, Martin Carlson, of Sweden.

OLD SETTLERS' DANCE.

Every Man Read This

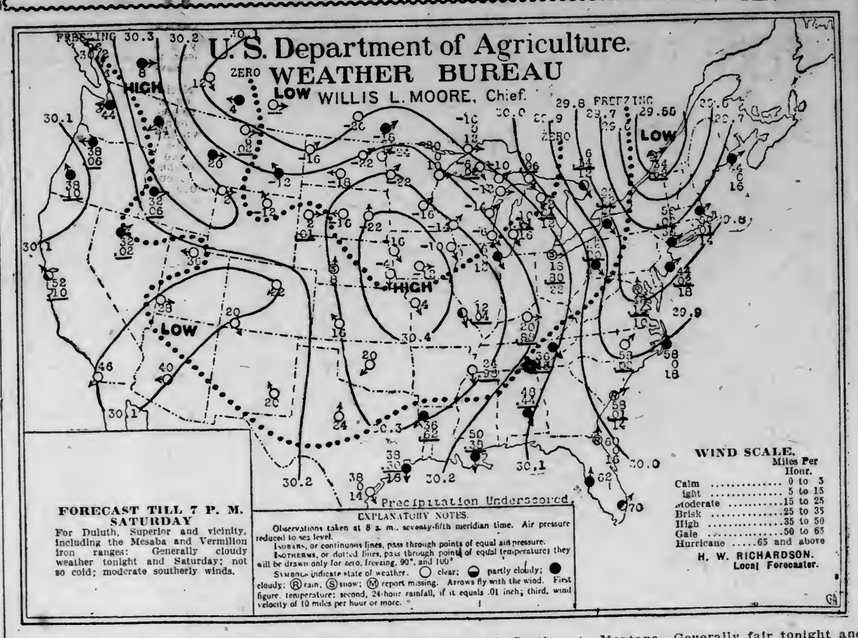

This treatment is said to have acquired a wonderful reputation throughout the East, owing to its peculiar propensity to fortify the nerve force and generate health and a consequent personal magnetism, so essential to the happiness of every normal human being. It is claimed to be a blessing to those who are physically impaired, gloomy, despondent, nervous and who have trembling of the limbs, dizziness, heart palpitation, cold hands and feet, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing and general inability to act rationally as others do. Also of vast benefit to writers, professional men, office workers and the victims of society's late hours and over-indulgence in wines, liquors, etc.

By preparing the treatment at home secretly, no one need know of another's trouble, while the ingredients are much used in filling various prescriptions, so that even the purchase of them separately need occasion no timidity.

If the reader decides to try it, get three ounces of ordinary syrup sarsaparilla compound, and one ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom) mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at night.

This contains no opiates whatever and may also be used by women who suffer with their nerves with absolute certainty of prompt and lasting benefits.

H. W. RICHARDSON, Local Forecaster.

CLOUDY

The weather man expects pleasant weather for the next twenty-four hours and maybe longer.

The cold wave is vanishing and in Duluth the mercury will gradually rise until sometime tonight when temperatures ranging from 5 to 10 deg. below zero will prevail. Things will warm up again tomorrow morning and the mercury will crawl up to zero and above during Saturday. Prospects indicate a moderately warm spell for some time unless a sudden change takes place.

Twenty below was the coldest last night and at 7 o'clock this morning. At 10:30 the thermometer registered 14 below with the mercury still going up. Fair skies and moderate southerly winds prevail.

Duluth was not the coldest place in the Northwest by any means. In some parts the mercury registered 24 below, and the cold wave extended over the Dakotas, Montana, parts of Canada and as far southwest as Nebraska. The sun rose this morning at 7:47 and will set at 4:51, making nine hours and four minutes of sunlight. A year ago today it was cold and raw.

Mr. Richardson comments on weather conditions as follows:

"Decidedly colder weather prevails in the lake region, Missouri, Mississippi and Ohio valleys and Western Gulf states in connection with the high pressure central over Western Iowa and Eastern Nebraska. Rather severe cold is the rule throughout the whole Northwest and southward to including Southeastern Nebraska and Southern Iowa, but the temperature over the greater part of these districts will moderate somewhat during the ensuing thirty-six hours. During Saturday the temperature will probably rise to zero or slightly above at the Head of the Lakes. During the last twenty-four hours rain or snow fell over most of the Mississippi valley and from thence eastward to the Atlantic coast as a result of the disturbance centered over Quebec. Rain or snow also fell over Northern California, Nevada, Washington, Oregon, Northern Montana, Western South Dakota and central Nebraska."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Saturday:

Chicago and vicinity—Increasing cloudiness tonight, probably followed by snow flurries Saturday; lowest tonight slightly above zero; rising temperature Saturday; light variable winds.

Upper Michigan—Fair tonight and Saturday; rising temperature Saturday and in west and central portions tonight.

Wisconsin — Increasing cloudiness with probably light snow flurries late tonight or Saturday; rising temperature.

Minnesota—Increasing cloudiness tonight and Saturday; rising temperature tonight.

Iowa—Increasing cloudiness with probably light snow flurries tonight or Saturday; warmer tonight and in east portion Saturday.

North Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; warmer in east and south portions tonight.

South Dakota—Increasing cloudiness tonight and Saturday; warmer tonight.

Montana—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; not much change in temperature.

You Don't Need a New Stomach

You Can Now Look Any Meal Square in the Face, and Then Just "Go For It," if You Take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Trial Package Sent Free to Prove It.

The stomach will go on patiently for years enduring abuse, overwork and general ill-treatment. So we're apt to think it can stand anything. But when the stomach does rebel, look out!

"Every Meal Smiles at Me Now Since I've Been Taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets."

The minute the stomach ceases to perform its functions properly the whole body begins to suffer. The food is only half-digested, the body only half-nourished. And the undigested portion of the food ferments and decays, generating nauseating gases which derange the whole system. The eventual result is chronic dyspepsia, heartburn, bad breath, dizziness, flatulency and sick headache.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets instantly relieve all ailments of the stomach and digestive tract. They act quickly, safely and naturally—just like Nature herself. They contain in themselves the elements which go to make up the natural gastric juices. They actually digest the food, relieving the stomach of all the hard work. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the stand-by of many a doctor in the worst cases of stomach trouble, and they never fail him.

All druggists carry and recommend Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They are sold at 50 cents a box. If you want to try them first, we will send you a trial package free on receipt of your name and address. F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Cream Cake

Makes You Hungry to Look at It

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

When company arrives unexpectedly, this cream cake often covers an otherwise embarrassing situation, for it answers the place of any other dessert as it can be stirred up quickly.

K C Cream Cake

One-half cup butter; 1 cup sugar; yolks of 2 eggs, beaten light; 1¾ cups sifted flour; 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; ½ cup cold water; whites of 2 eggs, beaten dry.

Cream the butter; add the sugar, yolks of eggs and water; then the flour, sifted three times with the baking powder; lastly the whites of eggs. Bake in two or three layers; put these together with cream filling, and dredge the top with confectioner's sugar. 84

Cream Filling

One-fourth cup sifted flour; ¼ teaspoonful salt; 1 cup hot milk; 1 egg, beaten light; ½ cup sugar; 1 teaspoonful vanilla extract; 1 ounce chocolate.

Mix flour and salt with a very little cold milk; stir into the hot milk and cook ten minutes; add the chocolate and stir until it is melted and evenly blended with the flour mixture, then beat in the egg mixed with the sugar, and lastly the vanilla.

Stage Beauty Tells Secrets of Youth

(Theater Review in The Arch).

"I have often wondered at Jane Clayton's youthful beauty. In a burst of confidence she told me her complexion was due to a lotion which she makes by dissolving a small original package of mayatone in a half-pint of witch hazel. Massaging with this has kept her skin clear and satiny and preserves its girlish bloom.

"Her long, wavy and lustrous locks are due to dry shampooing. She says she never has time to wash her head and would not if she could, because wet shampoos make the hair dull and lifeless. A dry shampoo leaves the hair soft and fluffy. To make the dry shampoo, she puts a cupful of corn meal in a fruit jar and mixes with it the contents of a small original package of therox. It brushes out easily and takes all dirt with it.

"With a jar of Mother's Salve to cure sore throat and colds and prevent catarrh, this actress travels forty-eight weeks in the year, always looks the pink of perfection, and sings at every performance."

DULUTH MAY GET $700,000

Bill for Public Building Is Introduced at Washington.

Zenith City to Be Head of Lake Superior District for Government.

Washington, Jan. 19.—(Special to he Herald.)—Representative Miller has introduced a bill carrying $700,000 for the construction of a public building at Duluth, on the site already purchased.

The building is greatly needed, it is claimed, to house all the departments of the government located at Duluth. If constructed it will give the postoffice, federal courts, customs, land office, engineers' department, steamboat inspection and other branches of the service suitable quarters and make an important saving in rent each year, as Duluth is expected to become the center of the government's business in the entire Lake Superior district.

PRINCIPAL IN NOTORIOUS CASE

MADELINE D. BANCROFT.

The nastiness of the Bancroft divorce case at Wilmington, Del., has led the court to order the exclusion of the public from the trial. Bancroft is a member of a millionaire family and his wife is Madeline Dupont, a member of the well known Dupont family of Delaware. They eloped to Washington when he was still a college student and he took her abroad, where their child was born five months later. Bancroft returned to this country, leaving her in Munich. There she was in the company of a young Bavarian, and eleven months after her husbands departure, she gave birth to a child which she named John Bancroft, Third. When she returned to this country, Bancroft refused to recognize the child as his and brought suit for divorce. His wife brought a counter suit which is now being tried in the courts at Wilmington.

HAVE RIGHT TO KICK ON BARN

Duluth "Nuisance" Case Is Decided By Supreme Court.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Stables or barns in residence districts in which horses or cattle are housed may easily become nuisances and persons living near have right to cause abatement of such nuisances, according to the state supreme court. This opinion was handed down today in which Ole Lead and others sought to prevent Herbert Inch maintaining a barn with forty head of horses in a residence district of Duluth.

MARTIN COLE HEADS TUGMEN

Also on Committee to Help Organization of All Marine Men.

Toledo, Ohio, Jan. 19.—Capt. Martin Cole of Duluth was elected president of the Licensed Tugmen's association in convention here today. Other officers are:

First vice president, Capt. E. F. Kemmet, Cleveland; second vice president, John McSweeny, Milwaukee; secretary, Capt. H. H. Vrooman, Buffalo, (re-elected); treasurer, Peter Gagnon, Two Rivers, Wis.

The association indorsed the contemplated organization of all the marine men in the United States, 40,000 in all, into a national association for the purpose of promoting legislation favorable to their interests. A committee composed of F. E. Kemmet of Cleveland, Martin Cole of Duluth, and J. Alpha Page, Toledo, was appointed to go to Washington next Tuesday and meet the other representatives of marine organizations and form a permanent body.

FIRST OPERA WAS A BIG SUCCESS

EMANNO WOLF-FERRARI.

That delicious little opera "The Secret of Suzanne" has whetted the appetite of opera goers in New York for more of the work of Emmanno Wolf-Ferrari. It will be satisfid next week when opera goers will hear for the first time in this country, "Le Donne Curiese." The composer's work has made such a favorable impression on American music lovers that he is coming to this country, but not in time for the first performance of his opera. He will have, no doubt, as warm a reception as Puccini and Humperdinck who were here last year.

LONG LEGAL FIGHT ENDS

Judge Orders Jury to Return Verdict of $19,051 for Settler.

After litigation extending over eleven years, Granville A. Burns this afternoon was given a verdict of $19,051.38 in federal court. The jury spent the night deliberating on the case, and reported to Judge Morris this afternoon that one of the jurors was holding out, and that a verdict could not be reached. Judge Morris then took the case from the jury and ordered a verdict entered.

The case is the result of timber trespass. Burns was a homesteader on Ely lake, and he claims that the Cloquet Lumber company entered on his land and cut the timber from it, about twelve years ago. The case has dragged through the courts since that time, and the verdict entered today represents about $12,000 for the timber and the remainder in interest.

REFUSES WRIT AS TO DITCH NO. 24

Supreme Court Sustains Lower Tribunal in Martin County Case.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The supreme court today denied an injunction restraining county officers of Martin county from entering into contract for construction County Ditch No. 24, as ordered by the commissioners in June, 1911. James Keilling and others who own property in the district through which the ditch is to pass objected to the contract being let on the grounds that Contractor Axelson's bid, which won, was not the lowest; that it was not accompanied by a certified check for 10 per cent of the amount involved, and that H. P. Edwards, the county auditor, secretly made a contract with Axelson to do the work.

The supreme court holds that "determination of the responsibility of bidders, calls for the exercise of deliberation and discretion of a judiciary nature."

The order of the lower court in refusing to grant a temporary restraining order is affirmed.

COLE HEADS THE TUGMEN

In a telegram received here this afternoon from Toledo, it was announced that Captain Martin Cole of Duluth was elected president of the Licensed Tugmen's Protective association at the session of the organization this morning. The annual convention of the association is in session at Toledo, and Mr. Cole was chosen in place of E. F. Kemmet of Cleveland, who resigned.

FROZE WITHIN MILE OF SAFETY

The body of an unknown man who had evidently frozen to death, was found Wednesday within a half mile of the Johnson & Wentworth camp, nineteen miles from Kelsey. The body was brought to the undertaking establishment of Flood & Horgan in this city today. So far no one has been able to identify the body and it will probably be held a short time so that relatives or friends may claim it.

Little is known of the trip of the unknown man except the silent evidence of his tracks in the snow. He started from Kelsey on Jan. 9 to walk to the Johnson & Wentworth camp. Seventeen miles from Kelsey is a saloon, and it was learned that he reached this place safely. It is thought that after leaving the saloon, he may have been intoxicated, and at any rate he was overcome with the cold, but struggled on. Marks in the snow indicate that he had fallen several times but had struggled on until within a mile of the camp. There was only one man at the camp, a watchman, and he was unable to give any clue as to the man's identity.

ISHPEMING MINING MAN SUDDENLY STRICKEN.

Ishpeming, Mich., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Death came suddenly to Capt. William Carlson, aged 48, mine foreman at the Cliff Shaft mine, Ishpeming, yesterday morning, when he was stricken with a hemorrhage while crossing Lake Bancroft on his way to work and died before he was able to reach his home. His body was found in the snow some fifteen minutes after death had occurred.

WANT FOURTH LOCK AT SAULT STE. MARIE.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 19.—The Lake Carriers' association re-elected the old officers and J. J. Boland and A. T. Kinney were elected directors to fill vacancies. It was decided to increase the shares of capital stock in the association from 20,000 to 25,000 so as to take in some new members.

Resolutions adopted urge that a fourth lock at Sault Ste. Marie be hurried with all possible expediency upon the completion of the third lock now under construction. The resolutions also provide for committees to investigate the pollution of the water of the Great Lakes and to check the lowering of Lake Erie by the taking out of water for unnecessary purposes.

MINNESOTA SECOND AMONG BUTTER STATES.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Refuting the statement that Iowa is the greatest butter state in the country, as maintained by G. Y. McKay, secretary of the American Association of Creamery Butter Manufacturers, J. Q. Emery, the Wisconsin dairy and food commissioner, has written a letter to J. G. Winkler, the Minnesota commissioner, declaring that instead of being first, it is third. Wisconsin is first, he says, Minnesota second and Iowa a poor third.

Mr. Emery estimates that Wisconsin's output for 1911 will amount to 113,900,436 pounds; that of Minnesota, 105,450,236 pounds, and that of Iowa, 96,695,584 pounds.

From 79,131,656 pounds in 1909, Minnesota's butter output increased in 1911 to more than 100,000,000 pounds. Wisconsin has more than 1,100 creameries while Minnesota has only about 800.

BILL AUTHORIZES GRAND RAPIDS BRIDGE.

Washington, Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Miller has introduced a bill authorizing the town of Grand Rapids to construct a public highway bridge across the Mississippi river near Pokegama dam. When this dam was originally constructed a bridge across it was made to be maintained by the locality. It got into bad shape and was removed. Now the town will build an adequate bridge at a point better suited to the needs of the people.

Merrill Heads Grain Exchanges.

Chicago, Jan. 19. — J. C. F. Merrill, former president of the Chicago Board of Trade, was elected president of the council of grain exchanges today. C. A. Brown of Minneapolis succeeds J. R. Marfield of the same city as a member of the executive committee. There were no other changes in the officers.

NO HANDCUFFS IN FRANCE.

London Standard: Scarcely a day passes without a picture appearing in the French press of a prisoner being led off to the station by a policeman and the description: "The Apache being taken away handcuffed by the agents." As a maeter of fact handcuffs are altogether out of date in France and are never used.

Instead of the bracelets every policeman carries a "cabriolet," which is a very rough and masively-made article resembling a huge watch chain some ten inches long with a stout wooden crossbar at either end. An expert can slip this over the wrist of an offender in a twinkling and with both the crossbars in his hand has only to give it a twist to inflict the most excruciating pain and compel instant and lamblike submission.

Another common method of preventing escape is to make the prisoner place both his hands in his side trouser pockets and then pass a string round his wrists and round his waist and bid him march. He can walk at a very smart pace, but any attempt to run out of a shambling trot immediately brings him down, nose to the pavement.

If no string is handy all the bracbuttons of the trousers are cut off and the culprit is made again to put his hands in his pockets. As in the former case, he can only walk, since so soon as he frees his hands his neither garments fall about his legs and he is "entrave" in the latest fashion.

Few of these devices are apparent to the casual passerby, who often wonders at the passive docility with which some villainous-looking individual under arrest follows his captor to the station. Sometimes on a country road one may meet a couple of gendarmes on foot or on horseback, leading a prisoner between them.

This is obedience to a quaint regulation whereby prisoners are never sent by train from place to place, as there are no funds set apart for railway fares. Consequently four or five times as much is spent in food, drink and lodging for the escort as would be for the ticket; but the regulations are observed. In such cases the police often use the "poucettes," though strictly speaking this instrument is not legal.

It is a sort of loose thumbscrew which is fixed so as to keep the two thumbs comfortably together so long as the man does not struggle, but a twist of the string held by one of the police is enough to destroy any wish to escape.

HUNTING THE CHEETAH.

Madras Mail: The cheetah hunt which the Viceroy witnessed recently at Hyderabad reminds one that cheetah hunting was an extremely popular sport with Indian princes in former days, although the initiation of European forms of sport has done much in these times to rob it of its ancient vogue.

It was practised both by Hindu and Mohammedan chieftains over the greater part of India, for the cheetah even now is not a rare beast, and a century or so ago must have been common enough.

Another animal used in the same way by Indian nobles was a sort of lynx, spelled variously as "shoegoose," "syahgush." But this was used much more rarely than the cheetah. However, it was not only Indians who indulged in this form of sport.

It was enjoyed and practised by Europeans as well in the days when they were content to abide in India for fifteen years at a stretch and when they lived a l'Indienne in a way unknown to modern times. More than one of the company's nabobs kept their own cheetahs, which were frequently presents from friendly chiefs.

It may easily be imagined that cheetah hunting was very good sport and welcomed by the servants of the company as an excellent substitute for the coursing which was familiar to them in England and which, like the cheetah hunt, has vanished before the spread of games such as tennis and golf.

WOMAN'S REALM.

"Duluth should have an endowed theater," said Miss Cora Mel Patten this morning in a talk on her work in connection with the junior branch of the Dramatic League of America in Chicago. "I think every city of size should have a theater under the control of the city or state where the very best plays could be put on for a small admission fee. Great art belongs to the people and the masses of people are not wealthy, so I believe the best thing in art of any kind should be offered to the people at prices which they can afford. The cheap shows do so much harm and the good plays can do so much good that it is too bad not to be able to give the good in place of the poor.

"I think, too, that every city should have several good plays and entertainments each season suitable for children, and the children should be encouraged to give plays and entertainments not only for the purpose of making money but to give enjoyment to the little folks as well as to those who are in the entertainments.

"It builds up their character along good strong lines. In Chicago where the work of the Junior league was only started this fall they have a great many branches working throughout the city and surrounding districts and the idea is being taken up all over the country."

Yesterday afternoon Miss Patton spoke at the high school before the teachers and club women of the city and she outlined the growth of the drama movement for children durting the past ten years. She spoke of the work of Miss Alice Herts of New York and her work with the children along these lines. She also spoke of her efforts to secure an endowed theater for that city. "We in Chicago should also like to have an endowed theater," said Miss Patton, "but I believe the best way to make a success of such a theater is to gain the subscriptions from the masses for then their interests would be centered in the theater and its work and it would draw their attention and their patronage."

She pointed out that the dramatic instinct is a dominant factor in human life, the significance of which is only beginning to be recognized by parents and educators, and she told of her work with the children in putting on plays.

Aside from the occasional story hour, the moving picture show is almost the only form of entertainment now offered to the children.

A junior drama league may be organized by public or private schools, churches, clubs or other educational or social institutions.

Suggestive courses of study containing a list of reference books for teachers and lists of plays for children, will be issued from time to time by the league.

Miss Patton will read Besier's "Don" this evening at the high school auditorium under the auspices of the Duluth Teachers' association.

ACTRESS WILL WED BOSTON MILLIONAIRE

MISS J. LAUREL.

Miss Jane Laurel, an actress, has announced her engagement to Robert Jordan, a Boston millionaire. They are to be married in January and will sail for Egypt to spend several months there. Miss Laurel will quit the stage. She began her professional career with Mr. Sothern, playing small parts. Afterwards she appeared with William Gillette in "Sherlock Holmes." She was two seasons with John Drew.

BREAKS HIP.

Mrs. W. J. Johnston Victim of Painful Accident.

Word has been received here that Mrs. W. J. Johnston of Seattle, formerly of Duluth, has suffered a severe fall and is in a hospital with a broken hip. She sustained the injury in alighting from a street car.

Mr. Johnston was one of the pioneer merchants of Duluth, being connected with W. J. Suffel in the shoe business here for twenty years. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston left Duluth eight years ago for Seattle, where Mr. Johnston has been successful in business.

They were planning to leave their winter home in Seattle in a few days from the time the accident occurred, for Southern California to spend the remainder of the winter there.

PROGRAM PLEASES.

Duluth Musicians Are Heard in St. Paul.

Members of the Matinee Musicale, who went to the Twin Cities to give the return programs before the Schubert club of St. Paul on Wednesday and the Thursday Musicale of Minneapolis, have been well received. An account of the St. Paul program given in the St. Paul Pioneer Press of Thursday follows:

"The regular fortnightly program of the Schubert club was given yesterday afternoon in Junior Pioneer hall by members of the Matinee Musicale of Duluth. An informal reception followed, at which the guests of honor were the visiting musicians, and Mrs. George Richards, president of the Duluth society, and Mrs. McKinley, its musical director.

"Miss Faith Helen Rogers, pianist, opened the program with the first movement of MacDowell's 'Norse Sonata,' the somber, rugged song of a Northern hero. Her second appearance was with the Brahms waltz in A flat—a very subdued, sweetly reflective little dance—and with the Liszt transcription of Isolde's 'Liebested.' She closed the program with a concert arabesque on Strauss' waltz 'On the Beautiful Blue Danube,' an arrangement elaborate and modern.

"Miss Rogers plays with rather remarkable force, and with good technical authority. Her interpretations are clear and sympathetic and there is an air of poise about her work that makes it most attractive.

"The vocalist of the afternoon was Mrs. Donna Riblette Flaaten, whose high soprano found an effective medium in nearly everything she had chosen to sing. Mrs. Flaaten's intonation is particularly good, and she sings with warmth and intelligence. Charles Wakefield Cadman's 'Three Songs to Odysseus' marked her initial appearance before the audience and if these are not as beautiful as some of the composer's other works, they were well sung, especially 'Nausicaa's Song,' which is a third of the group. Later Mrs. Flaaten sang Grieg's 'Ein Schwan,' 'Das Kraut Vergessenheit,' by Von Fielitz; Strauss' 'All Mein Gedanken,' 'Contes de Fess,' by Holmes; Chaminade's 'Mon Coeur Chante,' and Spross' 'Yesterday and Today.'

"For so young a performer as she evidently is, Miss Volberg Gunderson played a violin solo, Vieuxtemps' 'Fantasia Appassionata,' in remarkable style. Her playing has sureness, and she draws a surprisingly big tone from her instrument. Beside this, her shading is accomplished with a discretion that indicates deep musical instinct, and she gave a most spirited reading of the whole work.

"Mrs. Fred G. Bradbury, who accompanied both the singer and violinist, was more than satisfactory, making her score suvplement that of the soloist with fine judgment and careful balance."

COLLEGE TEA.

THE EVENING STORY

Uncle James, Epicure

By H. F. Brennan.

"What on earth are you looking so absurdly pleased about?" demanded little Mrs. Bargles with wifely asperity as a slow grin spread itself oilily over her husband's face.

"Bit of good news, my dear," said Fred Bargles, brightly looking up from his letter, and popping into his mouth the morsel of bacon that had been cooling on his fork. "Here, read it," he added, throwing the crackling sheet of stiff letter paper across the table. "Can't stop now, car's nearly due." He gulped down his tea—folded his newspaper, to read in the car, and was making for the door when a remark fro mhis wife arrested him.

"I like your idea of good news," said that lady, with some acidity.

"Isn't it good news?" demanded Fred. "Uncle James coming to stop with us—us, not that stuck up Rudolph and his wife—and very likely if he's well treated, will want to be permanent. I know he isn't comfortable in those apartments, and he doesn't go to the club much now. Why, it's the chance of a lifetime."

"How on earth," demanded his wife, "am I to cater for a man like your uncle? He's a noted epicure and used to the best of everything at his clubs and places. How am I to manage on my money, with everything the price it is now?"

"Never mind, dear," said Mr. Bargles, "we mustn't jib at launching out a bit just for once. The most important thing is to please him and make him comfortable. And I'm sure your cooking is fit for a king." With this masterstroke of diplomacy, Fred took his hat and departed.

He left behind him a little woman with a knitted brow and a perturbed spirit. Jenny Bargles was excited and pleased at the thought of the coming visit of the affluent relative, and reverently folded the thick, stiff letter paper. At the same time, the thought of Uncle James well known epicurean tastes was disturbing to a housewife used to managing on the exiguous allowance of a city clerk's helpmate. Wherefore, Mr. Cutts, the butcher, had much ado to conceal his astonishment when thrifty little Mrs. Bargles calmly ordered a leg of lamb to be sent to her house. At that time of the year spring lamb was 22 cents a pound, and, naturally, in the ordinary way, beyond the dreams of people like Fred and Jenny Bargles. "The Bargles must have come into money," remarked Mr. Cutts, to his wife.

Fred was not far out in his estimate of his wife's culinary powers. The little woman was a natural genius at the cooking range, and the feast she placed before Uncle James at the table was, if simple, cooked to perfection. The uncle, a homely, unaffected man, in loose fitting clothes, pronounced everything "very nice," but did not make a particularly good meal. "Oh, Fred, did you see him?" sobbed Jenny, in the stillness of the connubial chamber. "He just turned that lovely lamb about with his fork, and hardly ate a bit. And 22 cents a p-p-pound that hateful C-Cutts had the nerve to charge me for it."

"Never mind," said Fred soothingly, "he ate all the potatoes anyhow." But this seemed to upset Jenny more than ever, and she cried unremittingly till her husband distracted her attention from her woes by artfully introducing the subject of the next day's meals.

"Tell you what," said Jenny hopefully, "perhaps he doesn't care for plain cooking. He's been abroad a good deal, hasn't he?"

"He's a member of the Wayfarers, and you have to have been about a bit to belong there."

"Then let's give him something more fussy. I don't mind the trouble a bit," valiantly declared Mrs. Bargles, "so long as he's pleased."

Uncle James certainly was no trouble in the house, apart from his irritating "fussiness" about his meals. He pottered about the garden, or went for a walk, and in the evening seemed content to sit over the fire with his nephew and niece-in-law, and entertain them with travel reminiscences. A simple, homely old gentleman, he quite won the heart of Jenny and made her all the more anxious that he should be properly catered for.

Jenny went out the next day and bought a new cook book. The fussy thing the little woman determined to set before the exacting epicure was goulash, and certainly her natural genius for cooking triumphed over her inexperience in the preparation of Hungary's national dish. The knobs of meat were tender and delicious and the thick gravy might have been the work of an experienced chef. Uncle James retired early that night, and Jenny looked at Fred with haggard eyes of despair.

"Oh, Fred, what are we to do?" she walled. "He hardly touched his dinner. Can't you suggest anything he'd like? After all, he's your uncle, not mine."

"How about ducklings?" hazarded Fred, after thinking deeply. Jenny clasped her hands.

"I can't help that," she breathed, "at this time of the year? Why, it's wicked. It's like eating money."

"I can't help that," retorted her husband recklessly. "In for cent in for a dollar. We've got a bit in the bank luckily, and it'll be money well invested if we can please Uncle James." In the middle of the night—or so it seemed, though it might have been later—Jenny was awakened suddenly and sharply by a loud cry from her husband.

"Asparagus," he shouted, sitting up.

"Been dreaming?" inquired Jenny.

"No," he snapped. "We must have asparagus to go with the ducks."

"I suppose you know it'll be about 50 cents a bundle."

"I don't care if it's 50 cents a stick; and if we can't buy it about here, I'll get up early and go over to the city and come back with it so that you can have it in good time."

It was yet dark when Fred, yawning hugely, got up and groped his way to the cheerless kitchen, where he made himself some tea. The street lights were not yet put out when he started for the station, and his footsteps echoed hollowly down the deserted street. As he jolted up to the city in a train he recalled with satisfaction a conversation he had had with Uncle James after the unappreciated goulash had been cleared away. The old gentleman had questioned him keenly about his position in the city firm, his present salary, and future prospects. He had listened attentively to Fred's frank and explicit replies, and seemed to ruminate deeply after each one. "Decidedly," thought the clerk, "the old chap's got something in his head about us, or why take so much interest."

Fred bought the asparagus and hurried home on the next train. One result of his unaccustomed early rising was that Fred nearly went to sleep at his desk during the afternoon, but he woke up completely when he observed the gleam of satisfaction in Uncle James' eyes at dinner time as the asparagus came on. The old gentleman ate heartily of the delicious vegetable with its accompanying oiled butter, and Jenny was in much better spirits that night, when, Uncle James having retired, the couple discussed the situation with their toes placed cheerily on the stove.

"Is he very rich?" asked Jenny wistfully.

"Must be," returned her husband. "He never spends much, however."

"He doesn't take anything to drink, I notice," she added.

"Or smoke. He was quite snappy when I offered him a cigar the first night that I paid a quarter for."

"Lucky he thought of coming to us, instead of to Rudolph."

"They wouldn't have suited him for a moment," averred Fred. "They've taken up some diet fad, and live on nuts and raw turnips, as far as I can make out." Jenny shrieked with laughter.

"Oh, poor Uncle James. Fancy the great epicure at Rudolph's. That reminds me, Fred; I must have some more money. You've no idea what things cost. It's something awful!"

"Never mind, old girl. We can stand it for once. It's only a whale to catch a mackerel—no, that's not right, of course; but you know what I mean."

All things come to an end at last, and the visit of Uncle James was no exception to the rule. He promised in cordial tones to repeat his experience at no distant date, and it may be imagined with what eagerness the Bargleses awaited a communication. It came at length, and Fred's fingers trembled so that he could hardly open the thick envelope of the club. After instructing Fred what train to meet that evening, the letter proceeded:

"And I trust you will allow me to say that I hope to see a very different style of living, when I arrive. It is well to keep a good table, but senseless and wicked extravagance is a different thing; and forced asparagus and early ducklings do not go well with the income of a city clerk. I myself used to be addicted to the pleasures of the table—as thoughtless people call them—but an impaired digestion now forces me to abstain almost entirely from flesh foods. I might have told you this whilst with you but feared to disturb your domestic arrangements."

It was a blow, but at the sight of Jenny's face Fred could not restrain from a boisterous shriek of laughter. "I can't help it," he gurgled and after a moment Jenny joined in.

"Imagine it," she gasped. "Here we've been spending all that money and wasting all that love food on a silly old vegetarian."

TEACHING CHILDREN NEED OF PEACE

MRS. FANNIE FERN ANDREWS.

Mrs. Fannie Fern Andrews of Boston has just returned from abroad, where she went to confer with the leaders in the peace movement. She is secretary of the American School Peace league. The plan of this organization is to begin peace teaching with the children in the schools. From its headquarters literature on the subject of peace is sent to all the schools. The league has distributed more than 100,000 pamphlets on the international movement. Mrs. Andrews expects to go to Japan next.

What Men Mean

By POLLY PAGET.

A man should have no secrets from his wife, except pleasant surprises he is getting up for her birthday.

When a man advertises that he wants to buy a "safe" horse for his wife to drive, he means one that is low in price.

When a man tells a woman he will make any sacrifice for her, he expects her to be equally generous and not ask any.

Many women think that men can accomplish anything. But men know better.

AROUND THE FIRESIDE WITH THE MERRY CURLERS

The Old Curler Tells of the Defeat of Bob Dunbar By the Kid Rink---The Season's Big Wrestling Match---The Fighters' Conspiracy.

(BY BRUCE.)

THE OLD curler was watching the game between Dunbar and Rochon. Three of the greatest curlers in the world were in the game—Dunbar, Cassidy and Rochon. The old curler watched every play intently. There is generally some reminiscence at every curling bonspiel; what would the great old game be without it? What are memorable games curled for, kind sir, if not to be talked of in the distant future? There are memories about the great old Scotch game and these curlers who are generally present at every spiel are the ones who can tell of the great old games—if only you can get them to talk.

"That Cassidy is one of the greatest players in the world," said the old curler. "As a kid he was playing with the best of the Winnipeg rinks and he has improved with age. Cassidy was perhaps one of the greatest youngsters that ever broke into the game, and unlike some youngsters, he has kept right on improving with his play. Some kids are like the child actors; they show a flash and then never get any better.

"But watching Dunbar there play reminds me of the time Dunbar's rink was beaten by the St. Paul kid rink. Yes, Bob's rink, with Sam Hastings playing third and Labatt at second, was beaten twice by the rink of youngsters from St. Paul. Sam Hastings came into the dressing room crying after the second defeat.

"That season Dunbar went to Minneapolis and organized a rink. Hastings and Labatt—I forget the lead—made up one of the strongest rinks that has ever been organized in the Northwest. On the kid rink from St. Paul was Evan Reese, Charley MacGreggor and the two Ordway boys. That was the greatest kid rink ever gotten on a sheet of ice, according to my notion—but, good Lord, whoever gave them a chance in the world to win from the great Dunbar combination?

"I have seen some great old curling games in my time, but those games were as good as any I have ever witnessed. I think it was one wild stone that decided the second game. I think it was Sam Hastings that defeated his own rink—anyway he was the fellow who came back into the locker room with the tears of remorse chasing each other down his face. Bob Dunbar took the second beating as he always takes a defeat—but just the same it kind of grilled him to be beaten by this rink of youngsters, and especially after he had come over from St. Paul and organized this great rink in Minneapolis.

"I doubt if there has ever been a better curler than Bob Dunbar. He curls by intuition or by instinct. The greatest curlers, like great billiard players, have an eye for distance and a steady calculation of angles. Like any other sport, and maybe more so, great curlers are born. I have always thought that most any guy who cared to remain indoors five or six hours a day could learn to write poetry; I don't take much stock in that stuff about the poets being born.

"But when it comes to curling, you will find that there are some five or six men who have stood out prominently during the past two decades. Dunbar has, during that time, been considered one of the world's greatest curlers, if not the greatest in the world. After watching that young Cassidy play in the present spiel I am kind of inclined to the opinion that he is the Willie Hoppe of the curling game and is about as great a curler as we have in the game at the present time."

WITH Zbyszko and Mahmout matched for a finish contest, and with gigantic Jess Pedersen also matched to meet the winner of this battle, this season promises to witness some good wrestling near its end. With the retirement of Gotch, this year promised to pass without the big mat battle that for the past few seasons have featured the season.

But as a matter of fact, a match between the Pole and the Bulgarian will be fraught with about as much interest as any match that the champion of the world could engage in. There is a curiosity as wide as the extent of this country over the question of the ability of these two great grapplers, for the question of which was the greater has been argued back and forth for two years.

Gotch has persistently claimed that the Bulgarian was the greatest wrestler in the business—outside of the king. When in Duluth not so very long ago Jack Herman informed the writer in the most emphatic tone of voice that in the event of a meeting between the two foreign stars, the Pole would be returned the winner.

No matter which of the wrestlers wins, there will be big Jess Pedersen to claim a match with the winner. If this program is carried out, it will give at least two big matches to the present season. Perhaps Ordemann and Pedersen will also come together, and if they should, this will also be considered one of the big matches of the year.

ACCORDING to the notices in the newspapers along the route of his theatrical trooping the "tower" of Joe Tinker, the great little shortstop of the Cubs, is one golden trip of smiles and gladness. Most of the newspapers have taken to the coming of Joe as the poor and lowly provide with solicitation and care for the coming of the rich relative. As a dopester and the lad to give some winter grist from the baseball mill, this same Joseph is there.

SPEAKING further of the stage, it might be remarked in passing that Fred Stone of Montgomery & Stone is some athlete. Stone once put on the gloves with Jim Corbett. Gentleman Jim made a swipe at the comedian and he avoided the blow by turning a back sommersault. But he can box, he can wrestle, he is a trap shooter, has assuaged the mean temper of many a nasty bronk by some clever rough riding methods, and he is a real live acrobat. Fred Stone might have been one of the greatest amateur athletes of his day had he gone in for some athletic specialty instead of acrobatics and the art of making people laugh.

HERE is the three cornered conspiracy to prevent any possible interruption of the plans John Artha Johnson has set for his picking bee of next July. He saw Jim Flynn first and he wants him. The smoke warns Jack Curley that Palzer might lull the sleep that sometimes comes to those inside four rope walls. He also agrees with Curley that it would be for the best to call off the fight. To accomplish this end the spade says he will boycott any fighter who fights in New York. Fear and anguish upon the part of Flynn and a regretful calling off of the Palzer go. How sad all this is.

MILLER NAMES TERMS FOR MATCH

St. Paul Man Removes All Doubt Over Meeting With Sailor Jack.

All doubt that may have existed as to the meeting of Young Miller of St. Paul, world's champion welterweight wrestler and also claimant of the world's middleweight title, was removed today when a letter was received from Frank A. McInerny, sporting editor of the St. Paul Dispatch, who named his terms for the match and stated that Miller was ready to meet the marine.

All that remains now is the signing of articles and the naming of the date. The mach will be held in Duluth some time in February or during the first part of March. Sailor Jack has asked that the match be set at least a month away, as he wants that much time to get into the condition of his life. The contest will be wrestled in Duluth and will be the first world's championship ever held in this city.

While Miller has named a stiff figure in his terms, it is probable that his demands will be met. This match has been in the air for two years. The interest among the followers of the two little men is intense. From present indications the match will be attended from all over the Northwest. Here in Duluth it has been the big subject in wrestling circles for the past month—since it was announced that Miller had intimated his willingness to meet the marine.

ATTELL WINS OVER BROWN

Brown Was Aggressive and Forced Fighting From the First.

Attell's Impenetrable Defense Tires the New York Man.

New York, Jan. 19.—Abe Attell bested "K. O." Brown in ten rounds at the National Sporting club last night. The bout was a one-sided affair, Brown being unable to land to any advantage. Attell had Brown groggy in a mixup in the tenth round.

Brown forced the fighting throughout, but Attell's defense was impenetrable, all of Brown's best blows going for naught.

Brown opened the fight with a light left which did no damage. Attell toyed with the local lightweight, and there was not a heavy blow struck throughout the round. In the second round, Attell landed several uppercuts without a return and before the round ended had closed one of Brown's eyes and badly damaged the other. In the third, brown continued his rushing tactics and Attell covered up and then landed a short uppercut to Brown's chin.

The fourth round was the most sensational of the bout. Brown swung hard at Attell and the latter stopped him with a straight left. Brown landed a hard left swing, sending Attell to the ropes. Just before the end of the round, Brown landed rights and lefts and Attell appeared to be in bad shape, but at the bell the featherweight champion went jauntily to his corner.

From this point on Attell jabbed at will, sending home at least a dozen blows without a return. The fifth round was all his.

In the sixth round Brown was wild but, just before the bell, landed a good right. Brown sent a long right swing to the jaw in the seventh but Attell was not hurt. Both men indulged in rough tactics and were roundly hissed.

Brown opened the eighth with an uppercut that did no damage. Attell damaged Brown with his jabs, while the latter was wild. Both men fought roughly in the ninth. Attell landed three uppercuts without a return.

Brown appeared to be tired in the tenth round, while Attell continued battling mercilessly. The fight ended with a three mix-up from which Brown emerged groggy and bleeding from the nose and mouth.

By popular verdict it was Attell's fight.

SODALITY TEAM TRIMS CLOTHIERS

Big Duluths Drop First Game of Season to West Enders.

Last evening the Sodality Indoor Baseball team defeated the crack Big Duluths by the score of 15 to 12, registering the first defeat that the clothing merchants have met with this season. The game was played at the Y. M. C. A. and was witnessed by one of the largest crowds of the season.

Danny England was on the slab for the West end aggregation and he sent sixteen of the merchants back to the bench via the whiff route. Harris was also shooting some guns for the Big Duluths, for he made ten of the Sodality boys fan nothing more substantial than the steam-heated atmosphere of the big gymnasium. The game was fast and even all the way through.

The lineup:

Y. M. S.—		—Big Duluth

NATIONALS WIN FROM THE IRVING TIGERS.

Last evening at the French rink the Nationals won from the Irving Tigers by the score of 13 to 0. The losing team was outclassed at every stage of the game. In the second half the Tigers showed some improvement in team work and defense and played a somewhat better game. Chamberland was the star for the Nationals, scoring seven of the thirteen goals and also proving a strong man in the defense.

The line-up:

Irving Tigers.		Nationals.
Stahl	g	Quillette
Sieger	p	Renauld
Saylor	cp	Beaurivage
Dykins	r	Blais
Capt. Galarneau	c	Capt. Poissant

FITWELLS WIN FROM ADAMS TEAM AT BASEBALL.

In the game between the Fitwells and Adams teams of the Auditorium Indoor Baseball league, played last evening at the big rink, the clothiers won handily from the West end athletes, the score being 16 to 8. Simpson and Bennett were in the points for the winners and Foster and Grenner worked for the Adams. Heavy stick work upon the part of the Fitwells decided the contest.

The score:

Fitwells	2 6 0 0 0 5 3—16
Adams	2 2 0 0 0 1 3—8

BIG DULUTHS AND ADAMS WILL MEET.

One of the feature events of the hockey season will come tonight when Big Duluths and Adams meet at hockey on the French rink in the West end. Both teams are in the pennant hunt in the Duluth-Superior league and both teams are very strong. The Adams have by far the strongest team in the history of the association and are out for the Head of the Lakes honors.

ROCHON STILL WINNING; MAY "TIE UP" THE SPIEL

Crack Canadian Rink Has Not Yet Been Defeated.

Parkinson's Straight Record of Victories Broken By Chisholm.

Last season it was the remarkable string of unbroken victories upon the part of the Dunbar rink that held the bonspiel over; this season the great playing of "Mac" Rochon and his gallant rink promises to keep some of the curlers here until after tomorrow. Rochon has not as yet met with defeat and unless he should consent to forfeit in one or two of the events it does not seem possible at this time that the spiel can be finished by tomorrow night. There are about 131 games left on the program and at the rate progress has been made so far, there seems no chance for these games to be played off in the remaining day and a half that is left to the curlers.

Rochon had a most glorious day yesterday. The Canadian and his crack rink started by defeating Chisholm, as was told in yesterday's Herald. He followed this victory by one over Dinham in the 12:30 draw of the St. Paul Jobbers' event. In the 7 o'clock draw Rochon's rink continued the victory march by winning from Hallock of Winnipeg by the score of 10 to 9. This game went to thirteen heads and was won by an excellent draw shot in the extra end. Not to be content with this record the crack Canadian rink went in in the final draw of the day and won out from Kelly of Winnipeg by the score of 10 to 9. Four victories over the best rinks of the spiel is going some for one day's work.

Up to noon yesterday Parkinson of Phillips shared the honor with Rochon of being the only other undefeated rink. After starting yesterday with a win over McLeod of Duluth in the 9 o'clock draw, Parkinson went down to defeat before Chisholm of Winnipeg in the 12:30 draw. The Phillips man came back in the 7 o'clock draw and defeated O'Grady. In the 10 o'clock draw Parkinson wound up a good day by winning from Li'l Artie Michaud's rink.

One of the surprises of yesterday was the defeat of McLeod of Minneapolis at the hands of Oldham of Duluth. This game took place in the Western Curling club event in the first game of the afternoon. After his defeat at the hands of Oldham, McLeod came back and won from Hurdon in the Duluth Curling club event, throwing the Duluth rink out of this competition after it had valiantly fought its way into the third round.

Play in this event is down to the semi-finals and will be fought out by four of the best rinks at the spiel. Rochon looks like the jewelry.

Another of the surprises of yesterday was the defeat of McIver by Bradley of Duluth. Bradley's rink has played an in and out game during the curling and then falling down. The present spiel, showing some classy defeat of the crack Port Arthur rink pulled McIver out third round of the St. Paul Jobbers' event and gives Bradley a crack at the jewelry along with Rochon, Williams, and the winner of the McLeod-Chisholm contest.

Today's games promise to close up the Duluth Curling club event. Rockwood of Portage and Parkinson will meet in the semi-finals in the early afternoon draw and Rochon and McLeod of Minneapolis are expected to meet later in the day. This will bring this event down to the finals.

McLeod and Chisholm meet early today in the third round of the St. Paul Jobbers' event, the winner going into the semi-finals.

Some of the best play of the spiel is expected today. The play in the Minneapolis Curling club event as well as the Western Curling club event, is narrowing down. All of the rinks left in these events are the pick of the spiel.

One of the big crowds of the week is expected out today. With the promise of the finals in the Duluth Curling club event to come off, interest in the the spiel has reached the highest point of the week.

Following were the results of play yesterday afternoon and last evening:

Collins Signs Contract.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—First Baseman Collins, who has played with the Chicago American league club for the last three years, today signed a contract for 1912.

Swap of Players Rumored.

New York, Jan. 19.—It was declared on good authority in baseball circles here last night that the Detroit American league club has a deal under way whereby Capt. George Moriarity will wear a Washington uniform next season. The Washington player for whom Manager Jennings is negotiating is not known, though it is believed to be a catcher. The deal will probably be announced at the schedule meeting of the American league on Feb. 14.

Griffin Wants His Medals.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 19.—Charley Griffin, the Australian lightweight boxer who came to America a few weeks ago, wants his medals back. He told the police today that his manager, Robert J. Wilson, had them. Griffin asked the police to find Wilson and get his medals.

Ryan Will Train Flynn.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 19.—Jack Curley, manager of Jim Flynn, last night said that Tommy Ryan had signed an agreement to train Flynn for three months prior to the match with Johnson. Curley next week goes to Salt Lake City to complete all details for the posting of forfeits.

Pedersen Throws Roller.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Jess Pedersen won from Dr. Roller in their wrestling match here last night in straight falls, the first in 1 hour and 4 minutes, and the second in 10 minutes.

Dixon and Kirk Will Fight.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 19.—Tommy Dixon of Kansas City and Ollie Kirk of this city were matched last night to fight six rounds before the St. Louis Athletic club on Jan. 29. Kirk is one of the eighteen boxers who were suspended by the Western A. A. U. last night.

Crowd Disappointed.

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 19. — Steve McKinley of Moline and John Herrick of Chicago, middleweights, boxed ten slow rounds last night to a draw before the Marquette Athletic club. It was the third meeting of the pair. Lack of developments proved a big disappointment to the crowd.

Bout Was Rapid.

Liverpool, Jan. 19.—Harry Lewis and "Dixie Kid," both American welterweights, met here last night in a fast bout. Lewis knocked out his opponent in the eighth round.

Dickey Is Manager.

Aurora, Ill., Jan. 19. — Guy Dickey of Chicago, formerly of the American association, yesterday was made manager of the 1912 Aurora team in the Wisconsin-Illinois baseball league.

Annual League Meeting.

Chicago, Jan. 19. — President Al Tearney of the Three Eye baseball league announced yesterday that the annual meeting of the league would be held in Chicago either Jan. 27 or 28. Election of officers will be unnecessary, Tearney's office holding over. But another club must be selected to complete the circuit, in the event Rock Island fails to retain its franchise.

MAN AND WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN GAS-FILLED ROOM.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 19.—With four jets pouring gas into the room, the bodies of Mrs. Carrie Reynolds, 42 years old, and John Stull, 54, were found in a room in the home of Mrs. Orin Lee, Mrs. Reynold's daughter, by Mrs. Lee. The dead woman, until recently, was Stull's housekeeper. It is understood they quarreled, and on Sunday met at the daughter's home to attempt a reconciliation. Monday the daughter went to Battle Creek, leaving the couple to care for the home. She returned yesterday.

NEIL BEATEN BY DINHAM

Youthful Duluth Skip "Comes Back" and Defeats Veteran.

Results of Morning Games in the Northwestern Bonspiel.

Today's early playing in the Northwestern bonspiel for the most part was confined to the Steve Jones trophy event. But two games outside of this event were played in the early morning draw. Bradley of Duluth continued the good playing of yesterday and won from Kelm of Portage by the score of 12 to 6. The Duluth skip did some pretty curling and was master of the situation all the way.

By far the most exciting game was that played between Dinham of Duluth and Neil of Winnipeg. The Duluth youngster came back from his two defeats of yesterday and won from the Winnipeg veteran in a contest that was in doubt up to the time the last stone was played.

They came into the twelfth head with Dinham leading by two points. Neil had a peculiar combination where it was possible to lay three stones. So exciting was the contest that the spectators left the club rooms and crowded out on to the ice. Carefully measuring every possible angle, figuring for a few minutes, the members of the Winnipeg rink carefully figured out the last shot. Neil missed and the game went to Dinham, though the Pegger laid two and just missed tying it up.

One of the big surprises of the morning was the easy defeat of Ron Smith by Haig of Winnipeg. The Winnipeg man made a runaway match of it, laying in each of the first six heads of the game. Ron was clear off form and failed to play anything like his usual game.

Two mistakes were made in reports of yesterday's games. O'Grady won from Sullivan by the score of 11 to 3 instead of Sullivan winning from the Winnipeg man, and Richardson defeated Shaver of Duluth, instead of the Virginia man taking the game.

Following is the summary of the early morning games:

SHERMAN LAW FOR BASEBALL TRUST.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 19.—Organized baseball will be fought under the Sherman anti-trust law if it attacks the new Columbian baseball league, according to John T. Powers, president of the new organization, who is here today.

"We are not fighting capital with capital and do not seek to fight with any person or combination," said Powers. "On the contrary, we have the statutory right to exist and compete with the baseball trust and we intend to take advantage of our rights. We have the Sherman anti-trust law at our disposal if we are attacked.

"We have most of our players lined up and will be in position when the season openes to give high-class and popular priced baseball."

SETTLEMENT WORK DISCUSSED

West Duluth Women Take Steps to Secure Neighborhood House.

That the Neighborhood house at the West end has made an impression with the club women of Duluth is evidenced by the fact that the members of the West Duluth branch of the W. C. T. U. took steps at the regular meeting of the club yesterday for the establishment of a similar home at West Duluth. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Ida Merritt, 4603 Oneota street, and the following committee was appointed to report at the next meeting of the local branch: Mrs. H. H. Phelps, chairman; Mrs. C. R. Keyes and Mrs. W. F. Bailey.

The members also took up the matter of starting a social center in the schools of this end of the city, and the same committee, with Mrs. H. Bevier as chairman, was appointed. There was a large gathering at the meeting, and comfort bags were filled which will be sent to the lumber camps. Mrs. Helen Stewart led the meeting yesterday and spoke on "Parliamentary Points." A reception was given following the business session.

The members of the society plan to raise the necessary amount for the building of a house by public entertainments and by donations from people interested in the cause. The new home will have a reading room and arrangements for a number of clubs that will eventually be organized at the house.

An arrangement will be made by the social center committee to meet joint committees of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. and the Women's council to take up the social work in the schools.

LESURE STREET COMMITTEE NOT READY TO REPORT.

It is not probable that the Commercial club committee appointed last week on the Lesure street vacation will make its report this evening, as it has another week before its report is required by the club. At the meeting of the club this evening several members of the West Duluth Land company will speak before the members and explain their stand on the Northern Pacific request for the right-of-way over Lesure street.

The action of the Commercial club followed the objection raised by the citizens who use the street for traffic purposes. Lesure street is the only thoroughfare in this section and the teamsters have only this road to get to the docks.

Alderman Barnes will introduce a motion this evening calling for the holding of the annual banquet of the club and if passed, the committees will be appointed for the affair. The banquet is usually held the latter part of February and is one of the largest affairs of its kind in Duluth.

The campaign for a public market in West Duluth will again be taken up this month by the members of the club. It is the intention of a number of the members behind the movement to have the structure built this spring so that it will be ready when the farmers begin to bring in their produce next summer.

The council recently consented to allow the city property on Ramsey street between Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth avenues west to be used for this purpose. The property is now being used as a storage place for the board of public works, and is also occupied by a small building in which the water and light department has a branch office.

GARDENS FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Prof. S. A. Foster, principal of the Irving school, will again start his campaign among the school children for the establishing of gardens at their homes.

Mr. Foster would have every boy taught how to handle a hoe and rake as soon as he is able, and plans to have a large colony of young homecrofters before seeding time this spring.

George Wolf Dies.

George Wolf of the Cody hotel, who was an ironworker at the steel plant at New Duluth, died late last evening at St. Luke's hospital after a long illness from typhoid fever. The body was brought to the Fillatrault undertaking rooms this afternoon, where the funeral arrangements will be made by the relatives.

Install Officers.

The Lady Maccabees of West Duluth hive, No. 73, installed the following officers at a special ceremony last evening: Commander, Lucy Carey; past commander, Cora Larrive; lieutenana commander, Louise Goneau; record keeper, Christine McClellan; finance auditor, Henrietta Kringle; chaplain, Emeroy Melholm; sergeant, Sarah Eaton; lady-at-arms, Mary Goneau; sentinel, Lyda Gilley, and picket, Mary Casey.

Kruger Funeral.

The funeral of August Kruger of 6409 Elinor street, who died Tuesday morning of heart trouble, was held at 9 o'clock this morning frm the St. James Cathlic church. Fity-seventh avenue west and Kinnea place. Rev. D. W. Lynch, pastr of the church, officiated and interment was in the Calvary cemetery.

Miller Funeral.

The funeral of May, the 2-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Muller, 122 South Fifty-ninth avenue west, who died early yesterday morning, was held at 8 o'clock this morning from St. Peter's Italian church, Eleventh avenue west and Superior street. Rev. John Zarrilli officiated and interment was in the Calvary cemetery.

Carlson Funeral.

The funeral of Victor Carlson, 20 years old, who was killed by a falling tree Monday afternoon near Kelsey, Minn., was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the Elim Swedish Lutheran church, Fifty-sixth avenue west and Elinor street. Rev. J. A. Krantz, pastor of the church, officiated and interment was in the Oneota cemetery.

Finger Crushed.

Peter La Fond, a mason who was working on the new two-story brick building at 319 Commonwealth avenue, had his finger crushed this morning by a falling stone. Amputation was necessary. The building is one of the new structures at New Duluth and is being put up by J. H. Brigham.

DULUTH INDUSTRIAL HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Students in the high school will prepare for debating and various contests have already been announced. A team representing the high school will be chosen within a few weeks and debates with several of the other local schools probably will be held. The classes will also select teams for the inter-class debate that are held every year.

* * *

The girls in the sewing department have taken up stencil work and are now making a number of fancy articles during class hours. The work is a departure from the regular routine and is the first time it has been included in the regular class work. The girls make pillow cases, table covers, curtains and doilies.

* * *

The second semester will begin Monday and it is probable that another instructor will be added to the manual training department to assist Frank Kreidler, the present head. The classes will begin their work next week.

* * *

Miss Edna Larson sang a solo yesterday morning in chapel, accompanied by Miss Fern Brooks. This is a part of the regular chapel program in which everyone who comes late to school must take part during the school year. The plan is to familiarize the students with an audience.

* * *

The senior girls had a luncheon this noon at which every member of the class brought one or two articles. The girls are planning to hold these luncheons every week from now on.

* * *

The grade schools were excused early yesterday afternoon so that the teachers could attend the lecture given by Mrs. Cora Mel Patton at the Central high school.

* * *

The Duluth Industrial high school hockey team will play its first game of the year tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'lock with the Central high school team at the French rink, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Second street.

West Duluth Briefs.

The congregation of the Merritt Memorial M. E. church, Forty-sixth avenue west and Halifax street, will be entertained this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Merritt, 2105 East Second street.

Rev. G. Oberg of the Swedish-Finnish Evangelical Lutheran church, Fifty-third avenue west and Wadena street, returned this morning from Ashland, Wis., where he conducted mission meetings during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Olson of Minneapolis are spending the week with relatives in West Duluth.

Miss Helen Broston of Fifty-seventh avenue west left last evening for Milwaukee where she will spend the next two weeks visiting her parents.

Albert and John Carlson of West Duluth left this morning for Alberta, Can., where they have secured positions for the rest of the winter.

B. J. Barackman, pastor-at-large of the Duluth Presbytery, will preach at the Westminister Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street, at 7:45 o'clock Sunday evening.

Next Friday evening the Sunday school conference of Presbyterian churches will be held at the Hazelwood Park church, Thirty-ninth avenue west and Fourth street. Rev. S. A. Blair, missionary of Minnesota, and Rev. Verkuyhl of Wisconsin will conduct the meeting.

Watch repairing, Hurst, West Duluth.

The girls' society of Our Saviour's Lutheran church will meet with Mrs. Christ Erickson of 319 North Fifty-second avenue west, tomorrow afternoon.

ATTACK CIVIC FEDERATION.

Miners Consider New Constitution Barring Identity of Delegates.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 19.—No member of the National Civic federation shall be a delegate to a convention of the United Mine Workers of America, according to the provisions of a constitution for the organizoztion which was submitted to the miners' convention here today by the constitution committee. The proposed new constitution also provides that the election of officers, and national conventions shall be held every two years instead of each year as under the present constitution.

A telegram was received today from John Mitchell, stating that he would be here Tuesday to explain his action in the last convention of the American Federation of Labor at Atlanta, Ga., where, as a delegate from the miners' organization, he refused to support a movement to condemn the National Civic federation.

CLARK AND FOLK COME TO TERMS

Agree to Abide By Decision of the Convention at Joplin.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 19.—Missouri Democrats see an end to the Folk-Clark feud in the agreement of the two men late last night to abide by the Joplin convention. Each has agreed to quit the race for the presidential nomination if the Missouri delegates fail to indorse him. The agreement was in the form of letters to a local newspaper in response to an editorial printed Thursday morning in which the state convention was declared to be useless unless the opposing candidates agreed to abide by the decision of the delegates. Each expressed pleasure at the action of the other in promising not to bolt the convention.

BUTTER GOES STILL HIGHER

Fruits, Vegetables and Eggs Are Again Shipped By Freight.

Large Increase in Consumption of Oleomargerine—Meats Cheaper.

Never before during the last twenty-eight years, according to reports received by local produce dealers from the New York butter market, has the price of the butter over the whole country been so high as now. At New York the best creamery has been selling at wholesale for more than 40 cents a pound. Normally the price at Duluth is about the same as at New York, but at present it is a little lower. Duluth dealers have hesitated about following the New York price to such extremely high levels. For some days the prevailing wholesale price for the best creamery at Duluth has been 39 cents, the maximum for this winter. Yet the Duluth produce dealers expect very soon to advance the price, unless there is quite a change in the conditions governing the butter market. But they do not look for any such change. They declare that there is an actual shortage of butter in the country at large.

The high cost of butter has caused an enormous increase in the sale of oleomargarine. The manager of the local agency of the Swift packing house declared today that never before had the establishment under his management sold so much oleomargarine as this winter, and that these sales were two or three times as great as they were a year ago. The wholesale price of oleomargarine seldom changes. It is uniformly at 20 cents a pound wholesale. About the only thing that would put it up would be an enormous increase in the price of beef. Beef fat is one of the main ingredients in the manufacture of oleomargarine.

The high price of butter has naturally been affecting the price of cheese. The wholesale price of several of the principal kinds on the market has recently advanced ½ cent.

Another food product that is likely to go up in the near future is eggs. The price of storage eggs has been steadily rising. The best storage eggs are now bringing 26 cents a dozen at wholesale. There is a great scarcity of storage eggs over the country at large. Many dealers predict that by the first of next month these eggs will be entirely consumed and no eggs will be left except the fresh ones from the country. What these eggs will then bring is problematical. It is largely a weather proposition. If the weather is mild early in February and the hens lay well, the problem may not amount to much. At present the price of country eggs is not so high as one might expect under existing conditions. These eggs are now selling at wholesale for 33 cents a dozen. That is by no means the highest point they have reached this winter. There is little demand for fresh country eggs as long as storage eggs can be obtained at a considerably lower price. After storage eggs are gone, the price of country eggs is likely to soar.

Another bullish feature of the egg market is the fact that the recent cold spell extended far into the South. Late in the winter and early in the spring the egg markets of the North are as a rule supplied with Southern eggs. But the weather in the South has been so much colder than is usually the case at this time of the year that it is feared there will be quite a shortage of Southern eggs. "Everybody is bullish on eggs," remarked a local produce dealer today.

The severe handicap under which the produce dealers were laboring last week, the refusal of the railroads to accept freight shipments of foods that were liable to be damaged by freezing, has been removed. All the railroads are accepting any and all kinds of shipments, both to and from Duluth. The towns on the range and other rural sections tributary to Duluth are being supplied with produce from this city as usual. It will take some time, however, before the Duluth market is again supplied with green and wax beans, cauliflowers and other table delicacies from Southern farms. There has been quite a frost in Louisiana, which has greatly damaged the crops of such vegetables Green onions, endive, parsley, beets, carrots and head lettuce have been badly nipped. Moreover, the roads in that state have been bad on account of a great deal of rain, and farmers have not been hauling their vegetables to shipping points as usual. Most of the garden vegetables that are being consigned to Duluth are raised in Florida. Shippers are now very wary about sending delicate vegetables to the North in the winter time, for fear the shipments may freeze en route and be refused. Large quantities of such produce have lately come into Chicago and other central markets badly frozen and a total loss.

Parsley is now very scarce on the Duluth market. The price has jumped from 75 cents to $1.25 per dozen bunches.

* * *

Cranberries have fallen in price on account of a poor demand. The supply is large on the Duluth market. Though still very high, they are 50 cents a barrel cheaper than they were last week.

* * *

Potatoes have dropped 50 cents a bushel. The present price is $1.10. Good supplies are now being received by rail. They are likely to decline further.

* * *

During the recent cold spell the supplies of lemons in the hands of local produce dealers were about exhausted. Fresh supplies have been received, but the price is up, being 50 cents a box higher than a week ago. There is a general scarcity of lemons.

* * *

Good oranges are likely to be higher priced in the near future. There has been a heavy frost in California, and much of the fruit was frozen on the trees. Purchasers would do well during the next few weeks to take care not to buy frozen oranges. By the time such oranges get to Duluth, they will probably show by brown spots on the skin that they are not sound.

* * *

The milder weather has caused the price of some meats to weaken a little. Farmers have been driving their animals to market in larger numbers. Pork loins are 1½ cents cheaper at wholesale than a week ago, and some grades of mutton are 1 cent a pound cheaped. The same cause has had a cheapening effect on some kinds of poultry. Fresh dressed spring chickens are 1 cent a pound cheaper.

SHOCKED AT TELEPHONE; GETS $2,000 DAMAGES.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Miss Caroline F. Knipping suffered an electric shock while she was using a telephone in January, 1910, and yesterday she was awarded a verdict of $2,000 damages in the superior court against the Chicago Telephone company for injuries to her hearing and features, which she testified were caused by the shock.

Michigan Professors Resign.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 19.—Prof. Philip Bertrof, head of the forestry department of the University of Michigan, and C. T. Hill, professor of forest mensuration, have tendered their resignations to the university authorities to become effective at the close of the present college year. Prof. Roth is to accept a similar position at Cornell.

NEWLANDS IS FOR WILSON

Declines to Seek Democratic Nomination for Presidency.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Senator Francis G. Newlands of Nevada declines to permit the use of his name as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, and declares himself in favor of the candidacy of Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey. Senator Newlands had received the indorsement of the Nevada legislature, as well as pledges of support from several Pacific and inter-mountain states.

FIXES WESTERN LAND TITLE.

Court Holds It Good in Areas Not Included in Suit.

Albany, Or., Jan. 19.—Title for all that part of the big Oregon and California grant not actually attacked in the present government suits for forfeiture is good, ruled Judge Galloway, in deciding the case of William George against the Curds Lumber company, in the state circuit court here.

This decision is of far-reaching effect, as it validates the title of farm and timber land embracing two towns and worth at least $15,000,000. The case will be appealed to the state supreme court.

This is said to be the first case to raise the question of the validity of portions of grants not involved in government suits for security. The government attacks only that portion which was sold in tracts of 1,000 acres or more. Officials of the department of justice have given assurances that the small portions of this grant never would be attacked.

CALL IS ISSUED FOR THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 19.—The official call for the national convention to be held at Baltimore on June 25 has been issued by Norman E. Mack, chairman, and Urey Woodson, secretary, of the Democratic national committee. The basis of representation and the method of naming delegates is outlined as follows:

Delegates and alternates from each state of the Union shall be chosen to the number of two delegates for every senator and two delegates for every representative from the states respectively in the congress of the United States under the congressional reapportionment of districts based upon the census of 1910.

The District of Columbia, Alaska, the Philippines, Hawaii and Porto Rico are each allotted six delegates.

FIVE MORE FIRED FROM CHICAGO POLICE FORCE.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Police Inspector John Wheeler, Capt. Patrick J. Harding and Lieut. George Prim, Daniel T. Kellher and John B. Enright, were ordered dismissed from the service yesterday after a hearing on charges of inefficiency, incompetency and collusion with vice.

THIEF RIVER HAS WINTER BUILDING

Contractors Proceeding With Construction of Several Buildings.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Farmers' Co-operative Building association has let the contract for the excavation of the basement for the building they will erect on Third street. The work will be completed within three weeks and the erection of a three-story brick block will begin. This block will have a double front and the third story will be occupied by some of the fraternal societies of the city. The other two stories and the large basement will house the farmer's co-operative store, which is now doing business in the Evenson block on Main avenue.

The Olson-Prichard Implement company is erecting an office building on the corner of Horace and Second street and a crew of men are at work putting up sheds for the stock of lumber which this firm will carry in connection with their implement business.

Workmen are hauling material to the site of the Provencher hotel, the contract for which was let last week to Contractor McCoy of Fargo. As soon as this material is all on hand the active work of construction will proceed.

Contractor Doege has the new $40,000 oil power building ready to turn over to the city authorities. The workmen are busy day and night installing the machinery and the first unit of 250-horse power will be ready to supply power and light about Feb. 10.

GRAIN MEET WINDING UP

Last Day of Fargo Gathering Shows Interest Is Unabated.

President Worst of Agricultural College Again Heads Association.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—This is the last day of the Tri-State Grain Growers' convention and the attendance as well as the interest displayed indicate the convention will end with interest unabated.

One of the important proceedings today was the election of officers. President J. H. Worst of the North Dakota Agricultural college, in recognition of his untiring work in behalf of the objects sought to to be attained by the Tri-State association was reelected president. A. A. Wilkinson of St. Elmo, Minn., formerly for years enjoying confidential relations with James J. Hill, now a retired railroad man who devotes his energies to framing and building up the Northwest, was elected vice president. T. A. Hoverstad of Fargo was elected secretary.

Stock Growers Elect.

At the meeting of the Livestock Growers' association last night the following officers were elected: President, J. A. Donnelly; vice president, U. L. Burdick; vice president, J. A. Powers; secretary, W. B. Richards; treasurer, S. Stowers. Executive committee, Frank Sanford, McLain, Cooper, Donald Campbell, S. A. Moore.

"Fixing Land Values," was the subject of an address today by E. S. De Lancey of Valley City. N. D. Mr. De Lancey is one of the leaders in the original $100 an Acre Club of North Dakota, that at Barnes county and he gave some decidedly interesting facts as to methods which they were using in establishing the proper value to North Dakota land, based on its cash returns.

"The Country Life Problem," was discussed by A. E. Chamberlain, development commissioner of the Great Northern railroad.

"College Extension," was considered by Prof. G. W. Randlett of the North Dakota agricultural college.

Food for Children.

Miss Jessie M. Hoover of the department of domestic science, North Dakota agricultural college, spoke on "Human Nutrition." Speaking of food for children Miss Hoover said: "Children should eat freely of eggs and milk, wholesome bread and butter. Candy used with discretion is a good food, but note the word discretion." The last speaker of the day, Prof. H. L. Bolley will speak on "The Relation Between Crop Rotation and Fungus Diseases of Plants." "The theories of crop rotation should rest more particularly upon the relation of the crops and the soils to crop diseases than upon the question of fertility," said Prof. Bolley.

GIVES LECTURE ON "AFRICAN TRAILS."

Rev. Cornelius Howard Patton, formerly pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational church of this city, but now home secretary of the American Board of Commissioners with headquarters in Boston, gave an interesting illustrated talk on "Along African Trails" last evening at the Pilgrim church before a large audience.

Dr. Patton spent 1911 on a tour visiting the missionary stations in Turkey, India, Ceylon and Africa. He traveled 4,000 miles in the interior of Africa, most of the way through unexplored territory, with the idea of establishing new missions throughout this country. He told of his travels and experiences and the views which were shown were from his own photographs taken during his trip. Following the luncheon given in his honor yesterday, he talked on India.

There is something more than coincidence back of the fact that it is the advertised businesses that succeed, and the unadvertised businesses that fail.

WATER BOARD REPLIES TO PATTERSON CHARGES

Explanation Same as That Made By P. R. Haley to Herald.

Members See in William Craig "The Man Behind."

In a lengthy report issued by the water and light department late this afternoon the recent charges made by Robert E. Patterson that the pay rolls had been padded were fully discussed. Brief extracts from the report follow:

"In consideration of the fact that one Robert Patterson has made charges at public meetings and through the public press that pay rolls of the water and light department of the city of Duluth have been padded, and that he has failed to make said charges specific against any member of the department or any employe thereof, and the board of water and light department being anxious to learn if any pay rolls have been padded by any employe of the department, or whether any employe of the department has been guilty of any crookedness or wrong doing, as stated by Robert Patterson, and it also having been reported to the board that one William Craig was cognizant of the charges stated by Robert Patterson, the board of water and light commissioners addressed letters to said Robert Patterson and said William Craig inviting them to be present at the meeting of the board on Jan. 18, 1912, at 4:15 o'clock p. m., to assist the board in ascertaining what person had been guilty of the wrongful acts charged.

Both Refused.

The report here contains the letters to Messrs. Craig and Patterson, and then recounts the charges made and the explanation of P. R. Haley, the inspector. These have already been published in full.

The report then continues:

"These are the facts as the board understands them, which are the basis of the serious charges made by Robert Patterson.

"The board further states that it is very singular that any citizen of Duluth would refuse to give the board information which would assist the board to find out and prosecute any alleged criminal, and thinks it also remarkable that the information furnished in affidavit of Mr. Anderson, which seems to have been filed with the county attorney on Nov. 15, 1911, was not pushed to a determination by the parties interested, before the session of this last grand jury on the eve of a municipal election.

"It is also singular that such strong insinuations of wrongful acts should be made against a department by any citizen because he thinks one of its employes, whose name he knows but refuses to give to the public, is charged with wrongful acts. If a clerk in one of our department stores should happen to steal a pocket handkerchief, one ciuld hardly charge the management of the store with wrongful acts.

Oath Not Needed.

"William Craig in his letter says: 'The board has no power to administer oaths to those who voluntarily appear before them, nor can the board compel anyone to disclose the truth.' The board did not suppose it would be necessary to place William Craig under oath in order to tell the truth, if thereby the public could be protected against some alleged thief, by giving the board information so it could discharge said thief from its employ. But William Craig says: 'I have in no instance charged any employe or foreman of the department with padding the payrolls or placing fictitious names on such rolls.' An inquiry at the city treasurers' office discloses the fact that for some years William Craig has been examining the payrolls of the department, and that Robert Patterson has not examined such payrolls during the past nine months. Who furnished the information for the affidavit of R. Anderson in which he recites that if his name appears on the payroll for June, 1911, particularly that shown on line No. 53 for the month of June, 1911, payroll, city of Duluth, water and light department? Not Robert Patterson, who, we understand, accompanied R. Anderson to the county attorney's office, or if he did, he must have received the information from William Craig, who did examine the payroll. R. Anderson does not allege in the affidavit that his name does appear on the payroll.

"The board is as desirous of protecting the public against wrongful acts of any employe as any citizen of Duluth can be, will as zealously prosecute any one connected with the department as employe who may be guilty of any wrongful act, and believes that every good citizen will assist the board in discovering and prosecuting any one guilty of wrongful act.

"It seems to the board that the wrongful act charged consists in making a mistake in writing the name of a man who worked for the department four days in June, 1911. That the name A. Ackerman should have been placed on the payroll instead of R. Anderson, and that when the mistake was discovered the right man got his pay, a notation was made on the office time book, but inadvertently was not made on the payroll."

Take it the year through, quite a bunch of men lose their money in Duluth, but the surprising thing is that the number is not larger and the aggregate of the sums lost is not greater.

The expression to the effect that "there's a 'sucker' born every minute" is a common one. To get a full appreciation of its meaning one ought to work with the police department for a while. The longer one stayed the more impressed one would be with the truth of the statement.

It sounds strange, but it's a wonder how many men hold forth invitations to be relieved of their wealth. They are so easy and appear so anxious to have somebody else get their money that it seems a shame to many not to help them out. In a town like Duluth, with a floating population containing rough men of all descriptions, there are many men whose humanity assumes the form of aiding others to get rid of their cash. Some of them are quite adept at that sort of thing, but in the majority of cases not much strategy is required. The victims just about hand over their coin. They show an utter lack of ordinary "horse sense," and do not seem able to take even the simplest precautions to protect their property.

The other night a woodsman went to sleep in a lodging house on St. Croix avenue. One who has been through these places knows what they are—a lot of beds and bunks jammed together in two or three rooms. This lumberjack had $140 in his coat pocket. He hung the garment on a peg, money and all, although he didn't know the first thing about the other men who slept all about him. The next afternoon he went into his roll to make a purchase. He found $70 of his money gone. The marvel is that he had a cent left. It would have been easier to have taken the whole thing than to have extracted half of it.

The day before yesterday August Hill came into the police station to complain that he had been robbed of $5 in a colored dive on St. Croix alley near the railroad tracks. He had allowed himself to be "roped in." He gave the woman half a dollar and then fell asleep in the place. When he woke up his money had vanished.

Last week a farmer engaged a room in a hotel on the bowery which is notorious for the crooked gang which hangs in its barroom and in its rooms. He put his pocket book, containing about $15 under his pillow. When he woke up he went out, leaving the door unlocked. When he came back his money was in other hands. In this case another man, who chanced to be honest, saw the purse stolen and caused the arrest and conviction of the thief. The thief was sent to jail, but the farmer didn't get his money back.

Scores of similar cases could be cited from the records at the police station. Men have been robbed sleeping in chairs; they have allowed themselves to be fleeced in "big mitt" games. They go to bed in lodging houses with men they never saw before, and so dozens of foolish things.

Many arrests for these crimes are made by the police, but in numerous instances they haven't the slightest clew to work on. About the only way the big majority of these "easy marks" could be saved from themselves would be to either keep them in custody or to chain them to a policeman, neither of which would be feasible.

Five vags were arrested in a Bowery saloon yesterday afternoon. They gave their names as Frank Sullivan, Tom Murphy, John Flood, Thomas Martin and Mike Morin. The police said that they are all members of the "hang-out and sponge club." Sullivan and Morin pleaded guilty and were given an opportunity to get to work. The others will be tried this afternoon. Their sole grievance was that the others in the saloon, "foreigners," they called them, were not pinched at the same time. They all said that they were standing at the bar, while the "foreigners" were sleeping on the floor back of the stove.

• • •

James H. Parker, a laborer, pleaded not guilty in police court this morning to having assaulted Cora Merry. He will be tried Monday morning.

• • •

Oscar Anderson took a big drink of horse liniment when he was brought into the police station yesterday. The bottle had been taken from his pocket and placed on the table. He was taken care of by the police surgeon.

• • •

Grafton Giberson got sixty days in the county jail when he was convicted in police court yesterday afternoon of non-support. He can obtain his release by furnishing bonds of $150 to support his family. He had only contributed $2 towards their maintenance since last June.

• • •

The jury which heard the case of Amelia Stubler against Jacob Stubler, Superior street saloonkeeper and her divorced husband, for services as housekeeper and for rent, gave her a verdict of $181.66. She asked $333.33.

SAYS PACKERS EXCHANGED DATA

Former Manager of Boston Branches Testifies at Trial.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Direct testimony that the representatives of the alleged packers' combine exchanged daily and weekly reports of shipments and margins, together with the detailed operations of the business transacted by each branch house, was given to the jury today in the trial of ten Chicago packers charged with criminal violations of the Sherman law.

Everett D. Dill, former manager for the National Packing company of Boston and assistant manager for the same company in New York, went on the stand and gave damaging testimony against the packers. He declared the exchange system was in use to the time he severed his connection with the National Packing company in 1906 to become Boston manager for an independent company.

VERDICT RETURNED AGAINST RAILROAD.

A jury in Judge Dibell's division of the district court returned a verdict this afternoon in favor of Simon Salo against the Duluth & Iron Range railway for $513. Salo sued for $4,000 for damages alleged to have been caused by fire from a locomotive belonging to the defendant corporation. The property was situated near the Adriatic mine.

Modern Machines at School.

With the installation of the new wood-turning lathes at the Nelson Dewey school, the board of education now has the latest improved type of modern school equipment. The apparatus was purchased at a cost of about $600 and will be ready for operation about the first of the second semester.

Highest Elk May Preside.

According to present plans of the Superior Elks, Grand Exalted Ruler J. P. Sullivan of New Orleans will act as master of ceremonies at the Elks' dedicatory services Feb. 7 at their new home. Mr. Sullivan is scheduled to fill an engagement in St. Paul Feb. 8, and an effort will be made to have him stop over at Superior on his way from Chicago.

Construction Delayed.

Cold weather has made it almost impossible to finish the work on the Soo line Frederic extension, and it is now expected that the line will not be open until March 1. Practically all of the track except the Black River bridge has been laid.

Prohibitionists Meet.

State Prohibition Secretary Taynton and W. H. Cork will take a prominent part in the conference and convention of the anti-liquor people of Superior and Douglas county to be held this evening at the Cumming Avenue M. E. church. The reported "backsliding" of the dry cities and states is the principal subject to be taken up.

A FENCE THAT BLOOMS.

Country Life in America: Throughout the older parts of Mexico, Texas and New Mexico many of the fences around the corrals, and often the gardens, are made of "ocatilla." This is a cactus-like plant growing in a stalk form and often reaching a height of twenty or twenty-five feet. It is completely covered with long, stout thorns.

The stalk is tough, hard to cut, almost impossible to break, and growing to the height it does it makes an effective protection. It is planted usually in three or four alternate rows and is held together by buckskin strings or with strong wire. It needs but little water.

I believe this ocatilla fence would be found very satisfactory to use on country estates, and even the owner of a modest plot of ground would find it a good thing. It prevents stock from breaking in, effectively keeps at a distance all marauders, and when in bloom is a beautiful sight, for at the tip of the stalk there comes early in summer a cluster of deep crimson ball shaped blossoms. I remember once the astonished, almost horrified, expression of an Eastern woman to whom I mentioned the beauty of the corral fence when in bloom.

Motor busses run between Jaffa and Jerusalem.

RAILROADS

SOUTH SHORE'S OFFER DECLINED

Voluntary Increase of Michigan Valuation Declined By Tax Commission.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Early in January considerable attention was given the fact that the Duluth, South Shore & Aatlantic railway, which is fighting the 2-cent fare law, had reported to the state tax commission a value of $11,131,000 compared with its then assessed valuation of $9,600,000. This increase, voluntarily proposed, meant increased taxes for the road of $50,000. It was suggested that the company was willing to stand an increased valuation because it would find it helpful when it came to put in a case against the 2-cent fare law. Now comes the assessment of the railroads by the state tax commission which refuses to put the South Shore up where it reports its own valuation. The South Shore is in at the old figure of $9,600,000. No one in authority in the road is willing to discuss the matter. Nor has anything come from the tax commission in explanation of this unusual state of affairs.

RATES ON CEMENT ARE ARGUED IN KANSAS CITY.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 19.—A. K. Mackley, special examiner for the interstate commerce commission, today heard the testimony of the railroads and shippers in the case of a number of Kansas cement manufacturers seeking a reduction of freight rates on cement to points in Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Texas and North and South Dakota. Definite action on their plea is not expected for several days.

TERRIFIC ATTACK MADE ON ITALIANS

Turks and Arabs Assail Soldiers on March in Tripoli.

Tripoli, Jan. 19.—A terrific attack was made yesterday by a large body of Turks and Arabs on an Italian column which was on the march about ten miles from the town of Tripoli. Details of the losses have not yet been reported.

Turks Keep Up Attacks.

The military situation in Tripoli during the last month has to all appearances not undergone any change. All the fighting that has occurred has been begun by the Turks, who have repeatedly attacked and been repulsed.

The Italian commanders have been strengthening their positions and preparing for an advance into the interior. Transportation agencies on an enormous scale have been gathered here and material for the construction of a railroad into the desert is arriving in large quantities. The only possible danger of the plans of the Italian staff being upset is that peace may be declared at an early date.

Should the Turkish troops be withdrawn, the Arabs are determined to continue the fight against the Italians.

PROMINENT MONTANAN HERE

T. J. Walsh of Helena, Mont., who spoke at the Democratic banquet at Fargo yesterday, is in Duluth today.

Mr. Walsh is one of the most prominent Democrats of the Northwest. Last year he was a candidate for the United States senate before the Montana legislature. He was the leading candidate through a prolonged deadlock, which was broken only by the compromise which sent Senator Meyers from Montana.

Senator Dixon's term will expire next year and there is talk of Mr. Walsh's candidacy as his successor. Governor Edwin L. Norris is also likely to be a candidate. Mr. Walsh said today that he has not decided whether he will be a candidate again.

"I have no personal ambitions," he said. "For years I have been engaged in a fight for the people and if I think it is necessary to the success of that fight that I again be a candidate for the senate. I may be drawn into the contest.

"We have been fighting for a primary law in Montana for years. The interests have played off one party against the other and blocked us. I believe that the power of government should rest with the people and the day is coming when the initiative, the referendum, the recall and other reform measures will restore the power to those to whom it belongs."

Mr. Walsh is one of the attorneys for the Butte-Ballaklava Copper company in the action brought by the Amalgamated Copper company.

PERFIDY OF PUNCH BASCOMB.

New York Sun: "I had always found Montela, up among the Ulster county hills, such a cheerful and buoyant community," said John Gilbert, the traveling groceryman, "that I was not only puzzled but amazed on my last trip up there, not long ago, to find it in a petulant and testy mood, its old spirit lacking and an apparent disposition of one portion of it to look with resentment not unmixed with suspicion on another portion of it. I appealed to my old friend Sykes, who is a considerable part and parcel of that community.

"What in the world ails Montela?" said I.

"Sykes heaved a sigh and said:

"'Dominoes.'

"I suppose my face showed to Sykes that his reply didn't elucidate matters for me a great deal, and with another deep sigh he made things plainer.

"'As I guess maybe you know, John,' said he, 'Montela has always been as quiet as mill ponds, peaceful as lambs and cheerful as crickets. She never showed any sporting blood to speak of, a game of pinochle now and then or a venture at hearts or a joust with old maid or flinch being the height, depth and breadth of her social dissipation.

"'That was up to the time that Ike McCorkle came back home from somewhere last winter bringing with him warm recommendation of the game of dominoes, with which he had come in contact while away. Soon dominoes took possion of Montela and peace and quiet and cheerfulness got up and left.

"'Even quilting bees were turned into domino seances. The weekly sessions of the Montela Debating society became parties of progressive dominoes. Wherever men gathered they discussed dominoes instead of the weather, fish hooks, city borders and the price of eggs. It wasn't long before rivalry as players of the game new to Montela became warm.

"'Two notable groups of experts came out of the general mass of domino devotees. One became known as the store outfit and the other as the hotel bunch, according to where they played, at Richard's store over yonder or down to Parker's hotel.

"'Of course the store outfit poohpoohed and snickered at the ability of the hotel bunch as players of the game as it should be played, and the hotel bunch said very slighting things about the store outfit's presuming to know what dominoes was. So it was a matter of course that by and by talk on both sides became loud and persistent for a championship test between them, and one was at last provided for.

"'Pete Cawasic and Dug Passmore were chosen to unphold the banner of the store outfit and carry it to victory. Sam Plotz and Ike McCorkle were selected as the invincible two to see that the hotel bunch trailed that banner in the dust. As neutral ground on which the battle was to be fought Herman's store was selected.

"'From the time this game was arranged for until last night, when it was played, nothing else was thought, talked or dreamed of in all Montela and parts not only adjacent but remote. Eager and excited delegations from Eureka, Lackawack, Sundown, Peekamose, Kyserike, Pautaukunk and other points poured into Montela on foot and a horseback. And the Souse club was never so busy on the job.

"'The teams were settling down at Herman's to begin the tournament—best three in five—when Punch Bascomb of Eureka spoke up and said:

"'"Seems to me there ought to be a little somethin' up on this game to make it a little more bindin'. S'posin' we bet a little," says Punch.

"'Then the matter of the legal status of betting caused a halt and it was decided that each side should fake up a collection and the sum total be held as a bonus to go to the winning team. The hat was passed for the hotel bunch by Will Horton. Hank Byford looked after the contributions for the store outfit. When the collection was counted it was found that the hotel bunch's backers had come across with $3.19, while the rooters for the store outfit had confidence in it to the extent of $2.46. The total of this sum was confided to the custody of Will Horton and Hank Byford to await its distribution among the triumphant players.

"'Then the word was given and the first game was begun amid an awful silence, which was broken only by words of advice, admonition, disapproval, protest and the like from vociferous onlookers, according as this, that or the other player's play struck them as different from the way they'd have played it themselves. Cawasic and Passmore won the first game by a close shave and the second only by a nose, but the enthusiasm of the store outfit almost lifted the roof off Herman's store.

"'But say, maybe the hotel bunch and its adherents didn't yell when McCorkle and Plotz swiped the two succeeding games, easy. Before starting the fifth and deciding game, though, it was moved by Punch Bascomb of Eureka that as the tension on the nerves of everybody was at a point that engendered its snapping in two, the two teams, and such friends as they might invite to go along, adjourn to Parker's hotel and take a rest. The yeas had it, and the four players called an armistice and went down to Parker's. And almost everybody else went, too.

"'A half hour at Parker's served for them to get all the rest anyone seemed willing to buy, and they returned to the store to tackle the fifth, last and deciding game. The score was even at the beginning of the tenth hand. Then like McCorkle blocked the game.

"The silence was so thick as the count was taken to see which side had the smaller number of pips and thus win that you could have chipped chunks out of it with a knife. McCorkle and Plotz had a total of sixty-eight pips on their unpayed pieces. With a voice that wavered with suppressed emotion and quivered with chagrin Dug Passmore announced his and Pete Cowasi's count.

"'"Seventy - three!" said he and heaved a sigh.

"'While the exultation of the hotel bunch might not have been unseemly it was profuse, but in the midst of it Dug Passmore, who had been silently looking over things, rose and shouted:

"'"Hold on! I protest this game! There's 249 counts on this set of dominoes and there ought to be only 168. More than that, there's thirty-six pieces and there oughtn't to be but twenty-eight."

"Such was the fact. The store outfit glared at the hotel bunch, and the hotel bunch looked daggers at the store outfit. Just how things would have turned out nobody can tell, for somebody spoke up and said:

"'"Some unmitigated individual went and stacked them dominoes while you fellers was over to Parker's takin' some rest! Where's Punch Bascomb of Eureka?"

"'Mr. Bascomb wasn't there. Some one said he seen him drivin' away a while ago in his buckeboard. Then amid much petulance and loud indignation from the bamboozled players and their friends the contributors to the bonus fund for distribution among the victors in the tournament said they guessed they'd see Will Horton and Hank Byford and kind o' collect their money back. They saw Will and Hank, and Hank said:

"'"The fact o' the matter is, boys, there hain't no money to collect back. Punch Bascomb of Eureka kind o' thought a little game o' seven up 'd be sort o' revivin' while you fellers was over to Parker's takin' your rest and me and Will sot in. Fact o' the matter is Punch Bascomb raked them contributions in and I guess maybe has gone home with 'em."

"'For a time last evening, John,' said my friend Sykes, shaking his head mournfully, 'it looked as if there would be a social upheaval at Herman's store that would call for surgical aid, but it was permitted to pass with nothing fiercer than the hotel bunch insinuating that the store outfit was a cowardly conniver, and the store outfit giving its opinion that the hotel bunch was a crawfish in cahoots.

"'And the trail of the serpents is over all Montela like angleworm tracks in the mud, and we are in the dumps clear to our Adam's apple. Meantime, John, it may not be wise for you just now to suggest a tourney at dominoise, best three in five, to either the hotel bunch or the store outfit. Not just now.'

"I said I would bear the hint in mind and when I came away there was no rift yet in the cloud that hovered over Montela."

DURUM IS UP TWO CENTS

Fluctuations of Wheat Are Irregular—Closes Slightly Higher.

Trade on Flax Market Is Very Dull—Demand Not Equal to Offers.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 19.--The principal feature of the Duluth market today was the sudden rise of May durum, whose highest point was equal to the low point of May wheat. The close was made at an advance of 2c. Duluth Mry wheat closed ¼c up. January flax closed ½c down and May 1c down.

The North American wheat markets were very irregular during the morning. The openings did not vary greatly from the closing figures of yesterday, some being slightly higher and others slightly lower. Early in the day the general movement was bearish. Reports from Argentina indicated that the great railroad strike in that country was nearing a settlement. Last night's close on the Buenos Ayres wheat market showed February wheat off ⅝c and March off ¾c. This morning February was reported ⅜c higher. On the Liverpool market wheat fluctuated during the day both above and below the closing figures of yesterday. There were liberal shipments from Australia and a forecast of larger world's shipments, but the La Platte offers were scarce and there was a good demand on the part of the millers. Liverpool wheat closed unchanged to ⅛d lower.

Factors operating upon the North American markets were equally uncertain and conflicting. Receipts from the country were much larger than those of a week ago, but smaller than those of a year ago. The demand was fair. Reports of rainy weather in Argentina had quite a strengthening effect on the markets. Duluth May wheat, which closed yesterday at $1.04½-⅝ asked, opened today at $1.04½ asked, sagged to $1.04, then rose again, and continued to fluctuate irregularly during a large part of the morning. By noon, however, it was selling at $1.04⅜-⅞, and quotations from Minneapolis, Chicago and Winnipeg were likewise bullish.

Probably no feature of the Duluth grain market excited more comment today than the sudden bulge in May durum. The crop of durum has been very short. There has been little trade in that grain for some time and the price has been fairly strong in the neighborhood of $1.01 a bu. This morning in the space of a few minutes it rose from $1.00½ to $1.04 and at noon was selling for $1.03. One of the brokers dealing in that grain, said the rise was due to a strong export demand and a small supply.

Flax Market Sags.

There was little doing on the flax market this morning. Neither the buyers nor the sellers were at all anxious to trade. The demand was lighter than the offers, however, and the market weakened a little in spite of slightly higher cables from Buenos Ayres, Antwerp and London. Duluth January at noon was ½c down and May 1c down. It is expected that the chinook winds will soon cause a drying up of Western flax fields, where the seed is buried under the snow, both in America and Canada, and that this will vastly increase the market receipts.

year. At the present writing it appears that shipments to Europe will be about as follows: India, 18,000,000 bu; Russia and the Danube, 3,000,000 bu; and Argentina, 16,000,000 bu, a total of 37,000,000 bu. These figures give India about the same exportable surplus as last year and are very liberal to Russia and the Danube which last year shipped 5,009,000 bushels from a large crop at high prices. It is doubtful if the exports will be as high as 3,000,000 bushels this year.

In this first six months of the current year it is expected that the United States will use 12,000,000 bu of seed which is slightly under the total American crop. This country will be compelled to import seed to the extent of about 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 bu in addition to the use of substitutes of higher prices and a shortage in several beans which occupy a prominent place in the oil trade.

The significant feature of Argentine exports this year is not wholly in the comparison between the 91,000,000 bu ported this season and the 18,000,000 bu exported in the same period last year. One phase of the situation that must command attention is the recurrence of rains in the Argentine which have only have delayed the fly movement but which are further damaging the unthrashed crop. The grade of the Argentine seed this year will be exceedingly poor. Argentine seed is never as high in grade as American seed and this year it will probably be the poorest in the history of Argentine flax crops. It is carrying even a larger percentage of moisture than the American and Canadian crops.

There is no scientific method of inspection in the Argentine outside of that privately supplied. European buyers will be forced not only to accept exceedingly poor seed, but will run the risk of large shrinkages transpiring in the transit of the seed from Argentina to the crushers. So, as with the American and Canadian crops, it will be necessary to deduct a considerable percentage on account of moisture from the Argentine total weights in arriving at a correct estimate of shipments.

Advices from Europe indicate that bins are empty and that supplies of oil are lower than at any period in the history of the trade. Europe is becoming alarmed over the situation. Until recently Europe had supposed that the American crop was at least 17,000,000 bu. The adjustment of the figures of the United States crop reporting board to the census figures conveyed the first intimation to European oil buyers and others that America would have to go outside of its own preserves in order to meet its seed requirements. As the true statistical situation in this country has become apparent to Europe foreign oil buyers have been scrambling for Argentine seed.

Argentine Speculation.

Yet it cannot be overlooked that Europe has been a fairly heavy seller of Argentine futures. This was true, however, only with the January delivery. The selling in the February has been confined to American crushers. Europe is eager to take delivery of seed for February-March delivery. Foreign oil buyers sold out a large percentage of their Buenos Ayres January delivery in the hope that this speculative selling, reinforced by the dumping overboard of American holdings, would so depress the January option that they could pick up the February at cheaper prices. They hoped it would slump in sympathy with the January.

Their mental processes outlined the situation as it appeared later but they over-imagined the events as they later transpired. For instance, the violent slump in Buenos Ayres January, while caused primarily by speculative selling from American and European holding, was caused chiefly by the uncovering of stop-loss orders which depressed the January delivery violently. When Argentine shorts began to cover again this week values firmed. During the swift recession of the Buenos Ayres January the February naturally declined in sympathy but the hopes of the European buyers were not wholly realized. The February did not slump in so great a proportion as the January. When the January delivery was selling at around $2.13 the Buenos Ayres February was worth about $2.33. The Argentine market was still out of line for a general European business. To add to the discomfiture of the European buyer the American and Argentine markets halted in their downward trend just as it appeared that a readjustment of values might take place which would place the Argentine markets on an exportable basis.

It is necessary for the Argentine markets to reach a plane that will permit Europe to buy. Whether European and American prices must continue to advance or whether the Argentine market must slump in order to bring about this readjustment remains to be seen. These questions are for the crushers and oil buyers to settle. The statistical position is tight. An interesting feature of the situation is the volatile state of Europe's requirements. That continent can expand and restrict its consumption with marvelous facility. It is possible, however, for Europe to contract further its consumption of flaxseed following a year that left bins bare of seed and oil tanks empty?

FLAXSEED.

From Jan. 1 to date the Argentine Republic has shipped 91,000 bu of flax seed to Europe compared with approximately 1,000,000 bu to the United States and Europe in the same period last year. No shipments have been made to the United States this year. American crushers before Jan. 1 purchased approximately 2,000,000 bu of seed for shipment to the United States.

The inclement weather in the Argentine pushed prices skyward as sellers were unable to deliver and most American purchasers sold heavily on the bulge, accepting liberal profits and replacing their Argentine seed with purchases in the American markets. The short interest in Argentina is still heavy and the situation is made more onerous for them by reason of recent rains which have had a bullish effect both on flax and wheat prices.

Argentine Estimates.

An estimate cabled today from Argentina placed the exportable surplus of that country at 20,000,000 bu. The lowest estimate thus far was 22,000,000 bu. The figure cabled today is not a trade quotation but emanated from a public journal in Buenos Ayres which has just completed a survey of the Argentine crops. This is only 1,900,000 bu in excess of the actual exports from the Argentine Republic in the year which closed Jan. 1. Last year Argentina exported 18,194,000 bu of which 14,542,000 bu went to Europe and the remainder to the United States.

In the year just closed the entire world's commercial crop available for Europe and shipped to Europe was 37,713,000 bu. The American commercial crop was approximately 8,750,000 bu. America imported from the Argentine Republic and India 3,652,000 and 2,850,000 bu respectively, making a total world's commercial crop of 44,215,000 bu. A few years ago the world was producing 100,000,000 bu of commercial seed.

Supplies available for Europe in the year just closed were the smallest since 1902, when exports to Europe amounted to 32,893,000 bushels. In the intervening years the export movement to Europe was as follows: 1903, 47,261,000 bu; 1904, 59,700,000 bu; 1905, 44,280,000 bu; 1906, 42,985,000 bu; 1907, 54,217,600 bu; 1908, 56,056,000 bu; 1909, 40,492,000 bu; 1910, 39,156,000 bu, and 1911, 37,713,000 bu.

This Year's Exports.

There is every reason to believe that the exporting countries this year will not be in a position to furnish Europe with as much seed as last

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Is Depressed on Forecast of Larger World Shipments.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—A forecast of larger world shipments had a depressing effect today on wheat. Liberal supplies from Australia tended to aid the bears. There was also a prospect that the Argentine railway strike soon would be settled. At the outset, however, the market here was firm as a result partly of reports that Pacific coast wheat was on good demand at Liverpool. Opening prices were unchanged to ⅛@¼c higher. May started at $1.00⅛@1.00¼, a gain of a shade to ⅛@¼c, but declined to 99⅞c.

Assertions that there was a huge shortage, 80,000,000 to 100,000,000 bu, in May wheat here brought about a rally. The close was steady with May at $1.00¾, a gain of ⅛@¼c net.

Generally favorable weather made corn easy. May opened ⅛c lower to a like amount up at 66@66¼c and descended to 65¾@65⅞c.

Subsequently complaints of car shortage helped cause an upturn. The close was steady at 66⅛c for May, exactly the same as last night.

Fair selling of oats by commission houses carried that cereal in a downward direction. May started a sixteenth off to a similar advance at 49⅜@49½o and sagged to 49¼@49⅜c.

Hog products showed a disposition to drop. First sales were the same as last night to 7½@10c lower. May lard ierjies were closed at $8.25 for pork, $9.47½ for lard and $8.80 for ribs.

BOSTON COPPER STOCKS

The Boston stock quotations furnished by Gay & Sturgis, 326 West Superior street.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 19.—The market opened with a very indefinite attitude and remained so until the last hour when considerable strength was shown in the better class of New York stocks. The market has been waiting for a leader, or a trend one way or the other, and the St. Paul dividend which is due next week is much talked of and should govern the trader in his commitments. The tape says it will be reduced but it is our belief that it has been entirely discounted. Boston was a laggard today. There was no pressure, simply a lack of interest, but there is a good undertone of strength and if the New York market continues active tomorrow, we look for a higher and broader market here.

TOWNS THAT MAKE MONEY.

San Diego, Cal., is said to be the first American city to take up scientific forestry as a municipal enterprise. The city owns 7,000 acres of waste land, a heritage from the time when it was a Mexican pueblo. This tract is now set aside for growing eucalypti, and last spring 40,000 seedlings were planted.

Eucalyptus is very valuable and takes the place of many of the more familiar hardwoods that are becoming so expensive; it grows with truly tropical rapidity; it will stand an enormous amount of cutting and seems to thrive under it, and a grove once well started apparently will last forever.

In San Diego, says the Survey, the more optimistic taxpayers are looking forward to a time when the forest will relieve them of all taxes and perhaps even pay them for being citizens of San Diego! They are not the only people in an American city to be congratulated on doing good municipal business.

July 6, 1911, the Detroit house of correction passed its fiftieth milestone. During the last thirty-two years over $1,000,000 in profits were turned over to the city of Detroit, to the families of prisoners and to the prisoners themselves. Since 1880 the city of Detroit has annually received sums ranging from $9,016.83 to $52,711.64.

The original expenditure by the city of $189,841.36 has been turned back into the treasury of the municipality, the institution has paid its own way, and in the fifty years showed a fine balance of $1,254,178.15. In addition to this showing, the prisoners since July, 1901, have been receiving financial benefits ranging from $5,958.14 to $9,670.38 annually.

In addition to amounts paid the prisoners, some of which are sent by the men to their families, provision is also made for the families of those who are imprisoned on the charge of abandonment. This is accomplished under a statute which provides that $1.50 a week for the wife and an additional 50 cents for each child under 15 years of age be paid them out of the funds of the institution.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

All High Class Dividend-Paying Railroads Actively Absorbed.

Awakening in the Coppers and the Market Closes Strong.

New York, Jan. 19.—The stock market opened virtually unchanged. Trading was listless. Lehigh Valley sold ex-dividend and ex-rights to subscribe to the new issues of coal stocks, and was nearly 20 points lower. It opened at 165½, compared with yesterday's close of 184⅞. The price quickly advanced more than a point. The only other stock which moved more than a small fraction were Canadian Pacific, which advanced 4¼, Baltimore & Ohio, which gained ½ and American Telephone with a loss of ½.

The list eased off a trifle after the initial dealings, but there was no great amount of stock offered for sale and prices readily hardened when pressure was relieved. On the rebound the market went generally above last night's level with the inquiry somewhat vigorous for a few of the active stocks. Several of the specialties were conspicuously firm, including American Beet Sugar and some members of the Tobacco group.

Standard stocks figured more prominently in the day's trading and less emphasis was laid upon the movements of the specialties which has been the center of interest most of the week. The tone of the market was firm.

A brisk demand strengthened the Hill stocks and Northern Pacific and Great Northern preferred improved 1¼. The other leaders made fractional advances and there were some notable gains in the tobacco stocks. Lorillard jumped 9 points and Liggett and Meyers 5.

Bonds were strong, with great activity in the Burlington joint 4's. United States Steel 5's continued to rise and touched 104.

Railroad stocks forged to the front again in a decisive manner. Renewed buying of the Hill group revived interest in the Western railroad issues, for which there was largely increased demand. Great Northern preferred rose 2⅜. Northern Pacific 2, and Union Pacific, St. Paul, New York Central, Reading and Baltimore & Ohio 1. Ligget & Myers touched 183½, compared with 168, yesterday's close and 157, the lowest on Tuesday. American Steel foundries broke 3¼ on a few transactions.

The market closed strong. Speculation became more diversified, with an active absorption of all the high-class dividend-paying railroad stocks. Among the coalers Reading led with an improvement of 2⅝ and in the Western field the Hill stocks continued prominent. There was an awakening in coppers, both Amalgamated and American Smelting responding in substantial fashion.

LOW RATES TO NEW YORK

Erie Canal May Bring Rate of 7 Cents From Duluth.

Minneapolis Exultant Over Possibility of a 12-Cent Rate.

"The improvement of the Erie canal, affording better facilities for the transportation of grain, flour and other Western commodities from Lake Erie to the Hudson river by water," remarked G. Roy Hall, secretary of the traffic committee of the Duluth Commercial club, today, "is likely, in my opinion, to be very beneficial to Duluth.

"I see that W. P. Trickett, executive manager of the Minneapolis Traffic association, expects to see flour shipped from Minneapolis to New York, after the canal is improved and used as it should be, for 12 cents per hundred, instead of the present rate of 23 cents per hundred. If his figures are correct, it will mean that Duluth shippers of flour, instead of paying 18 cents per hundred, as at present, will pay only 7 cents per hundred, as there is an established differential of 5 cents per hundred between Minneapolis and Duluth for shipments at the head of the Lakes. This might make the transportation of wheat and flour from Duluth so cheap as to enable Duluth again to engage actively in an export trade. When wheat was much cheaper than it is now, a great deal of wheat and flour was shipped by Duluth business men for export."

Mr. Trickett bases his estimate on word that he has received from the company which is to handle business from Buffalo to New York on the canal, after it is widened and improved in accordance with present plans. These officials stated that flour would be carried from Buffalo to New York on the improved canal at the rate of 50 cents a ton.

The Flour City Steamship line was organized last summer to combat the lake and rail rates from Minnesota shipping points to Buffalo. The new concern is now engaged in a struggle to obtain from the interstate commerce commission an order granting to the new steamship company the same rail rates from Buffalo to New York as are given by the railroads to the lake steamship lines in which these railroads are themselves interested.

SUPPOSED DEAD, IS FOUND ALIVE

Syracuse Man Spent Part of Time in Warroad, Minn.

Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Capt. Barton Crulkshank, organizer of Troop D, mourned as dead since his overturned canoe was found on the bank of the St. Lawrence river opposite Morristown on June 27, 1910, is alive and well in New York, according to George Fuller of Potsdam, attorney for Mrs. Crulkshank. He has been living there under the name of Daniel Douglas for more than a year.

The two men met last Friday, and Capt. Crulkshank's story as told by Attorney Fuller follows:

After leaving Morristown he walked all the way to Alexandria Bay, a distance of twenty-eight miles, and from there took a boat to Lewiston. Later he went to Buffalo and secured a position on a boat running to Cleveland.

In Cleveland he secured a position as solicitor for the National Guard Magazine. While thus employed he visited military centers all through the Middle West and finally located for the winter in Lake of the Woods, Minnesota.

Some time afterward he was given a position in a law office in Warroad, Minn. Later he went to Connecticut and engaged in farming. He earned enough money there to open the engineering offices in New York under the name of the Daniel Douglas Engineering company. He has built up a lucrative business.

Crulkshank had been legally declared dead and his wife collected life insurance to the amount of $25,000.

YOUNG WOMEN WILL PLAY AT CHURCH MEETING.

The young men in charge of the people's meetings at the First Presbyterian church have secured the services of Miss Wally Heymar, the young violinist, and Miss Brown, who has accompanied her in connection with numerous appearances at the Commercial club and the hotels.

The playing of these new recruits to the city's musical circles has been hailed with delight by those who have been fortunate enough to hear them, and the young men are congratulating themselves on having secured their services.

Miss Heymar will render a solo next Sunday evening, and together with Miss Brown will play the accompaniments for the choir work. It is probable the violinist will be retained for a number of weeks.

A combination of the organ and the piano will be used for the hymn singing, with Miss Macaskill at the piano and Miss Nordby at the organ.

Rev. Robert Yost will speak on "Manhood vs. Gold," and the youthful sponsors of the new services are hoping for a record attendance. Much satisfaction is felt at the increased attendance that has characterized these meetings through the vigorous weather of the past two weeks.

$5,000,000 INSURANCE FOR ONLY THREE HOURS.

New York, Jan. 19.—A $5,000,000 insurance policy, the life of which is three hours, was issued yesterday to guarantee a New York banking house against loss by highwaymen during the transfer from the burned Equitable building of a fortune in cash and securities which must be carried for six blocks through the streets. Although the surety company assumes the risk of loss, the actual protection devolves upon the city, for a squad of police will be the only guards. The surety company called the policy a "holdup and robbery policy" and receives $500 for the risk.

FARMER NEAR WINSTED ADMITS KILLING WIFE.

Winsted, Minn., Jan. 19.—Fred Wagner, a farmer, 45 years of age, shot and killed his wife, aged 40, on their farm, four miles west of Winsted, Wednesday. Wagner was arrested and, according to officials has confessed. He said he had been drinking and that he and his wife quarreled. He was unable to give any other explanation for the shooting.

TAFT TRAVELING AGAIN.

President Goes to New Haven and Will Visit New York.

Washington, Jan. 19.—President Taft left Washington this morning at 7:35 for New Haven, where he will attend a dinner given by the Chamber of Commerce and a meeting of the Yale corporation. Starting back after the Yale corporation meeting tomorrow, the president will stop in New York from 7 p. m. to midnight, during which time he is scheduled to attend banquets given by the New York Bar association, the Society of the Genesee and the Twenty-four Carat club. Secretary Hilles and Maj. Butt are accompanying the president, and Senator Murray Crane of Massachusetts went as far as New York with the party.

We, the undersigned, hereby associate ourselves together and subscribe and acknowledge the following certificate of incorporation, pursuant to the provisions of chapter 58 of the Revised Laws of Minnesota for the year 1905, and acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto.

1. The name of this corporation shall be "The Crosandor Land Company."

2. The general nature of the business of this corporation shall be the buying, owning, improving, selling, leasing and generally dealing in lands, tenements and hereditaments, and the transaction of all such other business as may be deemed advisable or convenient for the welfare of this corporation.

The principal place of transacting business of this corporation is Duluth, Minnesota.

3. The period of duration of this corporation shall be thirty years.

4. The names and places of residence of the persons forming this corporation are as follows: E. F. Alford, J. W. Hunt and Corah L. Colbrath, all of Duluth, Minnesota.

5. The names of the first board of directors shall be as follows: E. F. Alford, J. W. Hunt and Corah L. Colbrath, all of Duluth, Minnesota.

The government of this corporation and the management of the affairs shall be vested in the following officers, to-wit: A board of three directors, who shall be stockholders of this corporation, and a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer. The board of directors shall be elected by the stockholders of the corporation at their annual meeting, and the president, vice president, secretary and treasurer shall be chosen by the directors at their first meeting after each annual meeting of the stockholders. The directors and officers shall hold their respective offices for the term of one year and until their respective successors are elected and qualified.

The annual meeting of the stockholders shall be held on the second Monday in January in each year, at such hour and place as shall be fixed by the by-laws of the corporation.

6. The amount of the capital stock of this corporation shall be one hundred thousand dollars, divided into one thousand shares of the par value of one hundred dollars each, the same to be paid in as called for by the board of directors in money or property.

7. The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject is the sum of one hundred thousand dollars.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, we have hereunto set our hands and seals this 16th day of January, 1912.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Six Hundred Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Henry Kirchhan and his wife, Mary Kirchhan, Mortgagors, to James Rawson, Mortgagee, bearing date the Second day of January, 1894, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Saint Louis, and State of Minnesota, on the Eleventh day of January, 1894, in Book 80 of Mortgages, on page 378.

Which said Mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by Alice E. Williams, as administratrix of the estate of said James Rawson, Deceased, an authenticated copy of letters appointing her such administratrix being recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of St. Louis County, Minnesota, on January 25, 1901, in Book "M" of Miscellaneous, on page 613, and by Ann M. Rawson and Alice E. Williams, to Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific Railroad company by written assignment dated the tenth day of February, 1911, and recorded on the second day of January, 1912, at 8 o'clock A. M., in the office of said Register of Deeds in Book 303 of Mortgages, page 292; and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage or any part thereof.

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

Lot number Six (6), in Block number One Hundred Forty-eight (148), in West Duluth, Fifth Division, according to the recorded plat thereof, on record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Saint Louis County, Minnesota, said premises being situated in Saint Louis County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Saint Louis County at the Sheriff's office in the County Court House, in the City of Duluth in said County and State, on the nineteenth day of February 1912, at ten o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Five Hundred Dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated January 2nd, A. D. 1912.

ABDICATION AT PEKIN HAS TAKEN PLACE

Cable Dispatch Says Edict Is Withheld for Sake of Peace.

Republicans Claim Manchus Seek to Ruin the Country.

American Troops Arrive to Help Guard the Pekin Railway.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—According to a cable dispatch from Pekin to the Chicago Daily News, the abdication of the Manchu dynasty is an accomplished fact and the delay in issuing the edict already drawn up, is solely to prevent an uprising by the reactionary wing of the imperial family, headed by Prince Kung. It also is declared that Tien Tsin will be the temporary capital of China while a new government is being formed.

"Seek to Ruin Nation."

Nankin, Jan. 20.—The foremost of the republicans here declared today their belief that the Manchus and the younger imperial princes are determined to bring China to ruin and dismemberment as a final despairing act.

Few persons now refuse to recognize the hopelessness of the Manchu struggle. Yuan Shi Kai is practically held a prisoner in Pekin and poses as a champion of the Manchus in order to save his own life. He still urges a monarchy, according to the advices received here, though Tang Shao Yi, his

PORTER CHARLTON PERFECTLY WELL

Wife Murderer Still Awaits Decision as to Extradition.

New York, Jan. 20. — Porter Charlton, who murdered his wife, Mrs. Mary Scott Castle Charlton, at Lake Como, in Italy, in 1910, is perfectly sane, according to the district attorney of Hudson county, New Jersey. He is in splendid health.

At the office of the district attorney it was said there was absolutely no chance of the young man being released on bail, and that he will remain in jail pending the outcome of proceedings which are to determine whether he is to be returned to Italy for trial. The case is now before the supreme court of the United States and a decision is not expected before some time early in 1913.

CHLOROFORM STOPS LAUGH

Three Doctors Called to Halt Iowa Woman's Merriment.

Ames, Iowa, Jan. 20. — Chloroform and three doctors were necessary to stop Mrs. A. Fox of this city when she got to laughing over her daughter's story concerning an incident at a circus. Today she is slowly recovering from the illness which resulted from the laughing spell.

Mrs. Fox and her daughter were working about the house yesterday afternoon when the latter happened to remember something she once saw at a circus and told about it. The mother had been laughing two hours when medical aid was summoned and chloroform administered.

It was with great difficulty that the physicians suppressed the daughter and members of the family and friends, who ceased laughing only after they had learned of the serious nature of the case.

ICE JAM AT APPLETON FINALLY CUT THROUGH.

Appleton, Wis., Jan. 20.—Crews of men at work on the Fox river ice jam succeeded in completing a channel through Appleton today and the danger is greatly relieved. The water rose yesterday afternoon six inches at the power plant, due to the backwater, but by getting the channel through, the water is going down and the danger is temporarily over.

NEW YORK WILL SEE ROYAL HIGHNESSES

DUKE AND DUCHESS OF CONNAUGHT.

"PRINCESS PAT."

His royal highness, the duke of Connaught, governor general of Canada, is the only surviving son of the late Queen Victoria of England. He was born May 1, 1850. He married Princess Louise of Prussia, and they have three children.

NEW YORK TO SEE ROYALTY

Ultra-Exclusive Social Set Will Meet Duke of Connaught.

Failure of Party to Visit Washington Surprises London.

New York, Jan. 20. — All New York interested in affairs social is awaiting with interest the coming of next week, which will bring with it the first visit to America of royal guests purely on a social mission. From Monday until Thursday the "most representative" of the so-called "400" will extend courtesies to the only surviving son of the late Queen Victoria, his wife and his daughter.

The royal guests, who will reach here from Ottawa early Monday morning, are the Duke of Connaught, Canada's new governor-general, the Duchess, and the Princess Patrica, born on St. Patrick's day and familiarly known as "Princess Pat." They will come, not as the guests of the nation, state or city, but as democratic individauls who will stay at the New York residence of Whitelaw Reid, American ambassador to the court of St. James.

Only 300 Invitations.

BOY BANDIT FOOLS HOLDUP WITNESSES

Makes Victim Keep Arms Moving While Auto Is Going By.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 20. — A boy bandit and Anthony G. Kilker, owner of a local laundry, played a game of "hands up and hands down" when Mr. Kilker was on his way to his place of busfness early today.

The highwaymen, seeing an automobile approaching, ordered Kilker to raise and lower his arms rapidly in automatic fashion, thus giving the occupants of the car no reason to suspect that the man executing the movement was being held up. When the car had passed, the robber relieved Kilker of $40 and disappeared.

TAFT RUNS TO SEE FIRE

Joins Crowd of Students on Yale Campus During Excitement.

"Old South Middle" Scorched By Flames—President Hears Scientist.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 20.—President Taft "cut" chapel at Yale this morning to go to a fire. The fire was in Old South Middle Hall on the college campus.

The president rose early and left his hotel to go to college chapel, only a block away. He was passing by Phelps Gateway, which is half way along College street, to Battell chapel, when he saw the heavy smoke beating down into the college campus. With all the ardor of his college days he joined the rush of undergraduates who were streaming pell-mell towards the dormitory, which was on fire.

Just One of Crowd.

LARD LAW HELD VALID

Judge Pollock at Fargo Sustains North Dakota Statute in Decision.

Armour & Co. Lose Fight and May Refuse to Sell in That State.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.) — Judge Charles A. Pollock, in district court today held that the North Dakota lard law is constitutional.

If the packers live up to their implied threat, made during the trial, they will not sell any more lard in pails or other containers in North Dakota.

The case was that of North Dakota vs. Armour & Co., who were charged with criminal violation of the statute which provides that lard sold in containers must be sold in lots of one pound, three pounds, five pounds or multiples of these numbers. It is the only law of the kind in the United States.

The packers claimed that this law

MAY HEAD TICKET IN NORTH DAKOTA

D. H. McARTHUR.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—D. H. McArthur of Fargo, state oil inspector and chairman of the Democratic state central committee, is being mentioned for the Democratic nomination for governor of North Dakota. He has not expressed himself on the subject. To Mr. McArthur's untiring and effective work was largely due the success of the Northwestern Get-together conference and banquet this week.

BEEF COST DATA READ

Evidence Admitted in Packers' Trial Over Objection By Defense.

Armour Clerk Tells of Frequent Changes in Office Force.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—When the packers' trial was resumed today, Edward J. McAdam, office manager for Armour & Co. at South Omaha, continued his testimony regarding the business methods used at that plant.

Assistant District Attorney Elwood Godman read a number of specimen memorandum beef cost sheets to the jury showing the credits allowed for the different by-products in making the compilations.

Judge Carpenter overruled objections of the defense to the reading of the data. The sheets showed the killing charge on cattle to be $2.70 a head; the allowance for offal 35 cents a head, and the credit for hides varied from 4 to 6 cents a pound.

The government contends these allowances given for by-products were below the actual market values and they play an important part in fixing the selling price of meat by the alleged packers' combine.

All the memorandum beef cost sheets read to the jury were used by Armour & Co. in the period covered by the indictment.

Change Clerks Frequently.

James McLeese, clerk in charge of figuring the test cost of beef at the Kansas City plant of Armour & Co. for seven years, was the next witness called by the government. He said the memorandum beef cost sheets are never kept over thirty days.

"Can you give me the names of any of the men under you who helped figure these test costs on cattle?"

"No."

"Are any of these men still in the company's employ?"

"No, they are all gone and I cannot remember their names."

"Are changes in your clerical force frequently made?"

"Yes, quite frequently," replied McLeese.

WATERPIPE MELTS; PUTS OUT FLAMES

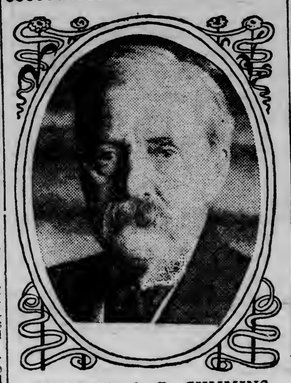

Sudden Deluge Interrupts Firemen at Work in Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 20. — While firemen were chopping through a floor of an apartment house at Wilson and Evanston avenues today in an attempt to find the seat of a fire, a water pipe above them melted, flooding the room and putting out the blaze.

Members of twenty-four families, thinly clad, fled from the building upon the discovery of the fire. An old woman and two girls were partly overcome by smoke. Firemen carried them to safety.

SENATOR CUMMINS ENTERS RACE AGAINST TAFT AND LA FOLLETTE

LATEST ADDITION TO PRESIDENTIAL SQUAD

SENATOR A. B. CUMMINS Of Iowa.

Complicates Matters for the Republican Party's Nomination.

Riot of Political Speculation Started By the Announcement.

Houser Says Wisconsin Man Will Yield to Nobody.

Washington, Jan. 20. — United States Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa, Progressive Republican, today announced his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination, in a statement in which he says that if the Republicans of Iowa believe him a fit man to urge before the Chicago convention, he will accept their decision.

The entrance of Mr. Cummins into the presidential fight materially complicates the Republican situation. President Taft now is openly opposed for the nomination by Senators La Follette of Wisconsin, and Cummins, both Progressives, while still other Progressives are urging the nomination of Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

Senator Cummins' statement follows:

"So much has been published in the newspapers, so much written and said to me concerning the presidential matter, that I feel it to be my duty to make to the Republicans of Iowa a plain statement upon the subject.

"Immediately upon my return from the last session of congress I gave

NO ANSWER BY WILSON

New Jersey Governor Ends Michigan Tour and Returns to the East.

Watterson Statement Is Commented Upon By W. F. McCoombs.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 20.—Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey addressed a mass meeting of war veterans at the Old Soldiers' home here today.

Governor Wilson maintained his attitude of absolute refusal to discuss the utterances of Henry Watterson upon his candidacy for the presidency. He left at 11:10 a. m. for the East.

Governor Wilson was met on his arrival here last evening by a committee of representative Democrats. An hour later he delivered an address before the Ladies' Literary club along the lines of the topic the club members at present are studying—"Problems of Government Before the People."

"Business in Politics."

At the close the governor was escorted to a hall, where he addressed a large audience. His subject was "Business in Politics," and he said that the country at present was suffering from too much politics in business and too little business in politics. Political machines were the dominating forces in legislation in which the business of the country was vitally interested.

CLING 30 HOURS TO WRECK'S RIGGING

Four Men Are Taken Exhausted From Ocean Schooner.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 20. — After clinging for more than thirty hours to the masts and rigging of their sunken vessel, the four remaining members of the crew of the three-masted schooner Harry Prescott were rescued today by the revenue cutter Itasca which proceeded to Wilmington, N. C.

The four men were nearly exhausted. Last night was one of great suffering, in the face of a severe northwest wind that carried the temperature below freezing.

It was 9 o'clock Thursday night that the Prescott bound for Wilmington, N. C., with a cargo of salt, struck on the inner Diamond shoals when her master mistook the Hatteras light for the Diamond shoals lightship.

It was a battle for life from the start for the seven members of the schooner's crew. Her cabins soon filled and the men were without food and drink from midnight Thursday until their rescue, save for what little they were able to secure about their persons when it was found that the ship was doomed.

ICE IN RIVER SINKS BARGES

Big Gorge Breaks at Louisville and Grinds Boats to Bits.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 20. — Under pressure from the Upper Ohio and her tributaries, the ice gorge here broke early today and the immense pack, which rested on the river bottom and jammed the channel of the Ohio from shore to shore for miles above the falls, began to move down stream, sweeping the banks and crushing coal barges and floating property. Several barges were sunk.

The river has been rising at the rate of a foot an hour.

MICHIGAN MAN FOUND MURDERED

Emil Kilstrom of Grand Rapids Killed While in His Office.

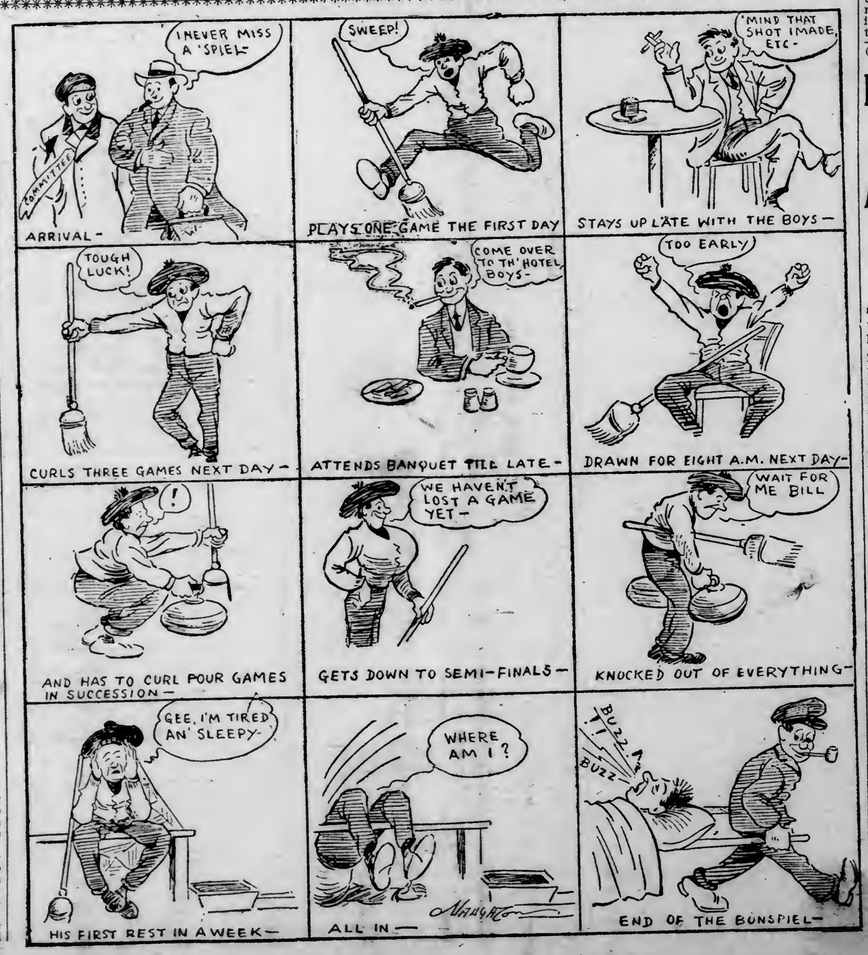

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 20.—Emil Kilstrom, 66 years old, president of a local fuel company, was found dead in his office last night with a bullet through his heart.

A physician was called and he ascribed death to apoplexy superinduced by cold. Not until his body was taken to the undertaking rooms of his son, Ex-City Treasurer Oscar E. Kilstrom, was the bullet wound discovered.

Coroners and detectives instituted an investigation and obtained clews tending to prove the fuel dealer was the victim of two robbers.

Mr. Kilstrom had been a resident of Grand Rapids since 1869.

LICENSE IS SUSPENDED

Captain of Steamer Hanna Is Blamed for Collision.

Inspectors Find That He Violated the Pilot Rules.

Capt. Matthew Anderson of the steamer Leonard C. Hanna, which collided in the local harbor with the steamer Michigan early on the morning of Nov. 1 last year, has been found at fault by local steam vessel inspectors and as a result his license has been suspended for a period of four months.

Findings have just been made by Inspectors Monahan and Chalk in the trial of Capt. Anderson on charges of violating rules II and X of the Pilot Rules for the Great Lakes. Their report of the matter in part is as follows:

"After carefully reviewing the testimony and considering the brief filed by counsel for Matthew Anderson at his trial for violation of rules II and X of the Pilot Rules for the Great Lakes, it is shown by the evidence that the steamer Leonard C. Hanna, of which Matthew Anderson was master, collided with the steamer Michigan at about 1:30 a. m., No. 1, 1911, at the turning point in Rice's Point channel, Duluth harbor. The Leonard C. Hanna was bound out of the harbor under her own power, and the Michigan was going to a coal dock at Superior, Wis., in tow of tug Record. A passing signal of one blast of the whistle was sounded by the Hanna, followed later by another single blast. The latter signal was answered by tug Record. The vessels were then between 2,000 feet and one-half mile apart; the Hanna was in the Gate Basin, and the Record and Michigan in the Rice's Point channel. They were approaching each other at right angles, or obliquely, and according to the passing signal agreement it was necessary for the Hanna to cross the bows of the tug and Michigan before completing the turn into the Rice's Point channel. There was an unobstructed channel on her starboard side, with ample room to execute the maneuver and pass the tug and Michigan with safety, and carry out her passing-signal agreement.

"We find that Matthew Anderson failed to take seasonable precaution to prevent a collision by sounding a danger signal at a seasonable time, and to have otherwise complied with the requirements of rule II of the Pilot Rules; that he failed to comply with the requirements of rule X of said rules by turning on a starboard wheel faster and more than was required and bringing his vessel over into the westerly side of the Rice's Point channel, and thereby causing the collision with the steamer Michigan.

"Under authority of section 4450, Revised Statutes of the United States, the license of Matthew Anderson is hereby suspended for a period of four months.

FIRST TIME IN EIGHTEEN YEARS

Neither Montgomery Nor Stone Missed a Performance Before.

The absence of David Montgomery from the performance of "The Old Town" last evening was the first time in eighteen years that Montgomery and Stone were unable to play together.

"It was in Galveston," said Mr. Houghton, manager of the company, this morning, "that the two boys first started playing together. They were black-face comedians then and this is the first time they have not been together at a performance since. Mack Whiting, who took Mr. Montgomery's place last evening, is the stage manager of the company and a very able actor. Mr. Montgomery will play this afternoon as usual, his severe cold having left him over night."

"It is a wonder," continued Mr. Houghton, "that more in the company have not been taken sick. The members have had three changes of climate in the past three months and only three weeks ago were walking about in Los Angeles in straw hats and white duck suits and trousers. They will play in New Orleans in two weeks, again being in the warm belt."

AVIATORS MEET IN LOS ANGELES

Sham Battle in the Air Part of Opening Program.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 20.—The third international aviation meet to be held in Los Angeles began today and will continue nine days. Forty-nine aviators will take part.

The meet began with a parade showing the evolution of transportation and locomotion methods for a century.

The program today comprised sixteen events, including a "man hunt" in aeroplanes, hunting pigeons in the air, and a sham battle.

The racing events included a five-mile handicap, a ten-mile free-for-all and a race between aviators representing different nations. In addition there was an altitude contest between Phil O. Parmalee and Lincoln Beachey, the latter the holder of the American record.

Electrician Said to Have Explained Firing Methods Will Testify.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 20. — J. B. Waggoner, formerly an electrician at Seattle, Wash., reported to the government officials today to be a witness in the investigation of the dynamite conspiracy.

J. B. McNamara is alleged to have gone to Waggoner during the dynamite plotting on the Pacific coast and asked how bombs might be ignited by an electric spark from a battery instead of by fulminating caps.

No session of the inquiry was held today, the jury having adjourned to Monday.

MACHINERY FOR CUYUNA.

Carload to Complete the Iron Mountain Mining Shaft.

A carload of machinery was shipped today from Duluth, including boilers from the Gogebic Boiler works, to the shaft of the Iron Mountain Mining company in section 33, 47-29, in Crow Wing county, Cuyuna iron range. This machinery is to be used to complete the shaft of the Iron Mountain Mining company.

The shaft of the Iron Mountain company is forty feet in depth and has yet to be sunk twenty-three feet to reach the ore body. The company is sinking its twelfth drill hole. All of the holes are in ore. B. F. Forrestal and other directors of the company have been at the property and returned to Duluth last night. While on the Cuyuna they let a contract for the completion of the shaft in thirty days.

AMBASSADOR BRYAN ENTERTAINED IN JAPAN.

Yokohama, Japan, Jan. 20.—A banquet in honor of Charles Page Bryan, United States ambassador to Japan, was given here today by the American Asiatic association. Mr. Bryan made a speech in which he emphasized the importance of the interchange of trade, which, he said, was the surest and most practical guarantee of peace.

TWO CHANCES TO REGISTER

Voters May Get Names on List, Tuesday or Saturday.

Mayor's Talk Favorably Received—Some Warm Ward Contests.

Tuesday, Jan. 23, and Saturday, Jan. 27, are registration days for the city election to be held Feb. 6, and the Republican, Democratic and Socialist forces are just now concentrating their attention on getting a heavy registration. Only a small percentage of the voters of the city registered at the primary election and, as the interest in the election is increasing, it is expected that many voters will register on the two remaining days.

Anybody who does not register either next Tuesday or next Saturday will not have an opportunity to vote at the election Feb. 6.

The contest for mayor is attracting the greatest attention and a warm contest is looked for at the polls. Mayor Cullum's straight-forward exposition of his views on all questions at the West End Commercial club meeting last night has aroused favorable comment on the street. It was the opening gun in the mayor's campaign and it was heard in all parts of the city. Dr. McCuen is conducting a strenuous speaking campaign, appearing almost every evening at the meeting of some organization.

The ward contests are numerous and heated. Present members of the council are being vigorously opposed in some wards, but they seem to be standing up well under the opposition.

Jordan's Record.

Frank Jordan, present member of the council and the Democratic candidate for re-election, is making a strong campaign in the Third ward. He has lived in the city about 25 years, almost all of that time in the Third ward, and he has a wide acquaintance among the voters. Mr. Jordan is completing his third term on the council. As a member of the council, president of that body, and a member of the finance committee, he has done effective work for the ward and the city and his friends believe that his record will be indorsed by a re-election.

Mr. Jordan's friends point to the fact that he has worked in harmony with the city administration in every progressive movement. He supported the mayor in the matter of issuing bonds for the acquirement of dock property. He worked and voted for the issuing of bonds for the purchase of additional park property. He is now working for the public welfare amendment, in which he firmly believes. Mr Jordan has worked for the extension of public utilities to outlying districts for the benefit of the home owner and has always supported the things that appealed to him as being reasonable and right and opposed those things that appeared impractical or extravagant.

Stating his position on the electric plant bond issue, Mr. Jordan said:

"I believe in being frank and above board and I have repeatedly stated my position on the bond issue. I am opposed to the bond issue for the reason that I do not believe in adding to the city's bonded indebtedness for such a purpose. I believe it would be unwise for the city to spend money in building and operating a competing plant. I believe it to be possible to enter into an arrangement with the present company that will give the city good service and fair rates without increasing the bonded indebtedness or financing a hazardous venture as a competing plant would be."

COAL MINERS TO MEET OPERATORS

Bituminous and Anthracite Scales Both Terminate Soon.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 20. — Operators and miners of the central bituminous coal field will meet in this city on Thursday of next week to consider a new wage scale to go into effect April 1. A new wage contract between the mine workers of the anthracite field, also to be in force from April 1, will be negotiated at a conference Feb. 27 at the offices of the Central railroad of New Jersey, 143 Liberty street, New York city. The two joint wage conferences were announced today by President John P. White to the convention of the United Mine Workers. The scale committee is preparing the miner's demands.

Bituminous miners and operators of Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois are to meet here, and the conference at New York will include employers and miners of all three of the anthracite districts of Pennsylvania.

"IN A BAD WAY"

Many a Duluth Reader Will Feel Grateful for This Information.

When your back gives out;
Becomes lame, weak or aching;
When urinary troubles set in,
Your kidneys are "in a bad way."
Doan's Kidney Pills are for sick kidneys.

Local evidence proves their merit.

Mrs. A. Christianson, 2529 W. Second St., Duluth, Minn., says: "About two years ago I had kidney trouble, in fact, I had noticed symptoms of it for several months. I did not pay much attention to the matter until I knew that I could not neglect it any longer. My back was so weak that I couldn't lift anything and all the strength seemed to leave my hands and arms. I was in bad shape when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills but was surprised to find that they helped me at once. After taking the remedy two days, my back was as strong as ever and my kidneys were normal. Since then I have always kept Doan's Kidney Pills on hand and when I have used them, they have done good work."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

LUMBER RATES IN SOUTH EXCESSIVE

Revision of Tariffs Ordered By Interstate Commerce Commission.

Washington, Jan. 20.—It was held by the interstate commerce commission today, in the case of the Norman Lumber company against the Louisville & Nashville and other roads operating in the South, that the freight rates on hardwood lumber from points of origin south of the Ohio river ought not to be higher to Louisville, Ky., than to Cairo, Ill. The carriers have been requested by the commission so to amend their tariffs as to equalize the rates to Louisville with those of other Ohio river transfer points. No order is entered in the case, but the commission has received assurances that the carriers will revise, as soon as possible, the thousands of rates affected by the decision.

It was announced by the commission in its formal opinion that Commissioner McChord, a resident of Louisville, "took no part in the decision."

OBITUARY

James T. Taylor, aged 74, the last of the famous Tyne river (England) crew of oarsmen who won the championship from the United States at Saratoga, about 1870, is dead of pneumonia at Pittsburg, Pa.

Paul Taves, a well known American civil engineer and railroad builder of Rio Janeiro, is dead. Mr. Taves was 73 years old and had spent forty-five years in Brazil.

Mrs. Alfred Bishop, aged 60, is dead of heart failure at her home in New York. She was the author of several books.

H. S. Frisbie, formerly a wealthy machinery manufacturer of Cincinnati, Ohio, is dead on his farm near Chester, Ohio, of a complication of ailments. Mr. Frisbie was known throughout the steamboat world as the inventor of the Frisbie valve for steamboats.

Rev. Francis Michael Sheeran, a former president of Villanova college and at one time vice provincial of the Augustinian order in the United States, is dead at the monastery of the college. He was 72 years old.

SOUTHERN SAWMILL LABOR TROUBLE ENDED.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 20.—All troubles with the timbermen's union, known as the Timber Workers of the World, has been settled, and all sawmills in Louisiana and East Texas, with one exception, have resumed operations, according to a statement by John H. Kirby of Texas, chairman of the executive committee of the Sawmill Operators' association.

FOR MEDICAL FREEDOM.

Branch of League May Be Organized in Duluth.

That the allopathic medical interests are endeavoring to have laws enacted in their favor as opposed to other schools, was the main contention brought out at the meeting of the League for Medical Freedom in Steinway hall, Fourth avenue west and First street, last evening.

The meeting was addressed by Dr. W. F. Leonard and J. N. Greer, both of Minneapolis. Both declared that the "old school" was working for the passage of laws that were paternal, mercenary and un-American, and while ostensibly having for their object the public good, were opposed to ordinary personal liberties, and tended to give the allopathic school the monopoly of medical practice.

Dr. Leonard and Mr. Greer are taking steps to organize a local branch of the league at Duluth. The first object that this new organization will undertake will be to effect a revision of the present methods of school inspection.

MYSTIC WORKERS INSTALL OFFICERS.

The installation of officers of Duluth Lodge No. 1015, Mystic Workers, took place last evening at Kalamazoo hall, No. 18 West Superior street, E. E. Huhn acting as installing officer and L. D. Reisteen, supreme conductor. The following officers were installed: Prefect, C. E. French; monitor, L. C. McDonald; secretary, E. Olsen; banker, I. Olson; physician, M. S. Hirschfield and C. E. French; marshal, E. Kenny; warden, M. B. Gomach; sentinel, F. W. Wulzak; supervisor, F. H. Stock. After the installation refreshments were served.

SERVICE AND RATES ONLY ISSUES OF LIGHTING QUESTION

No matter from what viewpoint the question of a municipal lighting plant for the City of Duluth is considered, the LOGICAL ISSUES narrow themselves down to those of SERVICE and RATES.

The DULUTH-EDISON ELECTRIC COMPANY has set a high standard in its ELECTRIC SERVICE, and any lowering of that standard by either a municipal or private plant would not be tolerated for long. The people of Duluth expect the BEST in Electric Lighting Service and they know they are getting it.

You know also, Mr. Consumer and Mr. Taxpayer, that a plant with the capacity of that recommended by the engineers employed by the city, could not maintain the SERVICE you now enjoy, expect and DEMAND, even were the matter of rates eliminated altogether.

As for RATES, those NOW in force in Duluth make Electricity a POOR MAN'S LIGHT. Could the proposed $700,000 municipal plant make rates as low, and at the same time protect the interests of the city's taxpayers?

You KNOW, Mr. Taxpayer, that it could not, and you know also that the engineers knew it when they submitted their plan. Although employed to do so they give absolutely no information as to what rates could be made by the $700,000 plant for houselighting, commercial lighting, heat and power. MOREOVER, AS A MATTER OF FACT THIS PROPOSED PLANT COULD ONLY BE MADE TO SERVE THE CONGESTED SECTION OF THE CITY AND WOULD NOT EXTEND TO THE RESIDENCE SECTION AT ALL.

Under their contract with the city the engineers were obligated by contract and therefore were expected to supply a schedule of rates. In their report they fix 3.66 cents per kilowatt hour as a General Average Rate which the city should receive. This rate is based upon the plan for plant "A," which the city has NO AUTHORITY to build and upon ALL THE BUSINESS of the PRESENT COMPANY. The average rate under our proposal is considerably lower than this estimated rate for the proposed plant. Such a rate must be KNOWN to the engineers to be MISLEADING and meaningless as it is plain to any one that one rate must be charged for power, another for commercial lighting, and another for residence lighting.

The DULUTH-EDISON COMPANY has proposed to the city to establish a residence rate of seven cents for two years and six cents thereafter. For such a service, this is positively the LOWEST RATE ever offered to a community in the United States. It is lower than any rate made by ANY municipal plant in the United States when account is taken of local conditions.

We will have more to say upon the question of Rates next week.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FAIR

Comparatively mild weather is in sight. The temperature will go to zero today and a little above tomorrow. The lowest temperature tonight will be from 5 deg. to 10 deg. below zero, which is a mere touch of frost, compared with recent decents of the mercury.

Damp, mild weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 7:46 and it will set at 4:53 this evening, giving nine hours and seven minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Decidedly colder weather prevails this morning in Atlantic states and extreme Eastern Canada in connection with a marked increase in barometric pressure. In the Northwest the temperature has moderated somewhat, but the thermometer still ranges anywhere from zero to 15 deg. below. Indications favor a rather slow rise in temperature at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours, although it is not expected that a point much above zero will be attained. During the last twenty-four hours rain or snow fell over Atlantic states, Eastern Canada, portions of the Lake region, Upper Mississippi valley and North Pacific states."

General Forecast.

Chicago, Jan. 20. — Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday:

Upper Michigan — Fair tonight and Sunday; not quite so cold.

Wisconsin — Generally fair tonight and Sunday; colder in west portion tonight; rising temperature Sunday.

Minnesota — Generally fair tonight and Sunday; rising temperature Sunday.

Iowa — Generally fair tonight and Sunday; colder in east portion tonight; rising temperature Sunday.

North Dakota — Generally fair tonight and Sunday; not so cold tonight.

South Dakota — Fair tonight and Sunday; rising temperature in west portion tonight.

Montana — Fair tonight and Sunday; warmer in east portion tonight.

Shippers' forecast — Protect thirty-six-hour shipments of perishables against temperature about zero to about 15 deg. below in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

AN UNHEALTHY HAIR

USE NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

If your hair lacks luster, is dry, brittle and uneven, it is unhealthy. One of these hair bulbs magnified several thousand times under a powerful microscope has the appearance shown here by the right hand picture. Such hair is far from pretty. Hair sickness is usually due to dandruff. The germ that causes this common but annoying trouble burrows down into the follicle or hair bulb. As the microbe develops, it sets up an inflammation that ultimately destroys the adhesion at the papilla and the starved hair finally slips out.

Sick or unhealthy hair makes the regular and intelligent application of NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE imperative. This preparation has long been known as the Original Dandruff Germ Destroyer and Hair-Saver. Besides being a delightful and efficient hair-dressing. HERPICIDE possesses an exquisite odor which appeals to all, it contains no grease and does not stain or dye. When beginning the use of this great scalp prophylatic the most agreeable effect perhaps is the almost immediate cessation of itching.

Send for Trial Bottle and Booklet

One application of this remarkable and well-known toilet requisite is usually sufficient to convince the most skeptical of its great merits. A trial size bottle together with a booklet telling all about the hair will be sent to any address upon receipt of Ten Cents in postage or silver.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NOTES

The topic which will be studied in Christian Endeavor societies on Sunday evening, Jan. 21, will be "Worth-While Ambitions." The topic reference is taken from John xvii, 20-24 and Romans viii, 17-21.

Meetings as follows have been reported to the local union press committee:

The Union Church Disciples' society will meet at 7 p. m. Miss Anna Thatcher will lead the meeting. A cordial invitation to attend this or other meetings of these societies is extended to all young people.

The First Presbyterian society will meet at 6:45 p. m. in the lecture room of the church. Mr. Alexander Graham, ex-president of this society, will deliver an address.

The Second Presbyterian church will be led in its meeting this week by Mr. Oscar Helam. The meetings will be at 7 p. m. in the church.

The Glen Avon Presbyterian society will hold its regular meeting in the church at 7 p. m. Miss Grace Grant will be the leader. All young people are cordially invited.

The Lakeside Presbyterian society will meet at 6 p. m. in the Endeavor room, under the leadership of Miss Marian Fleischmann. The meeting will be open to all young people.

The Westminster Presbyterian society will hold its regular meeting at 6:45 p. m. in the church parlors. Mr. Loyal Schober is on the program as leader.

On Jan. 21, on account of other societies being in charge, there will be no Christian Endeavor service at the county poor farm. The following Sunday at the regular hour the meeting will be in charge of the Union Church Disciples' society.

On Tuesday evening, Jan. 16, the executive committee of the local union met for a business session. Representatives of most of the societies were in attendance and much work of interest to the Endeavorers was gone over. Missionary work was discussed and plans for raising the efficiency of the organization were discussed. Duluth Endeavorers are looking forward to this summer, as they feel that the chances of their being able to land the state convention are pretty good. The coming of the Endeavorers to Duluth has been worked for by the local union for some time and if it is successful in getting the convention, it is thought that a good deal of impetus will be given to the work here.

On Wednesday evening, Jan. 17, the Westminster Presbyterian society held a very successful and well attended basket social. Being the first social given under the new officers recently elected, it was voted a great success. The social committee of the society was the recipient of much congratulation on the entertainment.

Surgical Operations

Failed in Case of Painful Ulcers

H. E. Boardman, Yonkers, N. Y., writes:

"I suffered from severe pains in my eyes, caused by ulcers and doctored a great deal and underwent three operations, but failed to get permanent relief till I tried Hood's Sarsaparilla. I can not too highly praise this remedy. I recommend it heartily to all who are troubled with impure blood."

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla for humors and to build up the system.

It's a Crime to Have No Money!

Philosophers may tell you that money cannot purchase happiness, and it is perfectly true, but there is mighty little happiness in this world for the man who has no money.

Poverty is punished more severely than many crimes. And, after all, it is a crime in plenty of instances. A man who makes good money and does not save a portion of it, and then in his old age has to be provided for by others, is little better than a man who steals.

Are you laying aside for future needs? Are you providing against sickness and calamity?

TAFT TALKS ON BUSINESS

Defends Economy and Tariff Commissions at New Haven.

Says the Aldrich Currency Scheme Is Not Dangerous.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 20.—Speaking before the New Haven Chamber of Commerce last night, President Taft made a plea for the continuance of his economy and efficiency commission; declared that the administration has no desire to "persecute" business, but that it will continue to enforce the law against monopoly and unlawful combinations; and urged business men of the country to get together with him to insure prosperity.

"I think," the preident said, "that we are not as near that which the business man fears, and that which I should fear if I thought we were near it—Socialism. I have abiding faith in the American people. I have abiding faith after a time—for they will come back and discriminate between what is good and what is fustian. What we need is prosperity. A lack of prosperity does not make the rich uncomfortable; it is lack of prosperity that makes the poor uncomfortable. What I hope is that we'll all get together in good team work to bring about prosperity."

The president did not begin speaking until late and his address was short. In its relation to the railroads, the trusts, the tariff and the currency, the government vitally touches business, he said. He explained the change that has come in the attitude of the railroads to legislation, laws affecting them now on the statute books, and which they opposed vigorously a few years ago.

"It has been enforced," he said, "and it will continue to be enforced, quietly, I hope, and with as little disturbance to business as possible."

Would Keep Tariff Board.

In speaking of the tariff Mr. Taft asked that business men urge congress to continue in existence the tariff board that the tariff be revised, if at all, on scientific grounds and at a time advantageous to business conditions.

The currency system of the United States, he declared, must be changed, and in the plan of the national monetary commission submitted to the congress, he said, he found nothing to fear from Wall Street.

The president had only a word to say about the recall of judges, to which Senator Bailey devoted some attention.

"Back of everything else in the government," he declared, "is the administration of justice, and it seems to me that to attack it is the stroke of a dagger at the heart of our civilization."

The other speakers at the banquet were United States Senator Joseph W. Bailey and Rev. Stephen S. Wise of New York.

Senator Bailey attacked Socialism, the initiative, referendum and recall in no uncertain terms. Senator Bailey also assailed what he termed false patriotism. He said that should he take the personal aspect of the subject he would point out that those who protest most that they are patriots are those who are doing most to tear down this government of the people.

EVOLUTION IN TREATING SICK

New Methods of Curing Long Standing Diseases Are Great Success In Duluth.

Electro Medical Doctors Showed Great Ability In Curing Many Cases With Just a Few Treatments —Demonstrate Great Healing Power of Electro Medical Treatments.

During the last few days the Electro Medical doctors at No. 26 West Superior street have received a great many patients who have suffered for many years. There is hardly anything more wonderful than the method of these doctors, and it probably would be hard to find people who are more happy than those who have been treated by the Electro Medical method. Mrs. Gustavson of Duluth said that she has been troubled with stomach trouble for the last eleven years and there was nothing which did cure her, she had received only three treatments and feels entirely free from pain and feels at least ten years younger. She said that a thousand dollars would not be as welcome to her as her health is now. Among other patients was a man whose left arm was paralyzed for ten months; he spent six months in the hospital without getting any better; a few treatments have brought new life in the arm so that he can move it fairly well. The doctors say that there is absolutely nothing wonderful in the treatments, nor is there any mystery in the rapid improvement of the patients. While the patient is put under the influence of 20,000 volts of Electro-X-Ray power, every tissue in the body gets new life and the patient has the most pleasant feeling. This Electro medical power is so strong that uric acid crystals are dissolved in the blood as well as in the joints and other poisons which are the cause of so many diseases are carried away and the nerves, the stomach or the joints are made healthy in the most natural way.

Healing disease through the medium of high electro-medical power is but a natural phenomena whereby the nerves and vitality itself is restored and liberated from disease and the blood will flow unobstructed through veins and arteries of the body.

Electricity has been the master key which has unlocked the doors which have revealed nearly all of the important discoveries up to the present time and there is no doubt that the solution of the medicine difficulty lies in electricity.

The trend of science on all sides is to electricity. Discoveries made hour by hour point to one grand conclusion—the bed-rock of Nature is electricity. Life, force and mind are intimately connected with electricity. A man, brain and body, is a battery, and the nerves correspond to wires. The power that drives this body is electricity. Life is electricity.

The word health now means a normal supply of electricity in the body, and the word disease means an insufficiency of that power.

It will be but a matter of a few years when the public will look back on the days of the calomel, quinine, strychnine, liver pills, stomach powders, etc., and these days will seem just as distant as the days of stage coaches.

That does not say that the doctors are strictly opposed to medicines. Greater, however, than all power of medicines, in the art of curing diseases, is the power of medical electricity. The Electro Medical doctors desire a few more cases of people who found no cure elsewhere. They will accept them for half the fee, those, however, who are poor and cannot pay will be treated free of charge. There are separate waiting rooms for men and women and so are the treating rooms. All consultations are free 9 to 12, 1 to 5, 6 to 8 and Sundays 10 to 1.

MORE POWER FOR WILEY IS URGED

House Committee Reports Exonerating Him of All Serious Charges.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the chemistry bureau of the department of agriculture, the storm center of the food administration controversy last summer, is given a clean bill of health in the report of the house committee that investigated the charges and countercharges.

In its report the committee sustains Dr. Wiley all along the line except on technical unimportant details. The Republican members of the committee joined with the Democrats in making the report unanimous.

The report pays much attention to the Remsen board, to the activity of Solicitor McCabe, who was the principal opponent of Dr. Wiley in the department, and recommends that Dr. Wiley be given a free hand in the enforcement of the pure food and drug law, thus limiting largely the power formerly exercised by Solicitor McCabe. This limitation already has been put into effect under the action taken by President Taft shortly after the adjournment of the extra session brought the active congressional investigation to a close.

The committee ordered the report printed confidentially and declined to announce the recommendations until the report is made public next Monday.

PLAN SCHOOLS TO TEACH THE GROWING OF GRAIN.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Provision was made for a bureau to operate grain growing schools in two counties of each state, and resolutions intended to do away with grain deals wherein the sales were made contingent on specified disposal of the amount sold, were defeated after a spirited discussion, by the Council of Grain Exchanges, which closed its third annual meeting here yesterday. Selection of a meeting place for 1913 was left to the executive committee. The defeated resolutions were fostered by C. A. Magnuson of Minneapolis. A manager will be selected to take charge of the "grain schools" in each state, where farmers will be shown how to increase grain yields.

E. P. Farrius of New York spoke on "Farming and Rainfall" and James Bradley of Chicago, and A. G. Tyng of Peoria, Ill., on "Uniform Trade Rules."

ALLEGED COUNTERFEITER CAUGHT IN SAN FRANCISCO.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 20.—Henry Davis, believed by the police to be the ringleader of a gang of counterfeiters that have flooded the country with counterfeit $10 notes on the Crocker National Bank of San Francisco, has been arrested here. Davis had $350 worth of the counterfeit bills in his pocket. Other arrests are expected. According to local secret service officials, the counterfeit notes are excellent imitations.

SAYS SHE WORKED LIKE MAN; GETS DIVORCE.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Gertrude Bodimer procured a divorce here from Charles W. Bodimer, a truck farmer, after she had testified she donned man's clothes and worked with her husband on the farm, raised chickens, carried coal, helped build a chimney, and then was threatened by her husband who brandished a revolver.

TAFT'S NAME TO GO ON THE NEBRASKA BALLOTS.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 20.—President William H. Taft's name has been filed as a candidate for the Republican nomination under the Nebraska law. The petition asking that his name be placed on the ballot was signed by forty Omaha men and was presented by Frank A. Shotwell, former secretary of the Nebraska Republican Progressive league.

NEARLY BITES ON OLD SPANISH SWINDLE.

New York, Jan. 20.—A detective from police headquarters yesterday saved Charles M. Olsen of Portland, Or. $15,000 and a futile trip to Madrid in answer to a letter sent him some time ago. The detective found Olsen aboard a steamer about to sail, persuaded him to go to police headquarters and proved to him that he was to become the victim of the old-time "Spanish prisoner" swindling game. Olsen, accompanied by his son, George Olsen, a student in the University of Michigan, returned home.

ILLEGAL FOR CITY TO ORDER UNION LABOR.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 20.—It would be illegal for the city to compel contractors to employ only union labor, according to an opinion submitted to Mayor Fitzgerald by Corporation Council Babson. The question arose over the advertising for bids for the erection of the annex to the city hall.

CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR PREPARING FOR CAMPAIGN

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—With Governor Eberhart's announcement that he will make no campaign for re-election but will stand on "my personal record," and with Sam Y. Gordon and W. E. Lee openly in the field, the campaign of 1912 is looked upon as fairly well opened and politics in the state capital has been fairly seething this week. Most all the aspirants have been around laying out fences and the casual visitor already is speaking of "Candidates I Have Met."

Sam Y. Gordon, lieutenant governor and Browns Valley editor, is snugly ensconced in a suite of rooms at the Merchants hotel, and with his secretary and manager, James Arneson, is preparing for the fight against the brewery interests and the Eberhart machine. Twin City newspapers, representing these interests, are loudly howling that Gordon has eliminated himself as a gubernatorial possibility, because he intimated he might call a special session of the legislature to enact some needed legislation. But the wise ones know Gordon is in the race and before the summer has ended, will have raised a disturbance that will command attention from Canada to Iowa and from Wisconsin to the Dakotas.

Mr. Gordon has been asked for a number of speaking dates, and a little later on will arrange a schedule. He proposes a strenuous campaign throughout the state, and expects to get the Progressive backing.

W. E. Lee has not stirred into great activity as yet, and his method of campaigning will be watched with interest from the state house.

Eberhart's Position.

Governor Eberhart, in conversation with his friends, apparently feels secure in his position. His campaign platform—"I won't open headquarters, I won't promulgate 'my platform,' and I won't make an active campaign," is looked upon by some as a wise move, while others are saying: "If he does that, he's a beaten man!" He proposes to make the race for re-election, he says, on what he has done.

"There is no use for me to get out and make speeches," the governor said, "because the people of the state know what I have done and what I stand for. I'm willing to be judged by my record."

The governor maintains that he is in favor of practically all the principles laid down in the platforms outlined by his opponents, except the recall of judges and he has never favored that.

The prediction is freely made that the forthcoming campaign will be one of the hottest Minnesota has ever experienced in a decade.

Coincident with the announcement of Mr. Gordon and Mr. Lee for the gubernatorial chair, comes the announcement from Frank A. Day, the late Democratic state chairman, that he will not mingle with politics here again. While on the way from Washington to Missoula, Mont., where he is engaged in running a newspaper, Mr. Day declared he had no intention of returning, and declared also that he had written Fred B. Lynch, national committeeman, that he was ready at any time to write his letter of resignation as chairman of the state organization. Mr. Lynch later confirmed this statement. Mr. Day met and talked to Woodrow Wilson while down East, and he probably will have charge of an end of the Wilson presidential boom in Montana. He admitted having more than a "passing interest" in Mr. Wilson's election.

Ringdahl Urged to Run.

P. M. Ringdahl, chairman of the state board of control, is being urged by Democratic friends to become a candidate for governor, but so far he has given no hint that he might act on the suggestion. Mr. Ringdahl can have the indorsement of John Lind and his friends, and undoubtedly would be a formidable candidate. He is a Progressive of the Democratic brand, an admirer of Woodrow Wilson. No word has been received from Congressman Hammond anent the possibility of his becoming a candidate for governor, and the impression generally prevails at the state capital that he will not relinquish his congressional seat to become chief executive of the state. He has the Second district solidly back of him and so long as he pleases his followers the way he apparently is pleasing them now, he may return to Washington as often as he wants to go. Undoubtedly, he would make the Eberhart machine "scratch gravel" if he entered the race, but his appearance is not expected.

"In just about two months—about the time the first spring breezes blow," a state official said this morning, "we will find all the state mingling in the campaign. It has started early, but it started well."

Voting Away From Home.

Although election is many months distant, Julius A. Schmahl, secretary of state, has ordered certificates printed which will entitle voters away from home on election day to cast their ballots and have them counted the same as though they walked into the booth in their own precinct. The legislature of 1911 amended the election laws so this might be done.

According to the provisions of the new statute, a voter in Minnesota at the next election may cast his vote for presidential electors or any officer of the state who is to be voted for by voters throughout the state as a whole, or upon any proposed constitutional amendment, by first obtaining from the judges of election in his district on any registration day, a certificate. Upon presentation of this certificate and upon being identified by two qualified resident voters, he shall be entitled to a ballot in any precinct in the state. The judges of election will retain the certificate, record it on a separate book provided for that purpose and mail a copy of the certificate to the precinct from which it was issued.

The bill was passed primarily in favor of railroad trainmen and traveling salesmen, whose work kept them away from home on election day.

REFLECTIONS ON MEETING OF DEMOCRATS AT FARGO

The Democrats of North Dakota are numerous, active and progressive and they have a greater percentage of orators in their ranks than the Democats of any state. Those facts stand out from the results of the Northwestern get-together conference and banquet at Fargo this week.

The wealth of eloquence in the Democracy of North Dakota strikes one forcibly. The learned, soft-speaking Charles G. Heifner of Seattle, Wash., the eloquent Fred Whiteside of Kalispel, Mont., and the profound Thomas J. Walsh of Helena, Mont., were the outside speakers at the banquet Thursday. They gave the long address and the local lights did not have full opportunity to display their oratory, but George P. "Jones of Rock," Senator W. E. Purcell of Wahpeton, S. J. Doyle of Carrington, F. O. Hellstrom of Bismarck, M. A. Hildreth of Fargo, Senator Wesley C. McDowell of La Moure and other North Dakota speakers showed themselves capable of flights of oratory that indicate effective capaigning in North Dakota is possible without the importation of talent.

Democracy Is Progressive.

The Progressive tendencies of North Dakota Democracy is evidenced by the wording of the resolution indorsing John Burke for the presidency. North Dakota will not tolerate a candidate who does not measure up to the Progressive standards. North Dakota is for La Follette on the Republican side and Wilson on the Democratic side. La Follette's nomination seems impossible, so that if Wilson is the Democratic nominee, North Dakota will be placed in the doubtful class, with strong probabilities of a Democratic majority.

The Burke indorsement is unfortunate for the Wilson cause and may well be a source of gratification to the Harmon men, although Harmon's visit had nothing to do with it. The large majority for Wilson that was considered certain at the March primaries would have had a great moral effect on the country, as North Dakota is the first state in which a primary will be held. Likewise the defeat of Harmon in the North Dakota primary would have given the Harmon adherents a setback. Now the name of no prominent candidates will go on the ballot and John Burke will receive the delegation without a struggle.

Want Vice Presidency.

The real object of the North Dakota Democrats is to obtain the vice presidential nomination for Burke. In the opinion of Wilson's friends they have not taken the best possible means of going about it.

Issues Outlined.

The issues on which the coming campaign will be waged were outlined at the Fargo meeting and in that respect the gathering took on national importance. The tariff stands out again as the big issue, and the broken promise of the Republican party gives the Democrats a leverage they have never had before. As Governor John Burke expressed it:

"We are entitled to judgment on the pleadings in the next campaign. The pleadings of both parties in the last campaign were in favor of a reduction of the tariff. We did not get a reduction of the tariff and the Republicans elected their president under false pretenses. The language of the Republican platform was obscure, although President Taft said in the campaign that it meant a revision of the tariff downward. William J. Bryan warned the people that the Republican party did not promise to reduce the tariff. The people took Taft at his word and elected him. The Republicans had control of both branches of congress and they revised the tariff upwards."

In a general way the Democratic orators in the coming campaign will stand for the people's rights, for hardly a speech was given at Fargo that did not include favorable reference to the initiative, referendum, recall, primary system and other policies that are intended to put into the hands of the people the full power of government.

"Spirit of Democracy."

Charles G. Heifner of Seattle said in his Fargo speech:

"No one can doubt that privilege sits enthroned in the capital at Washington. Even the leaders of that party proclaim that we have the worst monetary system of any commercial nation on earth, and yet from March 4, 1897, to March 4, 1911, they were in complete control of every branch of the federal government. If they have the constructive statesmanship wherewith to conceive and inaugurate a better system, why haven't they done it? The masses of that party cry out for a reduction of the tariff burdens, but in response to their demands they are given the Payne-Aldrich law, which the president has said was the best tariff bill ever passed—a statement which he now sincerely regrets. But I must not enumerate the many facts in proof of this administration's opposition to the progressive tendencies of the masses of the people. You know and I know that the people are demanding a change from the party of privilege to the party that holds high today, as it has done for the past sixteen years, the banner of the spirit of Democracy.

"Not alone here, but in every nation on earth is that spirit knocking at the door of privilege. It will triumph—is triumphing today. It is to that spirit that we owe the wonderful achievements during the past century in science, inventive discovery and political growth—achievements which far outstrip all that was accomplished in the 2,000 preceding years.

New Light Dawning.

Mr. Heifner touched on the political developments in other nations during the nineteenth century and charged that in fundamental political progress the United States has made less actual advance than any other great nation.

He continued:

"A century is a long time; it has character, individuality. The mind of man is the mass thinks in cycles. It turns to new problems, new ways and fashions of thought. We, too, are passing through a revolution of political thought. During the first ten years of the twentieth century, and especially during the past four years, a new light has dawned. We have begun the application of known truths to new uses and purposes. We know now that while we have had a government representative in form, it has been in fact for many years a government of privilege. The people are finding ways and means for again exercising the powers they thought they possessed. The initiative, the referendum and the recall are not innovations. Woman suffrage is no untried experiment. To decry these is to doubt the ability of men to govern themselves; to oppose them is to fly in the face of that spirit of Democracy, which, brooding over the face of the earth, encompassing seasm remote, penetrating hut and palace, proclaims the political equality of all men and all women before the law. Pessimists may scold, the defenders of vested interests, however unjustly acquired, may resort to the laws of technicalities, the beneficiaries of privilege may prophesy the failure of representative government, but men of faith and hope and courage will go on and not despair, for they know that if they fight for God's truth, even though it be dead and buried, it will have its resurrection from the grave and be written yet in the hearts and laws of men. We may fail, but if our cause be just it must and shall prevail. Measured by the standard of his time, Christ Himself failed, but He lives and will live as long as love endures and hope hears the strains of the heavenly choir."

The Man and the Platform.

Some of the speakers at Fargo contended that the man, and not the platform, will count in the coming campaign. The idea seemed to be that the man must measure up to the platform and give assurance by his public career that he is in sympathy with the platform. A man who has been ultra-conservative in his tendencies and public acts will not make an acceptable candidate on a Progressive platform, in the opinion of North Dakota Democrats.

The meeting in North Dakota was a notable one. It indicated the spirit of the Democrats of the West. Hundreds of men came from all parts of the state. They were there from the farthest point in the southwestern and northwestern parts of the state, drawn there by a desire to further the cause of democracy. They exhibited a deep interest in political questions, and they indicated that they are going to continue that interest into the campaign. It would seem impossible to get such a gathering together for any event with the exception of a convention, but the political interest of this year is evidently an interest capable of great achievements.

How Wrinkles Are Caused—and Removed

(From American Home.)

"Why did no one think of this before?" writes a clear-thinking reader. "Wrinkles are caused by the skin becoming loose. Obviously the remedy is to tighten the skin. Equally it is obvious that the only thing which will tighten the skin is a powerful astringent.

"Now, it is well known that the only powerful astringent which is absolutely harmless and beneficail as well, is pure powdered saxolite, obtainable from any druggist. Dissolve one ounce in a half pint of witch hazel. Bathe the face in it daily and—behold! The result is almost magical. The skin becomes firm and smooth, the face feels smug, comfortable and solid, instead of loose and flabby. Simple, isn't it? As I asked—why did no one think of it before?

"One should be careful, however, to use no other astringents than pure saxolite, as the former do no good and are really injurious more often than not."

CHICAGO OUTBIDS NEW YORK FOR RARE BOOKS.

New York, Jan. 20.—Chicago outbid New York for Amerigo Vespuccio's work at the Hoe auction sale today, when Walter M. Hill of that city gave $17,500 for four items, with Dodd & Livingston of this city the under-bidder each time.

The Kalbfleisch copy of the first edition of the complete account of the four voyages, believed to have been printed in Lisbon in 1508, brought $8,000. It is a small quarto of two volumes and is believed to have cost Mr. Hoe $3,250. Barnard Quaritch, who sold the book to Mr. Hoe, bid $7,000. But four other copies are known to exist. The Hoe copy is the only one that ever got into the hands of American collectors. The others are in European national museums.

Expelled by Socialists.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 20.—William McDevitt, recently the Socialist nominee for mayor, has been expelled from the Socialist party for having accepted an election commissionership from Mayor Rolph. The Socialist city central committee directed his expulsion by a vote of 17 to 1.

ORRINE CURES WHISKEY AND BEER HABIT

ORRINE is the standard remedy and is everywhere recognized as the most successful and reliable home treatment for the "Drink Habit." It is highly praised by thousands of women, because it has restored their loved ones to lives of sobriety and usefulness, and the weekly wages which at one time were spent for "Drink" are now used to purchase the necessaries and many comforts for home. Any wife or mother who wants to save her husband or son from "Drink" will be glad to know that she can purchase ORRINE at our store, and if no benefit is obtained after a trial the money will be refunded. Can be given secretly.

ORRINE is prepared in two forms: No. 1, secret treatment, a powder, absolutely tasteless and odorless, given secretly in food or drink; ORRINE No. 2, in pill form, is for those who desire to take voluntary treatment.

Costs only $1.00 per box. Ask for free booklet telling all about ORRINE.

MRS. SELBY AND HER PRIZE BABY

Redondo Beach, Calif. — Mrs. G. A. Selby says: "I have always used Cuticura Soap and no other for my baby and he has never had a sore of any kind. He does not even chafe as most babies do. I feel sure that it is all owing to Cuticura Soap, for he is fine and healthy, and when five months old, won a prize in a baby contest. It makes my heart ache to go into so many homes and see a sweet-faced baby with the whole top of its head a solid mass of scurf, caused by poor soap. I always recommend Cuticura, and nine times out of ten, the next time I see the mother she says, 'Oh! I am so glad you told me of Cuticura.'"

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a liberal sample of each, with 32-page booklet will be sent, post-free, on application to "Cuticura," Dept. 9H, Boston. Tender-faced men should shave with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

"START A SALOON" IS ADVICE OF TWO TO YOUNG MAN WITH $1,000

Homecroft Ideas Still Popular With Entrants in Herald Contest.

One Contributor Descends to Rhyme—Some Other Offerings.

Among the letters received by the contest editor of The Herald are two which suggest that the saloon business is a money maker, and that the saloonkeeper seldom "goes broke" as many other merchants do. The young man with his first $1,000 is advised to run the saloon under the direction of a brewer, who would supply the license and many other necessaries. One suggests putting money in the bank and letting the interest accumulate until 1915; then use it to go to the Panama exposition. The homecroft plan as recently advocated by George Maxwell in Duluth has several hearty supporters, and one contributor lapses into poetry.

Following are some of the letters received:

George C. Merkel, 2008 Calumet avenue, Chicago, Ill.—Having read so much of the progress of the homecroft movement in Duluth, the writer advises the $1,000 man to move to the suburbs of Duluth and buy a small cottage with about an acre of ground, on the monthly installment plan, making his first payment about $900. His moving and incidental expenses will take up the balance. Instead of paying rent, pay a monthly installment and own the property. By securing property near a car line, he will soon see an increase in its value.

Then put up a chicken coop and yard, get about a dozen chickens, enlarging the poultry yard as his flock increases. His wife and children would be a great help in the poultry line.

Does it pay to keep chickens? The following figures were taken from a record of eggs laid by chickens kept at the writer's home: On April 20, 1911, we started with six hens, having a dozen hens and one bantam chicken, which we secured about July 8, 1911, on Dec. 31, 1911. From the hens we received 1,218 eggs and from the bantam, 53 eggs. Feed cost us $9.96, having 75 pounds left at the end of the period mentioned. Did you ever buy strictly fresh laid eggs for about 9 cents per dozen? The half hour's daily work of caring for the chickens is not noticeable.

Then he can have a grass plot in front and raise vegetables in his rear yard. Some farm journals and the United States department of agriculture are excellent sources of information, the latter giving free information. If the water is not salty he can use a hose for overhead irrigation and beat his neighbor with the dry farming method. The writer has talked to people living near Pittsburg, who have rear gardens and also one acre "homecrofts." One woman of 80 years has an acre, which provides the entire living for her and her grandson. Smaller gardeners are making about $200 to $300 annually from their spare gardens, besides working in the office or factory during the day time. It requires a little hard work to get it started and many evenings digging and watering, but a pleasure later, and how much better does the fruit of his labor taste than if he had to buy it from the corner grocery. After a year of "homecrofting" you will never want to live the former life again.

G. H. Gunheim, Big Falls, Minn.: From my experience of twenty years hustling in different kinds of business in different localities in different countries, my advice to the $1,000 men is: "Go to a new country like Koochiching county, along the Minnesota & International railroad, to a town like Big Falls, where there is a big water power and always will be a good market place; buy forty or eighty acres of this famous land with its rich soil, good water, and big prospects for minerals and other magnificent possibilities. Buy land within one or two miles from town which can be bought for from $5 to $15 per acre on easy payments, and start farming, "gardening and stock raising;" and you are always sure of an independent living and can in a few years become independently rich. So the men with the $1,000 will unquestionably make the most profitable investment of his life by locating at Big Falls, Koochiching county, Minn.

Florence Nordstrom, 115 Nineteenth Avenue West, Duluth: In answer to your contest "What to Do With My First $1,000," I would advise that man to put the $1,000 in the bank and draw 3 per cent interest on it until 1915. With this money, his family and himself could visit the "Panama Exposition."

James Vaughan, Hibbing, Minn.: I have read with a great deal of interest the suggestions made by people on how to invest $1,000.

I believe Grover Cleveland said: "No investment on earth is so safe, so sure, so certain to enrich its owner as undeveloped realty. I always advise my young friends to place their savings in realty near some growing town. There is no such savings bank anywhere."

If I had $1,000 I would buy land in the direction Duluth is going to grow.

John K. Jansson, Five Corners, Minn.: My advice to the young man with $1,000 is to start a saloon in some small town, then after a year or so he could add a rooming house to his saloon and he would get a big return on his money.

J. J. Summers, 618 Twenty-fourth avenue west, Duluth—

If you've got $1,000 salt it down.
You are quite an exception in our town;
You certainly don't booze,
And I'd hate to see you loose,
So be careful how you choose.
Just salt it down.

If you've got a good position, hold it down,
You are better off than many in our town;
Trust prices we all feel
When we eat our scanty meal.
If you can save a silver wheel,
Just salt it down.

If you invest, just buy a piece of land,
Don't speculate in rock piles or in sand;
Buy Minnesota's best
Or go away out West
And time will do the rest.
If you hold it down.

No use to covet green fields far away,
Duluth, Minnesota is O. K.,
Believe what I tell you,
Or ask George Maxwell what to do,
His predictions will come true.
So hold her down.

So don't overlook the value of good land,
You run no chance to loose, you understand,
Good land is good as gold.
It's a nice thing when you're old,
As with ease your arms you fold.
Do you understand?

Alfred Larsen, Thief River Falls, Minn.—If I had your $1,000 cash, I would write to a well known brewery and have them start me up in the saloon business. They generally have saloon buildings equipped with fixtures for rent, in many towns. They will go good for the license, insurance, etc., providing you use their brand of goods.

In the beginning, buy a small stock of goods and hire a first-class bartender to look after the business, so you will be able to learn the trade likewise. Don't indulge in any liquors for your wife and children's benefit. Increase the stock as the business increases. Take care of all the business in a business way, use good judgment. Don't trust out, be honest in your dealings and don't take advantage of business blunders, by doing so your saloon will be of little profit to you. Very seldom you hear of a saloon keeper going out of business like other merchants.

Use part of the upstairs for a living room and the other rooms rent out by the day, week or month.

In connection with the saloon write all kinds of insurance and sell real estate. You have a rich opportunity to do so. By having a real estate business in connection you can get wise to many land deals. The farmers will oftentimes have you buy or sell farms for them. There is good money in real estate, but you must have a backbone to accomplish success.

"I'VE GOT THE FIRST $1,000; WHAT SHALL I DO WITH IT?"

For the second of its series of contests The Herald has an interesting problem which comes to it in the form of a letter that explains itself:

To the Editor of The Herald:

We have often been told—at least we used to be—by rich men that the hardest work on the road to wealth is to get the first $1,000.

I've got that sum now—saved it out of my salary during ten years. Who will tell me how to go the rest of the way? How shall I invest it? Shall I go into business, and what kind, and how?

I am 35 years old, with a wife and two small children, and have a fair position with a living salary, but that's about all. Probably I could, if nothing happened, save another $1,000 in another ten years, but with the cost of living going up faster than salaries—and I can't expect mine to go much higher than it is—it is going to be harder. If I am ever going to start out for myself and gain independence or wealth, now is the time for me to begin, while I am strong and healthy and young.

What shall I do with myself and my $1,000—and my family?

Here's a real problem, a vital one that will interest everybody; and The Herald hopes to see a large and interesting variety of answers. It hopes, too, that men who have traveled the road that lies before this young inquirer will take part in the discussion. The prizes will, of course, be no temptation to them; but this is a subject of wide interest, and they should be glad to contribute their wisdom and experience to its solution.

Write out your answer, limit it to 300 words, put your name and address at the top of the sheet, write on one side of the paper only, and send it to the Contest Editor of The Herald before Feb. 1.

For the best answer to this young man's problem The Herald will give a prize of $10.

For the next best answer The Herald will give a prize of $5.

For the third best answer The Herald will give a prize of $3.

WILL EMPLOY NURSES.

Life Insurance Company Adopts New Plan in Upper Peninsula.

Ishpeming, Mich., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Metropolitan Life Insurance company, which has its headquarters for the Upper Peninsula here, is to employ visiting nurses in every city in this region where it has industrial policies in force. Jeremiah Hare, district superintendent, is now engaging nurses as fast as he can procure properly qualified graduates. He expects to employ ten to a dozen. For more than two years past the Metropolitan has been maintaining visiting nurses in the larger cities, and the service is now to be extended to the country districts. Within a short time the entire United States and Canada will be covered.

The Metropolitan has 3,702 industrial policies in force in Ishpeming alone.

VALLEY CITY AGAIN AGITATES NEW DEPOT.

Valley City, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Valley City is again agitating the question of the so-called high line station, and in a petition presented to the state railroad commission asks that the station at the high line be ordered opened. The Great Northern Railroad company, since the city was successful in forcing the operation of several trains through the city rather than by way of the high line, which evades the deep valley, has closed the station that was formerly maintained at the high line.

TO VACCINATE MEMBERS OF WISCONSIN MILITIA.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 20.—Precautions against typhoid in the entire National Guard of Wisconsin when the companies go into encampment at Camp Douglas next spring with vaccine furnished by the hygienic laboratory of the University of Wisconsin is being planned. The proposed co-operation between the university and the National Guard arises from the success which has attended the use of vaccine in the United States army.

SOME CAN

But Student Had to Quit.

Some people are apparently immune to tea and coffee poisoning—if you are not, Nature will tell you so in the ailments she sends as warnings. And when you get a warning, heed it or you get hurt, sure. A young college student writes from New York:

"I had been told frequently that coffee was injurious to me," (tea is just as bad) "and if I had not been told, the almost constant headaches with which I began to suffer after using it for several years, the state of lethargic mentality which gradually came upon me to hinder me in my studies, the general lassitude and indisposition to any sort of effort which possessed me, ought to have been sufficient warning.

"But I disregarded them till my physician told me a few months ago that I must give up coffee or quit college. I could hesitate no longer, and at once abandoned coffee.

"On the advice of a friend I began to drink Postum, and rejoice to tell you that with the drug in coffee" (the same drug—caffeine—is found in tea) "removed and the healthful properties of Postum in its place I was soon relieved of all my ailments.

"The headaches and nervousness disappeared entirely, strength came back to me, and my complexion which had been very, very bad, cleared up beautifully.

"Better than all, my mental faculties were toned up, and became more vigorous than ever, and I now feel that no course of study would be too difficult for me." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

AN OUTCAST OF SOCIETY

"Lumberjack" Writes That Duluth Offers Him No Respectable Shelter.

Saloons Only Place Where He Can Find Companionship.

What place is there for a "lumberjack" in Duluth except the Bowery and what can he do except to pursue the old course of seeking the only companionship and cheer available—whisky?

These two questions are forcibly presented in a letter received by The Herald from a "lumberjack."

Year after year, he says, he has come from the woods to Duluth with his hard-earned cash. Just so often, he says, he has found that Superior street and the uptown thoroughfares with their well-dressed people are unwilling to receive him. Naturally he goes to the Bowery saloon and drowns his troubles in whisky. As a result he says that he has been drugged and "rolled." He asks where a self-respecting woodsman can find diversion and companionship.

A letter is written in a style that carries conviction of the sincerity of the writer, whether his claims are true or not. It follows:

"I have for many years been coming to this town with the money I have earned in the woods and on the railroad. I came twice last year, and it goes the same way all the time. Sitting on the train I figured to keep off the Bowery. But when I walked into a barber shop on Superior street, I noticed I was not wanted in my garb. I stuck till I had been attended to and my resolution was gone. I was lonesome; I wanted company. I went on the Bowery, met happy faces, was doped and "rolled" of a big sum of money.

"My money gone, where shall I go—back as an outcast? Well, there will be some way out. All I want to know is some good man to tell the lumberjack where he can go when he comes to town. He is human; yes, there are more refined men in the woods than there are in the offices and stores—men whose hearts were clean before they came in contact with city people. Mind you, not only the Bowery saloons, but also the swell places are after your money. I do not drink because I like it, only to keep up. I must do something. The Y. M. C. A. does not want me any more than the barber. I hurt their trade, besides I am not subject to charity. A lumberjack never is. He pays for what he gets, even though it be two prices.

"Get some place where a clean but poor man may go and be at home. Oh, you people that go to church and think you are good, if you only knew how much good you could do for the homeless wanderer. It drives me mad when I think of my hard-earned money stolen from me. If it were not that I had a mother once, I would kill myself, but her memory after twenty years bids me to hope. I am so tired of life, so tired. It is cold tonight; thank God for the bull pen. The morning is cold with no breakfast. No place to go to, no money to buy a job.

"No home, no friend, no place to sleep; nothing to eat; poor clothes. As the water is frozen, there might be a man run over some night by a switch engine. My hunger and cold might make me forget myself. Preach to all like me to leave whisky alone. I cannot beg for help. I have not a person I can talk to. Your paper has been my only friend for years, I picking them up when others have thrown them away."

MAKES STOMACH TROUBLE VANISH

No Indigestion, Heartburn, Gas or Dyspepsia in Five Minutes.

Why not get some now—this moment, and forever rid yourself of Stomach trouble and Indigestion? A dieted stomach gets the blues and grumbles. Give it a good eat, then take Pape's Diapepsin to start the digestive juices working. There will be no dyspepsia or belching of Gas or eructations of undigested food; no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, sick headache and Dizziness, and your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents for a large case at any drug store here, and will relieve the most obstinate case of Indigestion and Upset Stomach in five minutes.

There is nothing else better to take Gas from Stomach and cleanse the stomach and intestines, and, besides, one single dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all your food the same as a sound, healthy stomach would do it.

When Diapepsin works, your stomach rests—gets itself in order, cleans up—and then you feel like eating when you come to the table, and what you eat will do you good.

Absolute relief from all Stomach Misery is waiting for you as soon as you decide to take a little Diapepsin. Tell your druggist that you want Pape's Diapepsin, because you want to become thoroughly cured this time.

Remember, if your stomach feels out of order and uncomfortable now, you can surely get relief in five minutes.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

"Marvelous Griffith, the Mathematical Phenomenon," was the subject chosen by Principal Young as the theme of a short address to the school during chapel services Wednesday morning.

Mr. Young spoke of the man's wonderful ability in making lightning calculations and also of the fact that he was deficient in all other forms of learning. The speaker declared that Griffith was abnormal and could not use his brains as the average person. Mr. Young in ending urged the students to strive to obtain a well-rounded education.

200 VOTERS TURNED AWAY FROM CULLUM MEETING

Hall Packed With Those Eager to Hear Mayor's Address.

Speaker Outlines His Stand on Important Municipal Issues.

Before an audience of more than 300 people, Mayor Cullum last evening formally opened his campaign at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. Nearly 200 more West end voters were unable to get into the hall on account of the limited room.

Before the principal speech of the evening, E. J. Sandberg, Democratic candidate for alderman in the Sixth ward, gave a short talk. He promised a fair deal to the ward and the city at large, saying that he knew every need of the Sixth ward was as he has lived there all his life. He was followed by Alderman William Bernard, candidate for re-election in the Seventh. He enumerated the many improvements that the West end has secured through his services and asked for re-election on his record during the last two years. He praised Mayor Cullum as being a fair minded man, who has served the people in a business way and "made good."

Mayor Cullum was introduced by Charles E. Dice of the Seventh ward, who so successfully managed Mr. Cullum's campaign two years ago, and who has been placed in charge this year. Mayor Cullum's address dealt with the record of the administration and his main theme was the public welfare board that is now before the public.

Mayor Cullum dwelt at length on the welfare plan amendment, explaining its provisions and the considerations prompting its submission and urging the voters to support it. Mayor Cullum proposed the amendment and is deeply interested in it. He favors all four amendments, but is especially anxious that the welfare amendment carry, for it is in his opinion, a step forward that should not be delayed.

The mayor spoke as follows:

"Duluth has been very good to me, and I appreciate it; and I shall have no complaint if, in the opinion of the voters, I have served them long enough. Through such long service I have become, very naturally, deeply interested in the city's welfare. I have acquired a knowledge of its needs and a knowledge of its resources, a familiarity with the workings of every department. Is it not reasonable to suppose that because of such knowledge and experience I could serve the people better than one without such knowledge?

"I have given close attention, cooperating with others, in matters of public expenditures and taxation. In a few instances the valuations have been raised, but you will find your rate reduced nearly 8 per cent, and the general burden more nearly equalized.

"I have not been able to escape criticism, nor can I hope to in the future. I can only use the means and the equipment we have, and what judgment I possess, in bringing about in a conscientious way the best results.

"I cannot buy the office. I shall not attempt to steal it by making extravagant promises. I offer you my services in an honorable way, and hope to serve you honorably if elected.

Law Enforcement.

"In the matter of law enforcement I have been governed by a desire to get the best results from the conditions with which I have to deal. As an evidence of good faith in this respect, the records of the courts will show that 85 per cent of the real activity of the police department has been given to the questions concerning the evils most complained of.

"I can only promise such improvement in this respect as experience, increased equipment and efficiency will bring about.

No Vice Commission.

"I have not appointed a vice commission, nor have I agreed to, for reasons which I have given many times. I have always contended that we must deal with these matters at the source, and if the cause is not removed, we have little hope for improvement.

"I have put the matter squarely up to the public—not only to the churches but to the community at large; giving them an opportunity to advance in that direction.

While regretting the existence of what appear to me as unjust laws, and advocating better ones, I have not assumed a defiant attitude in this respect—well knowing that to do so would be a dangerous experiment. Neither have I entered into any secret compact with any element or interest. My cards are all upon the table, face up.

Expenditures and Taxation.

"We cannot place a policeman on every corner, nor a public servant in every block, and keep the tax rate down. We cannot do all the things that the public demand unless they are willing to pay for them.

"The council has been watchful and economical in the matter of public expenditures. The departments have permitted as little waste as possible, and as a result the budget has not been large Praise for Assessor.

"The council again deserves credit for help that it has given the assessor's department in the matter of equalizing taxation. The assessor and his assistants appear to have gotten results, inasmuch as the city has contributed largely to a saving of nearly 8 per cent in the tax rate.

"The personal property tax has been raised on five or six items, which could be classed under the head of 'larger corporations' to the extent of $2,400,600. This of course results in shifting that much of the burden from the small taxpayer, whether it be the small merchant, home owner or the laboring man.

"We have found it possible, and thought it just, to drop 700 families from the tax roll.

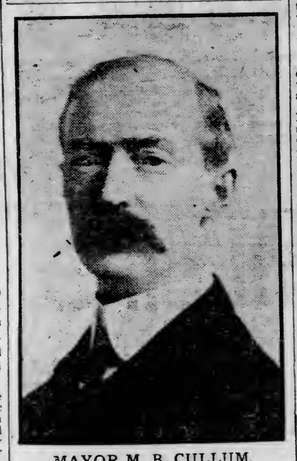

"The matter of revaluation of real estate is nearly completed, and will appeal to all as a perfectly just and fair one, and gives promise under continued capable management of a further reduction in the tax rate the coming year.

Bond Question.

"I believe the average voter is somewhat confused over the bond question. If you vote 'yes' on the bond proposition, and the proposition carries you have not voted the bonds; neither have you voted to build. You have simply made it possible for the people to vote on the building proposition at a future election before them.

Company May Offer to Sell.

"Undoubtedly the lighting people will submit a proposition—either the old one or a new one. The city will submit their proposition. In order to avoid the building of a competing plant the lighting people may make a proposition to sell. This could not be accepted at this time, but might influence the voters in their decision. A proposition to sell could not come up until still another election would be held; or the lighting people might make such an attractive proposition in the way of a contract that it would also influence voters, who otherwise would vote to build.

MAYOR M. B. CULLUM.

"On the theory that the people should never be denied the privilege to vote on any question that affects their welfare, and as it is one of the fundamental principles of our system of government that the majority should rule, and are generally right, I am firmly convinced that the voters would do no foolish thing. Therefore, I shall favor the bond proposition.

Water Board.

"At a meeting of my opponent, a sensational attack was made upon the water and light department. There seems to be developing an effort to undermine this department. This movement appears to be directed by those in the opposition camp, and the friends of the old water and gas system.

"The community would do well to keep an eye on this proposition. The establishment of this department grew out of conditions that we remember too well. Its affairs have been placed in the hands of a non-partisan board. These gentlemen bring to the service of the city, legal and business training of a high order; are controlled by the most patriotic motives; and have conscientiously tried to give to the people the very best results possible under all conditions.

No Money Wasted.

"During the thirteen years of its organization there has never been a scrap of evidence to show that one penny has been wrongfully used. It is doubtful whether any business organization similar in importance can show a more creditable record.

"The attack referred to is the result of years of watchfulness on the part of its enemies. The bomb was timed for political effect, and the explosion produced nothing but smudge.

"There was reason for legitimate complaints; but I would much rather trust the board to figure out the remedy and apply it than to place the affairs of this organization in the hands of either Mr. Patterson or Mr. Craig, or any other of the men that were interested in the old plant that sent so many of our friends over the hill.

The Assessment Amendment.

"The existing restrictions have worked a hardship on the property owner, and have prevented headway in the matter of local improvements. These restrictions should undoubtedly be removed, and the property owner given relief and an opportunity to improve his surroundings under more favorable conditions.

"If this amendment is successful it will not only improve the appearance of our city materially, but will furnish employment for hundreds of men who might otherwise be idle. I very strongly urge its adoption.

"The amendment having to do with better management of the funds of the city will no doubt appeal to you as a reasonable one.

"The last amendment, permitting the park board to furnish music in the parks, is one that should meet with your approval. In fact, there should be no marks against any of them.

Human Welfare.

"In every commercial, social or political problem, there is involved a moral problem. Yet over and above all other questions, is the question of human welfare.

"Believing in the following principles and policies: that of justice before charity, and prevention rather than cure; believing that you can help the weak and unfortunate most by creating conditions under which they may help themselves; and that every effort in this direction should be preceded and accompanied by accurate knowledge and intelligent co-operation, and that we should courageously lay bare the ugly facts and find the source or the cause of the human wreckage that comes our way, for we cannot escape the conviction that, in the last extremity at least, we are our brother's keeper.

"Being impressed with the truth of all this, I have proposed an amendment to the charter which I hope will meet with your approval, which, if successful on election day, will lay a foundation upon which may be built, without extravagant expenditure, an organization which will be of vast benefit to this community; which will be broad in its scope, and which will enable us to proceed as rapidly as the community will indorse, to establish workfarms, detention homes, refuge homes, public baths and public shelters.

"This may be accomplished largely by public subscription, as well as by taxation.

Amendment Explained.

"The management of this organization will be in charge of a high-class, non-partisan board, whose agents will have authority to co-operate with the courts in the matter of probation or parole of prisoners, and in all matters that concern their confinement or occupation. The ordinary drunk need not be treated as a criminal, but be employed in some healthful occupation, and if a married man, that portion of his earnings above his cost of keep, contributed to his family's support. The unfortunate girl delinquent need not be thrown behind the bars, but may be treated in some humane way so that she may have at least some opportunity, through helpful agencies, to improve her condition. Neither need the dungeon treatment longer be applied to petty offenders.

"Through the working of this board, extreme cases of destitution may be relieved, and the gaps left by private institutions filled up. There may eventually be devised some sort of employment in extreme cases, whereby a man of family may earn at least enough to prevent starvation.

Aid for Children.

"Also the sanitary and social surroundings and conditions of the child may be looked into, and in fact, all the pitiful conditions surrounding the impoverished and unfortunate, either young or old, may be carefully studied out and improvements suggested.

"A careful reading of the amendment will guide you to the conclusion that it will help in very many ways that must appeal to you.

"Of all the planks in my platform, I think this is the most important."

Grand Jury Report.

Following the main part of his address Mayor Cullum referred briefly to the action of the last grand jury as follows:

"I was grievously surprised at the last report of the grand jury which said that many young people of the city were being led from the paths of virtue by the prevalence of dance halls in Duluth, a certain class of which are a menace to the morality of the city. In this connection I desire to state that as the dance hall proposition is generally understood, Duluth is far ahead of any city in the country. We have no dance halls in connection with hotels and saloons, and these are the kind that always do harm.

"Representatives of one of the women's clubs of the city came to me on one occasion and asked that something be done in the dance hall matter. I told them that if they could find, or if they knew of anything that was actually wrong, concerning the conduct of these places of amusement to report the matter to me and that they would have all the police they needed to put a stop to it.

One Hall Closed.

"There was only one dance hall in the city that was not being conducted in a respectable manner and that place was closed one month previous to the time the grand jury reported. I consider our police force to be as good, in every respect, as can be found anywhere. Holdups, pocket-picking and crimes of a similar nature are less frequent in Duluth than in any city in the country. This I consider to be due to the efficiency of the police.

"In concluding my speech I want to say that Dr. McCuen, my opponent for mayor, is, as far as I know, an honorable gentleman, who, if elected will probably show you a good time. I have nothing derogatory to say about him and intend to make a clean fight for the office for which I am a candidate. If Dr. McCuen gets more votes than I do I will cheerfully shake hands with him and quit a good loser."

Following the regular meeting, the candidates and ward leaders unanimously elected Louis Levine chairman of the Sixth ward. He will have complete charge of the campaign there. Charles E. Dice will conduct the campaign for Mayor Cullum in the Seventh ward. The following precinct committees were also elected and appointed last evening:

Sixth ward—First precinct, William Curtis, James Logan, Fred Olson; Second precinct, David Nelson, Andrew Anderson, Peter Meyer; Third precinct, A. W. Peterson, Frank Peterson, Joe Nelson; Fourth precinct, Gust Hjerpe, E. R. Peterson, Charles Bostrom, Frank O'Connell; Fifth precinct, Charles Johnson, George McNabb, George Durand, Clifford Treado; financial committee, George Duren, chairman, C. R. Hoar, J. M. Branscombe.

Seventh ward—Charles Mork, J. P. Bernard, August Hagberg and Conrad Wicklund.

was special legislation, in that it did not cover all shortenings used in pastry and that it was in violation of the fourteenth amendment of the Constitution of the United States.

As to Classification.

Regarding the first contention, Judge Pollock in his opinion says:

"This position is hardly tenable in view of the fact that so far as this country is concerned, from time immorial, lard has been the common pastry shortening so much that the word has become generic in its use, and used in connection with the words 'lard substitute' and 'lard compound,' refers to all shortenings containing the animal fat, which, concededly cotton seed oil, cresco, olive oil and other pastry shortenings do not. It would therefore appear that the classification is a natural one. The position taken by the defendant, it seems to me, is so extreme that if adopted, any classification whatever would be quite impossible."

Act Unconstitutional.

The judge holds that the law is not unconstitutional, and says:

"Because the business conducted is an established one and the changes proposed will result in expense and inconvenience to defendant; because present methods have been regarded as legal, and arose out of competition and other enumerated instances; because food products are sold in packages in the gross weight form, and because, in the opinion of defendants' counsel, a cessation of business in this state would unfortunately follow if they are compelled to comply with the law, when each and all are addressed to the legislative discretion, should induce careful consideration to prevent an arbitrary exercise of power; yet they do not thereby furnish a basis of judicial interference where in fact no such basis exists."

out through the press my opinion with respect to the presidency. That opinion remains unaltered.

"The situation, however, has materially changed, and it now seems probable that more than two candidates for nomination will be seriously considered by the national convention.

"Under these conditions, if the Republicans of Iowa believe that I am a fit man to be presented to the national convention as a candidate for the presidential nomination, and desire me so to present me, I will appreciate and accept their confidence as a most gratifying evidence of their continued faith in my purpose to serve, as best I can, the general welfare of the people.

"ALBERT B. CUMMINS."

The announcement by Senator Cummins had been expected for several days. Coming today in connection with the report from Denver that Gifford Pinchot was taking the initiative in a movement for a conference of Progressive Republicans to decide upon one candidate to oppose President Taft, it started a riot of political speculation which eclipsed the ordinary activities of the government.

La Follette "All the Time."

At the Progressive Republican campaign headquarters here the declaration was made today by W. L. Houser in charge, that the fight for Mr. La Follette would continue as if there were no other Progressive candidates on the horizon; "that it was Mr. La Follette first, last and all the time."

In regard to a report from Denver to the effect that a concerted movement was on foot to hold a pre-convention meeting and decide on one Progressive candidate, Mr Houser said he knew nothing whatever of any such move. He could not see that any conference of the sort was likely.

Senator La Follette's only comment when shown the Cummins statement was: "I have nothing to say."

undergraduates on the icy walks of the campus he was not generally recognized. Every face was turned towards Old South Middle. After he started towards chapel, however, a number of the students gave him a warm greeting.

The program of the stay of President Taft at Yale today included attendance at the meeting of the Yale corporation, of which he is a member, in the forenoon, and luncheon with President Hadley of the university later.

At the corporation meeting was submitted a report of the Yale expedition to Peru, headed by Prof. Hiram Bingham, in which were made known for the first time some notable discoveries of prehistoric human and animal remains as well as the ruins of several Inca or pre-Inca cities.

Fire Did Little Damage.

Old South Middle, the dormitory scorched by the fire, is officially known as Connecticut hall. Clouds of smoke from the upper windows brought out the firemen, who by using chemical machines, instead of flooding the building with water, quickly subdued the flames, which had started among the furnishings of some of the students occupying one of the upper rooms. The damage was small.

Old South Middle is the connecting link between the old college and the present one. Within its walls Nathan Hale of Revolutionary fame lived. The original structure was put up in 1630. In this building lived Noah Webster and later John C. Calhoun.

A few years ago, as a means of preservation, the building was reconstructed so far as possible and fireproofed to a considerable extent.

WEATHER WILL NOT BE SULTRY

But Mercury Will Get Above the Zero Mark Sunday.

No very warm weather is in sight, but there will be a moderation in temperature that will bring the mercury up to about zero during today and a little above zero tomorrow, in the opinion of Forecaster H. W. Richardson. The lowest temperature tonight will be from 5 deg. to 10 deg. below zero.

The mercury dropped to 14 deg. below zero this morning. Yesterday the highest mark was 1 deg. below zero. In view of the intense cold experienced earlier in the month, the low temperatures now prevailing are not oppressive and Duluthians regard the weather as almost ideal.

NEW YORK TO SEE ROYALTY

give a dinner and dance in their honor, and on Wednesday night Mrs. Ogden Mills will be host at a dinner.

Not more than 300 persons, it is understood, will be invited to these affairs, and there is much speculation as to just who will be honored by invitations as the best of Knickerbocker aristocracy.

The duke is 61 years old and splendid in stature. A great deal of his life he has spent as a soldier. No one approaching his rank has visited New York since Prince Henry of Prussia was here ten years ago. King Edward VII, as the Prince of Wales, paid a visit to this country in 1860.

Will Not Visit Washington.

London, Jan. 20.—The fact that the duke and duchess of Connaught, with their daughter, Princess aPtricia, are not to visit Washington while they are in the United States is causing some comment here, although it is believed there must be some good explanation for their decision.

It is usual, when royal personages visit a foreign country, even if semi-officially, to pay their respects to the head of the nation. The duke of Connaught has the reputation of always doing the right thing, and people here refuse to believe he is now making any mistake.

closest friend and intimate, asserts that Yuan really favors a republic.

Will Confer With Powers.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The cabled appeal for recognization from the Chinese republic signed by Wang Chung Wei, received by the state department, is remarked as marking a serious crisis in the important negotiations now going on in China for the restoration of peace to the distracted country, for the decision of the state department is certain to have great influence upon the five other powers interested in the situation. It is probable that the department will not move in the matter until it has conferred with these powers. Early action upon the appeal, therefore, is not expected, but in any event the state department is determined there shall be no departure from the policy that it has steadfastly pursued, of maintaining absolute impartiality as between the factions in China.

American Troops Arrive.

Pekin, Jan. 20.—The Fifteenth regiment of United States infantry, which is to act as a guard for the protection of a section of the railroad from Pekin to the coast, has arrived at Chin Wang Tao.

The three men who were arrested after throwing a bomb at the carriages of Premier Yuan Shi Kai were put to death by strangling.

President Sun to Resign?

San Francisco, Jan. 20.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen announced yesterday that he was to withdraw from the presidency of the republic in favor of Yuan Shi Kai, according to a cablegram received by the Chung Sai Yat Po, a Chinese daily newspaper here, today. The cablegram, dated Hong Kong, said President Sun would step aside immediately after the abdiction of the throne.

AUSTRIA'S HEIR TO VISIT BERLIN

Great Political Significance Seen in Archduke's Plans.

Vienna, Austria, Jan. 20.—Much comment has been caused here by the report that the archduke, Francis Ferdinand, heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne, and his consort, the Duchess Sophie of Hohenberg, intend to pay a visit to Berlin, where they will be present at the emperor's birthday celebration on Jan. 27.

This is the first time that a member of the Austrian imperial family has left Vienna to take part in a birthday celebration of the German imperial family, and great political significance is attached to this departure from custom.

NO ANSWER BY WILSON

What the country needs and what the people are demanding, he thought, is emancipation from the control by machine politics, both in city, state and nation."

The governor said that until there was a readjustment of present conditions, too much confidence in business will dominate legislation in the interest of the few to the detriment of the welfare of the country.

The Harvey Episode.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The Wilson-Harvey episode brought forth, simultaneously with the arrival here of Col. Henry Watterson, a statement by William F. McCoombs, manager of the Woodrow Wilson campaign, declaring that "the tears that are being shed over the passing incident are wrung from those who have hitherto been the most conspicuous opponents of Governor Wilson."

Col. Watterson, who will be here several days in connection with the work of the Percy memorial commission, read the McCoombs statement, as well as the one made at Nashville, Tenn., by Judge Robert Ewing, but declined to comment on either.

"As to the Wilson matter," the colonel said, "I have nothing to add to what has already been said, unless it be seriously challenged by some responsible person. Then I may have a good deal to say."

Statement By McCoombs.

The statement issued by Mr. McCoombs says:

"As far back as last October, Col. Watterson himself suggested to Governor Wilson that Col. Harvey's support through Harper's Weekly might be injurious, and he probably told Col. Harvey himself the same thing. It is passing strange that Col. Watterson should feel concerned that the governor, in private conversation with himself and Col. Harvey, should, in answer to a pointed question, give frank expression to the very view which Mr. Watterson himself entertained, and which he had communicated to the governor and probably to Col. Harvey.

"In October last, the very month in which he made these suggestion to Governor Wilson, Col. Watterson said editorially in the Louisville Courier-Journal:

"'Two things seem tolerably sure to the surmise of the Courier-Journal: If Woodrow Wilson is nominated for president, it will be through the force of an irresistable pressure of public opinion; and if he is defeated for the nomination it will be by some organized agency well backed with money.

"'No Democrat of modern times has come into the running. Samuel J. Tilden alone excepted, with half of the equipment and the claim of the New Jersey governor.'

Gist of the Issue.

"The gist of the issue, as I see it, is whether one friend, in private conversation with another, should, in answer to a plain question, resort to flattery or dissimulation, or whether he should state the truth as he sees it."

Senator Gore of Oklahoma, in a statement, came out in defense of Governor Wilson. He declared the entire incident was a "bubble, not a billow."

PATROL REORGANIZED.

Officers Elected and By-Laws Are Changed By Aad Temple Members.

Arab patrol of Aad temple reorganized at a meeting held last evening at the Masonic temple. New by-laws were adopted and the following officers elected for the year: T. P. Bradley, president; J. W. McDonald, vice president; S. L. Fraser, secretary; Walter J. Johnson, treasurer; Albert H. Paul, captain; W. P. Welbanks, first lieutenant; J. W. McDonald, second lieutenant; A. F. M. Custance, musical director. Drills in preparation for the pilgrimage to the imperial council meeting at Los Angeles in May will be commenced at once.

GIVE SALARIES TO HELP PROGRESSIVE MEASURES.

Columbus, Ohio, an. 20.—Well-to-do members of the Ohio constitutional convention have been asked by President Bigelow of that body to donate their salaries, $1,000, to a campaign for furthering the initiative and referendum propaganda in this state. Two members have announced that they will head the list of donors.

WOODLAND RESIDENTS WILL FIGHT AGAINST ANY DELAY IN BUILDING TRUNK SEWER

Woodland property owners have become aroused by the threats of some of the owners of acreage to appeal from the assessment for the Woodland trunk sewer and they fear that such litigation will delay the improvement for many months.

At a meeting of the Woodland property owners at the Glen Avon church last evening, following the address of W. E. McEwen on workingmen's compensation, a committee was appointed to call upon the protesting property owners and dissuade them, if possible, from beginning a court action. The assessment will not amount to more than $2.50 for a 50-foot lot, but the owners of acreage are quite hard hit.

The resolutions adopted last evening follow:

"Whereas, We, the residents of Woodland and vicinity, have for years past suffered in the extreme from the emptying of sewage of all kinds into Tisher's creek, which condition has resulted in epidemics of sickness among our children, and others, and such conditions have become a constant and increasing menace to the health and lives of our families, and we feel the conditions can no longer be allowed to exist, and

"Whereas, We have, after years of most patient and concerted effort, at last obtained from eminent sanitary engineers of the highest standing, a plan for an ample sewer system that can be constructed for a cost of about one-quarter of that of any plan heretofore proposed, and

"Whereas, Such plans have been fully discussed at public meetings for months past, at which all parties interested have had full opportunity to be heard, and after such full and complete consideration, the board of public works, and the city council of the city of Duluth have approved such plans and ordered such sewer to be built in accordance therewith, and assessments have been ordered for the purpose of constructing such sewer, and

"Whereas, It appears that practically all those persons assessed for direct benefits from the construction of said sewer are anxious and willing to pay such assessments, and

"Whereas, The assessments for general benefits, which covers the entire sewer territory, can be considered as little more than an assessment for nominal sums, being less than $2.32 for a 50-foot lot, and in the more remote tracts a little more than half of that amount, and

"Whereas, Certain non-residents of the city, and two or three other owners of extremely large tracts of land in the assessed territory, but who do not reside in such territory, are objecting to said nominal assessments against their land, and are threatening to appeal to the courts from such assessments, and thus delay the construction of said sewer, and

"Whereas, We feel that long delay in such construction is intolerable, unwarranted and unjust,

"Be It Resolved, That we, the residents of Woodland and vicinity, at a public meeting assembled, do hereby pledge our every effort to further the immediate construction of said sewer, and that we use all legal means to set aside and thwart all technical objections that may be attempted to interfere with or delay the building of said sewer, and that we render to the city officials, and especially the city attorney, any and all assisstance at our command in bringing about an immediate disposal of all the objections interfering with the proposed improvement."

WEST END

MISSIONARIES OCCUPY PULPITS

Representatives of Sunday School Union Will Tell of Their Work.

Four missionaries of the Minnesota branch of the American Citizens' Sunday school union will be in Duluth and will preach at the following churches tomorrow: Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street; Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street; Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street; Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, and the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street.

The members are making the regular tour of the state and visiting every Sunday school in each district. W. A. McGonagle is vice president of the Duluth district and the other officers of the organization who will speak here tomorrow are: John O. Ferris, superintendent of the northern district which comprises the states of Minnesota, North Dakota and Montana; George W. Andrick, general missionary of Minnesota; P. J. Gramness, district manager at Virginia; A. L. Holden of Bemidji and H. J. Synder of Grand Rapids.

During the twelve months ending March 1, 1911, the missionaries of the state have started 175 schools with an enrollment of 598 teachers and 5,170 students. Among the other schools visited by the missionaries are those that have been open before and others that will for the first time. These total 714 with a total enrollment of 32,000 scholars. Over 11,000 visits to families have been made and nearly 1,500 Bibles have been given away.

Among the churches in the other parts of the city that will be visited by the missionaries are: The Glen Avon Presbyterian, Evangelical Association of the Hope church and the Union church.

PAVING PLANS IN WEST END

Residents Preparing for Extensive Street Improvements This Year.

Many of the residents on Second and First streets from Piedmont avenue to Vernon street have begun to realize the advantage of paving the latter street instead of the other as was first planned. Petitions will be circulated immediately after the election Feb. 6 and an attempt made to get the council to order the paving next spring.

First street is even more level than Superior street and more suitable for a traffic road to West Duluth than any other street in this end of the city. Superior street runs into the railroad section at Thirty-eighth avenue west, while Second street joins with Vernon street and then runs into Grand avenue, from where the street runs directly west to West Duluth.

The residents are also considering the paving of Grand avenue to Forty-seventh avenue west, from which corner a brick pavement runs to Fifty-seventh avenue west. If the city will agree to this request this will be the only paved road to West Duluth from the central part of the city. Residents in the western end of the city have complained in the past regarding the bad condition of the roads for heavy traffic. The Grand avenue road is the best thoroughfare to West Duluth.

Should the special assessment amendment be adopted there is no doubt but that every resident on First street will agree to paving the street, thus relieving the congestion that is now evident on Superior street.

Rev. Silloway Returns.

Rev. and Mrs. George E. Silloway, who spent the past week in Minneapolis, returned this morning. Rev. Silloway, who has been ill, but has improved, will preach as usual at the services of the Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, tomorrow morning.

Dr. McCuen to Speak.

Dr. J. A. McCuen, Republican candidate for mayor, will be the principal speaker Monday evening at the regular meeting of the West End Republican club to be held at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. Among the other speakers for the evening are: J. C. Anderson, candidate for alderman in the Sixth ward; Clement de Roche, candidate in the Seventh ward; and Emil Zauft, candidate in the Eighth.

DELEGATES TO CONVENTION OF MODERN WOODMEN.

O. W. Olson of the Duluth Camp No. 2341, Modern Woodmen of America, John H. Norton of the Imperial Camp No. 2206, Carl L. Johnson of Virginia and John G. Larson of Two Harbors will leave tomorrow morning for Chicago as delegates of the local camps to the national convention. The meeting is called for the purpose of establishing new insurance rates for the order and the local delegates are serving for this special meeting as they attended the meeting held at Buffalo last spring.

Gunderson-Frederickson.

Miss Eugenia Gunderson and Fritz E. Frederickson, both of Aitkin, Minn., were married last evening at the parsonage of the St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street. Rev. W. E. Harmann, pastor of the church, conducted the ceremony. They left this morning for a wedding trip in the southern part of the state and after visiting relatives in Minneapolis for several weeks will make their home in Aitkin.

West End Briefs.

The choir of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church was entertained last evening at the home of John Swenson, 2814 West Third street.

The Adams hockey team will give an invitation dance Jan. 30 at the Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street.

The Young People's Society of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, will hold a banquet in the church parlors Tuesday evening.

Rev. E. Hanson of Ashland, Wis. who has been assisting Rev. Edward Erickson of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church for the past two weeks, left for his home this morning.

Word was received here that A. C. Peterson, son of Mrs. C. T. Bush, 123 North Twenty-third avenue west, who was seriously injured while doing electric work at Vancouver, B. C., left the hospital this week. He formerly lived in the West end.

A daughter was born yesterday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wanner, 2017 West Second street.

Peter Bestler of Washburn, Wis., is a guest this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Simonson, 2102 West Superior street.

The St. Luke's Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church will be entertained next Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Marshall of Twenty-sixth avenue west.

Miss Grey says, rosy cheeks and ruby lips are due to good health and a good digestion; every lady wants both; just start today and take a very small dose of Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea after each meal and at bed times; you'll wonder at the results. 35c., Tea or Tablets. Lion Drug Store.

IS ADVOCATE OF NEW SYSTEM

W. E. McEwen Favors Employers' Liability Law in Church Talk.

W. E. McEwen, former state labor commissioner, was the principal speaker at the meeting of the Men's Club of the Glen Avon Presbyterian church last evening. He discussed the politics in relation to employers' liability law, stating that it would benefit the employers as well as the working class.

Mr. McEwen explained the unjustness of the present system. He said that the jury might award an excessive verdict and that in any event the workman is often obliged to give his attorney half of what he receives. In addition he said that the litigation is expensive to both. Under a proper law the amount to be received by a workman would be fixed, according to the nature of the injury.

The club passed a resolution calling for immediate action in the construction of the Woodland sewer. The members said that the sewer is badly needed, the present system being a menace to the health of the community.

TRIES TO KILL HIMSELF BY SWALLOWING TIN.

New York, Jan. 20.—For the second time since he was convicted of wife murder, Joseph Ferrone, sentenced to death in the electric chair, attempted suicide yesterday. He tried to swallow a jagged piece of tin while being taken to the death house in Sing Sing prison, on a New York Central train. The day he was convicted, Ferrone attacked a juryman and tried to kill himself by slashing his throat with a piece of broken watch crystal. Ferrone is to die during the week of Feb. 26.

CALIFORNIA UNION BODY TO SUPPORT TVEITMOE.

Fresno, Cal., Jan. 20.—Resolutions pledging moral and financial support to Olaf Tveitmoe and other labor leaders under indictment in the Los Angeles dynamite investigation, have been adopted by the state building trades council in annual session here. Resolutions designed to oust from office Tveitmoe and President P. H. McCarthy, former mayor of San Francisco, were defeated. Resolutions looking to a combination of all labor organizations in the state with the Socialist party for political purposes were adopted. The session was executive, all information as to what transpired being furnished by Tveitmoe, who constituted himself the press committee.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

A RUNNING SHOT ON THE OLD SPORT SHEET

Venerable Tom Pratt Is One of the Cards of the Present Spiel---Freddy Welsh the Student--- The Miller-Sailor Jack Match.

(BY BRUCE.)

TOM PRATT of Eveleth is one of the veterans of the spiel. Yes, Dad Pratt is quite a card. In the pack of humanity a card is a person who is either the right or left bower, the ace, the king, queen or jack, or even the joker. Like the pastecards that we handle so carelessly, recklessly or close to the vest button, as the mood may be, one of the real cards is different from the rest of the pack. Curling, and sixty-seven years on this mundane old sphere, have combined to make Dad Pratt a very good fellow. He hasn't dyspepsia nor does he talk of the first gun fired at Sumpter. He carries his sixty-seven years as lightly as a reckless spender carries his week's weakly wages. Even before Doc Osler insulted a lot of gay and young baldheaded bachelors and some hard working married men by that age handicap, the Bible said something about a man being ready for the rocking chair, felt shoes, eggnogs, family gossip and Gen. Grant's memoirs at the age of three score and ten.

Well Dad Pratt is within easy flirting distance of this age and he is one of the real live wires at the present spiel. He doesn't go to bed after playing a game or two. The only complaint the veteran has to make is that some of the local curlers hit the excelsior far too early; another of his complaints is that his rink has been beaten in all of its first games and that he has not got nearly enough playing out of the present spiel.

Dad holds that he was drawn against the best rinks of the bonspiel in his initial games—hence he has watched quite a bit of the spiel from the club rooms and spent some more time talking of the spiels that they used to hold back somewhere in the 80's.

Tom Pratt, according to the dope that was passed our way, first opened his eyes in Lindsay, Ont. If this is wrong we offer humble retraction both to Lindsay and to Dad. Back in Lindsay he used to teach the natives how to curl. His curling education has been most complete. After attending the grades of the curling school at some of the Ontario spiels, he went to curling college and took a course of Dunbar and received his bachelors degree from the Rochon-Braden-Carston crowd. He is thoroughly schooled in curling and curlers, and in addition to this has an excellent constitution and an aversion to saying no. Of all the good fellows at the Duluth spiel, and there are a host, there are none better than Tom Pratt.

Mister Pratt can wear a Tam o'Shanter and look unconcerned. This is one of the tests of a curler. When you observe some gay young creature dashing in and out of the club room and through the room where the lady spectators are, plainly aware of the fact that he has a gorgeous, shrieking Tam o'Shanter on, stick a speculative pin in him, like the bug man, and play him for future reference. He has to learn.

For years Tom Pratt has known the St. Paul bunch. He has curled at spiels from Ontario south to the faint frost line. It is rumored around the rinkhouse that one of the reasons why Dad voted for St. Paul as the place for the next bonspiel, is that he likes the city and is compelled to make a business trip there next winter anyhow.

But that is only a rumor and runs unattached.

No, there are few of the old school who do not know, have not played with, or against Tom Pratt. He is of the old school of curlers and is a credit to the game that has bred many of the best sportsmen in this dreary old world. His memory of curling antedates the Myron memory, which is going some. If any man has had a better time at the present spiel than Tom Pratt, he is requested to step into the secretary's office and receive a reward or an insurance policy, just as the conditions may be.

ONE of the reasons, so it is given out, that Freddy Welsh has gone back somewhat, is because he has been sitting up in the wee small hours pouring—stop the transit of your thought right here—not whisky as you were going to say, or blue ribbon or the sparkling stuff that paints beautiful pictures and calls the patrol, but over Herbert Spencer and some of the more chaste of Elbert Hubbard's stuff or dope, just depending where you stand.

We have heard of many fighters ruining their constitutions and desire for H-2-O by pouring out various and sundry concoctions out of various and sundry jugs, bottles and steins; but the case of Welsh is the first one recorded where the literary passion has resulted in sending a fighter a trifle back along the road. Let this be a warning to all young and aspiring literary geniuses.

It might be added, in the nature of an appendix, that Welsh is one of the best press agents that we have. K. & E. and others take notice.

YESTERDAY'S definite announcement that at last there is no doubt but that Sailor Jack, the husky marine, and Walter Miller of St. Paul are to settle their little differences of opinion on the wrestling pad, instead of through the newspapers, comes as a thing of gladness to the lovers of wrestling. This match should furnish the best wrestling that has ever been witnessed in this city, or in the Northwest, for that matter.

The marine is training as he never trained for a match. He is working out every day and when the chance comes that he has waited two long weary years for, he will be found in the best condition of his career. The husky sailor expects to engage in several more matches before the big world's championship event comes. He is getting better every day and when he steps on the mat to face the little demon from St. Paul he should be in better shape than he was the night he so thoroughly and so artistically took the measure of Billy Schober, one of the best welterweight wrestler in the world.

THREE TEAMS IN THE RACE

Minnesota, Chicago and Wisconsin Basket Ball Fives Still Undefeated.

Gophers and Badgers Will Line Up for Elimination Game.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Gopher basket ball team left last night for Madison, where they meet the Badger quint tonight in what is expected to be one of the hardest fought games of the season. Although it is still early in the season the result of this game will have an important bearing on the conference standing.

Up to date Wisconsin has won three games with the strongest teams in the West, among them Illinois, whom they beat by a larger score than did Minnesota.

In Stangl, Wisconsin has a forward who is surpassed only by Lawler, the fastest forward in the conference last year. That Minnesota has much to fear from this man is shown by his remarkable record during the last three games.

As matters now stand there is a three-cornered tie for first place, Chicago, Wisconsin and Minnesota having lost no games yet. A change will occur tonight. The tie may continue or Minnesota and Chicago may drop out of the lead, while Wisconsin cannot possibly drop lower than second on account of her three victories. In case the Gophers win and Chicago is beaten by Illinois, Minnesota will have a comfortable lead.

On this trip Minnesota will also meet Iowa, returning to meet Nebraska next Saturday night.

Lawler and Frank, forwards; Robillard and Sawyer, guards, and Whipperman, center, constitute the Gopher team. Under the coaching of Dr. Cook the team has developed rapidly especially in team work, since the Illinois game and win or lose they will put up a stiff fight against the great Badger five.

GOPHERS WOULD MEET HARVARD

Efforts to Establish Track Athletic Relations May Be Successful.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Coach "Dick" Grant of the track team is lending every effort to establish athletic relations between Harvard, his Alma Mater, and Minnesota.

As a part of his campaign Dick has written to some of the prominent alumni of Harvard. Among these men are Theodore Roosevelt, Col. Henry L. Higginson, President Lowell's secretary, and Evan Hollister, the greatest middle distance runner that Harvard ever turned out.

The former president of the United States, who is a member of the Harvard board of trustees and her most prominent alumnus, is very favorable towards the proposition. He writes that he views the idea with favor and asks for a letter containing conditions at Minnesota in order that he might bring his influence to bear upon the Harvard authorities.

Col. Henry S. Higginson, secretary to President Lowell, saw Lowell concerning athletic relations between Harvard and Minnesota, and the colonel says:

"He (President Lowell) tells me that Dean Briggs, Mr. Garcelon, and Mr. Wells have written to Minnesota concerning this matter, that they like the idea, but that this year it seems impossible, and next year it can perhaps, be taken up. I shall go on with the matter and write this merely as a preliminary sketch."

Evan Hollister replies to Coach Grant's letter that he has written to the Harvard athletic authorities in favor of the proposition of establishing athletic relations between Harvard and Minnesota.

Everybody hopes Grant's attempts will prove successful.

Millers Will Report.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 20.—Players of the Minneapolis club of the American association have been notified to report in Chicago on March 11 to leave for Hickman, Ky., that same evening, where training quarters will be established. The notification was sent out yesterday when President Mike Cantillon of the local club mailed out twenty-eight contracts. Among the new men to receive contracts are Ralph Comstock of Toledo, Ohio, formerly in the Cotton States league, Walter Kuhn of the Portland club of the Northwestern league and William burns, formerly with the Philadelphia National league team.

Athletes to Compete.

Chicago, Jan 20.—Many athletes who are expected to represent this country in the Olympic games at Stockholm next summer, will compete in the eighteenth annual indoor field meet of the First Regiment Athletic association here tonight. Among the teams are representatives of Notre Dame university, the University of Chicago, Northwestern university, Lewis Institute, the Illinois Athletic club, the Chicago Athletic association, and the Gaelic Athletic association. Several unattached stars also will compete. Only registered athletes in the Amateur Athletic Union may participate.

Down to Semi-Finals.

Pinehurst, N. C., Jan. 20.—Survivors in the first of the six divisions who will today meet in the semi-finals of the golf tournament, include Z. T. Miller of New York and I. S. Robeson, Rochester, N. Y.; Lee W. Maxwell and William Purvis, both of New York. In the consolation the contestants will be G. T. Hodges of Chicago and George C. Dutton of Boston; C. W. Brocker and C. A. Speakman, both of New York. Secretary of the Interior Walter L. Fisher lost his afternoon round to W. L. Crocker of Boston, winning in the morning from C. F. Bacon of Boston, both matches, 4 to 3.

WILLIAMSON, EWING AND KELLY ARE RATED GREATER STARS THAN COBB

Old Ted Sullivan Says Veterans Combined All the Qualities That Made Them Stand Out Alone.

Winter always brings on gossip of both magnates and players. There must be something left over from the menu of the summer baseball table to appease the baseball appetite of the ravenous fans. The latest fad is picking out the greatest twenty ball players of the game—both past and present. Comparisons are always odious, but they are ten times more so in the national game. Among the millions of fans—every one of them has his idea what player of the entire list of the great army of baseball experts should be numbered among the immortal twenty. Before I would pay attention to any of these selectors of the famous twenty, writes Ted Sullivan, he would have to be a man who has been a follower of the game—more than twenty-five years—and he should have to be a man also who handled players and developed them. The player of the great twenty should be, in my estimation, a man who always took the initiative in the crisis of a game to win for his side, without a guide being sent around with him to show him the route.

In a neck game this brand of player—no matter what team he is on—will rise to the situation and do something to win for his team. Now that were of such caliber of the past were George Wright, Mike Kelly, Curt Welch, Comiskey, Latham and John Ward and the men of modern years, Hugh Jennings, Keeler, McGraw and Jack Doyle of the old Baltimores, and the men of today like Cobb, Evers, Callahan, Tinker and Chance and others of like genius.

Remember, I am not picking out any twenty great ball players. I am only pointing out the class of men who have the perception of today—and possess the dash and impetuosity that enables them to go through the gate of victory at any time the opposition lets it ajar in their defense.

Ty Best—Only Now.

In the past year I have seen where some magnates and laymen of the game assert that Ty Cobb was the greatest ball player in the entire history of the game. I make an allowance for the magnates to say so, but I do know that one or two of them who said so know better; but I think their opinions were slightly governed by the declaration that the ball player living draws better at their parks than any one that is dead. I want the public to understand that I do not want to take one gem from Cobb's baseball crown, nor do I want to take an ounce off the scale of his great baseball skill to lessen his ability in the eyes of the baseball public. As Cobb stands today he is the best run-getter of the entire baseball fraternity, and he is the stimulant and flavor of any ball team he plays on. What I mean by run-getter is a man who can execute on the bases what he conceives, and the player that can get around those bases in making the run after he once gets to first, no matter how he got there, is the player that will always be a winner for a ball club. Cobb stands alone in that respect. Base running has ever been the spectacular part of a man's ball playing, and the player who excels in that, with all other things equal, will be always popular. I stand second to none in saying that Cobb today is the best batter and base runner in the game. He has also the get-away-dash and magnetism of the winner, but I will stop right here and say no more. For me to say that this player was the general and versatile ball player of the type, or any way near the counterpart in general baseball ability of Ned Williamson, Buck Ewing and Mike Kelly would indicate that I had an eclipse of my sight when I saw those three men in action in the zenith of their fame.

The Stalwart Three.

I did not get my impression of those men by reading a story in the Ledger, but I got my impression of those stalwarts of the game when I was manager of teams in both the American association and the National league. I saw Williamson on the threshold of his greatness, when he came from the Indianapolis club to Chicago in 1879, and I also saw the great Kelly when he came from Cincinnati to Chicago in the same year. Just think of a player like Williamson, a man symmetrically built, about 6 feet tall, with ability of good kind, that could play third base, catch and pitch, and one of the greatest base runners of his time. William (Buck) Ewing was one of the best, if not the best, general ball players and catchers of all times—who possessed all the attributes of a ball player. Ewing could play infield, and play it well, and excelled in every essential of the game. He began as third baseman of the Troy club of the National league. Now we come to the immortal Mike Kelly, the acknowledged Napoleon of all baseball strategists, a player who could catch (and a brainy one at that) and could play also the in and out field—a man whose head was a casket of baseball gems and whose magnetism in his style of playing made many a man make an error that he otherwise would not. Kelly, cold, mechanical player—and to think, with all his dash and vim in sliding into bases, he never spiked or injured a fellow player. No! There was but one Mike Kelly in baseball, one Napoleon in military science, one John L. Sullivan in pugilism, one Shapespeare in dramatic literature, one Angelo in sculpture and one Rembrandt in painting. To compare Outfielder Cobb to any of these three men, especially Kelly, would be making a sculptor the equal of a stone cutter; then, again, it is hard to compare an outfielder with an infielder in the line of fielding duties they are called upon The positions are entirely different. An outfielder may not average two or three chances to a game and the chances may only come in intervals of ten to twenty minutes, while an infielder is in perpetual action when he once takes the field, and the plays are always coming up in a complicated form, and unless he is a quick-witted fellow he will be lost in a baseball fog. To try and bring any ball player of today up to the standard of Ned Williamson, Buck Ewing, and Mike Kelly in general versatility and mechanical skill would be like making the press-made dress-suit actors of today the equals of Booth, Barrett and John McCullough. This last comparison may be a bad simile, but I'll stand for it just the same.

CHICAGO TO HAVE BIG TOURNAMENT

Bowling Teams From Every Section of Country Will Be Present.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Less than four weeks remain before the entry list to the twelfth annual tournament of the American Bowling congress will close and the rush for entries has already started towards Secretary Abe Langtry. The blanks were dumped into the mails last Friday and every bowler who ever shot 200 in the country is now in possession of one of them, no less than 20,000 being sent out by the post. In addition, 8,700 full sheet posters will be sent out the coming week to be hung up in every alley from Maine to California.

Entries this year will cover almost every state in the Union. Baltimore in the East and Los Angeles in the West having promised teams so far, while it looks as though Texas will have a dozen clubs; Oklahoma will send a dozen and Canada will send to Chicago almost as many teams as it enters in its own Canadian association meet. Terre Haute is the latest of the smaller cities to show its hand, that town writing in yesterday that it would send at least six clubs. As an evidence of the number of men expected here this year an order was placed last week for 5,000 medals to be given visiting bowlers at the coming meet.

Change of Dates.

A slight change in the date of closing the tournament was made last week at the suggestion of Secretary Abe Langtry, who asked the local promoters to book dates on or before March 30, in order that the tournament can be closed inside of three weeks if the number of team entries does not exceed 720. As the Chicago boosters figure they will get just about that number of entries the change does not affect the previous estimates of the number of clubs for which arrangements are being made. Bowlers from outside points are requested by Secretary Langtry to ask for dates some time between March 7 and 20. It is expected that Chicago clubs will fill the schedule for the first five days, although any visiting team will be given a date in that period on request, outside of the opening night.

Fire twice attacked the tournament last week, the most serious occasion being when the old Transit house, one of the landmarks of the city, was entirely wiped out last Friday. Right afterward Secretary Langtry's office in Milwaukee was burned out, the loss, however, being small and having no effect on the plans of the promoters. The loss of the Transit house is a more serious loss to the officials, however, as many of them had figured on stopping there while the tournament was under way. As a consequence the visiting players will have to stop either down town or at some of the South side hotels.

Secretary Will Flenner of the Chicago Bowling Tournament company, 9 West Monroe street, in this city, has opened a bureau for the purpose of making hotel arrangements to get the visiting contestants. Outside players can have their reservations made through him by stating the price they wish to pay for accommodations, the dates and number in their party. Accommodations can be secured in Chicago for any amount from $1 a day up.

Enthusiasm in Chicago is running high over the big meet, one of the latest business interests to take notice of the event being the Commonwealth Edison section of the National Electric Light association, one of the most powerful lines of industry in the country with branches in every city in the country. The electricians have organized a twelve-club league and expect to enter it solidly in the big tournament. The Gin Fizz people are endeavoring to secure enough bowlers to make a Gin Fizz squad, following the example set by the Schoenhofen Brewing company in entering twenty clubs.

Louisville is to have a special night. Col. J. H. Baager having secured fifteen out of the eighteen clubs needed already. In the event of his failure to fill up with Kentucky clubs local promoters will add a couple of the star teams from Chicago to fill out the alleys. It is hoped that a Northern Indiana league night can be arranged in which teams from cities like Terre Haute, South Bend, Gary, La Porte will fill the entire sweep of drives.

CLAIMS TOUCH WAS AFFECTED

Billiardist Has Personal Injury Suit Against Street Railway Concern.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 20.—The value of a professional billiardist's delicate touch was the point at issue in a $25,000 damage suit against the street car company which went to trial yesterday with Charles Peterson as plaintiff.

He was thrown from an automobile last May when the machine was struck by a street car. In his petition Peterson alleges the greatest injury was to his nervous system, and testified that the nervousness affected his income.

TROPHY OFFERED FOR BASKET BALL

The Northern Hardware company has given a handsome loving cup to the Clifford team of the former Saturday Night Basket Ball league as a reward for the winning of the pennant in this league by the Cliffords. But the cup has been presented with the qualification that the team holding it be open to all challenges. With this understanding, a number of games are being arranged at the present time.

The strong boat club basket ball team will be the first Duluth quint to go after the cup, meeting the Cliffords at the Y. M. C. A. "Pop" next Tuesday evening. The boat club team has been strengthened and is considered one of the best teams in this part of the Northwest. The games is expected to be one of the best played here duringn the present season.

By the rules under which the cup will be contested for, no team that is not made up of Minnesota players may compete for it. This ruling will prevent Superior teams being played under the name of Duluth teams. The cup is really open for challenge play to all basket ball teams in Northern Minnesota and some fast teams are expected to compete for its possession

Sox Will Train at Waco.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—President Comiskey of the Chicago American league club has announced that Waco, Tex., has been selected as a training spot for members of his team. Manager Callahan expects to leave for the South early in February with a squad of pitchers, and the other players will join them about March 1. The squad will remain in training for about three weeks, and then start north to play exhibition games.

Ice Hockey.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 20.—The Cleveland Athletic club defeated the Parkdale Canoe club, Toronto, 4 to 3, at hockey.

Sullivan Beats McMahon.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 20.—Jack (Twin) Sullivan won from Tom McMahon of Newcastle, Pa., in a ten-round fight before the Cleveland Athletic club last night. Sullivan gained the decision through superior ring generalship and McMahon's inability to block the older fighter's lead.

Contracts Sent Players.

New York, Jan. 20.—The local National league club announced its spring training schedule which will begin March 2 and continue through Southern cities until April, when the team will finish its post season series hereabouts. Contracts were mailed today to all of the regular players.

Englishman Wins.

London, Jan. 20.—In a ten-round fight here last night between the English former champion pugilist, Arthur Warner, and an American named Richard Cooper, the referee stopped the bout in the fourth round, as Cooper manifestly was unable to continue.

Visits His Players.

Philadelphia, Jan. 20.—Horace S. Fogel, president of the Philadelphia National league baseball club, returned yesterday after visiting several of his players who have not yet agreed upon terms for the coming season. Fogel said that Alexander, pitcher; Luderus, first baseman, and Paskert, center fielder, had agreed to terms and will sign contracts in a few dys.

ROCHON RINK MEETS ITS FIRST DEFEAT OF SPIEL

Falls Before Holland in Minneapolis Curling Club Event.

Rochon Wins Duluth Event—Spiel Cannot Be Finished Today.

The mighty "Mac" Rochon and the equally mighty Cassidy have fallen.

The great Winnipeg skip, his great third and the other two crack members of the rink were beaten out in the 3:30 draw yesterday afternoon in the Minneapolis Curling club event by Holland of West Duluth. Holland won out by the score of 11 to 7 and put to an end the keen speculation as to whether the crack Canadian rink would go through the bonspiel undefeated.

Whenever a crack rink that has gone along with as many victories as the Rochon rink is defeated, there is surprise. This was especially so in the victory of the West Duluth rink.

It was not generally believed that Holland could turn the trick, though the West Duluth aggregation has made a good showing through the spiel.

While Rochon's rink did not play the same game that it has played in some of the contests of the present spiel, credit must be given the Holland aggregation for rising to the occasion and playing one of the best games that any of the rinks have shown duringn the week. It was only some of the great draw shots of Holland that saved the day. Several times the West Duluth skip drew to the button with Rochon laying, making perfect shots and scoring, also cutting the Canadian skip out of several point heads.

Holland won the first head by a well-executed draw to the button, when the bystanders had about conceded Rochon a three-point stand. Holland also won the second head, and then Rochon began to realize that he was going to have some game. Rochon made a pretty draw in the third head and got back one point. Holland came back in the fourth with one more, getting this point by another very pretty draw. Rochon lay two with guards up in the fifth. He lay one more in the sixth, while Holland laid one in the seventh and eighth and two in the ninth. The West Duluth skip surprised the crowd by coming back in the tenth head and laying three more. Rochon made a last despairing effort in the eleventh head and laid three. He had a possible chance to tie up in the final head, but missed a wide-open shot, and the first defeat of the spiel was registered against the Winnipeg skip.

Wins Duluth Event.

The one defeat of yesterday was retrieved by two victories upon the part of the crack Canadian rink. In the final draw of the day and in the final game for the Duluth Curling club event, Rochon won from Rockwood of Portage by the score of 10 to 8. Rockwood tied the game up in the eighth head, but in the ninth Rochon laid three and was safe after that.

Rochon's rink has sure been a busy one the past few days. The third game for the Peggers came in the 7 o'clock draw, when Bradley, who has been making a fine showing in the spiel, was defeated, the Canadian winning out by a score of 13 to 9. Rochon laid four in the first head and the Duluth rink was never able to get up even after that.

In the noon draw Rochon also defeated McLeod of Minneapolis, making the day one of the busiest at the spiel. Rochon has been going some during the past three days and that his rink has not met defeat before yesterday has been the wonderment of the spectators.

After making a great showing through the play up to last night, Williams of Winnipeg was beaten out by Chisholm of Winnipeg in the St. Paul Jobbers' event. The game was fought out until nearly 2 o'clock this morning. Williams, however, put McLeod of Minneapolis out of the running for the Minneapolis Curling club event.

One of the surprises of yesterday was the defeat of Parkinson of Phillips by Gates of Superior. This was one of the closest games of the day and put Parkinson out of the Western Curling club event and advanced Gates to the third round.

In today's early draw Tucker of Pardeeville will meet Holland, yesterday's hero, in the third round of the Minneapolis Curling club event. The winner of this game will go into the semi-finals.

There seems no chance at all that the spiel can be finished today.

It is believed some of the rinks will remain over until Monday, though the vast majority of the rinks will leave for home tonight or tomorrow.

Following is the play of yesterday in detail:

CURLEY'S FINE ITALIAN HAND

Clever Chicago Promoter Is Alone Responsible for Johnson-Flynn Bout.

Unless all signs fail, in dry or any other kind of weather, unless the most scientific dope is but so much emulsion, then Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fighting fireman, has about as much chance to beat Jack Johnson next July, or a thousand years hence, as he has of beating Teddy Roosevelt out of the Republican presidential election, and yet he has the effrontery to openly declare that he thinks he has a good chance—a fool chance would have scoured better.

However, after all, one cannot conscientiously blame Jim for thus asserting himself, for he would be a wise old fox, indeed, with a copper, if he said anything else. To acknowledge that he was overmatched and had little show of winning, would stamp Mr. Chiorigilli—Jim's Italian moniker—irrefutably and indelibly as the colossal ass of the age. He is matched with the big black champion for next firecracker day—the fusillade to be pulled off somewhere out in the wilds of the sage brush state, and of course it is en regle for Jim and all those in the pot with him to claim everything and anything in sight, for to lie still and sox nix would be but to tacitly throw up the sponge in advance and knock the chances for a big killing at the gate into all kinds of cocked hats.

Trust Jack Curley, who is running Mr. Flynn's affairs, to depart himself with all due propriety, and to get his talons in on the goods if such a thing is possible.

Curley wasn't born yesterday, nor the day before, and he had his teeth cut and his hair singed, back in the renaissance of the old carnival days down in New Orleans and the Horton reign in New York, and ranks along with your Dan Stuarts and your Tex Ricards. All the testimony requied in substantiation of this declaration is to call the attention of those who are inclined to incredulity to the fact that it was the Hon. Mr. Curley, who groomed one Hackenschmidt, the Russian Lion in sheep's clothing, and promoted his match last Labor day over in Chicago with Frank Gotch. Jack, by ingenious methods, managed to jam into Mr. Comisky's White Sox baseball park the biggest crowd that has ever assembled at a sporting event in this country, and after paying Mr. Gotch $21,000 for jiggling with the big Yellow foreigner for a few minutes, and Mr. Hack himself for permitting the usage of his corporosity in this little stunt, $13,000, he himself escaped with the measly sum of $42,000—a mere sagroshells, considering Jack's worth as a fine and dandy promoter—he ought to have had at least $100,000.

Now, don't become obfusticated by the fact that Mr. Curley only copped this trivial recompense for his stupendous efforts on this occasion, and imagine that he is going to go astray with Mr. Flynn in this little function with Mr. Johnson, because he is not. Curley comes as near the omniscient as any duck that one can conjure up.

New York Gets Stump.

New York, Jan. 20.—The New York American league club signed William Stump, an infielder from the Tri-State league club of York, Pa. Stump, who is over six feet tall, was sought by the Chicago Nationals, but the Highlanders won in the draw.

BUYING BALL PLAYERS IS A GREAT BIG GAMBLE

Without dealing with the veracity of the statements that seemed to have slipped over the seaboard and the interior as well, in the spots where big league baseball is discussed, the talk about Marty O'Toole, the highest priced busher in captivity, gives rise to a little cogitation.

Also arises the query: Why do the pastiming birds in the gilded cage always fall down when they fly from the minor to the major leagues? Should it prove a fact that Marty—price tag $22,500—proves a fizzle next season he will make the fourth of the highest priced minor leaguers to have fallen by the wayside, though one has since reformed himself and the others are to have an opportunity.

Gaze upon the list: Russell Blackburne, cost $10,000; Rube Marquard, cost $11,000; Lefty Russell, cost $12,000; Marty O'Toole, cost $22,500; total price of quartet, $55,500. Truly an appalling figure when one thinks of a Collins that cost nothing, a Barry that ment no expenditure of money, and a Baker, whose cost was well within $2,000.

Strange about these chaps—how they slump. It seems as if some evil genius pursued these boys, admittedly splendid ball players, once they hit the big show. Look at their histories:

Teamed With Paddy.

Here's Rube Marquard. A wry-necked southpaw, born in Cleveland, he drifted into Hoosierdom and trailed along with Indianapolis. Had a backstop named Paddy Livingstone, also a Cleveland chap, and they were a grand pair. Paddy caught every game which he pitched and the skinny southpaw won a pennant for Charlie Carr.

Rube's work attracted the attention of John T. Brush, and he sought the lad. Paid 11,000 bucks out of an opulent treasury and Rube struck New York. Reams of copy went through the mill about the youth sider, and then—bing. Largely was written on the personal diary of Brush after Rube's name—S-T-U-N-G.

He failed dismally for two years. Had the stuff—wasn't the slightest question about that. But no control. Went along for two years and had other reams of copy rolled through the mills. But all about a LEMON.

Marquard went down South last spring with the Giants. In the McGraw entourage was one of the brainiest catchers who ever wore a glove—Wilbert Robinson. Robbie took personal charge of his Rubelets; put him through a course of sprouts, nursed him like a mother would a babe. And there were more reams of copy sent through the mill—WONDER.

Rube led the National league last season, and has arrived. The rind has been removed from the "lemon" and he has come to stay.

Here's Another.

A few years ago there was a chap playing for semi-pro teams in Palmyra, N. J., who set the world afire. He was a shortstop, and such a short! His name was Blackburne, baptized Russell, but called "Lena" by his friends.

It only took a short time for that chap to reach Providence, in the then Eastern league. Blackburne proved a dazzling sensation. His work around shortstop reminded the old-timers of Hughie Jennings and Herman Long. He was fast on his feet and a sticker.

Charlie Comiskey purchased the boy and laid out 10,000 perfectly milled dollars for Blackburne. Reams of copy went through the mills—peach. Blackburne started the season. He failed in every breach. Proved the rankest sort of in-and-outer.

More reams of copy, etc. This time F-I-Z-Z-L-E. Last season he did not play many games. His leg, which had been broken, went back on him, and he was a star that had shot across the baseball sky into oblivion.

Rescued.

Now Jimmy Callahan has rescued him. He is going to give Blackburne a chance. And if history repeats, as in the case of Marquard, the White Sox will have one of the finest shortstops in the land next season.

One year ago last summer there was a southpaw pitching in Baltimore who had more scouts on his trail than any player in the land. His name was Clarence Dixon Russell, and he was certainly a grand southpaw. No doubt about that. Had the stuff, had the nerve, had everything.

Connie Mack went over to Jersey City and watched him one day. Russell was knocked out of the box on this occasion. But he cut so much congealed fluid with the wise manager that Connie bought him on the spot. Twelve thousand beans, too, went for Lefty.

Reams of copy written about him—G-R-E-A-T-E-S-T. Came to Shibe park at the end of the last season and shut out the Red Sox. More reams, etc.—W-I-Z-A-R-D.

Failed Ignobly.

The season started last year, Russell failed ignobly. Not only had no stuff, but seemed to lack any ambition. Was said to have been ill, and probably was, but he fell down woefully. Before the season was two months old it was seen that Russell would be of no avail.

Six weeks before the season ended he went home. His lack of ability to show cost him his whack in the world's series. More reams of copy, et cetera.—P-U-N-K.

The coming season Russell will be given another chance. Lefty says that he has recovered; that he feels as capable as ever. He will have the opportunity to demonstrate. He has the goods, no doubt of that. Who knows but that the averages at the end of next season may show Russell leading the league?

Who knows? We all will at the end of next season.

TWO YEARS IN MAJORS, VEAN GREGG IS A STAR

(By Billy Evans.)

Vean Gregg, star southpaw of the Cleveland Naps, and the pitching sensation of the American league in 1911, never looked over a big league box score until two years ago. Sounds rather strange, yet that was the story told me by the great southpaw himself. It is entirely different now, for no pitcher more carefully peruses the box scores than Vean Gregg. He is a star now, a student of the game, and is always on the lookout for any dope on the hard hitters. In the old days, when an unknown twirler in the far Northwest, the major leagues had no interest for him.

This fellow Gregg, who had such a big year in his debut as a major leaguer, is a funny chap. Nothing worries him, he has supreme confidence in his ability, and has the nerve which only great pitchers possess. Success has not changed Gregg in the least, he is just the same easy-going chap he was when he joined the Naps. I had always admired Gregg's work as a pitcher, but knew little of him personally until one evening last summer, I was jumping from Chicago to Cleveland and was seated in one of the berths reading a book when Gregg came into the car and dropped down into the seat beside me.

Gregg and Walsh had been the opposing pitchers that Sunday afternoon in a thrilling extra-inning battle before an enormous crowd at Comiskey park. Gregg triumphed after eleven innings of play. He had given a wonderful exhibition of pitching, and deserved to win, but perhaps will never again come so close to losing. Chicago really should have won the game in the tenth, but Ole Olson, the Naps' brainy shortstop, pulled the 1776 trick of hiding the ball, that saved the day. Olson pulled the stunt when Chicago seemed certain to score three or four runs and cinch the game. Men were on second and third and no one out, with the strong part of the batting order coming up. Chouinard, a youngster, was substituted to run for the man on second, and on the recruit Olson pulled the trick. The next batter followed with a single that would have tied up the score had not Olson done a little clever thinking. Another hit followed, but only one run was scored, although the bases were filled when the side was retired. When his case looked hopeless, Gregg tightened up, prevented further scoring and emerged a 3 to 2 victor over the mighty Walsh.

"I was pretty lucky to get away with that one," said Gregg, as he settled back in his seat.

"I can't say that I think so. You pitched a grand game of ball today," was my reply.

"I did tolerably well, but there is no telling how many runs they would have made had it not been for Olson. That fellow is a brainy ball player. He was always pulling something on the coast, and will be making the fans around here sit up and take notice just as soon as he gets familiar with the surroundings."

Credit to Ole Olson.

Gregg was not at all chesty over his victory; he gave more credit for the win to Olson than himself. That is perhaps one reason for his success. The ball players like to work with Gregg on the rubber. He is always generous enough to acknowledge the good plays in his behalf, but never does he criticise, no matter how many bad errors are made behind him. Instead of roasting the player who has just slipped up, Gregg offers words of encouragement, and works all the harder to get out of the hole. I have often heard fans express the opinion that the Naps seem to play better ball behind Gregg than any of the other pitchers. I know they perform better under such conditions, because they have confidence in the big southpaw and are with him. Washington shines when Johnson is on the rubber, as does Chicago with Walsh performing. Confidence in the twirler goes a long way with his teammates.

"How do you like the big league?" I asked Gregg.

"It is all right," answered Gregg, "but I was pretty well satisfied out in Portland. That is some country out there, and it is home to me. This big league stuff is just like a visit with relatives to me. I am anxiously waiting for the time to pack up and go home. I suppose this will surprise you, but I never went through a big league box score until two years ago. I was doing well enough out in my country, the big show had no fascination for me, and I didn't care to get very well acquainted with it. I didn't regard myself as a big league pitcher, so I didn't think is was any use to wise myself up to big league ways.

"I am a plasterer by trade, do a lot of contracting work, and can make $10 a day when business is good. I always liked to play ball and regarded it simply as a side issue. Things are just reversed now; baseball is my regular business, with the plastering stuff on the side. I got along in pretty good style with Portland, and the papers began to say that I looked like big league material. I got the same opinion myself, and decided it was time for me to get wise. Big league box scores immediately became the most interesting things in the paper to me. I read every line of news I could see about the big stars. Any time reference was made to the weakness of a certain player, I made mental note of that information, intending to put it to the test at the very first opportunity. I'll gamble no ball player in the country studies the dope more closely than I do now.

Refuses to Change Style.

"I lost a little of my big league ambitions the year the Cleveland club turned me back to Portland. A good year with that club made me all the more anxious to get a trial, and here I am in the big show at last, although a few years ago such a thing was furthest from my anticipations. I made up my mind when I came up here that I was going to make good. That was the very first decision I reached. The next thing I decided was that nobody was going to change my style of delivery. It had been a success in the Pacific Coast league, and I was confident it would enable me to get by in the big show. I think a lot of promising twirlers are spoiled by having some one change their natural style of pitching."

In the meantime another member of the Naps had joined the group and remarked to Gregg that he hadn't done much strike-out pitching, a stunt at which he shone on the coast. If I am not mistaken, I believe Gregg averaged nearly nine strike-outs a game, for the forty-four full contests he worked. That was a marvelous record, and no one believed he would duplicate it in the majors, although there was much comment on the few men the big southpaw fanned.

"In the first place," replied Gregg in answer to the player's querry, "I don't think I am quite as good as I was in 1910. I overworked myself at Portland and am paying for it this year. My arm don't feel as strong as it did on the coast, my speed isn't so great, and my hook doesn't snap as much." The Nap player remarked he would like to have seen Gregg on the coast, if he could have been any better than he was that afternoon in Chicago.

Strike-Out Record.

"Then there is another feature relative to strike-outs in the big show. The ball players up here don't swing at everything you serve them; they wait you out, make you get 'em over. Another reason is I am not working for strike-outs as I did last year. Every day in my last year on the coast the papers were filled with stuff about my chances to break the strike-out record. These notices spurred me on, and as a result I hung up a new mark. Since coming to the big league one thing that has been impressed on me most is the fact that there are eight other athletes assisting me, who are just as anxious to win as I am."

I was might glad that Gregg had sat down with me that evening, for our conversation gave me a much better idea of the big southpaw's possibilities. There is no denying that he is one of the greatest pitchers of all time. If his arm is strong next year he should be a tower of strength to the Cleveland club. His work ought to show a considerable improvement, for his 1911 experience should have removed any rough spots.

Gregg has two of baseball's greatest requisites, brains and nerve. I never saw a young pitcher grasp the fine points of the game or the weakness of batters more quickly than the Western wonder. American league players and umpires will tell you that his nerve is unlimited. In one game with the Athletics in which I umpired at the plate, I saw Gregg on five occasions, with the count three and two, use his curve ball in preference to grooving the fast one. On three of the occasions a base on his balls would have been costly, but each time the surprised batter watched the curve glide over, and retired to the shade of the bench. Believe me, Mr. Vean Gregg is some pitcher.

ADAMS OUTCLASS THE BIG DULUTHS

Triple A Hockey Team Defeats Clothiers By 7 to 0 Count.

Big Duluths	3	1	2	.333
Broadways	2	0	2	.000

Defeating the Big Duluths by the score of 7 to 0 the crack Adams hockey team showed last evening that it is by far the class of the Duluth-Superior Hockey league and one of the best teams that has ever been developed in Duluth.

The clothing dealers were simply outclassed. In team work, in speed on the ice and in stick handling the Triple A members had it on their opponents. The defense of the Adams was remarkable and while the Big Duluths played hard all through to get by the clever blocking and checking, the Blue and White team work proved entirely too strong for the offense of the clothiers.

Helmer Grenner was the bright particular star of the Adams. He scored four of the seven goals and his work on the defense was also one of the features of the contest. A. Olson came

BASEBALL NOTES

Kansas City is said to have offered Jap Barbeau to Minneapolis for Warren Gill.

Indianapolis has bought Pitcher Kimball from the Burlington Central association team.

New Orleans has released Pitcher Frank McCain Robinson to Selma, from which he was secured.

Rochester has sold Charles (Whitey) Alperman to Atlanta, according to a recent announcement.

Hugh McBren will close a deal this week, it is said, for a half interest in the Jersey City club.

Noah Henline, last season an Oriole, may land as manager of the Danville team in the I.-I.-I. league.

Harry Truby wants a place as umpire in the American association. The veteran worked in the Ohio state last year.

Umpire Billy Carpenter has assured President Kavanaugh that he will return to the Southern league is wanted.

Jack Manning, last season outfielder with Johnstown, has been made manager of the York team of the Tri-State league.

Memphis has made Jersey City an offer for Catcher Jack Tonneman. He played under Managar Bernhard at Nashville in 1909.

Jimmy Cockman, last year with Lincoln, is a popular candidate for manager of the Grand Island team of the Nebraska State league.

Umpires Fleming and Kennedy, who were in the Central association last year, will act as arbiters in the Central league this season.

Either Harry Steinfeldt has a great press agent or he is in big demand. Each day some new club is said to be negotiating for his services.

Milan F. Wood is East St. Louis will take the Texarkana franchise in the new league being organized in the old Western association territory.

Pitcher Bill Bartley, erstwhile International and Southern leaguer, will try his arm in the American association this yar. Columbus has signed him.

Charles (Lefty) Marr, once a member of the Cincinnati Reds and later in the old American association, died recently at his home in New Britain, Conn.

At its meeting in Cincinnati when it took in four former Ohio-Pennsylvania league towns, the Central also adopted a $2,000 a month salary limit.

Mobile in the Southern league is reported to have signed Joe Flannery, third baseman, who was with Waterbury in the Connecticut league last year.

The New Orleans team will sail for Panama on Feb. 5. Fifteen men will make the trip, the rest of Manager Frank's squad being left at home to work out.

Pitcher Drohan secured last season by Providence from Oklahoma City, but out of the game much last year because of illness, has been secured by St. Joseph.

There is something in a name in the Northwestern league. Hitt batted .314 and Rapps .279. Following up the inquiry, it is found that Fanning only hit for .176.

Harry Tracy, under suspension by La Crosse for jumping to a California independent team, will be reinstated and sold, as several clubs have made offers for him.

George Rounds, the old Western league catcher, is in the real estate business up in the Ontario Porcupine country and doubtless piling up wealth while the boom days are on.

Manager Mike Finn of Mobile has made Manager Frank of New Orleans an offer for Outfielder Hickey, who was secured by the New Orleans club from the Connecticut league.

Charles R. Maldoon, formerly a pitcher and outfielder with several teams in Pennsylvania circuits, died recently at his home in Washington, Pa., of tuberculosis, aged 32 years.

Bill Coughlin will be back at Reading this season. He might have had the management of Jersey City, it is said, but he tarried too long and Larry Schlefly jumped into the gap.

Hugh McBreen, former secretary of the Red Sox, becomes a magnate after all. He has paid $15,000 for an interest in the Jersey City club and has already bet Fred Lake of Providence tha the Skeeters will beat the Clams out.

Manager Jack Dunn of Baltimore takes about as much pride in his champion bird dog Benstone which has been winning all the field trials as he would in an International league pennant.

On hearing that Happy Jim Crangle had bought an independent team at Sterling, Ill., President Elliott of the La Crosse club, which has his contract, announced that he would suspend him.

President Charles F. Moll of the Wisconsin-Illinois league is reminded of the adage, "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush," if the American association can be termed a "bush" league.

The Illinois-Missouri league faces the necessity of supplying a couple of vacancies, as Taylorville has forfeited its franchise and Lincoln has announced that it is all in. Pontiac and Streator are possible members.

Joe Lewis, for three years manager of the Marion team of the Ohio State league, has been made manager of the Paris team of the Blue Grass league, succeeding Ed McKernon, who goes to Battle Creek, Mich.

Delay in closing the deal for sale of the Wheeling club, with the consequent failure to name a manager and secure players, is likely to seriously handicap that member of the Central league family in getting a good start.

Jesse Tannehill has landed as an outfielder with the South Bend team of the Central league. He will play left; Eddie Coffey, bought from Fort Wayne will be in center, and Bates, secured from Terre Haute, will be in right.

Tom Hayden, the Burlington magnate and chief champion of a low salary limit in the Central association, has just paid $14,000 for a 200-acre farm in Southwestern Missouri. Evidently there is one baseball magnate who has business judgment.

If not one Cross then another seems to be the rule with the Haverhill club of the New England league. After letting Monte go that he might assist Bobby Wallace with the St. Louis Browns, the Haverhill owners signed Lave as manager.

Darby O'Brien, who has been manager of the Duluth team for several years, is an applicant for the same position with Mansfield, now in the Ohio State league. Walter East would also like the place if he can arrange it. East formerly managed Akron.

President Lewis of the Cotton States league thinks all the clubs of the league will be on hand with their forfeits at the meeting called for Jan. 20 except, possibly, Yazoo City, and in case that club does not renew its franchise, Laurel stands ready to take it.

Six members of last season's independent team at Madison, Ind., will get league trials this year. Third Baseman Herman Beaker goes to Oklahoma City, Outfielder Grover More to Chattanooga, Pitchers Otter and Broadwell to Indianapolis, and two others to Greenwood, Miss.

Since the Southern league and Western league are left alone in Class A, it has been suggested that the pennant winners of the coming season meet in the fall to decide the championship of that class. But it's a long trip from Denver to New Orleans (apologies to fourteen other clubs.)

Arthur Riggs, who operates a personally conducted, privately owned ball team after the fashion of Lew Dockstader's minstrels, announces that he stands read to put it in the new Western association circuit, but word from Huntsville, Ala., is that Riggs is expected to return there for a season's stand.

The Norfolk club of the Virginia league, it is announced, has been purchased by Dr. J. R. McCreary of Norfolk and Charles Shaffer. Doubt over the owners of the club has led to intimations of syndicate ball in the Virginia league and those charges will now be hushed. Shaffer as manager and part owner is already hustling for players.

The Elmira club of the New York State league has sold Second Baseman Wanner to Omaha. Wanner did little work for Elmira last year. The year before he was with Memphis and complained because he wanted to go North. When he got North he wanted to be somewhere else. Now that he goes West he may decide that he prefers the East.

President Fitzgerald of the Canadian league has awarded the London franchise to those opposing the claim of Business Manager Minhinnick. The latter, it is held, had no claim to ownership, his part being that of promoter, for which he received his reward in a position paying him $100 a month during the season of 1911. Those who financed the club are given full title.

Joe Mathes, the youngster drafted from Butte by the Portland Coast club has made good as a letter writer, and as a result will get a chance to make good as a player. It was announced that Portland would send him down to the Portland Northwestern league team, but he protested so vigorously that Manager McCredie decided to keep him with the coast team until he had a chance to show.

ADAPTS AUTOMOBILE FOR USE ON THE ICE

A new auto-sled has been invented by Fred Waters of Red Bank and is being used by him on the Shrewsbury river. He has taken an automible chassis and mounted the front on two runners. On the rear wheels he has arranged sixteen sharp steel plates which furnish propelling power. The motor of the auto is a 22½-horse power. With this ice-scooter, as he calls it, Mr. Waters has made a mile a minute. He has shown that the machine is of practical value by attaching a plow to the front and clearing the snow from the ice on the Shrewsbury so as to make a clear track for the ice boats.

CREWS MAY ENTER OLYMPIC GAMES

New York, Jan. 20.—An All-American crew for the Olympic games at Stockholm next summer is the latest idea of the committee in charge of this country's athletic representation in 1912. While the plan is only tentative as yet, it appeals so strongly to the members of the committee that unless insurmountable obstacles arise it appears certain that the United States will have crews in the Olympic meet.

According to the official program of the Olympic games there will be four events open to the amateur oarsmen of the world at Stockholm during the big meet to be held next summer. Eights, fours and single sculls contests are provided for and all the races will be rowed over distance of 2,000 meters, which is approximately one and one-quarter miles.

These four races will be rowed on July 18 and 19, and the entries must be in the hands of the Swedish Olympic committee not later than May 18, or just two months before the regatta is rowed. The rules provide that no country shall enter more than two crews for one event and that the personnel of such crews shall be in the hands of the committee on July 1. The countries entering crews have the privilege of entering either of the combinations on the day of the regatta.

Many Oarsmen Available.

These conditions appear to provide excellent facilities for the entry of high-class rowing combinations from this country, and the American committee feels that the United States should be represented in these races as well as on the track and field. It is with this in mind that the members have sounded rowing sentiment and are now prepared to proceed with the formation of both eights and fours for the international regatta.

It is proposed to select from the college oarsmen, who have been graduated within two or three years, a squad of candidates and set them at work with the ultimate view of forming at least one eight and one four to compete at the Stockholm regatta. The members of the American Olympic committee who will in all probability be delegated to arrange the details of the plan, will be Col. Robert M. Thompson, president of the New York Athletic club, Julian W. Curtiss, the former Yale university oarsman and now a member of the advisory board, and James Pilkington, president of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen.

It is understood that Col. Thompson will offer the training facilities of the New York Athletic club in case the amateur and varsity oarsmen show a disposition to enter into the scheme and will agree to try for the crews. Coach Eugene Ginannia of the Mercury Foot club is said to be in favor of the plan and will offer his services as coach and will oversee the early training work of the candidates on the machines at the New York A. C. crew quarters.

The plan appears feasible and should meet with the hearty co-operation of the oarsmen who have figured prominently in the varsity regattas at Poughkeepsie and New London during the past few years. Since the distance to be rowed is but one and a quarter miles, the training should not be as severe as in the case when eights are preparing for the long four-mile contests which mark the close of the college rowing season. There are a number of former oarsmen who have sat on the sides of varsity eights at Cornell, Harvard, Columbia and Yale in this city at the present time who could regain perfect physical rowing condition between now and June without interfering with their regular business duties.

Of the nine crews that competed in the varsity four and eight races at Poughkeepsie last June, almost every shell contained one or more oarsmen who was rowing his last race as a college sweep swinger. To be accurate eleven men finished their varsity athletic careers when they stepped out of the shells at the training quarters after the contests. At New London the proportion was not so large, but Yale and Harvard could furnish four or five excellent oarsmen for such a project.

Amateur Club Field.

There is also the amateur rowing club field to be considered and from the two it should be possible to secure from 20 to 30 high class oarsmen for the plan proposed by the rowing element in the American Olympic committee. None of the prospective candidates are in actual training at present, and there would be a wide divergence of style and method of watermanship when they first stepped into the shells, but those are drawbacks that could be overcome if the plans mature within the next month or two.

An American crew winning an international regatta at the 1912 Olympiad would please the followers of sport in general more than almost any other victory at Stockholm. In track and field the American athlete has for some years set the pace for the world; the same cannot be said of aquatic sports. The Vesper Rowing club eight of Philadelphia, entered as the N. A. A. O. American crew, won the International Exposition regatta prize for eight-oared crews on the River Seine at Paris, France, on Aug. 16, 1900. In the 70's a Columbia university four won at the Henley, Eng., regatta, but the other crew invasions of Europe have been unsuccessful. Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania and Cornell crews all tried but never pulled through to victory, although in several cases the eights reached the final rounds of the regattas.

MOST ATHLETES FEAR RESULTS OF STALENESS

By Walter H. Eckersall.

It is not always the team with the best players that comes out on top in an athletic contest. Of course, the element of luck plays its part in all games, but most of all the conditions of the contestants is the determining factor. Men are trained differently for football, basket ball, track and baseball, and a trainer seldom handles two men alike.

The successful physical advisor realizes that it is just as dangerous for an athlete to be overtrained as undertrained. Every trainer is careful that his men do not go "stale." By "stale" is meant that the athlete no longer feels the keen desire to take part in coming contests, and when he does enter the struggle plays in a listless manner, no matter how hard he tries to overcome it.

Sometimes an athlete, when it comes to the final effort, is unable to make the great effort required to win. He has played in topnotch form until this moment, and yet when it is most needed he is not equal to the emergency. The rooters are sore and ready to "knock" the man who a short time before had been their favorite. It was not his fault—he had done his best. It was the fault of the trainer. The man had become "stale." He was overtrained and his muscles would not respond.

What Trainers Fear.

Trainers fear this thing more than having a man undertrained. Different trainers have different methods of overcoming the tendency to go "stale," and also to get a man back into condition after he has gone "stale." When a football player has gone "stale" some trainers order him to stay away from the football field and training quarters for at least a week. The player sometimes is ordered to break training and eat, drink and smoke just as if the season were not on. Then when he begins training again he is more or less out of condition, and is put through the same system of training as if he were just beginning the season. In this manner he is whipped into condition again for the important struggles.

Trainers must be careful not to get a team "on edge" for a big game too soon. Football teams from the larger institutions are often held to small scores by teams from smaller colleges early in the season because they have not reached their height of development. Then when the big games come, near the close of the season, these elevens from the major colleges will defeat teams far more formidable than their early season adversaries.

The outsider who simply compares scores will often put the weaker team from the small college alongside the elevens from the larger institutions and try to claim that such a team is nearly their equal, when, if the eleven from the big school and small school had met later in the season, the larger school team would have won by a one-sided count. But this is not always true.

Men are trained differently for different events. The sprinter receives different attention from the trainer than do the distance runner. The weight man's muscles are different from those of the runners, although in many cases athletes are good in both. Garrels of Michigan and Merrill of Beloit were excellent types of all-around athletes. Some men can stand more training than others, and the trainer must study these men to see that they get enough, but not too much work.

It often depends on a man's condition at the start of the season whether he is worked hard or not. If a man is fat and too heavy he is driven hard, and yet when it is under weight the trainer studies his diet and tries to build him up. Then there is that class of athletes who always are in condition, and these men are the hardest to train. The trainer has to watch them closely to prevent them from going "stale" when he or they least expect it.

Must Help Self.

The best trainer in the world cannot get athletes in shape unless they do their part. If a man comes out to practice, but doesn't keep regular hours and dissipates on the sly, it is not the trainer's fault, although he usually is blamed. Trainers generally report such breaches of training to the coaches, and if needful discipline prevails those men are relegated to the bench and substitutions made until the offenders display indications of doing the right thing.

One of the worst evils against which trainers have to contend is the sprains received by athletes in their boyhood and prep school contests. High school athletes seldom dress properly for football. They do not have suits with pads properly adjusted, and they do not have the proper kind of bandages, or even no bandages at all. Their shoes are not properly cleated; therefore they slip and sprains often result that trouble them all through their athletic careers. Often the field of play is not properly smoothed, and the players sprain their ankles and knees while running. These injuries are serious and troublesome, and the trainer has many such cases to contend with.

FOUNDER OF THE BOY SCOUTS

Gen. Baden-Powell Starts on Tour of World in Interest of Movement—Rare "Old Masters" at Royal Academy Exhibition.

London, Jan. 20.—Gen. Sir Robert Baden-Powell, who won fame as the defender of Mafeking during the South African war, and the founder of the Boy Scout movement, to advance which he retired from the army, has started on a tour of the world in the interest of the organization.

The central idea of the hour is to consolidate the movement throughout the empire, to co-ordinate it as a great imperial organization and to standardize the method of management as far as possible. As the tour necessitates Sir Robert passing through America and other countries, he will attend meetings in the interests of the Scouts in those countries.

Sir Robert proceeded first to the West Indies to visit the Barbadoes, Trinidad and Colon, and while in Panama will visit the canal works. New York will be reached about Jan. 31, and thence the tour takes him to, among other cities, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, Cincinnati, Chicago, San Francisco and Seattle. From the latter port the general will take steamer for Japan, where, under a promise made to Gen. Nogi, an effort will be made to start the Boy Scout movement in Japan. Gen. Baden-Powell has previously visited Canada. The Scouts have made wonderful progress in England and the Colonies. In the United Kingdom alone there are a million members, 60,000 having been enrolled last year. The Royal Scouts' association has just been incorporated under royal charter.

There are still a few "Old Masters" left in England's homes despite the oftrepeated cry that American and German collectors are depleting England of the works of art that an earlier generation brought together.

The exhibition arranged by the council of the royal academy bears testimony to this. There are some pictures, loaned from private collections, which might almost be said to have been rediscovered, they have been so long hidden away, and a long list of masterpieces, none of which were seen at the previous shows.

Among those that American collectors might look upon with envy are two from the private collection of Miss Driver, the "St. Francis of Assisi," standing with arms outstretched, by Giovanni Bellini, and the "Descent from the Cross," by Gerard David. Both these pictures were last seen at the Manchester exhibition in 1857, and their whereabouts were unknown until sent by Miss Driver to the present exhibition. Others that Americans might bid for, if there was a suggestion that they were for sale, are a small panel by Mantegna and a group of three Rembrandts, sent by Mr. A. R. Boughton-Knight. The Rembrandts represent the famous painter's earliest and latest work.

Because of a misunderstood army form, 20,000 reservists were on the point of mobilizing at Aldershot recently, and a London newspaper added to the excitement by publishing a news item to that effect.

The situation was due to a general misunderstanding of Army Form D 461, which was announced by the military authorities some time ago as the medium by which the reservists who would in the natural course of events be called on for service on the first call were apprised of that fact. In order that there should be the least possible delay when the order was given, it was announced that the form would be accompanied by a railway warrant to pass the reservist to his allotted station and postal order for subsistence money during the journey.

Every precaution was taken by the war office to instruct the men that the orders were to be cashed only in case of mobilization, but some of the reservists failed to read or understand their instructions, and a number of the orders were cashed and attempts were made to get railway passes to Aldershot. The affair has kept the war office busy explaining the mistake and denying sensational rumors of impending war.

One of the strongest points in the argument against the grant of the suffrage to women is the fact that in the United Kingdom women outnumber men, and that to give them the vote would mean handing the government of the country over to them, a revolution that anti-suffragists say would be too serious to contemplate.

An official estimate of males and females of 25 years and over in the United Kingdom, excluding aliens, paupers and other persons disqualified for enrollment as parliamentary voters, places the number of males at 10,107,000 and that of females at 11,319,000 in 1912, and by 1916 it is estimated that the members would be 10,480,000 and 11,729,000 respectively.

The professional London beggar can earn more every day than the average British workingman. This is the conclusion of W. Fitzgerald Arbuthnot, secretary of the London Mendicity society, which is completing an investigation into the subject. The secretary estimated that the average takings of the street beggar amounts to $1.25 a day.

It is said that begging is not so well organized as formerly. A few years ago the beggars met and arranged their respective stations so that their territories should not overlap, but the competition has now become so keen that little attention is paid to these former vested rights.

FOOD PRICES WAY UP.

New York Sees Unprecedented Advance for This Season.

New York, Jan. 20.—The prices of foodstuffs of almost every kind is up again in New York to record figures and indications are, dealers say, that the top notch has not yet been reached. No explanation is given for the advances, which are said to be without precedent at this season of the year. The principal increases are as follows:

Beef, 2½ to 3 cents a pound; lambs, 2½ to 3¼ cents; poultry, 3 to 4 cents; cheese, 2 cents; potatoes, 25 cents to $1 a barrel; eggs, 5 cents dozen. Vegetables of all sorts, including the canned products, has advanced. Butter is selling at 48 cents a pound wholesale. The only reduction excepted is in the price of eggs.

GETS $7,639 DAMAGES FOR LOSS OF SPLEEN.

New York, Jan. 20.—Arthur Gallo, a young machinist, has been awarded $7,639 by the appellate division of the supreme court for the loss of his spleen, which, it was alleged, will limit his life to five years.

A surgeon was forced to cut out Gallo's spleen because of injuries received in falling off a building. He sued the owner of the building for $50,000 damages. Dr. Joseph J. Higgins, who performed the operation, testified that many medical authorities are firm in the belief that a man ordinarily dies within five years after removal of his spleen.

"Spleen is an unknown quantity to medical men," Dr. Higgins said. "It is supposed to make blood cells, but no one knows. It is medical authority that a man lives only five years after losing it."

THREE ACQUITTED OF SMUGGLING CHINESE.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Gordon Ferris, Frank Walsh and Moy Sing were found not guilty in the United States district court on a charge of having smuggled Chinese into the country from Windsor, Ont. Walsh was rearrested after the verdict was read on advices from the Detroit police that he is wanted there to answer a charge of forgery and receiving stolen property.

For Curlers Only

THE FIRESIDE CLARION

Hon! Soit Qui Mal y Pense

Published daily for one week only at The Duluth Herald Office. Not edited by anybody. Responsible to nobody. Opposed to everybody. An independent paper agin the government. Policy—"When a head shows, crack it." Office—By fireside at Curling rink.

"RON" SMITH

"Ron" Smith Springs a New One.

"Ron" Smith was down at the rink this morning trying to force everybody in sight to listen to his "new Scotch story." The Clarion editor was forced to listen out of common courtesy. Here's the story, if anybody wants to hear it again:

There was a new Scotch recruit in an English army. He was placed on sentry duty outside the tent of the general. During the night the Scotchman suffered from the cold, and crept inside the tent and lay down beside the general, pulling part of the blanket over himself.

"Who are you " yelled the general, suddenly awakening.

"Fine," said the Scotchman, "Hoo's yousel'?"

Its not much of a story, but "Ron" likes it.

Curling for Women.

"Should women curl?"

The Fireside Clarion, as the official paper of the curling interests, proposes to take up this vital subject, and handle it fearlessly and impartially. There are many sides to the question, and it is not one to be handled lightly. It affects the entire future of the game. Shall it degenerate from "the comin' game" of old to an aenaemic pink tea affair, or shall it continue to thrive as a game of the Henry George type?

Interviews were secured from many of the prominent curlers at the rink this morning.

"No, by the granite rocks of Aberdeen, no," said "Mac" Rochon, when asked if he thought women should curl. "That is going too far. I don't mind women throwing eggs at an English prime minister, or running for office, or voting. I'll trail along with them when they serve as jurors or policemen, or health inspectors. I'm with the emancipation of women movement to any reasonable extent, but when it comes to women curling I stand like the immovable rock of Gibralter, lifting my right arm toward the heavens, and waving the broom of freedom aloft while there still remains breath within my lungs, shouting 'no.' Bar the women from the curling game, say I, unless they want to curl."

"The woman's place is in the home," said Tucker of Pardeeville. "The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world, and what is so sweet as the picture of a woman bending over a cradle. Can you imagine a breathless woman running down the ice with her hair streaming loose, and shouting 'Soop 'er up, gosh ding you, soop 'er up.'"

Rockwood of Portage was inclined to sidestep the issue. "I do not care to be quoted hastily on this subject," he said. "I would just as soon see a woman curling if she wants to curl, but when switches all prepared are so cheap as they are now, why not buy one insead?"

Morrison of Winnipeg is accompanied by Mrs. Morrison and refused to be quoted.

Seriously: The matter of curling for women has proven a great success in Canada. At Winnipeg the women have their regular games just as the men have theirs.

They meet for their games in the morning and afternoon. After the game they meet in the clubrooms for tea and a social chat.

They even have a bonspiel once a year with trophies for the winners The women use stanes, weighing from 25 to 28 pounds and many of them know quite as much about the game as do the men.

The women have formed as a sort of auxiliary to the different clubs and they have many a good time playing the roarin' game and talking about it afterwards.

Ono Winnipeg man stated this morning that so enthusiastic is his wife over curling that she won't allow dinner to be served until by the aid of foot stools and chairs she has explained the wonderful shots and combinations of the morning contest.

When the new Duluth rink is completed with its twenty-four sheets of ice, the Zenith City curlers expect to inaugurate curling for women. It is thought that the game would prove popular among Duluth women.

A Local Bonspiel.

After the present bonspiel is over the Duluth curlers will hold a local bonspiel.

It is planned to have as many rinks entered as possible and make it strictly a local affair.

An effort will be made to drag the persistent members of the Fireside rinks out on the ice so that it will be apparent to all that they don't know nearly as much about curling as they think they do.

The older members of the rink will have an opportunity to put into practice some of the wonderful shots and combinations they have been talking about for so long.

An entry fee of $1 a rink will be required and the proceeds of the 'spiel will be turned over to charity.

The matter was being talked up at the rink this morning and immediately found favor. A committee will soon be appointed to take charge of the affair.

Broomstraws.

The finals of the St. Paul Jobbers' event may be taken to Winnipeg for the finish. Chisholm is of the Granite club and Rochon is of the Thistles. The St. Paul event is now between crack representatives of the two clubs.

• • •

Rochon leads for the grand aggregate with 13 games won out of 14 played. Chisholm has won 10 games out of 11 played, and as he has several more games to play there is a possibility of tying with Rochon. Either way, the two Winnipeg skips will have the grand aggregate to divide between them. The Winnipeg men played in great form at the local spiel and they are surely entitled to the honor they won.

This is the third time Rochon has won the grand aggregate. Last year Dunbar won it and the year before that Harry Hurdon of Duluth was the winner.

Already Duluth curlers are talking about sending rinks to the great Winnipeg bonspiel which begins on Feb. 8. Ron McLeod, Ron Smith, Harry Hurdon, Steve Jones, F. W. Hargreaves and others are talking about making up rinks to enter the contest. Some of the rinks may be composed of Superior and West Duluth curlers. There will be about 300 rinks entered in the spiel. Bill Shaver says he thinks his wife will let him go. He says that he can look over some land or something like that.

The Scottish curlers will be in attendance at the Winnipeg event. The bonspiel will cost the city of Winnipeg at least $15,000. Recently $5,000 was voted for the entertainment of the Scottish curlers. There are forty ices at Winnipeg, making it easy to get the games played off quickly.

How Cassidy and Rochon hate gold watches. They have won so many of them that they use them for children's playthings.

• • •

We apologize to "Hal" Rockwood of Portage for leaving out of the Clarion today his excellent article on "What's Curling 'Tween Friends," which he so kindly contributed. It was nice of Hal and we like him, but——. We had better add that it was left in the overset and that today ends the Clarion or he might come around and force us to it. Our advice to Hal is that he'd better stick to curlin'.

• • •

Now about poetry. We don't want to make anybody mad, but we are quite capable of writing all the poetry necessary for the Clarion. The editor is not stong on poetry, anyway. The one turned in by Tucker was rotten. Tucker had better, by far, hang to the nursery business. We like Tucker. He is a nice, fat, good natured, chap and he is kind and gentle and all that. But—— we don't want to prejudice his friends against him by printing his alleged poetry. Besides, we don't believe he wrote it.

• • •

The editor of the Clarion got so tired watching the curlers curl that he just naturally had to sneak off and take a rest for them yesterday. We apologize. We wanted to assert our independence, anyway. We don't have to get out a paper when we don't feel like it. We didn't yesterday.

• • •

Here's to the success of the bonspiel at Winnipeg and the one at Portage. We hope Hal Rockwood has to work his head off during the one at Portage, just as we did while Hal was having such a good time.

• • •

She was a grand ol' week, eh?

Thistledown.

"Jack" Haig of Winnipeg has "went" home. We hope Jack had a good time in Duluth because we like him and want him to come again. Gee, it'll be lonesome without you, old scout!

• • •

Rt. Rev. Col. O'Grady will leave tonight for Winnipeg, his home. He will go around by Minneapolis where he will purchase a trophy "won at the Duluth 'spiel." It is stated that he is afraid to go home without something to show for the trip. The colonel makes up in good fellowship what he lacks in Scotch and we have enjoyed having him here. Come over again, colonel, and bring your work.

• • •

Nell sticks for the finish. Old Boy Nell is still on the job and he says you couldn't drive him out of Duluth before Monday evening even though you get all the king's oxen and all the king's men.

• • •

"Daddy" Wells, the famous Portage man will stay for the windup. Dad says he hasn't had so much fun since the rebellion.

• • •

Stewart of St. Paul has taken his smiling countenance to St. Paul with him. He told local curlers that it is needed in the vicinity of his office.

• • •

McIvor and Sime of Port Arthur are still here. They don't want to go home. There isn't anyone who wants them to go. McIvor was talking about getting out today but Sime told him melodramatically that it would be only over his dead body, by gum!

PROSPEROUS YEAR AHEAD

J. M. Gidding Is Enthusiastic Over Presidential Year Outlook.

"Political conditions have been discounted and the feeling is general through the Middle West and the East that we will have the best presidential year in business we have ever had," said J. M. Gidding of J. M. Gidding & Co. today. Mr. Gidding has just returned from the East and is enthusiastic over the business prospects for the year.

"We will have a good spring," he said, "and it will show up proportionately better than usual. During the last year, merchants and business interests generally were conservative There has been no overstocking, obligations are less than usual and a good spring business will make an appreciable showing in the business world.

"A Duluth man connected with large affairs told me on the train that his interests would have an active year. Other Duluth interests have the same plans and although Duluth's growth has been anticipated to some extent, Duluth is equal to it and will come through the year prosperous and progressive."

GEORGE H. GALLUP IS DISCHARGED

George H. Gallup, arrested several days ago on a charge of perjury in connection with the recent trial of the suit of Adelmar Snyder against John F. McCarthy, was discharged by Judge Cutting after a preliminary examination in police court this morning.

The court stated that not only was the complaint not properly drawn, but that it did not appear to him that Gallup had wilfully testified falsely. The action out of which the prosecution arose was brought by Snyder to recover about $33,000 alleged to be due as commissions in a land deal.

NO INCENDIARISM IN TWO HARBORS FIRE.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles E. Keller, state fire marshal, is home from Two Harbors, Minn., where he has been investigating the fire that destroyed the Clifton hotel and caused the incineration of Amy Anderson, a domestic, Jan. 15. Mr. Keller said he believed that the fire was caused by defective wiring and no incendiarism was apparent.

LA FOLLETTE PLANS EARLY MARCH TOUR.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Senator Robert M. La Follette will take his presidential candidacy West, poossibly as far as the coast, on a trip that will start early in March. Plans for the trip are now being perfected in the La Follette headquarters here. It is certain he will be heard in the Dakotas, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma.

The senator is said to be especially anxious to get his campaign under way in Kansas, which state he regards as highly favorable to his candidacy.

ST. PAUL-ROCHESTER-RED WING TROLLEY ASSURED.

Rochester, Minn., Jan. 20.—Senator A. T. Stebbins, president of the Interurban Construction company, has received a cablegram from the company's agent in Europe, which states that European capital is available for the building of an electric line from St. Paul to Rochester and Red Wing. It is understood the capitalists will take $3,000,000 worth of the bonds.

RAILROADS

DECISION IN TAP LINE CASES WILL BE DELAYED.

Washington, Jan. 20.—While the investigation of the so-called "tap line cases" has been completed, the interstate commerce commission has found it impossible to reach a final decision of all the questions involved by Feb. 1—the date to which the proposed tariffs were suspended. The main line railroads therefore voluntarily have withdrawn the tariffs cancelling allowances to tap lines until May 1. Meantime the commission will reach and announce its decision, in which it will lay down general principles to govern the payment of allowances to tap lines.

TAKE NO EGGS IN ZERO WEATHER

Railroads Explain Refusal to Carry Perishable Freight to Cities.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 20. — Special to The Herald.) — Complaints from persons living in the northern part of the state that the railroads are refusing to bring them perishable freight or take their shipments to market, caused the state railroad and warehouse commission to hale a dozen operating officials before it today and make an explanation.

Since the cold wave landed merchants have been denied transportation for eggs to the Twin City markets, and livestock likewise has been refused.

Within fifteen minutes after the hearing opened the commission had been told by a St. Paul operating official that when the temperature got down as low as 5 deg. below zero, they cut off movement of all perishable freight, insofar as possible. A few moments later an official of the Omaha line said zero was the point of demarkation on his line.

"If it were 10 deg below zero, would your road haul eggs to St. Paul?" Commissioner C. F. Staples asked G. A. Vandyke, superintendent of the St. Paul's terminals in Minneapolis.

"No, sir." Mr. Vandyke replied, "I don't think we would."

"Well, does that mean that for the last two weeks there have been no eggs brought to St. Paul by your line"

"That's partly so."

"Why do you fix 5 deg. below zero as the point at which perishable freight shall be refused?"

"Because we can hardly protect it below that."

"Do you have a published rule in your tariffs, fixing it there?"

"No, sir, we have not."

The commission will endeavor to fix a rule.

NO TIME FOR POETS.

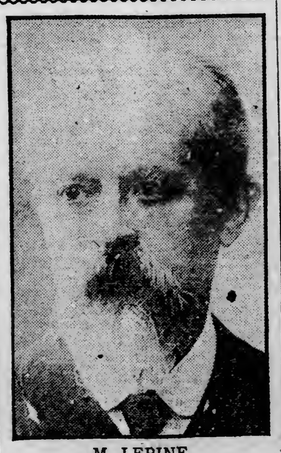

Los Angeles Times: "The late Frank Work," said a New York horseman, "was a great reader of standard books —Dickens, Wilkie Collins, Howells, etc —but had no time for poetry.

'I remember hearing a young lady once say to Mr. Work at a garden party:

"'It must be fine to be a poet!'

"'It certainly ought to be fine—fine or imprisonment,' said Mr. Work, with a gruff laugh."

COMING RETIREMENT TICKLES PARIS CROOKS

M. LEPINE,
Prefect of Police of Paris.

The rogues of Paris are rejoicing over the probable retirement of M. Lepine, the prefect of police. M. Lepine has announced his candidacy for the chamber of deputies from St. Etienne, and has made a severe attack on office holders. M. Lepine has held what is regarded as the most delicate post in France, with great distinction, and the question of his successor is one of the leading questions in Paris just now.

FRANCHISE IS OPPOSED

Citizens Do Not Want Railroad Tracks on Lesure Street.

Commercial Club Asks for Better Mail Service for West Duluth.

At the regular meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club last evening, the members passed a resolution of protest against the granting of the right-of-way on Lesure street to the Northern Pacific railroad. The committee was instructed to be present at the council meeting Monday evening and to fight the proposition. The members on the committee are: Emil J. Zauft, Louis Ramsted, Thomas Olafson, W. B. Getchell and L. A. Barnes.

Another resolution passed last evening requests better mail service for West Duluth and a communication will be sent next week to Postmaster A. P. Cook telling of the situation in West Duluth and the decision reached by the club members at last night's meeting. The plan suggested last evening and which is to be recommended to Postmaster Cook is that arrangements should be made with the Duluth Street railway to carry mail pouches between Duluth and West Duluth. Only the Eastern mail is included in this plan and a later mailing of letters to Chicago will then be allowed the business men.

In the report made last evening by the park committee the club members found that in the condemnation proceedings for additional land to Fairmont park, the plat included two blocks belonging to the Duluth & Winnipeg right-of-way. The committee was instructed to bring the subject before the park board and to have these two blocks stricken from the original property list.

No action was taken on the annual banquet and the matter will be brought up at regular meeting next Friday evening. L. A. Barnes said this morning that the delay was caused by the large amount of business transacted at the meeting last evening.

MEETINGS OF BOTH PARTIES

Political Gatherings Planned for the Eighth Ward.

H. A. Carmichael, city campaign manager for Dr. J. A. McCuen, Republican candidate for mayor, will be the principal speaker this evening at a meeting of the West Duluth Republican club to be held at the Commercial clubrooms. Plans will be outlined for the ward campaign and the chairman and captains appointed and talks will be given by Emil J. Zauft, candidate for alderman of the Eighth ward, and Clement de Roche, candidate for alderman in the Seventh ward.

The West Duluth Democrats will also meet this evening and arrange the plans for the ward campaign. They will meet at W. B. Getchell's real estate office and talks will be given by Alderman Bernard, candidate for reelection in the Seventh ward, and P. H. Martin, candidate for alderman in the Eighth ward. Plans will be made for a grand caucus to be held the early part of next week at which Mayor Cullum will be asked to speak.

BOTH WANT NEW POLICE STATION

New Duluth and Gary Rivals in Contest for Building.

New Duluth and Gary, suburbs of Duluth, are both seeking the much-talked of police station recently voted for New Duluth by the city council. Gary has been placed in the running this week by the announcement that Chief of Police Troyer will recommend Gary as the better site for the station. It is claimed that Gary is more centrally located and best fitted to be the headquarters of the police business of the western suburbs.

New Duluth has already been awarded the station by the city council and a site has been chosen for the new building. The residents there will undoubtedly object to any change in the site.

FARMER SECURES VERDICT AGAINST FATHER-IN-LAW.

Matt Soujanen, who brought suit against his father-in-law, Thomas Johnson, to recover $1,350, claimed to be due as wages, was given a verdict of $275 by a jury in district court before Judge Cant yesterday afternoon. Both are farmers who reside near Midway. The suit is a culmination of a quarrel of long standing.

NEW HOME FOR TEMPERANCE SOCIETY.

The West Duluth Swedish-Finnish Temperance society will begin work this spring on their new home on the 50-foot lot bought last fall from the West Duluth & Duluth Transfer company at Fifty-fourth avenue west, between Ramsey and Wadena streets. The first floor of the building will be used for store purposes and the second floor will be arranged for the members of the society. The organization is a large one having over 200 members in this end of the city.

A. O. U. W. Installation.

West Duluth lodge, No. 145, A. O. U. W., and the Degree of Honor lodge, No. 85, held a joint installation of officers at Gilley's hall last evening. Grand Foreman J. A. Schumacher conducted the ceremonies following which a dinner was served and a dance held by those present. The officers installed for the year are:

West Duluth lodge—J. W. Smith, M. W.; John Crawford, F.; Emil Conradson, O.; Hathan Hall, recorder; J. J. Moran, financial secretary; M. J. Fillatrault, treasurer; H. Defoe, G.; Mr. Peterson, W.

Degree of Honor—Mrs. H. Defoe, C.; Mrs. Hilda Pollock, P. C.; Mrs. Philomine Ganeau, C of L.; Mrs. Elsie West, L.; Mrs. Hannah Melin, financier; Mrs. Anna Collins, receiver; Mrs. Nellie Brotherton, recorder; Mrs. J. J. Ganley, W.; Lena Rivett and Lillian Nevella, ushers.

WEST DULUTH BOYS WOULD STUDY COOKING.

Many boys at the Industrial high school have become so interested in the girls' department that they are planning to ask for the establishment of a cooking class for boys during the next semester of the school year. Many of the boys go camping during the summer and now are anxious to learn the rudiments of the cooking art.

Miss Irene Walker, head of the department, in an interview said that she would be willing to teach the boys and thinks it is a wise plan for them to learn. She has shown a number of them how to make fudge and rarebits in the past and believes that the study of plain cooking also would be valuable to them.

New Duluth Sunday School.

Rev. W. L. Southerland, Sunday school superintendent of the Northern Minnesota district of Congregational churches, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee of Woodland, will organize a Sunday school at the Mayflower Congregational church of New Duluth tomorrow afternoon. In the evening he will conduct a special gospel service.

K. O. T. M. Installation.

The installation of the officers of West Duluth tent, No. 2, K. O. T. M., has been postponed to Monday evening and will be held at the Great Eastern hall at 8 o'clock. Grand Commander Edward Hass of St. Paul will conduct the ceremonies, which are to be followed by a dinner and dance open to the public. Among those who are to speak during the evening are: Senator G. R. Laybourn, Great Past Commander George Mallory and Sir Knight Alex Stewart.

New Ice Company.

Articles of incorporation for the Proctor Ice company were filed this morning with the register of deeds. The company is capitalized for $25,000 and the incorporators are: Alexander Braden of Proctor, Elmer F. Blu of Duluth and H. H. Peyton of Proctor.

An amendment to the articles of incorporation by the Scott-Kreidler company of West Duluth was placed on record this morning, changing the name of the concern to The Scott company.

Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Warmock, 5710 Nicollet street, last evening celebrated the twentieth anniversary of their wedding day and about thirty of their West Duluth friends were entertained at a reception. Following an evening of music and games a light supper was served to the following: Messrs. and Mesdames Thomas Brain, J. F. Lee, William McCarthy, Siggier Olson, Mendelson, Charles Johnson, Sweet, Jenson, L. S. Larson, Mrs. McDowell and Bernice Olsen and Horace Stewart.

Wolf Funeral.

The funeral of George Wolf, 49 years old, who died Thursday evening at St. Luke's hospital after a week's illness, was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the Richter undertaking rooms. The body will be taken this evening to Fall Creek, Ill., for interment. Mr. Wolf was a worker at the steel plant when he was taken ill about a week ago. He leaves a widow and four children in Fall Creek.

Engagement.

Mr. and Mrs. Elzear Baudin, 515 North Fifty-eighth avenue west, this morning announced the engagement of their daughter, Rachel, to Adelard Gagnon of West Duluth. Both are well known in this end of the city and have a host of friends. The wedding will take place the early part of next week at the home of Miss Baudin's parents. They will make their home in West Duluth after their marriage.

West Duluth Briefs.

The Girls' Society of Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church was entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Christ Erickson, 319 North Fifty-second avenue west.

Miss Agnes Harrington of Worthington, Minn., is a guest of West Duluth relatives this week.

Miss Helen Froman of St. Paul will leave this evening for her home after spending the past week at the home of Mrs. C. G. Wilson of Fifty-fourth avenue west.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the West Duluth Baptist church gave a free social last evening at the home of Mrs. T. B Jones, 610 North Fifty-sixth avenue west.

Mrs. Dean Holt of Virginia will spend the next week as guest of her sister, Mrs. L. J. Brotherton, 627 North Fifty-seventh avenue west.

T. Johnson of Winnipeg left for his home this morning after spending the past week in West Duluth as the guest of Siggier Olson, 329 North Fifty-eighth avenue west.

The congregation of the Merritt Memorial M. E. church, Forty-sixth avenue west and Halifax street, was entertained last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Merritt, 2105 East Second street.

On account of the heating plant of the Merritt Memorial M. E. church, Forty-sixth avenue west and Halifax street, still being out of order, the regular service tomorrow will be held at the Sunday school of the church. Rev. C. W. Emerey, pastor of the church, announced this morning that the regular program scheduled for last Sunday will be given tomorrow.

OLD AND RELIABLE

Every once in a while you see spring up new doctors in Duluth, who advertise themselves as specialists for all kinds of diseases for men, as for women as well. How many of them have lasted? Say only ONE YEAR? NOT ONE LASTED MORE THAN A HALF A YEAR, unless these newcoming specialists for men and women show the people of Duluth that they can give more than promises, as did all the others preceding them, they will last only a few months, incorporated or not. Of all the Specializing doctors who ever came to the Head of the Lakes, THERE IS ONLY ONE OFFICE IN DULUTH, AND THAT IS HERE FOR OVER TWENTY YEARS, that office is the PROGRESSIVE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, AT NO. 1 WEST SU-PERIOR STREET. This is only due to the fact that these Doctors know their business and are strictly honest and reliable. The man who comes to them now will find them here as well in twenty years from now. Any newcoming office will have to be more than good in order to exist and compete with the old and reliable Progressive Medical Association.

MEN'S SPECIALISTS ONLY

Don't ever think that a doctor can know diseases of men and women as well and be successful in their cure.

It takes a builder three or four years to learn his trade thoroughly. How long would it take him to learn all trades?

The doctor who spends four years at a Medical College is incapable of treating with success all the countless diseases of men, womand children. He knows a little of everything, but nothing thoroughly. We cure diseases and weaknesses peculiar to men. This is our sole field. The true specialist never attempts to do more than he can do WELL. His persistent study, diligent research, and scientific investigations are all on the line of a few diseases. A SINGLE CLASS OF THEM, on which all his efforts are concentrated, and to which his entire practice is strictly limited.

We do not pretend to know all about diseases, in fact, our knowledge is very limited and extends to only this one class—DISEASES OF MEN. If you are afflicted with any disease that is peculiar to men, STOMACH TROUBLE, SKIN DISEASES, BLOOD POISON, NERVOUS DEBILITY, RHEUMATISM, OR ANY OTHER DISEASE OF A CHRONIC OR NEWLY CONTRACTED NATURE, we invite you to consult us and promise you a cure. Twenty-six years of hard and constant effort here have given us the means, methods and remedies to effect PERMANENT CURES. We assist every afflicted man to clear up and out of his body all poisons. We free him from his bad habits, we cure his maladies and return him to perfect health.

We publish no names though we have the testimony of hundreds of men, many of whom had been given up as hopeless. Our principles are HONESTY AND INTEGRITY. We have no schemes to offer you, no "Trial treatments," no cheap bargain-cures, but we DO offer you the advantage of our strict professional honesty, our superior ability and our successful experience.

MEN, BEWARE OF TRAVELING DOCTORS

If you are sick, go to the ones you have known to be good Specialists for more than twenty years, we guarantee your cure and you don't have to fear that, while your cure is but half finished, that you may not find us here the next morning. All Consultations free. All day long, you will not meet a lady in our office, for men are our only patients. Sundays our hours are from 10 to 1 only.

PROGRESSIVE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

WILL TALK TO MINISTERS

Mayor Will Speak to Duluht Pastors Monday Morning.

Mayor M. B. Cullum will speak before the ministers of the city Monday morning at the meeting of their association. It is expected that he will devote most of his time to a discussion of the proposed amendments to the charter. He is greatly interested in all of them and strongly urges their passage.

Following the formal opening of his campaign at the West end last night the mayor has received a large number of invitations to speak in different parts of the city. The first invitation was tendered him from the French club, one of the strongest organizations in the western end of the city. The date has not been definitely decided upon, but it will be several days before the election.

Those who have charge of the mayor's campaign were greatly pleased at the reception last evening. The big hall was packed to the doors and they state that the expressions heard augur well for the situation in the Sixth and Seventh wards.

It is stated that the weekly royalties of Mr. Edison from moving picture inventions amount to $8,000.

HOLLAND IN SEMI-FINALS

West Duluth Skip Follows Up Victory Over Rochon.

Three Extra Head Games Played in Morning Draw.

After his great victory over Rochon of Winnipeg, Holland continued his progress in the Minneapolis Curling club event, winning in the 9:30 draw today from Tucker of Pardeeville, Wis., and going into the semi-finals. The contest was one of the most exciting that has been played during the past two days, merely for the reason that in the last head the Wisconsin man came within an ace of winning out. He lay three stones and came within an ace of tying up the game with a four hand.

Up to the seventh head, the contest was a very even one. From the seventh to the last head it looked like Holland's game. Then came the three head of the Wisconsin skip.

Ralph Bradley's rink made further progress in the Patrick event by defeating Catterson in an easy manner. The score was 16 to 4 with both rinks off in their form.

Shaver forfeited to Evered in this event in the morning draw.

Three one three-head games were played in the early morning draw. Pollock of West Duluth was beaten by Farmer of Duluth, the International event, the Duluth man laying one in the thirteenth head after the West Duluth rink had tied things up in the twelfth head with a two head. This game was fought hard all the way through and was one of the best of the contests that have been played so far in the International.

Brown of West Duluth was compelled to play an extra head to win from Chadwick of Superior. Chadwick looked like the winner until the eleventh head when Brown laid a three head.

The third extra head game of the morning's play was that between Richardson of Duluth and Riley of Stonewall. This was the best game of the morning, nothing larger than a one head being scored during the entire game. The deciding head furnished a pretty climax to the contest. Richardson lay and the last shot of Riley's failed by the narrowest of margins to put Richard's rock away.

McLeod of Minneapolis won the other game in the Steve Jones event. The Minneapolis man won from Dunlop of Duluth after a close fought contest. Grace of Superior forfeited to Pratt, the veteran of Eveleth.

Parkinson of Phillips won from Bruder of Superior in the International, piling up a strong lead after the seventh head.

The 'spiel cannot be finished today. Whether all the rinks that are left in the play will stay over after today is a question that may be settled tonight. Some of the visiting curlers did not plan to remain here after tonight and there may be a number of forfeits.

Following is the result of play in the early morning draw:

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

Some Promises Made by the Press Agents for Coming Attractions

AT THE ORPHEUM

It will be a bill of all nations that the Orpheum will present next week.

There are six nationalities represented among the seven acts on the bill, the performers being drawn from that number of different countries. The bill includes an English mimic and an English novelty act; an Irish sketch, two Swedish athletes, an American song composer, two Scotch dancers and comedians, and two French clowns.

Mary Norman will head the bill. Miss Norman's character studies are almost as well known in modern vaudeville as Cecelia Loftus' imitations were a few years ago. Miss Norman insists that she is neither a mimic or an impersonator, and she explains the distinction. "A mimic," she said, "is imitating a particular characteristic of some particular person. I do not do that. I study a number of people of a certain type, and try to give a portrayal of that type. For instance my Boston girl I worked out by degrees. One day I met a young woman wearing nose glasses, a severely plain hat, and carrying a bag. That gave me the idea for the Boston girl's appearance. Then I met another voluble young woman at an afternoon conversazione at the home of a very aesthetic little woman high in the intellectual circles of Boston. There were several other girls there and I took the peculiarities of each to make a representative or exaggerated whole. My New York girl is the only exception to this rule. I simply copied one girl. I saw her in a soda parlor one afternoon, and followed and followed her for two hours, studying her every action, and when I got home I simply set out to copy her bodily."

Miss Norman's act is unique in present day vaudeville, and is different from any other act of this general type. She has a monologue in which all of her varied types of girls are introduced. She uses nothing but different hats, a few expressions and her own personality in her changes.

The second act on the bill will be presented by Tom Nawn and company. During the last fifteen years there have been few theatergoers in the larger cities who have not, at some time, laughed at Tom Nawn and his little comedies, such as "Winklets," "A Touch of Nature" and "Pat and the Genii." The last named was probably the best known, but his newest vehicle is said to surpass it in real humor. It is called "When Pat Was King."

"The Whittakers" have an English music hall novelty as the third act on the bill. The story of Dick Whittington and his famous cat, is well known and the Whittakers have a burlesque on this story that kept London music hall audiences laughing for two seasons. The cat is the feature of the sketch, and offers a chance for some clever comedy in the line of animal portrayal. The act has been a big laugh maker during its present tour of the Orpheum circuit, and promises to be one of the best comedy features of next week's bill.

The two Carson brothers are two clean cut young Swedish athletes who are exponents of the best that there is in physical culture. By clean habits and careful physical training they are claimed to have attained physical perfection or as near to it as human beings reach. The two young men have made a study of Grecian posing, and the first part of their act consists of a series of poses. They wear glistening white costumes, and all of their stage settings are a shining black. The contrast makes a striking stage picture. In addition to their posing they exhibit some remarkable feats of strength and agility through hand balancing and other lines of acrobatics. Neither of the brothers is above medium height, but their development is said to be nothing short of beautiful to any who admire the best type of physical manhood.

Harry Breen is a young American song composer who has an act of a new type. Nothing like it has yet been seen at the Orpheum at least. He composes impromptu songs, taking for his subject any little incident that happens in the audience, or during the course of his act. His act is never twice the same, for his material is all gathered as he stands in front of the audience. He goes out in front of the curtain, twice a day with no equipment but his own quick wit, and essays to make an audience laugh. That he succeeds is shown by the success with which he has met on his present tour.

Stuart and Keeley have a new and interesting singing and dancing act, which is said to be remarkable for the neat and artistic costumes, the clever dancing and the enjoyable songs and comedy.

The Arnaud brothers are two French acrobats who wear the clown costume, which is so popular with French vaudeville audiences. They are known as French tumbling clowns, and in their own country rank as headliners in the vaudeville world.

The Kinodrome and the concert by the Orpheum orchestra will complete the bill, which will continue all week with a daily matinee.

For the week of Jan. 28, an old favorite with Duluth Orpheum audiences will return, in the person of Miss Helen Crantley, who will headline the bill for that week in a new sketch.

* * *

Martin Beck has secured from Graham Moffat, author of "When Bunty Pulls the Strings," a one-act play called "Concealed Bud." The little comedy is now being played by a Scotch company at the London pavilion, and will be brought to America intact for the Orpheum circuit.

* * *

The two youthful prodigies, David Schooler and Louise Dickinson, will immediately begin the Orpheum circuit tour. Master Schooler is heralded as the boy Paderewski, and that grand master himself predicted for that youth a brilliant musical future. Miss Dickinson is a petit young miss with an exceptionally high soprano voice.

* * *

The report that Blanche Walsh has cancelled her vaudeville bookings and will return to the dramatic stage is absolutely without foundation. A prominent manager attempted to induce Miss Walsh to cancel her present contract and star in a new play. This, however, she refused to do, and will positively appear over the Orpheum circuit in Arthur Hopkin's intense playlet, "The Thunder Gods."

* * *

Ray L. Royce, the eccentric comedian, has returned to vaudeville and will be an early Orpheum circuit booking. His monologue of eccentric character sketches was one of the delights of vaudeville and his return will undoubtedly be looked to with expectant pleasure.

* * *

Terminating his world's tour, Bert Terrell, the yodling comedian, will be seen on the Orpheum circuit. In a recent reference to him, the London press declared "We cannot recall a male vocalist on the music hall stage, certainly not a comedian, who can bring claim to being his superior in the freshness and quality of voice."

AT THE EMPRESS

Occultism and thamaturgy will hold forth at the Empress for the week commencing Sunday matinee. Eva Ray, "The Marvelous White Mohatma," will weave the mystic spell and if reports from other cities are to be given full credence, Miss Ray will prove a sensation during her engagement here.

It is claimed that her work is so far above that of the ordinary telepathist that there is no room for comparison and she almost compels belief that she is gifted with superhuman power. The entertainment offered by this wonderful woman is divided into two parts. The first is called "Occult Demonstration." In this portion of Miss Ray's offering a portable cabinet is used which is somewhat similar to the method used by the old-time alleged spirit medium, but entirely different in principle, as the forces utilized are on a more cultured plan. The second part of her entertainment consists of experiments in thamaturgy, which is said to be a most interesting science. Although still young in years, she is old in wisdom and has made a close study of the lore and teachings of the Hindu mystics. It was her good fortune to spend ten years of her girlhood in the ancient city of Benares, India, and there by association with theosophists and other believers in the occult, she developed a natural telepathic gift to a marked degree. Even before she returned with her family to this country, her powers had attracted wide attention, not only among the occult workers of India, but also among those of England and this country. In fact, while yet a girl, the London Society for Psychical Research sent a representative from Bombay to Benares to investigate her work and the reports made by him created much discussion among the members of the society. The report, which was a very complete one, put the stamp of approval on her work and she was even then recognized as a real mystic. Since her return to this country her powers have grown stronger and her work has broadened. She has attained a large following in every city in which she has appeared and has received many letters asking for aid in the solution of puzzling questions, many of them of vital importance. By those ignorant of occultism she is regarded with awe and by the elect, as one who has proved the superiority of mind over matter. Eva Ray is making an exclusive tour of the Sullivan & Considine circuit and everywhere she has been a decided success. During her engagement here, Miss Ray will be delighted to hear from all those who care to consult her concerning matters of love, matrimony, business, financial matters, or in fact, if you are at sea on any subject, Miss Ray's advise will be cheerfully given by addressing her at the Empress theater, next week.

Will Jennings and Sam Renfrew are blackface comedy entertainers, who bear the reputation of always leaving their audience clamoring for more. Their songs are all of their own writing and are said to be very catchy, and although their comedy lies principally in their songs, they also extract considerable merriment from a number of witticisms. It is said that few acts in vaudeville contain more jollity to the minute than the offering of Jennings and Renfrew, as the boys are endowed with every qualification for success—voice, magnetism, enunciation, and are also adepts at dancing. This is their first season in vaudeville, as in the past they have appeared in musical comedy exclusively, appearing in the leading roles with some of the biggest musical comedy productions of the East, but since their entrance into the ranks of vaudeville, their success has been wonderful, as they are said to be comedians out of the ordinary and are creators of their own comedy as well as composers of their own songs.

The gymnastic feature with this bill will be Rice, Elmer and Tom, eccentric comedians, who will no doubt be one of the laughing hits of next week's show. Frank Rice, the principal comedy producer of the trio, is said to be one of the funniest acrobatic comedians imaginable. His funny falls, expert gymnastic work and general excellence in the knock-about line are said to be far above the ordinary. Mr. Rice does not have to carry the whole burden alone, however, as the work of all these artists on the horizontal bar and bounding table is said to surpass anything in the gymnastic line offered at the Empress this season. Rice, Elmer and Tom were the recent comedy hit of the Ringling Brothers' circus, and their snappy work is said to win the admiration of all.

A big musical feature will be the Four Musical Hodges, an organization of musical artists of consummate skill. This clever quartet of instrumentalists has scored a tremendous success everywhere they have been seen this year. Whether with brass or stringed instruments, they capture every audience, it is said. For superior instrumentalsy or gorgeous costuming and elaborte staging, it is claimed these artists stand alone. They render solos, quartets and trios on different instruments, giving selections of the highest merit. This offering is one of unusually high standard, the entire act being admirably presented with a program sufficiently varied to suit every taste. In speaking of the Four Musical Hodges, the Milwaukee Sentinel said: "Rarely does one have the opportunity of hearing musicians of such ability as that displayed by the Four Musical Hodges at the Empress last evening. Utilizing a variety of instruments, they present a repertoire of selections of a nature to suit the tastes of all. They play everything from grand opera to rag-time and play exceptionally well. The offering is gorgeously costumed and admirbly presented and last evening was applauded to the echo."

Commencing Tuesday matinee, daylight pictures will be shown in Duluth for the first time. Sullivan & Considine have just completed arrangements with S. L. Rothapfel, the inventor of the daylight motion pictures, and from now on they will be a distinct feature at the Empress. This change is in keeping with the fixed policy of the Sullivan & Considine circuit, to present not only the best vaudeville at popular prices but to, also, add every feature which will add to the delight of its patrons, and the vaudeville patrons of Duluth will have an opportunity of seeing these pictures which have proved to be the wonder of the theatrical world during the past year. In conjunction with the daylight pictures, the management of the Empress has made arrangements for film service whereby only the newest and choicest subjects obtainable will be run at the Empress.

A matinee is given daily at 2:45 and evening performances at 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved one week in advance by either telephone. A bargain matinee is given every Saturday at 2:45. Special attention is paid to the comfort and amusement of ladies and children at all times.

TOM NAWN,
At the Orpheum Next Week.

JENNINGS AND RENFREW,
At the Empress Next Week.

Lyceum Notes.

While many prominent, legitimate actors make decided hits on the vaudeville stage, it is seldom that a famous vaudeville headliner is successful in the leading role of a play, dramatic or musical. Harry Lauder, Albert Chevalier and Alice Lloyd are unquestionably three of the greatest box-office record-breakers as well as the most remarkable artists that have come to this country from the music halls of London. Of the three, Lauder has never attempted anything outside his repertoire of songs, most of which he sings year after year. Chevallier assumed the leading role of a splendidly cast and elaborately mounted drama last season, but it was a failure. It remained for dainty little Alice Lloyd to do what one of her fellow-players didn't want to do and the other couldn't do, when she stepped into the title role of "Little Miss Fix-It" in almost the record-breaking time of twenty seconds in which she makes her changes from one bewilderingly beautiful gown into another, and by so doing achieved a tremendous success in a part that Eva Tanguay, whom Miss Lloyd followed in the role, acknowledged was too much for her. "Little Miss Fix-It" comes to the Lyceum in February.

Robert Hilliard, under the management of Klaw & Erlanger, is making his farewell coast-to-coast tour in "A Fool There Was," with practically the same company as last season. Some of his people, including George Clare, Edna Conroy and little "Boots" Wurster, have been with him since the very first performance of the Kiplingesque drama. The only important change is in the leading man, Alphonz Ethier, who is to play the red-blooded family friend, and filled the title role in "Ben Hur" for several years.

Alphonz Ethier, the new leading man with Robert Hilliard in "A Fool There Was," has been prominent in "Ben Hur" and "The Barrier," and supported Mary Mannering last season. Like Maude Adams and Hazel Dawn, he is a native of Salt Lake.

The production will be seen at the Lyceum.

The members of "Bright Eyes" company, with Cecil Lean and Florence Holbrook at its head, which will again be seen at the Lyceum in February, have a rather unique organization among themselves as private citizens.

This is called the "Sleeping Car society," and is composed of members who very much object to being disturbed in the sleeping car by those persons, found everywhere, who do not care to retire at a reasonable hour themselves, and take no thought of the slumberers who are disturbed by conversation. The prime rule of the society is "Lights out at 1 a. m.," and infringements of this regulation imposes as a penalty upon the transgressor that for five "sleeper jumps" he or she be deprived of the sleeping car privileges, being obliged to use the day coach. The enforcement of this rule falls upon the manager of the company, and it is said one violation is sufficient to assure sleepless nights.

Al E. Wilson will appear soon in a new singing comedy entitled "It Was in Potsdam," adapted from the French by Cyril Reed. The character to be portrayed by this talented comedian will be that of a German traveler, Herr Von Klatz, who, weary of globe circling, returns to his Potsdam home to take a wife and settle down into peaceful domestic seclusion. To accomplish this successfully he experiences many mishaps, for his former sweetheart is happily married, and he has to fall in love with some one else to take her place, and he only succeeds in accomplishing this after many surprising results.

* * *

Following a special tour to the Pacific coast in F. Ziegfeld, Jr.'s, production of "Miss Innocence," Anna Held, the famous comedienne, will retire permanently from the American stage.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Suit for $60,000 against Mary Mannering has been instituted by the Messrs. Shubert in the supreme court on an allegation of breach of contract. Miss Mannering is now appearing in "The Garden of Allah," at the Century theater, under the management of Liebler & Co., who are allied with the Messrs. Shubert. This fact has much to do with the latter managers bringing a suit for damages rather than asking for an injunction to restrain the actress from appearing under any other direction than theirs during the term of their contract. In 1908 Miss Mannering signed a contract with the Messrs. Shubert to be starred by them for three years. The complaint sets forth that in September, 1911, Miss Mannering "wrongfully, whimsically and capriciously" refused to carry out her part of the contract.

* * *

Bertha Kalisch and four people, playing "The Light of St. Agnes," by Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske, are ready to give it a vaudeville showing as soon as bookings can be arranged.

* * *

Grace La Rue has been signed by Martin Beck for the musical stock company at the new Palace, Chicago. As a consequence "Betsy" will be shelved and Miss La Rue will leave at once for the Windy City to begin rehearsals.

* * *

When Oscar Hammerstein arrived from London last week he went up to Times square and sold the Victoria theater to Martin Beck. Thus Mr. Beck at last has realized his ambition to have a vaudeville theater in New York, and by the same act he became a member of the United Booking offices, as the Victoria theater carries a U. B. O. franchise with it. When Mr. Beck recently, as general manager of the Orpheum circuit, refused to renew the agreement which had existed between that circuit and the United Booking offices, and announced that he would build a new theater, to be called the Palace, at Forty-seventh street and Broadway, it was supposed that a vaudeville war was about to begin. But his purchase of the Victoria puts a different complexion on the situation and intimates that harmony will prevail. The deal has further significance, as it shows that Oscar Hammerstein is in earnest in his announced intention of devoting himself solely to grand opera in London.

Henry W. Savage announces that he has engaged Katherine Grey to succeed Laura Nelson Hall in the title character of his Eastern Everywoman company. Miss Grey was leading woman with a number of Charles Frohman's attractions for a period of ten years. Her last New York appearance was in "The Worth of a Woman," by the late David Graham Phillips, the last play staged at the Madison Square theater.

* * *

"When All the World Was Young," a new play by Owen Davis, which is to serve Marguerite Clark as a starring vehicle next season, under William A. Brady's maangement, had its first production last summer at the Suburban theater, St. Louis, with Miss Clark in the leading role. The play was then staged and directed under the personal supervision of Joseph O'Mara of this city.

Klaw & Erlanger's next big production will be that of "The Man From Cook's," a musical comedy, which went into rehearsals last week.

The piece is from a farce by Max Ordennau. The American version is by Henry Blossom. Raymond Hubbell has supplied the score. The scenes are laid in Paris and at an Italian seaside resort.

The report that Mabel Harrison is dying of consumption at Saranac Lake, N. Y., as printed in several newspapers, is disavowed by Joseph Howard, the actress' husband. Mr. Howard is now appearing at the Bronx theater with Mabel McCane. This fact in itself Mr. Howard regards as indisputable proof that his wife's life has not been despaired of.

He spent Christmas week with Miss Harrison in the Adirondacks. Neither the doctors, Mr. Howard nor Miss Harrison have by any means abandoned hope for her recovery. They all agree in their conviction that it will not be long before she is restored to her full health.

The opening of Tyrone Power's revival of "The Servant in the House" was temporarily delayed by the sudden death of Mrs. Power. Instead of playing all last week at the Empire theater, it did not open until Thursday. In his company are Amy Veness, Elizabeth Bacon, Wilfred Rogers, David Glassford, Preton Kendal and Argyll Campbell.

Short engagements of "Passers-By" at Buffalo, Toronto Pittsburg and Louisville will bring the original New York company to the Blackstone theater, Chicago, for a run that will last as long as the hold that the play takes upon the affections of Chicago playgoers.

A comedy of situations that Mr. Frohman will produce this season with a company without a star is Sir Arthur Pinero's latest four-act piece, "Preserving Mr. Panmure," originally produced by Mr. Frohman at the Comedy theater, London, with Marie Lohr and Arthur Playfair in the chief parts. With the appearance of "Preserving Mr. Panmure" it is likely that announcement will be made of an even newer Pinero comedy, which, although not yet named, is now being given its final touches by its author.

According to a pretty general viva voce vote, Otis Skinner and the new York production of "Kismet," in which he plays Hajj, the Arabian Nights beggar, in every respect surpasses the London performance of the part and production of the play. This is largely attributable to one of the chief factors in all stage success—an actor's fondness for his part.

The first performance of "Little Women," dramatized for William A. Brady from Louisa M. Alcott's famous story, will be given in Buffalo on Monday, Jan. 22. Miss Alcott's book was published forty-two years ago and still sells at the rate of 100,000 copies a year in America.

Gertrude Elliott, who earlier in the season demonstrated that she shared to no small extent her elder sister Maxine's beauty, has now appropriated one of Maxine's effective leding men, Julian L'Estrange. L'Estrange, a handsome Englishman who has frequently been seen in this country, has been assigned to the role of Roger Wade, "the artist chap," in David Graham Phillips' posthumous comedy "White Magic," which Miss Elliott is now rehearsing daily on the covered roof of the Century theater. Roger Wade will be remembered more vividly by the readers of the novel on which "White Magic" was founded as "Chang," the name given by the charming "Rix," who takes refuge from a storm in his studio-shack in the Jersey hills, and is given a cup of chocolate and an invitation to pose for her picture—and that starts all the trouble.

For the first time since she became a star, Viola Allen is to appear in an American play by an American author. The new production is the work of Miss Rachel Crothers, and Liebler & Co., managers for Miss Allen, yesterday agreed that the title shall be "The Herfords." When Miss Allen was graduated to stardom, it was in Hall Caine's "The Christian," a drama with the scenes laid in England. Other appearances have been in "The Palace of the King," a romance of Spain; "The Hunchback," with English setting; "The Eternal City," obviously Italian; "The Toast of the Town," eighteenth century English; "Irene Wycherly," modern English; "The White Sister," Italian; "The Lady of Coventry," early English, and the Shakesperian productions of "Twelfth Night," "Winter's Tale," and "Cymbeline." For her debut in American drama, Miss Allen is supplied by Miss Crothers with a play dealing with the love and ambition of a sculptress. "The Herfords" will go into rehearsal immediately.

What is sure to prove the most important contract yet by the Winter Garden company is that whereby Mikall Mordkin, Lydia Lopoukowa, and Bronislowa Pajitzkaia, the Russian dancers, will become a permanent feature of the entertainment at this place of amusement. The announcement made by J. J. Shubert, who personally conducted the negotiations with Mr. Mordkin, came as a surprise in view of the fact that the dancers were billed to appear throughout the present season at the Metropolitan opera house.

Two considerations are said to have prompted the action—first, the price offered by Mr. Shubert, and the fact that the touring Russian ballet troupe has been carrying too many male stars. Mr. Mordkin, it is said, will receive a salary of over $5,000 a week.

The dancers will appear in the regular entertainment as added features of the Viennese operetta, "Vera Violetta." The exaact program, however, has not been determined. Lopoukowa, it will be recalled, made her first appearance in America as the principal dancer during the season of Russian ballet inaugurated at the winter garden last spring by Gertrude Hoffmann. There will be a corps de ballet of fifty. Lopoukowa will be the premiere danseuse classique, Pajitzkaia will be the solo danseuse character, and Mordkin will be—himself.

Charles Frohman, who controls the play "Lady Patricia" for America, has arranged with Harrison Grey Fiske, manager of Mrs. Fiske, for her New York engagement this season to be played at the Empire theater, beginning in February. Mrs. Fiske will appear in the title role of "Lady Patricia," a comedy by Rudolph Besier, which was brilliantly successful at the Haymarket theater in London last season.

AMERICAN GRAND OPERA COMPOSERS COMING TO THE FORE AT LAST

THE American singer has long since conquered the world. American girls have been winning triumphs on the operatic stage both here and abroad for at least two decades, and many of the favorites in the famous opera houses of Europe today are Americans. More recently, American men have been making great reputations in grand opera, singing leading roles in the great operatic productions in this country and rivaling in popularity on the foreign stage the singers of Italy, France and Germany.

The American operatic composer has been slower in arriving, but he seems to be arriving at last. Americans are now turning to operatic composition with zeal and enthusiasm, inspired with the hope of practical success. American musicians of an elder generation, to be sure, wrote some operas, but their works in those lines were somewhat in the nature of academic exercises, and were written largely for their composer's own satisfaction. Those men had little reason to expect that their works would be produced on the great operatic stages of the world, owing to the prejudice that successful grand operas could be composed only by Europeans.

But within the past few years American grand opera composers have been getting a hearing on terms of equality with opera composers of other nations. Operas by Americans have been produced under first-class conditions in Europe, while in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, and Boston operas by Americans have been sung by some of the leading singers of the day in the great homes of operatic art in those cities.

Already there is a considerable group of American musicians who are known as composers of opera whose works have been the subject of wide discussion, and of whom more is likely to be heard in the operatic realm in the future. None of them has yet achieved the fame and popularity of a Massenet or a Puccini. But who knows? Some of them may be the Massenets or Puccinis of tomorrow.

At least the prospect of the American operatic composer seems to be quite different and much more alluring than it was not many years ago. Doubtless many composers of native birth have taken courage from this change and are writing or planning big operatic works, in quite a different spirit from that in which the late Julian Edwards devoted much of his time to such writing. Mr. Edwards was one of the most prolific composers of light opera in this country, though an Englishman by birth. On a certain occasion he admitted that he was writing a grand opera.

"When do you expect to have it produced?" he was asked.

"I don't expect to have it produced," he replied. "I write comic operas as a business. I write grand operas for the fun of writing them."

It is safe to say that the Americans who are writing grand opera today have more than the mere fun of writing them in view.

The Yale Professor Who Turned Opera Composer.

In taking some account of the men who comprise the group of present day composers of American grand opera, one should begin with Horatio W. Parker, professor of musical theory at Yale University, and winner of the $10,000 prize offered by the Metropolitan Opera company for the best American opera submitted in a competition.

Although Prof. Parker has for a number of years been in the very first rank of American musicians, and is probably the foremost and most widely known of American composers in certain lines, notably choral works and oratorios, he is the latest comer in the operatic field. When it was announced last May that he had won the $10,000 prize with an opera entitled "Mona," for which Brian Hooker supplied the libretto, there was not much surprise, in one sense, among those who were familiar with his work, for they understood that the skill he had displayed in writing for voices and the orchestra should make him successful in setting an opera text to the music. In another sense, there was surprise, for it had not been supposed that Prof. Parker had felt the lure of the operatic stage.

A man of scholarly temperament, he was supposed to have only austere musical aims. His musical associations had been almost entirely academical and ecclesiastical. He was known as a consummate master of his instrument, the organ, and as a fine composer of music for that instrument and for the church service, as well as for large choruses and orchestra. But there is this about Prof. Parker, in which he resembles Bach rather than Schubert—he is always practical in his aims.

Bach wrote many different kinds of music, but with a few exceptions everything he composed was written with a view to special immediate opportunities of performance. Schubert did not often to consider whether what he wrote would have a chance of being heard. Prof. Parker has been in charge of large choirs and a director of church music all his life, and he has composed very largely with those facts in view. Probably he did not want to spend his time in writing an opera when the chance of having his work produced was remote. But the terms of the opera prize competition assured the production of the winning composition under the most favorable conditions. Here was a practical opportunity, and so Prof. Parker wrote a work for the occasion. The opera is to be produced this season.

As a composer Prof. Parker enjoys a great popularity in England. There is that in his music that appeals strongly to the best English taste. Perhaps there is more in this than the fact that he has written in the forms that are most popular in England. There may be some subtle sympathy due to blood. Prof. Parker, at any rate, is of the best English stock on both sides, though he is as American as regards ancestry as any one can be. His forebears came to New England from Essex county in old England in 1635. So we see in him the stern Puritan stock of New England, which has produced so many practical men, strangely flowering in an art to which it was long professedly hostile.

Prof. Parker probably inherited from his father, Charles Edward Parker, who died in 1891, the constructive ability that enables him to fashion great architectural masses of tones. The elder Parker was a prominent architect of Boston, who for forty years had charge of the construction of all the government buildings in New England. From his mother Prof. Parker undoubtedly inherited his musical genius. An excellent musician, a skilful organist; she gave him his first instruction in his art. Later, with her literary gifts she assisted him in some of his great works. The texts of several of Prof. Parker's choral compositions are his mother's.

A Musical Talent That Developed Suddenly.

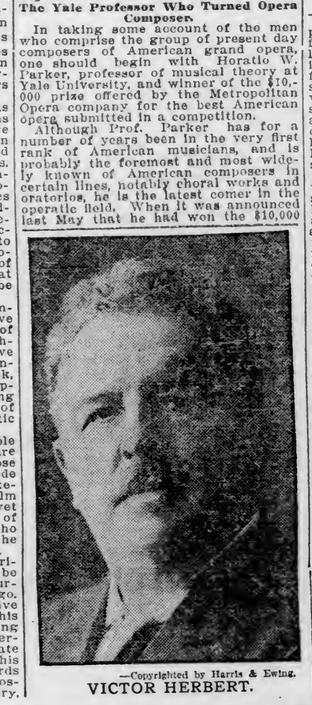

Parents who have sons for whom they imagine a great career in music need not feel discouraged if the youthful objects of their aspirations show no inclination for such a future. They have only to consider the case of Horatio Parker. As a child he positively disliked music. What he did like was to be out of doors, chasing butterflies and collecting strange bugs. Natural history seemed to be his bent. The other striking characteristics noted of him in his early days was his remarkable memory. It is said that when he was 5 years old he repeated at a school entertainment Browing's "Pied Piper of Hamelin" without a mistake and with remarkable good elocutionary effect. The surprising thing about it was that no one knew how he had learned the poem. Apparently he had picked it up by hearing his mother read it several times.

But if his talent for music was slow in showing itself, it took complete possession of him when it did become manifest. He took a sudden liking for music when he was about 13 years old, and then it was with difficulty that he could be induced to do anything but practice and compose. He would sit at the piano from early morning until his father sent him to bed at 11 o'clock at night. His industry quickly gave him proficiency, and at the age of 16 he was organist and choir director in a church in Boston. When he was 18 he went to Munich to study with Rheinberger. With that great organist and contrapuntist he completed his mastery of the organ, and learned the art of weaving together many strands of melody into a harmonious whole.

After his return to this country young Parker taught counterpoint for some time at the conservatory in New York with which the great Bohemian composer Dvorak was connected, and his association with that great musician, whose influence has been felt by many American musicians in their apprentice years, had a stimulating effect upon him. He was appointed professor of the theory of music at Yale when he was only 30 years of age. Both before and since assuming that position he has been continuously active as a church organist and music director.

Professor Parker's great reputation as a composer was made with his oratorio, "Hora Novissima," which was the first American composition ever performed at any of the great English choral festivals. It was given at the Chester festival in July, 1899, and a couple of months later at Three Choirs Festival at Worcester, England.

There is probably no musician living who has a greater mastery of the technique of composition than Prof. Parker has. It is said that he can write an elaborate fugue in a couple of hours. He has had a very busy life as a teacher and a practical musician, a performer and a director, but he has never ceased to study. Most of his vacations have been spent in Europe, where he has been able to indulge in his favorite pastime, walking and at the same time add new store to his great accumulation of musical erudition.

WALTER DAMROSCH.

An American Composer's Unique Distinction.

Frederick S. Converse has the distinction of being the first American composer to have an opera produced at the New York Metropolitan opera house during the regular season there. His one act opera, "The Pipe of Desire," which was first produced in Boston in 1906, was given at the Metropolitan in March, 1910. It was also given in that year at the now defunct New Theater in New York, which was at that time used by the Metropolitan management for some operatic productions. Another grand opera by Mr. Converse, "The Sacrifice," of which he wrote both the music and the book, was produced in Boston last March.

Mr. Converse, who is thus especially distinguished in the field of grand opera, is recognized as one of the most eminent of American composers of his present time, a master of the art of writing for the modern orchestra, whose productions include a number of notable symphonic poems, an oratorio, and works in most of the smaller forms.

If Prof. Parker looks the scholar, Mr. Converse might easily be taken for an active and successful business man by anyone who did not know that his vocation is composition of music. In personal appearance he is the contradiction of traditional notions as to the musician. A man of rugged, athletic build, bronzed with outdoor living, he is absolutely devoid of any mannerisms or affectations, and enters very heartily into every day life. He is an ardent tennis player, and is fond of hunting, and, indeed of most recreations that involve activity in the open. He lives most of the time on his handsome estate at Westwood, Mass., where he can work and play as he chooses.

An old farmhouse on this estate affords the retreat he needs when at work. His workroom is a veritable den. There he pens his scores, standing at a high desk of the sort that bookkeepers use. Adjoining his workshop or den is the music room, a place of quite a different character, filled with works of art and objects of musical use or interest.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Converse, like Prof. Parker, was not a musical prodigy. Indeed, he had reached man's estate before he decided to make music his vocation, although he had by that time received an excellent musical education. But although he was not a prodigy, he showed an early liking for music, and when he went to Harvard he elected all the courses in the department of music.

He was graduated from Harvard with the highest honors in music, but that success did not decide him for a musical career. It was only after he had tried business for a year and found that it was not for him that he turned to music. He spent the two years following with Rheinberger in Munich. On his return he became an instructor in the New England Conservatory of Music, and subsequently professor of music in Harvard.

Meanwhile, by a course of self discipline and self-criticism, he was slowly but surely acquiring the surety of touch demanded for success in the composition of music of the modern sort. In his career as a composer he has practically retraced the ground covered by the development of music during the past 150 years. Beginning with sonatas almost as simple as those of Mozart and as strict in form, he produced industriously on the old classic lines until he had acquired the mastery that would enable him to create with complete freedom as his fancy might dictate. Then he began the composition of those symphonic poems and operas on which his fame rests today.

Mr. Converse is a young man—he is just a little past forty—and it may be believed that his career as an operatic composer has only just begun.

Most Prolific of American Composers.

Henry K. Hadley is another American musician who has written grand operas. His success in the matter of production of his works for the stage has been in Europe, though his symphonies, overtures and symphony poems have been played by the great orchestral organizations of this country.

Mr. Hadley is perhaps the most prolific of American composers. For a man who is only 41 years of age, he has produced a really astonishing amount of music. Something like 200 songs and pieces for the piano, a vast amount of music for stringed instruments in various combinations, anthems, cantatas, two comic operas, and a dozen large compositions for grand orchestra, besides a lyric drama entitled "Merlin and Vivian," and an opera, "Sophie," to stand to his credit.

An accomplished violinist, he understands the orchestra not only from theoretical studies, but from actual experience as a player. When he is conducting a rehearsal he can take up the fiddle at any time and show the violinists just how a difficult passage should be played. His violin has stood him in good stead many times. The story is told of his having got practically stranded in Europe a number of years ago, while making a trip to Egypt with a friend. His friend played the piano, and so the two young fellows, when their funds got low, simply changed their itinerary and started on a sort of Bohemian concert tour. After wandering around in this minstrel fashion for some time they had gathered together enough money to continue their trip as originally planned.

Mr. Hadley was only 26 years old when his first symphony was performed in New York under the direction of the late Anton Seidl. For a number of years during the past decade he was conductor of the opera at Mayence, Germany, and there three years ago he produced with success his opera, "Sophie." During the past couple of years he has been settled on the Pacific coast as director of orchestral concerts.

The American Opera that Aroused Berlin.

Still another native-born American operatic composer is Arthur Nevin, a brother of the late Ethelbert Nevin, composer of the famous "Rosary" and many other popular sangs. The production of Arthur Nevin's Indian opera, "Poia," at the Royal opera house in Berlin was one of the most widely discussed musical events of the year 1910.

Mr. Nevin received his musical education in Boston and Berlin, studying in the latter place with Prof. Klindworth. He has composed many songs, piano pieces and orchestral works.

The composition of "Poia" was really due to the ethnologist Walter McClintock of Pittsburg. Mr. McClintock some fifteen years ago spent a long time among the Blackfeet Indians in Montana. Chief Mad Wolf of the Blackfeet adopted him as a son, and permitted him to make with photograph, camera and notebook a record of the music, customs and traditions of the tribe. Mr. McClintock believed that these records would furnish the material for a grand opera, and on returning to Pittsburg he enlisted Mr. Nevin and another friend of his, Randolph Hartley, to undertake the work. He took Mr. Nevin back to Montana with him and introduced him to the Blackfeet. For more than a year Mr. Nevin camped, hunted and fished with the tribe and absorbed their music. Then he composed his opera.

The performance of this work in Berlin caused a veritable storm of criticism, which seemed to be directed, however, chiefly at the Royal opera management for selecting a new work by an American for production when there were plenty of operas by well-known German composers from which a choice could have been made.

Another opera by Mr. Nevin, "Twilight," was announced for production by the Metropolitan Opera company in New York last year, but it was found that the performance could not be prepared before the end of the season, and the announcement was withdrawn. "Twilight," however, is one of the novelties announced for this season.

Victor Herbert, with his grand opera, "Natoma," which was first produced in Philadelphia in February of last year by the Chicago Opera company, and was soon afterwards given in New York, added much to the fame which his multifarious musical activities have won for him. As he is not a native-born American, Mr. Herbert was not eligible to compete for the $10,000 prize offered by the Metropolitan Opera company. But though he is an Irishman by birth and a German by musical training, he has been so long a resident of this country, and has done so much of his work here, that he is certainly entitled to a place among American composers.

Mr. Herbert has succeeded in everything he has attempted in music since he embarked upon music as a career, but the very first attempt that he made to figure in public of which there is any record was a failure. He was very young at the time, just a little boy, and the feat that he was to attempt was nothing less than the performance of a solo on the piccolo. Just before the time for him to make his appearance he was seized with stage fright, and made a quick disappearance. The promised solo on the piccolo was never performed. After that he dropped the piccolo and took up the 'cello, and thereafter success attended all his enleavors.

He was led to adopt the 'cello as his instrument by his admiration for the famous 'cellist Platti, who was a frequent visitor at the house of his grandfather, Samuel Lover, the novelist, himself something of a musician, in Dublin. Young Herbert went to Germany to study, and his rapid progress amazed his teachers. Before many years had passed he was touring Germany with great success as a virtuoso 'cellist.

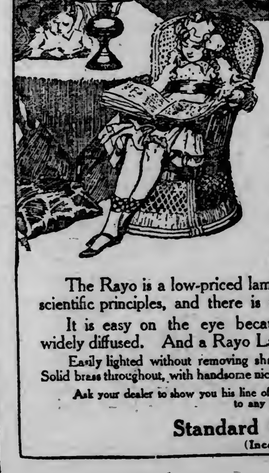

There is a legend to the effect that on the day that Herbert was born a Gypsy fortune teller, who was given alms by one of the servants in the Herbert household, made the prediction that the boy would become a great composer. Mr. Herbert began to make good this prediction at an early age, and during the days of his first successes as a 'cellist he composed music for his instrument that is still popular. He came to this country in 1886, and was first 'cellist in the orchestras of Theodore Thomas and Anton Seidl. The latter took a great fancy to the brilliant and genial young Irishman, and made him assistant conductor of his orchestra.

It is understood that Mr. Herbert has made a fortune out of composing. Most of it has come, of course, from the comic operas which he has produced in rapid succession with astonishing facility ever since he wrote his first one for the Bostonians, some fifteen years ago. The composition of these lighter pieces has been a sort of by-play in his busy life as a conductor, virtuoso and composer of symphonic music.

Walter Damrosch is another American composer of opera who was not eligible to compete for the Metropolitan prize, since he, too, is of foreign birth. Sixteen years ago he produced his grand opera, "The Scarlet Letter," and with a company of his own gave performances of it in many of the leading cities of the United States. Mr. Damrosch is a very busy concert director and orchestral leader, but he has found time for much creative work and it is believed that he has several opera scores complete or nearly so, which some day will be made known to the world.

The Lamp That Saves The Eyes

Children naturally never think of possible strain on their eyesight when poring over a fascinating book.

It is up to you to see they do not ruin their young eyes these long evenings by reading under a poor light.

The Rayo Lamp is an insurance against eye troubles, alike for young and old.

The Rayo is a low-priced lamp, but it is constructed on the soundest scientific principles, and there is not a better lamp made at any price.

It is easy on the eye because its light is so soft and white and widely diffused. And a Rayo Lamp never flickers.

Easily lighted without removing shade or chimney; easy to clean and rewick. Solid brass throughout, with handsome nickel finish; also in many other styles and finishes.

MAYOR CULLUM.

Mayor Cullum, in addressing a West end audience last night, took occasion to review the work of his administration, to forecast the future in so far as he could, and to make a straightforward and clean-cut statement of his views and purposes.

All in all, it is an admirable statement that should command the confidence and respect of the citizens of Duluth.

Mayor Cullum dodged no issue, no matter how delicate its character, and for that he should have full credit in these days when many men seek office without committing themselves to anything but the most vague generalities. His talk last night was bold, vigorous, manly; it was the sort of thing the voters ought to like, and that they ought to insist upon from all who seek their votes.

Marcus B. Cullum has made a very good mayor. He has gained experience and knowledge of municipal affairs that should make him a better mayor in the future. He has shown a disposition to cooperate in all good works toward the upbuilding of the community and toward making it a better place to live in, with due regard to the unfortunate members of the community who are too likely to be overlooked. On his record as mayor of this city, and on the square, open and frank manner in which he addresses himself to the problems of the present and the future, he makes a candidate that should appeal to the best impulses of the citizenship of Duluth.

Mayor Cullum has a right to point with pride to his record as mayor and to his achievements in that office, and he did so last evening with becoming modesty and with equally becoming frankness. Problems of law enforcement have been met with sane and practical effectiveness. Problems of taxation have been met with firmness and intelligence. The mayor did well to credit City Assessor Scott with the best personal property assessment the city ever had, and it is to be remembered that in appointing Mr. Scott, who is a Republican, Mayor Cullum disregarded all considerations except that of fitness; a thing that ought to be done in the handling of city business much oftener than it is.

We like the tone of the mayor's talk to the voters of the West end, and we shall be surprised if the voters don't like it, too. It was a plain, straightforward accounting of his stewardship and a frank, open, courageous promise of equally intelligent service for the future.

MAKING LITERATURE PAY.

Apropos of the fact that a new edition of "Tom Brown's School Days" is being prepared by a New York publisher, the St. Louis Times pauses to marvel at the flood of inferior literature that the publishers' presses are putting forth in such dreadful quantities, and to contrast the case of Thomas Hughes, who wrote so carefully and well that his book is still a boyhood classic, and the modern authors who are little short of machines, highly skilled and capable of a tremendous output — but mostly putting out balderdash.

Says the Times: "Isn't there a lesson for the literary clans in the story of Thomas Hughes, who wrote only two or three books during his whole lifetime; who wrote only on subjects with which he was thoroughly familiar and with which he was in complete sympathy—and who is praised and loved today by every boy of every age, wherever the English language is spoken?"

Surely there is a lesson here, and surely there will be some writers who will profit by it. But the truth is that literature—so far as it concerns fiction writing, at least—has become a purely commercial enterprise. There are a few exceptions that prove the rule, but not many. Caught by the example of one or two fortunate writers who stumbled into popularity and got rich with "best sellers," everybody is writing and every writer, no matter how miserable his product, probably is hopeful of getting into the "best seller" class and coining a fortune. Not much is to be looked for from a writer who toils with that golden vision in mind; for real literature comes from writers whose golden visions have a less metallic character.

We don't know how much money Thomas Hughes made out of "Tom Brown's School Days." We don't think he was thinking about that when he wrote it. If he had been, we are sure his book would have died; and his book still lives and will live long. Hughes was a very earnest and very serious man who thought a great deal more of the duties and responsibilities of letters than he did of the profit in letters.

The responsibility for much of the terrible flood of inferior books that sweeps this country every spring and fall lies largely with the public, though the publishers and the authors are by no means to be acquitted of guilt. The sort of stuff that is being printed is being printed because it can be sold; and the reason it can be sold is that people will buy it. If people wouldn't buy it, it wouldn't be printed, and if it couldn't be printed presently no more of it would be written—or not so much of it.

The remedy would seem to be educating the public taste; but the public taste is being vitiated by the prodigious quantities of tommyrot it is reading. The worse the public taste becomes, the greater the quantity of literary slush there will be, and the more literary slush the worse the public taste will become. This vicious circle breeds pessimism as to the literary outlook.

Meanwhile, however, there are a few writers who think more of quality than of quantity, and more of their reputations than of their profits. Perhaps these, in time, will leaven the whole mass. Certainly it is encouraging to find the occasional product of these conscientious workers in the list of best sellers. The public, or a respectably large proportion of it, thus shows that it can appreciate and is glad to get good literature. The pity of it is that it is getting so little, and so much of the other.

We have in mind one conspicuous instance of what might be but isn't. Robert W. Chambers is prolific, fertile, amazingly clever and has a protean talent that might amount to genius if it were not spread out so thinly. As it is, he is merely clever. If we treated our authors as they did when genius abode in a garret, Chambers might get desperate and write an American "Vanity Fair." One is needed. He is capable of it—perhaps. But he won't write it so long as diluted cleverness finds so ready a market.

"FORTUNATUS" EBERHART.

Ever since a local contemporary which shall be nameless here, but which stands high as an alacritous and obedient and effusively polite retainer of special interests, called Adolph O. Eberhart "Fortunatus" because he is "so lucky," the term has clung to our thought.

It clings persistently, sometimes irritatingly so; it clings as the scent of the roses clings to the shattered vase, as the bull pup to his bone, as Eberhart to his Ed Smith.

Each day it develops new splendors of imagery, new suggestions of beauty and fitness.

It wasn't, however, until today that this nagging thought aroused a desire to dispel the vagueness of our misty recollection of the original Fortunatus, and to find out just who he was, anyway, and what became of him.

And Mr. Webster, in his gripping and enthralling though somewhat disconnected tale entitled "The New International Dictionary," promptly upon application divulged the desired details: "Fortunatus," says Mr. Webster, "was the hero of a popular European tale, a man who receives from Fortune an inexhaustible purse, and from the sultan a wishing cap which will transport him any place where he wishes to be. These gifts prove the ruin of himself and his tribe."

Like a burst of light, this concise tale developed anew the beauty and fitness of the comparison made by our, so to say, esteemed contemporary. It explains much. We don't know about the inexhaustible purse, but Governor Eberhart clearly has that wishing cap, and it can hardly be that he uses any other headgear. He puts it on and wishes himself in New York, and there he is. He wishes himself in Pittsburg, and behold! in Pittsburg he is. He wishes himself here and there and hither and yon, and wherever his wish suggests, his wishing cap carries him.

But the tale has a sad ending, a thing we confess we do not like in tales. "These gifts prove the ruin of himself and his tribe." Maybe Fortunatus gadded about too much for his own good. We hope the authority which gave the state the boon of this felicitous title for our governor will warn him against what happened to his predecessor of the European tale. The state would miss Governor Eberhart and his tribe, and especially the genial Ed Smith, chieftain of that tribe. That Fortunatus business, however, evidently can be overdone.

THE POWER OF A SMILE.

Talk about the power of harnessed water, the power of electricity, the power of steam, the power of public opinion! They are not to be compared with the power of a smile. They are mighty powers, and they do splendid, noble work. They are forces in the making of a new civilization and the authors of gigantic changes in the living conditions of mankind.

But the power of a smile is mighty, too. It balks guile, banishes fear, invokes cheer; it scatters the clouds of adversity, of discouragement, of sorrow, of dismay.

It brings cheer into the sick room. It brings hope into homes of sorrow. It changes gloom to courage, pessimism to optimism, fear to resolution.

It chases the demagogue off his rostrum. It shakes the tyrant from his throne. It exposes the rascal and his fell designs. It puts the quack out of business. It is the only power that can shatter the chains of custom and convention.

Man is a creature of habit, and so is society. As man, once started doing things a certain way, has a tendency to keep on doing them that way always, so with society. Social customs, products of habit, are so hard-crusted that nothing can break them until at last a smile betrays the fact that they have become ridiculous. Then they vanish like a snowflake before the midday sun. The chivalry of the Middle Ages, for instance, was a noble and romantic institution, but it hung on after its day was done because it was a custom. Cervantes killed its sullied remnants with a smile when he wrote "Don Quixote."

Your friend has had a bit of ill luck. He has brooded over it until he thinks the whole world has turned dark, that fate has set its hand against him, and that life holds out no promise to him. You enter with a smile, you tell him to cheer up, that tomorrow is another day; and presently you have him smiling with you. That smile banishes discouragement. He sees things in a new light and from a new angle. The bad luck shrinks to its proper proportions, and so discloses the many good things he had been overlooking. He takes new hold on life. A smile did it.

A man lies ill, perhaps close to the gates which, opening and shutting to let through a passing soul, never open again to let it come back. A visitor, gloomy of soul, has just left after a depressing visit which pervaded the sick room with a spirit of hopelessness. Another visitor comes, beaming good cheer and hope. He greets the sick man with a smile and a word of encouragement. Whatever fear he may have of the outcome of the sickness, he smothers it and through his smile lets a new spirit of hope pervade the room. That smile filters through and into the heart of the sick man, bringing new courage and resolution. He takes a new hold on life, braces up and rallies. That smile may have been the thing that determined between life and death.

A smile of doubt and scorn may silence the tongue of the scandal monger and save a reputation. A smile of derision may shame the demagogue who seeks to mislead the people. A smile of defiant courage may set afoot a revolution that will bring the tyrant tumbling from his throne. A smile of knowledge may discomfit the charlatan and bring his schemes to naught.

"A man may smile and smile and be a villain" still; but that sort of smile advertises itself. The kind of smile we celebrate is the kind that brings cheer and hope and courage and that conquers fear and discouragement and doubt.

REGULATION.

Chatting amiably before the steel trust investigating committee, Mr. Carnegie, evidently enjoying himself hugely, delivered himself of sage opinions on matters many and sundry.

Among other things worth noting, he said that he believed that government supervision of big business is advisable, and that he thought "the time has arrived when it is necessary, and I point to the interstate commerce commission, which has brought peace, order and justice out of chaos in the railroad business."

Many others prominent in the control of big business, harrassed by the fruitless attempt with the Sherman law to lock a stable from which the horse has been stolen, are talking like that, and coveting a government commission that will do for industry what the interstate commerce commission has done for—or to—the railroad business.

The interstate commerce commission is doing much good, and eventually the railroad business will settle down to a stable basis under its control in the interests of the public. The commission is still handicapped by a lack of authority, and it hasn't been able to do nearly so much good since President Taft got congress to block its way with the commerce court. But it is a step in the right direction, and a good deal of what Mr. Carnegie claims for it has happened.

But when we hear these men praising regulation and applauding the regulation of railroads, we can't help recalling what a fuss they made about it when it was first proposed to put railroads under public control, and how that fuss has been repeated every time it was proposed to make that control more complete. An unsophisticated stranger in our midst at the time would have been justified in believing that the world would come to an end if the public, through government, stepped in and assumed control over "private business"—as though there could be such a thing as private business when every business exists merely to serve the public.

Not harm, but good, has come of railroad regulation, and there is going to be more of it rather than less.

And regulation, not destruction, is the proper way to solve the problem of big business.

But it must be real regulation, not sham; and it must be in the interests of the public, not in the interests of the managers of big business. The public can be trusted to be fair. It will never deal so harshly with any industry under its control as all big industries have dealt with it.

And before this real regulation comes the people must be put in close control of their government and equipped with all necessary machinery to make sure that at all times it shall be responsive to their will and need and never to the will and greed of selfish special interests.

PAYING PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES.

Not long ago he fell heir to $150,000 in personal property, a bequest from his father. He didn't leave the assessors to guess at the amount of his wealth, and he didn't lie about it—as all the rest of us do—when he made out his personal property return. He told the assessors that he was worth $150,000, and directed them to assess him accordingly. And now he is paying a fourth of all the taxes of his town.

Now this man did exactly what the law requires every man to do. But he did what almost no other man has ever done—he told the full truth about his possessions, and paid taxes accordingly.

Of course the effect of this is that he pays ten times as much as his share should amount to. He is paying his own share in full, and he is paying also a parge part that should have been paid by those who are not so honest. In being honest, as his conscience directed him to be, he has been unfair to himself and to his family.

Not even Mr. Carnegie, who gives millions away, ever did such a thing as this. Nor has Mr. Rockefeller, his rival in the friendly game of showering riches on the public—from whose hard-earned wages these riches came—ever attempted anything so spectacular. In point of fact, it is not an unfamiliar spectacle to see a rich man fight like mad to cut down his ridiculously disproportionate taxes, and then give away a thousand times what he saved by putting part of his tax burden off upon those least able to bear it.

We hope the Rev. Mr. Crane got satisfaction enough out of his unparalleled honesty to compensate him for the expense of paying other people's taxes. Certainly that is what any man does who takes the law literally and, because it requires him to make a full and true return of the actual value of his property, does make such a return. Of course it's prevaricating to say that your property is worth $5,000 when it is really worth $25,000; but unless you do prevaricate you will be forced to pay five times your share of the taxes because everybody else is returning to the assessor as little as they think he will swallow.

Of course the answer is that the personal property tax is impossible, antiquated, absurd, impracticable; that it fosters perjury and dishonesty, and that it hits hardest the poor whose small holdings are in plain sight and lightest the rich whose large holdings are easy to conceal.

Some time the states are going to quit the attempts to levy a personal property tax and to make it just and fair and equal. They have found out, all of them, that this cannot be done, and that the attempt to do it is wasted time, returning a revenue ridiculously out of proportion to the hypocrisy and injustice that go with it.

Having found this out, one would think they would abandon an attempt at something that has been proved impossible; but custom is a hard chain to break.

Perhaps this Massachusetts minister was foolish to shoulder voluntarily taxes that others ought to pay. But probably he feels about as well over it as those who think they are forced to perjure themselves in making their returns of personal property for taxation.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

HYPOCRISY AND CHRISTIANITY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I noted with quite a bit of interest and approval the article on "Hypocrisy and Christianity," by Rev. Hughes, and also your editorial on the same topic which appeared in your issue of Jan. 13. I have discussed both the article and the editorial with some clergymen and some laymen, and the consensus of opinion seems to be that both article and editorial were results of "flying off at a tangent," or rushing into print for the sake of notoriety. Now, this criticism didn't exactly suit me—because, while it was unfair to the authors of the articles, it was also an attempt to dodge the questions proposed by the articles. Now, I am a lawyer, and am accustomed to seeing cases decided upon the validity of the evidence supplied, and up to this date the evidence seems to be in favor of the plaintiffs, the authors of the articles.

I don't want to place the church in the position of defendant, but it seems to me, if they are silent in regard to so important a question, they necessarily make themselves defendants, and rather poor ones, too. Being a strong churchman myself, I would like to hear something from the clergy. Very sincerely yours, A LAWYER.

Duluth, Jan. 19.

"THE CHURCH AND SOCIETY."

To the Editor of The Herald:

The churches have nourished and inspired nearly all of the efficient workers for our social welfare. Of those who are engaged directly in civic, social and industrial reform work some have denied their obligations to the churches, because they have lost their spiritual vision, or have obscured their church relations in the interests of tact that is more or less cowardly and dishonest. As a result outsiders say, "Is the church meeting the crisis of society?" "Will the church solve our community problems?"

Behind these accusing questions there may lurke a demand that a family church become an institutional church, or that the church commit herself officially to some economic, or social program of reform. Under certain conditions such demands are fair and in harmony with her function. I suppose but few church members would be un-Christ-like enough to be deaf to these demands.

Today the relation of church and society is not a question of alternatives but of emphasis. It is not a question, shall the church seek to correct social conditions, or shall she seek to lead men to accept Christ as a personal saviour. She should do both, but she is to remember that she can most efficiently and permanently do the former class of work, by focussing her attention and specializing her activity in the latter class of work.

I love the church with a passion that exceeds my love for country, and yet I hold no brief in defense of the average church of America, nor do I attempt an apology for the average church member.

Many newspaper criticisms of the church would never have been written had the spiritual energies of Penticost dominated the churches of this city. If it were easy to find churches that usually had conversions in regular meetings. If the walls of churches frequently echoed with cries of penitence and songs of new found faith coming from converted harlots, drunkards, giddy worldlings and smug industrial and political corruptionists, then the world would not sneer at the futility of the churches hours of worship, minutes of preaching, seasons of prayer and sessions of Bible study.

When such churches are multpiled, outsiders will admit that in curing the love of sin in promoting communion with God, the churches are dealing with the causes of distress far more fundamentally than they could by entering into any of the modern social service programs. But I would not imply that the true churches should fail to grapple directly with the social evils.

A planing mill is established to produce finished lumber. Kindling wood is a by-product of the mill. Kindling wood is none the less useful and highly prized for fuel. Moreover if the mill is not producing kindling wood it is certain that the mill is not producing lumber, either. However, the mill is not built to produce "slabs" for kindling but rather dressed lumber.

Christ came to cure us of the disease of guilty unbellef and to redeem us from death. Incidentally He healed men's bodies. Out of His great love He touched blind eyes, leprous hands and even dead bodies. So He by acted parable preached His gospel for the healing of the spirit. He always tried to make it clear that His healing of the body was a by-product of His large work.

Christ's church is here to continue the very work that Jesus Christ began. Her primal function is the curing of the disease of sin and gathering out of the world a people saved by grace. Incidentally she should heal the bodies of the sick and attempt the healing of the body politic. If she does not so work, we may be certain that she is not doing Christ's work of interpreting the gospel to men. However useful and inevitable this social work may be to a living church, it is still only a by-product.

The spiritual ministrations of the average church are so formal and futile, it is not strange that outsiders fail to see the value of any prayer meeting, any preaching service, any Bible study session. A distinction should be made between formal and vital worship and prayer. The church can produce miracles of saving grace. She is created and redeemed to be an organism for realizing the presence and power of God. Her members have a work in the community that they should do on their knees. It is a work that they cannot accomplish by their hands or their tongues. She will never solve the social problems until she learns again what Jesus said to the dumb-founded disciples. They had vainly attempted to heal a victim of epilepsy. Jesus said, "This kind goeth not forth but by prayer." It is the mission of the true church of Christ to demonstrate that here in Duluth Jesus Christ is really living and working as a person in people who are members of His body.

WILTON FISH.

Duluth, Jan. 18.

Which Was Right?

Literary Digest: In a letter recently published, Lord Roberts, great military authority that he is, says:

"My country, right or wrong . . . is the sentiment most treasured in the breast of any one worthy of the name of man."

So said Stephen Decatur in a toast given in Norfolk in 1820:

"Our country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong."

In response, John Quincy Adams wrote:

"And say not then, 'My country, right or wrong'
Nor draw thy sword in an unhallowed cause.
But when thy country wanders from the right
Furl up her banners and avert thy sight."

Which doctrine is right, that of the two soldiers or that of the statesman?

MINNESOTA AND THE PRESIDENCY.

What's This, Alvah?

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The La Follette supporters want a primary election and the Journal-Press approves the plan if it can be made practical so that the voters could express their choice. But the carrying out of that program would put La Follette out of the running this year. Give the rank and file of the G. O. P. an apportunity to vote on candidates and one T. Roosevelt would receive a large majority over all other candidates. It would be just as fatal to the La Follette men to seek a primary election as it would for the Taft supporters.

Colored Glasses.

Laporte News: In politics as well as in everything else, a man can usually see what he looks for. Congressman Miller says that "Minnesota is safely in the Taft column," while Congressman Anderson says that "this state will go to the national convention with a delegation instructed for La Follette." Others think they can see the form of a man's head with large eyes, prominent front teeth and a colonel's soft hat looming up in the distance. You can "pay your money and take you choice," so far.

A Democratic Year.

Biwabik Times: Even the Northfield News admits that it looks like a Democratic president in 1912. There is no getting away from this outcome unless the Democrats get their wires crossed and nominate a reactionary of the Harmon type. The people are determined to get control of the government and will vote in anybody who will guarantee to take a lively wallop at big business. And they are right unless big business gets mighty good and decides that the present is not time to "punish the agitors and demagogues."

Wilson the Man.

St. Peter Herald: Judson Harmon "gum-shoed" into St. Paul to foregather with the Western governors and promote his presidential boom. Governor Harmon is an old-line, standpat Democrat, and while a strong man in his own state, is not the sort of candidate to appeal to the progressive West. Woodrow Wilson is more closely in touch with popular ideals and popular thought—by far the better man to lead Democracy in the next campaign.

Leave Teddy Out.

Waterville Sentinel: Progressive Republicans should not allow themselves to be deceived by this talk of Roosevelt, which is nothing but a move to divide La Follette's support or to draw attention away from the latter. Also do not forget that Roosevelt is responsible for Taft.

For La Follette.

Cannon Falls Beacon: Just at this juncture this paper wishes its attitude as to Col. Roosevelt distinctly understood: He needs no apology from any individual or any interest; he is by long odds the biggest man that has occupied the White House since Lincoln. He does not want the presidency at this time and the Beacon does not want him for president at this time, and it does want another man who in statesmanship will size up with him and his name is La Follette.

The Goal Beyond the Fight.

Virginia Enterprise: "Nothing but death can keep me out of the fight now," is the way in which President Taft gives his ultimatum regarding his candidacy for renomination. But there is a goal beyond the fight, and if we mistake not the votes of the people of the United States will keep him clear of that.

Or Jumping.

St. Peter Tribune: "With the nomination of La Follette, as the standard bearer, the Republican party would be planting itself once more on the principles of Lincoln," said Senator Clapp in a speech in Ohio last week. Tramping on them, we suppose.

Sheridan's Ride.

Up from the south at break of day,
Bringing to Winchester fresh dismay,
The affrighted air with a shudder bore
Like a herald in haste to the chieftain's door.

The terrific grumble, rumble and roar,
Telling the battle was on once more,
And Sheridan twenty miles away.

And wider still those billows of war
Thundered along the horizon's bar;
And louder yet into Winchester rolled
The roar of that red sea uncontrolled.
Making the blood of the listener cold,
As he thought of the stake in that fiery fray
And Sheridan twenty miles away.

But there is a road from Winchester town,
A good, broad highway leading down;
And there through the flush of the morning light
A steed as black as the steeds of night
Was seen to pass, as with eagle flight,
As if he knew the terrible need,
He stretched away with his utmost speed;
Hills rose and fell; but his heart was gay,
With Sheridan fifteen miles away.

Still sprung from those swift hoofs thundering south,
The dust, like smoke from the cannon's mouth;
Or the trail of a comet, sweeping faster and faster,
Foreboding to traitors the doom of disaster.
The heart of the steed and the heart of the master
Were beating like prisoners assaulting their walls,
Impatient to be where the battle field calls,
Every nerve of the charger was strained to full play,
With Sheridan only ten miles away.

Under his spurning feet the road
Like an arrowy Alpine river flowed,
And the landscape sped away behind
Like an ocean flying before the wind.
And the steed, like a bark fed with furnace fire,
Swept on, with his wild eye full of fire.
But lo! he is nearing his heart's desire;
He is snuffing the smoke of the roaring fray,
With Sheridan only five miles away.

The first that the general saw were the groups
Of stragglers, and then the retreating troops;
What was done—what to do—a glance told him both,
And striking his spurs, with a terrible oath,
He dashed down the line, 'mid a storm of huzzas.
And the wave of retreat checked its course there, because
The sight of the master compelled it to pause.
With foam and with dust the black charger was gray;
By the flash of his eye and his red nostrils' play,
He seemed to the whole great army to say,
"I have brought you Sheridan all the way
From Winchester town to save the day."

Hurrah, hurrah for Sheridan!
Hurrah, hurrah for horse and man!
And when their statues are placed on high
Under the dome of the Union sky—
The American soldiers' Temple of Fame,
There with the glorious general's name
Be it said with letters both bold and bright:
"Here is the steed that saved the day
By carrying Sheridan into the fight,
From Winchester—twenty miles away."

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Hit From Where You Are.

Mr. Robert Fitzsimmons, former champion of the prize ring, let fall a golden sentence when, in reminiscent mood, he remarked, "My secret is to hit from where I am." One need not be an admirer of Mr. Fitzsimmons' art to approve his solid philosophy. In the exigencies of an exacting profession he had found that ideal conditions do not always prevail. In fistic combat he could not fussily pick and choose. He must take conditions as he found them and do his best. And life is always trying to teach us the same lesson.

More people fail in this world from infirmity of will than from any other cause. They cherish great hopes and make large plans but lack the strength to make their purposes come true. Awaiting the more suitable occasion, they fail in the end to improve any occasion. Delaying till all the conditions are to their liking they let actual performance go by default. With them as with vacillating Hamlet,

The native hue of resolution
Is sicklied o'er with the pale cast of thought,
And enterprises of great pith and moment
With this regard their currents turn awry
And lose the name of action.

Deliberation is well in its place and careful planning is always desirable. There is a time, however, when one should stop deliberating and simply do the thing. We may test the temperature of the water, calculate its depth, watch the other bathers, but the only way to swim is to plunge in.

Remember that the ideal conditions for which you look will probably not come in this world. The situation without its difficulties has not yet been invented. There are always features of a man's environment he could wish different. You can easily suggest improvements in the scheme of life that has been allotted to you. If you had this one's ability or that one's opportunities you could make shift to get along, but never with things as they are.

Heroism begins in making the best of what one has. Accenting the actual situation, without growling, we should strive to improve it. If one wants stirring narratives let him turn to the records of those who have won their crowns with the slenderest equipment or in the face of physical handicaps that most of us would regard as insurmountable. Beethoven, in later years completely and painfully deaf, composes his glorious symphonies. Prescott, with only partial sight in one eye remaining to him, writes his monumental histories. Stevenson preaches his sky-blue gospel of optimism from his pallet in a sickroom. Such men are the heroes of our race.

Young man, young woman, hit from where you are. There are larger jobs than this one you are holding. Make a reputation where you are and prove that you are bigger than the situation. There are more important schools than the one you are teaching. Fill up the measure of your present opportunity. Make a proper use of the materials at hand.

The truth is put clearly in Sill's splendid poem which I wish we had space to quote in full. With the broken sword which the craven had thrown away as being useless the prince won the fight.

"Then came the King's son, wounded sore bestead,
And weaponless, and saw the broken sword,
Hilt buried in the dry and trodden sand
And ran and snatched it, and with battle shout
Lifted afresh he hewed his enemy down,
And saved a great cause that heroic day."

So it is that what one man will throw away in discouragement, another will pick from the dust and use to win a splendid victory.

THE PARSON.

The Trust Solution.

New York Globe: Mr. Gardner of the Stanley committee summed up the trust issue with admirable succinctness when he said to Witness Carnegie:

"Two lines of thought are developing among the people of this country. One of these lines is well expressed by President Taft in his message, and is that the dissolution of these large units shall continue under the present Sherman law. The other line of thought was expressed by ex-President Roosevelt in the Outlook, and looks to the recognition and continuation of these large industrial units, but favors their drastic control by the federal government. In which of these states of mind, Mr. Carnegie, do you find yourself?"

Mr. Carnegie's answer, given without the slightest hesitation, was that he favored the ideas of Mr. Roosevelt. Mr. Carnegie, specialist in peace movements, has much more sympathy with and for the pacific Taft than the military Roosevelt. Yet on the trust question Mr. Carnegie sees that the Taft policy leads nowhere—that, if strictly and absolutely applied, its results would be destructive, and that if only theoretically or nominally applied the results, as seen in the tobacco and Standard Oil reorganizations, are farcical.

The conclusion of Mr. Carnegie is that there is only one practical way to proceed. It is recognized that industrial bigness is here to stay, and that the only thing is to regulate it so that the public will get the benefit of its economies. This is the conclusion of the students of the trust question. It is the conclusion of the men of business. A few legal theorists like Wickersham are trying to give virility to certain common law definitions that were written by men who never dreamed of the steam engine or the modern means of production, distribution, and communication. The mystery about President Taft is that he should fail to see why it is that all the so-called victories over the trusts have been barren.

Mr. Carnegie is a man of large experience. He has some repute as a philanthropist. He has but a few years more to live. One cannot imagine any reason why he should give insincere advice. What he says will have weight with the public, and ought to have. The era in which otherwise sensible Americans have vied with each other as to which should show the greatest muddlement over the trusts draws to a close.

A Co-operative Mine.

The Survey: A mining company formed by trade unionists in alliance with the Farmers' union is described in a recent issue of the United Mine Workers' Journal. All shares are owned by unionists, and sold to unionists alone. The company is named the State Coal company and capitalized at $200,000. The mine, which is situated at Erie, about seven miles from Louisville, undertakes to furnish fuel on twenty-year contracts at less than current rates. Years ago John Jarrett wanted the Amalgamated Association of Iron & Steel Workers to own and operate a plant, so that, in their bargains with the big employers of the trade the unions would know the truth as to market conditions and would also know more of the employers' administrative difficulties.

"Highbrow."

Life: The slang ban on "highbrow" is hereby raised. No longer will it be left to languish in the lower limbo of language. It is a perfectly good and expressive word. It graphically denotes that amusing class in the community who are not content to be merely and modestly intellectual, but who in addition make a great parade of their intellectuality, who must be imposing, patronizing and pompous. The Highbrow is the professional intellectual.

SICKLES AND KEY

By SAVOYARD.

Mr. Foxcroft Davis in a recent magazine article undertakes to relate some history that is news to some of us who remember the affair differently. Speaking of the mansion in which James G. Blaine died, Mr. Davis says: "This house had an unlucky history and some years before it had become impossible to rent it for a private residence on account of the tragedies that had occurred there, and it had been let to the government for the use of the quartermaster general's department. In that house occurred the Sickles and Francis Scott Key tragedy, and from the steps Mrs. Sickles had waived the signal across the park to Key that resulted in the duel in which he was killed and Gen. Sickles was badly injured. He still lives and is 89. Later in that house William H. Seward lived when the attack on his life was made at the time of the assassination of President Lincoln."

Francis Scott Key was the author of "The Star-Spangled Banner." He was a sincere and devout Christian gentleman, and died peacefully in his bed years before Philip Barton Key, a relative, was shot down in the street, a few steps from that house. There was no duel; it was simply assassination. Barton Key had no weapon and Sickles was not touched.

Sickles was indicted, tried, and acquitted. His counsel was the famous John Graham, assisted by Edwin M. Stanton. The prosecuting attorney was Robert Ould. Graham then and there invented the plea of "emotional insanity" of his client, occasioned by his discovery of the relations between his wife and Key. Subsequently they called it the "unwritten law." "Emotional insanity" merely excused a murder. The "unwritten law" completely justified it. Such is error in progress. The Sickles case was the first in which the plea was advanced.

John Graham, though no such advocate as Rufus Choate or James T. Brady, was the most successful criminal lawyer of his day. He defended Cole for murdering Hiscock and McFarland for murdering Richardson, and in these cases as well as the Sickles case he pleaded for his clients the unwritten law and he got a verdict of "not guilty" in all three trials. It is possible that James T. Brady also assisted him in the Sickles case. I believe he did. He was more than a brilliant and eloquent orator, for he was an erudite and profound lawyer, master of the science and philosophy of it as well as the art and practice of it.

Mr. Foxcroft Davis says that Mr. Blaine occupied the house when defeated for president. That is error. He subsequently acquired it, and, as I now remember, did not live in it until he entered President Harrison's cabinet. It was a club house when Sickles killed Key, and the latter emerged from it, started toward the avenue, and met Sickles and Butterfield when he was shot down. Perhaps it was a Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Sickles' confession was what "cleared" her husband.

This house got into congress. After Blaine's death it was on the market. It adjoined Don Cameron's residence, immediately north of it. Don proposed that the government buy it, tear it down, and make it a part of the government vacant ground lying between it and the treasury. This would have given Cameron a fine "southern exposure" and added materially to the value of his property. The thing was getting on just like "shoeing horses" when old Vest of Missouri got up, sailed into it in savage style, and killed the job. Then Uriah Heep Painter bought it and built a theater on the site, and the theater structure is there today.

At the time of the tragedy Sickles was a member of congress from New York city. He was the henchman of William L. Marcy, who ought to have been president and would have been president if, like Silas Wright and Samuel J. Tilden, he had belonged to the Van Buren wing of the party in the Empire state. He was secretary of state in the cabinet of Franklin Pierce and selected Sickles for secretary of legation at the court of St. James when Buchanan was our minister. A mission of Sickles was to watch "old Buck" and report what he was doing to get the Democratic nomination in 1856, which Marcy wanted and expected, but which Buchanan got.

Sickles was first elected to congress in 1856 and was re-elected in 1858, serving from March 4, 1857, to March 3, 1861. After the election of Lincoln he made a violent speech in which he threatened that before any hostile armed force crossed the Potomac to invade the sacred soil of the South it would have to march over his dead body. A few months later he went "a-colonelling" down South himself, commanding a hostile brigade.

He fought heroically at Gettysburg, where he lost a leg. A few days before Austerlitz, one evening after nightfall, Napoleon was going through the camp of the Grand Army and overheard a young officer discussing politics in an exclamation: "I do not like the purple-clad emperor of the Tuileries. Give me the Gen. Bonaparte of Lodi and Rivoli!" Advancing to the group the emperor harshly demanded, "Who are you to criticize me? Your sword, sir, your sword! Grand Master, take his sword!" The young officer was standing at salute, and at the command dropped his hat and proceeded to unbuckle his belt. "Where is your other arm?" asked Napoleon. "I left it at Aboukir, sir." "Very well, very well," said Napoleon, "you are not the first whose hand has saved his head. Go, but let politics alone!"

And his leg saved Sickles his commission. He would have been brought to court-martial for incapacity, insubordination, and disobedience of orders had he not been wounded at Gettysburg. He is one of the very few surviving major generals of the Federal army of 1861-65—possibly the sole survivor of them.

After the war Sickles was a satrap in South Carolina, where he was head of a government the vilest and most infamous of modern times, and unique in this particular—it was sought to subject an Anglo-Saxon people to the rule of their former slaves of the lowest race of the human family. He toured the country speaking for the election of Gen. Grant in 1868. And if, like Logan, he had lived in a Republican community, he would have remained a Republican; but he turned Democrat and was elected sheriff. Then he was a Democrat in the Fifty-third congress. He began public life as a Democrat.

He is now on the retired list drawing a pension of $5,000 a year, though a millionaire. The poor washerwoman, who knows not if she is to have a loaf of bread for a Sunday dinner, is taxed on her miserable food, clothing, and shelter to support this man of millions.

And that, and such as that, are what all this row is about. This and these have made Independent Republicans and Progressive Democrats, and the people are going to reform it—peaceably if they can, forcibly if they must.

• • •

If Daniel E. Sickles were a poor man, nobody, North or South, would withhold from him his pension. He was a brave soldier and did his devoir gallantly on the field of bloody and desperate battle. All honor to him for that. But he is a very rich man and it is a perversion of public and patriotic gratitude that such as he should be a pensioner and a mendicant billeted on the public treasury.

A CASH NEXUS FOR CRIME

How Alabama Farms Out Her Convicts--- State Convicts Hamper Successful Strikes--- Sheriffs Paid for Each Arrest.

By SHELBY M. HARRISON.

(Exclusive Service the Survey Press Bureau).

A boy in Anniston, Ala., trespassed upon the railroad tracks. He was arrested, sentenced to sixty days hard labor, and leased out to a coal operator. He was totally inexperienced in coal mining, unused to its dangers, and was at work only a few days when he met with an accident which resulted in the amputation of one of his legs. He will hobble around the rest of his life on one leg—a cripple for life for trespassing, a thing that hundreds of people do from year to year unmolested.

Last Apr. 8, 123 negro convicts working in the Banner mine, operated at the time by the Pratt Consolidated Coal company, were instantly killed by an explosion. Seventy-two of the convicts were from Jefferson county, in which Birmingham is located; and twenty-one out of seventy-two, or 30 per cent, were convicted of offenses so minor that their sentences, aside from cost, did not exceed twenty days.

Coal mining is one of the two most hazardous occupations that today enrolls any very large number of workers. And coal mining, where the danger of inexperienced workers injuring themselves is exceedingly great, where the opportunities for those who already are murderers to injure or kill their fellow workers, is also exceedingly great—coal mining, an occupation ranking among the two most deadly even where free labor is employed—that is the occupation to which Alabama hires out 50 per cent of her state and county convicts, whether they be trivial misdemeanants or criminals of the lowest order.

The Alabama convict labor system embraces state convicts, county convicts and county prisoners. During the last five years the number of state convicts has averaged about 2,500 per year, and of county convicts in all counties, about 700. Both state and county convicts who are able must work and their labor brings into the Alabama state treasury above $400,000 annually and into the county treasuries nearly $100,000.

Except for several hundred convicts in the penitentiary at Wetumpka and at the state farm and factory at Speigner, the labor of convicts, both state and county, is contracted out. The men go not only to the coal mines, but to sawmills, private forms, a stove foundry and turpentine camps. Only the most able-bodied are sent to the mines. In round numbers 1,500 convict miners are divided among five operating companies.

For the non-performance of tasks, except under good excuse, corporal punishment may be inflicted in the form of whipping. The victim is made to lie down and fifteen lashes over a back covered with but one garment may be, and usually are, administered. Many stories are told about the Birmingham district, where at least half of all the convicts work. For example, "Pig" Ford, a half-witted negro, is alleged to have been whipped and kicked to death several years ago by a warden of county convicts. It developed at the trial of the warden that Ford was a cocaine fiend and that the habit had destroyed his mind, a condition which the heavy-handed penal machinery of the state had not been deft enough to discover. The man should have been sent to an institution for defectives. The state was as blind in its punishment as the deputy who beat him.

I am convinced, however, that flagrant abuse is the exception rather than the rule in prison camps. But those exceptions show the serious possibilities of the flogging system. The world's experience is that it is too great a strain on human nature to vest brutal power over other men's bodies in any group of officials.

More questionable perhaps than the methods employed to force unpaid men to do a day's work, is the effect of the system upon outside free labor. Free wages are kept down by this completely controlled labor supply. With the coming in of machine mining, the old time skill of the pick miner is no longer essential in the soft coal beds, and 1,500 convicts can appreciably effect the wages of 20,000 free men.

But this system reacts against the miners' interest in another way. It has been a great factor in preventing unionism among the miners. Convict laborers cannot strike for if they do they are beaten for it. If free labor has a grievance which it would make emphatic by quitting work, the convict miners keep grinding out enough coal to take the edge off the protest. In the big strike of 1908, which broke the back of unionism in the coal mines of the district, convict labor turned out its daily quota of coal right through the period.

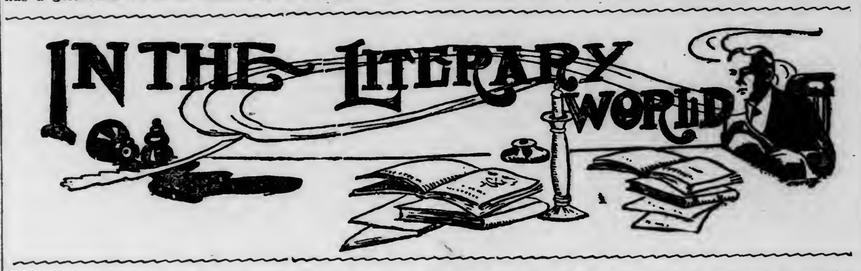

But viewed from a still more important angle, the Alabama convict system has failure written across it. Public opinion is coming to sanction the imprisonment of men in free society on two grounds; first, self-protection and second, rehabilitation. A school which turns out illiterates, or a hospital which sends back patients infested with contagion, is to be compared to a prison system which turns out men embittered, with weakened vitality, without vocational training, with new vices and with the stigma of crime upon them to batten them down into the ranks of maurauders.

Three hundred and sixty convicts loose in the darkness of the mines—this is in no sense a school of reform, but one of crime. Gambling goes on all the time, to put it as one man did, "from shoe strings to a chew of tobacco," and the long Sundays are especially given over to it. "Why," said he, "they will gamble the buttons off their clothes." But gambling is of course only the outward sign of the commerce in criminal ways which tends to drag down the whole gang to the level of the meanest.

One of the most heartening factors in the present situation is the work to improve conditions undertaken by the new state inspector of county jails and city prisons, Dr. W. H. Oates. Jails have been systematically visited, a number of them condemned, prisoners removed to adjacent counties when his orders were disregarded, some of the more flagrant unsanitary conditions cleaned up as a beginning of complete renovation, and a system of monthly reports from jailers to the state inspector's office instituted. All this has not been done without opposition, however, and opposition of such strength that it is likely to be crippled unless the citizens of Alabama rally on quick call to the support of a courageous officer who is doing his duty.

Over the door leading into the county jail at Anniston, the jailer's children had last summer innocently pinned in three-inch letters the word "Welcome." Behind their play lay the whole grim situation. It is to the economic interest of everybody concerned—deputies, sheriffs, court clerks, jailers, coal, lumber and turpentine companies, county and state—to have men arrested and to keep them in custody. The sheriff and his men are paid a fee for every arrest. It is money in the sheriff's pocket if he refuses the man's bond. More money, the more prisoners are lodged and fed in jail, and the more days they are kept there.

Courts and jails and prison systems are warped out of their right functions when they are counted on and expected to produce revenue. They rightly belong in the department of justice—or, if you will, of moral health—not the department of taxation or public finance nor as feeders for political pork barrels.

PETER RUFF AND THE DOUBLE FOUR. By E. Phillips Oppenheim, author of many thrillers. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. $1.25 net.

It's a jaded appetite for fiction that Peter Ruff will not appeal to. He is a wonderful man, just the kind of man as such a fiction character ought to be and as no human being can be—resourceful, anticipating everything, always prepared to defend his enemies and to circumvent their cunning. In the first half of the book he is engaged in outwitting John Dory of Scotland Yard. In the second half he is engaged, as head of the "Double Four," in outwitting Count von Hern, an Austrian spy. He never fails in either, though sometimes it must have taxed even Oppenheim's ingenuity to get him out of the situations he fell into. The "Double Four," at first a secret society of intellectual criminals, turns into a political engine of unexampled power and astuteness, with Peter Ruff as its head. It is a very interesting society, and Peter Ruff is a most engaging adventurer. There is a minor love interest, too.

Lots of people make light of Oppenheim, but he entertains, and that is what he sets out to do. This book will surely entertain, and therefore it is a success even if it teaches no moral lessons.

A MANUAL OF MENTAL SCIENCE. By Leander Edmund Whipple. New York: American School of Metaphysics, 500 Fifth avenue. $1.

The purpose of this volume, we are informed by the introduction to it, is "to give in a handy and concise form the main points of fact, law and rule of action for the using of the science in daily life"—"the science" meaning, of course, mental science.

As a man thinks, so is he. Therefore, think right and you will be right. The power of mind is set forth here and surely it is a mighty power and worth studying, though still mysterious and half-veiled in charlatanism and quackery. There's more in it than our conventional philosophies, Horatio; even if we cannot go so far as the author and declare that we can look into the realm of the subconscious mentality for the actual cause of every form of variety of sickness, suffering, unhappiness, distress, disorder or disease of body, soul and mind. To those who wish to study this subject this book should prove an interesting introduction.

Of Books and Writers.

In his "Handbook of Health," just published by Houghton Mifflin company, Mr. Woods Hutchinson compares the human body to an automobile. As he points out: "It has a head end, where fuel supplies are taken in, and where its lamps and other look-out apparatus are carried; a body in which the fuel is stored and turned into work or speed, and into which air is drawn to help combustion and to cool the engine pipes. It has a pair of forewheels (the arms) and a pair of hind wheels (the legs), though these have been reduced to only one spoke each, and swing only about a quarter of the way around and back again when running instead of round and round. It has a steering gear (the brain) just back of the headlights, and a system of nerve electric wires connecting all parts of it. It gets warm when it runs, and stops if it is not fed."

In "The Life and Times of Cavour," by William Roscoe Thayer (Houghton Mifflin company), the author shows the extraordinary self-assurance of Cavour even when face to face with Victor Emmanuel. Villafranca had been a terrible blow to Cavour. He besought the king to prosecute the war alone, to prove to the Italians that he was honorable, to win, possibly, the great stake they were fighting for, to fall, if must be, with reputation unsullied. The king offered obvious objections. Cavour grew insolent. "Calm yourself; remember that I am the king." "I am the real king," Cavour shouted, beside himself; "the Italians recognize me first of all!" "What do you say? You the king? You are a rogue!" replied Victor Emmanuel, and turned his back upon him. As soon as Cavour, still raging, left the room, Victor Emmanuel summoned della Rocca and said: "Do you know what Cavour wants? He wants me to continue the war alone. I am as furious as he over this peace, but I don't lose my compass. I don't lose my reason."

Kathleen Norris's "Mother," Edmund Lester Pearson's "The Believing Years" and Robert Herrick's "The Healer" (Macmillan) are the subjects of many commendatory reviews in the British press at present. "Mother' is a big title for a story but Kathleen Norris justifies it." "Rarely has one read a better description of a home and of the head of it or an ampler justification of the mother's care . . . It is a heartening book . . . It is very human and very clever, too." The Southport Guardian characterizes Mr. Pearson as "an author with a sympathetic and far seeing eye who writes with literary grace and charm . . . Seldom," The Guardian continues, "have we read sketches that more faithfully reproduced the escapades and excitements of youth than do these in 'The Believing Years.'" Of "The Healer," The London Daily Mail writes, "There is a fineness about Mr. Herrick's work that lifts it above the ordinary level. He writes with a keen sense of the larger humanity and yet with that feeling for rugged nature which one expects from a Canadian story . . . This is a book instinct with humanity and intolerant of the shame of so-called civilization. Its passion often rises to lyric pitch; its characterization is shrewd; its humor of the quietly sufficient kind that lasts."

George Fitch's book of humorous college tales, "At Good Old Siwash" (Little, Brown & Co.), went into a fourth printing just before Christmas, and is probably entitled to the distinction of the most popular volume of humorous fiction of 1911. In response to imperative demands Mr. Fitch is now at work revising his mirth-provoking motor boat stories for book publication sometime in the spring.

B. M. Bower, the author of "Chip of the Flying U," and other novels, has made a distinct reputation as a writer of plausible Western stories. The scenes in the forthcoming book from this author, entitled "Lonesome Land," which Little, Brown & Co. will publish in February, are laid in Montana, and the heroine is a superelious Eastern girl whose character is developed by the experiences which she has to undergo. B. M. Bower is thoroughly familiar with the desolate existence on the isolated ranches of Montana so that besides being a dramatic story, "Lonesome Land" is likely to be regarded as one of the truest pictures of present day Western life.

It is announced that the royalties on the first 25,000 copies sold of "My Ragpicker" (Little, Brown & Co.), written by Mary E. Waller, author of "The Wood-carver of 'Lympus," are to be given for the benefit of the Nantucket, Mass., Cottage hospital.

Frederick Isham, author of The Social Bucaneer (Bobbs-Merrill), has spent a great deal of time in India, and knows the customs of the country intimately. Mr. Isham is not particularly impressed with the marvelous tiger shooting of King George of England, recently commented upon in the newspapers. Mr. Isham says that in Jeypore, fine tigers, which have been captured, or perhaps raised, by the natives are kept in cages until some English notable comes along who wants to go tiger hunting. Then the beasts are drugged until they are almost helpless and turned loose in the jungle. The hunter is led up to them, and can shoot at will without any danger to himself. He can make a remarkable bag in this way and go back home to be the hero of his friends. Mr. Isham does not say whether the Englishmen are aware of the scheme, or whether they think they are really hunting tigers in the orthodox fashion.

In "The Amazing Adventures of Letitia Carberry," (Bobbs-Merrill), the author, Mary Roberts Rinehart, enters into a discussion of gas engines used to propel motor boats. Mrs. Rinehart says that her knowledge of the subject was gained from her chauffeur, who has taught her to assemble every part of her automobile. Letitia Carberry, by the way, is one of the funniest characters that ever held a steering wheel.

Among the Magazines.

Among the good things in the February St. Nicholas is the beginning of a new serial by Emilie Benson Knipe and Arthur Alden Knipe. It is called "The Lucky Sixpence," and the heroine is a dear little English lass, who is heartlessly shipped off to the colonies, where the later scenes of the story are to be set. The authors are careful and enthusiastic students of our early history, and it is promised that young readers who follow the tale will meet Washington, Franklin, and other notables of colonial days. Another interesting feature of this February issue is "The Story of Panama," by Farnham Bishop, giving much worth while detail of the history of the isthmus, the work on the canal, past and present, and the results to be accomplished.

The spirit of the "new South" is reflected in the January issue of the Survey which is devoted to a careful interpretation of the growth and opportunity of Dixie's new industrial giant, Birmingham. The story of how Birmingham came to be by Ethel Armes is as full of adventure as the tale of a hundred sea captains while Graham Romeyn Taylor paints the possibilities for the future of the city which can master dozens of fundamental short-comings which hang like millstones round the necks of older communities. The other articles by Morris Knowles, C. E., W. M. McGrath, A. J. McKelway, John A. Fitch and Shelby M. Harrison tell of the sanitary conditions and needs of a big industrial district, the conservation of health and of childhood both of which are made more difficult because of the negro population, the Birmingham workman, and the way in which for the sake of revenue Alabama farms out her convicts.

"A Hoarded Memory," by Gerald Villiers-Stuart, is the complete novelette in Ainslee's for February. It brings a strong, forceful man who has lived much of his life in Western America, lonely, without companionship of women, into the ultra-bohemian life of London, which society he seeks in order to meet the young authoress whose book, "A Hoarded Memory," read in a wild mining camp, has caused him to idealize her until she means to him the best and the dearest in womanhood. He finds her in an environment of such unusual interest, that it is—well, it is a brilliant story.

Readers who wish to keep posted on the vital issues of the presidential year, presented impartially from a partisan viewpoint, but vividly and fearlessly from the viewpoint of the common good, will be interested in the Outlook magazine, Lyman Abbott, editor, and Theodore Roosevelt, contributing editor. In the National Magazine for January, illustrated by photographs of historic Fort Stevens, the story of Early's brief beleaguerment of Washington and President Lincoln's "baptism of fire" during the Civil war is interestingly told; being historically important and the only instance where a president of the United States was present and under fire during an engagement while in executive office. A charming glimpse of "Musical Shrines in Europe" is given by Arthur Wilson, with pictures and a home like sketch of Richard Strauss, reputed the greatest living musical composer, and is of special interest to music lovers during the opera season. This month, especially devoted to grand opera, is an appropriate time for the article by Alexander Kahn, who asks in his title "What is Grand Opera?" George Wharton James tells of a nature writer in California, Mr. Charles Frederick Holder, whose creditable work and writings have escaped Col. Roosevelt's onslaught against "nature fakers." There are the usual number of charming stories for the long cozy winter evenings—stories that have just the pulsating move and go of American life.

The leading place in the special number of the Engineering Magazine for January is given to the first of a series of papers by Maj. Charles Dodd Lane Hine, in which he describes the "unit system" of organization as it is being developed by him along the entire Harriman system, on a scale approached, in magnitude, by but one other example in the world. This success of the system has been reported with conviction in some specially informed circles; but outside of the circles, the characteristics and methods of Maj. Hine's work have not been effectively presented. They are more interesting because of the large place given to sociological and psychological considerations.

E. Phillips Oppenheim has written another novel of mystery and intrigue. It is called "The Tempting of Tavernake." Tavernake is a young man, ambitious to make money, an out-and-out business man, who has no place for women in his world. But at the outset this matter of fact fellow is forced to give assistance to a girl, and the action takes him into the midst of a many-sided romance. The first part of the story appears in the first February number of the Twice-a-Month Popular Magazine.

The February Smart Set leads off with a complete novel by Francis Perry Elliott that is the imaginative scream of the year. "The Magic Rug"—the title has infinite possibilities. Raise your curtain upon the interior of a Persian junk shop in lower New York, resurrect the ancient rug from an old forgotten hole in the wall, imagine it endowed with curious occult powers—and spread proudly upon the polished floor of a splendid uptown mansion, what a wonderful series of ludicrous situations might be evolved! Mr. Elliott, whose other novel, "The Haunted Pajamas," appeared first in the Smart Set, has made the most of the opportunities afforded in this plot, and "The Magic Rug" is a masterpiece of delicious absurdity. Lee Wilson Dodd tells a beautiful story of Naples in "The Little Portion." "The Technique of Love," by E. C. Venables, is a strong story of a homely man, who analyzed scientifically the passion he found himself so incapable of inspiring. "Wenter's Hour," by Charles Francis Read, is a business story of unusual sort, presenting a striking picture of the inspiring influence of a great organized business, and also the repulsive, nerve-racking, soul-debasing features attending the successful conduct of a great soulless corporation.

Monday—Home talent play, "The Adventurer," at Lyceum theater; meeting of the playgoing committee with Mrs. Seymour at the Endion M. E. church at 10 a. m.; study class and board of directors meeting of the Matinee Musicale with Miss Simonds.

Wednesday — Club meetings and guild meetings.

Thursday — Forsyth-Duncan wedding at Yonkers, N. Y.

Friday — Club and church meetings; several dinner parties planned.

Saturday—Regular meeting of Saturday club.

Duluth society is principally interested in the home talent play, "The Adventurer," which will be put on at the Lyceum theater Monday evening. The cast is composed of twenty-two people and rehearsals during the past week have claimed a good share of attention. A number of theater parties are being planned for Monday evening and many will be preceded by little dinner parties.

Luncheons, teas and bridge parties are again claiming their share in the social whirl and with the approach of the Lenten season a good deal of entertainlng is being planned for the next few weeks.

Sleigh rides, skiing, skating and snowshoeing parties have been more numerous with the moderation of the extremely cold weather and warm suppers at the numerous cabins near the city after a few miles' tramp have been popular.

DULUTH TO HAVE NEW ESTABLISHMENT

H. YESSNE

LADIES' TAILOR, 30 E. SUPERIOR ST.

Mr. Herman Yessne, who has been with J. M. Gidding of this city for four years and J. J. Friedman for three years in the tailoring departments, and who is the inventor of the Fitwell System of cutting and designing ladies' garments, has decided that Duluth is in need of a reliable Ladies' Tailor and is going to endeavor to fill the need.

As this system enables him to turn out a tailor-made garment much cheaper than any one else, his patrons will reap the benefit of it.

Mr. Yessne has been in the ladies' tailoring business for fifteen years, so that he is well acquainted with the ins and outs of the business. His many friends wish him succes in his new undertaking.

In order to have the people of Duluth get acquainted with Mr. Yessne and his work, he is offering for 60 days only, tailored-made suits, coats and dresses of the advanced spring styles and fabrics for $25.

His place of business is at 30 East Superior street, where he will be glad to see his old friends and make many new ones.

"Babbling Brooke" Is Coming To America to Give Lectures

COUNTESS WARWICK AND SON.

The beautiful countess of Warwick is coming to America to lecture on communism. She will also deliver a lecture on prominent men and women she has known. This should be especially interesting because she was a member of the set which was led by Prince Edward of Wales during the gayest years of his life. She was the "Babbling Brooke" of the famous Tranby Croft scandal. Before her marriage to the earl of Warwick, she was Lady Brooke.

This was the third of the series of parties which they are giving this year and the committee in charge consisted of Misses Florence Holloway, Olive Neil, Anne McRae, Florence Nutting and Stella Sponnick.

The Thallan Literary society held its regular meeting yesterday in the assembly hall. The matter of dues was taken up, and after some discussion it was decided to change the sum from 25 cents to 15 cents. A short program was given, comprising several very good numbers. After the roll call, Margaret Clark rendered a delightful piano solo, and Mrs. Morrison read some verses entitled "Childhood" and "The Old Time," a French dialect poem. Several extemporaneous speeches followed by Elsie Bellamy, Bergliot Bergford, Petronella Stenberg and Victoria Hawkinson. This extemporaneous speaking is an innovation introduced by Miss Jack, and is a decided success. A girl is handed a slip of paper containing a topic upon which she must give a five-minute talk. A charming duet, "Oh, That We Two Were Maying," was sung by Alyce McCarthy, soprano, and Mabel Bostad, alto, and was heartily applauded.

The feature of the program was a short comedy sketch entitled "A Love of a Bonnet." Mary Myron, as Kitty Clipper, was charming, as was Florence Olson in the role of Dora Fastone. Clara Schiller, as Mrs. Clipper, and Ethel Denton as Mrs. Fastone, were both very good. Lucille Vanderpool handled the difficult role of Aunt Jemina Hopkins very ably, and kept the audience laughing, and Marion Brown, who acted the part of Irish Katie, showed exceptional talent for an amateur. The play was decidedly successful and afforded a great deal of pleasure to those who were fortunate enough to see it.

After the play the semi-annual election of officers was held. Those chosen were: President, Janet Haley; first vice president, Mabel Bostad; second vice president, Elsie Schweiger; secretary, Lucille Vanderpool; treasurer, May Ferguson.

A NEW SONG SUCCESS BY OLEY SPEAKS

"TO YOU"

Words by MARIE BEATRICE GANNON

High Voice, G. Low Voice, F.

Somewhere, I know, from the blue of the sky
God caught a gleam of the radiant blue,
Held it in tenderness, then let it melt
Into the eyes of you.

Somewhere, I know, from the gold of the sun
God caught a ray of its shining so true,
Held it all lovely, then let it blow
Deep in the heart of you.

The steadily growing popularity of this little love-lyric, with the appealing intimacy of its tender vocal phrase and its smoothly flowing rhythm, is only suggested by the following incomplete and partial list of prominent singers who are featuring it on their recital programs.

"VOTES FOR WOMEN" NOTES

Labor organizations in England are holding meetings of protest against the introduction of a manhood suffrage bill and have passed a resolution calling upon all members of parliament to demand the immediate abandonment of this bill and the substitution of a government measure giving votes to "all adults without distinction of sex."

• • •

The Western Federation of Miners of Canada wants votes for women. This was declared at the final session of the fifteenth annual convention held last week, when the delegates indorsed woman's suffrage without a dissenting voice.

Senator La Follette, in a public speech at Dayton, Ohio, a few days ago, said: "Women have as much right to the ballot as men. There are 7,000,000 women in this country earning their own living by day wages, and they are adding to the wealth of the nation. For this reason they have a moral right to have a voice in the questions of sanitation and all that goes to improve living conditions of the home, which are governed by legislation."

• • •

In Bohemia, women not only have the right to vote for, but are eligible to the diet. In Galicia, women of the privileged classes may cast a vote through the intermediary of a man. In Hungary there is a parliamentary league for woman's suffrage of about 150 of the deputies.

• • •

It cost the women of California 15.3 cents a vote to win their fight for equal suffrage at the recent state election, according to reports given out at the headquarters of the Southern California Political league.

• • •

All the political parties at Cracow, the ancient capital of Poland, are preparing for the municipal elections, and the question of votes for women has been introduced into the town council. What is considered very important is that the claim has been taken up by the municipal legislation commission, which has proposed a draft of an electoral system in which women's political rights are recognized.

EVENTS OF WEEK IN CLUBS AND MUSICAL CIRCLES

First Step in Organization of Drama League in Duluth Will Be Taken Monday—Flonzaley String Quartet Coming—W. C. T. U. Contest.

REHEARSALS for "The Adventurer," the play which will be put on at the Lyceum Monday evening under the auspices of the members of Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour's Dramatic Structure class, are making good progress under the direction of M. Benedict Papot.

This play is being given by members of the class for the purpose of making possible the holding of a big mass meetting at the Lyceum some time in the near future, at which time a Duluth branch of the Drama League of America will be formed. Branches of this league have been formed in Chicago, New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other large cities throughout the country, and committees have already been organized for the local branch.

At this mass meeting Dr. Richard Burton of Minneapolis, vice president of the league, will speak, and other well-known speakers will be engaged to talk on the subject. The purposes of the league have already been outlined and the working plan explained.

Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour is at the head of this movement in the city. The committees already made up are as follows:

Mrs. Seymour, director of organization.

Finance committee—Mrs. Stanley R. Holden, chairman; Mrs. Otto C. Hartman, Mrs. Elmer White, Mrs. William Prindle, Mrs. Ward Ames, Mrs. C. A. Marshall and Miss Marjorie Quilliard.

Local play-going committee—

Mesdames—
Elmer Whyte, C. A. Andrews, Robert Dowse, E. P. Towne, Stanley Holden, D. H. Costello, Thomas Ring, A. W. Hartman, Ward Ames, Jr., C. M. Rice, J. H. Upham, A. Fitger, M. B. Cullum, O. C. Hartman, Courtney Dinwiddie, William Prindle, G. G. Hartley, Walter Carr, Hans Sorenson, J. E. Rockwell, F. A. Patrick, John Dight, F. J. Pulford, T. D. Merrill, Percy Shaw, H. F. Williamson, W. B. Silvey, H. A. Dancer, R. B. Knox, Homer Collins, Julius H. Barnes, John G. Williams, W. N. Ryerson, C. A. Duncan, M. H. Kelley, Herbert Warren, Schildt, T. H. Hawkes, Millie Bunnell, D. H. Ray, R. A. Horr, J. I. Van Vliet, M. R. Baldwin, C. H. Munger, Ralph Marble, Margaret Copeland.

Misses—
Marporle Quilliard, Julia Ensign, Irma Hartley, Dorothy House, Katherine Hunter,
Rachael St. Clair, Julia Hunter, Wilhelmina Fitger, Margaret Anneke.

Interest in the Junior league has also been aroused among the younger people of the city and several branches will be formed as soon as the larger organization is effected. The Junior committee appointed consists of Julius Nolte, Richard Cullum, Caldwell Harris and Fred Van Vliet.

The members of the Advisory Play-Going committee of the league are: Walter Prichard Eaton, New York; Charles H. Caffin, New York; Lewis K. Anspacher, New York; Robert F. Massa, New York; Clayton Hamilton, New York; Frank Chouteau Brown, New York; J. E. Williams, Streator, Ill.; Dr. William M. Guthrie, New York, and Dr. Richard Burton of Minneapolis.

"I never have had such a fine cast of amateur players," said Mr. Papot, in speaking of the progress of the play. "Every one of them has gone into the work in an earnest, interested way and is taking hold of it with unusual ability. They have gotten the spirit of the thing and are going through a lot of hard work to bring out the play and are developing amazingly."

Mr. Papot, who is the director of the French theater in Chicago and a recognized authority on the drama both here and abroad, is giving a professional coaching which is valuable in shaping the performance.

The rehearsals have been going on for only one week, but the play promises to be one of the most finished productions ever given here by local talent.

"The Adventurer," said Mr. Papot, "is an absolutely clean play with a plot which is very ordinary. It is interesting in its situations and is especially important for the evolution of the characters displayed. An American audience is inclined to think it a 'talky' play, but all the conversation is necessary to give the evolution of each carnctor and his or her psychological development.

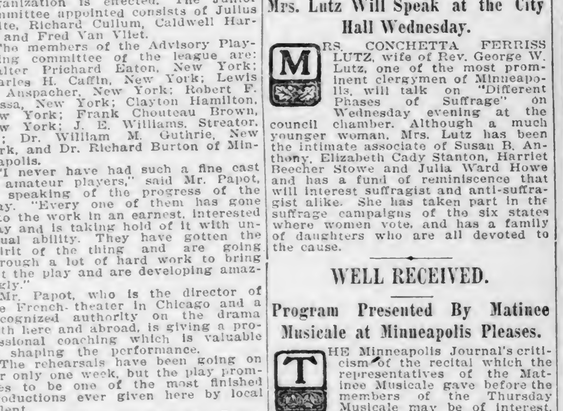

"It brings out the point that in spite of the fact that the people of today are becoming more practical and more logical, everyone has his vulnerable point and can be reached in some way, and when this point is touched he will respond according to the dictates of his heart, despite all his logical views.

"It is a good normal play and typical of the conditions of the French people of the present time."

The cast of the play follows:

FORM AUXILIARY.

Wives of Doctors Organize Club for Social Purposes.

FOR social purposes an auxiliary has been formed by the wives of a number of the members of the St. Louis County Medical association. They met Tuesday afternoon at the Commercial club for the purpose of organizing, and elected the following officers: President, Mrs. M. S. Hirschfield; first vice president, Mrs. A. E. Walker; second vice president, Mrs. J. A. McCuen; secretary, Mrs. E. L. Tuohy, and treasurer, Mrs. Homer Collins.

The women expect to enjoy the auxiliary meetings, and they are planning social functions for the year which will add to the social life of the city. The annual convention of the Medical association will be held in Duluth next summer, and at that time the auxiliary will be a great help in entertaining the visiting delegates and their wives.

Auxiliaries have been formed in St. Paul and Minneapolis, which have proven satisfactory and entertaining, and the local women expect to be a factor for good in the city. A committee was appointed to draft a constitution consisting of Mrs. C. F. McComb, Mrs. C. E. Lum, Mrs. O. A. Oredson, Mrs. C. L. Haney and Mrs. E. J. Patton.

"DON" DELIGHTFUL.

Miss Cora Mel Patten Reads Play Before Large Audience.

A LARGE audience was delighted with Miss Cora Mel Patton's reading of Besier's "Don," last evening at the assembly hall of the high school. Her wonderfully pleasing voice, and the remarkable distinction which she makes and keeps in the various characters, raises her work to an art unusual in a reader of plays.

The play itself proved most interesting and was thoroughly enjoyed through the reader's interpretations.

Miss Patton's voice is wonderfully appealing and she brought out the human emotions which are portrayed strikingly in the play, with perfect effect.

The selection of "Don" for her reading was a happy one for nothing could have been more thoroughly enjoyed than this play and the audience showed its appreciation with enthusiastic applause.

SUFFRAGE TALK.

Mrs. Lutz Will Speak at the City Hall Wednesday.

MRS. CONCHETTA FERRISS LUTZ, wife of Rev. George W. Lutz, one of the most prominent clergymen of Minneapolis, will talk on "Different Phases of Suffrage" on Wednesday evening at the council chamber. Although a much younger woman, Mrs. Lutz has been the intimate associate of Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Harriet Beecher Stowe and Julia Ward Howe and has a fund of reminiscence that will interest suffragist and anti-suffragist alike. She has taken part in the suffrage campaigns of the six states where women vote, and has a family of daughters who are all devoted to the cause.

WELL RECEIVED.

Program Presented By Matinee Musicale at Minneapolis Pleases.

THE Minneapolis Journal's criticism of the recital which the representatives of the Matinee Musicale gave before the members of the Thursday Musicale may be of interest. It follows:

"A most interesting concert was given at the First Baptist church yesterday by the members of the Matinee Musicale of Duluth. The program was one of a series of interchange recitals between the two clubs which will prove of much mutual benefit and pleasure.

"As a pianist Miss Faith Helen Rogers excelled in the playing of MacDowell's Norse sonata, of which she gave the first movement. Miss Rogers showed temperament and adequate technic. Brahms' waltz she played a little too languidly and in too slow tempo, and there was not sufficient rubato to bring out the required contrasts. Isolde's Liebestod, one of Liszt's showy arrangements of a Wagner score for the piano, was not pianistic, however well it was played by the visiting artist.

The real treat of the program was the very pleasing violin playing of Miss Volberg Gunderson, who in spite of her youth has masterly bow arm and fine appreciation of shading and color. The Vieuxtemps Fantasie Appassionata she played with more than ordinary skill, and in response to demands for an encore, gave the Meditation from 'Thais' with beautiful sentiment from clean tone. Mrs. Fred G. Bradbury was an excellent accompanist in these numbers as well as in the succeeding songs.

A cycle of Cadman, 'Three Songs to Odysseus' was well sung by Mrs. Donna Riblette Flaaten, a soprano of good voice. The last, Nausicca's song, was the best of the series. Mrs. Flaaten also sang compositions by Grieg, Strauss, Chaminade, Spross and Von Fielitz. The recital closed with a Concert Arabesque on 'The Blue Danube,' by Schultz-Evler, played by Miss Rogers."

QUARTET COMING.

Flonzaley Players Will Give Next Matinee Musicale Concert.

IT IS safe to say the Flonzaleys have only one or two equals in the world," declared Henry T. Finck in the New York Evening Post, in commenting upon one of the quartet's Mendelssohn hall appearances. "If chamber music is ever made a truly popular form of musical art, it will be through the achievements of organizations as similar as possible to this one."

The London, Eng., Standard says: "The complete understanding existing among the performers, and the breadth of outlook manifested by each individual player, brought about an interpretation as intellectual as it was delightful."

On Jan. 31, at the Congregational church, this organization will appear in the course of artistic recitals which the Matinee Musicale is enjoying this season.

HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA.

Will Make Its First Appearance Next Friday Evening.

THE Duluth Central high school orchestra, organized last fall, will make its first appearance before the Duluth public on Friday evening, Jan. 26, at the high school assembly hall. The concert is for the benefit of the high school athletic association, which is facing a large deficit from the past football season.

The orchestra numbers forty players and is under the direction of Dwight W. Hiestand. Thirty of the members are high school pupils. There are eighteen violins and the quality of the first violins is especially good. Some of the best instrumental players in the city are high school students. To give proper balance in the wood wind and in several other parts, ten of the best local players will give their services.

The program is made up of popular and operatic music. There are violin, trombone and vocal solos, all with orchestral accompaniment. The assistance of the orchestra adds much to the beauty of the "Meditation" from "Thais"; and the soprano aria from "Tannhauser" has one of Wagner's most effective settings, and its combination with Miss Linehan's beautiful voice is very brilliant.

Following is the program:

Overture to "La Dame Blanche" .....Boieldieu
(a) "Caressing Butterfly"..Barthelemy
(b) Serenade .....Chaminade
Trombone solo—"Sword of Ferrara"..
.....Bullard
Louis White.
"Vanity Caprice" .....Jackson
Violin solo—Meditation from "Thais" .....Massenet
James Viener.
Intermezzo—From "Tales of Hoffman" .....Offenbach
Introduction, Minuet, Barcarolle
Soprano solo—Elizabeth's Aria, "In These Halls" from "Tannhauser" .....Wagner
Mercedes Spanish waltz .....Miro

MEDAL CONTEST.

W. C. T. U. Members Will Compete at Y. W. C. A.

A SILVER medal contest, the third in the series being given under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance union of West Duluth, will be held on Friday evening of next week at the Y. W. C. A. building at 8 o'clock. The Jewell Adams quartet will sing several numbers, Miss Emma Swanstrom will give a vocal solo, and the Rakowsky trio will contribute instrumental music.

There will be six speakers in the contest and the program promises to be of especial interest. This contest is arranged for the benefit of the Young Woman's Christian association and anyone who is interested is cordially invited to attend.

Drama Class.

The regular meeting of the afternoon class in Modern Drama of the Twentieth Century club will be held at the club rooms of the library Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The reading of "The Play in Chains" will be finished with Mrs. R. Spiegel as leader.

LAKESIDE CHURCH WORK.

Women's Society Big Help in Charity Cause.

MEMBERS of the Women's Aid Society of the Lakeside Presbyterian church have been doing a good work in helping the poor of the city this winter. With "God's work and God's will" for their motto, they have adopted the method of raising money and all funds by direct giving. Suppers, bazars, sales, excursions and other indirect methods of raising money were abandoned and they spend the time and energy thus saved in sewing for those in need.

At the regular meeting of the society held in the church parlors last Wednesday afternoon, there were forty-five members present and during the afternoon two comforters were made and many warm garments of flannel and outing flannel completed, to relieve the suffering of the needy through this protracted cold snap.

The material for this work, much of which is new, has all been donated. Since July 6, 584 garments have been given away, 104 were new, 172 repaired, 49 made over and 259 in good condition when received.

These garments have been given to worthy families or to the Associated Charities, the Bethel Home, Mrs. Lee, visiting nurse of the Anti-Tuberculosis society, to Miss Jean Poirier and the Children's Home for distribution.

Under the present plan the membership of the society has been more than doubled, the social interests have not been neglected and more money has been raised than in any previous year in the history of the society which extends over a period of twenty-two years.

DULUTHIANS INTERESTED IN FORMATION OF DRAMA LEAGUE BRANCH WILL PRESENT 'THE ADVENTURER'

CALDWELL HARRIS.

Theosophical Class.

AT THE Feet of the Master," or the ethics of a theosophical life with suggestions of a practical application will be the theme of a lecture in the public study course at Theosophical lodge rooms, 28 Winthrop block, Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Everyone interested is welcome. A class for members meets Tuesday evenings at 8 o'clock. The regular branch meting will be held Thursday evening the study being "Pedigree of Man" by Annie Besant.

Mrs. Wiggins Recovers.

MRS. STONE WIGGINS of Ottawa, Can., who is spending the winter here with relatives is able to be out again after having been confined to her home since the first of December from the results of an accident which occurred while out walking with friends.

Mrs. Wiggins was the wife of the late Prof. E. Stone Wiggins, a distinguished Canadian scientist whose name and fame are world wide for his many scientific discoveries. He was the discoverer of the existence of a dark satellite of the earth, also an electic current passing around the earth from east to west.

Matinee Musicale.

MONDAY afternoon the Study class will meet in Miss Carlotta Simond's studio. The time will be largely devoted to the compositions on the program to be given by the Flonzaleys.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Matinee Musicale will be held Monday at 1:45 at the studio of Miss Bradshaw, in the Temple building.

Orphanage Aid Society.

The regular weekly meeting of the Orphanage aid society will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Brothers' high school building. Any one interested in the work is cordially invited to attend these Tuesday afternoon meetings.

SHOW WILL BE GREATEST EVER

Duluth Poultry Association Getting Ready for Its Annual Exhibition.

The annual show of the Duluth Poultry association will be held at 310 and 312 East Superior street Jan. 29 to Feb. 4, inclusive. Those who have charge of the exhibition state that it will be even larger and better than those of the past.

Elaborate preparations have been made to take care of and display the birds. Judging by the owners who have already indicated that they will have entries, some of the finest specimens in the Northwest will be in the competitions.

The entries close Jan. 27 at 10 p. m. and the birds must be in the showroom by 10 p. m. on the following day. The prizes are mostly in cash, but there are several handsome cups offered.

The show has been a decided success in the past and there is no doubt but that it will attract even greater attention this year. In addition to the birds there will be a number of other interesting exhibits.

JAMES SPEYER GIVEN DECORATION BY KAISER.

New York, Jan. 20.—James Speyer, the banker, has received from the German emperor the decoration of the Red Eagle of the Second Class. The honor was conferred through the German ambassador in Washington. It is understood to have been given in recognition of the part his family has played in national and international financial affairs, and also in appreciation of his efforts to promote more cordial relations between Germany and the United States.

Mr. Speyer was founder of the Theodore Roosevelt professorship in the University of Berlin, which resulted in the exchange of professors between leading universities of two countries.

ROOSEVELT AND WIFE TO TRAVEL ABROAD.

New York, Jan. 20.—Col. Roosevelt may take a trip abroad in the near future, contingent upon the progress toward recovery of Mrs. Roosevelt, who has been ill for some time, according to the American this morning. A sea voyage, it is said, has been recommended for Mrs. Roosevelt by her physician.

THIRTEEN ACCUSED OF SELLING VOTES IN OHIO.

Waverly, Ohio, Jan. 20.—Thirteen indictments have been returned by the Pike county grand jury against that number of men who are charged with corruption in connection with the regular election held last November. Rumors that wholesale indictments would be returned were not verified, as the grand jury adjourned after having heard many witnesses. The men indicted, charged with having sold their votes, were ordered to appear for trial on Jan. 26.

CHINA'S MONEY BEING PRINTED IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Currency used by the new Chinese republic is being printed in Chicago. This became known when a Chinese, arrested, was found to have one of the notes. The note found is in $10 denomination and resembles, on the obverse side, a United States gold certificate. On the reverse side are Chinese ideographs. It is redeemable upon the success of the new republic or its recognition by the powers. The order for the printing was left here, it was learned, by Dr. Sun Yat Sen before he departed for China.

Mrs. Bonaparte's Will Filed.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The will of Mme. Carolina Meyer Bonaparte, widow of Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, grandnephew of the emperor Napoleon, just filed for probate, disposes of an estate valued at $600,000. The will makes provision for all of the children by her two marriages except a daughter of her first husband, Mary C. Edgar, now Sister Mary De Sales of the Visitation convent, Baltimore. Commander Newbold Edgar, U. S. N., and Webster A. Edgar of New York, sons of Mme. Bonaparte, receive the Newport home of their mother.

Moose Lake

Moose Lake, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The stockholders of the Moose Lake Creamery association, which has been in financial difficulty the past several months, met here Monday to hear the report of the expert accountants who had checked over the business since the organization. While there is a large deficiency, it was shown that it was brought about entirely by poor management. A proposition was made by the local business men to appoint a committee of three to act as trustees and conduct the business of the association until such time when it could be shown that it could be placed on a paying basis. A vote was taken on this which resulted in thirty-three in favor and twenty-eight against. The committee of business men concluded that since the majority in favor of the proposition was so small, it was not advisable to take over the business as it couldn't be made a success unless it had the undivided support of the farmers.

Cass Lake

Cass Lake, Minn., Jan. 20. — (Special to The Herald.) — Al J. Hole and wife left Wednesday for the Twin Cities, via Duluth, where they will spend the week. He was a delegate from Cass Lake council to the Royal League convention which was in session Thursday.

John Johnson transacted business at Bena Thursday.

E. D. Boyce is absent this week attending several metings and conventions. Monday evening he was at Bemidji acting as installing officer for the Royal League. He then left for Minneapolis where he attended the Masonic state convention, and on Thursday attended the Royal League convention as a member of the advisory council.

Dan Lilly, who has officiated as village marshal for the past several years, turned in his resignation Thursday. George Dederick has been appointed to take his place.

Heber L. Hartley left Thursday for Duluth after spending a few days here looking after his business interests.

At the council meeting Tuesday evening it was decided to buy 700 feet of fire hose, bids for which will be opened at their meeting in February.

The Juvenile Bostonians are billed to appear in Cass Lake some time during the first part of February.

Mrs. Weitzel, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Fulton, for several weeks, left Wednesday, via Duluth, for her home in Wisconsin.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Benedict on Wednesday, Jan. 17.

Mrs. Ellen Johnson is spending several days this week at Crookston with her daughter, Mrs. Jack Knights.

The many friends of Mrs. Emily La Lone were greatly shocked Tuesday evening to hear of her sudden death caused by heart failure. Mrs. La Lone was 64 years of age and retired Tuesday evening apparently in good health and passed away about 11 o'clock without a struggle. Her daughter, Miss Tracy La Lone, who teached school here was the only relative with her at the time of her death. She is survived by two daughters who live in Seattle, a son in Karval, Colo., a son in Waterloo, Iowa, and a son George La Lone of Bismark, N. D., and Ray of Minneapolis, both of whom were here to attend the funeral which was held from St. Charles Catholic church Thursday morning and the remains were taken Friday morning to Verndale for interment. The floral decorations were many and beautiful.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Henderson were up from Bena the first part of the week for a short visit.

Little Mark Van Pelt is quite seriously ill with pneumonia.

Word comes from Mrs. E. B. Wood, who is in a hospital in Minneapolis that she is getting along nicely, which her many friends here are glad to hear.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

PHONE ROW MAY RESULT

From Disclosures Made of Charges in Different North Dakota Towns.

Dickinson and Bismarck Seem to Be Paying More Than Other Towns.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—There promises to be an interesting telephone war in Bismarck and Dickinson as a result of the statement filed with the state railroad commission by the North Dakota Independent Telephone company showing rates charged by the company in those cities, as compared with rates charged in other cities where exchanges are maintained by the corporation.

In Dickinson, business telephones cost $3.25 a month against $2.75 a month in Bismarck and Carrington, and $2.25 in Valley City. On business party lines the charge in Dickinson is 50 cents higher than in the other three places. The rates on residence telephones range about the same, Carrington being the lowest.

Other Places Favored.

The company also shows rates in Hebron, New Salem, Wilton, Garrison, Mott, New England, Belfield and McClusky, all at $2.50 a month, and lower than the charges for the same kind of service in Bismarck, Dickinson and Carrington.

The "rebate" or "discount" question is one which also may be thrashed out as a result of this report.

HONORED PIONEER BORNE TO GRAVE

G. A. R. Veterans Join Old Settlers in Tribute to Crookston's First Mayor.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herold.)—This afternoon, borne to its last resting place by comrades from Col. Cobham Post No. 90, G. A. R., the remains of Capt. E. C. Davis, Crookston's first mayor, were laid to rest, followed to the grave by the members of the Old Settlers association, after short services at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wolff, Mrs. Wolff being the only surviving child of the deceased.

In the death of Capt. Davis, at the ripe age of 80 years, Crookston and Minnesota lost one of the most prominent pioneers with reference to varied activities and development work.

MEET NEXT TIME AT GRAND RAPIDS

Northern Minnesota Editorial Association Elects F. A. Dare Its President.

Long Prairie, Minn., Jan. 20.—Grand Rapids will entertain the Northern Minnesota Editorial association at the next summer outing of the association in June. This was decided at the annual meeting held here yesterday afternoon when the following officers were elected:

F. A. Dare of the Walker Pilot, president; E. C. Kiley of the Grand Rapids Herald-Review, vice president; A. G. Rutledge of the Bemidji Sentinel, secretary-treasurer for the third successive term.

The next business meeting will be held at St. Cloud next winter.

The banquet at the Hotel Relchart last night was made memorable by the fact that Lieutenant Governor Sam Y. Gordon of Browns Valley and Hon. W. E. Lee of Long Prairie, both candidates for governor sat side by side. Politics were tabooed. The banquet was tendered by the business men of Long Prairie and was attended by almost forty prominent citizens in addition to the newspaper men. Rudolph A. Lee of the Long Prairie Leader was toastmaster, and the speakers were Lieutenant Governor Gordon, Senator J. D. Jones and William E. Lee, the latter welcoming the editors on behalf of the town.

SUFFERED EVERYTHING

For Fourteen Years. Restored To Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Elgin, Ill.—"After fourteen years of suffering everything from female complaints, I am at last restored to health.

"I employed the best doctors and even went to the hospital for treatment and was told there was no help for me. But while taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began to improve and I continued its use until I was made well."—Mrs. HENRY LEISEBERG, 743 Adams St.

Kearneysville, W. Va.—"I feel it my duty to write and say what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered from female weakness and at times felt so miserable I could hardly endure being on my feet.

"After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and following your special directions, my trouble is gone. Words fail to express my thankfulness. I recommend your medicine to all my friends."—Mrs. G. B. WHITTINGTON.

The above are only two of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which show clearly what great things Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound does for those who suffer from woman's ills.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

KOOCHICHING IS SAVED NICE SUM

Seven Accused Persons Plead Guilty and Are Given Sentences.

International Falls, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The taxpayers of Koochiching county were saved a substantial sum here yesterday when seven persons arrested on various charges went before Judge B. F. Wright, who held a short term of district court, and pleaded guilty.

Thomas Herman, Edward Bishop and William Maki pleaded guilty to larceny and the first two were given reformatory sentences, while the latter was committed to Stillwater. Joseph Renkazk will go to the penitentiary for assault and Fred Everett spent twelve hours more in the county jail on the same charge. George Davis drew a reformatory sentence for forgery.

Davis is the boy who wandered away from jail long enough to forge Frank Green's name to a check and try to cash it. Bishop is also a young fellow and Judge Wright has ordered the two lads held while he communicates with the Society for the Aid of the Friendless, in the hope that good homes can be found for them, in which event they will be paroled.

CHARITY BALL AT CLOQUET SUCCESS

One Hundred and Twenty-Five Couples Participate in Social Event.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual charity ball, a social event of the winter, was given last night in the Nelson opera house. An unusually large number attended and the arrangements surpassed any which have been made in past years. Dray loads of fragrant spruce and cedar gave the effect of an immense woodland bower, and against the green were numerous white snowballs and great pink and white chrysanthemums. Streamers in the same color, attached to the center lights, were draped to the corners of the room, and each cluster of lights was artfully decorated to represent a huge chrysanthemum.

There were about 125 couples present, and the gowns worn by the ladies were many of them very beautiful.

The committees in charge of the affair were: Arrangements—Mesdames James Fleming, Maurice Erwin. Reception—Mesdames Hugo Schienk, H. C. Hornby, L. L. Dixon, W. G. Dolan, F. D. Vibert, James Fleming, A. J. Taylor, Joseph Peacha, F. P. Thompson, W. K. McNair and B. J. Summerfield. Decoration—Mesdames G. B. Watkins, George Nichols, William Heasley, Emil Proulx, Ralph Macartney. Luncheon—Mrs. Charles Canfield.

MASONS NOT DETERRED.

Loss of Grand Forks Temple Will Not Stop Meetings.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despite the loss by fire of their temple, local Masons are planning for the annual winter reunion of the Scottish Rite bodies and the ceremonial session of Kem temple, which will take place from Monday until Friday of next week. The Elks' hall will be used by the Scottish Rite bodies, while the Knights of Columbus hall will be used by the Shriners, and every detail of the big event will be carried out as originally planned.

RICHLAND COUNTY'S CORN ACREAGE GROWS RAPIDLY.

Wahpeton, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Richland county has a corn acreage at the present time which is ten times greater than it was five years ago, this fact being brought out through an investigation conducted by the county educational department, interested in the corn feature because of contests conducted annually.

Five years ago the average sized corn field was only ten acres, while the same farmers today maintain about thirty-acre corn fields.

CHARGES ARE DROPPED AGAINST MINNESOTA MAN.

Valley City, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—An attempt to recover, from third parties, money which he charges was embezzled, were dropped by E. M. Hanson so far as those defendants, S. Gillen of Warren, Minn., and Carl Miller of Nome, N. D., are concerned, but he has still maintained his action against B. C. Gillen, the embezzler who was convicted some time ago and sentenced to the state penitentiary.

KILLING MANY RABBITS AROUND COUDERAY, WIS.

Couderay, Wis., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The high price on meat does not interfere with many families in this locality, as it is an easy matter for any one to go out into the woods and hunt for an hour or so and bring back half a dozen large white rabbits.

Harry Bishop of Winter, shipped 121 white rabbits to Milwaukee for the market.

The rabbits are in a very nice condition at this time of the year.

North Dakota Socialists Busy.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Socialists of North Dakota will hold a state meeting at Devils Lake, Feb. 4 and 5, to consider the year's campaign. The Socialists plan to make a bigger showing in state politics this year than they have before, and they propose putting a complete state ticket in the field with that end in view.

DULUTH MAN HAS LUCKY VENTURE

Falls From Train During Bitter Cold Then Walks to Town.

Antler, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Falling from a train moving at the rate of twenty miles an hour, while intoxicated, James Eastman, claiming Duluth as his home, did not freeze to death although he was three miles from the nearest station, and the temperature was 23 deg. below zero.

Eastman was passing from one car to another when he fell from the train. He was bruised about the head and shoulders, and the blood which flowed from his wounds had frozen on his face before he reached this city, making the walk against a northwest wind that was stinging cold.

ABUNDANCE OF SOFT, FLUFFY HAIR AND NO MORE DANDRUFF

Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine and just try this—stops hair falling out at once

Danderine dissolves every particle of Dandruff like snow beneath the blazing sun, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp; forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of Dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you will actually see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting all over the scalp.

A little Danderine will immediately double the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove to yourself tonight—now—that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

FAT FOLKS FAVOR

Home Mixture That Takes Off the Fat Rapidly Is Harmless in Hot or Cold Weather—Causes No Wrinkles—No Stomach Ills and Requires Neither Dieting Nor Exercise.

Too much fat is both uncomfortable and dangerous, especially in summer, but usually fleshy people prefer to put up with its inconvenience rather than punish themselves with the tiresome exercising usually prescribed, or endanger their health by taking the so-called "cures" and patent fat "reducers" that depress or overtax the heart.

This self-sacrifice of comfort and health to overabundant fat is entirely unnecessary, however, as Mrs. Luella Bigger tells us there is a home receipe that is far superior in every way to anything money will buy for reducing superfluous flesh. It is said this simple mixture will take the fat off of man or woman at the rate of at least a couple of pounds a week without even causing wrinkles. Moreover, it does not disturb the stomach, but is a good thing for the system, clearing away pimples, and, best of all, it does not interfere with the diet. You can use it and at the same time eat whatever you like. This recipe is as follows: ½ ounce Marmola; ½ ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 3½ ounces of Peppermint Water. Get these ingredients at any drug store, mix them together at home and take one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Mrs. Bigger, as is well known, is a famous beauty expert, and whatever she recommends is sure to be found eminently satisfactory.

BUTTE-ALEX SCOTT MINE HAS INCREASED OUTPUT

Rate of One Hundred Tons a Day Will Be Maintained.

East Butte Expects to Increase Production First of Month.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first of the independent companies to follow the example of the Anaconda Copper Mining company, and increase the output in the Butte-Alex Scott. Manager Stone received instructions from the directors to double the production on account of the favorable market conditions, and the further fact that the surplus had been so greatly reduced in the past few months that it was nearly normal. Up to a few days ago the Butte-Alex Scott had been shipping fifty tons a day, and as soon as arrangements were completed after the orders were received the output was increased to 100 tons a day, and this rate will be maintained. In the letter to the manager it was stated; "The price of copper having advanced the past few weeks to over 14 cents, and knowing that the property can produce metal at this price and make a nice profit, it was unanimously decided at a meeting of the directors that production be pushed to the limit, and that the shaft be sunk to the 2,000-foot level." Information was also conveyed to Manager Stone that the directors had approved of the leasing of the Little Annie, a silver claim owned by the company, on the royalty basis, the letter concluding as follows: "We trust that the returns from the Little Annie and the Butte-Alex Scott properties will allow the management to declare a nice dividend during the year 1912." The leasers have gone to work on the Little Annie and shaft sinking on the Butte-Alex Scott has been commenced in accordance with instructions. The Butte-Alex Scott is now down to a depth of 1,800 feet and a station has been cut on that level. A considerable quantity of ore has been blocked out on the 1,600, 1,700 and 1,800-foot levels from where the ore is being shipped. Development work is also being prosecuted on the three levels and every advantage is to be taken of the increase in price of the red metal to place the company on a dividend earning basis.

The property was never in better shape and Manager Stone feels that with the demand for copper increasing and the price keeping around 14½ cents a pound, the company ought to be able to give the stockholders a good return on their investment during the present year.

East Butte.

The new dust chamber and other construction work which has been proceeding at the East Butte smelter for several months will be completed in about another week or ten days and about the first of the month Manager Rohn expects to be in a position to increase the output of the mine about 300,000 pounds a month over the present production, which is about 1,000,000 pounds a month. The new blast furnace will not be completed and put in commission before the spring as Mr. Rohn says that the smelter can handle with its present capacity all the ore from customers and the mine until April or May when the market will be in much better condition than it is at present to care for the increase. Development work is going on the 800-foot level where the new ore body was encountered several months ago and the ore being mined averages a little over 8 per cent copper.

New Mine Group Sold.

San Francisco capitalists have completed a deal which involves the taking over of the New Mine group of claims in the Rochester district. The property had been bonded since last April of this year, but the showing made on the 300-foot level was so gratifying that it was decided to pay the whole amount over at once and take the property. The new owners have incorporated under the name of the Gold Coin Mining company. A mill is under construction and will be ready in the course of a couple of months. The treating of the ore right at the mine and thus doing away with team hauling of several miles to the railway and freight charges will mean a great saving as compared with operations carried on at this property before the San Francisco people took it over.

Butte-Ballaklava.

The Butte-Ballaklava company has completed shaft sinking to the 1,500-foot level and a station has been built. A few days ago cross-cutting was started for the purpose of striking the vein encountered on the 1,400-foot level. According to calculations this vein will be reached inside of two weeks and the management expect to find a fine body of shipping ore. When the ore body was encountered on the 1,400-foot level it was somewhat disappointing as it was not of a high enough grade to return any profit, so after a few shipments to the East Butte smelter the company decided to carry the shaft down another 200 feet.

History of the Alice Mine.

During the hearing of the Alice company minority holders in an effort to secure an order prohibiting the sale of the company property to the Anaconda Copper Mining company, an effort was made to ascertain where the representative of the minority holders got his information upon which the complaint was based. Attorney T. J. Walsh, who appears for the protestants, stated that he got some of his information in New York, Chicago, Salt Lake and from various other sources. John Killie, general superintendent of the Anaconda company, was on the witness stand for a considerable time and gave much information concerning the Alice property and the expenditures of the Anaconda company on properties which did not reach the producing stage. He said that in the past ten years the company had expended anywhere between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 in the district which did not bring any return, adding that such expenditures were justifiable in order to ascertain if ore bodies existed at certain points or localities. Speaking of the Alice mine, he said that the property was discovered in 1881 and showed very prosperous conditions. Silver was then selling at $1.13 an ounce. At depth water was struck and the ore grew baser, while the price of silver fell to between 70 and 80 cents an ounce. As the value of silver decreased several of the stamp mills in the locality ceased operations as did the Alice. In 1893 and 1894 the Alice mill did run on a small scale, but was not considered profitable. He said that with the exception of one small shoot of ore the mine could not be profitably worked and even this shoot could not now be worked to any profit. Mr. Gillie was asked what he thought of the purchase of the property for 30,000 shares of Anaconda stock and expressed the opinion that it was not an advisable investment and declared that the price paid for the property was far more than it was worth. He, however, said that the Anaconda company was justified in paying the price for the property as it had all the equipment necessary to develop the mine and would not therefore have to go to any unnecessary expense. Mr. Gillie was asked if it were not true that the Anaconda company purchased the property under the belief that there was copper in the mine and he replied that he did not think so. He said the field in the locality of the mine might undergo some development work in time.

Southern Cross.

The deed has been filed transferring the Southern Cross mine to the Anaconda Copper Mining company and it shows that the price paid was $450,000 which would give the stockholders about 91 cents a share after paying the expenses of negotiations for the sale and such like. The work of making repairs to the shaft and operating the property on an extensive scale will be commenced in a few weeks and by the time the Butte, Anaconda & Pacific railway extension is completed to the Georgetown district a very large amount of ore will be ready for shipment.

Storage Battery Cars.

While no definite announcement will be made as yet as to the success of the storage battery operated electric cars for the underground haulage of ore, the men who are working in the Berkely mine where the cars are being experimented with declare that they are running along with the greatest smoothness and that they will undoubtedly be the car of the future for underground haulage. Among the mining men the system is much more in favor than the trolley system as the overhead wires will be done away with, thus preventing the possibility of miners going about with steel drills coming in contact with the wires and receiving severe shocks.

Butte, Anaconda & Pacific Road.

The Anaconda company has not yet announced when the work of electrifying the Butte, Anaconda & Pacific railway from this city to Anaconda will be undertaken, but those who ought to be in a position to know say the change will be made in such a way as not to interfere with traffic in the least and that it will be started in the spring. New rails are now being put down on portion of the track and they will be the ones used under the electric system. It is not known whether electricity or steam will be used on the extension between Anaconda and the Georgetown, although the impression seems to prevail that for some time at least the locomotives now in use will be utilized on the new portion of the road. It is estimated that about $1,000,000 will be expended in electrifying the road and that the saving in operating as compared with steam will be at least 35 per cent.

CONCENTRATOR IS SUCCESSFUL

Paradise Company Makes Test and Decides to Enlarge Plant.

San Simon, Ariz., Jan. 20.—On trial, the Paradise Mining & Milling company's concentrator at Paradise was found to operate successfully, and its enlargement was decided upon. Realizing that a mill for the treatment of base ores is at best an experiment, the company at first installed only one table, with the intention of putting in other tables later in case the mill treated the ores to advantage. This was a wise step, in view of the fact that many mills have been built of large capacity and at great expense, and with what appeared expert advice, only to find upon trial that this process was not suited to the ore.

The ore that the company made use of in the tryout was extracted from the Black Ben claim, about one-fourth of a mile northeast of town. This claim is one of a group of claims known as the Black Queen, the property of G. A. Walker and J. H. McClellan.

If reports coming to San Simon from Paradise are true, the Paradise Mining & Milling company, in operating the Black Ben claim, is encountering ore in abundance. This report goes on to state that the extraction of ore off this claim is let by contract and that the contractors are making good money as they broke into a large body of ore in picking ground where there is practically no waste.

The ore is said to average around $12 before concentrating but afterwards the concentrates run over $40 to the ton, or over 3 to 1. Hence it will readily be seen that the company has a good thing as long as the ore lasts.

REACH ORE BODY IN LUCKY BOY MINE

Drift in Clean Ore and Paint Rock—Will Connect Shafts.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ore body has been reached in the Lucky Boy mine, a mile and a half east of this city, and about two miles east in a direct line from the famous Chandler mine. The Lucky Boy shaft, 150 feet in depth, was sunk on a hillside adjoining a swamp under which diamond drilling has proved up a large ore body. When the drit encountered the ore body yesterday it had been run 322 feet. Today the miners are going through clean ore and paint rock.

The Lucky Boy has been developed by the Vermillion & Mesaba Iron company, Duluth, of which E. C. Kennedy is president, and many Duluth people are interested in the property. This company is also sinking the Camp shaft, not far from the Lucky Boy. The two shafts are to be connected up.

The Lucky Boy makes the seventh great iron mine in the Ely basin. Less than two years ago G. H. St. Clair and Alfred Merritt turned Section 30 into a great mine after others had failed. This mine, the first in Lake county, is only four miles from Ely. The other shipping mines in the Ely district, all adjoining the city, are the Pioneer, Zenith, Chandler, Sibley and Savoy.

On the Silverman property, less than half a mile from Section 30 mine, a big ore body was shown up by diamond drilling for Mr. Fargo of Chicago. Here a triple compartment shaft is being sunk and there is little doubt but that the Fargo will be Ely's eighth iron mine.

IRON RIVER DISTRICT

McGreevy Iron Company Has Secured Options on Two Tracts.

M. A. Hanna & Co.'s American Mine Shipping Ore to Canada.

To the already large number of mining companies operating in the Iron River district of the Menominee range, two new corporations have been added. These are the McGreevy Iron company, of which J. C. McGreevy, a well-known mining man of Duluth, is president, and the Iron River Steel company, of which I. W. Byers, a prominent attorney of Iron River, is the leading executive officer. Each concern is organized under the laws of Utah and in each one Iron River and other Upper Michigan capital is largely interested.

The McGreevy company has procured options on two well located tracts in section 27, 43-35, and section 34, 43-35, respectively, and has already started exploratatory work. Two diamond drills are employed. Along with other properties, the Iron River Steel company has taken over the holdings of the Michigan Mining company, which has been exploring in the Iron River field for a year or more. It has under its control a number of very promising tracts and intends to push their exploitation vigorously. The work will be in charge of William H. Jobe, who has resigned the superintendency of the properties of Pickands, Mather & Co. of Cleveland in the adjacent Stambaugh field to take the general management of the newly organized concern. Mr. Jobe has been identified with the Pickands-Mather interests for a score of years and is considered one of the most capable mining men in the western portion of the Menominee.

Has Extensive Iron Formation.

The Iron River district is peculiar in the characteristic that, while practically all the likely properties in other portions of the Upper Michigan ranges are owned by large corporations or non-resident fee owners, title to its lands is held almost exclusively by individuals living right on the ground. Thus it is possible to procure control of acreage at fairly reasonable figures. This is the chief reason why so many new companies have entered the field the last four or five years, and particularly the last eighteen months. The district possesses one of the most extensive iron formations in the Lake Superior region, and exploration the past few years has revealed the presence of many million tons of ore. At least one and probably two of the properties acquired by the Iron River Steel company are asserted to require only development and the installation of machinery to transform them into mines, their worth having already been demonstrated by drill work.

One company formed last year to explore in the Iron River country has located to date more than 3,000,000 tons of Bessemer ore averaging 60 per cent in metallic iron. With ores averaging 49 to 50 per cent iron, twice that tonnage has been known to exist, this all in one property. The search for ore in the district has extended as far as Beechwood, a settlement several miles northwest of the village of Iron River, where the farm of Andrew Johnson is being tested by the St. Clair Drill company of Duluth. A second diamond drill hole has recently been started on this tract. The Iron River Ore company is arranging to drill the Bucholtz property, where test pits sunk the last few months have given considerable encouragement. It is planned to use two machines.

Second Shaft at Wauseca.

The Mineral Mining company of Milwaukee, which is developing the Wauseca mine, in section 23-43-34, north of Iron river, has started sinking a second shaft. The Wauseca was formerly known as the Konkinski and adjoins the Mineral company's James mines in the south. It produces a soft, yellow, non-Bessemer hematite averaging 55 per cent in metallic iron. The Wauseca entered the shipping list in 1910. It is credited with an ore body of 1,000,000 tons. The Steel corporation's big Chapin mine at Iron Mountain, Menominee range, is being kept free of water these days by the famous Riedler pump, assisted by bailers. This is because the huge and equally Cornish surface pump at the new Ludington shaft became disabled and is now undergoing repairs. It is in a large, underground chamber, excavated for the purpose in the Hamilton shaft, that the Riedler pump stands. This is one of the largest pumps in use in any mine in the world. It handles 2,000 gallons of water a minute, all of which is lifted a full quarter of a mile.

M. A. Hanna & Co.'s American mine, Marquette range, is shipping ore to Canada. The material goes to the Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., works of the Algoma Steel company, a subsidiary of the Lake Superior corporation. The Hanna interests have a contract to furnish 60,000 tons of American mine ore to the Canadian concern, and the product is going forward, all-rail, at the rate of 600 tons a day. The shipments will be continued throughout the winter. The Lake Superior corporation requires about 1,000,000 tons of ore a year for its industries at the Soo. Half of this is procured from the United States, mostly from Michigan and Minnesota, and the remainder from the company's own mines in the Michipicoten district of Ontario. The Lake Superior corporation has no mines in the United States, although at one time it had an option on and partially explored the Section 30 property, Vermillion range, which subsequently and when it had passed into other hands developed into a very valuable proposition.

Winton-Vermillion Company.

The Winton-Vermillion Iron company, a Minnesota corporation, is exploring east of Negaunee, Marquette range. It has under option 640 acres in section 34-48-26, and is testing the tract with diamond drills. Two miles west and southwest are the Maas, Negaunee and Queen mines. The Breitung interests of Marquette, which during the last few years have been exploring and developing the Baron property at Humboldt, previously idle since the days of the Civil war, are broadening their operations in that field. They have unwatered the old No. 10 shaft, and will explore that part of the tract, and for a similar reason will unwater the old Lincoln mine, in the same vicinity. The Jones & Laughlin Steel company of Pittsburg is preparing to explore in the territory northwest of Republic. A camp is being erected, preliminary to the institution of diamond drill work.

The Escanaba River Land & Iron company has re-elected its officers for a new term of one year. The list follows: President, Charles Johnson; vice-president, George J. Maas; secretary and treasurer, J. H. Winter, all of Negaunee. The company owns valuable mineral lands in the Gwinn district of the Marquette range, including the Austin mine, which is being operated on under lease by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company. Shipments from the property were less last year than in 1910 and the decreased royalties similarly affected the dividends, the latter aggregating 52 cents a share against 91 cents in 1910. The known tonnage of ore remaining in the Austin tin mine is estimated at approximately 600,000.

Except in the Ironwood district of the Gogebic range, the Steel corporation this year has not yet enlarged its operations in the Michigan fields. Orders to that effect, are however, expected prior to the opening of the shipping season.

COMPANY IS ORGANIZED

Will Develop Properties on South Shore of Portage Lake.

Keweenaw to Sell Timber Holdings and Resume Exploration.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Central Development company has organized an operating company to take over and develop the Naumkeag, South Side, Dacotah and sundry other properties aggregating 1,300 acres in extent, and lying along the south shore of Portage Lake immediately west of the Isle Royale mine. The new corporation will be known as the Naumkeag Copper company and is capitalized at $5,000,000 in 200,000 shares assessable up to $25, including the first installment of flotation price as it is sometimes called. The location of the property is such that the southerly extensions of the Hancock and Quincy series of lodes will be found to traverse the tract somewhere between its east and west boundaries. This is the first venture of the General Development company in this district.

Hancock.

The Hancock is obtaining promising showings of copper at unexpected places in the big vertical shaft. The shaft recently came into a mixture of vein matter and trap rock well charged with copper and at last reports was into it for fifteen feet with further indications that the main bed would be reached within another few feet. This deposit will likely prove to be the west branch of the Quincy-Pewabic series.

Franklin.

The Franklin has a number of machines engaged in stoping rock preliminary to production. In this the old rate will be trebled and will of the beginning start with close to 1,000 tons rock daily. The big hoist has gone into commission and is working smoothly, and at the stamp mill the concentrating department has been modernized and prepared for heavy duty. The company is now in a fair way to earn a profit on its operations.

New Baltic.

The New Baltic has reached the so-called East lode in that acreage in the cross-cut run on the 500-foot level. A very fair showing of copper obtains. The West lode also opened by this cross-cut revealed a much better grade of copper rock in a rather limited area and will be further explored by drifting.

Houghton.

The Houghton is developing average copper ground in the drifts on the 645-foot level. The cross-cut at this level, having for its objective point the west bed of this formation, has attained a length of about 150 feet. The unfavorable character of the ground in which this opening is now passing is not conducive to speed, and in consequence expected developments have not materialized, but should be had within the next week or ten days. A promising core of copper rock was yielded by this lode at about this depth in the previous exploratory campaign.

Oneco.

The Oneco continued to center activity in shaft work in the so-called Oneco lode. A depth of 1,050 feet has been reached in this shaft, which is sinking full size to the 1,240-foot level, where a promising deposit of copper is thought to exist. Cross-cuts have been extended across the lode at all levels with seeming improvement at each new depth, and with a showing at the ninth level that gave much encouragement.

Keweenaw.

The Keweenaw is arranging for the sale of some of its timber holdings which are extensive and will then be in shape to resume exploratory work with the funds thus derived. A considerable amount of work has already been done at various points, and generally without much encouragement, but recent developments in the Old Colony, Mayflower and St. Louis tracts further south have raised the hope that in this horizon as yet untouched in Keweenaw acreage something of value may yet be opened.

Wolverine.

The Wolverine has succeeded in locating a promising copper shoot in the Osceola formation in which a shaft has been sunk to a depth of 315 feet. The new find was located by means of a diamond drill and lies in the foot wall portion of the lode below the strike of the shaft. It appears to carry a width of about 15 feet and is well charged with copper.

Mayflower.

The Mayflower has rigged its diamond drill preparatory to boring a hole through the several lodes intersected by the No. 1 drill hole and which recently tapped a second copper deposit of extraordinary richness at a depth of 1,328 feet and continued to show more or less mineral to a depth of 1,412 feet. The new hole will pass through these lodes at shallower depth, and will serve to determine the pitch of the formation and pave the way for shaft work which is to be started with the coming of spring.

Indiana.

The Indiana is pushing work in the vertical shaft sunk on the felsite bed. A depth of 575 feet has been reached and at about 600 feet a station will be cut and cross-cut started in the direction of the copper deposit revealed in the No. 9 drill hole about 100 feet away. The several other deposits will be reached at greater depths in a similar manner with the exception of the one encountered by the No. 2 drill hole and which yielded the rich core reported at the time. The shaft is making about seventy-five feet per month.

GIROUX MAY BE PRODUCING SOON

Favorable Terms From the Nevada Northern Railroad Expected.

Ely, Nev., Jan. 20.—It is believed that the Giroux will soon succeed in getting favorable terms from the Nevada Northern railroad, and before another ninety days have passed it is anticipated that the property will be producing. The Giroux management is not permitting the winter weather to interfere with the plans of remodeling the concentrating plant to 1,000 tons daily capacity. The company is constructing the railroad line from its Bunker Hill and Brooks claims to the mill. Ties and rails should be laid within a very short time, upon which it is expected the company will put steam shovels at work removing overburden and getting the tonnage ready for the mill. Advices from the camp are that the company is making good headway in unwatering the new shaft, the management having reached to the 1,375-foot level so far, finding everything to be in first-class shape following the long submersion that attended the shaft fire. The company still relies upon the bailers to remove the water from below the pumping station, or 1,200 level, but the pumping equipment is supposed not to be injured in any way. As long as the bailers can be utilized the management doubtless intends to rely upon them.

GOOD PROGRESS ON CONCENTRATOR

Superstructure of Butte & Superior Mill Fast Assuming Prominence.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 20.—The work of building the superstructure of the new concentrator at the Black Rock mine of the Butte & Superior company is progressing rapidly and it will not be long before the enclosure will be complete and the installation of the machinery will commence. As soon as the buildings are enclosed the concrete foundations for the machinery and the concrete floors will be laid.

It is understood that orders for the machinery all have been placed and it is expected it will commence to arrive during the latter part of next month. Every facility has been provided for the expeditious handling of it and as it arrives it will be placed in position speedily. It will be received on the spur from the Great Northern track at the foot of the hill below the mine and will be lifted from the cars by a derrick which will place it on the tramway cars by which it will be taken to the concentrator buildings. In the latter there will be a number of lateral tracks on to which the cars from the tramway will be switched, and thus the various pieces of machinery will be delivered to the positions in the concentrator where they are to be set up.

At the present rate of progress the concentrator will be in operation by June 1, treating from 500 to 750 tons of ore a day.

ON THE IRON RANGES

NOT POSTED ON FARMING

New Farmers on Mesaba Range Need Advice on Best Crops.

Wilpen Farmer Calls Meeting of Homesteaders to Exchange Views.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. J. Stukel, a farmer residing near Wilpen, four miles south of here, has called a meeting of the homesteaders in this vicinity for the purpose of discussing topics of general benefit to all. Mr. Stukel has fifteen acres cleared and states that if he had known what to have sown last year he could have made those few acres pay him better than $200 more than he received. The trouble with many of the farm beginners in this part of the country is that when they secure a tract of cut-over land they begin clearing and the first few years sow oats and wheat, as they did in the agricultural community whence they came. With no thrashing machines the raising of small grains is out of the question and Mr. Stukel believes that if the farmers of the community will get together and among those who have been here a number of years, state their experience and success, there will be a whole lot of good realized from a meeting of this kind. Many have raised potatoes and garden truck, but the absence of a frost-proof warehouse on the range makes it unprofitable to raise vegetables, and means may be gotten under way for the building of a potatoe warehouse in one of the range cities.

KEEWATIN MEN ARE INJURED IN MINE

Four Hurt in Mississippi Mine in Few Days, One Quite Seriously.

Keewatin, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—There have been four accidents recently at the Mississippi mine. All of the men who were hurt are recovering and will be able to resume work within a short time with the exception of Nurzia Christofero, an Italian, who was taken to the Rood hospital at Hibbing.

One of the accidents occurred last Friday, Jan. 12; another Saturday, Jan. 13; one on Sunday and the other Tuesday morning. Christofero's right shoulder was bruised and his right leg so severely injured as a result of the accident that he will be laid up for quite a while.

POISON ENDS SPREE.

Lumberjack Winds Up Debauch By Taking His Life.

Deer River, Minn., Jan. 20.—William Rutain, an old lumberjack who has worked in this section for different concerns for years, the last time for the Itasca Lumber company, killed himself here yesterday following a long debauch by swallowing strychnine in a local hotel. He came to town early in the week, drew his wages, amounting to $56, and began making a "good fellow" of himself in different saloons, keeping more or less intoxicated until he had a fit of despondency and drank the fatal dose from a bottle.

Rutain was about 50 years old and is supposed to have relatives at Belville, Ont., and an effort will be made to communicate with them. The remains are at a local undertaking rooms and an autopsy may be made.

CHISHOLM CLUB MEETS.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The study club met with Mrs. Connelly this afternoon. Papers were delivered by Mesdames Ferd. Droitning on "Grecian Arts," and J. S. Arneson on "Egyptian Pyramids."

The Plymouth Clothing company of Hibbing is moving their stock into a store building on Lake street. Mose Sapero has gone to New York, where he will spend the next fortnight making purchases.

Baby's Voice

Every woman's heart responds to the charm and sweetness of a baby's voice, because nature intended her for motherhood. But even the loving nature of a mother shrinks from the ordeal because such a time is regarded as a period of suffering and danger. Women who use Mother's Friend are saved much discomfort and suffering, and their systems, being thoroughly prepared by this great remedy, are in a healthy condition to meet the time with the least possible suffering and danger. Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers; it is in no sense a remedy for various ills, but its many years of success, and the thousands of endorsements received from women who have used it are a guarantee of the benefit to be derived from its use. This remedy does not accomplish wonders but simply assists nature to perfect its work. Mother's Friend allays nausea, prevents caking of the breasts, and in every way contributes to strong, healthy motherhood. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. CANDIDATES ARE FILING

Saturday Last Day to Get Into Political Game at Virginia.

A. C. Osborn and L. A. Peterson File for Aldermen-at-Large.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Unless new candidates or mayor develop late this afternoon, there will be three in the municipal election Feb. 6: H. O. Johnson, administration; M. A. Murphy, municipal ownership, and H. O. Durenberger, public ownership or Socialist. Two filings for important offices were made this morning. A. C. Osborn, president of the city council, filed for alderman-at-large, and L. A. Peterson filed for the same position.

Adolph Keller filed for alderman-at-large yesterday.

Many Seek Judgeship.

There are five candidates for municipal judge—J. T. Carey, W. J. Archer, A. N. Thompson, J. H. Fleming and L. M. Osborn More may file later today

All doubts about Mayor Hawkinson being an eleventh-hour candidate were swept away today when he issued a statement thanking the people for their confidence and the honors accorded him in the past, but positively declining to be a candidate. It is generally expected the mayor's influence will be thrown to H. O. Johnson, who is looked upon as an administration candidate.

The Mayor's Statement.

The statement issued by the mayor denying his candidacy follows:

To the Voters of Virginia:

I wish to announce that I will not be a candidate for re-election to the office of mayor of Virginia, and so far as I am concerned the field is clear for the worthy gentlemen who at present aspire to that office. I desire to thank the people of Virginia for the honors they have conferred upon me in the past, and while I have decided to seek no more offices of a public nature, I shall always manifest the keenest interest in the welfare of our progressive city. I have served seven years as city treasurer and four years as mayor and have seen the city grow from a mere camp to the fifth city in size in the state. At present Virginia has no bonded indebtedness and is in excellent financial condition, which fact is a matter of much satisfaction to me. I trust the voters will select the best man in the field as my successor, and that Virginia will prosper and grow in the future as it has in the past. Yours truly,

ANDREW HAWKINSON.

JOHN HEALY IS FOR SAM GORDON

Hibbing Representative Is Pleased Over Announcement of Candidacy.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative John Healy of the Forty-ninth legislative district, this morning expressed pleasure over the announcement that Lieutenant Governor Sam Gordon would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

"Gordon will be a strong candidate," said Mr. Healy. "I believe he has an excellent chance to secure the Republican nomination and if he is nominated he will be elected. There is already a strong organization working for Gordon on the range and he will have a large following in St. Louis county. I do not regard it as a foregone conclusion that St. Louis county will be for Eberhart."

VIRGINIA ELKS' DANCE.

Will Entertain at Lodge Rooms Next Wednesday Evening.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 20. — (Special to The Herald.) — Virginia lodge of Elks, No. 1003, will give its annual banquet next Wednesday evening in the lodge rooms in the Hawkinson building. The ladies have been invited to participate. A. G. Flourney will be toastmaster and Senator James P. Boyle will be one of the speakers.

The joint installation of officers of Mesaba lodge, No. 222, I. O. O. F., and the Rebekahs was held at the Odd Fellows' hall Thursday evening and was an event that proved most interesting and enjoyable. The installation was followed by a turkey banquet and dancing, about 250 persons partaking of the excellent supper.

At the last council meeting an order from the judges of the district court appointing J. D. Lamont as a member of the charter commission in place of D. B. McDonald, who is no longer a resident, was read and the appointment confirmed.

The Minnesota Mining & Development company has moved its office from Duluth into the new Backus building in this city.

The bishop of Duluth, Dr. Morrison, will be at St. Paul's church next Sunday morning to hold a service of confirmation and to preach. The service is at 10:30 a. m.

The Trade and Labor council of Virginia will give their first annual ball on Thursday evening, Jan. 25, in the Finnish Temperance hall.

EXPECT DULUTHIANS TO ATTEND BANQUET.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Phillip A. Schwarz, Jr., W. E. Burbeck, Mason Burt, Jr., B. C. Prout, Ephraim Johnson and Gust Ecklund, the social service committee of the local Men and Religion Forward Movement, plan to hold their first banquet at Monitor hall, Feb. 20, with several Duluthians as the principal speakers.

Members of the Range Ministerial association will be guests of the association and will be called on for short talks. Discussions of religious topics will follow the banquet. A musical program is also being arranged.

ALMAR NEXT TO BE IN ORE

Engineer Weed Figures Drift Will Reach the Iron Body Shortly.

Good Reports From Consolidated Vermilion and Fargo Shafts.

Tower, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.) — Much interest was manifested here in the report from Ely last night that the Lucky Boy mine had reached the ore body in the Ely basin and added another to the great mines surrounding Ely. Even more interest is being shown in the reports from the Almar shaft midway between here and Ely, as, if the Almar turns out to be the mine Tower believes it is, it will connect up the iron mines of Tower and Ely, which are more than twenty miles apart, and lead to much additional exploratory work between the two cities along the main Soudan formation.

A. R. McGuire, mining engineer and superintendent of the Almar Iron Mining company, reports that the formation in the Almar is decidedly promising. It is much broken, showing angular faces at the breast. The miners are going through highly silliceous greenstone, slightly altered. It is really a converted green rock, grading to soap rock. This is precisely the material the Lucky Boy drift passed through before encountering softer soap rock, water, and then the ore body.

Mr. McGuire was in Duluth this week to meet Dr. Walter Harvey Weed, the eminent mining engineer under whose directions the work in the Almar shaft is being conducted. After hearing Supt. McGuire's reports, Mr. Weed expressed the belief that the drift in another 60 to 75 feet ought to encounter the iron ore body. This drift is from the 128-foot level in the shaft and is being mined at the rate of about two feet a day. Faster progress will be made as the material gets softer and becomes soap rock and paint rock. Mr. Weed has returned to New York. From there he will go to Mexico to examine several mines and then he will come back to make another examination of the Almar. He is well satisfied with the showing being made in the Almar shaft.

Three test pits have been sunk near the south greenstone wall of the Almar property. One was bottomed in soap rock. Another encountered the ledge at thirteen feet. A blast showed Jasper and clean blue ore running as high as 68 per cent. Supt. McGuire, when the weather moderates, is going to pump out this pit and do more blasting. The ore shown up is identical with the Soudan mine. The farther developments progress at the Almar the more closely the formation resembles that of the Soudan, the first producing iron mine on the Vermilion range.

It is reported that operations on the McComber mine, on the shore of Armstrong lake, less than a mile east of the Almar, are to be resumed this spring because of the showing in the Almar. The shaft here is down to a depth of 114 feet and ore running as high as 68 per cent is on the stockpile.

George A. St. Clair, who developed Section 30 mine, was spending about $4,000 a month on this property when he suspended operations less than a year ago, owing, it is said, to some differences with the fee owners. Presumably this difference has been adjusted.

The drift in Consolidated Vermilion is now in about thirty-five feet from the 340-foot level. It is in greenstone and will have to be extended 140 feet farther before reaching the ore. About four feet a day is being made. According to the company's calculations the ore body ought to be reached in less than two months.

Three assays of rock from the bottom of the North American shaft at Walsh, near here, made in Minneapolis this week, gave $22.75, $42.68 and $67 per ton of gold. To date, 175 assays of this rock on the North American property have been made and average $50 to the ton. In the stockpile are 1,500 tons of this rock. To convince skeptics, President T. J. Walsh has left orders at the mine to give anybody asking for it a sample of this rock from the size of a man's fist to a carload.

In section 25, 62-12, less than half a mile from Section 30 mine shaft, a three-compartment shaft is down seventy feet and is expected to encounter the ledge at 108 feet. This is on property of the Silverman estate, which was drilled and turned down five times before it was taken over by Mr. Fargo of Chicago, who is having the shaft sunk on contract. As reported in The Herald several months ago Mr. Fargo had the property thoroughly diamond drilled and disclosed a large ore body, most likely an extension of the Section 30 mine adjoining.

INHALED SMOKE CAUSE OF DEATH

Autopsy Sets at Rest Rumors About Two Harbors Fire Victim.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Owing to the many and conflicting rumors which were circulated after the fire of the Clifton hotel, regarding the death of Amy Anderson, a post-mortem examination and investigation was held Thursday evening, Friday morning and Friday evening. The body of Miss Anderson was examined by Dr. M. K. Knauff, who reported that the girl had come to her death by the inhalation of smoke and fire.

Rumors were circulated to the effect that Miss Anderson had come to her death by foul play, and that an effort to rescue her by a bystander was prevented by the firemen. Wishing to dispel these stories and arrive at the truth Fire Chief M. J. Brickley requested that State Fire Marshal Keller come here and investigate. Fire Marshal Keller with Assistant Marshal Fullerton came here immediately and held an investigation.

Blame Defective Wiring.

The investigation showed that the fire must have originated from the wiring of the building, and that in all probability, Miss Anderson was dead before the fire department arrived, the reason for this being the fact that the alarm was not turned in until fully one-half hour after the fire had started. There were no marks on the body.

REPAIR TANK LINE.

Eveleth's Water Receptacle to Be Filled Next Week.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Repairs on the water-pipe leading to the city tank have been about completed by Supt. Edward F. Forrestal and it is planned to refill the tank next week. Ice has been removed from the tank.

Since the tank connections have been out of commission, water mains here have been filled with direct pressure from the pumping station at Ely lake.

Children of Mrs. Koski Travel Many Miles for Her Funeral

Eveleth, Minn. Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. E. C. Koski of the Fayal location was held yesterday afternoon from the Finnish Lutheran Concordia church, Rev. Peter Keranen officiating. Interment was made at Greenwood cemetery, Virginia.

Among the children attending were: John Koski, Butte, Mont.; August Koski, New Leipzig, N. D.; Mrs. Peter Vanderboom, Mrs. Erick Hokklo, Miss Celia Koski and Oscar Koski, all of this city.

SYMPATHETIC CHARITY

Is Sought to Be Obtained By Hibbing Saturday Club.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of a committee from the Saturday club held at the home of Mrs. T. A. Stewart yesterday, and attended by Mrs. Robert Murray, president of the Crescent Aid, it was decided to call a public meeting soon and secure a speaker to discuss the best methods of organization for the dispensation of systematic charity.

The matter was taken up early in the fall by the Ladies' Saturday club. It was impossible before Christmas to secure a speaker and nothing further was done, except that the proposal for a charities organization with a paid worker was endorsed by the Commercial club. The activity of the Crescent Aid and the Elks before Christmas provided all the relief that was necessary at that time and the Saturday club has now taken the matter up again in an effort to see whether there is the need in Hibbing for a charities organization.

WILL STOP EXHIBIT.

State Authorities to Halt Showing of Freak Child's Body.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Stated authorities will take a hand and put a stop to the public exhibition here of the body of the two-headed child born here last August. The father and Jack Grames, a former policeman, have been exhibiting the abnormal child and the following expressions have been received from the legal department of the state as well as from the state board of health: "I am of the opinion that the state law requiring all dead bodies to be buried or cremated within a reasonable time after death, will cover the case," says C. L. Hilton of the attorney general's office, "but they are probably other statutes which will prevent such an exhibition."

O. C. Pierson of the state board of health said he knew of no authority vested in that board which would permit it to stop the display. The state legal department will begin proceedings immediately to bring the exhibitors before the court and have the body of the child buried.

CUSSON LUMBERJACK IS TO BE EXAMINED.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Possessed of maniacal fits that it is feared might result in his killing himself or someone else, Valentine Ratz, a lumberjack employed by the Virginia & Rainy Lake Lumber company near Cusson, was brought here last night and today taken to Duluth to be examined as to his sanity.

Eveleth Church Announcements.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Phillip A. Schwarz, Jr., pastor of the First Presbyterian church, whose resignation was recently declined, will announce his future plans at the services tomorrow. At the M. E. church Sunday morning, Rev. B. D. Hanscom will speak on "The Doing of Things," while "Robbers" will be his evening subject.

Dr. Morrison, Episcopal bishop of Duluth, will make his annual visit to St. John's church in Eveleth next Sunday and will preach and hold confirmation services in the evening beginning at 7:3 0o'clock.

CALLS DULUTH MEETING

Of Northeastern Minnesota Educational Association March 14-16.

LIFE CRUSHED OUT.

Laborer Is Killed at Sellers Mine Coal Dock.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alex Sanniff, an Italian laborer, was instantly killed at the coal dock at the Sellers mine yesterday afternoon. Sanniff was working near the end of the dock when a Missabe switch engine backed a coal car off the end. He was caught under the car in some manner and crushed to death.

The dead man was 35 years of age and leaves a wife and family of five children.

EVELETH MAN WILL RUN VIRGINIA HOTEL.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 20.—M. L. Wilk of Eveleth has completed arrangements for the purchase of the lease of the Central hotel in Virginia. His son and a partner from International Falls will be in direct charge of the place, it is understood. The hotel has been conducted of late by J. T. Moody, formerly of Duluth, the dining room service being closed. Ralph Wilk is now in Virginia, and it is reported that Mr. Wilk will close his store here and remove his family to Virginia.

AURORA BASKET BALL TEAM ARRANGES GAMES.

Aurora, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The high school basket ball team has completed the following schedule for the season: Aurora at Gilbert, Jan. 19; Aurora at Chisholm, Jan. 26; Gilbert at Aurora, Feb. 2; Aurora at Ely, Feb. 9; Chisholm at Aurora, Feb. 16; Biwabik at Aurora, Feb. 23; Aurora at Biwabik, March 1; Ely at Aurora, March 8.

The boys have done considerable practicing and have a fast team and feel capable of winning a majority of their games.

POSTOFFICE SLEEPER GETS JAIL SENTENCE.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Mohar, an Austrian, who was found sleeping in the basement of the postoffice building by Sergeant John Lamuth, was tried in municipal court yesterday afternoon by Judge William E. Moylan and sentenced to serve thirty days in the county jail at Duluth on a vagrancy charge. He was taken to the Zenith City this morning by Deputy Sheriff Charles Gronberg of Virginia.

DENIES RUNAWAY IS DEAD FROM EXPOSURE.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The report that Carl Falkenberg, the 17-year-old Eveleth youth who froze his hands and feet on a seventy-five mile ride on the pilot of a locomotive bound for Chicago, in an effort to escape from the Red Wing training school, had died, is denied at the home of the boy's father, H. Falkenberg of the Adams location. Mr. Falkenberg expects to receive word soon from Red Wing as to the boy's condition.

CONSIDERING NEW SCHOOL FOR WINTON.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The school board, at a special meeting discussed the matter of building a new school at Winton, the Winton school belonging to Ely District No. 12. The Winton school building is in a bad condition as to ventilation and has inadequate seating capacity. Nothing definite was decided upon, but the building and grounds committee was instructed to gather data as to the advisability of constructing a new building or repairing the old one.

Eveleth's Charter Plans.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Members of the charter commission expect to complete the new charter by March 28. The commission form of government will be included and the present ward system done away with, five commissioners to be elected. The changes will not take effect until the present officials leave office, Jan. 1, 1914.

In addition to these speakers a number of local pastors will take part in the endeavor to stimulate as much interest as possible in the work they are pursuing in Wisconsin.

REPLIES TO WATER BOARD

William Craig Says Members Made Him "The Goat."

To the Editor of The Herald:

In yesterday's issue of your esteemed paper, the water board in its reply to the so-called Patterson charges, endeavors to make a "goat" of the undersigned, but it seems to me they widely overshot the mark, and with your permission I shall briefly place a few statements before the public for its consideration.

In the first place I was creditably informed that as far back as last September, the alleged padding of payrolls was common talk between office employes and others of the department. Such being the case it is reasonable to presume that some of the board members had knowledge of such rumors. Did they make any attempt, when they first heard these rumors, to investigate such charges? No, not until they were forced to do so through the Patterson exposure. During all this time—nearly six months—why wasn't Ackerman brought forward to disprove the alleged charges? Why doesn't Haley produce Ackerman now and quickly end all this hub-bub? I wish to state, and in forcible language, that previous to the receipt of the board's request to appear before them, some of the members thoroughly investigated the alleged charges and in no uncertain language emphatically said "that there was nothing to it." Furthermore, one of the members verbally certified to the good character of Mr. Haley. All the department employes who had knowledge of the alleged wrong-doing were available, and all the payroll papers were in possession of the members, and they had every possible opportunity to thoroughly investigate the whole subject, and presumably did so. Now this being the case, why did they want me to appear before them after they had arrived at a conclusion? I say they had some ulterior object in view.

Since my attention was first called to the alleged padding of pay rolls, and since my examination of the records on file in the city hall, I have been loth to say anything about the matter and have at all times, when questioned, denied I knew of any person who was guilty of padding pay rolls, Mr. Haley himself came to me and begged of me not to make him any trouble.

The board in its report, states that I have for years been examining the pay rolls. Yes, I frequently examined the pay rolls, vouchers, records, etc., of the light and water department. I also frequently examined the records, etc., of other departments, and without being spied upon. Like all other taxpayers and citizens, that was my right. I have in some instances found wrong-doing, and in many others I found different matters for criticism and censure. In conjunction with other citizens and taxpayers, we endeavored to bring around a thoroughly honest and impartial investigation of these matters, but the public know too well how such an investigation was blocked at every stage of the game.

If given the proper opportunity I will show the public that the light and water plants are not judiciously and economically operated in the interests of all the taxpayers and consumers. There are many things connected with the management which will not stand close scrutiny and impartial investigations.

I thank your for your consideration and space. WILLIAM CRAIG.

P. S.—Mr. Haley claims to have a receipt from Ackerman. Why not compel him to deliver it to the city treasurer? It is part of the city's records.

"THE OLD TOWN" AT THE LYCEUM

New Vehicle of Montgomery & Stone Seen for First Time Here.

If Dave Montgomery is one-half as clever, one-half as entertaining, one-half as versatile as his distinguished partner in the business of extracting laughs, "The Old Town" will be worth another visit of the 1,500 Duluthians ter up packed the Lyceum theater last evening.

All that was seen of Mr. Montgomery last evening, was a grey business suit and an expansive smile. He appeared in front of the curtain between the two acts and bowed to the audience, after his partner explained that he couldn't speak above a whisper. The cold air of the Northwest brought on a severe attack of laryingitis, and it was impossible for him to appear last evening. It was promised that he would take his place for the matinee today and at the performance tonight.

But Mr. Fred Stone is a show in himself, not forgetting at any time five feet of very clever femininity appearing on the program under the name of Flossie Hope.

Mr. Stone is most amazingly versatile as a comedian. He seems as much at home in Highland kilts, as he does in a dress suit, or a tramp makeup, or a Wild West uniform. He is not content to simply play a part. He gives it all the frills and finishes. For example when he appeared as the burlesque cowboy, he gave a little exhibition of gun twirling that must have taken many hours of practice, and his lariat manipulations were evidently not perfected in a week. Many Wild West performers who make a specialty of lariat throwing, could not have equaled the five-minute exhibition given by Mr. Stone. This was but one of a dozen little tricks that stamped Mr. Stone as a performer very much out of the ordinary. His tight rope walking, for example, was not a trick that was picked up in a day or a week. His work shows that he has gone at the business of entertaining in a business-like way, and has perfected himself in all the little tricks of the trade. Second class performers might be content to neglect such sidelines, or "fake" them, but Mr. Stone has mastered them all, and does them better than many specialists in these lines. To begin with, Mr. Stone had an engaging personality, a natural ability as a comedian, and a physique that would be the envy of a professional acrobat. The combination is a hard one to beat.

Mack Whiting, the stage manager of the company, went in as an understudy for Mr. Montgomery, and considering all things, got away with flying colors. Mr. Whiting was very funny, but more unconsciously than consciously so. He is very thin and very lugubrious looking, and his appearance in the athletic Montgomery's clothes gave him a good start as a fun maker. He walked through the part in a mechanical manner, but this simply heightened the absurd effect. In his singing alone, was the absence of Mr. Montgomery felt. Mr. Whiting is undoubtedly a good stage manager, but he will never be in the running for Caruso's honors. Few regular actors, however, would care to even attempt such an undertaking as playing Montgomery's role without notice, and all credit is due Mr. Whiting for the manner in which he tackled it.

Miss Flossie Hope, five feet of muscular energy and grace, ran Mr. Stone a very close second in popularity last night. One good feature of the production is that the two principals are apparently sure enough of their own popularity, and have sufficient genuine ability not to fear competition. It is not a two-man show by any means, and the rest of the production has not been sacrificed for the benefit of the two stars. Miss Hope, for example, is clever enough and entertaining enough, to star in a less pretentious offering than "The Old Town,' and the many other parts have not been neglected. Charles Dox, as the Hon. Duke Bitwether, and Clara Palmer as his wife, are thoroughly adequate, and Helen Falconer and Edna Bates, their two nelces, are two very graceful and attractive young women, who appear to good advantage in several dance numbers with the two stars.

There are a score of other parts, less important but not best trained less important but not less adequately handled, and the chorus is probably the best trained and the best looking seen here in several seasons. The octet of dancers secured one of the most enthusiastic "hands' of the evening in one dance number done without the assistance of a principal.

The costumes and scenery are what might be expected of a Dillingham production—first class in every respect.

"The Old Town" will be repeated at a matinee this afternoon, and again this evening.

IN THE DAY'S WORK AT WASHINGTON

Talks About Canal Tolls.

Washington, Jan. 20.—"The Panama canal will be as useless to us as a transcontinental road without rails if we cannot have the facilities for shipping," said D. E. Skinner, a Seattle lumber manufacturer, before the interstate commerce committee of the house.

He advocated a discrimination in canal tolls in favor of American vessels engaged in coastwise trade, to encourage the building of more ships.

New Year's day, 1912, marked the completion of four-fifths of the excavation for the canal. According to the canal record, the American engineers, since beginning their work in May, 1904, have taken 158,010,964 cubic yards of dirt and stone out of the canal bed. The French engineers who preceded them had already removed 78,146,960 yards, but only 29,908,000 yards of this work was of value in the construction of the canal as rerouted by the Americans.

The vast concrete construction is also going on rapidly, and at the beginning of the year 75 per cent of the concrete for the canal locks was in place.

For Buildings $16,000,000.

The house committee on public buildings and grounds has decided to report an omnibus public building bill carrying $16,000,000. Democratic Leader Underwood advised against this action.

Will Build Battleships.

Contracts for the construction of the two 27,000-ton super-dreadnoughts authorized at the last session of congress will be awarded to the New York Shipbuilding company of Camden, N. J., and the Fore River Shipbuilding company of Quincy, Mass. The former will build a vessel with engines of the reciprocating type and the latter company will install Curtiss turbine engines, according to announcement by Secretary Meyer. Secretary Meyer did not make public the price to be paid for the vessels, which have been assigned the names Oklahoma and Nevada. Congress allowed $6,000,000 for the construction of the vessels.

Can Claim to Be Depositories.

For the first time, the way has been opened for state banks and trust companies to become known as United States depositories.

According to the view of the treasury department, any financial institution in America—national or state bank or trust company—holding postal savings deposits or other government funds, may assume that title without legal impediment, even though the designation is not officially conferred by the secretary of the treasury.

The privilege of becoming known as a depository of the nation's funds is much sought by every bank in the country, because it is presumed to convey an advantageous impression of character and stability. Of the 7,500 national banks, only about 1,400 are officially designated as "United States depositories." There are 14,000 banks and trust companies, none of which at the present time is known as a depository of the federal government.

Beer Popular in December.

American people consumed considerably less whisky, but a great deal more beer, during December, 1911, as compared with the closing month of the previous year, according to reports to the bureau of internal revenue. The tax paid distilled spirits—whisky, etc., withdrawn from bonded warehouses in December last brought the government $15,035,000 a decrease of $1,410,000 as compared with December, 1910. The income from fermented liquors, including beer, malts, etc., increased $228,775.

Farmer Frozen at Stonewall.

Stonewall, Man., Jan. 20.—W. J. Anderson, who had a farm four miles west of here, was found frozen beside the railroad track by a train crew. He had been drinking and apparently got off at the Rockwood crossing, mistaking it for this town.

Face Paint Tabooed; Remove Skin Instead

"A few years ago only one class of women painted their faces," says Dolly Madison in Chicago News. "It was a sign of social ostracism and was tabooed in refined circles. The custom has become so universal we must admit it is to be deplored and to be shelved as soon as possible."

How foolish to seek artificial "beauty" of this sort, obnoxious from artistic and moral standpoints, when it is so easy to obtain a truly natural complexion by the use of ordinary mercolized wax. An ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, will cause such a transformation, no one need think of using anything else for the purpose. Applied like cold cream at night, and washed off in the morning, it at once begins to show its remarkable rejuvenating effects. It gently absorbs the lifeless surface skin in tiny particles, revealing the fresher, liveller, beautiful underskin. Naturally it takes with it all surface defects.

SOME ACTIVITY IN EAST END RESIDENCE PROPERTY

Two Choice Seventh Street Sites Sold for Improvement.

Other Real Estate Transfers Reported During the Week.

An encouraging feature of the realty market, which came to light this week was the movement in East Seventh street residence property. Recent sales and developments point to a revival of interest in this section of the city, which promises to enjoy a continued healthy growth.

Dr. William T. Abbott has purchased a 100-foot frontage on the lower southwest corner of Wallace avenue and East Seventh street and P. S. Annekce has bought 200 feet on the southeast corner of Twenty-fifth avenue east and Seventh street. Both sales were made through the firm of Richardson, Harrison & Day, and it is understood that the property was acquired for the purpose of immediate improvement.

A number of other sales have been made in this vicinity within the past few months and there is every indication that East Seventh street will develop into a high class residence district.

The past week was a quiet one in realty lines, there being the usual number of small transactions in outlying districts and acreage. Inquiry continues strong, but dealers say that people seem to be putting off buying until milder weather comes.

Theodore Nauffts has purchased from Henry Fee a 50-foot frontage on Second street between Fifteenth and Sixteenth avenues east. The property is on the lower side of the street. 50 feet east of Fifteenth avenue. The consideration was $2,250.

* * *

William Johnson has sold to Charles O. Bergquist an 80-foot frontage on the St. Louis river between One Hundred and Thirty-second and One Hundred and Thirty-third avenues west for $1,500.

* * *

Ex-Alderman Peter Olson of the West end has sold to Minnie Rivers thirty-five feet on the east side of Twenty-third avenue west between Eighth and Ninth streets, for $2,400.

* * *

For a consideration of $1,900 Mike Polinsky has purchased a house and fifty-foot lot on the northwest corner of Fifth avenue east and Eighth street from I. L. McAdams.

* * *

Frances R. Wright this week sold to Fred B. Rosam for $2,600 a sixty-five-foot frontage on the southwest corner of Twenty-fourth avenue east and Fourth street.

Ebert Walker & McKnight sold for C. H. Neff to R. J. Curtiss a house and a ten-acre tract located near the poor farm. The consideration was $600.

Rachael Thibideau has purchased from Emily H. Porter for $875 a house and lot on the west side of Garfield avenue between 700 and 800.

* * *

For $1,500, Frank A. Johnson has purchased from Edward Blackwood a fifty-foot lot on the lower side of Fifth street between Twenty-first and Twenty-second avenues east.

* * *

Charles Hanson has purchased from the estate of Annie S. Peterson for $1,750 a fifty-foot frontage on the southeast corner of Fifth avenue west and Fifth street.

Hubbard Home Sold.

The home of W. M. Hubbard on Fifteenth avenue east between First and Second streets was sold to Frederick E. Hough for $10,500 yesterday. The residence is of brick and was bought a number of years ago by Mr. Hubbard. The property has a frontage of fifty feet on the avenue.

NEW RESIDENCE FOR N. F. RUSSELL

Bids will be opened about Feb. 10 for the erection of a handsome new residence for N. F. Russell, which will cost $30,000 and will go up on London road, near Forty-fifth avenue east.

J. J. Wangenstein, a local architect, is preparing the plans, which call for an eleven-room brick and stone structure, two stories and basement. A large conservatory off the dining room, a billiard room in the attic and a tiled enclosed front porch, 12 by 36 feet are among the features.

A garage of the same style and construction as the house, will be built at the rear of the residence. The garage will include a stable and quarters for the chauffeur.

NEW PAVILION FOR ISLE ROYALE.

Frank L. Young & Co., architects, are preparing plans for a pavilion to be erected at Isle Royale during the coming summer. The new structure will be 28 by 130 and will have banquet and dancing rooms. There will also be a number of summer cottages around it.

PLANS FOR ADDITION TO THE CITY JAIL.

Vernon J. Price, architect, has completed work on the plans for the alterations and additions to the new city jail. They will be sent to the state board of control for approval the first of next week. It is expected that the contract will be let about Feb. 1.

BANK WILL SPEND $10,000 ON BUILDING.

At Superior the United States National bank has let the contract to A. Moorman & Co. of St. Paul for the alterations, remodelling and equipment of the new banking room in the Broadway and Tower avenue building. The work will include marble fixtures, terazza and marble floors, mahogany woodwork, bronze grill work, wall and ceiling decorations, new entrance, vestibule doors, etc. Work will be started at once. The cost will approximate $10,000.

ACTIVE BUILDING SEASON IN PROSPECT.

A good building season is anticipated by the Paine & Nixon company, which has prepared a list of prospects, showing more than $1,200,000 of work in sight so far.

The list includes the Kitchi Gammi and curling club structures, two central telephone exchanges, the Bethel and a number of high class residences.

Out of the city are schools at Biwabik, Virginia, Eveleth, Buhl, Chisholm and International Falls.

BOX COMPANY BUILDS ADDITION TO PLANT.

An addition, 72 by 100 feet, is being built to the factory of the Zenith Box & Lumber company, whose plant is located at Forty-third avenue west and Third street. The firm intends to install new equipment, including a dovetailer. The new portion of the plant will be ready for operation in about six weeks.

SAYS STEEL TRUST IS NOT IN POLITICS.

New York, Jan. 20.—Referring to recent reports that the United States Steel corporation is supporting a movement to defeat the re-nomination of President Taft, Chairman Gary said:

"There is no foundation for the statement that our corporation or any of its officers or any one in authority has done or said anything to favor or oppose the nomination of any one for president. We keep out of politics."

HERALD'S POPULAR-PRICED HOMES

This is a design for a neat appearing four-room cottage which contains a large living room, kitchen and two bedrooms on the first floor. The rooms in this design are within easy reach of each other and are all provided with ample closet space. This design should meet with the approval of the working man who desires a low-priced substantial home. The cost of this home in Duluth or vicinity would be about $450. VERNON J. PRICE, Architect.

BIG DEMAND FOR DURUM

Mediterranean Buyers Cause Sudden Rise in Duluth Price.

Bullish Foreign Cables Boost Wheat—Slow Trading in Linseed.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 20.—Durum, which is one of the commodities for which the world looks largely to the Duluth market, is booming. Yesterday, May regular durum advanced 2c a bu and today it closed at a further gain of ¾c. Today, a special quotation was made of Duluth No. 1 durum, which closed at $1.07 a bu bid. This was 1⅞c higher than the closing price of No. 1 northern wheat. It is a remarkable situation.

The claim has been made by partisans of markets not handling durum that that grain is good for nothing but feed. That this claim is entirely false has been demonstrated time and time again, but never was its falsity more fully proved than at the present time. The people of the Mediterranean countries use vast quantities of durum in the manufacture of macaroni, which finds a very ready market in Southern Europe. Heretofore, these people have been largely supplied with their macaroni wheat by Russia, but the prices of wheat of all kinds in Russia are now so high that this commercial movement has been largely cut off. Some of the sellers of Russian wheat have been demanding as high as $1.25 a bu. For that reason, Southern Europe has been looking to America, and particularly to Duluth, for its supplies of macaroni wheat. At the same time, the supply of durum in this country is very low. It is doubtful whether more than 500,000 bu are now on hand to tide the market over until there is another crop. Hence, the price has naturally gone up, and will probably go considerably higher in the near future.

The wheat markets of North America were bullish today. Duluth May wheat closed at an advance of 1⅝ to 1¾c. Nearly all the cables were bullish. The Liverpool market closed ¼d higher largely by reason of reports of showery conditions in Northern Argentina and a good demand on the part of millers. There were lighter Russian offerings and it was reported that prices in the interior of Russia were very high. Estimates of the Australian crop were reduced.

Buenos Ayres closed last night with February wheat ¼c off and March ¾c off. This morning, however, wheat was reported ¼c higher to unchanged at the opening.

In the United States primary receipts of wheat were about a third greater than those of a week ago, but only about four-fifths of those of a year ago. There was some stiffening up in the domestic demand. The demand for export of Canadian wheat was good.

Duluth cash wheat closed at the May price. Corn and oats both closed ⅜c up. Rye and barley closed unchanged.

Flax Trade Is Poor.

Although the foreign cables showed flaxseed slightly higher at Buenos Ayres, Antwerp and London, the demand for the seed on the Duluth market today was very slow. On the other hand, offers were more liberal than they have been for many days. The milder weather has been causing farmers to haul their flaxseed to marketing points in the country, and receipts at Duluth have been increasing. January flaxseed today closed 1⅝c below yesterday's close and May 2¼c down.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Turns Upward on Signs of Decreased Visible Supply.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Signs of a liberal decrease in the United States visible supply total helped the wheat market today to make an upturn. In addition, there were reduced estimates of the Australian crop. News was confirmed, too, that prices in the interior of Russia had reached an abnormally high level. Bulls were further encouraged by the lightness of pit offerings here. The opening was the same as last night to ¼c up. May started at $1.00¼@1.00⅜, unchanged to ⅛c advance. A rise to $1.00¾@1.00⅞ followed.

Selling on the part of a dealer who yesterday expressed decidedly bullish sentiments failed to check the upward march of prices. The close was steady with May $1.00¾, a gain of ½c net.

Generous outloading of contract corn from public elevators here had a strengthening effect on the market for that cereal. The fact also was noted that prices west and southwest were relatively firm. May opened at last night's figures to ¼c off at 66@66⅛c, and rose to 66½c.

After a little further gain the market closed steady with May 66½c, a net advance of ⅜c.

Oats ascended with corn. The volume of trade, however, was small. May started a shade higher at 49½@49⅝c and went to 49⅝c.

A steady tone formed the rule in provisions. Hog receipts west were larger than a year ago, but the gain was not so marked as earlier in the week. First sales ruled from 2½c lower to 5c advance with May delivery $16@17½ for pork; $9.35 to $9.37½ for lard and $8.67½ to $8.67½@8.70 for ribs.

London Stocks.

London, Jan. 20.—On the stock exchange here today American securities opened steady and around parity. Later the market advanced on light covering and closed steady with prices ranging from unchanged to ⅜ higher than yesterday's New York closing.

STEEL STOCK IN DEMAND

Hill Railway Issues Are Also Conspicuous for Their Strength.

Market Broadens and Becomes Active Soon After the Opening.

New York, Jan. 20.—Apart from gains of a point in Mexican railways second preferred and 1¼ in Interborough Metropolitan preferred, there were few changes of importance at the opening today of the stock market. Lehigh Valley, which started with a smart fractional advance soon fell under yesterday's close, while only minor changes occurred in such other active issues as Reading, United States Steel and Union Pacific. Later, Reading advanced half a point and there was a gain of 1½ in Liggett & Myers common.

The market broadened and became more active soon after the opening, under the lead of Reading, which advanced to 158¾. The specialities, including the new Tobacco issues, continued their upward movement. Steel seemed in good demand, and the Hill issues, which were the center of interest yesterday, were conspicuous for their strength.

The market closed easy. Trading slackened in the second hour, but Reading, Northern Pacific and some of the metal stocks reached a higher level before the profit-taking sales made an impression on prices. The strength of the list was generally ascribed to a running in of the short interest.

Cotton Market.

New York, Jan. 20.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 4 to 11 points. Private advices indicated that the sharp English break was due to American selling, freer offerings from the South on an easier basis. There was a big demand around 9.05 for May or about 10 points under the closing figures of yesterday and the market during the middle of the morning was nervous and unsettled, but within a point or wo of the opening figures.

Futures closed barely steady; closing bids: January, 9.22; February, 9.24; March, 9.33; April, 9.38; May, 9.48; June, 9.52; July, 9.60; August, 9.61; September, 9.63; October, 9.71; November, 9.74; December, 9.80. Spot closed quiet, 5 points lower; middling uplands, 9.50; middling gulf, 9.75. No sales.

South St. Paul Livestock.

South St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 20.—Cattle—Receipts, 500; market generally 10@15c lower. Hogs—Receipts, 4,500; market generally 5c lower; range, $5.75@6.15; bulk of sales, $5.95@6.10. Sheep—Receipts, 500; market materially lower; sheep, $1.00@4.00; lambs, $1.50@6.00.

New York Money.

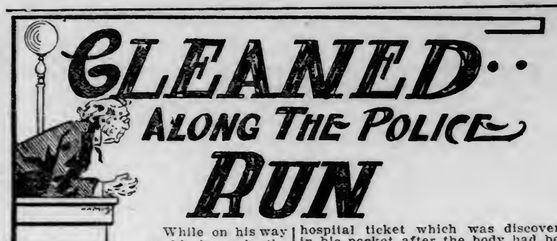

Close: Prime mercantile paper, 3¾@4¼ per cent. Sterling exchange firm with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.84 for 60-day bills and at $4.87.20 for demand. Commercial bills, $4.83⅛. Bar silver, 57¼c; Mexican dollars, 47c. Government bonds, steady; railroad bonds, strong.

THE PRODUCE MARKETS.

Potatoes are a little cheaper because the freight shipments, which for a while were interrupted by intensely cold weather, have been resumed. They are now selling at wholesale for $1 a bushel, 15 cents lower than a week ago. Dairy butter has risen in price from 28 to 27 and 28 cents a pound. The exceedingly high price of creamery has caused an increased demand for the cheaper grades, and they too in consequence have advanced.

Quotations given below indicate what the retailers pay to the wholesalers, except the bay list, which gives what the farmers receive from the jobbers.

While on his way to his home in the West end a few nights ago Building Inspector Sam Kielley in some manner lost his purse containing about $200 in cash and a check for $100.

He doesn't know how he became separated from the wallet. He doesn't know whether it dropped from his pocket or whether his pocket was picked. But he does know for a certainty that he lost $200 in greenbacks of ordinary denominations.

Although Inspector Kielley has advertised the loss and offered a reward of $50 for its return, the missing roll has not reappeared. The inference is that the money fell into the hands of some one who would have stolen it had a favorable opportunity offered itself. Were that person's identity known, and could it be shown that he, or she, knew to whom it belonged, the law would hold him or her guilty of grand larceny, which is punishable by a term in the penitentiary.

A week ago today T. A. Scarlett lost his bank deposit of about $1,700 in cash and checks while on his way to put it in the bank. It fell into the hands of an honest man, who returned it to Mr. Scarlett after he had advertised for it.

In both instances it appears that the checks had been indorsed. They were perfectly good and unless it were for their large amounts, could easily be cashed in any store. The man who lost the checks would not be the loser, as payment was stopped at the bank. Unless the person who found the checks could be located, the merchant would have to stand the loss.

The fact mentioned because the majority of the people indorse their checks before they take them to the bank. They do it because it is more convenient and saves them time and trouble, when they get to the financial institutions with which they do business. It would be pretty good insurance. If they waited until they reached the bank before putting their signature on the backs of the checks, the only premium would be the cost of the little extra time and trouble. Then in case the checks were lost the finder could not be able to pass them so easily. And if he were known and caught, he could be held to the district court for forgery, which is a sufficiently serious charge to deter many who might otherwise be tempted to realize on them.

The two incidents also call forth the comment that many people needlessly carry considerable sums of money on their persons. As a rule it is the result of thoughtlessness.

The man who was found frozen to death about twenty miles from Kelsey two days ago is believed to be Emil Erickson. The name was found on a hospital ticket which was discovered in his pocket after the body had been thawed out in the undertaking rooms of Flood & Horgan on East First street.

Those who went after the body stated that at the saloon where the man was last seen alive, he had been drinking quite heavily. They believed that he was in the last stages of intoxication when he left the saloon in the woods. He was on his way to a camp about two miles further on, which is uninhabited except for a single watchman with whom the dead man was acquainted. The unfortunate man got to within half a mile of his destination. For two or three blocks the marks in the snow showed that he had made a desperate struggle to get to the camp. Every few feet he had fallen to the ground, but picked himself up.

He was so warmly clad that it seems impossible that he could have been overcome by the cold. The only remaining cause, unless he was sick—and he appeared to have been an unusually healthy man—could be that he was overcome by the effects of the liquor which he had consumed.

If such were the case, and he was drunk while in the saloon, it would seem that the man in charge of the rum shop should have kept him indoors. With the mercury down to 30 or 40 blow zero, it is little less than criminal to allow a drunken man to start alone through the woods to a lonely camp two miles away. It is hard enough for a man in the full possession of his senses to travel in weather of that kind.

Four men were arrested last evening under the new law which prohibits drinking on trains. They were taken from the Iron Range passenger train as it pulled into the Union station about 7 o'clock. They gave their names as Harry McKay, Ladie Doliva, Simon Johanson and Frank Smith. They entered pleas of not guilty in police court this morning and their trials were set for Monday morning. The arrests were made at the instance of the conductor.

Tom Murphy failed to make good when he was released in police court a couple of days ago on his promise to go to work. He was up again this morning for begging on the streets and was sent over the hill for twenty days.

* * *

Charles Larsen, who struck an innocent bystander when he got into a row with an employment agent yesterday afternoon, pleaded guilty in police court this morning and got $10 and costs or ten days in the county jail. The employment agent ducked the "haymaker" intended for him and it landed squarely in the face of Emil Larsen, who was standing close to the intended victim.

EVIDENCE OF EX-CONVICT

Is Principal Prop on Which Government Rests Counterfeiting Case.

Defense in Case of Sam Polinsky Seeks to Prove Alibi.

Upon the story of an ex-convict and the consideration that the jury gives his testimony, depends the fate of Sam Polinsky, on trial in the United States district court, charged with making and passing counterfeit coins. The jury will take the case Monday morning.

Louis Johnson, who "did" four years in Stillwater, having been released from the penitentiary in 1907, told the court and jury of his connections with Edward Paul and Sam Polinsky and of what took place between them for several days leading up to Dec. 20, when Paul and Polinsky were arrested.

This morning the defense put witnesses on the stand to prove an alibi for Polinsky. His aged grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Cook, testified through an interpreter, that Polinsky was in attendance at a celebration which was being held at her home at the time that the government accused him of passing a spurious coin on Mrs. H. Cohen, who conducts a grocery store at Fifth avenue west and First street.

Minnie Palmquist, aged 18, testified as to Polinsky's whereabouts on the evening of his arrest up to 10:30 o'clock. She said that she lived at 1201 West Superior street and that she was employed at the Royal cafe. She told of making an engagement with Polinsky for 8 o'clock that night, Polinsky having met her between 5 and 6 o'clock in the restaurant. Polinsky kept the engagement and took her to the Happy Hour theater, she says. Afterward he took her home.

CLEAN BILL FOR STEPHENSON

Senate Sub-Committee Finds No Corruption in His Election.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The Heyburn sub-committee report to the senate committee on privileges and elections, exonerating Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin of charges growing out of his election, was considered today by the full committee. Final action was deferred for two weeks.

The committee made public the subcommittee's report, which was unanimous and concluded as follows:

"Your sub-committee has given the fullest consideration to all of the testimony introduced and has considered its weight and effect under the rules pertaining to the investigation, and is of the opinion that the charges preferred against Senator Isaac Stephenson have not been sustained; and your sub-committee finds that the election of said Isaac Stephenson as a senator of the United States from the state of Wisconsin was not procured by corrupt methods or practices in said election of Isaac Stephenson."

SAYS IOWA WILL BE FOR CUMMINS

Chairman of State Central Committee Talks of Candidacy.

Parkersburg, Iowa, Jan. 20.—"Iowa will be for Senator Cummins for president without a doubt," said C. F. Franks, chairman of the Republican state central committee, to the Associated Press when shown the Washington dispatch containing the announcement of the Iowa senator's candidacy. "To my mind Senator Cummins will be as strong a candidate as the Republicans can nominate this year."

Approved By Congressmen.
Washington, Jan. 20.—Senator Cummins called together all the Republicans of the Iowa delegation in congress who were in the city and read to them the statement announcing his candidacy, which they approved. Senator Kenyon, Mr. Cummins' colleague in the senate, has not returned from Chicago.

The Iowa delegation re-elected Representative Woods as a member of the Republican congressional campaign.

Proposed Charter Amendments to Be Voted Upon at Municipal Election to Be Held in the City of Duluth February 6, 1912.

Amendment No. 1.

Amend section 64 of the Duluth city charter by adding at the end thereof the following words:

"Eighty-eighth. To acquire and hold by gift, devise, purchase or by the exercise of the power of eminent domain through condemnation proceedings, property, for public use, either within the corporate boundaries of the city or outside of such corporate boundaries, for work houses, work farms, detention homes and like corrective institutions, and all other places of confinement, public lodging houses, houses of refuge and similar institutions for the well-being of the unfortunate and delinquents of the city, and public baths, gymnasiums, public halls and similar places of public recreation, convenience and amusement, and to provide for the erection of buildings thereon and the maintenance, management, control and operation of all of the same, and do all or any part of the same, either solely or jointly with the county of St. Louis and the state of Minnesota, or with either such county and state."

Amend said charter by adding a chapter thereto to be known as chapter XVIII-A, to read as follows:

"Section 244-a. There is hereby created a board of public welfare which shall be composed of five members, who shall be appointed by the mayor. The members of said board shall be selected with reference to their special fitness for the position and shall serve without compensation. The members of the board shall be appointed on the second Tuesday in March of each year, or as soon thereafter as may be, their term of office to begin on the first day of April thereafter. The term of office of each of the members of said board shall be five years; provided, that the members of the board first appointed hereunder shall determine by lot at their first meeting the terms of service of each member so that the term of one such member shall expire April 1, 1913, and the term of each of the others shall expire yearly thereafter. Said board shall elect from its members at its first regular meeting after April first in each year a president and vice president. It shall also appoint a secretary who shall not be a member of said board, and may be removed by the board at its sole discretion. Subject to the other provisions of this charter, the board shall employ, dismiss and fix the compensation of all such other employes as the board may deem necessary to employ in the performance of the duties of said board.

"Sec. 244-b—The board shall have authority and it shall be its duty to maintain, manage, control and operate any workhouses, work farms, detention homes, and like corrective institutions, and all other such places of confinement, and any public lodging houses, houses of refuge, and similar agencies for the well-being of the unfortunates and delinquents of the city, and public baths, gymnasiums, public halls and similar places of public recreation, convenience and amusement, as may be established under the sole direction, ownership or management of the city, or in which the county of St. Louis and the state of Minnesota, or either said county or state is jointly interested with the city. The board shall employ one or more assistants whose duties it shall be to attend all sessions of the municipal or other courts at which criminal cases are or are likely to be heard or considered, and to advise and co-operate with other officials engaged in the duty of administering the criminal laws of the city and state. It shall also be the duty of said board to make such investigations and surveys of social conditions having a tendency to induce crime, poverty and personal delinquencies of any kind as may to said board seem proper.

"Sec. 244-c—The comptroller, the conference committee and the common council shall include in their annual estimates and apportionment of funds, made under sections 201 and 202 of this charter, a sum of money to be set aside out of the general fund for the exclusive use of the board of public welfare for the ensuing year, and when so set aside said fund shall be used for no other purpose, and separate accounts thereof shall be kept by the treasurer and comptroller. Expenditures from such fund so set aside shall be ordered and allowed by said board of public welfare, and shall be paid by the city treasurer only upon orders of said board, signed by its president or vice president, attested by its secretary and countersigned by the comptroller. Said board shall have authority to make all contracts on behalf of the city authorized by this chapter, and the same shall be signed for the city by the president or vice president and attested by the secretary of said board.

"Sec. 244-d—Any person desiring to make donations, bequests or devises of money or property for the benefit of the board of public welfare shall have the right to vest the title to the same in the city, to be held and controlled by said board, when accepted according to the terms of the donation, bequest or devise of such property, and as to such property the city shall be held and considered to be a special trustee, such trust to be managed and administered exclusively through and by the board of public welfare as an agent of said city."

Amendment No. 2.

Amend next to the last paragraph of section 284 of the city charter so as to read as follows:

"The aggregate amount levied by the common council in any one year, for said funds numbered third to sixteenth inclusive, shall not exceed 11 mills of the assessed valuation of all taxable property in said city; a levy in excess of this limitation shall be void as to such excess."

Amendment No. 3.

Amend paragraph numbered seventeenth of section 284 of the city charter so as to substitute for the first three sentences thereof the following:

"Seventeenth. There shall also be a permanent improvement revolving fund, which shall not be supported by taxation. There shall be paid into the permanent improvement revolving fund moneys received from all special assessments assessed and levied under this charter for local improvements under the provisions of sub-chapter 2 of chapter 23 of said charter, and also such amounts as may be realized by the sale of the $150,000 worth of bonds authorized herein. When the board of public works shall make the report to the common council provided for by section 364 of this charter as to the estimated cost of any public improvement described in section 356 of this charter, the common council may by resolution determine the aggregate amount of the assessments for such improvements which, in its judgment, will be extended for payment, as is elsewhere provided for in this amendment, but in no case shall such aggregate amount exceed 75 per cent of the total estimated cost of such improvement, and order the issuance and sale of extended assessment certificates representing such aggregate sum, which shall entitle the holder thereof to demand and receive from the city of Duluth, upon the surrender of such certificates to the city treasurer on or after the date of payment thereof, the amount of money named to be paid therein, with the rate of interest stipulated to be paid thereon to the due date thereof and not after such date. Such certificates may be issued in such amounts and become due on such dates as the common council may determine, but none of the same shall be payable more than five years from the date of the same. The proceeds of the sale of said certificates shall be paid into the permanent improvement revolving fund. Such certificates shall bear a rate of interest not exceeding 6 per cent per annum. The common council may, in its discretion, contract in advance for the sale of all such certificates that may be issued during any calendar year. No sale of such certificates shall be made except after advertising for bids at least one week prior to sale in the official newspaper of the city, and sales shall be made to the highest responsible bidder. Bids may be asked either on the basis of a rate of interest specified in the proposals or on the net interest basis on which the bidder will pay par for the same. The city treasurer shall keep a separate account of each assessment levied, and of each issue of bonds and certificates, the proceeds of which go into said fund."

Amend section 372 of the city charter so as to read as follows:

"Sec. 372. When said board shall be ordered by the common council to make any improvements described in section 356 of this charter, and said improvement so ordered shall have been completed and the final estimate therefor shall have been allowed by the common council, or the total cost of such improvement shall otherwise be determined, the board shall thereupon proceed at once to assess the total cost of such improvement as is assessable, including therein such additional amount as will defray the necessary expenses of making surveys, plans, specifications, superintendence, inspection and assessments, on the property to be benefited by said improvement, in proportion as nearly as may be to the benefits resulting therefrom, but in no case in excess of such benefits. In making such assessment roll the board shall describe each piece of property assessed, and the amount assessed against the same, and shall state the name of the owner thereof, so far as known to said board. No mistake in or omission of such owner's name shall in any wise affect such assessment."

Amend section 378 so as to read as follows:

"Sec. 378. Said assessment shall be entered by the board of public works in a book kept for that purpose. As soon as said assessment roll is delivered to the comptroller he shall insert forthwith in the official paper in two successive issues a notice briefly describing the improvement for which the assessment is made and state that the assessment is payable in the city treasurer's office within thirty days after the publication of said notice and that unless the same is so paid within forty days after such publication, or an application is made to the common council for the extension of the time of payment of the same as provided by law within thirty days after the publication of said notice, a penalty of 10 per cent will be added to such assessment. Within the time limited within which the assessments made as hereinbefore provided for may be paid to the city treasurer without penalty, upon application to the common council duly signed by any owner of real estate against which an assessment is made, when the assessment exceeds $25 for each 2,500 square feet of property benefited by the improvement, and upon payment to the city treasurer of 25 per cent of such assessment, and when the remaining portion of such assessment does not exceed the assessed valuation of such real estate, and when the applicant waives all defenses and questions as to the legality of such assessment, whether such defenses be interposed in proceedings by the state for the collection of general taxes or otherwise, the common council may by resolution extend the time for paying the remaining portion of such assessment into not exceeding three installments, payable in one, two and three years from the first day of October next following the date of the passage of such resolution. In case such assessment is made between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31, and application is granted for an extension of the time within which to pay the same, the first installment of such extended assessment shall be due and payable on the first day of October next thereafter. Each of said installments of said extended assessments shall bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent per annum from the date the original assessment would be payable without penalty, and the 10 per cent penalty provided for in section 356 of this charter shall not be added to such extended assessments until they become delinquent. Such installments of extended assessments, together with the accrued interest thereon to the first Monday of January following, shall be considered to be delinquent under section 384 of this charter when they shall severally become due and payable, but not before. Any such installment of extended assessments may be paid at any time prior to its maturity, with interest to date of payment only. No assessment for the construction of sidewalks shall be payable in installments unless they are built in connection with other street improvements. The owner of any property making the application hereunder shall be determined according to the records of the office of the register of deeds or registrar of titles of St. Louis county.

"Any provision of the charter conflicting with any of the provisions of this amendment is hereby repealed."

Amendment No. 4.

Amend section 201 of the city charter by adding at the end of said section the following:

"The board of park commissioners shall also have authority to provide free band concerts and other musical entertainments in the public parks of Duluth."

Amend the thirteenth sub-division of section 284 of the city charter by adding at the end of the first sentence in said sub-division after the words "maintenance of public parks," the following words, viz.: "and for free band concerts and other musical entertainments in the public parks."

RATE FIGHT NEXT WEEK

Lake and Rail Case Will Be Argued Here Wednesday.

100 Defendants Are Involved —Commissioner Harlan Will Preside.

What is perhaps the greatest struggle in Duluth's campaign for a readjustment of freight rates will be staged here next Wednesday when the lake and rail case will be heard by Commissioner Harlan of the interstate commerce commission.

The action involves more than 100 defendants, including the Eastern trunk lines, railroads in Central freight association territory, Western railroads concurring in rates originating in the East, and the package freight steamer lines. Besides lake and rail freight rates to and through Duluth, the action also involves the free storage of freight in transit, one of the practices against which there is vigorous complaint by Duluth jobbers.

The claim of the traffic commission of the Duluth commercial club, which instituted the action, is that the rate structure as it stands has, for all commercial purposes, moved the head of Lake Superior 150 miles inland to the Twin Cities. It is alleged that the differentials, Minneapolis and St. Paul over Duluth, on lake and rail shipments are ridiculously low, compared to the distribution rates which Duluth jobbers must pay into competing territory.

The advantage of the Twin Cities is made greater, it is claimed, by the fact that free storage is allowed in railroad warehouses here for freight in transit and that the shipments may be diverted from the original destination without further charge to the shippers. On the other hand, freight received in Duluth for local jobbers must be removed from the warehouses, reshipped at higher rates, and the charge for handling is added to the handicap.

Great questions are involved in the action, which will attract much attention throughout the country. A formidable array of legal talent, representing the railroads and the Twin City interests, will oppose the Duluth representatives in the hearing.

FOREMEN ARE QUESTIONED

Tell Water Board Members Craig and Patterson Inspected Books.

A second meeting of the board of water and light commissioners was held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and two foremen, A. Anderson and John Miller, who had taken their timebooks to R. E. Patterson's home in September and allowed Mr. Patterson and William Craig to examine them, were called in and questioned.

As a result of their testimony, the following was added to the statement issued yesterday:

"It having developed that Mr. Patterson interviewed some of the employes of the department in regard to the alleged padding of the pay rolls, and, for the purpose of more fully ascertaining the facts, the board caused Foremen Miller and Anderson to appear before a special meeting at 4 p. m., Jan. 19, 1912.

"Whereupon, they, the foremen, disclosed the fact that sometime in the first part of last September Mr. Pat[illegible] and Craig called at their home and requested that he and Foreman Miller come to his (Patterson's) house that evening and bring their timebooks, and that in compliance with that request the said foremen did go to Patterson's house that evening and found there Mr. Patterson and Mr. Craig, and they, the foremen, turned over to Patterson and Craig these books for inspection.

"In view of this disclosure the board determined and instructed the said foremen, owing to the fact that evil disposed persons might take advantage of such opportunity to change the records contained in said books that hereafter the books should be submitted for inspection by outsiders only at the office of the department and in the presence of the manager or superintendent."

Mr. Patterson submitted the following letter for publication today:

"To the Editor of The Herald:

"Dear Sir—In reference to certain charges which I made concerning the affairs of the water and light department, I wish to state that in making these charges I wasn't prompted by any political motives but that I acted only on what I thought was my duty as a citizen. I feel that I ought to state that I made these charges voluntarily and was not prompted by any one working in behalf of either Dr. Cullum or Dr. McCuen, and it was not my intent to give any political aspect whatever to my charges. The same statements made by me were made at a meeting of the Hillside Improvement club over two months ago before either candidate had filed for office.

"If you will kindly print this letter in your columns I think that I will have made my position clear. Thanking you for any space that you may give me, I beg to remain. Very truly yours, R. E. PATTERSON."
